40 From Realart

New Season’s Plans Announced—Justine Johnston a Star—Four Taylor Specials

Realart made public yesterday its plans for the 1920-1921 season. Forty productions will be released during the year, four of them William Desmond Taylor specials, and six with Justine Johnston, who is Realart’s new star. A new form of contract has also been drawn up.

It is called the Realart star franchise and under its terms the exhibitor obtains theater rights to 36 productions.

These productions are to be starred six actresses, those who made Realart pictures last season—Alice Brady, Mary Miles Minter and Constance Binney—and three new ones—Wanda Hawley, Bebe Daniels and June Johnston. An engraved contract, suitable for framing, has been prepared for the franchise holders.

In addition to the 36 pictures the company will make and distribute, four William Desmond Taylor productions during the year. The first of these, "The Soul of Youth," of which Lewis Sargent is the star, has been completed, and the second is in the course of production.

The four Taylor productions are not included in the franchise and will

(Continued on Page 2)

What They Think of Wid’s Year Book

"You are to be congratulated upon the completeness of this Year Book and I am sure it will prove of great value to the industry." —WILLIAM J. CLARK, President.

Clark-Cornelius Corp.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Urges Inquiry

F. L. M. Club Will Assist Mitchell Palmer If He Starts Inquiry

The New York F. L. M. Club, at a meeting held last week voted unanimously to draft a letter which will be forwarded to Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer informing him that in any investigation which he may conduct regarding the activities of the F. L. M. Clubs he will have full cooperation from the local organizations, and in fact welcomed by it.

The club for the first time took official cognizance of the resolution condemning exchange men’s organizations which was passed at the Cleveland convention. A. C. Block, president of the organization appointed a committee composed of S. Eckman, Jr. L. Rosenblum, and W. E. Raynor to draft the communication.

Universal Declares Dividend

Universal yesterday declared a dividend of 1 1/2 per cent on its stock.

FOR RENT: Desirable Exchange Space, Vaults, etc. Greley 5842.—Advt.

Knapp Back

Returns to Philadelphia After Visiting Coast Producers

(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Philadelphia—Harry L. Knapp, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors, returned from the coast Tuesday after spending two weeks with picture producers attempting to reach some agreement with them for the making of pictures that would not necessitate any stringent action on the part of the censors. He reported his trip as highly successful and looks forward to clearer and better pictures for the coming season.

The return of Knapp is being looked upon by film men here as the first step toward the removal of Ella P. Oberholtzer of the Census Board.

An official announcement from Governor Sprout is expected in a few days. That Oberholtzer will shortly be replaced by a man named Wood is almost an assured fact.

New Howells Tie-up

Exporter Forms Unit to Specialize in Southern European Distribution—Luporini Bros. in Firm

David P. Howells, exporter, has formed a new company to cover Spain, Italy, the Balkan States, Greece, Turkey and Egypt. This unit is known as the Howells Picture Corporation, chartered last week in Albany.

Associated with Howells in this new enterprise are the Luporini Brothers, Ferrania and Marlo, well known throughout the picture business, both in this country and abroad. They are officers and stockholders in the new company. Offices will be at present Howells offices in the Godfrey Building. The direction of the activities of the new company will be in the hands of the Luporini Brothers.

Marjorie, who recently returned from a trip through Italy, shortly leaves on another journey which will take him to all the important centers in the territory covered by the new organization. Branch offices and representatives will be arranged for throughout Italy, Portugal, Spain, Greece, Turkey, Egypt and each of the Balkan States.

The new organization was formed to carry out Howells’ idea of dividing up the foreign market into individual territories much like the state pictures in this country.

The southern European territory until now has been handled from Howells’ Paris office.

Plans are said to be under way whereby Italian and Spanish productions will be distributed in this country through Howells’ connections.

The Luporini of Turin, Italy, will work in close co-operation with the Howells Pictures Corp.

Williams Story for Neilan

Marshall Neilan has purchased "Not a Drum Was Heard" by Ben Ames Williams for production.

Chautard Quits

Emile Chautard as indicated in WID’S DAILY has let the Fox organization and has taken with him his cut-out producing unit.

Chautard is understood to have objected to interference in his production plans by Fox and so broke relations. He had been working on "The Thief," the first of the French detective stories he had planned for Fox distribution.

The Fox offices will not discuss the matter.

YOUR Engraved Stationery
Let SOLONON Do It, he's wise.—Advt.
Thursday, July 1, 1920

40 From Realart
(Continued from Page 1)
be sold on a separate booking basis. Four pictures will be available in September: "Sweet Lavender," Mary Miles Minter; "You Never Can Tell," Bebe Daniels; "Food for Scandal," Wanda Hawley, and "The Soul of Youth," Taylor production.

For October the following are scheduled: "Tommy and Grizel," Constance Binney; "Blackbirds," Alice Brady, and "Moonlight and Honeysuckle," Justine Johnston.

A canvass by Realart officials as to whether male or female stars were desired resulted in a most emphatic call for the latter. "We have made some highly important and extensive plans for the coming year," said Morris Kohn. They call for a 100 per cent increase in our production and distributing activities.

"The Witching Hour," by Augustus Thomas, will be the subject of the third Taylor production. The torch has just as yet been selected.

Books and plays purchased for production include: "The New York Idea," by Langdon Mitchell, for Alice Brady; "The Little Clown," by Avery Hopwood, for Mary Miles Minter; "Those Who Walk in Darkness," by Owen Davis, for Alice Brady; "Blindness," by Dana Burnet, for Mary Miles Minter, and "Her First Elopement," by Alice Duder Miller, and "Sweetie Peach," by Sophie Kerr, for Wanda Hawley.

Wanda Hawley and Bebe Daniels will make their pictures at the old Moroccan plant in Los Angeles, which Realart has taken over. A larger plant is promised to accommodate Mary Miles Minter and William Taylor.

St. John Comedies Sold for N. Y.
The Producers Feature Service, Inc., offices in Godfrey Bldg. has secured the Al St. John comedies for Greater New York and Northern New Jersey.
The first release will be "The Aero Nut."

This Is Clever
(Continued from page 1)
San Francisco—March 41
Nellam worked a very clever stunt here at the Democratic National Convention on Tuesday.

A dead ringer for President Wilson drove up to the St. Francis Hotel, his car surrounded by a sufficient number of secret service men (1) to make it look official enough and precipitated a young riot among the delegates present. Later on the president's double, who was no other than Ralph Faulkner, a vaudeville actor, appeared with a streamer reading, "The Democratic Convention is open for all, GO AND GET IT," which is the title of Nellam's new picture.

The scene was shot by Nellam's cameramen and will be used in the completed picture. Person Park of Rothacker's, William Jobelson of the Turner and Dahmke offices and Pete Smith staged the stunt. Faulkner's appearance was wired throughout the country by the newspaper correspondents.

Thompson, Hodkinson Manager
C. A. Thompson is now the local manager for the Hodkinson Corp. succeeding Marx S. Nathan, who has joined Associated Producers, Inc.

Many Houses Open for Summer
There is less closing for the summer among picture houses this year than in other seasons. Many theaters are installing ventilating systems and other cooling devices planned to make indoor screen entertainment popular even during the warm weather. These observations have been made after a careful First National investigation.

Short Subject Dept. at Pioneer
Pioneer will shortly complete arrangements for the opening of a short reel department.

Illustrated Titles to be Used
Famous Players will use illustrated titles in all productions to be made in the east.

A good cook will pay as much attention to the sauce as she will to the roast. So also will the shrewd exhibitor give the same care to his posters as he will to his program. As a result he wants

RITCHEY POSTERS.

RITCHEY LITHO. CORP.
400 W. 3rd St., N. Y. Phone Chelsea 8808

A master of singing once told Caruso that his voice was too small. It sounded to him like the wind whistling through the windows.

No one makes that mistake about Caruso today. And don't let anyone tell you that Benj. B. Hampton is producing western picture-plays of the kind you know too well. Benj. B. Hampton is producing pictures for all time and BIG time. Prove his box office value to yourself by booking his Zane Grey picture.—

RIDERS of the DAWN

Distributed by
W. W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
227 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributed through Exchange incorporated
Foreign Distributor: J. F. Hendler, Inc. 726-36,层出

"A Clean-Up"—
Capitol Theatre
Springfield, Mass.
Big Read Special
(by wire to WID’S DAILY)
Los Angeles—J. Parker Read, Jr., special arrangement has secured Ouse Peters to play opposite Louise laum in “The Leopard Woman” by ewart Edward White.
It is expected that the picture will 12 weeks in the making as Read determined to make White’s novel to a very elaborate production.
Special street scenes representing Monte arlo and Cairo will be erected.
Wesley Ruggles will direct, as d by Frank Geraghty who has drected Frank Keenan and Doran ox who assisted Fred Niblo in the aking of “Sex.”

Deny Application for New Trial
(by wire to WID’S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Federal District
udge Oscar A. Trippett has denied the application of the American Film
Co. for a new trial against Mary iles Minter who was recently warded $4,000 as unpaid salary.
Ham Beall is doing production work for Special Pictures.

NOTICE
All inquiries concerning the feature film “Joseph” produced by Armenia Films of Milan, Italy, should be adtressed to, and all persons desiring to transact any business with Armenia Films, should communicate directly with

ARMENIA FILMS,
HOVHANNES ZILELIAN, Prop.
No. 101 W. 78th St., New York City
Phone Schuyler 2304

No person is authorized to represent the Armenia Films in the United States or Canada in any capacity.
Signed: ARMENIA FILMS,
HOVHANNES ZILELIAN, Prop.

FOR RENT
Light suite of offices, also desk room, new elevator building, switchboard and telephone service.
B E R G
117 W. 46th St.

FILMS FOR SALE
Will sacrifice 511 Reels of Features, Serials, Comedies,
for $1,500
Phone BERG, Bryant 7900

Levey’s Company Chartered
(by wire to WID’S DAILY)
Albany—Harry Levey Service
Corp., with offices in New York has been formed here. The company will operate with $110,000 active capital, 1,110 shares preferred stock, at $100 par value and 6,000 shares of common stock, no par value.
This is Harry Levey’s new devising organization which will make industrials.

Virginia Norden Here
Virginia Norden, connected with the Louis B. Mayer studios in Los Angeles has arrived in New York with a print of “The Trail’s End” a James Oliver Curwood story and “Harrrett and the Piper” a Anita Stewart subject.
It is understood that Mayer has plans under way for an extension of his production activities with the possible addition of two or three additional producing units.

“Going Some!” a Rex Beach picture is available for immediate distribution through Goldwyn exchanges.

CAN WE DATE

“Fickle Women”
AND YOU?
D. N. Schwab, Prod. (Inc.)
117 West 46 St.

ROBERT A. SANBORN
Adapter of Over 30 O. Henry Features for Vitagraph
At present with Universal West Coast Studios
Universal City, California

GEORGE ELWOOD JENKS
Continuity and Specials
“A Woman of Pleasure”
Blanche Sweet Special
“The Pagan God”
starring H. B. Warner
“Dangerous Waters”
Original for Wm. Desmond
JESSE D. HAMPTON
Productions

H. H. VAN LOAN
Recent Releases

Question No. 9
WHAT COMPANIES
RELEASE SHORT STUFF?

Answer

AMERICA’S FINEST LABORATORY
Located
Atop The Palisades
Organic 12th Street
Palisades Film Laboratories
Palisades, N. J.
Movements 921-2

The big producers know
That the books and plays we sell
We own outright.
Big names—advertised values
For vehicles that “catch on”
See us.
CELEBRATED AUTHORS
SOCIETY
701 7th Ave., N. Y. Bryant 1511

Studio
at Dongan Hills
Ph. W. LINDSAY
527 New Dorp 6

Answer

STUDIO
You have HEAR
Now you will SEE
We have FREE sights
Open EYES

Answer

Wid’s
In the Courts

The Recland Publishing Co. has filed suit in the Supreme Court against William J. Gallagher to restrain the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff in its occupancy of quarters on the second and sixth floors of the building at 727 7th Avenue and from cutting off the elevator service. The plaintiff states that it subleases space on the second floor from the Motion Picture Exhibitors Association of Greater New York until September, and that in order to try to compel the plaintiff to move the defendant has demanded that the use of the plaintiff's electric press, which is necessary for the printing of the plaintiff's moving picture theater programs, be stopped.

Use Ball Park for Films

Baltimore.—Pictures are now being shown evenings at Oriole Park, where the local team plays its games. Jack Dunn, manager of the club has had a screen set up near the grand stand, wherein the patrons sit.

Will Screen Passion Play

Buffalo.—Rev. M. A. Ahearn has engaged Elmer C. Winegar, manager of the Central Park and Premier, to film the passion play which is to be presented at the Canisius College, of which the former is president.

Jack Mulhall will support Bebe Daniels in “You Never Can Tell.”

HUDSON RIVER NIGHT LINES

Daily Sailings From Pier 31, N. R. (at Desbrosses St.) Week days 6 & 7 P. M. Sundays and Holidays, 6 & 9 P. M. West 132nd St., half hour later (Daylight saving time).

Due Albany 6 o'clock following morning, Troy 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West. Express Freight Service. Autos Carried.

HUDSON NAVIGATION COMPANY
Phone Canal 9000.

What is Youth’s Desire?

There are more prints of Comedyart working in the U. S. to-day than any other Films of our time.
Huge Griffith Unit
Producer Forms $50,000,000 Company Backed by New York and Chicago Money
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Baltimore.—D. W. Griffith, Inc., was granted a charter yesterday by the State Tax Commissioner. The new organization is capitalized at $50,000,000, one of the largest single corporation grants ever given to a producer in the State of Maryland and one of the largest companies in point of capitalization ever formed in the film business.

The new corporation which has its principal office in New York City, will deal in all phases of the theatrical business from films to grand opera.

Mr. Griffith's executive offices verified the above dispatch last night.

It was also stated that the officers of the new corporation are David W. Griffith, president; Albert W. Gray, general manager; J. C. Epping, business manager and Albert H. T. Banzhal, general counsel. The above together with Charles Counselman, of Chicago and Lee Benoit of New York comprise the board of directors.

Mr. Counselman is connected with Counselman and Co., 12 West Adams St. Chicago and Mr. Benoit with Beaton, Griscom and Co., New York, this city. The companies are both banking institutions.

The new corporation will offer to the public 150,000 shares of what will be termed Class A stock and 375,000 shares of Class B stock. It is probable that these issues will be eventually listed on one of the exchanges.

(Continued on Page 2)

What They Think of WID's Year Book
"This is the only manual and collection of material in annual form that I have ever seen that possesses particular value concerning our industry."
FRED WARREN, Gen. Man., Associated Producers.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Ban on "Big Four" William Brandt's Organization Again Votes Not to Show United Artists Product
The Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce which claims 380 theaters in Greater New York has voted against the further showing of United Artists Corp. productions until that organization ceases collecting the full rental price from exhibitors at the time the contract is entered upon, providing the contract calls for a paying date more than seven days in advance.

The resolution adopted is aimed at United Artists in particular although it is applicable to any distributing company. It reads:

"That the Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce is opposed to paying in full for any picture as an advance or deposit. That we condemn the efforts of any distributing organization attempting to force full payment upon the signing of contract and that the members of this organization in self defense pledge themselves not (Continued on Page 2)

R-C to Release 36 All Will Be Termed "Super Specials"—Fall Productions Already Scheduled
Robertson-Cole yesterday issued a statement as to its plans for 1920-1921. That company will release a minimum of 36 productions during the 1920-1921 season and all of them will be termed "super-specials."

A schedule of releases for the fall has been arranged. Ten productions are listed for release. These will include "Kismet," with Otis Skinner; "The Mischief Man," with Lew Cody; "The First Born," with Sessue Hayakawa; "So Long Letty," which Al Christie is producing; "813," an Arsene Lupin story with Wedgwood Nowell as Lupin; a production di-

(Continued on Page 2)

Compston-Goldwyn Latter Will Distribute Four New Productions Yearly Made by "Mule Man" Earl
Goldwyn announced acquisition of four new productions yearly.

Miss Compson's producing interest is an asset that should command much attention because of the successful showing in "The Miracle Man," produced by General Griffith. At the same time she has formed her producing unit and has already completed one picture, "Pride of Love." The release date has yet been determined.

Work on the second production has started at the Bronston studio. Miss Compson's producing interest is composed of practical all America talent and experienced workers who assisted in the making of "The Miracle Man." Al C. Grasso is general manager of the company, Ernest Palmer is cameraman, Chester Rovers and Jack Little are technical directors and Arthur Rosson is director of "Pride of Love" and is now directing the second production.

Anna Nilsson Forms Company By wire to WID'S DAILY
Los Angeles—Anna Nilsson will has been playing four Western Allan Dwan productions and others has formed a company known as "Jackie, the "Lahoma." Miss Nilsson says she cannot talk about plans for several weeks. In the meantime she will probably do another picture.

New Films for Pathe
Will Handle Four Federal Photo-plays Yearly and Probably Series of Brunton Features
Pathe announced yesterday that a contract had been made for a release through its exchanges of four pictures yearly made by the Federal Photoplays of California, in which Benjamino B. Hampton is president. Another contract provides for one picture. "The Devil to Pay" to be produced by Robert Brunton with the possibility of additions to the Brunton series.

Other features for Pathe releases will be four or five Edgar Lewis specials to follow "Lahoma": Jesse D. Hampton will supply two star series, one with Blanche Sweet and the other with H. B. Warner; and Stuart Blackton will direct six more for Pathe: Leonce Perret will super (Continued on Page 4)

Your Next Insert
Let SOLIDOM do it, he's with Adet

Page 2
The heat wasn't too strong yesterday to down the rumor that four companies, all of them producers-distributors were thinking of merging.

Canibal Film Attracting Attention

Harry Reichenbach's clever remarks about "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals" the Universal Cannibal film at the Astor Theater combined with the other exploitation features are serving to attract crowds to the house. Reichenbach refers to the production as one that could have been called "Below the Bottom of the World," or "Nature's Lowest Ebb," and then tells them that neither of these titles really depicts the wonders of the offering. He calls the land one where "human flesh is on the daily menu, where skulls are the toys of the children, etc." The honorable populace is absorbing it beautifully.

Brunet Spikes Report

Just before he sailed for France, the attention of Paul Brunet was called to a report that the Pathé News was about to be amalgamated with other topical reels.

"Preposterous" was Brunet's comment. "There is positively no foundation of truth in this statement."

"Humoresque" begins its sixth week at the Criterion Sunday.

 Kansas City, Mo.—S. A. Gottlieb and R. N. Albright have been added to the Pathé sales force.

---

Huge Griffith Unit (Continued from Page 1)

The new corporation does not mean any immediate change in the Griffith plans. Executive offices will be continued in the Longacre Bldg., and production headquarters at Mamaroneck. Mr. Griffith's contract or relations with United Artist Corp., his present distributing medium are not affected.

That more extensive production is planned was hinted at when a Griffith official stated last night that "production for the present, at least, will be confined to the Mamaroneck studios."

The Griffith office wishes to correct one statement which emanated from Baltimore regarding the new organization. Griffith does not intend acquiring or building a chain of theaters throughout the country. This statement is that there are at present sufficient theater chains without the creation of any new ones that will perhaps force the "small fellow" to the wall.

The only other motion picture enterprise which has exceeded D. W. Griffith, Inc., so far as capitalization is concerned is the Selznick Enterprises which was formed in Delaware a short time ago to act as a holding company for all the Selznick subsidiaries.

---

R-C to Release 36 (Continued from Page 1)

Recited by William Christy Cabanne; a Pauline Frederick subject; one from Mac Marsh, which John Adolli will direct; one with Dustin Farnum and a special Haworth production.

Each star will make four productions only during the new season.

WID'S DAILY on March 24 stated that Robertson-Cole would release only specials during the new season and that the total output would be 40 productions. Since that time Albert Capellani, who was scheduled to make four, has gone over to International, thus reducing the number to 36 as outlined in the company's statement above.

It is understood that Cabanne's production for Robertson-Cole will be "Retribution," for which Wray has just completed the continuity.

Riesienfeld as Good Samaritan

Beginning Tuesday Hugo Riesenfeld will entertain 400 East Side children weekly at the Rivoli and Rialto. Two hundred youngsters, selected by the officials of the University Settlement will be admitted free to each of the houses every Tuesday afternoon throughout the summer.

Wortham Makes New Sales

Goods for Films

Sidney Garrett Thus Plans to Solve Problem of Unstable Exchange in Foreign Deals

What may be termed a new departure in the methods of exporters who dabble in the foreign market is the plan which Sidney Garrett, well known in the exporting field, has in formation to accept merchandise from foreign buyers in exchange for American films which he may sell them.

Garrett is head of a new company known as Sidney Garrett, Inc., a New York corporation formed early in June with a capitalization of $50,000.

Garrett's idea was first expressed by him when he returned from Europe last winter. At that time he said that because of the conditions in foreign exchange he feared that a number of exporters would be forced to the wall unless they determined to accept merchandise for their films, instead of money. It now develops that his company has been formed to carry out his ideas as to a method of getting around the difficulties which beset the American exporter today.

Garrett is of the opinion, and WID'S DAILY has found this to be more or less prevalent in exporting circles, that because of the difference in the exchange rates and the long term credits asked for by European buyers, exporters in New York find themselves selling pictures for which they are either compelled to wait a considerable period before the money comes through or for which they receive their funds in the much-lower foreign currency.

By an exchange of merchandise, Garrett figures that foreign deals can be stabilized to a considerable extent.

To this end an arrangement has been perfected between Garrett and what is termed one of the most prominent of international exporters in general merchandise, with headquarters in England. By the terms of the agreement, Garrett is to supply the films and through the agencies of general exporting company he is to secure goods for this country. One of Garrett's representatives will be stationed in every office of the exporting firm and these men will be experienced film men.

Plans are under way for the formation of the Sidney Garrett Enterprises which will operate in Australia and for the formation of a producing company in England which will make about five pictures a year. Garrett himself will leave in August for England where he hopes to complete arrangements for a flow of merchandise from England and Continental Europe to this country in exchange for films.

The first productions which Garrett has secured for his new company are a series of Hodkinson productions including "King Spruce," which he has secured for Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, and a series of J. Warren Kerrigan productions for Australia.

Auslet Sees Boom in South

Jack Auslet, branch manager of Pathé in New Orleans, now on a visit to New York, states that his territory is in a more flourishing condition than ever before. Also that the future is holding great promise, with the construction of several theaters in view and plans already drawn up by Alexander Pantages for the erection of a $1,000,000 picture house.

Penrhyln Stanlaws, artist, has begun his course in film instruction under the tutelage of George Fitzmaurice.

FOR SALE

GRANT POLICE REPORTER

A World Famous Kalem Series in One Reel Episodes Featuring

GEORGE LARKIN

An Exciting Detective Series Complete with Portuguese Titles in 26 Reels

STINGAREE

An International Favorite Kalem Series in Twelve Two-Reel Episodes Featuring

EARL METCALF

A Famous Gentleman Crook Series Complete with Spanish Titles in 24 Reels

COMEDIES THAT ARE COMEDIES

61 KALEM COMEDIES Consisting of Famous Ham & Bud, and Sis Hopkins Comedies Complete with Spanish Titles

MISCHIEF MAKER

A Five Reel Oakdale Feature Starring

GLORIA JOY

Complete with Spanish Titles

THE BARNSTORMERS

A Four Reel Popular Kalem Feature Complete with Spanish Titles

LYING LIPS

A Five Reel Mutual Feature Complete with Spanish Titles

THE OTHER HALF OF THE NOTE

A Four Reel Exciting Kalem Feature Complete with Spanish Titles

LORD STRATHMORE

A Five Reel Mutual Feature Complete with Spanish Titles

KINAWAY WIFE

A Four Reel Dramatic Kalem Feature Complete with Spanish Titles

FOR RENT

Light suite of offices, also desk room, new elevator building, switchboard and telephone service.

BERS

117 W. 46th St.

FILMS FOR SALE

Will sacrifice 511 Reels of Features, Serials, Comedies, for $1,500

Phone BERS, Bryant 7900

---

Question No.10

What Are the Postal Film Regulations ?

Answer

Wid's 1920 Year Book Will Tell
Films for Pathé
(Continued from Page 1)

Pathé will also distribute the As-lact-threads product and pro-P. app-
the picture
ROOM
Hampton is at present Hodkinson with a number year. The latter offices that the pictures to go through Pathé will be specials and will not interrupt with previous arrangements with Hodkinson.

Wright Pathe Serials

We will release eight produc-
for the 1920-1921 season, two-at-a-time policy in-will be maintained so market every year com-strate Gold" pro-
Seitz and feature-
K a pro-with-production
Hobart, 6th, Ill.
London

Mats, Electro's and Stereos
Motion Picture Trade
L. Rubin & Co.,
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8301-8304
The fastest stereotypers in
N. Y. C.

Hudson River Night Lines

NEW YORK ALBANY TROY

Daily Sailings From Pier 31, N. R.
(at Desbrosses Sts.) week days, 6 & 7 P. M.
Sundays and Holidays, 6 P. M. & 9 P. M.
West 132 St., half hour later
(8 day illumination time).
The Albany 6 o'clock following morning,
Troy 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West.
Express Freight Service. Autos Carried.
Hudson Navigation Company
Phone Canal 9000.

"Where Promises Are Sacred"
LOUIS MEYER
FORMERLY BRODA & MEYER INC.

LETTERED • ILLUSTRATED • PHOTOGRAPHED
ASK TO SEE OUR NEW PRODUCER TITLES AND ILLUSTRATIONS
A PHONE CALL WILL BRING SAMPLES
BRYANT 7392
220 W. 42nd St. - ROOM 2004

Bessie Love Tendered Luncheon
Bessie Love was the guest of honor at a luncheon tendered her yesterday at Delmonico's by Arthur S. Kane.
Miss Love was present with her mother while other guests included Harry Leonhard and Mrs. Leon-hard, A. J. Callaghan, J. C. Ragland, Sils F. Scudder, Frank Shellabarger and the trade press.

Arthur Kane told Miss Love how good everybody was to see her back in New York. Miss Love said she was delighted. Andrew Callaghan hoped they continued making good pictures and everybody else had a pleasant time.

Thurston at Work

Howard Thurston, the magician, who has organized the Thurston Pictures, Inc., has decided to begin operations at the Hal Benedict Studios at College Point, L. I.

Seitz studio, both directed by Bertram Millhauser, "The Phantom Foe," was completed in the latter part of June, and work has com-continued on "Roaring Oaks."
Charles Hutchison has begun work at the Bruntou studio. His vehicle is by Jack Cunningham.

PHOTO ENGRAVINGS
As they should be made.

EGGERS, Inc.
Photo Engraving
1587 Broadway
New York City

R. Ellis Wales
Invites all picture people of reputation, broad vision, and ambitious for independent production to confer with him at SUITE 1128
BLACK BUILDING.
LOS ANGELES.
Phone 122-42.
Hours 1 to 4 P. M.

Exclusive N. Y. Affiliations

Ban on "Big Four"
(Continued from Page 1)
to enter into any contract requiring payment in full for any picture more than seven days in advance of play dates.

From a well posted exchangeman it was learned yesterday that some of the distributing companies either had or were considering demanding the full payment at the signing of contracts to get around the new deposed law which compels all such funds to be kept in trust. Just what the advantage of this would be for the distributor, however, is not all obvious.

What is Youth's Desire?

NEW YORK STUDIO FOR RENT

Beginning July 5th
Short term rental
Long term lease
Or outright sale
Located in the heart of the theatrical district
And fully equipped for staging big special pictures

ADDRESS: Downtown Studio C\O Wid's Daily

Hiram Abrams was apparently not very much disturbed when informed of the resolution yesterday by WID'S DAILY.

He said:
"We sell our pictures on a cash basis. When a man buys them he pays cash. A man doesn't have to buy a picture two months or two weeks in advance, he can come in our offices and buy a picture for tomorrow."

E. K. Lincoln in "The Inner Voice" opens for a run at the Broadway Sunday. Charlie Chaplin in "Carmen" is continued.
Koplar Files Answer

Seeks Return of St. Louis Theaters and Asks for Accounting of Income from Famous Players

St. Louis—Seven separate answers, making general denial of all charges in the petition of the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. of New York and the Famous Players Missouri Corp. for an injunction to restrain Harry Koplar from interfering with their possession and operation of the 19 picture theaters formerly owned by Koplar, have been filed in the U. S. Circuit Court.

Six cross bills, seeking return of the theaters to Koplar and his companies, and asking the court to appoint a receiver for each of six theaters and to order an accounting of the income of the theaters while they have been in the hands of the Famous Players Missouri Corp. were filed in connection with the answers. The seven answers and six cross bills were filed in the names of the following:

Harry Koplar, as owner in person of the Novelty Theater; Russell Amusement Co., owner of the Russell Airline; Gravois Theater Co., owner of the Gravois Theater; Arco Theater Co., owner of Arco Theater; South Side Amusement Co., owner of the Cherokee Theater; Athenian Amusement Co., owners of the Lafayette Theater; and Nat Koplar, brother of Harry Koplar, who merely answers with a general denial of the allegations made against him.

Harry Koplar says he is the acting head of each of the theater companies which filed cross bills.

(Continued on Page 4)

What They Think of Wid's Year Book

"It contains much information of value to motion picture editors."

J. M. SH

Motion Picture L

Baltimore Sun

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Louise Huff in Metro Film

Metro stated yesterday that Louise Huff has been engaged to appear in "The Feathers," which will be made in the 61st studio under personal direction of Maxwell Karger. It was also stated that Lucy Cotton will play Beulah by the leading lady in "The Misleading Lady," which will also be made in the East. Selznick recently announced that Louise Huff would be starred by them for five years. No one could be reached yesterday at the Select offices for a statement.

Lucy Cotton was also a featured player with International and no one there could be reached for a statement on the matter.

Goldwyn Due Next Week

Samuel Goldwyn is expected back in New York on Monday, July 12 from California.

Lew Cody Coming East

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Lew Cody left for New York yesterday.

Holiday Spirit Hits Town

While most of the larger film companies will be opened today a number of the important executives left town last night over the holiday weekend.

Some of the smaller offices will be closed this morning and a general tone of dullness will prevail in film circles.

Wallace Beery to Be Featured

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—E. S. Bradley, who claims to have Al St. John under contract, plans a Wallace Beery Prod. with Beery to play the lead and direct the production. The story will be by Robert W. Service.

Hope Hampton Coming East

Los Angeles—Hope Hampton is expected to leave for New York any day.

There will be no issue of WID'S DAILY published on Monday, July 5—Independence Day.

Denver Awakening

Business Men Taking Interest in Film Production—Screen Club in Annual Meeting

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

Denver business men in this city are awakening to the possibilities offered by the picture industry and are now taking that notice of the growth of the business.

There are two companies now active engaged in producing pictures here and two more are considering making their headquarters in Denver or its suburbs.

Considerable interest is being paid to the annual convention of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club which is being held at the Auditorium here. All of the principal companies including Famous Players, First National, Fox, Goldwyn, Realart, Selznick, United Artists, Universal and Vitagraph are represented in the booths that line the Auditorium.

There are quite a number of well known ex-changes and exhibitors.

(Continued on Page 2)

Hart-Ince Case Held Over

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The suit of William S. Hart against Thomas H. Ince for profits alleged to be due him on his "Arabian Nights" series of pictures has been postponed until July 12 for argument.

Ince contends that the money asked by Hart is in excess of what he deserves because of income taxes and other charges enter into the matter.

"U" Signs Hurst

Author Will Write Original Stories for Laemmle's Stars

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

San Francisco—Fannie Hurst, the noted author, has signed a contract with Universal to write a number of original stories for her screen. Miss Hurst is now attending the Democratic National Convention here.

After the convention is terminated Miss Hurst will go to Los Angeles to start work under her new contract. She will write stories for Priscilla Dean and other Universal stars.

Ray Long of Cosmopolitan Magazine stated yesterday that as he recalled it, Miss Hurst's arrangement with William Randolph Hearst and International Film provided for the filming of her published works both past and future and that there was no provision covering original stories written directly for the screen.

Universal knew nothing of the Hurst matter yesterday.

Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise,

325 W. 44th St.—Bryant 5224.—Adv.
Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Quotation</th>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>$1</td>
<td>$1</td>
<td>$1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players, Inc.</td>
<td>$26</td>
<td>$26</td>
<td>$26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Davison Film Started</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grace Davison has started work on a new picture for J. G. Pictures Corp.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Van Loan With Wistaria</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Philip Van Loan will direct two productions for Wistaria. He starts work about July 12.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Earle Finishes Huff Film</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William P. S. Earl, Selznick director, has just completed Edward Goulding's story, &quot;A Dangerous Paradise,&quot; featuring Louise Huff and is at present assembling his picture with H. J. McCord who will cut it.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washburn Leaves for East</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Los Angeles—Bryant Washburn left for New York Tuesday morning. He will complete details of his new organization and then sail for Europe.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

We Are Experts

We modestly admit it—but it's the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given us a staff that is thoroughly knowledgeable of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.

Goldwyn Pictures Corporation

Sir:
Mr. Burns Mantle of Photoplay says:
"I say 'Jes Call Me Jim' is Rogers' best picture. It is one of the real films of the month."

In this life only three things are certain,—death, taxes, and satisfactory receipts from RITCHEY posters.

RITCHEY LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 3388
On Broadway
The features at the leading Broadway houses, opening this week, are as follows:

Strand—Norma Talmadge—"Yes or No?"
Criterion—"Homorosesque"
Rialto—Mabel Keaton—"The Ladder of Lies"
Rivoli—William S. Hart—"Away Goes Tramp"
Broadway—E. K. Lincoln—"The Inner Voice"—Charlie Chaplin—"Carmen"
Brooklyn Strand—Mack Sennett's—"Married Life"—Tom Moore—"The Great Accident"
Astor—"Shipwrecked Among Cannibals"

New York—Tomorrow—Mitchell Lewis—"Burning Daylight"
Monday—same as above.
Tuesday—Tom Mix—Three Gold Coins.
Wednesday—Herbert Rawlinson—"Passers By"
Thursday—Sadie Hawkins Day—"Three Who Got Away"
Friday—Frank Mayo—"The Red Lane"—Leah Baird—"Cynthia"—Cartier's—"The Minute"
Saturday—Mary Miles Minter—"Jenny Be Good"
Sunday—Hobart Bosworth—"Be the Surface"

The Week of July 11
Strand—Mabel Keaton—"Harry Chaplin"
"The Inferior Sex"
Capitol—H. B. Warner—"One Hour Before Dawn"
Astor—"Shipwrecked Among Cannibals"
Rialto—Robert Warwick—"The City of Masks"
Rivoli—Bryant Washburn—"The Sin of St. Anthony"
Brooklyn Strand—Not yet determined.

Broadway—Herbert Rawlinson—"Man and His Woman"—Charlie Chaplin—"Carmen"—third week.

Roberts Plans Eastern Trip (By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—H. J. Roberts, general sales manager of Special Pictures Corp., will leave for New York in a few days to make an intensive study of the needs of the exhibitors of the country.

Before returning to New York he will make a country-wide trip and expects to call upon fully 1,000 exhibitors.

The company which will produce the animated mud pictures for Special Pictures is known as Dawn Films, Inc.

Remembering the Ballard—(Continued from yesterday)
Confidential information has been received as to the plans of the Ballards, the New York residents, for a personal trip to Europe.

The Ballards will start their journey at the end of the month and are expected to return to New York about the middle of September. They will be accompanied by a large retinue of friends, who are expected to join them in their travels.

The Ballards are known to be enthusiastic travelers and are expected to return with a wealth of interesting experiences to relate to their friends at home.

The trip is expected to be a grand one and will cover a large number of interesting places in Europe.

Wid's 1920 Year Book Will Tell

More Product for Siles (Special to WID'S DAILY)
Chicago—Siles Film Exchange has secured for Illinois "Topical Tips" which will be released every Sunday commencing July 9.

Siles reports excellent business with the Jester comedies in Illinois. "Chickens in Turkey" is now showing at the Playhouse here, while "Your New" will play the same theatre the week next.
Koplar Files Answer

(Continued from Page 1)

The Koplar Bureau of Los Angeles claims that the Famous Players-Lasky Corp., organized to take over the theaters for the Famous Players Corp., with Frederick L. Cornwell as its president, obtained possession of the theaters by fraudulent means and has never paid for them.

The Great Amusement Co., owner of a string of theaters, listed among them one of the complainants, also named Koplar and his companions in seeking the injunction.

Koplar, who is president of the Great Amusement Co., declares in his answer that Great Amusement has been included as a complainant against him through fraud, and "for the purpose of prejudicing the rights and interests of the Great Amusement Corp., that he was in St. Louis at the time the suit was filed, and he was not prejudiced for the company to be joined as a defendant against him, which was done in the name of Sam Hamburger, vice-president of the company.

The suit grew out of a deal said to have been concluded by Cornwell for transfer to Koplar of 16 theaters and three air domes, which he controls, to the Famous Players-Lasky Corp., for $2,150,000. Koplar alleges that he has received no money for the theaters. The suit also alleges that Koplar has not paid money required by the contract for the theaters. Koplar has said that he did not demand a written contract, but relied upon an oral agreement with Cornwell, and gave possession of his theaters.

Special Showings at Rialto

A new idea in the exhibition of industrial pictures has been secured by Camilla Donworth, President of "Films-Of-Business" who has entered into an arrangement with the Rialto by which theater will be used on Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10 to 12 to show special programs of films dealing with Americanization, vocational work, science, industry, etc.

Admission to these entertainments will be free, tickets for the show will be distributed by the merchants and manufacturers whose films are to be shown, and the doors will be thrown open as soon as the door on application. The first showing was held Thursday.

Speer Leaves Betzwood

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Philadelphia—Kenneth Spear, who was co-directing on the series of two reel Tomonerville Trolley comedies for the Betzwood Film, has been released upon expiration of his contract. Whether Spear left of his own accord is not known, but an entirely new staff has been retained in place of Spear. Dick Staunton, his assistant and A. H. Valet, the camera-

Warner Bros. announced yesterday that Al St. John Comedies, Inc., have a contract with Al St. John, dated April 4th, 1920, for a period of five years. We have lived up to this contract and will take legal action to protect our rights and interests and will absolutely not allow him to work for any one else until our contract with him has expired.

In a special dispatch from Los Angeles on Monday, WID'S DAILY stated that Al St. John had been signed by E. S. Bradley to make five reeler comedies when his present two-reel comedy was completed. For this purpose it was stated a new $250,000 corporation was in process of formation.

Britton Has Three Stories Ready

Announcement is made by Sumner Britton, president of Sumner Britton, Inc., that the company has acquired book and picture rights to three stories which are slated for simultaneous production in book and picture form.

Jerome Joins R. F. Noonan

Louis M. Jerome, who has changed his name to that from Louis M. Jer- kowsky, has joined R. F. Noonan Co., Inc., insurance brokers.

Jerome was formerly business manager for the Albert Capellani Prod., Inc.

Record for a Two Reeler?

What is believed to be a record run for a two-reel subject was terminated last week at the Criterion, when a Mack Sennett comedy, "By Golly," gave way to "Salome vs. Shench-noah," at the end of the 4th week of its showing.

Permanent Quarters in London

J. J. McCarthy, now visiting London and Paris for Guy Crosswell Smith, Ltd., has opened permanent London offices at 19 Sackville Street, Piccadilly.

Gordon in Cayuga Pictures

Robert Gordon is appearing in the first of the Cayuga Pictures to be made by Messrs. Nauty and Hunt- ing who recently resigned from Famous Players to launch the new company.

Production is in Ithaca and E. H. Griffith, formerly with Vitagraph is directing.

After More Exhibitor Members

Philadelphia—At a meeting of the exhibitors of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware plans were laid out for the organizing of the exhibitors of Pennsylvania. The meeting was called by the president of the Philadelphia Exhibitors' League, Albert J. Fisher. Sydney S. Cohn was present in conjunction with C. L. O'Reilly, Joseph Stern of Newark and J. T. Collins, president of the New Jersey M. P. Owners.

Gilbert Warren, cameraman has left International and has been engaged by Famous Players.

FOR RENT

Office and vault space.
Only responsible people need apply.

Box B-11, c/o WID's

What is Youth's Desire?

There are more prints of Comediet working in the U. S. to- day than any other Film of any kind.

WHY?

Special Pictures Corporation
H.W. HELLMAN BLDG.
Los Angeles
New York went wild over it!

For 2 years audiences couldn't get enough of this hilariously funny Broadway Comedy Success

PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH

with an ALL STAR CAST

~by arrangement with A.H. WOODS
Adapted by JUNE MATHIS and A.P. YOUNGER Directed by EDWARD DILLON

METRO
JURY IMPERIAL PICTURES Ltd.
Exclusive Distributors throughout Great Britain. Sr. WM. JURY, Managing Director.
A great stage success with the star who made it successful

CONSTANCE BINNEY

In

"39 EAST"

By RACHEL CROthers

Seldom can motion picture theatres show a great stage success with its Broadway star, right upon the heels of its stage presentation. But "39 EAST" which has just closed long and successful engagements in the leading cities will soon be ready as a splendid Binney-Realart photoplay. Every exhibitor who is a showman will want this production. And he will not be content with that alone, but will play the two remaining Constance Binney Realart pictures as quickly as he can get them. They are available right now. The first is "ERSTWHILE SUSAN," from the book "Barnabetta," by Helen R. Martin, directed by John S. Robertson — the photoplay that established Constance Binney as a Realart star. The other is "THE STOLEN KISS," Kenneth Webb's production from Kathryne Stuart's adaptation of "Little Miss By-The-Day," by Lucille Van Slyke.

Call on our local manager today!

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY
Features Reviewed

William Farnum in .......... IF I WERE KING
Fox Special .................. Page 3

Mary Pickford in ............... SUDS
United Artists ................ Page 5

William Desmond in .......... A BROADWAY COWBOY
Jesse D. Hampton Prod.-Pathc. Page 7

Mabel Normand in .......... THE SLIM PRINCESS
Goldwyn ....................... Page 9

Tom Mix in ............. THREE GOLD COINS
Fox .......................... Page 11

Elaine Hammerstein in .......... WHISPERs
Selig-Select .................. Page 13

SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS
Universal .................... Page 16

Charles Ray in .......... HOMER COMES HOME
Ince-Paramount-Artcraft .... Page 17

PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH
Metro ........................ Page 19

Corinne Griffith in .......... BAB'S CANDIDATE
Vitagraph ..................... Page 21

Short Stuff .................. Page 27

News of the Week
in Headlines

Monday

E. V. Richards of Saenger Amusement confirms report of buying into Saenger by S. A. Lynch.
Greater New York laboratory workers set Sept. 1 as strike date unless demands for higher wages are met.
Associated First National states sub-franchises numbering 2,500 have been granted.
A. F. of L adopt resolution condemning present films in which labor problems are shown.

Tuesday

Eastman Kodak reported building laboratories with sufficient capacity to print all of its raw stock.

First National plans a presidential straw vote in all of its theaters. Four million voters expected to be reached.

North Carolina M. P. Exhibitors endorse M. P. Theater Owners of America at annual meeting.

Wednesday

Loew's, Inc., declares two dividends, 5% on common and 1¼% on preferred.

Harry Morey to produce independently.

Joe Brandt planning new distributing organization.

Thursday

Realart will release 40 next year. Justine Johnston new star; four William Desmond Taylor productions listed.

David P. Howells forms new unit to concentrate sales in Southern Europe and Egypt.

Emile Chautard severs connections with William Fox.

Universal declares 1¼% dividend.

Friday

David W. Griffith, Inc., a $50,000,000 corporation, formed. New York and Chicago bankers interested. 500,000 shares of stock for public offering.

Betty Compson productions to be distributed by Goldwyn.

Robertson-Cole to release 36 for 1920-21.

Pathé to handle 4 Federal Photoplays yearly and probably series of Robert Brunton features. Also 8 serials for new year.

Saturday

Fannie Hurst to write original stories for Universal.

Business men in Denver may encourage production there. Rocky Mountain Screen Club holds first annual meeting.

Henry Koplar seeks recovery of St. Louis theaters from Famous Players. Files counter suits.

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.
The Way "A.P." Will Play the Game

Because we believe the exhibitors as well as the other distributing and sales organizations in the motion picture industry will be interested we quote herewith, in full, our definite instructions to all Associated Producers branch office managers:

"For years the picture business was made a yellow dog business because of the sales methods and ethics of picture employees.

1. We are to sell our pictures on their individual picture and Producer merits.

2. We are not to sell or attempt to sell by innuendo or by attacking other companies' product.

3. We do not want in our employ those whose idea of salesmanship is to attack competing companies' product.

4. Every big, successful picture in the market—no matter who makes and owns it—helps us in maintaining and getting proper rentals for our own big successes.

5. The men who have been engaged for our organization have been analyzed in advance from many angles—and one of the chief angles of analysis has been their capacity for clean, fair salesmanship.

"Associated Producers, Inc., is not affiliated in any way with any other organization. We are and will at all times be free of entanglements and alliances. We can afford any week-end first run the absolute protection of our big productions to keep it free from dictation by any of the elements seeking to obtain a control over the business of exhibiting.

"We are not unfriendly to any of the elements in the industry. Our product is wide open to any clean buyer.

"We will and expect to play on merit and on clean selling theatres owned by the various factors in the market—Marcus Loew houses, Zukor houses, Rowland and Clark houses, William Fox houses, Goldwyn houses and those of the various other organizations.

"The feuds or politics of the industry are none of our business, or our men's business.

"Our business is to sell pictures; to make a reputation for our Associated Producers, for our men, for our organization collectively and—having made a reputation—to hold it and increase it."

THOMAS H. INCE ~ MACK SENNETT ~ MARSHALL NEILAN ~ ALLAN DWAN
GEORGE LOANE TUCKER ~ MAURICE TOURNEUR ~ J. PARKER READ JR.

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.

HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Delightfully Entertaining Picture Adapted From Famous Romance

William Farnum in
"IF I WERE KING"
Fox Special

DIRECTOR .................. J. Gordon Edwards
AUTHOR .................... Justin Huntly McCarthy
SCENARIO BY ............. E. Lloyd Sheldon
CAMERAMAN ................. John W. Boyle
AS A WHOLE .............. Very accurate and lavish production of famous old romantic play—wonderfully entertaining but a bit too long in its present state.

STORY ............ This story is one of the greatest romances written and they’ve got the spirit of it.

DIRECTION .................. Entirely worthy
PHOTOGRAPHY ............. Only fair
LIGHTINGS ............... Effects good but scenes in general could have been better lighted.
CAMERA WORK .......... Good
STAR .................. Revals in fine romantic role SUPPORT .......... Fritz Lieber gives great characterization of Louis XI; Betty Ross Clarke rather inanimate as heroine.
EXTERIORS ............ Full of fine atmosphere
INTERIORS ........... Very good

CHARACTER OF STORY ....... Romance of a vagabond who became ruler of France for a week

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 7,600 feet

This production of Justin Huntly McCarthy’s famous old play and novel is one of the most accurate adaptations ever recorded—and because of this it is a wonderfully entertaining picture. They have caught the delightful romantic atmosphere of the original in every scene of the picture. It fairly teems with interest, alternately intense and romantic, in all but a few passages. That it might be cut down in length and sharpened up generally is a fact that a glance at the great footage of the picture will all but prove.

"If I Were King" is a story of old France at the time it was ruled by Louis XI, a weak and vacillating king, but withal cunning and dangerous. The manner in which Francois Villon, rogue and vagabond, found himself the Grand Constable for the period of a week, able to bring suit for the hand of the beautiful Katherine, the king’s ward, in a position to prove his mettle and drive the enemies from the gates of Paris, is a romance constantly calculated to set the blood tingling.

Nor is the climax one of ordinary calibre, for Francois Villon as Grand Constable is forced, by decree of the king, to pass the death sentence upon himself as his last official act. The wily king put a “but” in this decree, that if anyone should lay down his life for Villon he might go free. And Katherine offers her life. This proves that Villon has won the love of Katherine (the which was another stipulation under which he might live), and so the romance concludes.

With a production full of atmosphere with William Farnum giving of his best in the extravagant and delightful role of Villon, with this fine old story, filled to the brim with romance, thrills and genuine humor, with a splendid performance by Fritz Lieber in the role of the king, "If I Were King" the picture should certainly prove one of the big hits of the year.

With the action sharpened up by judicious cutting in the middle parts of the picture, and by a better insert of the poem “If I Were King,” a picture close to perfection would result. Even in its present state the photography, poor in comparison with the picture’s other elements, hardly effects the interest. Nor is the rather inanimate performance of Betty Ross Clarke as Katherine to be seriously considered when viewing the picture as a whole.

Supporting the star and those already mentioned are Walter Law, Henry Carvill, Claude Payton, V. V. Clogg, Harold Clairmont, Renita Johnston and Catherine Chase.

This One Bears All the Earmarks of a Big Success

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

William Fox has a money-maker for you in “If I Were King.” Here is an adaptation of a greatly successful play and a book known the world over that is accurate to the smallest detail and which, as a consequence, will please the great majority.

Of course this is a picture that you ought to go about handling in a big way. More advertising, an extended run, special exploitation stunts if desired, and a raise of prices if this is policy, are all called for when such a picture as this comes along.

William Farnum seems to delight in this type of romantic role. And he is going to delight audiences with his grand flourishes and intimate little "aside" expressions. Phyl him up for all he’s worth here.

But don’t neglect the title and the author. Here certainly is a title with which most people are well acquainted. The book is found on the well known average book shelf. Capitalize it along with the author’s name. You can’t go wrong.
GEORGE A. BERANGER
DIRECTOR (FOR WILLIAM FOX) OF

The Novelty Melodrama
Without a Single Lapse of Time
A MANHATTAN KNIGHT
From GELETT BURGESS' "FIND THE WOMAN"

You are surprised time and again throughout the run of the picture by the novel twists and the clever manner in which they have been handled.—The most successful direction the star has had.—WID'S.

Highly colored with strenuous action traveling at rapid tempo, incidents carrying punch and suspense.—M. P. NEWS.

Star's most agreeable picture in some time.—MORNING TELEGRAPH.

Direction to be commended.—BILLBOARD.

Happenings of strenuous nature from start to finish.—Well directed.—TRADE REVIEW.

Action not only swift and intense, but production full of original situations.—M. P. WORLD.

An interesting feature.—VARIETY.

FIVE YEARS ON DIRECTORIAL STAFF
OF D. W. GRIFFITH—

COUNSEL: H. M. V. CONNELLY, 42 WEST 44th STREET
ADDRESS—HOTEL ALGONQUIN, NEW YORK
Latest Mary Pickford Likely to Prove a Trifle Disappointing

Mary Pickford in
"SUDS"
United Artists

DIRECTOR .................. Jack Dillon
AUTHOR..............From the play, "Op' Me Thumb," by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce.
SCENARIO BY .........Waldemar Young
CAMERAMAN .......... Charles Rosher
AS A WHOLE.........Production well made and has some good comedy bits, but is likely to prove disappointing, especially the ending.

STORY..........Keeps star in character role throughout the picture; not sufficient material for a feature.

DISSION ...........Hasn't a great deal to work with, but together with star manages to get it over

PHOTOGRAPHY ...............Very good
LIGHTINGS ........................Excellent
CAMERA WORK ....Fine; some pretty color effects
STAR......Remains a laundry slavey for five reels; pleasing but has done much better work than this.

SUPPORT ..........................Fulfills requirements
EXTERIORS..................Adequate
INTERIORS ..................Mostly in laundry

DETAIL ..........................Good
CHARACTER OF STORY ......Incidents in the life of a laundry slavey.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ......About 5,000 feet

Generally speaking, they're going to be disappointed with "Suds." In the first place the ending is so abrupt and unexpected that you feel cheated. You're just about getting interested in the "tale of the shirt" and the romance between the washer and the owner when suddenly they flash "the end" and whether you like it or not, that's all you get.

At the Strand there was an audible murmur of dissatisfaction at the final fade-out. However, the fact that it's Mary Pickford will get them in and notwithstanding the slight material contained in "Suds," the star's own personal charm and some really good comedy bits that she puts over alone and others with an old white nag, will help to compensate for other shortcomings. They take a whack at some slap-stick which doesn't add to the production's attractiveness.

The quality of production is very good. The introductory titles warn you not to expect a story—it's merely the "tale of a shirt," and they proceed to show a laundry package open of its own accord. A striped shirt stands up, lies down and the package proceeds to re-wrap itself. The opening scenes show Mary hard at work in a French hand laundry where she does everything—from washing to delivering. One of her delivery expeditions turns out very disastrously.

The secret of Mary's life is a gentleman's shirt which has been left to be laundered in connection with which Mary's imagination has built a beautiful romance. She tells her story to the other girls in the laundry—"the tale of the shirt." In reality she is a princess, but her father objected to her suitor, Sir Horace. Before father threw 'Orace (as Mary calls him) out of the royal castle the well-known saying, "He'd give her the shirt off his back," becomes a reality and 'Orace gives Mary the shirt. After that royal papa puts Mary out in the world where she will be "loved for herself and not for her jewels." So endeth Mary's imaginary tale.

The remainder of the picture deals with Mary's adventure with the old laundry horse which is too old for service. The best moments come in this sequence. They get a fair amount of amusement out of Mary's effort to convince the real owner of the shirt that he is 'Orace, and her unsuccessful attempt to make her imaginary story a reality. They finish it up with Mary sitting on the steps of the laundry asking herself questions.

Wil Go Over All Right But They Expect Better From This Star

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This is by no manner of means as good a picture as "Pollyanna" or some other previous Mary Pickford releases, either from an entertainment standpoint or its general appeal. True there are some very good comedy bits and many effective touches that register very well, and Miss Pickford's own personality will undoubtedly get "Suds" over without much comment. However, there is one thing that's going to strike them as all wrong, and that's the ending. To be sure it does away with complications and is logical enough, but the majority of photo-play fans would most likely prefer the so-called 'happy ending' and especially for Mary Pickford.

It isn't necessary to go into details with regard to exploiting Mary Pickford productions. Her name will cover it all very nicely. If you want to elaborate a little you can tell them that "Suds" has a French hand laundry for its locale with Mary as a little slavey. Stills could be used advantageously in your lobby.
Founders of the
HARRY LEVEY SERVICE CORPORATION

HARRY LEVEY

PIONEERS IN THE MAKING OF INDUSTRIAL-EDUCATIONAL FILMS ORGANIZE OWN COMPANY

By their energy and perseverance, these people have made industrial-educational films as popular with the general public as are the newspapers and periodicals.

They have created a new industry within the moving picture business from which you profit directly and indirectly; directly through the money paid for the exhibition of the films, and indirectly because of your increased patronage resulting from the popularity of these films brought about by intensive methods of exploitation.

These fourteen people are the founders of this new organization and will continue their labors so that industrial-educational films will maintain their position among the great mediums of education and entertainment.

HARRY LEVEY SERVICE CORPORATION
PRODUCERS AND DISTRIBUTORS OF INDUSTRIAL-EDUCATIONAL FILMS
TEMPORARY ADDRESS
1662 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

To the hundreds of exhibitors who have wired us congratulations we wish to express our thanks.
Light Western Comedy-Drama That Scores As Just About Perfect

William Desmond in
"A BROADWAY COWBOY"
Hampton—Pathé

DIRECTOR .................... Joseph J. Franz
AUTHOR ..................... Byron Morgan
SCENARIO BY .................. George H. Plympton
CAMERAMAN ................... Harry Gerstad
AS A WHOLE ........ Most enjoyable light western comedy-drama.

STORY .......... Very well contrived—a lot of fine humorous sequences mixed with thrills.
- DIRECTION .......... Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY .......... Excellent
LIGHTINGS ........ Very good
STAR ........ Registers excellently in role with fine comedy possibilities.
SUPPORT .......... Very good
EXTERIORS ........ Mostly western
INTERIORS .......... Appropriate
DETAIL ........ All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Adventures of a stage cowboy in the real west.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 4,510 feet

You've got to give them credit here for turning out a snappy western comedy-drama that has all those released recently beaten for pep and originality. Byron Morgan, the author who turns out the automobile stories, got off on a few tacks in this one and he certainly shows himself capable of contriving good comedy situations. His plot in this is cleverly developed and toward the end a number of nifty thrills are introduced which hold the interest up right to the conclusion.

They start off by introducing William Desmond as Burke Randolph, cowboy hero of a Broadway show and he has never been west of the Hudson. The finale of the second act is shown wherein Burke kills a dozen opponents, is finally captured, strung up, and just as he is about to swing, the heroine up in the tree cuts the rope and the horse gallops off stage with him to safety. All this is very broadly burlesqued and rings the comedy bell squarely.

There are some more fine laughs when Burke tells the chaperone who has persisted in butting into his love scene with Betty how she and he killed Indians out in Montana. Here again a broad burlesque vein enters and its great. Another fine comedy sequence is registered when Burke runs his car into a stream and in taking the chaperone ashore drops her in the water.

Later the action shifts to the west where somehow the Broadway show is wandering around in the Montana sticks. Betty, whose home is in Montana is wooed by the sheriff who secures Burke's picture in western regalia, has some prints struck off and circulates them as the likenesses of a bad man. So Burke finds himself arrested at one town. During the night he escapes on a borrowed (?) horse.

Then Burke gets mixed up with a gang of bank robbers and succeeds in scaring them with his ways, altogether green to the west. After this he is captured by the gentleman whose horse he stole and they are about to string him up to a tree in real earnest when Betty happens by and does the liberating trick of the play. Here is the same sequence as they put on in the first reel, handled with its actual melodramatic potency in view and they register it very well. Still later Burke captures the bank robbers and rides to Betty's town victorious.

All in all, this is a sure-fire comedy, one which never lets down and one which was handled appreciatively from every angle. Desmond has a fine comedy sense and handles his role here in great style, receiving good support from a cast headed by Betty Francisco and including Thomas Delmar, Paddy McGuire, J. P. Lockney and Clark Comstock.

This One Will Appeal to All Audiences

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Here's a picture that you can book with assurance that it is going to give real satisfaction to practically all your crowd. The story doesn't pretend to be anything else but a comedy, although it jumps into a few thrills now and then, and it surely registers the laughs time and again throughout its length.

Incorporate a light touch in your advertising on this. Just the mention of the fact that it is the adventures of a stage cowboy in the real west is enough to suggest a good string of laughs. Any way you care to elaborate on this line of talk with suffic. But be sure the arguments are light.

Play up Desmond. Anything he undertakes he does with a sincerity that is effective, and he plays his light role here with a sense of humor that always dominates.
Carl Laemmle presents
The Amazing Adventures of Two Daredevil Americans among the Man-eating Savages of New Guinea
Six Reels

"SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS"

IT'S TRUE—every wonderful foot of it. The most amazing pictures ever given the screens of the world. Man-eaters in close-up—children whose playthings are human skulls—women who sear their bodies to make them beautiful—men who torture their faces to make them ferocious. Thousands of feet of the strangest scenes that human beings ever gazed upon, shot at the bottom of the world—in the island God forgot—humanity at its lowest ebb. Pictures that will never pass from your memory—dramatic—thrilling—true as gospel. Beside these absorbing scenes shot at the utmost personal risk all other pictures of savages are as milk and water. Book this great six-reeler now, today, without fail. It will prove the sensation of your year.

EDWARD LAEMMLE

WM. F. ALDER
Star's Work Stands Out In Weak Comedy Story

Mabel Normand in
"THE SLIM PRINCESS"
Goldwyn

DIRECTOR ................. Victor L. Schertzinger
AUTHOR .................... George Ade
SCENARIO BY ............. Gerald C. Duffy
CAMERAMAN ............... George Webber
AS A WHOLE .............. Very weak comedy plot made fairly entertaining by star's work

STORY ..................... Little to it DIRECTION .............. Has handled comedy sequences skilfully and given entire picture tasteful
production
PHOTOGRAPHY ............. Very good
LIGHTINGS .................. Effective
CAMERA WORK ............. Very good
STAR ... Gets over some very good comedy business but story doesn't give her opportunities.
SUPPORT .................. Tully Marshall registers some laughs; Hugh Thompson is leading man EXTERIORS ....... Contain good "mythical kingdom" atmosphere
INTERIORS ................ Same
DETAIL ..................... All right
CHARACTER OF STORY..... Troubles of slim princess in country where to be beautiful is to be fat

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"The Slim Princess" gets over as a fairly entertaining comedy because of Mabel Normand's very capable work in a few sequences where she is given opportunities for the type of horse-play which she can do so well. The story of this is very weak, as slim as its leading character in fact, and doesn't hold up the interest at all times the way a good comedy should.

However, the work is aided considerably by the rather fanciful production given it. The exteriors, the majority of which are laid in one of those mythical kingdoms, Morovienia in this instance, are attractive and the interiors no less tasteful. As a result "The Slim Princess" is always appealing to the eye and now and then to the risibilities.

The best sequence in the entire picture comes when the heroine, the slim princess, who has the misfortune to live in a kingdom where to be beautiful is to be fat, dons an inflated rubber suit and endeavors to match herself with her ample sister before the eyes of admirable swains. A subtitle which uses the line, "a full blown woman" also adds to the gayety. There are also some good bits in this sequence between the star and Tully Marshall who appears as her tutor.

The plot is simple in the extreme. Kalora, the slim princess, is unfashionable because she is underweight.
Under the law of the kingdom her younger and exceedingly stout sister can not marry until she is disposed of. The rubber suit is tried on Kalora and things are going famously until she bumps into a plant with sharp leaves. Thereupon she actually shrinks before the horror-stricken eyes of the young man who previously admired her.

Kalora meets Pike, an American, who is the first one to admire her for her lack of fat. Later Kalora is sent to America by her father who thinks possibly that some new-fangled health food will improve her.
She again meets Pike there and their romance develops. There is a good laugh when Kalora returns home decked out in all the latest styles with her tutor wearing large checks in his suit. And then they conclude with another good sequence when Pike comes to ask for her hand. The father mistakes which daughter he means and trots out the fat one at first but matters are finally straightened out and everyone is happy.

They have left this story just about as George Ade wrote it and certain it is that he never wrote it for a picture. The rest of the cast including Hugh Thompson, Russ Powell, Lillian Sylvester, Harry Lorraine and Pomeroy Cannon performs averagely but evince small comedy spirit.

Very Good Possibilities For Exploitation Here

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

You will be able to get by with this with the average crowd while before admirers of Mabel Normand and those who have a fondness for George Ade's stuff, you ought to make a very good impression. It seems that they have adhered to the original plot pretty strictly.
A more liberal course, embracing a few changes and additions, might have been advisable. They have changed better known stories and plays than "The Slim Princess."

The premise of the picture offers you amusing advertising possibilities. Use a line such as "In Morovienia
THIS was considered Beauty and THIS ugliness.
Above the first "this" a picture of the fattest woman your artist can draw, above the second something as shapely as Mabel Normand. Any other ideas on this line will prove attractive. Play the star big and don't forget the author's name.
GEORGES CARPENTIER
in
"THE WONDER MAN"
Is the Live Exhibitor's Best Bet

BECAUSE:

1. His Name and Fame Are Known to Everybody.
2. He is Receiving Volumes of Favorable Publicity.
3. He is a Matinee Idol Who is a Real Hero.
4. He Can Act Like He Can Fight.
5. He is the Favored Son of a Favorite People.
6. He is the Idol of Every Woman Who Loves a Real Man.
7. Every Soldier, Sportsman and Fight Fan Wants to See Him.

SUCH POPULARITY MUST BE REFLECTED AT THE BOX OFFICE

ROBERTSON-COLE
SUPER SPECIAL
Varied and Original Stunts Provide Big Thrills in This

Tom Mix in
"THREE GOLD COINS"
Fox

DIRECTOR ....................... Cliff Smith
AUTHOR .......................... H. H. Van Loan
SCENARIO BY ................... Alvin J. Neitz
CAMERAMAN ...................... Frank Good
AS A WHOLE ............... Filled with various stunts and dare-devil riding with considerable comedy—should make a big hit with majority of fans.

STORY ................. A good plot and the author surely has evolved some new stunts but they don't get into main action at start.

DIRECTION .......... Capable in staging thrills and straightaway scenes but some plot details aren't clearly registered.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Average
LIGHTINGS ...................... Average
CAMERA WORK ............... Very good
STAR ......................... Does stunts expertly.
SUPPORT ...................... Adequate
EXTERIORS .................... Western
INTERIORS ..................... Typical
DETAIL ...................... Some minor turns of story could have been registered more clearly.

CHARACTER OF STORY .......... Crooks endeavor to make hero dupe in oil-stock selling scheme.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"Three Gold Coins," is filled to the brim with various stunts, many of them original with this picture, dare-devil riding and considerable comedy and, all in all, should make a man sized hit with all the star's admirers and the great crowds whose favorite pictures are westerns.

The author has contrived a plot that generates a good bit of excitement on its own and if he is responsible for the kaleidoscopic collection of stunts
he certainly deserves another full portion of credit.
The sequence in which he lassos the automobile, to be dragged, still on his saddle from the back of his horse and mixed up with the dust and dirt of the road, surely registers a great big thrill.

Then there is the shot in which he swings from one roof to another by means of a flag-pole rope and finally winds up by swinging around through the air like a merry-go-round while the sheriff endeavors to take pot shots at him. This provides a fine bit of excitement and is also mixed in with some good comedy bits.

-In developing the story they have taken quite a time getting into the main line of action, but as they substitute a number of good thrills at the opening for plot material, the interest isn't allowed to drop.
It seems as if Director Cliff Smith could have registered some of the minor plot twists with a greater degree of clarity and again toward the end he is obliged to denote much of the action by subtitles. If he had started right off with his story this wouldn't have been necessary.

Tom Mix appears as Bob Fleming, a gentleman of the west with a good sense of humor and a few acres of worthless land as the sum total of his possessions.
The plot brings him into the power of a pair of crooks from the east who oil up a few spots on his land and then form a company to sell stock. How Bob saves the money of the towns-folk, clears himself of the crooks' efforts to plant suspicion on him and how the land finally really produces oil are events told to the tune of a great selection of thrills. Bob's romance with Betty Reed, an eastern girl, is well interwoven with the main action and proves of additional interest.

Intermingled with the special stunts there is the usual amount of stunt riding seen in all the Mix Pictures. The star is supported by a competent cast including Margaret Loomis, Frank Whitson, Bert Hadley, Dick Rush, Margaret Cullington, Sylvia Jocelyn, Bonnie Hill, Sid Jordan, Walt Robins and Frank Weed.

Will Go Over in a Big Way With Majority of Audiences

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one has a few minor faults in the way of production but considering the picture as a whole these are not big enough to count. On the contrary the probability is that "Three Gold Coins" will go over big with the Mix fans and, in fact, all those who enjoy the western picture of thrills and daring, which after all, is just about everybody.

They have included so many stunts just a little bit different from anything ever done before in this that the true fans will probably come out with a good bit of applause during its running. And where the star is at the height of his popularity some new sort of records ought to be hung up.

The title gives you opportunities for novel advertising stunts which can be used on the long runs. Mention H. H. Van Loan's name as well as the stars.
This author has had considerable publicity of late and his name has been connected with some big pictures
You can only get all the news of the British Film Trade from the

KINEMATOGRAPH WEEKLY

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED and PREDOMINANT ORGAN OF THE BRITISH FILM INDUSTRY

READ IT

If you want to know everything that is happening in the Film Trade in Great Britain—the biggest Motion Picture field outside of the United States.

ADVERTISE IN IT

If you want to reach all the people who buy films and accessories.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES

New York Representative—Bert Adler, 220 W. 42 Street

Phillip Lonergan, Representative

FROM THE SAME HOUSE

MANAGING EDITOR — JOHN DUNBAR

KINEMATOGRAPH MONTHLY RECORD

A monthly guide book to Film Trade shows, current open market and exclusive releases. Complete Directory, four dollars. p. a. free by mail.

KINEMATOGRAPH EAR BOOK 1920

A Storehouse of information. Mailed free for one dollar.

"PICTURES" Britain's oldest and foremost Fan journal.
Very Slim Story Holds Down Picture Despite Good Production

Elaine Hammerstein in
"WHISPERS"

DIRECTOR ..................... William P. S. Earle
AUTHOR ......................... Marc Connolly
SCENARIO BY .................... George D. Proctor
CAMERAMAN ...................... William Wagner

AS A WHOLE .................... Inadequate story well played and given tasteful production

STORY ............................ Very long drawn out—b. s.sd on single idea DIRECTION ................. Very tasteful particularly as regards production details and light effects

PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Very Good

LIGHTINGS ...................... Excellent

CAMERA WORK ................ Commendable

STAR ............................. Registers a refreshing personality but lack of material handicaps her SUPPORT ......................... Charles Gerrard has important heavy role; Matt Moore's hero part much smaller

EXTERIORS ...................... Include some good shots of Washington

INTERIORS ........................ Very good

DETAIL ......................... Good from production angle

CHARACTER OF STORY .... Pursuit of heroine by villain whose attentions compromised her and her ultimate rescue effected by hero

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 6,530 feet

Despite a very good production, "Whispers" has a difficult time holding its own because of its story—said story being one in which there appears only a single situation. In the first three reels this situation is planted and played with and in the last two its consequences are revealed. Naturally the picture has a terribly difficult time holding the interest as a result of this plot and, the truth is, it doesn't succeed in holding it.

Single idea stories have been built up before by a careful use of business, atmosphere, etc. But with respect to "Whispers" they have neglected this angle also. The production, rich with handsome interior settings and artistic lighting, and quite interesting in its various exteriors taken at Washington, D. C., furnishes a colorful background to the story but is unable to supply the spark of continuous vitality which the author missed.

Elaine Hammerstein appears as Daphne, a spoiled young lady living with a socially ambitious aunt. Daphne accompanies Dykeman Summers to the opera and causes considerable gossip about herself as Summers is breaking with his wife. The opera episode finds him way into a scandal sheet. Summers persists in his attentions and Daphne's aunt hints around that she suspects her guilt which causes her to leave home.

She decides to go to her father in a village near Washington. They make a very weak attempt to explain why Daphne wasn't living with him in the first place, incidentally. On the same train to Washington is Summers. More scandal for the scandal sheet, the editor of which dispatches Pat Darrick, a reporter to get the goods on the couple. Daphne and Pat meet in Washington and while he is still unaware of her identity he falls in love with her.

The action concludes at the father's newspaper office where both Summers and Pat pursue Daphne. There is some good comedy in the pursuit scenes but the end doesn't reveal any sort of climax. Daphne and Pat announce their love for one another and Summers takes himself off.

Miss Hammerstein registers with her refreshing personality but is unable to do much without the necessary opportunities. Matt Moore is Pat and plays well when finally given his entrance at the beginning of the fourth reel. Charles Gerrard as Summers has the largest supporting role and gives a polished account of himself. He manages to get a laugh or two, the best one coming on his final exit. Ida Darling appears as the aunt.

Star and Support Are Main Selling Points Here

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

The working title of this was "Daphne—Correspondent" and as this might indicate there was more action in the original story than there is in the picture. The benefit of the doubt goes to the author but even so it is he who must take the blame for the awfully slim plot of the completed picture.

Unless your people are very fond on Elaine Hammerstein's work it is hard to see where "Whispers" will have them entertained. If you think her popularity is big enough to satisfy without much of a story go to it. Matt Moore and Charles Gerrard are also well known and their names will help.

"Because she innocently accepted an invitation to the opera with a married man, Daphne found herself involved in a nasty scandal," such a line might be used in advertising the picture. Don't say anything more about the story.
J. STUART BLACKTON FEATURE PICTURES INC., present

PASSERS BY

with HERBERT RAWLINSON

from the famous stage success by C. HADDON CHAMBERS

Directed by
J. STUART BLACKTON

Scenario by STANLEY OLMS TED

Pathé Distributors
His sister drove away the woman he really loved, the mother of his child.

Bored in his gilded social circle, a whim moved him to call into his mansion denizens of the street who sought shelter from the storm.

Fate brought in with the miserable crowd the mother of his child, the guardian of his flesh and blood. What did he do? What would you do?

In building this most remarkable of all his great productions, J. Stuart Blackton has created the finest "type" picture of the screen.

He has achieved an amazing analysis of the human heart in all its emotions. Truth dominates the picture’s joys and emotions.

Leila Valentine, Ellen Cassidy, Pauline Coffin, Tom Lewis, W. J. Ferguson, and Dick Lee are among the reasons for this distinct success.
Cannibal Picture That Is Certainly Different

"SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS"
Universal

DIRECTOR........Luck and the Cannibals' Whims
AUTHOR............................Nature CAMERAMEN
Edward Laemmle and William F. Alder

AS A WHOLE........Most unusual set of scenes shot in New Guinea by Americans; is of educational value and and possesses big thrill in tiger hunt scene.

STORY...........Shows customs of uncivilized, maneating tribe.

DIRECTION.........Resulted in genuine, natural-looking pictures of the head hunters.

PHOTOGRAPHY.......Position in which the party was placed permitted nothing out of the ordinary.

LIGHTINGS........Excellent in view of the hardships CAMERA WORK........Splendid; cameramen had their nerve with them.

PLAYERS........Cannibals did not suspect that they were being photographed and innocently performed.

EXTERIORS.......Include several pretty scenic bits;
made up mostly of shots about native village INTERIORS........Only one or two in entire production.

DETAIL........Many little things taken up add interesting side-lights.

CHARACTER OF STORY.......Experiences among the wild men and women.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION..........5,775 feet

Edward Laemmle and William F. Alder's wanderings among the Kia Kia tribe in New Guinea have resulted in a series of scenes of the primitive man that will undoubtedly create an unusual amount of interest. Originally, the party intended to film a tiger hunt and it did, but later the scenes showing the killing of the animal were supplemented with a considerable length of footage showing the characteristics of a most primitive people.

Throughout the greater part of this production the natives display their whims for reproduction in the civilized world and their various rites and habits are so unusual, so different from what people are accustomed to, that they are certain to hold attention.
There are some bits that are rather ghastly and a few of our enlightened censor boards may object because some nude women are seen, but one thing is certain:
the educational value of this is of broad proportions.
It is an offering that will arouse curiosity everywhere;
one which the wide-awake exhibitor will promote to advantage.

On the cannibal island, the warriors, decorated according to their fancies, are shown, there being numerous close-ups that are ugly to the extreme.
Skulls are strewn about plentifully, the children frequently playing with them. Incidentally, youngsters are not seen very much, for these people are said to be becoming extinct. The scarred bodies of the women, who cut their skins with sharp shells and then strewn sand over the wounds so that they heal unevenly and result in fantastic designs, the unusual decorations of the men and their weird dances to the tune of the tom tom and the peculiar wailing and singing in which the people indulge also shown. A head dance was photographed from a camouflaged point of vantage, the men at this time having been ready to exterminate the intruders. Gory heads, for the plucking of which the natives were later punished by being put to work, and other details have also been taken up, rounding out this strange picture.

The Laemmle-Alder expedition was under the auspices of the Southern California Academy of Sciences.
in conjunction with Universal.

Up-to-the-Minute Showmen Will Clean Up With This
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

If you are the sort of an exhibitor who cares to go in for exploitation on a large scale, who desires to vary his program with something out of the ordinary now and then, you can book this, make one large splurge and then sit down and count the shekels as they roll into the box office. Start by promising them pictures of a strange and little explored land, explaining some of the habits of the people, but taking care not to tell them who or where they are.

After that, enlist the aid of the educational institutions—get your local school authorities to endorse it, starting meanwhile, a teaser campaign. Keep them guessing, getting them interested in exploration in the meantime. Arouse their curiosity and tell them that it is something they haven’t seen before; the picture will bear you out.

If you can possibly arrange to play this in conjunction with a lecture, you can clean up heavily. If you can't get someone on the trip to talk about it, you can put it in and with judicious handling pocket the elusive dollars anyhow.
Charles Ray In a Typical Charles Ray Picture

Charles Ray in
"HOMER COMES HOME"
Ince—Paramount-Artcraft

DIRECTOR ......................... Jerome Storm
AUTHOR .......................... Alexander Hull
SCENARIO BY ............. Agnes Christine Johnston
CAMERAMAN ....................... Chester Lyons

AS A WHOLE ............. Typical Charles Ray stuff; filled with comedy and some fine human interest action STORY .................. Not very substantial but suffices DIRECTION ..................... Entirely capable

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Very good
LIGHTINGS ..................... Fine
CAMERA WORK .............. Very good
STAR ....................... Gets over big as country boy returning to home town and pretending to be big business success SUPPORT ................. Includes some fine country types
EXTERIORS ............... Fine small town stuff
INTERIORS ..................... Very good
DETAIL .................. Splendid touches by star and director
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Country boy pretends to be big success before old townsfolk and the bluff eventually makes him successful

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,555 feet

"Homer Comes Home," is typical Charles Ray stuff from first to last. There is much in it similar to action seen in preceding features of his; and there is considerable originality in it. While it doesn't possess a story as substantial as some of his other pictures, it suffices. Ray is one of the few stars who can really subsist on a meagre fare of plot. As long as he gets the opportunities to inject his distinctive business and as long as his director gets the chance to put over some small town atmosphere and detail the picture can quite surely be chalked up a winner. Such is the case with "Homer Comes Home."

They open up introducing Ray as Homer Cavender generally regarded by the best people of his town as a failure. He has been fired by practically everyone. He loses his last job as man-of-all-work in a garage when he attempts to try out a non-skid contraption on a taxi while he is driving his employer to a reception. The car skids through a fence and smashes things up in a general way. Homer is fired and leaves for the city. The only one sorry to see him go is Rachael Prouty, daughter of a leading citizen.

In the city Homer doesn't get along very well but manages to hold on. At the end of two years he decides to take his employer's suggestion and go home before everyone who knows him has died. And with his employer's influence he steps off the limited which never stops at Homer's town unless to deliver a passenger of vast importance.

Thus it is that the home-town folk believe that Homer has made a big success of himself in the city. And Homer keeps up the delusion. They work in a lot of fine comedy detail in these sequences and get down to good heart-interest stuff when Homer can't bring himself to propose to Rachael because of his deception. At length Homer departs after collecting money from the townsfolk which, he says, will be used by his employer to erect a factory in their town.

Later they learn through Homer's rival for Rachael's hand that he is, after all, a mere clerk. The town proceeds to go crazy until they hear from Homer's employer that the factory idea will go through and that Homer, because of his initiative, will be made the boss of the works. And the next time the limited stops it is to drop a really important passenger.

The business of the star all the way through is surefire. And the direction of Jerome Storm is also to be highly commended. The surprise of all Main Street when the limited stops to drop Homer on his first trip home is great comedy. There are manifold details to the scene that enrich it considerably.

Priscilla Bonner is the star's leading lady in this instance. Good character portrayals are rendered by Otto Hoffman, Wilbur Higby and Lew Morrison while Ralph McCullough, John H. Elliott, Harry Hyde, Gus Leonard, Joe Hazelton and Bert Woodruff give adequate assistance.

No Tricks To Solve In Handling This One

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Telling the exhibitor how to make a go of it with a Charles Ray picture is akin to painting the lily and refining pure gold. "Homer Comes Home" has all the ingredients that have gone into the former Charles Ray successes and that it will pull large crowds and please them is a foregone conclusion.

Concentrating on the star's name is really the entire scheme of successful exploitation of Ray's pictures. You can, however, awaken an interest in the story in your advertising by selecting really attractive catch lines and readers regarding it. And "Homer Comes Home" has situations enough to provide any number of such interesting lines, even as have its predecessors.
ALL ABOARD!

Practically every company, star and director of importance in the motion picture industry will be represented in the advertising pages of

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

Our Advertising and Art Departments will be glad to help in the preparation of copy

FIRST COPY, BEST POSITION: ACT NOW
Adaptation of Farce That Wasn't Adaptable to Pictures

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"
Metro
DIRECTOR .................... Edward Dillon
AUTHORS .................. C. W. Bell and Mark Swan
SCENARIO BY .... June Mathis and A. P. Younger
CAMERAMAN ................... W. M. Edmond
AS A WHOLE ...... Picurization of farce that had more funny lines than situations—doesn't show much here until the finish.

STORY .................... Wasn't the type of farce for pictures due lack of situations.

DIRECTION ...... Very commendable considering material; builds up some good laughs at end.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................. Average

CAMERA WORK ................ Good

LEADING PLAYERS ...... Ruth Stonehouse most skilful of the lot; few have good conception of farce values.

EXTERIORS ............ Suitable with some good rain storm stuff.

INTERIORS ..................... Good

DETAIL ............ Many of the subtitles here are a bit risque for family audiences.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Husband obliged to convince wife he's a regular devil before she will love him.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,647 feet

"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," it is apparent, was not the right material for pictures. The adaptors might have taken the stage farce and built it up into a good situation comedy but for some reason they didn't. As it stands here it is quite tiresome up until the final bed room mixup when there is some good farce action very capably staged. For the most part, however, the picture presents what is close to a series of illustrated subtitles, these being the "peppy" lines from the play. Somehow, though, broad farce lines don't seem to register with their full effect on the screen.

Director Edward Dillon had a difficult task confronting him in the making of this. Considering the material he had in hand he has done commendably.
But in addition to having to deal with a story that lacked real "meat" he was provided with a cast that with only one notable exception, Ruth Stonehouse, seems to have small idea of farce comedy values. In the final sequences, however, he has scored some comedy points despite all handicaps.

The story, what there is of it, concerns mainly Reggie Irving, who realizes his wife won't love him unless he makes her believe he is a man of many love affairs. He enlists the aid of a friend, Jeff, who manouvers things so that he will be found in a hotel with another woman registered under the name of "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." Due to Reggie's blundering two Mrs.
Smiths appear on the scene and when finally the husband of one appears together with Mrs. Irving, things are pretty hot for the Lothario but his wife decides she really loves him.

Eugene Pallette manages to get some laughs over as Reggie. Ruth Stonehouse as one of the Mrs.
Smiths is very good. Others are Kathleen Kirkham,
Charles H. West, Dorothy Wallace, Helen Sullivan,
Henry Miller, Jr., and Josephine Hill.

OLGA LINEK SCHOLL
Associated with Allen Holubar's Productions

CO-AUTHOR AND CO-SCENARIST OF—"HEART OF HUMANITY"

AUTHOR AND SCENARIST OF—Feature Picture to be Produced by MARSHALL NEILAN

I HAVE A STORY FOR AN INTENSELY EMOTIONAL, DRAMATIC STAR.

TELEPHONE 61949 VENICE
A Fairly Good Attraction For Down Town Houses

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

Metro

While much of this doesn't register as really good comedy the ending improves greatly over what has gone before and will serve to some extent in leaving the audiences satisfied. That is, some audiences. You know the sort of bed room stage farce they put on in New York. The idea is to go just so far and no further, the further being left to the imagination which doesn't have to be very well developed to go the limit.

Much of this element is in the picture. A number of the subtitles contain lines with a double-barrel meaning. A number of the scenes, innocent enough on the face of it, wouldn't please Rev. Stratton and his co-thinkers in other parts.

However as an attraction for a down-town house—it is very probable that this one will register, particularly during the final sequence. The title itself will be a strong attraction for such crowds as the stage play had an extended run.

To Producers of Photoplays: Space can be contracted for at

UNIVERSAL CITY, CALIFORNIA

Near Hollywood and Los Angeles

An entire city dedicated to the production of motion pictures, housing in one plant the most complete all-around equipment necessary for the production of perfect photo-plays.

Area—nearly 500 Acres of land, situated between the Hollywood and the Sierra Madre Mountains, with a splendid variety of beautiful natural scenery, lake, mountains and plains.

Six covered stages over 1000 feet long and 50 to 100 feet wide, the greatest covered stage area of any studio in the world.

Complete electrical equipment securing every modern effect.

Large stocks of furniture, wardrobe, and props, at the disposal of tenants.

Permanent streets of New York, Arizona, Mexico, Paris, Constantinople, Tokio, Canada, Spain, and Colonial Style.

A regular theatre with fully equipped stage.

Our studio is constantly used by the largest producers. During the last year the following have used and are still using our facilities:

Space and equipment can be contracted for at surprisingly low figures. For information please communicate with Mr. Sigmund Moos, Manager Leasing Department at Universal City, California, or Universal Film Mfg. Co., 1600 Broadway, New York City.
Fine Comedy and Pretty Star Result in Very Enjoyable Picture

Corinne Griffith in
"BAB'S CANDIDATE"
Vitagraph

DIRECTOR ....................... Edward Griffith
AUTHOR ......................... Forrest Crissay
SCENARIO BY ................... Lucien Hubbard
CAMERAMAN ...................... William McCoy
AS A WHOLE......Comedy scenes make pleasing entertainment out of very slack story.

STORY.......Has a number of very human scenes and good comedy but lacks "meat".

DIRECTION......Very good particularly in registering comedy scenes.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Very good
LIGHTINGS ........................ Some very pretty effects
CAMERA WORK .................... Commendable

STAR......Very pretty and wears all the latest fashions; a different gown in each sequence.

SUPPORT......George Fawcett registers big hit in character comedy role.

ETERIORS.................Some pretty suburban stuff
INTERIORS ...................... Appropriate
DETAIL .......................... Comedy touches register big

CHARACTER OF STORY......Heroine works for hero's defeat in election campaign for his own good.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION.......4,894 feet

"Bab's Candidate" gets over as quite a pleasing piece of light entertainment, this despite an obvious lack of strong story material. There are moments throughout its length when you begin to wonder what has become of the plot. In fact, the main action really doesn't start until the last reel. But the rest of the picture is made highly entertaining by some delightful comedy and character work accomplished by George Fawcett, while the star, Corinne Griffith, certainly makes up in some measure for real plot by her pretty poses and her various fascinating clothes.

At the start there is some good comedy contrived around the old situation of the young hero attempting to ask the heroine's father for her hand. The father, Senator Marvin, the part played so well by Fawcett, is made out as an old-time fire eater. The scenes between him, his daughter Bab and the hero, David Barrow, an extremely egotistic young man, are fraught with real comedy.

Marvin refuses his consent to the marriage and David goes back to his home town where he contemplates entering the race for state senator. The old political boys don't want him, however, and even Senator Marvin backs another candidate until David proves him a crook. Then the senator is forced to swing his support to David.

But Bab enters the political campaign and slyly works against David knowing that his victory at the polls would make him too conceited for words. Her campaign is cleverly worked out and will get many a laugh on its own account. In the end David is defeated, but realizes after all that it is for his own good.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the value of Fawcett's performance. He draws a real human character and scores his many comedy points with ease. Miss Griffith has many scenes with him and plays up to the situations very nicely. Her gowns will certainly attract the attention of the women.

“TRUST MEANS CONFIDENCE”

Our experts act in any capacity having to do with negative developing and positive printing where reliance on quality and integrity are the chief requisites.

TEL. BRYANT 7190

REPUBLIC LABORATORIES

729 SEVENTH AVENUE NEW YORK, N. Y.
Ought to Please Extensively Despite Lack of Strong Story
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Corinne Griffith in "BAB'S CANDIDATE"
Vitagraph

The good points of this manage quite successfully to overcome the heavy handicap of lack of story. There will be very few failing to appreciate the steril performance of Fawcett, while the star's prettiness and her way of introducing a new gown every now and then will certainly appeal to all the women in the audience and the men, too, for that matter.

The story, after running along very weakly for the greater part of the picture's length, picks up at the end and shows a finish that has a touch of surprise to it. Feature this in your advertising along with the star and Fawcett. Use a line such as, "Should women enter politics? Yes or No? See the manner in which Barbara Marvin engineered a campaign to defeat the man she loved for his own good and then answer. A story of wonderful humor with a big surprise."

Pictures dealing with elections are coming along pretty fast these days and you ought to be able to tie-up locally on them in some instances. "Bab's Candidate" offers another such chance.

Film-Lore Offers a Real Treat for Originality, Quality, and Theme

BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery, and Science by
ALEXANDRE A. STUART

FILM-LORE PRODUCTIONS CO., Inc.
18-20 WEST 34th STREET NEW YORK CITY

Wid's Daily Binders - $3.00

Invaluable for reference purposes.
CURRENT RELEASES

Release Date
The Return of Tarrant (Silent)... 3-28-20

Length
6-6-20

Reels

Reviewed

AMERICAN CINEMA CORP.

EYES OF YOUTH (Clara Kimball Young).... 7
11/10/19

Silk Husband's Secret (Home Pictures).... 6
2-26-20

The Forbidden Woman (Chra Kimball Young).... 6
2-26-20

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.

May

Where Change Your Wife (De Mille Special).... 7
5-2-20

Mrs. Temperance (George Arliss).... 5
5-2-20

The Sea Wolf (George Arliss Special).... 5
5-23-20

The Dark Mirror (Dorothy Davenport).... 5
5-23-20

The Unchaste (Ethel Clayton).... 5
5-23-20

SANDY CLAYTON'S ... 5
5-30-20

June

Below the Surface (De Mille Special).... 5 6-13-20

Pa's Green (Charles Ray).... 5
6-20-20

Remodeling Her Husband (Dorothy Gish).... 5
6-13-20

The City of Masks (Robert Warwick).... 5
6-20-20

Suck Ahead (Wallace Reid).... 5
6-27-20

Sam Son S. Hart.... 5
6-27-20

The Restless Sex (Marvin Davies).... 5
6-13-20

July

The Sin of St. Anthony (Bryan Washburn).... 5 6-27-20

Away Goes Profane (Burse Mather).... 5
6-27-20

Let's Be Fashionable (Maclean-May).... 5
6-20-20

The Ladie of Lies (Ethel Clayton).... 5
6-20-20

Home Comes Home (Charles Ray).... 5
6-27-20

The Countess (Robert Warwick).... 5
6-27-20

The World and His Wife (Cosmopol. Prod.).... 5 6-27-20

FIRST NATIONAL

In Search of a Sinner (Constance Talmadge).... 5 3/14/20

The Inheritors (Constance Talmadge).... 5
3/14/20

The Fighting Shepherdess (Anita Stewart).... 5 4/4/20

The Dancing Veil (Arthur Vidal).... 5
4/4/20

Fires of Youth (I. W. Griffith).... 5
4/4/20

The Man from the Deep South (Nora Talmadge).... 5 4/18/20

The Idol Dancer (Griffith).... 7
3-25-20

Dumbfounded (Nora Talmadge).... 7
3-25-20

The Love Expert (Constance Talmadge).... 5
3-22-20

Passing Through (Katherine MacDonald).... 5
5-16-20

Yes or No (Nora Talmadge).... 5
5-20-20

Curtain (Constance Talmadge).... 5
5-20-20

The Jacknife Man (King Vidor).... 5
5-22-20

With A Little Help (Arthur Vidal).... 5
5-22-20

FOX FILM CORP.

In Formus Series

Heart Sins (All-Star).... 5
6-2-20

The Adventurer (All-Star).... 5
6-2-20

The Initiate (All-Star).... 5
6-2-20

The Terror (All-Star).... 5
6-20-20

Jerry White sleeeps (All-Star).... 5 6-20-20

SerieS

The Daredwell.... 5
3-14-20

Dancing Lady.... 5
4-18-20

The Terror.... 5
5-23-20

GOLDEN DISTRIBUTING CORP.

He Silver Horde (Rex Beach's).... 5
5-16-20

The Cup of Fury (Rupert Hughes).... 5
4-11-20

Printers of the Night (Evelyn Granda).... 5 3-11-20

Lie, Sweet liar (William Russell).... 5
1-30-20

The Tatters (Maladaine Traverse).... 5
3-28-20

With A Little Help (Arthur Vidal).... 5
3-25-20

The Dead Line (George Walsh).... 5
5-9-20

Love Tricks (Wallace Reid).... 5-10-20

Forbidden Trails (Jack Jenkins).... 5-23-20

The Spirit of the Madalaine Traverse).... 5-20-20

The Iron Heart (Maladaine Traverse).... 6-6-20

White Lies (Claybrooke).... 5-4-20

The Twins of Suffering Creek (William Russell).... 6-20-20

An Odd of Folly (Vivian Raich).... 6-13-20

A Sister to Gladys Brookwell).... 5 6-2-20

Cumber 17 (George Walsh).... 5
6-2-20

THE SQUARE SHOOTER (Black Jones).... 5
6-2-20

PAHTE EXCHANGE, INC.

Apr. 4 Lifting Shadows (Emmy Whelan).... 6
3/28/20

Apr. 11 The Blood Barrier (Sylvia Breamer, Robert Gordon).... 6 4-4-20

Apr. 25 Rio Grande (Rosemary Thayer).... 6
4-18-20

May 2 Dollar for Dollar (Frank Keenan).... 6
5-23-20

May 9 The Miracle of Money (Hubert Bemsley Prod.).... 5
5-2-20

May 30 Sherry (Pat O'Malley).... 5-20-20

May 6 The Little Cate (Max Linder).... 6
6-2-20

May 13 Hands Of Harvey (Herbert Rawlinson).... 6 6-20-20

July 4 The Man From Make Believe (Wm. Desmond).... 5 6-26-20

July 18 Man and His Woman (Herbert Rawlinson).... 6 6-26-20

American Film Co., Inc.

The Dangerous Talent (Margaret Fisher).... 5
3-9/20

The Honey Bee (Mme. Sylvain).... 6
5-23-20

Sling Bang Jim (Wm. Russel).... 5
4-18-20

The Thirteenth Piece of Silver (Margaret Fisher).... 6
6-20-20

(The House of Toys (Csepa Owne).... 5
5-20-20

Peggy Rebels (Mary Miles Minter).... 5
6-20-20

ROBERTSON-COLE

Specials

Who's Your Servant?.... 6
5-14-20

The White Dove (H. B. Warner).... 6
6-6-20

SUPERIOR PRODUCTIONS

The Brand of Lopez (Sessue Hayakawa).... 6 4-4-20

The Bottom of the World.... 6
4-4-20

Flame of Hate (Patsy Erdman).... 5
5-23-20

The Woman Who Understood (Bessie Barrisale).... 5
5-16-20

Bright Eyes (Zita Pierce).... 5
5-16-20

The Devil's Claim (Sessue Hayakawa).... 5
5-16-20

The Fortune Teller (Martha Mansfield).... 6
5-20-20

The Notorious Mrs. Sands (Bessie Barrisale).... 6 5-20-20

Butterfly Man (Lew Cody).... 6
6-20-20

Uncharted Channels (H. B. Warner).... 6-13-20
REALART PICTURES CORP.

Soldiers of Fortune (Anna Q. Nilsson)............................. 7 11/16/19
Pauline Mark, Norman Kerry, Wallace Beery.......................... 8
Annie of Green Gables (Mary Miles Minter).......................... 6 11/23/19
Bamtide Story of Winchester (Blanche Sweet)....................... 5
It's a Wonder Girl (Mabel Houghton)................................. 8
Mystery of the Yellow Room (Lorin Baker, Ethel Clayton, Elton) 6 12/7/19

Release Date
Length Reels Reviewed

VITAGRAPH

The Juggernaut (Anita Stewart)......................... 3/30/20
Deadline at Eleven (Corinne Griffith)....................... 5 4/18/20
The Flaming Cue (Harry T. Moore).............................. 5
The More Exhilarating Way (Anita Stewart)...................... 6
The Climbier (Corinne Griffith)................................. 6 11/19/19
Great Vegepanture of Opportunity (Ella Fontaine).............. 5
Slaves of Pride (Alice Joyce)................................. 5 1/18/20
The Fortune Hunter (Alice Joyce).............................. 6
The Sporting Duchess (Alice Joyce)........................... 5 3/7/20
The Shipwrecked (Alice Joyce).............................. 5 3/7/20
The Gauntlet (Harry Morry)................................. 5

INTERNATIONAL—STATE RIGHTS

Nineteen Ambrose (Mack Swain)................................. 3
Ambroses in Bad (Swain)......................................... 4
Boss of the Ranch (Texas Guinan).......................... 2
Just Bill (Texas Guinan)........................................ 2

Release Date
Length Reels Reviewed

FAMOUS PLAYERS—LASKY

March Releases
Teasing the Soil (Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven)........ 2
Cleaning Up (Al St. John)............................. 3

Burton Holmes Travel Series

Bustling Brussels................................................ 1
Kingdom of the Yellow Rose.............................. 3
Strasbourg Redeemed........................................... 1
The Boys' Big Club.............................................. 1
In Happy Ahas........................................................ 1

Paramount Magazine

Numbers 387, 3878, 3887, 3889, 3880.................. each

April Releases

Comedies
Gee Whiz (Mack Sennett).......................... 2
Ship Away (Al St. John).......................... 2

June Releases

By Golly (Mack Sennett).............................. 2
You Wouldn't Believe It (Mack Sennett)....................... 2

May Releases

Fresh from the City (Mack Sennett).............................. 2
Spring (Carter De Haven).............................. 2
Let 'Er Go (Mack Sennett).............................. 2
Beating Cheaters (Carter De Haven).............................. 2
An Oriental Night (Hammerstein).............................. 2

Antwerp Musso and Muse of Nippon.................................. 2

Paramount Magazine

The Zero Hour in Art................................................. 2

Tailoring in Metal.................................................. 2

Mental Aesthetics.................................................. 2

The Nurse of the Tenements.................................. 2

May Releases

Numbers 385, 3858, 3857, 3888, 3889, 3889, 3889

Burton Holmes Travel Series

Martyred Cities.................................................. 2

The Franco British Rhine........................................... 2

Up Country.......................................................... 2

In Lovely Lorraine.................................................. 2

June Releases

Beautiful Bruges................................................ 2

Ladies of the Lilliput............................................. 2

Lake of the Sun and Moon..................................... 2

Battlefield of France................................................. 2

Paramount Magazines No. 3890, 3891, 3892, 3893

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

February Releases

Paints and Petticoats (Special).......................... 2

Licensce Applied for............................................. 2

March Releases
Her Bridal Night—Mare (Special)............................... 2

UNIVERSAL

April Releases
The Lion Man, 15, 16, 17, 18 (Complete)..................... 2
Elmo, the Fearless, 9, 10, 11, 12.......................... 2

The Moon Riders, 1................................................. 2

Comedies

Downing an Uprising (Lyons-Moran).............................. 2

A Champion Loser.................................................. 2

Stop that Wedding (Lyons-Moran).................................. 2

Dog Don't Die (Lyons-Moran)..................................... 2

Somebody Lied (Lyons-Moran).................................... 2

A Jazzy Jailor.................................................. 2
Westerns

- When the Cougar Called (Magda Lane and Frank Bursa) 2
- The Texas Kid (Hoot Gibson) 2
- One He Man (Jack Perrin and Josephine Hill) 2

Special

- Major Allen's Animal Hunt—Story of Wolf 1

New Series Magazine

Issues 60, 61, 62, 63 - each 1

May Releases

Comedies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Series</th>
<th>Each</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Why Lee (Lyons and Moran)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Restaurant Riot</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Concrete Lucinda (Lyons and Moran)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Too Many Burglars (Lyons and Moran)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He Loved Life He Lied</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elmo the Fearless, Episodes 13, 14, 15, 16, 17</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Moon Riders, Episodes 2, 3, 5, 6, 8</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wolf Tracks (Hoot Gibson and Thelma Percy)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ransom (Hoot Gibson)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

June Releases

Comedies

- His Friend's Tip (Lyons and Moran) 1

Westerns

- Bought and Paid For 1
- A Broncho Kid 2
- Elmo the Fearless (Elmo Lincoln) 18 (Completed) 2
- Moon Riders (Art Arrowd) 7, 8, 9, 10 - each 2
- Vanishing Digger (Eddie Polo) 1, 2, 3 - each 2
- New Screen Magazine, Issues 68, 69, 70, 71 - each 1

PATHÉ

March Releases

Serials

- Daredevil Jack (Jack Dempsey) 4, 5, 6, 7 - each 2

Comedies

- Haunted Spooks (Harold Lloyd) 2
- Find the Girl (Snub Pollard) 2
- Fresh Paint (Snub Pollard) 2
- Two other Pollard Comedies - each 1

April Releases

Serials

- "Daredevil Jack" (Jack Dempsey) 8, 9, 10, 11 - each 2
- "Trailed by Three" (Stuart Holmes and Frankie Mann) 1, 2, 3, 4 - each 1
- "Adventures of Roth" (Roth Behrend) 15 (Complete) 2

May Releases

- Daredevil Jack, episodes 12, 13, 14, 15 - Each 2
- Trailed by Three, episodes 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 - Each 2
- The Third Eye, episodes 1 and 2 - Each 2

Comedies

- "Jigs in Society" (Bringing Up Father Series) 1
- "A Cheated Wedding" (Snub Pollard) 1
- "Speed to Spare" (Snub Pollard) 1
- Pathe Reviews, Issues 45, 46, 47, 48 - each 1
- Topics of the Day, Issues 40, 41, 42, 43 - each 1
- Topics of the Day, Issues 40, 50, 51, 52 - each 1
- Topics of the Day, Issues 53, 54, 55, 56, 57 - each 1

June Releases

Comedies

- You're Pinched (Snub Pollard) 1
- Start the Show (Beatrix La Plante) 1
- All in a Day (Snub Pollard) 1
- Any Old Port (Snub Pollard) 1
- Jiggs and the Social Lion (Bringing Up Father Series) 3

Serials

- Trailed by Three, 10, 11, 12, 13 - each 2
- The Third Eye, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 - each 2
- Pathe Review, Issues 54, 55, 56, 57 - each 2
- Topics of the Day, Issues 58, 59, 60, 61 - each 1

HALL ROOM BOY COMEDIES

March Releases

- Breaking Into Society 2
- Oh Baby 2
- Tell Us Ouida 1
- Movie Madness 2

GOLDWYN

March Releases

- Three Issues 2

April Releases

- Bray Pictographs Issues No. 432, 433, 434, 435 - each 1
- Numbers 436, 437, 438, 439 - Each 1
- Broken Silence 1
- With Every Meal 1
- Alligator Hunt 1
- Cut and Dried 1

From East to West
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>From East to West</th>
<th>North Wind's Masonry</th>
<th>Cherry Blossom Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

May Releases

- Made Game 1
- The Home of the Seagulls 1
- Playthings of Childhood 1

CAPITOL COMEDIES

March Releases

- Forget Me Not (Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Havens) 2
- Matthias News (Nels Burns) 2

RAY COMICS

The Great Umbrella Mystery 1

May Releases

- Judge Rummy in a Fitting Gift 1

JANUARY RELEASES

- MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOONS
  - The Mint Spy 3
  - The Cheater 3
  - Putting on the Dog 3
  - The Plumber 3
  - "I'm Ringing Your Party" 3
  - Fighting 3
  - Bug's-Eye Jeff 3
  - The Noir Violin 3
  - The Price of a Girl (Jeanette White) 3
  - The Chewing Gum Industry 3

SUNSHINE COMEDIES

March Releases

- The Heart Snatcher 2
- The Lightweight Lover 2
- A Waiter's Wasted Life 2
- Dangerous Eyes 2
- The High Diver's Last Kiss 2
- Should Dummies Wed 2
- Midgets 2

REPUBLIC PICTURES

JOLLY COMEDIES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>The Boss Shave (Ben Turpin)</th>
<th>2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hubby's Mistake (Gertrude Selby)</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pardon Me (Gertrude Selby)</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Girls Will Be Girls (Jeanette White)</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VICTOR KREMER FILM FEATURES

- A Burlesque on Carmen (Charles Chaplin) 3
- The Champion (Charles Chaplin) 3
- War (Charles Chaplin) 3
- By the Sea (Charles Chaplin) 3

REELCRAFT

June Releases

| The Masquerader (Billy West)             | 2 |
| Brass Buttons (Billy West)               | 2 |
| Distilled Love (Alice Howell)            | 2 |
| Her Wooden Legacy (Alice Howell)         | 2 |
| Westerns                                | 2 |
| Not Guilty (Texas Guinan)                | 2 |
| Letters of Fire (Texas Guinan)           | 2 |

May Releases

- The Dog Catcher (Billy Frayne) 1
- The Paper Hanger (Billy Fong) 1
- Wild West Wild West (Millburn Morant) 1
- The Kick (Millburn Morant) 1
- Hard Luck (Billy West) 1
- The Beauty Shop (Billy West) 1
- The Artist (Billy West) 1
- Her Bargain Day (Alice Howell) 1
- Her Lucky Day (Alice Howell) 1
- Cinderella Cinders (Alice Howell) 1

EDUCATIONAL

June and July Releases

| Four Times Failed (Chester)              | 2 |
| Kiss Me Caroline (Robby Vernon)          | 1 |
| Torny (Johnny Himes)                     | 1 |
| A Knight for a Night (Johnny Himes)      | 1 |
| A Fresh Start (Marvin Rea)               | 1 |
| Duck Inn (Lloyd Hamilton)                | 1 |
| Specials                                | 1 |
| Valley of 10,000 Smokes                  | 1 |
| Scenics                                 | 1 |
| The Hope o (Adventure (Robert Bruce)    | 1 |
| The Great Mirror (Robert Bruce)          | 1 |
| Figs and Eggs (Chester)                  | 1 |
| Troubadours of the Sky (Chester Screenics)| 1 |
| Dreams Come True (Chester)               | 1 |
SCENICS BEAUTIFUL
Direction Robert C. Bruce

New Bruce pictures, released fortnightly, present striking scenic studies from the mountains and coast of the Northwest and Alaska to the winding rivers and dense forests of Cuba and Jamaica.

Mr. Bruce has excelled in the work that through five years has won for him the name of the artist supreme in picturing the beauties of Nature, in interpreting the call of the wild.

CHESTER OUTINGS
Produced by C.L. Chester

Chester-Outings, a new one each week, bring the uttermost portions of the earth to your screen, pictured with an audience appeal, titled with a lively humor that delights.

Four camera men are constantly in the field seeking new material. From the same trained staff come the Scenics, two subjects to a reel, which are available bi-monthly.
Some Short Reels

Another Bray Comic
Bray's newest comic is just about up to the average maintained in the preceding numbers of the series. Instead of the Lampoon portion following the cartoon, they have reversed the order. The change does not appear to be a judicious one, although little is lost by it. The quips and puns making up that part not especially witty, and can hardly be expected to appeal to two laughs at the most, although there are about a dozen of them.

As for the cartoon, that has a fairly clever theme, although the execution is ordinary. It should provoke a few giggles and will get over best before a kid audience.

Bray Pictograph, No. 444—Goldwyn
George Broadhurst's publicity office may or may not be responsible for the mention given "The Storm" in the opening and longest portion of this Bray Pictograph, but at any rate, the author, principals and devices employed in the presentation of that drama are taken up in a manner that should serve as propaganda for it. The spectator is taken behind the stage to a rather eerie, but one of which is unfamiliar. Whether or not the pedestrian of the dusty path, the Holo is really becoming extinct, it is maintained in this reel that he is. In a set of scenes that will get a few titters, the tramp is seen encountering the various difficulties of the weary way. "How Vacation Spent Me," the closing cartoon portion is built around what is actually a series of puns and jokes interwoven into the offering in good shape. As a whole, an ordinary offering, of its type.

"Tropical Gems of Florida"—Ford Goldwyn
Had tin been applied properly to this scenic reel, its beauty would undoubtedly been enhanced. Most of the scenes in it are meritorious and bold the eye, but due to the manner in which the positive has been turned out, and the necessary color, in many cases there is either the lack of proper contrast, or the good effect is otherwise lessened. The photography is for the greater part of good quality. Water stuff of value is much in evidence and the rest of the material is also up to the mark. It should get over as it is, but could have been improved.

"Kick"—Reelcraft
Home brew, as a substitute for the genuine stuff, is not looked upon with favor by those who were in the habit of imbaking. Nevertheless, Grover Jones who wrote and directed this Milburn Moranti two reeler, has made the privately produced liquor the cause of a husband's rise in it. They start out eulogizing the cave man and the manner in which he handled the women folks. After that, they turn to a scene in which Moranti acts as the despot in his more modern household. Then, however, comes the dry period and without the fire water to inspire him, hero Moranti lapses into an indifferent state during which he is ruled forthly by his wife. With some well made gin in his system, Moranti soon reconquers his spouse, who suddenly displays a new affection for him. You've got to lick 'em to make 'em love you" theorizes the author and satirizes marriage, often bears him out. Of course, the spectacle of the wife with a black eye, after having been physically subdued by her husband is not a refreshing one. Generally a satisfactory offering, with some faults but a considerable amount of worth while footage.

"You're Pinched"—Pathé
When Snub Pollard, starred in this two reeler, applies a light to the nostrils of a gentleman who has been tasting a strong brewer and provokes his bellowing, the bug ladder in the reel is sprung. The opening scene, wherein the traffic cops are sent out to round up as many culprits as they can is also fine, and among the stuff in the "blind pig" is certainly humorous. There is a chase at the finish which is distinctly below par, but the rest of it is good and as a result, this is a single reeler much above the average. Pathé has a new comedian, a stout fellow who wears a copper's uniform, and he does some good work in this. As usual, Sammy the little colored chap is prominent, but he is not given much work as he should have.

"The Great Mirror"—Educational
Quiet waters, reflecting the nearby hills and mountains make up the greater part of another Robert Bruce scenic which is better than most of those turned out by him recently. There is one evening scene which stands out in particular, the excellent tinting enhancing its beauty. Some cloud and evening stuff, combined with the material in which the reflections are an important part, will want lots to hold the eye and help make this a highly commendable offering of its sort.

Pathé Review.—No. 49
In one of the previous Pathé Reviews, some hillbilly shots were executed in the slow motion section. This time, the slowed-up stuff also consists of a demonstration of some intricate shots, screened well. A colored part shot in Merida, Spain opens this. In places, the tinting is not especially effective, but much of it is up to the desired standard. How some ice-cream is manufactured and shaped is explained in another part and then Dr. Ditmars furnishes a few shots of a playful ape. The tinting of this portion is interesting, but the animal does not perform anything unusual enough to make it really worth while. To close it, Madame Desiree Lubovska, noted Russian Dancuese renders the Dance of the Vase in graceful style.

Pathé Review, No. 52
Parallel bar exercises, colored and reduced to one eighth of their actual speel open the fifty-second release of the series of Pathé Reviews. The stunts are gracefully executed by a well developed athlete, after whom, Madame Desiree Lubovska, assisted by William Foote dances the Pavanne, a type of the Terpsichorean art popular in the fifteen and sixteenth centuries. How clay vases are modeled is seen immediately thereafter. This subject is an interesting one, the manner in which the clay is secured and then undergoes the various processes before it assumes the position of a work holding attention. The Isere Valley, France furnishes the material for the hand-colored scenic section which concludes. This has an especially meritorious set of views from a moving train, finely tinted and sure to hold the eye.

All in a Day"—Pathé
A considerable portion of this single reeler in which Snuff Pollard is starred, takes place in an ice-cream emporium, where the mostchach comedian dispenses a variety of beverages and the like. Of these substances, much is spilled over the characters, some more finds its way to the floor and some is just tossed about. Much of the stuff is rather sloppy and militates against the success of this. The scene on the carrausel at the start has a few laughs, but the rest is rather dull. There is a rather lengthy chase occupying a good bit of the footage in the production, as usual, and this time, it has very little to recommend it. Pollard displays a tendency to overwork—his greatest fault. With less energy expended he would probably be funnier.

"Sepoy Color Works"—Baumer Films
Little information is offered about the whereabouts of the color-making establishment taken up in this Baumer reel which has not been photographed any too well, and in addition is rather technical. The matter of colors and the manner in which they are secured is not taken up in a manner that can be depended upon to impart very much information, and the offering generally is below the usual standard maintained in the industrial productions turned out by this organization.
Short Reels

A Reel on Tires—Goodrich Rubber Co.

The Goodrich Rubber company has an animated cartoon offering dealing with the misuse of tires. Not only is the film interesting and entertaining because of the clever manner in which the subject is taken up, but it should prove of considerable value to motorists. The matter is dealt with in what amounts to a real fable. A general mass meeting of ruined and good tires takes place, those that have outlived their usefulness, airing their grievances. All tires go on strike until the usual faulty treatment given them is remedied. Under inflation, bruising, ineffective temporary patching and other mistakes frequently made are discussed, and a highly satisfactory effect is the result. Incidentally, the name of the Goodrich company does not appear until the very end and this cannot very well be termed advertising matter.

“Through the Keyhole”—Fox—Sunshine

There have been many Sunshine comedies that struck a better pace than this. Here Dave Morris and Glen Cavender appear as detectives and of course, the two characters are broadly burlesqued. The first setting is their office, which discloses only a stenographer. Soon afterwards, Morris, sitting at his desk, rises up through the floor while Cavender is revealed in a studly pose when the wall turns around. The first part of the comedy reveals some good business between the detectives and a persistent book agent who manages to contend with every time after being thrown violently out. Ed Kennedy, a jealous husband, then employs them to get evidence of his wife's infidelity. They proceed to follow her to her room and photograph her in the arms of a man. Proudly exhibiting this picture to the husband they make the discovery that the man is none other than their client. A bomb is worked in at the finish and Cavender is finally shown in a hospital ward where the doctor, Ed Kennedy again, is about to cut him up in pieces. This contains a number of original comedy contraptions, but they don't seem to register in the best style. For one thing, there isn't enough variety. Roy Del Ruth directed.

The Tango Dancers”—Fox

While this Mutt and Jeff number contains some laughs, it is by no means up to the fine standard they have been setting with these comedies. In the first place the artist has just about played himself out on the dancing gags, such stuff having appeared in many a preceding Mutt and Jeff release. And again the originality and immagination evidenced by the artist in the better numbers of the series are not prominent elements with respect to the present case. Mutt and Jeff repair to a tango dancing contest where Mutt grabs off a masked beauty while Jeff is obliged to shake a toe with a hundred-pounder. There are numerous shots of the three colored gentlemen at the orchestra which will give the theater managers ample opportunities for effects which will greatly improve the action. Jeff winds up the dance under the nose of his partner who squashes the daylight out of him Mutt discovers that his "beauty" is none other than Mrs. Mutt.

The Sheriff of Wampus County”—Universal

James B. Warner is the most prominent character in an average two reel western, written and produced by George H. Webster for release through Universal. Thrills are not very numerous in the offering, the underlying motive in it being the final capture of a crooked sheriff by his opponent in the elections. A daring train-robbery committed by the villainous official and his henchmen of course, results in no capture. With the chances of Warner soaring, a charge of horse-stealing is trumped up and it ultimately results in his finding the real offender and effecting the capture. Warner's general attitude and constant use of a pleasant smile create a light atmosphere that should help the picture.

The Boss of Blue River”—Universal

Although the wind-up of this two reeler is expected after a certain point, it has much that is creditable and is more than likely to please the audience which is partial to drama of this sort. Hoot Gibson is featured in it and gives a satisfactory performance, although the manner in which he escapes from the clutches of a bandit who spoils the unpleasant sounding cogomen of "The Scorpion," is not very plausible. Hoot, the owner of a large range, travels about inognito, a la Sherlock Holmes, and in the attire of a tramp. He is given instruction by a pair of feminine squatters on the range to remove himself. Jim Corey is the persistent suitor of the younger of the duo of women and in league with the brutal-looking desert outlaw, but Gibson and the other capture the crowd. There is a comedy touch at the finish and usual clutch fade-out without which few productions are complete.

Bud Kirland's Buddy”—Universal

Reeves Eason, Jr., a little light-haired lad who is seen often in this two reel western, adds several touches that will be used generally in a Universal effort to get it over before any audience that likes short western dramas. Without the youngster, it would probably be well received also, but the child adds to its value considerably. Fred Kohler, who plays the heavy role in it, certainly looks like a scoundrel in his hirsute make-up, and with his features contorted into a wicked sneer will undoubtedly cause them to applaud when he deals his big bad man to the late Jimmie Del Reeler and Mae Busch, the kinky-haired brunette, who nestles upon his manly bosom at the close. Kohler as "Black," Akin cheats at cards, shoots up his antagonist in the game and then pulls the trigger when his six-shooter is pointed at the sheriff. He gets in bad again when he abducts the heroine's brother, but the tall Texas Ranger comes to the rescue, calls the villain a coyote when held up and suddenly turns the tables. They have a great little scrap with the entire town looking on and heroine ready to sink into the arms of her conquering hero, after which comes the expected happy ending.

You Wouldn't Believe It”—Sennett—Famous Players

Elaborately staged, well directed and finely titled, this Mack Sennett extravaganza of slapstick holds up fairly well. The sets are hand-crafted somewhat by a lack or real humorous incident. The gags are fairly well distributed over the two reels, but they are not numerous enough to make this a hit. When shown at a Broadway house, the biggest mirth pro-ducer in it was the scheme of having some nitro-glycerine blow up and convert an automobile and its two occupants into a tattered vehicle with soot-blackened and grotesque looking individuals in it. The trick is old, but the manner in which they filmed it has made it worthwhile. There is a bit of a plot in the affair, but not enough funny stuff. A usual Sennett cast is seen to advantage in this and Earl Kenton is credited with directing it. Generally below the best Sennett standard.

Cracked Wedding Bells”—Universal

Fred Fishbeck wrote and directed another knockabout two reel in which a story is told, the deceptions being the predominating feature of the offering. Of these, several are quite clever, especially the scene in which one character smashes a number of silk hats in order that he may find his own which is the folding type. A double wedding and later efforts on the part of two couples to secure lodging have been used as sources of humor through a great part of the picture, but without the timing, result in the desire to get it over before a sophisticated audience. There are crowds that will laugh at it. If your patrons like riotous material give them this; otherwise, look it over.
FROM COAST TO COAST here's what the CRITICS say about

REX INGRAM’S
PRODUCTION of James A. Herne’s great play

SHORE ACRES
METRO

MOTION PICTURE NEWS: “One of the most intelligent adaptations of the season. Direction and staging of the best.”

EXHIBITOR’S TRADE REVIEW: “All the homely pathos and human appeal are not only preserved in the film version but accentuated by a wealth of detail which could only be achieved by the magic power of the camera. Nothing more spectacular and thrilling than the shipwreck in the final reel has ever been filmed.”

EXHIBITOR’S HERALD: “The film version of ‘Shore Acres’ should be as popular as the legitimate production.”

NEW YORK TELEGRAPH: “‘Shore Acres’ sets you humming the old songs, especially the sentimental ones. Heart interest! It is all heart interest.”

VARIETY: “Excellent presentation of James A. Herne’s play.”

BILLBOARD: “A screen classic of the sea. Superbly presented, acted and filmed. Will play havoc with the emotions of those not too blasé to weep.”

DRAMATIC MIRROR: “The picture makes an irresistible appeal.”

MUSICAL COURIER; NEW YORK: “Last week ‘Shore Acres’ was the special film at the Capitol. It was by far one of the best pictures shown at this theatre.”

SPRINGFIELD, MASS. UNION: “In the hands of a skilled motion picture director, ‘Shore Acres’ has been made into a photoplay of many striking scenes.”

WID’S: “A picture that will never grow old. The director has succeeded in making a realistic and truly beautiful ‘Shore Acres’.”

CHICAGO TRIBUNE: “See this, take the children and tell your friends. It is an achievement to make such a picture as ‘Shore Acres.’”

MOTION PICTURE WORLD: “Old stage favorite transformed to splendid screen spectacle.”

NEW YORK REVIEW: “We recommend ‘Shore Acres’ as a genuine film achievement.”

COSMO HAMILTON WRITES: “James A. Herne, himself, could be see his characters brought to life as Ingram revitalized them, would, I am sure, be as thrilled as I was.”

CLEVELAND LEADER: “‘Shore Acres’ has been produced on the screen in a manner that completely eclipses the legitimate presentation.”

NEW YORK GLOBE: “Rex Ingram has handled the picture so skillfully that the stagey plot is somehow miraculously avoided.”

LOS ANGELES EXPRESS: “‘Shore Acres’ one of best pictures of season.”

SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN: “A gripping, thrilling play is packing crowds into the American Theater.”

SHEBOYGAN, WIS. PRESS: “One of the best features that has ever appeared on the screen.”

NEXT REX INGRAM PRODUCTIONS:

“UNDER CRIMSON SKIES” UNIVERSAL—JEWELL

“HEARTS ARE TRUMPS”
A METRO SUPER—SPECIAL FEATURE STORY BY JUNE MATHIS

IN PREPARATION:
JUNE MATHIS ADAPTATION OF VISCENTE BLASCO IBANEZ

FOUR HORSEMAN OF THE APOCALYPSE
This Is “The Truth!”

STAR: Madge Kennedy, whose delightful comedy mannerisms and winsome personality have endeared her to a vast public.

AUTHOR: “The Truth” is generally regarded as the best play from the pen of America’s great dramatist, Clyde Fitch.

DIRECTOR: Lawrence C. Windom.

STORY: Becky Warder was an artful dodger of the truth. She told her husband flocks of little fibs. She practiced on her friends and made “white” lying a fine and fascinating art.

Then one day all the half-truths, white lies and plain, downright whoppers she had told her patient hubby exploded and threatened to wreck their happiness forever.

Her best girl friend accused her of stealing her husband. A detective agency camped on her trail. Her own husband turned cold and repulsed her. There was nothing left to do but to go to her Dad in his boarding house in Baltimore.

And here takes place a final scene that will bring tears and chuckles from the stoniest audience in Christendom. The end is a surprise—a heartwarming climax to a remarkably entertaining picture.

A WINNER FROM EVERY ANGLE—AND THAT’S “THE TRUTH!”

Length—5 reels
Denver "Expo" Closes

Rocky Mountain Screen Club Holds Successful Meeting—Considerable Interest Evidenced
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Denver—The first annual convention and exposition of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club has been brought to a close.

One of the gratifying phases of the fair to film men here was the interest evidenced by both the public and the business men in Denver in the gathering.

At the business session of the club a number of addresses were made including one by Harry Brichta, director of the Denver tourist bureau; one by Mrs. Margaret Conway; head of the local censor board who told why some films fail to meet the approval of officials. Other addresses were made by Lient, William Wright and William Duncan on the relations between stars, exhibitors and distributors.

On Friday night the grand ball was held with Edmund Cobb, Violet Merceau, William Duncan, Edith Johnson and E. C. Huffman, president of the club leading the march. A number of fans took part in the march in imitation of some stars.

On Saturday morning the visitors were taken for a ride through the park system of Denver and were entertained at luncheons.

The Denver Times published a special convention extra with the entire front page devoted to convention news. Local film men figured prominently in its articles.

What They Think of Wid's Year Book

"Will be most valuable in compiling our motion picture pages."

TELEGRAM,
Temple, Texas.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Opposes Censors

General Federation of Women's Clubs Defeats Resolution for National Legislation

Delegates returning from the biennial session of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held at Des Moines, report that the club women of the country have apparently a different attitude toward motion pictures generally and censorship particularly than they had two years ago when the biennial was held.

At that time the club women were addressed by a member of the Pennsylvania Board of Censors and the General Federation went on record in favor of state censorship. This year the delegates defeated a resolution calling for national censorship and took no action on state censorship.

A telegram sent to the General Federation by the National Association embodying a copy of the resolutions adopted at the annual meeting (Continued on page 6)

Sedeye Arrives and Then Leaves

C. R. Sedeye, formerly with United Pictures and more recently with National Picture Theatres, arrived in town Saturday morning and then left on the Centurion for Chicago Saturday afternoon.

He refused to talk about his new proposition but said he was having a good time in the Middle West, that he would be back in town in a few days and then tell everybody about his new company.

Federated Meets July 12
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Chicago—Joe Friedman, of Celebrated Players has called a meeting of the Federated Film Exchanges of America for July 12, in New York, at which time it is expected to select a general manager.

Equity Men in New Company
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Albany—Joan Films Sales, Inc., have been formed here. Nat G. Rothstein is named as one of the incorporators.

The above company is understood to have been formed by officials of Equity Pictures to provide for the distribution of several Fannie Ward productions produced in France. One of these is, "She Played and Paid."

Originally, a company known as Rembrandt Film Sales, Inc., was formed but it is understood that the Joan Film Sales, Inc., will operate instead of Rembrandt.

YOUR Good Printing
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise—Adv.

"Our Most Dangerous Enemy", So Cohen Calls Zukor

M. P. T. O. President Delves into F. P. —L. Purchase of Theaters and Asks for "Definite Avowals" of Paramount Intentions.

Sydney S. Cohen, president of the M. P. Theater Owners of America, has addressed an open letter to Adolph Zukor, president of Famous Players-Lasky, in which Mr. Cohen states very frankly and openly the attitude of the exhibitors of his organization toward Famous Players and its activities in the exhibiting field.

Cohen calls Zukor "our most dangerous enemy," and then asks whether it is "the purpose of your organization to continue its present policy of acquiring and building theaters in competition with the independent exhibitors throughout the United States."

An effort to reach Mr. Zukor on Saturday for a statement failed. Another attempt to reach him at his office this morning was unavailing. (Continued on Page 5)
Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>81</td>
<td>83½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*do pfd.</td>
<td>88½</td>
<td>88½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn</td>
<td>18</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's, Inc.</td>
<td>26½</td>
<td>26½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>5/10</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit Pict. Prod.</td>
<td>1 ¼</td>
<td>1 ½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>3 ½</td>
<td>3 ½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do 2nd pfd.</td>
<td>7 ¼</td>
<td>7 ¼</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*Thursday's quotations. Last quoted June 23.

The above quotations, unless otherwise indicated, are as of Friday last.

Epstein Succeeds Hope Loring
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—David E. Epstein who acted as assistant to Hope Loring at Universal City has been made head of the serial and short reel department succeeding Miss Loring who recently resigned.

De Mille's Next Selected
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Cecil de Mille's next production will be "The Other Wife," from the story by Jeanne MacPherson. Ann Forrest and Forest Stanley will play the leads. Actual production will start in a few days.

Lichtenstein Opens Office

Pittsburgh—J. Howard Lichtenstein office, where he may handle tion office, whence he may handle publicity for the houses under his direction.

We Place Insurance for
NORMA TALMADGE
FILM CO.
( dormant to WID'S DAILY)

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A POUND OF CURE

Don't wait with your insurance problems. Tomorrow may be too late. Years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture field has enabled us to handle your problem with intelligence, dispatch and economy. How prove to you how we can serve you better? Your phone handy.

Talmadge Title Changed

Joseph M. Schenck states that the Constance Talmadge production to be distributed by First National and which will follow "Good References" will be entitled "Dangerous Business."

In an announcement of forthcoming attractions issued by First National last week this production was referred to as "The Human Chess Board." Release date is not set for "Dangerous Business."

Levey Secures Offices

Permanent offices for the Harry Levey Service Corp. were established on Saturday at 1661 Broadway. This is the new company that has been organized by Harry Levey for the manufacture and distribution of educational and industrial pictures.

"Mel" Kann and Philip Kamm have taken over the motion picture department of the New York Theatrical Exchange and have opened offices at 235 W. 49th St.

This at least can be said for the ordinary motion picture poster,—It enables the exhibitor to fully appreciate the RITCHHEY poster.

RITCHEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 6388

FOR SALE
Price Right Terms Easy
Motion Picture Plant
45 minutes from Times Square
TWO UP-TO-DATE STUDIOS complete in every detail, including cameras, lights, and a ten years' collection of furniture, props and sets.

LABORATORY under separate roof. Capacity, 40,000 feet per week.

Jos. R. Miles
150 W. 46th St.
Gossip from the Coast

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood.—Martha York has begged to write a feature for Claraiah Young.

Harry N. Northrup has been engaged by Louis B. Mayer to play in Anita Stewart in "Sowing the Wind."

Parker Read, Jr., has completed work on "The Girl Who Dared," starring Louise Glamm.

Edmund Lowe will be brought from New York to play in Metro's star production "Someone in the House."

Howard Hickman has decided to turn to acting. He expects to announce his new affiliation shortly.

Dr. Arthur Jarvis has been engaged for the "heavy" in Edith Roberts' story, "The Adorable Savvy," now filming at Universal City.

Basil King, the novelist, has written a scenario entitled "The Ultimate," to be screened in behalf of Anglo-American Unity League.

May Allison, Metro, star, is to appear in "The Marriage of William."

Roscoe Arbuckle is going to motor to Jamestown, Tuolumne County, to take scenes for "The Traveling salesman." He expects to leave early next week.

Walter Harte, eastern stage proctor, is in Los Angeles making arrangements for turning his latest production, "Martirique," into a motion picture.

Ruth Roland is completing the final scenes of her second serial.

Robert McKim, has been loaned tooberlton for one picture, "The Evil to Pay," directed by Ernest C.arde.

Madge Tyron, is now a member of the scenario staff at the Louis B. Mayer studio, working on the First National offerings of both Anita stewart and Mildred Harris Chaplin.

The cast for Anita Stewart's "Sowing the Wind," includes James Aronson, John Swickard, Myrtle Stedman, Ralph Lewis, William W. Onst, Margaret Landis, Ben Decy, Harry Nortrup and William Clifford.

"Sundown Slim," from the pen of Herbert H. Knibbs, who wrote "Overland Red," has been secured by Universal as Harry Carey's next nature.

"A Cumberland Romance," in which Mary Miles Minter is starred, has been completed and will be available early in July.

Rex Ingram's company making "Hearts are Trumps" for Metro, are up in the mountains near Bakersfield on the Ridge Route for the purpose of filming some panoramic mountain scenes.

Stuart Holmes, has been engaged by Metro to portray one of the important roles in "Body and Soul," a melodrama written by William Hur- bart.

Jacques Jaccard, Universal director, has hired himself to Little Bear Lake, with a company of 65 people and sufficient provisions to last them for a month. While there he will take outdoor scenes for a series of three reel pictures, all using the same set of characters. Virginia Faire and Leonard Clapp will be featured.

Joseph Basch Co. have purchased a building site 52 x 150 feet located on Hill Street, Los Angeles, where they will erect a two story building at a cost of $90,000 to be used exclusively for motion picture properties. These people are the largest property rental concern in the city.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home," by Charles Belmont Davis, is the title of the next Douglas MacLean release.

Tom J. Geraghty, has finished the continuity of "You Never Can Tell," which is to be Bebe Daniels' first starring vehicle for Realart. C. M. Franklin will direct.

"The Spenders," Harry Leon Wilson's novel, will be the next book to be filmed by Benjamin B. Hampton. Director Jack Conway starts casting for the production this week.

Benjamin B. Hampton's recently completed film, "The U. P. Trail," will be given a special showing at a Hollywood or Los Angeles theater shortly.

Leatrice Joy and Will Irving have been added to the cast of "Someone in the House." John Ince directing.

GUSMAN.

VAUDEVILLE STARS AT BETZWOOD

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Philadelphia—Many luminaries of the vaudeville stage are sojourning at Betzwood during the Summer months working on the two reel Toonerville Trolley Comedies.

The stars include Dan Mason, Jules Bernard, Bob Maximilian, Jack McLean, Wilma Wilde, Marguerite Moore and others.

DICKINSON PLANS NEW TRIP

Jefferson Davis Dickson, cameraman for David P. Howells, sailed on the Adriatic Saturday for another trip.

His first stop will be Paris, from which point he will outfit for a trip through the Balkan States.

EDMUND LOWE WILL HEAD THE ALL-STAR CAST IN "SOMEONE IN THE HOUSE" TO BE MADE BY METRO IN HOLLYWOOD.

"The Fighting Kentuckians"

Edited and Arranged by

CHAS. T. DAZEY

Author of "IN OLD KENTUCKY"

Directed by

J. HARRISON EDWARDS

The first of a series of red blooded photoplays to be produced by

STERLING FEATURE PICTURES, Inc.

Buyers and Distributors

Please Communicate With

Robert W. Priest, President

The Film Market, Inc.

Plan a Copperhead Series

Photo Products Export Co. will shortly issue a series of two reel Copperhead subjects.

503 Times Building

New York City
Film Club Plans Outing
The New York F. I. L. M. Club will hold on Saturday, July 17.
A baseball game will be held among other things. Harry Boxbaum is manager of the exchange manager's team and is said to be holding secret meetings daily to coach his gang. William Brandt will head the exhibitor's team. A killing time is promised.

Dana Back
P. B. Dana, Arrow's sales-manager has returned from a trip to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington. While in Philadelphia he closed for "Woman Man" with the Royal Pictures, Inc. The territory sold is Eastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey.

William J. Scully has been made a full-fledged director by Myron Selznick. His work will be a Herbert Kaufman weekly.

HAVE YOU MADE YOUR DATE WITH
"Fickle Women"
D. N. Schwab, Prod. (Inc.)
17 West 46 St.

TITLES
Printed, Hand-Lettered,
Illustrated and
New Process for Negatives
American Film Title Co.
145 W. 45th St. N. Y. City

Mats, Electro's and Stereos for the Motion Picture Trade
A. R. & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereotypers in N. Y. C.

Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellows know how you cleaned up.

Waterloo, Iowa—W. L. Meyers, director of publicity for the Hostetter enterprises puts over a clever stunt in conjunction with the presentation of "Why Change Your Wife" at the Crystal.

A note reading "Chief of Police: My name is Robert Gordon. My address does not matter. There is no one to blame but myself for what I have done. I cannot and will not live any longer with my present wife, knowing now that it is too late, that I love Beth, my first wife. So I am simply going to end it all by the so-called coward's way—suicide." (signed) Robert Gordon, was placed in the pocket of a gray coat lying upon the bulkhead at the rear of the Y. M. C. A. Building. Later a telegram for Robert Gordon, arrived reading, "Your letter just received. It is impossible. I am sorry. Beth."

Meanwhile great excitement prevailed and the river was dragged. Later came a letter from the mysterious Beth, explaining that "Why Change Your Wife" was a wonderful production, etc. Robert Gordon and Beth are two characters in the play and the result of the scheme was a large box office total.

Cleveland, O.—While the exhibitor convention was on, Arrow pulled a clever exploitation stunt. A small, six by three inch cardboard with two dice mounted on it was distributed with the words "You gamble with these, but Arrow Productions are sure winners," with a list of Arrow attractions on the other side.

Convention delegates received it in small envelopes, while a number of them were placed in hotel letter boxes. It proved to be unique and caused some discussion.

Narrowly Avoid Explosion
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Philadelphia — Presence of mind upon the part of employees in the local Goldwyn exchange recently averted a serious explosion.

From first hand information it is learned that Jean J. Crandall, divisional manager ordered candles and oil lamps to be placed in the film vault and inspection rooms when defective wiring impaired the electric light service. When several of the employees refused to comply with this request, threats of dismissal were made. They finally succeeded in dissuading the divisional manager from such a course pointing out the danger of the move.

Argus Film Sales
Robert W. Priest, reports following sales on "The House Without Children." Hellman & Salkin, Chicago, Illinois; Sidney B. Lust, Washington, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia and North Carolina; Masterpiece Film Attractions, Cleveland, Kentucky.

REleased September 1st

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

—OVER 500 PAGES

—A WEALTH OF INFORMATION

—READ THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE YEAR

—AN ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITY

Early Copy Receives Preferred Position

OUR ADVERTISING AND ART DEPARTMENTS WILL GLADLY HELP IN THE PREPARATION OF COPY
Cohen Writes Zukor.

(Continued from Page 1)

The full text of Mr. Cohen's letter is as follows:

"The Motion Picture Theater Owners of America recently met at Cleveland to advise as to the best ways and means of resisting the monopoly tendencies which have for sometime past arisen as a destructive policy toward the independent theater owners.

"We desire to inform you that the tendency to sustain our allegations is stronger with the group of independent men, either within or outside the industry. In fact, our issue is ready to be used at the earliest possible time.

"The convention has given me an irrevocable mandate to seek a remedy against your company for the destruction of this body of the country. I am told that it has placed its power behind this mandate. As I understand the terms of the convention, a fair and amicable adjustment of the present grievances has arisen, and I am happy to say that the pressure of this movement, in the matter and therefore in my duty to exert every effort to the best of my ability to bring about an agreement on a basis of mutual understanding.

"Your rise to wealth and power in the theater business would have been impossible without the appreciation and assistance of the great exhibiting industry of the country. I am told that the same progress which tended the development of your industry resulted in benefits to the theater owners. When I say that the exhibitors of the country applauded your pictures and supported your efforts in a very substantial way.

"There is a feeling of sincere regret among the owners of theaters who have been frequent customers of your productions, and it is well known that your company has been a constant friend, lending a definite and concrete help to the interests which we share in common. I regard you as our most valuable enemy, the man who is seeking to destroy the properties which we have built up, to secure to us at some cost the aid of your pictures, but with the aid of our own unceasing efforts, our own money and our own ability.

"It may be, and I believe it is, difficult for you to understand the sentiment that you have bred in your own house where your name is honored and respected. Exhibitors throughout the country are well aware of your success at the hands of the public, and they believe that you have a right to regulate your organization without dictation from any outside source.

"Having thus established a legitimate and substantial interest in the theater industry as it now stands, we believe the exhibitors of the country have a right to a certain, straight-forward discussion with you as to what you have in mind, to answer them in a plain straightforward way. We ask for your consideration of our position and not as an avowal of your intentions.

"Some of your representatives have threatened to drive the independent theater owner out of business if he does not submit to the dictation of your company in some form or other. We believe that our brothers in other industries have threatened and intimidated exhibitors, and have told of a contemplated theater in close proximity to the existing theater, using it to try and force the independent owner out of a deal he otherwise would not undertake.

"You have made the claim that you were forced into this doing this because of the unfairness of the exhibitors to show the pictures of your organization in their houses. Conclusive evidence has been given that they are in a position to force and coerce them into disposing of their theaters to the interests you represent. They have threatened and intimidated exhibitors, and have told of a contemplated theater in close proximity to the existing theater, using it to try and force the independent owner out of a deal he otherwise would not undertake.

"We have this plain question to ask of you, which we think is fair and legitimate, arising out of the interests which we share in common. Is it the purpose of your organization to continue its present policy of driving and building theaters in competition with the independent exhibitors throughout the United States? A plain, definite avowal of your intentions will clear the air quickly and, I have no doubt, remove the odium under which you personally and your organization are suffering at this moment. We are approaching you in a spirit of fairness, almost in a spirit of conciliation, although you have been the wrongdoer and not us.

"This question has a profound significance for the future of the public which visits our theaters. It is important, not only to the public but to the whole theater industry, to which we are all vitally interested, and it is to your interest that every medium of expression remain free and unimpeded. We of the people of this country would view with profound alarm monopolistic combinations being placed in opposition to the efforts of the public which visits our theaters. It is to your interest that every medium of expression remain free and unimpeded. We of the people of this country would view with profound alarm monopolistic combinations being placed in opposition to the efforts of the public which visits our theaters.

"It would be well to view with equal alarm an attempt of one individual or group of individuals to obtain complete possession of all publications in the country. The public will not long countenance a plan to monopolize this industry, to bring all the sources of production as well as the motion picture theaters under the control of one man or group of men.

"Current rumor has it that financial groups desirous of strengthening their hold on our industry have selected at least one of the well-known independent producers, whose efforts have been applied to producing pictures and not in acquiring theaters, for their special consideration by impairing the credit of this concern, no doubt with the hope of curtailting the output of the independent field. This will gain them nothing, as the independent exhibitor throughout the country will rise to the support in a very substantial way of the independent producer who is being threatened by the same forces who have also been endeavoring to eliminate the independent exhibitor from the field.

"Aside from other important public considerations, they know that the monopolistic control of this field would mean poorer pictures and higher prices, and they would prefer to realize that if we take this fight to the public we will win, for no man has the power to stand up against the popular will. However, we have no desire to engage in a warfare with you, but we feel compelled to do so in self-defense.

"In conclusion we beg to remind you of your own stand publicly and emphatically announced some time ago when you and your organization (Continued on Page 6)"
Opposes Censors
(Continued from Page 1)

in Cleveland, and which pledged the industry and the National Association to co-operate with the General Federation of Women's Clubs and all other national organizations in the production, distribution and exhibition of selected pictures for young people.

In the discussion of the motion picture question it was evident that many of the women believed that the regulation of pictures and the elimination of objectionable ones was a local problem, and could be best handled by the women in their own communities. Several of the women delegates related their experience and told of the good results that had been obtained by their clubs through a co-operation with the local exhibitors and exchange managers associations.

Many of the women declared they had solved their problem in their communities, and were opposed to state or national interference in what they believed was a local matter. This feeling was reflected in the vote against national censorship, which came as a surprise, as always the Federation had passed resolutions relating to motion pictures as represented.

There was in the Federation some sentiment for censorship, but it was discounted to a large extent for the reason that the leading proponent for censorship has been known to be a standing candidate for a place on the censorship commission of her state if one is ever established there.

Bound for the Old World

Violet Heming, Paramount star, sailed Thursday for England to visit her mother. She will return to the United States in the early autumn.

Not to be out done by all her friends Dorothy Gish, announces her intention of joining the summer colony of stars in Europe, sailing with her mother on July 31.

Antonio Gaudio who has been with Allan Dwan in the past will photograph "Kismet" for Robertson cole.

Cohen Writes Zukor
(Continued from Page 5)

tion took the position that it was wrong for the exhibitors and injunctions to the prosperity of the industry to have the theater owners invade the producing field.

"If you will only adhere to the policy which you then so well defined, you may restor normal conditions in this industry, both to your own benefit and to the benefit of the men who own theaters.

"As a test of your good faith, are you willing to publish a complete list of the motion picture theaters under the control of your company, your associates or yourself in the United States? Will you agree to dispose of these motion picture theater holdings to the independent exhibitors who are doing business preferably in the zones in which these theaters are located, providing that no financial loss will accrue to either your company, your associates or yourself?

"This organization is prepared to meet you on a fair basis so that no loss will accrue to you and so that the great motion picture exhibiting body will be independent and the market open to your product as well as that of other producers, where merit will be the first consideration.

"We are including an authentic copy of the resolution unanimously passed at the convention of the M. P. T. O. A., at Cleveland, Ohio, June 10, 1920."
Allens Sign
Enroll Their 56 Canadian Theaters in New Associated First National Movement

Fifty-six of Canada's first run theaters have been officially enrolled in the exhibitor co-operative movement by Allen Brothers of Toronto, vowing and operating that number of houses through the Allen Theater enterprises, signed individual Associated First National Picture franchises for each of their properties. This is the greatest single franchise grant that the Executive Committee of Associated First National has issued since the awarding of membership to independent exhibitors started shortly after the Chicago convention last April.

The franchise grants to the 56 theaters owned by Allen is described as the last step in the Dominion's existing and distributing situation which divides the Canadian picture world.

(Continued on Page 2)

Zukor Silent on Cohen Letter
Adolph Zukor would make no comment yesterday regarding the letter addressed to him by Sydney S. Cohen, president of the M.P. Theater Owners of America on Famous Players' activity in the existing field.

New Strand for Schenectady
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Schenectady—Max Spiegel of the Mark Strand Co., New York, will erect a 3,000 theater here. He has just closed a deal for a piece of property known as the Wedgeway Bldg.

What They Think of Wid's Year Book

"I have frequent occasion to use Wid's Year Book because of its completeness and reliability."

Theodore C. Dietrich.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Open Booking
Planned by Goldwyn for Fall Season—15 Films Ready for Release to Exhibitors

Goldwyn yesterday announced its program for the 1920-1921 season. Fifty productions will be released and of that number ten are complete. The balance will be handled on the open booking plan; the exhibitor may buy one or 60, as he chooses.

The outstanding points of the announcement as Goldwyn sees them are:

Sixty productions handled as unit bookings.

The first of Booth Tarkington's 'Cecilia' will be one of the period and a continuation of the two-reel 'Edgar Comedies.'

The first of Maurice Maeterlinck's original screen stories.

The acquisition of production rights to many plays and books.

A continuation of the alliance between Goldwyn, Rex Beach, and the six eminent authors—Rupert Hughes, Basil King, Goncourt Morris, Mary Roberts, Rinehart, Gertrude Atherton and Llyr Scyt.

The distribution of pictures starring Betty Compson.

The distribution of J. Parker Read's "His Own Law." A continuation of the Goldwyn-Bray Pictograph and the Goldwyn...

(Continued on Page 3)

Anna Nilsson Coming East
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Anna Q. Nilsson left for New York yesterday to appear in a picture for R. A. Walsh. It will be titled "Idols."

Winkie Sails Aug. 4
Hyman Wink of Western Import Co. sails for England Aug. 4 aboard the Olympic.

Hayakawa Buys Bainter Play
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Sessue Hayakawa has purchased the rights to "East is West," the stage play in which Fay Bainter made such a success.

Abramson in Chicago
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Chicago—Ivan Abramson is here to arrange for a two day convention of independent exchange men.

Markowitz Bros. of California are also here for the meeting which will be held at the Sherman. It is expected that a new co-operative exchange men's organization will develop.

YOUR Press Books
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.
Allen’s Sign

(Continued from Page 1)

field finally into two factions—the Allen Brothers associated with the independent producer exhibitor group which, in their opinion, is handling the situation in the best interests of the public. They are continuing with their program of showing films at the Allen theaters, which they believe is the only way to maintain the high standards of exhibition that have been established by the Allen Brothers in the past.

First National says that evidence of the conditions existing in the industry is growing, and that the Allen Brothers are not the only exhibitors who are being compelled to reduce their programs. They say that other exhibitors are also having to cut down their programs because of the increasing cost of operating theaters.

The Allen Brothers state that they are continuing with their program of showing films because they believe that it is the only way to maintain the high standards of exhibition that have been established by the Allen Brothers in the past. They say that other exhibitors are also having to cut down their programs because of the increasing cost of operating theaters.

At Broadway Theatres

Capitol

Clever arrangements of pictures, orchestra music and voices again marks the Capitol program. S. L. Kahlrode is going ahead putting on his shows just a little bit different in the manner in which they are presented, which is very pleasing to the audience.

The opening number this week is a novelty of which the audience is very much interested. It is a quartet of Yankee Doodle, in which stage pictures are being shown in a novel way. The quartet is made up of the following artists:

1. Howard Crain, tenor, who provides the orchestra music, clever as usual.

2. The orchestra, which plays the melody with such beautiful effects that the audience is very much interested.

3. The melody is sung by a quartet of female singers, as the melody is played with such beautiful effects that the audience is very much interested.

4. The melody is sung by a quartet of male singers, as the melody is played with such beautiful effects that the audience is very much interested.

Rivioli

The three opening numbers on the Rivoli bill this week are "The Night of the Day," "The Night of the Day," and "The Night of the Day." The former is a novel musical number which is also being played at the Capitol. The latter is a novel musical number which is also being played at the Capitol.

Rialto

Equity of Michigan Changes Hands (Special to WID’S DAILY)

Detroit—Equity Pictures Corp. of Michigan has been taken over by the Minter-United Amusements.

The latter company will take over the offices occupied by Equity as well as the Clara Kinball Young productions and others that Equity handled. Minter-United will also continue the Pioneer product in the territory.

The exhibitor needs many things to become really successful, but the things he needs most of all are plenty of RITCHIE postcards.
Open Booking
(Continued From Page 11)
Bray Comic and the possible addition of other regular releases from the Bray Studios.

Two-reel Capitol Comedies released every other week.

Glowyn's new English unit, Glowyn, Ltd., already has nine branch offices covering Scotland, South Wales, Lancashire and Yorkshire. Plans for English production will be put into effect shortly. Production will also be started in France, season will be as follows: "The Accusing Heart," with Will Rogers.
The directors of Glowyn, Ltd., are A. George Smith, J. R. Cardew Smith, Sir Mathey Richard Henry Wilson, Bart, M.P., C.S.I., and Sir James Farquharson Remnant, Bart, M.P., Samuel Glowyn in an interview given on the west coast stated that his organization would release 60 productions during the next season. Glowyn's remarks were published in WID'S DAILY June 25.

Keith House Running Films
Louisville, Ky.—During the summer, Keith's Mary Anderson will run pictures.

A first-rate art director and atmosphere expert with big production record, also assistant supervisor and director, is open for engagement after July 7th. Correspondence confidential. Address Wid's Box B-22.

New Theater for Newark
Newark—Adams Bros., of Paterson will erect a $1,000,000 theater on Board near Mechanic St. Plans are now being completed by William T. Fanning, architect. The theater will seat about 2,000 and besides the main floor will also have a balcony.

Adams Bros. own the U. S. theater in Paterson.

Mats, Electros and Stereos for the Motion Picture Trade
I. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereotypers in N. Y. C.

Hudson River Night Lines

Daily Sailing From Pier 31, N. R. (at Debrougis St.) week days, 6 & 7 P. M. Sunday and Holidays, 6 P. M. & 9 P. M.
West 13th St., half hour later
(Daylight saving time).
Due Albany 6:05 following morning, Troy 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West.
Express Freight Service, Autos Carried.

Hudson Navigation Company
Phone Canal 9090.

"WHERE PROMISES ARE SACRED"
LOUIS MEYER
FORMERLY BRODA & MEYER INC.

TITLES
LETTERED - ILLUSTRATED - PHOTOGRAPHED
ASK TO SEE OUR NEW PROCESS TITLES AND ILLUSTRATIONS
A PHONE CALL WILL BRING SAMPLES
BRYANT 7392
220 WEST 42nd ST. • ROOM 2004

Start now and get acquainted with
"Fickle Women"
D. N. Schwab Prod., Inc.
117 W. 46th St.

FOR SALE
Price Right
Terms Easy

Motion Picture Plant
45 minutes from Times Square
TWO UP-TO-DATE STUDIOS
complete in every detail, including cameras, lights, and a ten years' collection of furniture, props and sets.

Laboratory
under separate roof. Capacity, 400,000 feet per week.

Jos. R. Miles
129 W. 46th St.

Wid's 1920 Year Book Will Tell

Bristol, Conn.—Arthur J. Clements, and L. M. Williams bought Palace for $65,000.

Question No. 12

HOW MANY THEATERS IN THE U. S. ?

Answer

Wid's 1920 Year Book Will Tell

FOR SALE
Price Right
Terms Easy

Motion Picture Plant
45 minutes from Times Square
TWO UP-TO-DATE STUDIOS
complete in every detail, including cameras, lights, and a ten years' collection of furniture, props and sets.

Laboratory
under separate roof. Capacity, 400,000 feet per week.

Jos. R. Miles
129 W. 46th St.
"Road to London"
First Bryant Washburn Independent to Be Made Abroad—Discusses Plans
Bryant Washburn will make his first independent production abroad. It will be called "The Road to London," and is an adaptation of a novel by the same name. It is light and will be shot, as usually found in Washburn productions. But Eugene Mulin who is making the adaptation, and will also direct the production, will add several melodramatic touches.

Washburn and his wife will sail on Saturday and Mullin, Max Parker, the technical director, recently visited Mary Pickford, and J. O. Taylor the cameraman who recently did the Bos-worth productions will sail early next month for England where the production will be made.

In discussing his plans with repressentatives of the press at lunch at the Biltmore yesterday, Washburn said that during the past two years he had made 20 productions for Lasky, and the average working time on each production was about 18 shooting days. He said that very often he had no idea who would be in the cast, and what clothes would be needed. This was not the way to make productions, he stated, and declared that in the future he would make from three to five pictures a year, which would give him ample time to make

Mullin to Direct Washburn
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Eugene Mullin, for-er head of the Goldwyn scenario department, left for New York Monday morning.

He will direct Bryant Washburn in a picture which will be made in Eu-

Max Parker, who has been technical director with Douglas Fairbanks, will probably join Mullin and work on the Washburn picture.
Mullin while in New York will complete his technical staff.

Meighan at Rivoli
"The Prince Chap," with Thomas Meighan, will be the feature at the Rivoli next week instead of "The Sins of St. Anthony," as originally planned.

At Liberty
Orchestra
Conductor
With ability and extensive experience in preparing musical settings and presenting, with or without soloists or prologues, a varied picture programs according to most advanced ideas.
Address Orco, c/o WID's.

A Promise?
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
San Francisco—The following extract from the text of the platform adopted by the Democrat National Convention will perhaps be of interest to the film industry:

"We condemn the failure of the present Congress to respond to the oft-repeated demand of the President and the Secretaries of the Treasury to revise the existing tax laws. The continuance in force in peace times of taxes devised under pressure of imperative necessity to produce a revenue for war purposes is indefensible and can only result in lasting injury to the people.

We advocate tax reform and a searching revision of the war revenue acts to fit peace conditions so that the wealth of the nation may not be withdrawn from essential and productive enterprise and diverted to wasteful non-productive expenditure.
"We demand prompt action by the next Congress for a complete survey of existing taxes and their modification and simplification with a view to secure greater equity and justice in tax burden and improvement in administration."

New Fox Star
Louise Lovely Signs Five Year Contract—No Confirmation Here
Los Angeles—Louise Lovely, who has appeared as leads in several Fox productions, has been signed to star in Fox productions for five years. Miss Lovely at present is finishing a picture with Ormer Locklear for Fox and when this is finished she starts work on her first starring production.
James Hogan will direct.
The Fox executive offices could not confirm this officially yesterday.

Dawling Here
Pat Dawling of the Christie Film Co. is in town. He is at the Clарidge.

3 More from Gish
(Continued from Page 1)
formation of his company before that time.

From an official at the Griffith study in Mamaroneck it was learned that the formation of D. W. Griffith, Inc., which, as noted, was chartered in Baltimore with a capitalization of $30,000,000 a week ago, does not presage any immediate increase in Griffith's production plans.

Dorothy Gish, Robert Harron and Lillian Gish together with Mr.
Griffith's own producing company will occupy the Mamaroneck plant and produce simultaneously.

It was also learned that contrary to report, "Way Down East" will not open for its Broadway run in early August as it is very probable that the picture will not be completed by that time.

There is a possibility that the production may open at the 44th St.
thet recent the last week in August but it is more than likely that the opening date will be in September.

Who Has Al St. John?
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—The Warner Bros.
deny that E. S. Bradley has signed as Al St. John. They say he has contract which runs for four years more and that his comedies are contricted for by 50 per cent of the First National exchanges throughout the country.
St. John himself prefers not to discuss the matter at the time.

WID'S DAILY last week published a denial of the St. John affiliation with Bradley, as issued from the local offices by H. M. Warner.

There are more prints of Comedty working in the U. S. today than any other
Film of any kind.

WHY?

Special Pictures Corporation
H. W. HELLMAN BLDG.
Los Angeles

Francis X. Conlan is now completing his role as Lord Dolly in "The Marriages of the Mayfair" at the Metro studio on 61st St.

CONVENIENCE
S 316 East 48th St.
DOBBS LABORATORY
Murray Hill 4963
Negative Developing
Sample Prints—Titles
Quick Service
Small Studio for Rent

Stop at 110 West 40th Street
To see Mr. J. Joseph Sameth
Of the Forward Film Distributors, Inc.

Pursuant to "YOUTH'S DESIRE"
New Hodkinson Unit

Bessie Barriscale Will Release Through That Organization

It is understood that a new series of Bessie Barriscale productions made by B. B. Features, Inc., will be distributed through the Hodkinson Corp. Miss Barriscale has started work on the first of the series. A Hodkinson official was non-committal on the matter yesterday. He did deny the report but merely said that if his company handles the Barriscale productions they will be on the lines of special attractions. Robertson-Cole stated yesterday that the last Barriscale production it company will handle is "Life's Warts."}

Inner Given Laemmle; Sails Today

The "I" Girls Club from the "I" Girls Club, has been appointed manager of the Buffalo exchange for Associated Producers, Inc.

What They Think of Wid's Year Book

"Our association is convinced that your publication will be of great use to our members."

LOS ANGELES FILM EXCHANGE BOARD OF TRADE.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Georgia to Organize

Willard Patterson Calls Meeting for Sunday—Move Result of Cleveland Convention

Atlanta—Willard G. Patterson, third vice-president and member of the Executive Committee of the M. P. Theater Owners of America, has issued a call for a mass meeting of Georgia exhibitors to be held here on Sunday.

This is believed to be the first move to be taken by any exhibitor body in the country to organize state leagues of exhibitors which are to be branches of the national organization.

While the formation of the Georgia branch is expected to be completed, the exhibitors will undoubtedly take action against a censorship bill which is expected to be shortly brought before the Legislature. It is said that this bill is the most drastic to be introduced in this state. It provides that the local board of censors will supplement these local boards with a state board which can very efficiently operate where local boards have failed.

Neilan to Direct De Havens

Marshall Neilan will personally direct "Twin Beds" in which Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven will appear for First National.

Dwan Getting Ready for A. P.

By wire to WID'S DAILY

Los Angeles—Dwan's first production for Associated Producers, Inc., will be "The Forbidden Thing." James Kirkwood and King Baggot have already been engaged.

Read Suing Hurt

By wire to WID'S DAILY

Los Angeles—J. Parker Read, Jr., has brought suit against William S. Hart for recovery of $6,300 alleged to be due Read for services.

The opening of the trial has been delayed until the jurors are sworn in.

Sarah Bernhardt in Films

Los Angeles—It is reported here that Sarah Bernhardt may come here to make two pictures for a local producer although the producer is cannot be determined.

Edith Roberts Leaves "U"

By wire to WID'S DAILY

Los Angeles—Edith Roberts, who has been starring for Universal, has completed her contract.

Universal verified the above dispatch yesterday.

The Bradstreet of Filmdom Daily

JUL. XIII No. 7 Thursday, July 8, 1920

Price 5 Cents

Ausonia Pictures

Ausonia Pictures Corp., a New York incorporation, has been formed to handle stories and pictures dealing with Italy. Ausonia is the classical name for Italy.

The company was formed to produce the works of F. Marion Crawford, who although an American dwelt for the greater part of his life in Italy. There are 38 stories of Crawford's which are said to be adapted for use on the screen.

Americo Serrao, formerly with the Roma New York Pictures Corp., which it will be recalled was formed by P. A. Powers, is president of Ausonia; Eltinge F. Warner, vice-president of Federal Photoplays, Inc., is vice-president; T. B. M. Terhune, secretary, and Conrad Miliken, treasurer.

Serrao, who is said to be in close touch with contemporary Italian authors, is understood to have lined up additional works for production. It is possible that the company will also import Italian films into this country for exploitation here.

6 Connor Stories

Dominion Films Co., Inc., has plans under way for the filming of six Ralph Connor stories. Henry McRae, for a number of years production manager at Universal City, has been engaged as supervising director.

The first picture will be "The Foreigner," which McRae will personally direct. The others scheduled for production are "Cameronia of the Royal Mounted," "The Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail," "The Man from Glengary," "The Sky Pilot" and "The Prospector." All of the pictures will be out-door productions and will be produced in the actual locale of the story.

It is understood that distribution will be through First National, who released "Back to God's Country."

McRae is at the Biltmore completing arrangements for his trip to Winnipeg. He expects later to secure one and possibly two directors while he will supervise the productions.
Coast Brevities

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—Ben Wilson is on his way to New York with the first three episodes of the new Jack Hoxie serial "Thunderbolt Jack." Upon his return from New York he will start work immediately on "Power God."

Douglas MacLean's sixth picture, announced previously under the working title of "Lucid Intervals," has been changed to the "Rookie's Return."

Bert Cann, the cameraman, has been signed to a long term contract by Thos. H. Ince. Cann will remain as chief cameraman for Douglas MacLean's pictures.

Alice Terry will be leading lady in Rex Ingram's new production, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Other selections in the cast are: Rudolph Valentino; Stuart Holmes; Nigel De Bruihler; Brinley Shaw; and Frank Losee.

Rosamund Theby has started work opening "R. B. Warner in "Going Straight," a Jesse D. Hampton production.

Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellows know how you cleaned up.

Repeatedly, it has been insisted that exploitation campaigns on an elaborate scale do not go as well in larger cities as they do in smaller towns.

Manager Frank A. Gerard of the 81st St., on Broadway, however, put over a piece of showmanship in conjunction with "The Idol Dancer," that resulted in great business.

Three weeks before the opening of the film, Gerard ran a trailer announcing the attraction without giving the date. Following that came a tie-up with prominent business houses in the vicinity. Special handbills of which there made to hand out "The Idol Dancer" with merchandise. Small stock cut-outs, 24 sheet cut-outs and 44 x 60 photographs enlargements of Clarke Seymour were displayed over a wide area.

A week before the opening, 5,000 plaques were mailed to a list of names. A page-boy, dressed in a Hawaiian costume saw to it that each patron received a herald upon leaving the house, to create atmosphere. Just before the show, all windows carded, came the big push. White foot prints of a woman's naked feet with tell-tale inscriptions, reading "The Idol Dancer," leading to the theater were painted on Broadway from 78th to 86th St.

This was so unusual that many followed the trail to the theater lobby. There was a banner stretching across the street and a specially decorated house front. A prologue and other details all helped.

San Francisco, Cal.—An underwater endurance contest in conjunction with the showing of "Below the Surface," at Imperial, aroused great interest and sent that offering off to a splendid start.

The San Francisco Committee of the American Olympic Games offered a prize of $150 to the swimmer who swam below for the longest period of time and the first trials were held in San Francisco Bay, on June 5. A silver trophy is to be presented to the champion and the victorious swimmer is a member.

Wausau, Wis.—C. S. Cone in exploiting D. W. Griffith's "The Greatest Question," tried the scheme of offering a prize of $10 to anyone who would sleep in a graveyard for a night.

The natties were too superstitious to brave the spiritual dangers of a cemetery, but Charles J. Howard, a Wausau salesman, offered to do so gratis if Cone booked one of his pictures. The publicity accrued meant more dollars for Cone's pocket.
Incorporations

Dover, Del.—S. A. Lynch Enterprises Finance Corp. Capital $10,000,000. Incorporators N. C. C. alley, Atlanta, T. L. Cotean and J. A. Bruce, Wilmington.

Dover, Del.—Associated First National Pictures of Southern California; capital $10,000. Incorporators C. H. Blasek, M. A. Bruce and E. Dill, Wilmington.

Albany—Henry Levey Service Corp. New York. Active capital $11,000; 1,110 shares preferred stock, 100 par value and 6,000 shares common stock, no par value. Incorporators J. A. Harris, H. A. Mintz and Harry Levey, 552 Riverside Drive.

Baltimore, Md.—Horstmann Amusement Co. $150,000. I. L. Horstmann, O. H. Hornstein, Simon C. Hornstein and Michael Miller.

Pantages to Show Films Seattle—Alexander Pantages is putting the projection rooms in his Seattle theaters remodeled to accommodate showing of feature films. He is to show a full program in addition to vaudeville. He is also installing specially constructed Watuses suited for vaudeville as well as pictures. Combined programs are given at a former price of vaudeville.

Musicians to Demand Increase Buffalo.—It is planned by the local musicians union to demand an increase from exhibitors. The new rate has not as yet been announced.

Start Work on Large House Minneapolis, Minn.—Work on the Orpheum has been begun and it is expected that it will be ready by next spring. The house will cost between $600,000 and $700,000 instead of $500,000 as originally estimated.

Merit Opens in Baltimore Baltimore.—A local office has been opened by the Merit Film Co. of New York. F. J. Willis has taken two offices in the Palmart and Homand buildings.

F. P. Plans Standardized Accessories

Famous Players has completed arrangements which are expected to standardize distribution of its accessories. Each exchange is to have on hand a minimum supply of accessories and a second order is to be entered immediately with the home office as soon as the first is exhausted.

Melville A. Shauer, son of E. F. Shauer, assistant treasurer and foreign manager of Famous, is in charge of the new department of advertising accessories which has just been created. Sarah Lyons, until now assistant exchange service manager, has been made exchange service manager, succeeding Joseph di Lorenzo, resigned. John T. Murnan succeeds Miss Lyons.

Chadwick Sells Briggs Comedies

Chadwick Pictures Corp. reports sale on Briggs Comedies as follows: New York State and Northern New Jersey to Merit Film of New York; Eastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey to Consolidated Film Exchange of Philadelphia; Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia to Exhibitors Film Co., Pittsburgh, Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky to Standard Film Service of Cleveland, Illinois and Indiana to Celebrated Players Film Corp., Chicago; Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Virginia to Merit Film, Baltimore.

White Film in August

Pearl White in "The White Moll" her first production for Fox will be released in August.

Eileen Percy has completed work on "The Husband Hunter" by F. Scott Fitzgerald.

Tom Mix is in Arizona shooting exteriors for "The Texan."

Reichenbach's Party

In the capacity of author, producer and host, Harry Reichenbach will handle another great production this evening at the Bayside Golf Club on Saturday.

Reichenbach's latest spectacle is entitled "The Great Golf Galaxy." The principals in the cast include the board of directors of the A. M. P. A. in toto and the ensemble embraces practically the whole membership of that body. The company will leave at noon from the Long Island Depot, on the Royal and Ancient Special chartered by Reichenbach. Stewards of the course assisting the producer are Arthur James and Horace Judge. Wives of members, duly certified, are included in the Reichenbach invitation and will see their husbands off the fray. In addition to the golf tournament the program includes a dinner, a 19th hole, dances and merry-go-rounds and an address by the host on "Putting It Over the Green."

Can you depend on

"Fickle Women"

D. N. Schwab Prod., Inc.
117 W. 46th St.

ROBERT A. SANBORN
Adapter of
Over 30 O. Henry Features for Vitagraph
At present with
Universal West Coast Studios
Universal City, California

GEORGE ELWOOD JENKS
Continuity and Specials
"A Woman of Pleasure"
Blanche Sweet Special
"The Pagan God"
starring H. B. Warner
"Dangerous Waters"
Original for Wm. Desmond

JESSE D. HAMPTON
Productions

H. H. VAN LOAN
Recent Releases
Tom Mix in
"The Speed Maniac"
The Virgin of Stamboul"
with
Priscilla Dean
121 West Eulalia Street
Glendale, California

"If it is a Van Loan story it must be good"

STUDIO MANAGER

Who will be available July 15th desires to become associated with reliable producing organization. Has successful record with foremost producers in United States. For full particulars kindly address Box 75, Wid's Daily, Hollywood Office.

Photoplayers, Attention

We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the photoplayers here on the coast. We invite your patronage. Yours for success,

L. Richardson
607 West Seventh Street
Los Angeles, California. Phone 64955 or call in person.

Question No.13

HOW MANY EXCHANGES IN THE U.S.?

Answer

Wid's 1920 Year Book Will Tell
DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 14

"APARTMENT 29" with Earle Williams

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It

And also
"Partners of the Night"
and
"Milestones"

For Goldwyn

Mayer Expected
Louis B. Mayer is expected in town from California shortly.

Harry Scott Here
Harry Scott, manager of the Detroit First National exchange, is in town.

Equity Film for Interocean
Interocean Film has secured "Whispering Devils" in which Con- way Tarell appears for Equity for foreign distribution.

Signs for Comedy Roles
June Jordan, a Virginia girl who has done some work in pictures and on the stage, has been engaged by the Havelaff Film Corp. to play comedy roles.

Morris Winik Here
Morris Winik, brother of Hyman Winik, of Western Import, has ar-rived from South America. Winik sells film in Brazil and the Argentine.

Gray at Brooklyn Strand
Paul Gray, formerly with Loew's Dayton and later with the Select exploitation force, is now at the Brooklyn Strand under Edward L. Hy- man, managing director.

Schlank Plans More Production
Morris Schlank, producer of Hank Mann Comedies, will have two addi-tional comedy units working by fall. The Mann series will be a monthly release and there will be one comedy from the other two units monthly. Schlank will also probably make five reel comedies for fall release.

New Series for Arrow
Georgia Hopkins is to produce and star in five reel productions, the first of which is being completed for distribu-tion through Arrow. It is "Bachelor Apartments." Joseph Faraham is editing the picture.

Buy Essanay Productions
Kansas City, Mo.—A series of 12 Essanay features starring Bryant Washburn, Eugene O'Brien and others, has been bought by Richards and Flynn.

Deny Report
That Brulatour or Eastman Are Inter-ested in Lab Combine

Friends of Jules E. Brulatour, dis-tributor of Eastman stock in New York, insist that the report circulated in film circles and noted in this pub-lication last week, are absolutely without foundation and add that Brulatour has not the slightest idea of attempting to put through a com-bination of laboratories. The report has been circulated that Brul-atour, in combination with the Eastman Kodak company intended to have sufficient laboratory service to print practically all of the raw stock which Eastman turns out.

Commenting on the report, a man close to Brulatour said yesterday: "These reports make me sick—Brulatour isn't an idea in the world of going into laboratories. Several years ago—and there is no secret about this—he was very much inter-ested in a laboratory scheme. But it failed to work out and when it was all over, it had cost Brulatour a pretty penny. Some one has been interested in that end of the game at all.

"I know—in his absence—that his office denied that he was connected with the reported combine. Had he been in town he would have denied it. And his denial would have been true."

Saunders Rounds Out Force
Claude Saunders, exploitation manage-ment of Goldwyn, has placed an exploitation man in every Para-mount exchange but two and these last will be filled shortly.

In placing the exploitation men several changes resulted. Walter P. Lindlar goes from Minneapolis to New York as assistant manager; M. G. Sladdin goes from Boston to Omaha, replacing Hal Oliver, who goes to Minneapolis; Charles Winston goes to Boston; John F. McConville is now at Albany; Albert S. Nathan from New York to Buffalo; Oscar A. Doob from Cincinnati to Gary; Frank A. Cassidy to Cincinnati; Eli M. Orowitz from Detroit to Phila-delphia, and Leslie F. Whelan from Dallas to Detroit.

New Arrow Sales
Arrow has closed three contracts for Eastern territory on the Fred Ardath comedy series. They are the Square Deal Film Corp., Eastern Pennsylva-nia and Southern New Jersey; Exhibitor's Film Corp., Pittsburgh, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia; the Seaboard Film Corp., Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia.

Contracts have been signed be-tween Arrow and Pearce Films, of New Orleans, and the First National Exchange of Louisville, for a series of 13 productions; the series of "Tex" mystery pictures, and "The Deser-scorn," "Wolves of the Street" and "The Chamber Mystery."

Evangelist Rents Picture House
Buffalo—The Caverns has been rented by Evangelist A. E. Sanderson. At the close of his series of lec-tures, the house will return to its usual picture policy.
Gathering
What Are All These Film Men Going to Do in Atlantic City?
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Atlantic City—Scheduled to begin this morning at the St. Charles Hotel there will be an important series of conferences of officials connected with the National Booking Corp., which has its offices in the Broadway Theater Bldg., New York City. It is understood that those who will attend the meeting are Jules Mastbaum, head of the Stanley Co. of America, Philadelphia; Bill Heenan, formerly with the First National Exchange of Philadelphia, and Mike Hennessey, who was affiliated with the original Stanley Co. and who will be remembered for his connection with the old General Film Co.

Omaha May Be Music-less
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Omaha—Theaters here may be without orchestras after Sept. 1 unless the musicians recede from demands for a 60% increase in wages. The demand for the increase was recently made. The exhibitors offered to pay 50% increase, but they declined to pay that much. There the matter stands, and Sept. 1 all the present contracts will expire with no new ones signed.

Fichtenberg Here
Herman Fichtenberg, who recently sold his interest in Saenger Amusement and which was bought up by S. A. Lynch, is back in New York. He says he is "just hanging around."

What They Think of Wid's Year Book
"The Year Book is not only a worthy sample of the way in which Wid's does everything, but of genuine value to all of us who labor in the motion picture vineyard."
ASHLEY MILLER, Secretary M. P. D. A.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Exhibitors Aroused
Over Return of Deposit Checks on Charles Ray Productions—Say Contracts Must Hold
Members of the Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce intend presenting to the F. I. L. M. Club objections to a circular letter sent out under date of July 1 by the local First National Exchange which in one part says:
"The bigness of Mr. Ray's ideas are probably best known to Mr. Ray himself and with what he intends to do he feels that the contract taken from you some time ago is at a price that would not permit him to do the very big pictures that he wishes to."

J. P. McDonnell Dead
J. P. McDonnell, treasurer of the Evans Film Mfg. Co., Inc., died at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday night. He is survived by his wife, Anna G. McDonnell, two boys and one girl. Services tomorrow morning at the Church of the Good Shepherd, 207th St. and Broadway.

Independents Meet
Talk Over New Exchange Organization—Abramson Plans New Company
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Chicago—A number of independent exchange men from various sections of the country are now meeting at the Sherman for the purpose of perfecting a new co-operative organization to work along First National lines.
The meeting is the one planned by Herman Rifkin as a result of his idea hatched at the recent Cleveland convention.

Deny Sale of "East is West"
William Harris' office yesterday denied the reported sale of the screen rights to "East is West," the Ray Bainter stage success, to Sessee Hayakawa.

It was stated yesterday that the film rights will not be disposed of until the play has completed its run. Miss Bainter will appear in it again this fall after her return from Europe.

Booking Combine
May Result in Northwest—Jensen & Von Herberg Interested
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Seattle—It is reported here that plans are under way for what may be the largest combination ever effected in this section, and as a result of which booking of productions may be materially involved.
It is said that among those foremost in the scheme are Jensen & Von Herberg, and that plans have reached a point far from where the movement may be considered unimportant.
Among the various reports in circulation are these: that the Von Herberg element have made a truce with Jim Clemmer and associates of Clemmer formerly identified with the Northwest Exhibitors Circuit, and that as a result they will not bid against each other for productions that Von Herberg's firm has secured the lease of the Clemmer house at the expiration of the present lease and several other rumors, none of which can be confirmed.
But that there is something on it undeniable, and it is said that several of the large releasing and distributing companies of the East are considerably upset over conditions in this section which have resulted in practically little or no booking as yet for the coming season.

Inquiry among several releasing companies here yesterday disclosed the fact that they were aware that something was "afoot," but did not know what it was going to be. A Walling of the motion picture market and that section of the country and that they had already taken action regarding the situation.

Waldorf a Bankrupt
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Boston—Waldorf Photo Plays Ltd., has been declared a bankrupt.
The first meeting of the board of directors will be held July 15 to appoint a trustee.

Sigmund Moos Here
Sigmund Moos, manager of the efficiency department at Universal City, is in town from the coast to arrange for the opening of a branch at the Universal headquarters where arrangements may be made for producing space by companies going west.

Hope Loring, formerly with Universal, will write the script for a new Edgar Lewis production.

Your Next Insert
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.—Advt.
Exhibitors Aroused
(Continued from Page 1)
make and for that reason requested us to return to you your deposit.

The letter is signed by R. H. Clark, treasurer and general manager of the First National Exchange.

An official of the Theater Owners Associated of Commerce stated yesterday that the organization certainly intends holding First National and Charles Exchange meetings next week in order to show films that are not being sold by them and to intimate that they may go so far as to take the matter into the courts. The entire question will, however, be brought up at a F. I. L. M. Club meeting for discussion.

It was also stated yesterday that these contracts for the Charles Ray series had been signed last fall and that the deposit checks had been paid to First National which has had the use of that money since last fall. One exhibitor said it was obviously unfair to have the use of this money for a period of months and attempt to cancel contracts entered upon.

An effort to secure a statement from First National yesterday proved fruitless.

It is understood, however, that late in the afternoon J. D. Williams conferred with several exhibitors on the matter.

The exécutive committee of Associated First National has held a meeting in Atlantic City over Saturday and Sunday to pass on a number of sub-franchise contracts submitted by exhibitors.

Those who will attend are J. D. Williams, Moe Mark, Harry Schwalbe and N. H. Gordon.

Educate to Release Serial

The executive committee of Associated First National has held a meeting in Atlantic City over Saturday and Sunday to pass on a number of sub-franchise contracts submitted by exhibitors.

Those who will attend are J. D. Williams, Moe Mark, Harry Schwalbe and N. H. Gordon.

Italian Film Sold

26 from Fine Arts
All of Them Will Be Distributed
Through Independent Exchanges

Fine Arts Pictures, Inc., producers of "Up in Mary's Attic," state that the company will produce 26 pictures a year, for release through independent exchanges. The first picture will be put in production immediately and it will be ready for release by Sept. 30.

The pictures will be released every two weeks and will be versions of well-known stories, so Fine Arts states.

Ray Film at Strand
Joseph Plunkett of the Strand is making plans for an elaborate presentation of Ray's initial First National picture, "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway."

He is arranging to stage a prologue similar to the chorus work of the Cohani play, and a mechanical effect giving the atmosphere of the commuters' train to New Rochelle.

Independent Meet
(Continued from Page 1)
Ivan Abramson, it is understood has broached a plan to the exchange men whereby he will act as director-general of the new organization and supply a sufficient number of productions to meet their needs.

For that purpose he is planning the formation of two companies: one a producing company to be capitalized at $500,000 and the second a distributing company to be capitalized at $100,000.

The exchange men present at the meeting are Herman Richlkin, Eastern Feature Film Co., Boston; D. L. Markowitz, Strand theater, San Francisco; Frank Zambreno, Unity Photoplayers, Chicago; Michael Lessy, Screen Arts Pictures, Philadelphia; W. L. Teckel, The Americus Co., Oklahoma City; Alex Wall, Producers and Exhibitors Pictures Co., Dallas, and L. E. Oumet, Toronto.

To be quite sure you are right always test the debt. In other words, always look for the trade mark on a suspected imitation.

RITCHIEY POSTER.

RITCHIEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y.
Phone Chelsea 8588

Free Vacation!
DIRECTORS!! PRODUCERS!!
Why sizzle in New York when you can make your next picture where Swiss scenery invites you, and an up-to-the-minute INDOOR STUDIO may be had for ½ what you pay in New York? ALSO—Expert LABORATORY work, 5 hrs. from the city—chair cars!

PARTICULARS.
JOHN L. RUSSELL,
19 Elm St., Glensville, N. Y.

INDEPENDENTS MEET.

Luther D. Coberly
New York, N. Y.

SIR:

The Exhibitor's Trade Review says: "Slim Princess is bright and full of breezy fun. Just the sort of picture that amuses breezy fun of the type to offset the hot weather handicap."

INSURANCE EXPERTS
TO THE THEATRICAL AND MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY FOR THE PAST 20 YEARS. "ASK ANY PRODUCER."

Did you ever hear of "Insurance Service?" Well, that's what we have to offer. Can we explain further how we can serve you?
Attention Franchise Owners!

Paste this on the inside door of your safe
Where it won’t get lost

This is our promise to Sub-Franchise Holders

The day will come when your First National Sub-Franchise will be worth more in dollars and cents than the theatre for which it was purchased.

—this is bound to come true and it won’t take so long either

There’ll be a Franchise everywhere
Russian Ban Off
Government Allows Trade With Soviet Republic—Reporters Interested
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Washington—The Government has removed all restrictions against trade with the Russian Soviet Republic, with the exception of war materials.

The news that restrictions against Russian trade had been removed was received with interest in exporting circles yesterday.

There was a difference in opinion
however, as to just what opportunities were offered the American exporter in this new field.

Ous Schlesinger of Inter-Ocean stated that his company planned entering the Russian market vigorously and that he had received information which indicated that the Russian people were eager for amusement.

Louis Annesch of Export and Import stated that until conditions were settled he could not see the advantage of trade with Russia. He pointed out that responsible people must first be lined up before any business can be transacted.

Mats, Electros and Stereos
for the
Motion Picture Trade
I. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereotypers in
N. Y. C.

Hudson River Night Lines

New York, Albany, Troy
Daily Sailings From Pier 31, N. R.
(at Desbrosses St.) week days, 6 & 7 P. M.
Sundays and Holidays, 6 P. M. & 9 P. M.
West 132nd St., half hour later
(Daylight saving time)
Due Albany 8 o’clock following morning.
Pray 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West.
Express Freight Service. Autos Carried.

Hudson Navigation Company
Phone Canal 9000.

Where Promises are Sacred
Louis Meyer
Formerly Broda & Meyer Inc.

TITLES
Lettered - Illustrated - Photographe
ASK TO SEE OUR NEW PROCESS TITLES AND ILLUSTRATIONS
A Phone Call Will Bring Samples
Bryant 7392
220 West 42nd St. - Room 2004

a first-rate art director and atmosphere expert with big production record, also as superviser and director, it open for engagement after July 7th. Correspondence confidential. Address Wid’s Box B-22.

Trip Abandoned
Marshall Neilan Calls Off Proposed European Trip—Will Produce on Coast as Heretofore

Marshall Neilan’s proposed trip to Europe, where he planned making pictures, has been abandoned.

The reason for this move is understood to be the heavy schedule of productions which Neilan has planned and which will keep him in California for some time.

Neilan’s First National contract calls for eight pictures. He is at present working on his fourth picture.

James R. Grainger, Neilan’s representative in New York, states very emphatically that the producer will not direct the De Havens in “Twin Beds.”

“He is too busy making his own productions,” said Grainger.

Williams Returns to Coast
Harry Williams, who directs the Hallroom Boys Comedies, has returned to the coast.

PHOTO ENGRAVINGS
Delivered when Promised

EGGERS, Inc.
Photo Engraving
1587 Broadway
New York City

D.A. and Night Service

The big producers know that the books and plays we sell
we own outright.
Big names—advertised values
For vehicles that “catch on”
See us.

CELEBRATED AUTHORS
Society
701 7th Ave., N. Y. Bryant 1511

D. N. Schwab Productions
offer for
STATE RIGHTS

David Butler in “Sitting on the World”

117 W. 46th St., N. Y. C.

“Lab” in London
Rothacker Leaves on Olympic to Complete Arrangements—Other Film Folks Abroad

Watterson R. Rothacker left for Europe yesterday aboard the Olympic and to complete arrangements for the erection of a laboratory in London.

A number of other well known film folk also left aboard the Olympic. Carl Laemmle, Abe Stern and their families, as was John B. Stanch-field, of Stanchfiel & Levy, prominent attorneys, who is a member of the Laemmle party.

Nathan Burkan left for consultations with Fannie Ward, who is now in France. John Zanf, in charge of the Fox theater operations, postponed his trip. He was scheduled to go on the Olympic.

R. Ellis Wales
Riggs asks to those interested that he will return to his offices, 1128
Black Bidg., Los Angeles, on or about July 21, at which time he will have wholly completed distribution plans for all units.

Those desiring affiliation with executive, directorial and literary staffs will recieve courteous and prompt personal consideration.

New York, July 9, 1920.

To Whom It May Concern:
Please take notice that I have this day granted to JEHANGIR C. PEAR-
SON, proprietor of J. Pearson & Co., Hotel Astor, the exclusive right to use, lease, distribute or otherwise dispose of the motion picture film entitled “JOSEPH” for the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada.

Dated, New York, July
8th, 1920. (Signed)
Hovahannes H. Zillelian,
Prop. of Armenia Films.

Myron Selznick has purchased 1 additional stories: “The Girl From Nowhere,” by Bradley King, a “Don’t Trust Your Husband,”
Garrett Elsen Fort.

Question No. 14
What Important Events Happened
Last Year?

Answer

Wid’s 1920 Year Book Will Tell

4 A WEEK

Comedyart
In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates
now must forever forfeit their contract.

Sunset-Burrell Scenic Stories
Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest outdoor magazine and U. S. Government.

Clayplay Productions
A single reel comedy in a class
by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a “Special!” See the "Special” representative in your exchange city.

Special Pictures Corporation
H. W. Hellman Bidg.,
Los Angeles
Ind. Exhib. Corp.
Name of New Northwest Exhibitors Organization Headed by Jensen & Von Herberg
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Seattle—Jensen & Von Herberg are the backbone of what is expected to be the largest exhibitor organization ever perfected in the Northwest. While it may not be as large in numbers as the Northwest Exhibitors Circuit formed by Jim Clemmer last year, it will be more formidable because of the number of important exhibitors interested. The new organization numbers 123 houses in 45 cities and towns.

While one of the purposes of the new organization is for the disposition of the First National sub franchises, it is said that exhibitors not interested in the sub franchise plan will be given an opportunity of working in cooperation with the National Booking Co. plan.

The exhibitors attending the Jensen & Von Herberg party were from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana and include: Jensen & Von Herberg interests, Liberty, Coliseum, Rex, Strand, in Seattle; Liberty, Columbia, Majestic, Peoples, Star, (Continued on Page 4)

Washburn Sails Today
Bryant Washburn sails today for Europe with his wife aboard the Kronland. Eugene Mullin who will direct Washburn has arrived from California and is at the Commodore. He sails on the Mauretanian Aug 5, with C. N. Nichols, business manager for the trip.

What They Think of Wid’s Year Book

“Will greatly appreciate its companionship through the year to come.”

GEO. K. SPOOR.

1920 EDITION COMING SOON

Two New “U” Stars
Gladys Walton and Eva Novak Are Signed—Local Office Unaware
(By wire to WID’S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Universal has signed Eva Novak and Gladys Walton, each to a star in a series of productions.

Stuart Paton, who has been making independent serials of late, will direct Miss Novak for Universal.

At Universal it was stated yesterday that a verbal agreement was hkl with Miss Walton to appear in two or three pictures as tests with a possibility of a written contract later on. It was also added that nothing definite had been done about Miss Novak.

Miss Walton appears in “La La Lucille” with Lyons and Moran, a picture which has just arrived. Universal plans to release six series of star pictures with each star to appear in eight productions. The Universal stars are Frank Mayo, Carmel Myers, Lyons and Moran, Harry Carey and the two new ones, Edith Roberts, as noted, is about to complete her Universal contract.

In addition to the 48 star series productions, Universal and Evolution will release four special productions in order to round a weekly release schedule.

Universal will probably release 12 Jewel productions in addition to the above schedule. Of that must be “The Devil’s Pass Key.” “Crimson Skies,” “The Breath of the Gods” and “Once to Every Woman” are in production at the Fox and “The Gilded Dream” from Carm Myers.

Regarding Chaplin
In the official announcement of First National covering its releases for next year, there is no mention of any releases from Charlie Chaplin.

At First National, it was stated that Chaplin has four more to deliver to the circuit and that no mention was made of his pictures because “there was no way of telling when they would come through.”

Cromelin Due Thursday
Paul H. Cromelin, president of the pictures organization, is due in New York Thursday morning from abroad. It is coming in on the Celtic.

Laskey Sails for Home
A cable received yesterday at offices of Famous Players stated that Jesse L. Laskey sailed from Southampton Thursday on the Celtic.

Let SOLOMON do it, he’s wise, 135 W. 44th St.—Bryant 8284.—Advrt.

Neither Beast Nor Man
WHAT?
A First National Mystery—Advrt.
Percentage a Danger
(Continued from Page 1)

returns are sufficiently inviting. They carry away with them detailed information as to the exhibitors' business.

Therein lies the greatest danger of all. In consenting to a business relationship with a producer you must, at least for a day or two, give him the full privileges of your business. This way you enable him to obtain a full accurate knowledge of your business operations. Any business man wants to share the full knowledge of his business with others. Percentage booking, although it wears the guise and semblance of partnership, is just the opposite of what a partnership should be. Your partner, in theory at least, is your friend. His interests and your interests are identical. What hurts him hurts you. What benefits him benefits you. How different is the situation of a man who obtains complete information regarding your theater, but who is not your friend and is very apt to be a prospective competitor.

"The way to kill percentage booking is to keep away from it as you would from a dose of bichloride of mercury. Stand by your friends. Shut your ears against even the suggestion of percentage booking. It is not an argument to employ to contest any argument which a gib-tongued salesman might offer you."

"The raiding of films involves but two transactions: fixing of a price mutually fair and payment of that price. What that is through the business is done. The men who advocate percentage have not taken into consideration the fact that the exhibitors are the ones who are purchasing the product."

"The Motion Picture Theater Owners of America must bind themselves, as per their action in convention assembled, against the producer with the two contracts: one for straight rental and one for percentage booking. Because the man who has two contracts to offer has but one to sell, and that is percentage booking. If this organization means anything, it means the prevention of any attempts by producers to force percentage booking on the exhibitors of the United States."

"If the price quoted you for the rental of film is so high that you cannot entertain it, remember that it is the purpose of the man with the two contracts to always force the percentage. Do not entertain either one of the two, and especially do not please the big theater owners who have often listened to the siren call of the big producers. Remember that while your contract on percentage may have netted you a little bit more money, do not forget the eighty per cent difference in the business. If percentage is ever forced on him, the ownership of your theater is gone for all times."

"The interests which at this time

New Theaters
Houses Planned
Middletown, Conn.—George L. Mack. About 500.

Fomona, Calif.—Lewis and Bryd to build. About 1,500.

Providence.—John Knight and Antonio Retelli. $22,000, 1,000.

Holyoke, Mass.—Lewis Brown to lease house built by James H. Baker.

Philadelphia.—Jacob Hess to build at Germantown and Lehigh Ave.

Phila., Pa.—Fleischer Baseball Ass'n, leased lot for air dome.

Holyoke, Mass.—James D. Baker, Strand, to build new Strand.

Pittsburgh.—Seder and Hufnagel, 1,000.

Gustine, Calif.—Jack Tobias, Patterson at Patterson plans house.

Detroit, Mich.—A. J. Kleist Jr., to build two.

Key West, Fla.—Carl Thompson.

Cincinnati, O.—Fountain Theatres Corp., to build.

Braddock, Pa.—Western Pennsylvania Amusement Co., $140,000.

Stockton, Cal.—I. O. O. F. to build.

Chico, Cal.—Local Lodge Woodmen of the World to build.

Lincoln, Cal.—Order of Native Sons to build. Bridgeport, Conn.—S. Z. Poli, 3,800.

Schenectady, N. Y.—D. J. Bondy, to build on Clinton Street site.

Bloomington, Ind.—United Exhibitors Productions Co., Robert W. McClaskey president. $150,000.

Houses Completed
Sedalia, Mo.—Iona, J. W. Brill, completed.

Sutton, W. Va.—E. L. Brandt and brother. Picture house and dance hall combined. 400.

Curtis Bay, Md.—Pennington, Thomas D. Goldberg, manager. opened, $35,000, 500.

Linwood, Kansas.—L. D. Lewis opened house.

Weston, Mo.—G. G. McGinnis opened house.

Yeggs Crack Theater Safe
East Liberty, Pa.—Burglars recently entered the Liberty, owned by Rowland and Clark and removed $900 from the safe. $450 was in change and $30 in bills. The yeggman must have been out of practice for they overlooked $350 in Liberty Bonds.

Will Release Canadian Scenics
Vancouver, B. C., Canada.—The Specialty Film Corp., Ltd., has been named to handle the scenic and industrial reels turned out by the government of the local province.

Norris Resigns
Ottawa, Canada.—B. E. Norris, director of Exhibits and Publicity of the Trade and Commerce department and in charge of the branch that has been preparing the official Canadian scenes, has resigned.

House to Cost $250,000
Lexington, Ky.—The Phoenix Amusement Co. has leased the Loomand Hotel property on which a theater was built and will spend $250,000 to erect it.

Large Seattle House Planned
Seattle, Wash.—A house at Pike and Pine St. is planned by a local syndicate. It will cost about $250,000 and will seat 1,000.

Philadelphia Salesman Name Officers
Philadelphia.—The recently formed Philadelphia Salesman's Association has elected Earl Sweigert, G. Kitchen and Frank Lottus respectively president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

Milder Appointed Manager
Philadelphia.—Max Milder is now the manager of the Republic and Selznick exchange.

Reviving an Old Habit
Cincinnati.—It has been found after investigating that managers in many houses are permitting women to wear their hats.

To say that an unmarked poster is a RITCHAY poster is to add insult to injury.

RITCHAY LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y., Phone Chelsea 8380
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let other fellows know how you cleaned up.

As a special feature for the 4th of July week Edward L. Hyman, managing director of the Brooklyn Opera House, arranged an overture which created considerable interest among patrons of this house.

“The Evolution of Dixie,” as arranged by Hyman, can be played by an orchestra or organ in any theater in the United States, large or small. It is a melody of popular airs depicting the evolution of the country below the Mason-Dixon line from the time of creation until the grand opera period.

The overture starts with music presumably of the “creation period” and is so written as to be suggestive of “Dance Aboriginal,” exemplifying of course the uncivilized stage. Subtitles of the scene at the proper time informed the audience exactly what names of the selection played as a Dixie air was being rendered by the orchestra.

From the “Dance Aboriginal” a gradual change to the stately music of the “Minuet” is rendered for several minutes and this melody is carried until the music of the Dixie of 1865 emerges. Snatches of an old-time Dixie are first heard, then blended splendidly into present day ragtime amidst enthusiastic applause.

All the force and volume of the Grand Opera is employed by Hyman in the finale which emphasizes the grand opera of the present day played as a Dixie melody.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Norma Talmadge’s toilet articles put on display in various windows served to put over “Loves and Lies” at the Victoria. Samples of the products given free of charge to women patrons, there being a stand in the lobby of the house when they were dispensed. A. L. Skinner, manager of the house was responsible for the scheme.

Pittsburgh—“The Picture’s the Thing” is the theory of the advertising world upon which N. A. Benson bases all of his exploitation ideas, on the ground that unless the production being brought out is worth while, all efforts to advertise it properly will not make it pay as well as a good film.

“The Exhibitor should pay all his attention to his current show in order to discover all of the drawing power hidden in the story, by varying the various angles of it and then making his advertising upon one item with the others held subordinate” says he.

Madisonville, Ky.—E. Q. Dozier and F. M. Holman, who control the four theaters in Morgannsville, Dawson Springs and Earlington, recently started a public subscription campaign when they presented Constance Talmadge in “The Love Expert.” In Japan Used 4 Million Feet Last Year

Some interesting facts are contained in a report received by the National Board of Review from its correspondent in Japan, Mr. Tachibana, chief of the picture division of the Government, who says, in part: “Four and a quarter million feet of film was placed in circulation in Japan in the year 1919. Of this total three quarters was imported from foreign countries. In spite of difference between the viewpoint and standards of the Japanese and other nations, there is little film work in the eyes of the local authorities came nearer to meeting Japanese requirements than did those of native make, since 85% of the film made in Japan was excluded from exhibition, while only 4.7% of the imported film was debarred from the theaters.

Photo Products Re-Issuing

The Photo Products Export Co. has entered upon a series of releasing revivals which will carry the company well on the fall. Following the Shirley, Mason and the Flag subjects will be a series of Viola Dana pictures. These are called “Trip the Whip,” “Children of Eve” and “The Innocence of Ruth.”

Now It’s an All-Indian Film (Special to WDPs DAILY)

Los Angeles—The American Indian Film Co. is the name of a new company to be formed here for the purpose of making pictures with an All-Indian cast.

The officers of the company are Rev. Sherman Coolidge, president; Princess Tsinai Na Redfeather, vice-president, and John G. Wilcox, of Denver, secretary.

The company is capitalized at $250,000.

Frudenberg at Sun, Omaha (Special to WDPs DAILY)

Omaha—N. M. Frudenberg, for eight years with Finn & Heiman of Chicago, managing theaters at Waterloo and Davenport, Ia., has been making his home in Decatur and Rockford, Ill., has accepted a position as publicity director with the Sun.

In various ways, the campaign was directed towards the women indirectly, for the majority in the advertising was a series of hints for the women to come, although it was brazenly stated that they were not wanted. Of course, curiosity, a natural feminine instinct, resulted in the ladies’ packing the house.

Cleveland—“He tells it in love with her feet” is the line supplied by the management of the Knickerbocker in a teaser campaign used in conjunction with the presentation of “The Luck of the Irish,” the Allan Dwain production released through Mayflower. Edward Holland, field exploitation representative for the organization promoted the showing, and inaugurated a teaser campaign in which the title of the film was held until the day of the showing, and it went away with it in great style.
Ind. Exhib. Corp.
(Continued from Page 1)

Rialto, Rialto, Rialto, Palace, Portland; H. T. Moore, Tacoma; E. J. Myrick, Yakima; Rialto Dream and Rex Theaters, Bremerton, M. Rosenburg.

Joe Danz, controlling Little, Imperial, Rialto, Isis, Dream, Seattle, George Keim, Society Theater, Seattle.

Geddes & Geddes, Ye College, Majestic and Empire Theaters Ballard, Fremont Theater, Fremont.

Mercy Amusement Company, Yakima.

Swanson & McKee, Everett, Orpheum, Star, Broadway Apollo Theaters, Everett.

Simmons & Turner, Empress, Liberty, Isis and Bijou Theaters, Missoula, Mont.

Simmons & Turner, Liberty and Grand Theaters, Wallace, Idaho.

Simmons & Turner, Liberty Theater, Coner d'Alene, Idaho.

Liberty Theater, Liberty Theater and Palace Theater, Kellogg, Idaho.

J. W. Allender, Majestic and Lyric Theaters, Spokane, Liberty Theaters, Pullman, Colfax and Moscow.

William G. Ripley, Rex Theater, Aberdeen; Bijou Theater, Aberdeen; Edward Dulan, Weir and Dream Theaters, Aberdeen.

W. A. Long, Star Theater, Oregon City; A Bettings, Empress and Colonial Theater, The Dalles, Greshel & Matlock, Arcade, Alta and Pastime Theaters, Pendleton; Whiteside Brothers, Majestic and Crystal Theaters, Corvallis; Dennis M. Hall, Liberty Theater, North Bend, Ore.

O. M. Whittington, Grand and Liberty Theaters, Bend; Hill & Hudson, Globe Theaters Company, Globe Theater, Albany; Liberty Theater, Albany; Antlers and Majestic Theaters, Roseburg, Oregon.

Philip Agostino, Liberty Theatre, Sutherland; Bungalow Theater, Oakland.

George A. Hunt & Co., Rialto, Page and Liberty Theaters, Medford; Star and Liberty Theaters, Grants Pass; Rialto Theater (under construction), Ashland.

Louis Kastner, Liberty, Gem and Wenatchee Theaters, Wenatchee.

A. H. McDonald, Rex, Swain and Eugene Theaters, Eugene.

Latest Doings on the Coast

(Special to WDI'S DAILY)

Hollywood—"Old Dad," starring Mildred Harris Chaplin, has been cut and is now ready for release.

Eliau Fair has been cast to appear opposite Otis Skinner in the production of Kismet.

Edwin Earle has arrived in Los Angeles.

Russell Simpson has gone to San Francisco on location with Reginald Barke's company.

Bobby Blythe recently completed "Nomads of the North" for First National.

Mary Jane Irving, child actress, under contract with Brumton, has been loaned to Ince for one picture.

Buster Keaton, of the Metro-Keaton Comedies, has completed his fourth and fifth comedy this week.

"The Check Suit," by Freeman Potts, Jr., has been secured by Jesse D. Hampton for H. B. Warner.

W. H. Lewis has been signed to play in Anita Stewart's production of "Sowing the Wind." (Editor's note: Interesting to note the use of both "Signed" and "Signed" in the same sentence.)

Dwight Cleveland, chief of the Jesse D. Hampton scenario department, is lining up subjects for the Robert Throntby and Henry King production.

Director George L. Cox of the American Film, Santa Barbara, has just completed "The Appointed Hour.

Douglas Jarmuth has arrived in Los Angeles to take charge of the Alhambra Theater for Goro Bros. and H. M. Bosley.

The cast of "Someone in the House," Metro's all-star production, is completed with the signing of Helen Weir.

Florence Deshon having completed work in "Curtains," at the Katherine McDonald studio, has left for San Francisco on a vacation.

Ann May played the role originally assigned Gloria Swanson in the Lasky production, "Wanted—A Bachelor," starring Bryan Washburn.

Hayden Talbot, playwright, author and former newspaperman, has been permanently engaged as a member of Metro's scenario staff.

Antonio Gaudio, the cameraman, who filmed Allan Dwan's last Mayflower production, has been loaned to the Gassner interests for "Kismet."

Maw Linder has resumed work on a comedy which was started sometime ago. When this is completed Linder will probably make a trip to New York to arrange for release.

Bennie Singer has been appointed casting director at the Metro studios. Edward Conselius has been cast for an important part in "Someone in the House."

Thebna Percy has been engaged by Metro for "The Star Rover," Dwight Crichten, Jack Carlyle and "Doc" Brown have also been signed to play in this production, which will be directed by Edward Soman.

The negative of "Big Happiness," Dustin Farnam's latest production, has been shipped East. Cutting and titling of J. Warren Brunton picture, "The Coast of Opportunity," and the film will be shipped to New York this week.

G.AUSMAN.

4 A WEEK

COMEDY

In an effort to keep those who fail to arrive starting dates from being penalized, we now offer our weekly column "4 A WEEK" at a reduced price.

SUNSET-BURRUD-SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Hallen Bldg., LOS ANGELES
The gold of a girl's character refined by the fire of suffering & sacrifice!

Julie Herne's poignant and dramatic stage play scenarioized by Lois Zellner and A.P. Younger and directed by Edwin Mortimer

Jury Imperial Pictures, Ltd.
Exclusive Distributors throughout Great Britain
Sir William Jury Managing Director

The Misfit Wife featuring Alice Lake and a noteworthy supporting cast

Metro
Your Box-Office Protected for One Year

By the most equitable service contract ever written. The Realart Star Franchise was conceived in fairness and with the everyday requirements of your screen in mind. It was originated by men who have played pictures, who know the difficulties of finding good subjects when needed, who have had to give long hours to booking detail that should have gone to showmanship. What's the answer? That the holder of the Realart Star Franchise finds not only his box-office protected, but his showmanship, too! He can give time to his house—to unusual presentation methods and up-to-the-minute exploitation stunts. Operating with this Franchise, the exhibitor can really exhibit! Apply to nearest exchange.

Available—all six Realart stars, in thirty-six productions that have these elements:

1. adequate production,
2. box-office title,
3. famous authorship,
4. an entertaining story based on a successful play or well-known book,
5. first class continuity,
6. brilliant direction,
7. capable supporting cast,
8. perfect photography,
9. PLUS THE STAR.

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY
Features Reviewed

Norma Talmadge in.................. YES OR NO?
First National ..................... Page 2

.................................. THE BEST OF LUCK
Screen Classics-Metro ............... Page 3

J. Warren Kerrigan in............ THE GREEN FLAME
Brunton Prod.-Hodkinson .......... Page 7

Sessue Hayakawa in.............. LI TING LANG
Robertson-Cole .................... Page 9

Madlaine Traverse in............ THE SPIRIT OF GOOD
Fox .................................. Page 11

Ethel Clayton in................. THE LADDER OF LIES
Paramount-Archt .................. Page 13

Frank Mayo in................. THE RED LANE
Universal ......................... Page 15

Billie Burke in.............. AWAY GOES PRUDENCE
Paramount-Archt .................. Page 18

Leah Baird in.............. CYNTHIA-OF-THE-MINUTE
Beck-Hodkinson .................. Page 19

Gladys Brockwell in .......... A SISTER TO SALOME
Fox .................................. Page 21

Short Reels ....................... Page 27

News of the Week
in Headlines

Tuesday

Sydney S. Cohen, president M. P. T. O. of America, in open letter to Adolph Zukor attacks theater operations of Famous Players and calls Zukor the exhibitors “most dangerous enemy.”

General Federation of Women’s Clubs in Des Moines convention votes down resolution advocating national censorship.

Wednesday

Goldwyn to release 1920-1921 product on open booking plan.

Dorothy Gish to supply three more productions for Famous Players before completing contract.

Earl W. Hammons, vice-president of Educational, hints at big plans upon his return from Europe.

Allen Theatrical Enterprises, Canada, enroll in new First National franchise plan.

Louise Lovely to be a Fox star.

Thursday

Reported Bessie Barriscale Prod. will be released by Hodkinson.

Dominion Films to make six Ralph Connor stories.

First National may release.

Georgia exhibitors to form state organization for affiliation with M. P. T. O. of America.

Friday

Important booking combination being perfected in the Northwest. Jensen and Von Herberg and Jim Clemmer understood to be jointly interested.

Independent exchangemen headed by Herman Rifkin. Boston, discussing formation of new national organization in Chicago. Ivan Abramson seeking production contract.

Officials of National Booking Corp. convene in Atlantic City for important conference. Jules Mastbaum, Stanley Co., expected to attend.

Greater New York exhibitors to protest return of deposit checks on Charles Ray productions by First National. Claim original contracts are valid.

Watterson Rothacker sails for London to establish laboratory there.

Saturday

Northwest exhibitors form Independent Exhibitors’ Circuit through which 123 theaters will be booked.

Gladys Walton and Eva Novak new Universal stars.

“Pardoning the bad is injuring the good”—Benjamin Franklin.
Fine Characterizations by Star Succeed in Substituting for Situations

Norla Talmadge in
"YES OR NO?"
First National

DIRECTOR ..................... R. William Neil AUTHOR ........................ Arthur Goodrich
SCENARIO BY ................... Not credited
CAMERAMAN .................... Ernest Haller
AS A WHOLE ................. Star's work makes entertaining picture despite great lack of story.

STORY .............. Hardly anything to it—really just a parallel of lives of two women—ending strung out too long.

DIRECTION .......... Is responsible for number of fine comedy touches and serious scenes are well built up.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Good
LIGHTINGS ........................ Average
CAMERA WORK .................. Commendable
STAR ................. Practically the whole show in dual role

SUPPORT ......................... Excellent
EXTERIORS ..................... Few
INTERIORS ............. Realistic in both phases of story
DETAIL ......................... Very good

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Two women face identical situation under different circumstances; results of course each persue.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .......... 6,477 feet

"Yes or No?" is peculiarly simple picture fare. It merely traces two women in different stations of life who are confronted with the same situation. The situ-aton is represented by the urging of villains who would have the women leave their respective husbands. The rich wife yields to temptation and brings her career to an abrupt and remorseful ending. The poor wife turns the tempter aside and lives to share success, prosperity and happiness with her husband.

There are few features, the plots of which can be summed up completely in a single short paragraph such as the above. And there are few features that could give the average degree of satisfaction that

Next to the star and any arguments developing the title that you may hit upon (and the title is a very good one, be it said), mention the players who appear in support. Lowell Sherman is a well known figure of the stage. Rockliffe Fellowes has considerable popularity. And then there is Natalie Talmadge. She has a pretty big comedy part here and certainly all your fans will be interested in her. Give her a play by all means.

After Star and Title Concentrate on Supporting Cast

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Norma Talmadge's high position in the hearts of fans the country over, will doubtless bring the crowds in to see this and her remarkably ability will do much to send them away satisfied. She has had many a better picture than this, pictures which have provided her with an intense dramatic plot in the way of background. Here she is forced to go it alone for the greater way and that she succeeds in retaining a strong interest is a great credit to her.
Drury Lane Melodrama that Suffers Through Extremely Simple Plot

"THE BEST OF LUCK"
Screen Classics-Metro
DIRECTOR ..................... Ray C. Smallwood
AUTHORS .................... Cecil Raleigh, Henry Hamilton and Arthur Collins.
SCENARIO BY .................. Albert Shelby LeVino
CAMERAMAN ................... Harold Wenstrom
AS A WHOLE ...... This can't match with former Drury Lane adaptations because of too simple plot and lack of complications—has considerable good thrill stuff.

STORY ...... Very much like "White Heather" in deep-sea climax, but hasn't got the material back of it.

DIRECTION ...... Some scenes handled well but doesn't show care and preciseness on the whole.

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Rather poor
LIGHTINGS ...................... Fair
CAMERA WORK ........ Commendable
LEADING PLAYERS ...... Jack Holt is hero; Kathryn Adams shows only fairly as heroine.

EXTERIORS ...... Very good; some good rain-storm stuff.

INTERIORS .................. Satisfactory
DETAIL ..... One obvious slip in story; some of director's touches don't register.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Hero battles with villain for sunken treasure and hand of heroine.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ... About 5,421 feet

"The Best of Luck" is another Drury Lane melodrama brought to the films and for various reasons, it fails to measure satisfactorily beside previous adaptations of this type of entertainment. Most important of all these reasons is the matter of plot. "The Best of Luck" doesn't contain the various incident and complications that went to build up the others.

This lack of story material throws the burden of interest on the thrills of the picture and these succeed in holding it up fairly well. There is a shot of an automobile going over a trestle that registers averagely but the scene has been done better before. The climax takes place on the sea bed and the situation is much the same as the one in "The White Heather," where hero and villain do battle on the ocean floor. Only in the present instance the sequence isn't built up well and the fight lacks the fulness of a real thrill.

The director has put on the usual fox hunt which, it seems, is a necessity in nine out of ten Drury Lanes. But here it is strung out too long and the scenes of it don't form a perfect continuity. Why the bit of the kid making believe riding a horse while astraddle the fence was introduced is not clear.

Nor is the turn of the story which shows the heroine motorcycling from London to Scotland on a rainy night at all convincing. The heroine hasn't been in England for a considerable time, yet she rides over the dark roads as if she made the trip every day. This will certainly cause audiences to ask "why?"

There is some good airplane stuff at the end when the heroine commandeers a machine and drops the hero over-board to the depths where he does battle with the villain.

The story concerns Kenneth, a Scottish chief, forced to vacate his property due to financial difficulties. Elsie MacLeod, a cousin from America comes to take possession. They meet in cog and fall in love. Kenneth plans to go to the ocean bottom is search of buried treasure and the villain, after making an unsuccessful attempt to compromise the heroine, endeavors to beat him to it but is foiled. Elsie aids Kenneth materially throughout and their romance develops to a happy end.

Jack Holt appears as Kenneth, while Kathryn Adams is Elsie. Others are Lilie Leslie, Fred Malatesta, Frances Raymond, Emmett King, Robert Dunbar, Ellie Conley and Jack Underhill.

The Thrills May Get This Over With Those Not Too Particular

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This got its premier New York showing at the Capitol and the audience seemed pleased with it generally, although they were audible in their expressions of disapproval at some of the story twists, particularly the heroine's mid-night ride all over England. What got it over was its thrills and these will probably register it as an average success before audiences of a not too discriminating sort.

Feature the fact that it is an adaptation of another Drury Lane melodrama and play up he sea-bed fight and the auto accident. The Capitol also saw fit to feature Jack Holt. Considering the popularity that this actor enjoys, it wouldn't be a bad idea for you to follow this course. He is by all odds the most prominent and deserving player in the cast.

If you desire to dress your house appropriately, and find smaller pictures that reflect the feature's atmosphere as well as musical numbers, anything Scotch in character will fill the bill.
HERE AGAIN KERRIGAN!

Tremendous business during the hot weather is the test of a star and the screen dramas he lives in.

On the strength of a Kerrigan week at the Regent Theatre, and a week at the Orpheum, Detroit, the Hodkinson Corporation booked the Miles Circuit for all their Kerrigan releases up to 1921.

Robert Brunton productions of Kerrigan pictures are jumping in quality, in value, in popularity. Director Ernest C. Warde believes that "The Green Flame" is the best Kerrigan picture he has yet made—a mystery drama of wide appeal, swift, clear and clean—for all the family.

JULY 18

"THE GREEN FLAME"

is released by

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PATHE Exchange, Incorporated
We Are Not Your Competitors

Associated Producers are not coming into your cities and towns to buy or lease theatres—thereby becoming your direct competitors. We are not going to do this in the open or under cover.

We know our side of the fence and are going to stay on our side and leave your side to you.

All of our branch managers are on duty with sales policies and contract forms in hand. Our Home Offices are open in New York to serve you.

Associated Producers haven’t anything to sell you except their big productions. We will deliver for release in the year from September 12th thirty big productions—and you may buy any producer’s picture or pictures you want.

You may bind into your theatre—at your option and not under compulsion—the pictures of any one, two, three or more Producers. Or, you may obtain all of our productions at the prices we are individually worth in your city. We are not linked together or averaged as to rentals.

Knowing at first hand the pictures we are making we believe exhibitors will be glad to control our entire output—but that decision rests with you, not with ourselves.

If you are leaving for New York, have your mail and telegrams sent in care of our Home Offices, and we will be glad to make your hotel reservations for you if you wire or write us in advance.

THOMAS H. INCE - MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN
GEORGE LOANE TUCKER - MAURICE TOUERNEUR - J. PARKER READ JR.

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.
'A Friendly Organization'
729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Cleverly Worked Out Detective-Mystery Picture

J. Warren Kerrigan in
"THE GREEN FLAME"
Brunton-Hodkinson

DIRECTOR .................. Ernest C. Warde
AUTHOR .................... Raymond G. Hill
SCENARIO BY ............... Jack Cunningham
CAMERAMAN ................ Arthur Todd

AS A WHOLE ............... Very entertaining detective-mystery story cleverly handled from all angles.

STORY ............. Very well developed with identities of various characters successfully shielded until climax sequence.

DIRECTION ................ Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Good
LIGHTINGS .................... Very good
CAMERA WORK .................. Satisfactory
STAR ......................... Does some good acting here

SUPPORT ................. Fritzi Brunette doesn't make heroine at all real; others very satisfactory.

EXTERIORS .............. Mostly settings; satisfactory
INTERIORS ......................... Good
DETAIL ....................... All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ....... Running to ground of jewel thieves by detective who poses as "hick."

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"The Green Flame" is a very cleverly developed detective-mystery story and one which has been equally cleverly produced. Certainly there are few that will guess the identity of Frank Markham when he first appears in the jewelers establishment and timidly asks for a job as clerk. That Markham is, in reality, a detective brought into the store to operate against a band of jewel thieves is not to be deduced until along toward the end when he bares his hand to the audience.

They build up the mystery surrounding Markham exceedingly well and J. Warren Kerrigan who appears in this role counters with some very good acting that makes the real identity of the character a still deeper secret. You figure him as a "rick," for which he is taken by some of the other characters, and then again you are inclined to think that he is mixed up in the gang of robbers as one of its members.

Markham plays his "rick" role before the head clerk Imlay at the jewelers, and easily convinces him. He goes out with him at night and the two meet Lou Tremaine, a cabaret dancer, who attracts Imlay. He promises her a lot of money as soon as a deal goes through. Imlay, believing Markham a complete dupe urges him to bring an invaluable diamond, the Green Flame, to a certain house during the night. Markham removes the jewel from the vault and takes it to the address.

Not until this sequence is well under way does Markham actually reveal his true identity. Of course, he captures Imlay who was merely a tool in the hands of the man higher up and brings the whole gang to justice.

There is a romantic line of action introduced between Markham and Ruth Gardner, a newspaper reporter. The part of Ruth is far from realistically drawn by Fritzi Brunette. Instead of a reporter she acts more like a youngster just out of a convent. However, there are some good light scenes between the two and these are enlivened further by the introduction of Ruth's suitor, Dan, a detective of the blustering type who believes that Markham is the head crook.

Jay Morley carries this role very well. Edwin Wallock is the villain, Imlay, and Claire Du Brey is the cabaret dancer, who it develops is Markham's sister.

Should Score With the Kerrigan Fans Then Some

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Those of you who have been having a success with J. Warren Kerrigan can certainly count "The Green Flame" as a winner. And even the exhibitors who previously have not shown the production of this star might do well to seriously consider this picture for the mystery story is a very clever one and will have all audiences guessing as to the outcome.

In advertising it, center on the mystery element and endeavor not to give away the climax of the story.

Use a line such as: "The detective on the trail of the jewel thieves felt certain that Markham was one of his men; the girl reporter figured him out as a poor country bob going to the dickens in the big city; the proprietors of the store gave him a job because of old time's sake. Who was he?" This ought to arouse interest and at the same time keep the identity of the hero an unknown quantity.
Hemmer Superior Productions
Are Superior in name and in fact—a revelation to both public and producer

From Scenario to Screen they are all their name implies

Superior—in design in detail in photography in direction in technique

First production now in preparation soon to be released

Make your reservations now for this initial great production and reap the benefit of showing it in your house

Hemmer Superior Productions, Inc.

The Playhouse
137 West 48th Street
New York City

Telephone Bryant 4193
Star Gives Usual Pleasing Performance In First Rate Picture

Sessue Hayakawa in
"LI TING LANG"
Robertson-Cole

DIRECTOR .................. Charles Swickard
AUTHOR .................... Howard P. Rockey
SCENARIO BY ............... E. R. Shayer
CAMERAMAN .................. Frank D. Williams

AS A WHOLE......Pleasing offering; has sufficient thrills to satisfy and holds attention well.

STORY......Typical Hayakawa vehicle; suits star admirably.

DIRECTION......Quite satisfactory; doesn't overdo Oriental atmosphere at any time.

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Splendid
LIGHTINGS .................. Good
CAMERA WORK .............. All right
STAR........Gives his usual finished performance;
really a fine actor.

SUPPORT......Doris Pawn opposite star; able cast
EXTERIORS......Some pretty Chinese garden scenes
INTERIORS .................. Appropriate
DETAIL ..................... Nothing very wrong

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Chinese prince in love with American girl gives her up and returns to his own country to head Republic's army.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION.....About 5,000 feet

This is a typical Hayakawa production, the star blending his American manners with Oriental solemnity. The picture has been well made and should please the average audience and delight admirers of the Japanese actor. Surely Hayakawa is a finished performer. His work alone is worth the time spent watching his picture. There is a certain poise and dignity about his manner which together with his distinctive personality, make his performance pleasing even without taking into consideration the story or his connection with it.

In "Li Ting Lang" Hayakawa has a vehicle especially well suited to his personality. It provides plenty of opportunity for a display of versatility, starting out with the star as a champion athlete of an American college and ending with Hayakawa as head of the army of the new Chinese Republic. There is just one unsat-satisfactory bit which the director neither forgot to explain or thought it unnecessary. When Li Ting Lang and Marion Halstead, an American girl, announce their engagement, Marion's former sweetheart, Robert Murray, decides to kill his Oriental colleague. However, China's ruler has ordered Li Ting to return to his own country, but he has refused. But the messenger's orders were definite, so Li Ting is dragged.
A scene shows Murray entering Li's chambers and departing with a revolver in his hand. The spectator doesn't know who fired the shot or whether Li was already under the influence of the drug. This really doesn't amount to much, but it might just as well have been explained.

The best thing about "Li Ting Lang" is the fact that it moves along fairly well once it gets started and works up to an exciting conclusion, though the unhappy ending, while not what the "fan" audiences like, is appropriate and thoroughly logical. Also the production is not overdressed with Oriental effects or costume, there being just enough of that atmosphere required to produce desired results.

Li Ting breaks his engagement with Marion Halstead when he finds she is afraid to face the prejudice of her friends towards such a marriage. An emissary sent to America with instructions to compel Li to return to his native land, administers a drug and Li awaikes aboard ship bound for China while back in America his friends believe him a suicide.

Years later Li is commander of the army of the new republic. Marion and her husband visit the Orient on their honeymoon. Marion sees Li and recognizes him. She goes to his headquarters but is followed by one of Li's enemies who plans to kill the girl and throw the guilt on Li, thereby ruining him. But the husband and a band of American sailors rescue the girl.

Should Go Over Well Especially If Star Is Popular

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This should prove a satisfying attraction. It is entertaining enough and contains elements of suspense and a few thrills that should appeal to those who expect some excitement for their money. There is a good fight between the star and his native enemies which takes place on a circular staircase and is very realistic.

If you want to show them some good acting promise them a treat in the star's performance.

There is nothing about the love affair of Ting Li and Marion to offend even the most radical racial objectors. If the star is familiar to your audience promise them they will like "Li Ting Lang." There is something about the title that will attract them.
Incredible! until you see them
Carl Laemmle presents

"SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS"

The Astounding Adventures of Edward Laemmle and William F. Older among the MAN-EATERS of New Guinea -

SAYS THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE: "There was almost a riot yesterday to get seats. Nothing of the terrifying phase of cannibal life has been omitted."

THE NEW YORK AMERICAN: "For realism, it outstrips the wildest scenario ever drafted. It is one of the most thrilling films ever displayed here."

THE EVENING WORLD: "The tactics of the man-eaters and head-hunters of New Guinea are destined to give the audience a thrill that comes once in a lifetime."

THE SUN AND HERALD: "Occasionally real life outstrips the movies."

THE EVENING SUN: "Thoroughly interesting. Those who attend the Astor will be repaid for their visit."

UNIVERSAL JEWEL

A GREAT big romance, with everything in it that goes to make a fine picture—a marvelous storm at sea, a thrilling scene of a mutiny, the peril of gun-running, a mighty battle between a white man and a bronze beast, a revolution in a southern republic and, thru it all, the love of a strong, silent man for a woman and a little child which enables him to conquer his enemies. One of the truly big pictures of the year. Book it today."

"The Picture that Has Everything" starring
ELMO LINCOLN

Directed by Rex Ingram
Story by J.G. Hawks

UNIVERSAL-JEWEL SUPER-PRODUCTION
Very Old Fashion Sob-Staff Mechanically Produced

Madlaine Traverse in
"THE SPIRIT OF GOOD"
Fox

DIRECTOR ..................... Paul Cazeneuve
AUTHORS ............... Clifford Howard and Burke Jenkins
SCENARIO BY .......... Denison Clift
CAMERAMAN .............. Walter Williams
AS A WHOLE ..Very conventional offering about the sky-pilot in the wicked western town.

STORY ......Filled with sob-stuff none of which will register as sincere before intelligent audience DIRECTION .............. Very mechanical for most part
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Average
LIGHTINGS .................. Fair
CAMERA WORK ............ Average
STAR ......................... Satisfactory
SUPPORT ..................... Average
EXTERIORS .................. Western
INTERIORS .................... Usual
DETAIL ........................ All right

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Man and woman, sunk to profane depths, raise themselves up through mutual love and renewed faith in God

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

Here's an old-timer if ever there was one, utilizing that familiar situation of the sky-pilot endeavoring to clean up a western town that glories in its badness.

The story is filled with sob-stuff of a very fragile type. A bad man comes in to break up the minister's service, hears the heroine singing "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight," and reforms then and there after seeing a vision of himself with his mother in the days gone by. Again two bad men peek in the window of the heroine's home preparatory to perpetrating some dastardly deed and she happens to be singing the song again. Together they turn away shame-facedly and return to the saloon.

The action is of this stripe from first to last and so hardly carries an appeal to the intelligent fans. If the director had handled the material resourcefully and polished it up with nice little touches the results might have been quite different.

The heroine is Nell Gordon, once a New York chorus girl, who was betrayed by a man. In the western dance-hall she has sunk to the depths of depravity and profanity until at last the old sky-pilot, Calvin, comes along. At first she prepares to deride him, but she comes under the influence of his charity and goodness and reforms. She in turn is responsible for the reformation of Neal Bradford, who had previously denounced God and good when his wife died in childbirth. The two of them back up old Calvin in his fight with Chuck Lang, the saloon and dance-hall owner, and after a few fist and gun fights have been introduced for good measure and after a misunderstanding between Nell and Neal has been swept away they succeed gloriously in putting Chuck out of business by dumping his furniture in the middle of the floor, pouring the liquor over it and burning the whole place to the ground.

Madlaine Traverse plays Nell and handles the role in fairly satisfactory fashion. Frederick Stanton appears as Neal, Dick La Reno as Chuck and Charles Smily as the sky-pilot.

HOWARD M. MITCHELL
Directed

"LOVE'S HARVEST"

Starring SHIRLEY MASON

MOTION PICTURE NEWS—"...but for a story with many, a humanizing directorial touch—it will rank among the best."

NEW YORK REVIEW—"The director's human touches make the story."
This One Presents Strictly Limited Appeal
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Madlaine Traverse in
"THE SPIRIT OF GOOD"
Fox

"The Spirit of Good" brings into play very old picture materials and the best that can be said of them is that they are handled in very old style. Neither the shaping of the story or the direction show any degree of modern skill. However, there may be some field for the picture inasmuch as there are certain audiences who revel in the time-honored sob-stuff despite crudities in the handling.

The bout between the good and the bad is the cue for presenting the picture through advertisements if you care to take a chance on it. Play up the story in an elemental and forceful style and this will serve to attract those who will appreciate the action. "The story of two souls who had despair of God, who had sunk to the lowest depths. The spirit of good appeared before them and they accepted the challenge. See their winning fight," such a line might suffice in advertising this.

WALLACE WORSLEY Directed
"THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME"
In the reviews of this feature, attention was called to the direction as being "VERY GOOD—ESPECIALLY FOR THE MANNER IN WHICH COHERENCE WAS MAINTAINED"
also
"THE STREET CALLED STRAIGHT"
An Eminent Authors—Goldwyn release
Watch For
"THE PENALTY"
Scenario by CHARLES KENYON
To be released by Eminent Authors—Goldwyn
Address: Goldwyn Studios, Culver City, California

Film-Lore Offers a Real Treat for Originality, Quality, and Theme

BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery, and Science by
ALEXANDRE A. STUART

FILM-LORE PRODUCTIONS CO., Inc.
18-20 WEST 34th STREET NEW YORK CITY
Meager Story Depends Wholly on Star to Get Over

Ethel Clayton in
"THE LADDER OF LIES"
Paramount-Arcaft

DIRECTOR ......................... Tom Forman
AUTHOR ........................... Harold Vickers
SCENARIO BY ..................... Edith Kennedy
CAMERAMAN ....................... William Marshall
AS A WHOLE ............ Average program attraction; has nothing to boast about except its star.

STORY ...... Satisfactory vehicle for personality of star; familiar situations and improbabilities play big part.

DIRECTION .......................... Fair
PHOTOGRAPHY ...................... Average
LIGHTINGS .......................... Not always sharp.
CAMERA WORK ..................... Ordinary
STAR ...... Pleasing as usual; the production's main attraction.

SUPPORT ...... Clyde Fillmore not always convincing; Jane Acker and Charles Meredith good.

EXTERIORS ......................... Adequate.
INTERIORS .......................... All right.
DETAIL ............................. Few technical errors

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Young woman jeopardizes her own happiness by lying to save a friend from unhappiness.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 4,271 feet

Ethel Clayton's latest vehicle is based on Harold Vicker's story which was published in Snappy Stories Magazine under the title of "The Ladder." As a vehicle for the star, "The Ladder of Lies," amounts to nothing more than a light bit of entertainment which, without Miss Clayton's pleasing personality and her sincere effort to appeal to her audience, would prove tedious indeed.

Considering that this is Tom Forman's first attempt at directing, he has handled his material in a fairly satisfactory manner although a few minor technical errors may catch the attention of the educated photo-play patron. It's highly improbable that two women alone in a house and not expecting any guests for dinner, would array themselves in gorgeous evening gowns to dine by themselves. Also it is to be wondered what man, at a casual glance, would be so observing as to notice a peculiar kind of fringe on a woman's cape as she climbs into a machine, in a dim night light at that. However, these "intrikat" bits all go toward making things more complicated and add another wring to the ladder of lies.

Edith Parrish (Miss Clayton), a successful young illustrator attempts to save her friend, Peter Gordon, from a marriage with Dora, who admits to Ethel that she is merely going to marry Peter for his money. Edith introduces Dora to Ralph Brent, a male vamp and notorious for his escapades, knowing that Dora will fall for Brent's flattery. Furthering her scheme to show Peter Dora's faithlessness, she summons Peter to her studio where Brent and Dora hold their rendezvous.

But Dora turns the tables on Edith and begs Peter to advise Edith against having anything to do with Brent. They are married and Ethel goes to visit the couple at their country home. One night while Peter is away on business, Dora appropriates Ethel's wrap and goes to the Oak Tree Inn with Brent. As the two are leaving the Inn Peter and his business partner, Blaine, are entering to await a taxi, their own machine having broken down.

The next morning Peter recognizes the cape on Ethel and finding a cigarette bearing Brent's initials his suspicions are confirmed and he ask Ethel to leave his house because of the supposed escapade with Brent. Later when Ethel is engaged to Blair, Peter feels obliged to disclose her past and it comes near proving disastrous but Brent proves to Blair that the woman was Peter's wife. This clears the way for Ethel and Blair but as far as the spectator is concerned, Peter goes on in ignorance of his wife's faithlessness.

Confine Your Promises to the Star and Her Work

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Without the star's name to work with, this would resolve itself into an ordinary eternal triangle affair with the usual complications and the final happy ending for the hero and heroine. Without promising anything wonderful in the way of a story, you can show them this by basing your whole appeal on Miss Clayton's name and mentioning some of her recent productions which you may have played and which satisfied your patrons.

You can mention the connection with Snappy Stories Magazine, if you think well of it. Say: "His motto was 'One Lie makes a liar,' and yet his best friend lied to him to preserve his own happiness." Or, "See how one lie forms 'A Ladder of Lies' and you'll always tell the truth."
What The Critics Say About BERANGER’S PICTURES

DRAMA

"The power of true realism lies in picturing the known in such a manner as to obtain and hold interest during the story to be told, in bringing strong situations out of the easily-recognisable affairs of our everyday lives. Therein lies the prime merit of this production.—The main impression made, however, is that enforced by contrast.—There is an unpreached sermon in every second of that contrast, a sermon more deeply felt that is not pronounced in words, one to make the spectators think twice."—Louis Reeves Harrison

George A. Beranger

Of a hitherto absolutely inexperienced girl in Director Beranger’s same production, Mr. Harrison also wrote: "She is a psychological study at acute moments."

MELODRAMA

"You are surprised time and again throughout the run of the picture by the novel twists and the clever manner in which they have been handled. Director Beranger wastes no footage and makes every incident count. As this picture is treated with the utmost skill, it should afford real pleasure to all audiences.—The most successful direction the star has had."—WID’S.

"It is seldom that a melodramatic feature holds such a well-sustained pace as does this. Not only is the action swift and intense, but the production is full of original situations. It should keep the spectator in his seat from start to finish."—M. P. WORLD.

"This production is so highly colored with strenuous action and travels at such a rapid tempo that one hasn’t time to reflect about its obvious design. Director George Beranger has made this picture a success through keeping in mind that the incidents must carry punch and suspense."—M. P. NEWS.

COMEDY

"The air fairly staggers with the rapidity of events.—One thing to be commended is the capable direction of George Beranger, who kept the mystery atmosphere ever foremost. The continuity hung close as a leech, and intense interest was maintained till the fade-away."—Billboard.

"The star’s most agreeable picture in some time."—Morning Telegraph.

"Something is happening of a strenuous nature from start to finish, an amusing flavor spicing the events. The picture has been well directed, and the story hangs well together."—Trade Review.

JUST COMPLETED

“NUMBER SEVENTEEN”
(From the Book by Louis Tracy)

A FOX SUPER-SPECIAL
Story Interests After Bad Start and Other Handicaps

Frank Mayo in
"THE RED LANE"
Universal

DIRECTOR .................. Lynn F. Reynolds
AUTHOR .................... Holman Day
SCENARIO BY .............. Violet Clark
CAMERAMAN .............. Bennie Kleine
AS A WHOLE ...... Picture offers good entertainment picking up after confusing start.

STORY ...... Concerns itself with too many lines of action at start—some good climaxes afterwards.

DIRECTION .................. Rather stagey
PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Lacks definition
LIGHTINGS .................. Average
CAMERA WORK ............ All right
STAR ........ Registers well in modest hero role SUPPORT .......... Two character men wear terrible fake beards—heroine not very natural.

EXTERIORS ...... Pass fairly well as Maine woods stuff.

INTERIORS ........................ Suitable
DETAIL ...................... Some subtitles terribly prosey CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Hero defeats dishonest politicians and saves heroine from villain's persecution.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,890 feet

This adaptation of a New England-Maine wood story by Holman Day gets away to a poor start but develops into an interesting picture along at about the half-way mark and this despite some rather stagey direction and bad slips in detail. All of Day's stories contain a lot of characters and this one involved two quite entirely different sets and getting these straightened out appears to have been a pretty difficult job from the appearance of the early reels. After the two sets converge and the action narrows down to one line, the interest picks up remarkably and what, with a couple of good fight sequences generates no small amount of interest.

Director Reynolds has also turned in some pretty stagey scenes in the first part and his villain over-plays his role throughout the entire picture, giving a typically cheap and heavily melodramatic characterization of the role. Also it is hard to understand why Reynolds permitted two of his character men to appear in such palpably false beards as they wear here. One of them looks like the usual burlesque of a Bolshevist. His whiskers shoot out at right angles to his chin.

The hero is Norman Aldrich, a revenue officer on the Maine border. He meets Marie Beanlien, whose worthless father wants to marry her off to Dave Roi, smuggler and generally villainous character. Roi is also mixed up in a land-grabbing scheme with a graft-ning assemblyman and when Norman decides to run for this assembly seat at election, he is forced into a fight with both villains.

The action narrows down to Norman's encounters with the opposition and grows interesting from there on. The fight between Norman and Roi is realistically staged and produces a considerable thrill. The gang fight between Norman's honest forces and the thugs hired by the assemblyman to terrorize the voters is also well put on and results in the accumulation of a good portion of suspense. The climax brings Norman up against a framed charge of killing Marie's father but at the last minute the truth is out and all ends happily.

Frank Mayo handles his role, which doesn't give him the average opportunities accorded a star, in capable fashion. Lillian Rich has rather a struggle of it, being natural as the heroine. Others are James L.
Mason, Jean Hersholt, James O'Neill, Karl Formes, Paul Wiegol, Frank Thorne, Harry Lamont and Fred Herzog.

Author's Name Will Help This Considerably

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

There is no getting away from the fact that the beginning of this is quite confusing, due the fact that they started out on the less important of two parallel plot threads. However, once they get into the meat of the story an interesting picture is the result, one which will get safely by in the smaller houses and in those where the not too particular need to be entertained.

The plot has some original twists toward the end, typical of Holman Day's stories and the fights serve to make the spectator sit up and take notice. In presenting this, play up the author along with the star.
Day is constantly before the magazine and novel-reading public and numbers a great many readers. Feature the election angle of the story as this is timely and if you work it up displaying it elemental and rugged qualities you will be presenting it attractively.
A BLACKTON PRODUCTION
PASSERS BY
PERSONALLY DIRECTED BY J. STUART BLACKTON
WITH
HERBERT RAWLINSON
Adapted from the stage success by C. HADDON CHAMBERS

With enthusiasm and entire confidence we recom-
Driftwood of a great city, thrown up from its depths and brought to his door.

Like the driftwood of the ocean some of it was good and sound; some weak and rotten.

The bluff, big-hearted Cabby; Outraged Innocence in a Girl; the dirty, useless Vagrant; the wilful Wanton flitting by; from his window he saw them and read and understood the comedy and the tragedy of their lives.

Mr. Blackton has created a wonderful human picture, in which the acting is beyond reproach, from a stage success that is pure drama.
Billie Burke Scores Success in Appropriate Light Comedy

Billie Burke in
"AWAY GOES PRUDENCE"
Paramount-Artcraft

DIRECTOR ........................ John S. Robertson
AUTHOR ........................... Josephine Lovett
SCENARIO BY ........................ Katherine Stuart
CAMERAMAN ........................ Roy F. Overbaugh
AS A WHOLE ...... Thoroughly amusing light comedy with good twists and star showing to best advantage.

STORY ...... Cleverly developed with a number of surprise situations.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ... About 5,046 feet

The matinee audiences, with the always-to-be-considered feminine well in the majority, will probably eat up "Away Goes Prudence" from initial leader to tail-piece and enjoy it immensely. In fact it is just the sort of picture that Billie Burke's admirers like to see her in. The star herself appears to her best advantage and has happily forgotten to pose and pout, contenting herself to perform her role in all sincerity. The effect is very good indeed.

Certainly none of the aforementioned matinee audiences are going to suffer indigestion after devouring this piece of entertainment. The plot is light and even approaches burlesque at times, what with its divers improbabilities.

The story for the most part is cleverly developed and is enriched by a number of surprise turns in the action that create an additional interest. Prudence (Miss Burke), is a head-strong society lady, very much given to the execution of fancy aviation tricks. Her fiancé, Harland objects strenuously as does her father, so strenuously in fact, that Prudence decides to lead them to believe that she has been kidnapped in order to make them appreciate her.

She goes to the home of Mrs. Ryan, who has long taken in the family wash. But Harland discovers her trick and bribes Michael, the no-good son of Mrs. Ryan to kidnap Prudence and scare her into believing its the real thing. Michael likes the idea and when Harland takes out his roll to pay him for the job cracks him on the cranium with a black-jack and takes the entire roll.

Prudence, having heard Harland's voice believes the whole thing a put up job and when Michael and his confederates take her to their underworld haunt she is ready to appreciate the "joke," much to their amazement. Following sequences show Prudence, always believing the whole thing is a frame-up, requesting Michael and his pals to teach her the gentle art of house-breaking, which she learns readily enough. There is good comedy along here and the action never lags. In the end Prudence is chased by policemen into her own home and her return is welcomed by her agitated father and fiancé, who agrees to let her fly all she wants.

Miss Burke wears a number of fetching costumes, including an aviation get-up. She is supported by Percy Marmont as Harland, by Charles Lane as her father and by Dorothy Walters and Bradley Barker, in the roles of Mrs. Ryan and Michael. Others are Maude Turner Gordon, M. W. Rale and Albert Hackett.

Certainly Should Please Star's Admirers

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"Away Goes Prudence" appears to be the ideal Billie Burke picture. To say that it will get over in a big way before the star's large following is stating an obvious truth. It is this sort of cute comedy that the women like and Miss Burke certainly lives up to all the terms of endearment her feminine admirers apply to her.

In advertising this mention, besides the star, the director, John Robertson made a big reputation with his work on "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and this is his first picture since then. Also give some space to Percy Marmont who has appeared opposite various feminine stars.

Get the light touch into your advertising. Use a line such as "Prudence kidnapped herself to give her family a thrill. Her fiancé then had her kidnapped again to give her a thrill!! And then the kidnappers did a little real kidnapping on their own account and gave them all thrills!!"
THE Goldwyn Pictures Corporation will release Sixty Pictures in the coming year.

GOLDWYN has spared neither effort nor expense to put into these pictures the finest elements that go into picture-making.

FROM its inception each picture is constantly under the supervision of men and women who know the public taste, and are skilled in meeting it.
MANY pictures to be offered in the new season have been produced in co-operation with the foremost authors in the world, who aim to give to their work on the screen the same personal vitality, the same imaginative and emotional quality that they have given to their works in other media.

EACH picture thus produced is subjected to the severest critical examination, from every angle, as to its amusement and profit-getting quality, before it is offered by Goldwyn for distribution.

Samuel Goldwyn
President
Goldwyn Pictures Corporation
THE high quality of each Goldwyn Picture in the coming season demands that there be no departure from a system of unit bookings.

ADVANCE showings of Goldwyn Fourth Year Pictures will be held in all Goldwyn exchanges starting July 15th.

FIFTEEN productions will be in readiness, representing the Goldwyn product for the first fifteen weeks of the season. The merit of the individual picture will be the sole factor in every transaction.

IN the following pages you will find complete descriptions of the first pictures to be offered by Goldwyn.
The First Fifteen pictures will be ready for advance viewings starting this month. They represent the Goldwyn product for the first fifteen weeks of the exhibitor’s season. Each is listed with a brief and salient description.

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS'

powerful drama

The Penalty

Directed by Wallace Worsley

This picture will inevitably be classed as one of the outstanding and most powerful productions ever made. Lon Chaney, whose famous performance in “The Miracle Man” has established him as one of the greatest character actors on the screen is featured as the legless master criminal. A picture on which no superlative is wasted.

PAULINE FREDERICK

in

Madame X

By Alexandre Bisson

Directed by Frank Lloyd

“Madame X,” famed as one of the greatest stage successes has been picturized with even more dramatic power with Pauline Frederick in the most satisfying role of her career. “Madame X” will be talked about by everyone who sees it.

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART’S

famous story

It’s a Great Life

Directed by E. Mason Hopper

You’ve been waiting for another “23½ Hours Leave.” “It’s a Great Life” even surpasses the author's other success. This comedy sensation throbs with love and dances with humor. It holds the interest all the way.
MADGE KENNEDY
in The
Girl With the Jazz Heart
By Robert Shannon
Directed by Lawrence Windom
Timed to the minute this picture is a story of a girl with a jazz heart who jazzed her way into one of the most interesting of screen romances. It is Madge Kennedy at her charmingest.

JACK PICKFORD
in The
Man Who Had Everything
By Ben Ames Williams
Directed by Alfred E. Green
Jack Pickford, in this new and highly original photoplay, plays the part of a young man who has everything he wants in the way of fortune, but a blind man and a pair of beautiful eyes show him the error of his ways. A big picture.

TOM MOORE
in Officer 666
By Augustin MacHugh and Winchell Smith
Directed by Harry Beaumont
Tom Moore puts on his official dignity in “Officer 666,” a picturization from the Cohan & Harris play which set Broadway laughing for more than a year.

A REGINALD BARKER Production
The Branding Iron
From the successful novel by Katherine Newlin Burt
Directed by Reginald Barker
Adapted by J. G. Hawks
Three hundred leading newspapers are now running “The Branding Iron” as a serial story. Millions are reading the novel. As picturized by Goldwyn it is one of the sensational and inspirational dramas of the screen. Those who have seen it say that this picture will be boomed by exhibitors everywhere it is played.
MABEL NORMAND
in
What Happened to Rosa
By Pearl Lenore Curran
Directed by
Victor Schertzinger
Mabel Normand has the part of an overworked, tired, shop girl who, through adventurous circumstance and a fortune-teller, finds love and happiness in life. You will like Mabel Normand in this new and original role.

BASIL KING’S
Powerful Super-Drama
Earthbound
Directed by
T. Hayes Hunter
One year in production, “Earthbound,” as powerful as its title suggests, is destined without question to go down in photoplay annals as one of the masterful sensations of the screen. A mere descriptive paragraph can in no way acquaint you with the bigness of “Earthbound.” You will judge it when you see it.

REX BEACH’S Famous Story
The North Wind’s Malice
Directed by
Paul Bern and Carl Harbaugh
This is destined to rank as one of the most powerful of Rex Beach’s blood-stirring photoplays. It is a tremendous drama of human emotions with the action laid in the wilds of Alaska, which Mr. Beach portrays with startling vividness. There is a moral to this story which enhances the great human conflict on which it is based.

Milestones
by Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblock
Directed by
Paul Scardon
As a play, “Milestones,” is known in every city in America as an outstanding success. As a picture portraying family life, it will appeal to the emotions of every patron.
WILL ROGERS
in Old Hutch
By Garret Smith
Directed by
Clarence G. Badger
Will Rogers' inimitable and droll self is once more with us in "Old Hutch," a Saturday Evening Post story that is suited to Rogers as Rogers is suited to your patrons. It means one step more in the development of this swift moving star.

J. Parker Read, Jr., presents
HOBART BOSWORTH
in
His Own Law
Directed by
Irvin Willat
Hobart Bosworth is conceded to be the most powerful, dramatic male star in pictures. This J. Parker Read production presents Hobart Bosworth at his absolute best. Goldwyn presents "His Own Law" to you with the conviction that it is a truly worth-while production.

JACK PICKFORD
in
Just Out of College
By George Ade
Directed by
Alfred E. Green
A typical Jack Pickford picture and a zippical George Ade story. With all the pep and dash that goes with the two names. "Just Out of College" shows Jack Pickford in the best role of his career. Your patrons will say so.

MADGE KENNEDY
in
The Highest Bidder
Adapted from
THE TRAP
By Maximilian Foster
Madge Kennedy in "The Highest Bidder" promises to surpass her former comedy achievements. "The Highest Bidder" is a sympathetic love story of the ever popular sort.

GOLDSWYN
PICTURES
Future Productions

A REGINALD BARKER Production
Black Pawl
By Ben Ames Williams

The Christian
By Hall Caine

The Great Lover
By Leo Ditrichstein and Fred and Fanny Hatton

A Tailor Made Man
By Harry James Smith

The Concert
By Herman Bahr

Bunty Pulls the Strings
By Graeme Moffett

GOVERNEUR MORRIS' Famous story
Yellow Men and Gold

REX BEACH'S Famous story
The Net

PAULINE FREDERICK in Roads of Destiny
By O. Henry

BASIL KING'S Famous Novel
The Eternal Law

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART'S Famous Novel
A Poor Wise Man

MABEL NORMAND in Head Over Heels
By Edgar Allan Woolf
Suggested by the story "SHADOWS"
By Nalbro Bartley

TOM MOORE in Six Seconds of Darkness
By Octavus Roy Cohen

BETTY COMPSON in Prisoners of Love
By Katherine Henry

WILL ROGERS in Boys Will Be Boys
By Irvin S. Cobb
From the play
By Charles O'Brien Kennedy

MADGE KENNEDY in What the Doctor Ordered
By Oliver Bailey
Very Sorry Attempt at Production of Mystery Story

Leah Baird in
"CYTHIA-OF-THE-MINUTE"
Beck-Hodkinson

DIRECTOR .................. Perry Vekroff
AUTHOR .................... Louis Joseph Vance
SCENARIO BY ................ Leah Baird
CAMERAMAN ................. Rial V. Schelling
AS A WHOLE................. Exceedingly tiresome picture that creates confusion and aggravation in attempt to build up mystery.

STORY........... May have been the goods in original form but certainly doesn't register here—continuity bad in places and no compactness to whole.

DIRECTION......Plays up useless detail too much
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Average
LIGHTINGS .................. Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ............... Fair
STAR......Her role lacks all points of appeal—unable to make any impression.
SUPPORT...........Headed by Hugh Thompson
EXTERIORS ............... Water stuff
INTERIORS ................. Suffice
DETAIL .................. Unable to determine it
CHARACTER OF STORY..... All about a mysterious sea voyage.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION..... About 5,900 feet

They went all wrong in the production of this mystery story. The probability is that the original work of Louis Joseph Vance's contained a certain interest due the author's technical knowledge of stories of this type, but in the adapting of it for the screen they missed fire hopelessly. The main fault, and one which has been sighted as the root of trouble in connection with many another mystery picture, is that there is altogether too much mystery.

The action of a picture, play or story must be of absorbing interest on the mere face of things to be able to command the close attention of an audience without letting it in on any of the plot's secrets. Such a work, it will be remembered, was "Seven Keys to Baldpate." On the other hand the average mystery plot takes its audience into its confidence on various details and twists, thus whetting the interest and keeping it buoyed up until the big surprise is sprung at the finish.

Here in "Cynthia-of-the-Minute" (the title by the way is another one of those meaningless things), not the slightest inkling as to what the whole thing is about is included in the maze of action that soon becomes aggravating and confusing. And then at the end when they should pull a climax and explain the whole works, instead they dismiss the main line of mystery action in a mere incident subtitle. For close toward the finish they switch into the romantic line of action and treat the big plot, the one which has been aggravating the audience from the outset, with just passing notice.

The various ramifications of the action cannot be gone into here. Suffice it that both heroine and hero find themselves bound overseas on a mysterious ship, the officers of which are mysteriously plotting. The crew decides it wants the jewels belonging to "Madame" and there are fights galore on this score. The finish finds hero and heroine on an island, after making their escape from the villains planned by the ship's officers, while later the steward, in reality a Scotland Yard officer, comes to them to tell that the officers have been taken into custody for plotting to collect insurance wrongfully.

Nothing can be said in favor of the production as it stands here. Perhaps the title writer could have made the action clearer and consequently more interesting by inserting subtitles that explained. But at present it looks rather hopeless.

Leah Baird appears as the heroine and Hugh Thompson is her leading man, while the supporting cast includes Burr McIntosh, Alexander Gaden, John Webb Dillion, Willard Widdecombe, Mathilda Brundage, William Welch and Ashton Newton.

Star and Author All You Have Here

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

The redeeming features of "Cynthia-of-the-Minute" are not visible to the naked eye. It looks as if there might be possibilities providing a set of explanatory subtitles were inserted, but in its present state it is far from entertaining.

The names of Leah Baird and Louis Joseph Vance may pull you some patronage if you have to run this, or providing you have it signed up already and no other features are in sight. But you have little else to concentrate on besides star and author. The story, while it might stand boosting under other circumstances, certainly doesn't deserve it here.

In addition you might find High Thompson's name valuable in advertising this. His career as leading man embraces quite some time and he has been seen with a number of prominent stars.
M. W. GARSSON
PRESENTS
“UP IN MARY’S ATTIC”

The only foundation of success for the state right buyer is to build up the good will of his exhibitor clientele.

The only foundation for consistent box office success for the exhibitor is to build up the good will of his patrons. To do this both must handle only the kind of pictures the public wants to see.

Picture fans come to the theatre to be entertained; they want to laugh, they want to be thrilled, and they want to see a picture that holds their interest to the end.

That is why “Up in Mary’s Attic” is a picture the live wire distributor cannot afford to overlook and why every progressive exhibitor will book it.

FINE ARTS PICTURES, INC.
1457 BROADWAY Phone Bryant 9500
For Territorial Rights
L. L. HILLER 1476 Broadway, New York City
Very Weird Hodge-Podge of Action That Never Convincnes

Gladys Brockwell in “A SISTER TO SALOME”

Fox

DIRECTOR .................. Edward J. Le Saint
AUTHOR ..................... Julius G. Furthman
SCENARIO BY ............... Julius G. Furthman
CAMERAMAN ................. Harry Harris

AS A WHOLE—Very confusing and unconvincing hodge-podge of action, dreams, visions and dreams-within-dreams.

STORY—Doesn’t produce anything dramatic—moves backward as much as forward and gets laughs at times.

DIRECTION .................. Commonplace
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Average
LIGHTINGS ................... Plain
CAMERA WORK ................ Average
STAR—Puts a lot of effort into role of various emotions but is unable to convince.

SUPPORT—Headed by William Scott
EXTERIORS .................. None of consequence
INTERIORS ................. Quite meager with exception of church scene.

DETAIL .................. Fair
CHARACTER OF STORY—Should really be described as the nightmare of opera singer while under ether.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION—... About 5,000 feet

“A Sister to Salome” is really one of the most amazing conglomerations of weird ideas ever put forth on the screen. It mixes modern action with various dreams, visions, distortions of the mind under ether, dreams-within-dreams and so on and so forth until the spectator feels that he has been escorted into one of those winding passage ways they have at the amusement parks and left there stranded.

Worse yet, the author attempts to be dramatic and convincing in all his maze of scenes. The climax of his ridiculousness comes when he brings his heroine into church just as the minister is delivering a sermon in denunciation of her. Lo and behold the minister recognizes her as his self-same love of ancient Rome, steps from his pulpit and clasps her to him. There are very few audiences in this broad country that won’t burst right out laughing at that.

After the author has led you all around the lot, so to speak, he decides to end it all by saying that the whole mixup was a dream. The heroine wakes up for the third and last time (it is to be hoped) and there is the hero smiling before her, ready to proceed with the romance so rudely interrupted in half a dozen other visions and reincarnations.

Gladys Brockwell is introduced as an opera singer forced to undergo an operation on her throat. Under the ether she has a vision of ancient days when she, the property of some high priest, falls in love with a Christian. This sequence ends, after Miss Brockwell has worn a couple of very low draperies, by the poison route, both the priest and his property perishing from the contents of a ring.

Then the opera singer wakes up and is attacked by an old friend whom she promptly kills with a candlestick. The throat specialist fixes things so that she is freed from suspicion and then plans for her to blackmail the man’s son with whom she is in love as he is the same man as the early Christian. To avoid this the opera singer gives herself to the doctor. Despite a wife, a pulpit and a fine conscience, the hero falls in love with the opera singer and only forsakes her when he learns of the doctor. The opera takes poison for the second time and then wakes up to find herself just coming out of the ether for the second time. There are numerous little aside visions and dreams of which it is impossible to relate here.

Miss Brockwell puts a lot of effort into her variegated role but is unable to make it convincing. William Scott is her opposite, while E. B. Tilton and Ben Deely fill the remaining principal roles.

Pretty Hard to See Where This One Will Get By

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

It is very hard to see where this will register. Practically every audience that is at all picture-wise will start in laughing at it almost at its middle and after that will likely refuse to take it seriously. And even those not picture-wise will hardly be entertained by it. The author is so confusing and asks you to take so many far-fetched notions for granted that little or any of his work is convincing.

If you want to take a chance on it play up the reincarnation idea. Use lines such as these, “Do you believe in Reincarnation? See ‘A Sister to Salome.’” “She knew she had seen this man before. Where? In some other world or some previous existence? See this drama based on a theory that may be fact.”

For the rest concentrate on the star and her leading man. William Scott, who must be considerably popular due to his many appearances with Miss Brockwell.
AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF IMPORTANCE

Sidney Garrett begs to announce the formation of an organization, complete and thorough in detail, for the distribution of films for foreign countries and is respectfully presented for the consideration of American producers.

Sidney Garrett, Inc.
135 West 44th Street
New York City

Telephones: Bryant 6903-6904-6905

SIX MONTHS IN PREPARATION

Mountains of Statistics Volumes of Correspondence
A Mine of Information

BOILED DOWN IN A HANDY VOLUME
FOR YOU MR. EXECUTIVE, MR. PRODUCER AND MR. DIRECTOR

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

"A Necessity for Every Wide Awake Exhibitor"
CURRENT RELEASES

Release Date
May

Length
5-20

Reviewed

Release Date
June

Length
5-20

Reviewed

Release Date
July

Length
5-20

Reviewed

EQUITY PICTURES CORP.

The Inner Voice (E. K. Lincoln)............6

AMERICAN CINEMA CORP.

Rye of Youth (Claudia Cardinale).........7

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.

The Fighting Irishman (Robert Warwick) 5

FIRST NATIONAL

In Search of a Father (Constance Talmadge) 3/14/20

FOX FILM CORP.

William Parten Series

Heart Strings

Thomas H. Ince

John H. Ince

Specials

While New York Sleeps (All-Star)....6

Fox Entertainments

The Mother of His Children (Gladys Brockwell) 6

NATIONAL

Breese (Herbert Rawlinson)...........12

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORP.

The Silver Horde (Helen Reade)........5

HALLMARK PICTURES CORP.

Famous Director Series

A Dangerous Affair (Herbert Rawlinson) 5

The Return of Tarzan.................. 7

HALMARK PICTURES CORP.

Siegfried Pictorial

The Sargebrusher...................... 1/4/20

W. W. HODKINSON CORP.

Distributing Through Pathe

Robert Brunton Productions

The Great Adventure (J. Warren Kerrigan) 3/13/20

Harry L. Garrett Productions

The Great Adventure (J. Warren Kerrigan) 5/22/20

Joseph Levering Productions

The Little Coffee Girl (Herbert Rawlinson) 4/8/20

Metro Pictures Corp.

Zanuck's Productions

The Big Heart ................. 6/6/20

The Honeymoon Affair (Herbert Rawlinson) 5/21/20

Pudgy Robets (Mary Miles Minter) 5/24/20

RAVENSON-COLE

Robertson

Who's Your Servant? ................. 5/11/20

American Film Co., Inc.

The Dangerous Talent (Margaretta Fisher) 3/14/20

The White Dove (Herbert Rawlinson)....5

Superior Pictures

The Brand of Loper (Sessue Hayakawa) 5/12/20

The Wonder Man (George Arliss).......6

HALLMARK PICTURES CORP.

Famous Director Series

A Vested Marriage

Wvinces of Venice North

Chains of Evidence (Anna Leis—Emanuel Lecureux) 3/6/20

Love Honor and ? (Stuart Holmes—Elleen Cassidy) 3/27/20

The Heart of a Gipsy

The Phantom Honeymoon (Margaret Marsh) 3/17/20

High Speed (Eva Moore)............ 1/11/20

Wife Wins

Wife vs. Wife

The Discarded Woman (Grace Darling) 6/3/20

ARTURO PRODUCTIONS

Cynthia's Number (Martha Field).....6

Robert Brunton Productions

Life Savers (J. Warren Kerrigan)........ 3/13/20

Harry L. Garrett Productions

The Greatest Theater (J. Warren Kerrigan) 5/22/20

Joseph Levering Productions

No. 99 (J. Warren Kerrigan)........5

METRO PICTURES CORP.

Zanuck's Productions

The Big Heart

The Big Heart

Other Pictures

The Tycoon (Shirley Temple)........5

Diana Film Co.

King Spruce (Mitchell Lewis)........ 7/21/20

PAHET EXCHANGE, INC.

1420 Lifting Shadows (Emmy Whalen)....5

Apr. 11

The Big Harrier (Sylvia Drewery, Robert Gordon) 5/21/20

Apr. 23

Rosineiro (Rosemary Theby)........5

May 2

Dollar for Dallas (Frank Kemeny).....5

May 8

The Miracle of Money (Helen Henson) 5/22/20

May 23

Simple Souls (Stanley Bate)........5

June 6

The Little Cafe (Lyle Talbot)........5

July 4

The Man From Make Believe (Wm. Demond) 5/22/20

July 18

Man and His Woman (Herbert Rawlinson) 5/21/20

The Return of Tarzan.................. 7

The Return of Tarzan.................. 7

The Return of Tarzan.................. 7

The Return of Tarzan.................. 7

The Return of Tarzan.................. 7
REALART PICTURES CORP.

Soldiers of Fortune (Anna Q. Nilsson), Pauline Starke, German Eyes, Emer Beery 7 16/10/19

Ange of God's Mercy (Oliver Hardy, Bert Shay) 3 10/16/19

Erstwhile Susan (Constance Binney) 5 12/10/19

Mystery of the Desert (Jeff Pert, Grace Darmond) 4 1/20/20

Edel Grey Terry, Geo. Cowl, Edmund Elliott 6 10/26/19

The Four Mites (Three-Dimensional) 5 11/30/19

Judy of Kentucky's Harbor (Mary Miles Minter) 5 2/10/20

The Stolen Bridegroom (Sara Mattis, Marie E. Smith) 3 3/1/20

Sinners (Alice Brady) 5 3/21/20

Nurse Marie Blake (Mary Miles Minter) 5 3/2/20

The Deep Purple (R. A. Walsh Prod.) 5 3/26/20

The Law of the Desert (Gus Thomas) 5 4/20/20

Miss Hollywood (Wanda Hawley) 5 5/20/20

SELZNICK PICTURES

Distributed Through Select Exchanges

Youthful Love (Oliver Thomas) 4 4/20

The Woman God Sent (Special) 6 1/1/20

A Foot and a Half Money (Emme O'Brien) 4 4/20

The Shadow of Rosalie Byrnes (Elaine Hammerstein) 6 5/16/20

The Man Who Lost Himself (Wm. Faversham) 6 6/6/20

The Lost of People (Mitchell) 6 1/1/21

The Undercurrent (Guy Emery) 6 12/27/20

NATIONAL Pictures

Distributed Through Select Exchanges

Blind Youth (Special Cast) 6 2/20

Just a Wife (Special Cast) 5 2/20

The Invasion of Venice 5 2/20

REPUBLIC PICTURES

Distributed Through Republic Exchanges

Trilby (Release) Tourour Production Corporation (Clara Kimball Young) 5 2/5/20

Girl of the Savannah (Special Prod.) 6 2/5/20

The Amazing Woman (Harry Clifden) 6 3/7/20

The Blue Pearl (Edith Hallo) 5 3/20/20

Two-One-Two (Special Prod.) 6 4/12/20

Dorothy (Jackie Saunders) 5 5/20

The Gift Supreme 5 5/20

The Only Way Trail (Elmo Lincoln) 5 5/20

Mothers of Men 5 3/7/20

The Great Shadow (Tyro Power) 5 3/7/20

The Adventures of Julian Finglass 5 3/7/20

Man's Fighting (Grace Davidson) 5 3/7/20

Children Not Wanted (Elmo Lincoln) 5 3/7/20

KINORAMA

Every Tuesday and Saturday.

UNITED ARTISTS' CORP.

Sept. 1 I'll Make a Murderer (Griffith) 5 9/20/19

Oct. 20 Baskets (Griffith) 5 10/17/19

Dec. 19 Woman's Hour (Special) 5 12/21/19

Jan. 19 The Legend of Sleepy Hollow (Tan) 5 1/23/20

May 19 Romance (Malcolm) 5 5/23/20

The Molybdocide (Dorais Fairbanks) 5 6/6/20

UNIVERSAL PICTURES THEATER

Tiger Girl (Lillian Gish) 5 2/20/19

The Corincon Brothers (Dustin Farnum) 5 2/20/19

The Pick (Charles Ray) 5 2/20/19

The Vampire (Dorothy Dalton) 5 2/20/19

Women Who Forget (Mollie King) 5 3/14/20

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO.

Jewel Features

The Devil's Pass Key (Van Strabcomb) 7 4/11/20

Grunsen Skies (Elmo Lincoln) 6 6/20

Universal Features

The Triplet (Edith Roberts) 5 6/1/20

The Phantom (Monroe Stewart) 5 6/1/20

Rouge and Riches (Mary MacLaren) 5 6/1/20

The Prince of Pioneers (Douglas Fairbanks) 5 6/1/20

The Peddler of Lies (Frank Mayo, Ora Carew) 5 6/1/20

The Girl in the Moon 5 6/1/20

Her Feet Five Highheels (Edith Roberts) 5 6/1/20

Overland Red (Harry Carr) 5 6/1/20

Broken Wings (Frank Mayo) 5 6/1/20

The Road to Divorce (Mary MacLaren) 5 6/1/20

 Locked Up (Dorothy Dalton) 5 6/1/20

Bullet Proof (Harry Carr) 5 6/1/20

The Dapper Detective 5 6/1/20

Everything But the Truth (Lyons-Moran) 5 6/1/20

A Tokyo Sink or Swim (Ako) 5 6/1/20

Alias Miss Dodd (Edith Roberts) 5 6/1/20

A Strong Arm 5 6/1/20

Alias Miss Dodd (Edith Roberts) 5 6/1/20

Human Stuff (Harry Carr) 5 6/1/20

The Girl in the Rain (Dorothy Dalton) 5 6/1/20

VITAGRAPH

The Juggernaut (Alta Stewart) 5 3/14/20

Humble (H. H. Griffith) 5 3/14/20

The Honorable Max (Harry Carr) 5 5/14/20

The Winnebago Woman (Alice Joyce) 6 11/10/19

The Homing (Corinne Griffith) 6 11/10/19

The Vengeance of Durand (Alice Joyce) 6 12/14/19

Eulogy of Priors (Alice Joyce) 6 12/14/19

The Panter Hunter (Harry Gilmore) 6 12/14/19

The Sporting Duchess (Alice Joyce) 6 3/7/20

Captain Swift (Eagle) 6 3/7/20

The Courage of Marge O'Donnell 6 6/6/20

The Hide (Harry Gilmore) 6 6/6/20

Dallars and the Woman (A. Jackson) 6 5/30/20

A Master Stroke (Eastman) 6 5/30/20

Her Candidate (Corinne Griffith) 5 5/30/20

The Multiplied (Harry Carr) 5 5/30/20

INDIPENDENT—STATE RIGHTS

A Child for Sale (Graphic Film) 6 3/20

Love Without Question (Graphic Film) 6 3/20

Through Eyes of Men (Radio) 6 3/20

The Married Virgin (Fidelity) 6 3/20

Frivolous Wives (Fidelity) 6 3/20

Ashes of Desire (Walt & Will) 6 3/20

Neglected Wives (Wirtzia) 6 4/25

A Man Three Wags (Radio) 6 4/25

A Trip to Mars (Tower Film Co.) 6 5/30

A Woman's Mane (Arrow) 6 5/30

Love's Flame (Fidelity) 6 6/20

Madonnas and Men (Jans) 6 6/20

Short Gables (Dorothy Dore) 5 4/27

SHORT REEL RELEASES

FROMHAN AMUSEMENT CO.

March Releases

Nin Florida (Mac Swain) 1

Avenue in Bad (Mac Swain) 1

Bass of the Indiana (Texas Culman) 1

Just Bill (Texas Culman) 1

April Releases

Avenue and the Bathing Girls Special 2

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY

March Releases

COMEDIES

Tenting the Soil (Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven) 2

Catching Up (Al St. John) 2

Burton Holmes Travel Series

Brazzaville Brussels 1

Kingdom of the Yellow Rose 1

Brussels Redhead 1

The Boys' Big Club 1

In Happy Alliance 1

Paramount Magazine

Numbers 3987, 3978, 3970, 3880 1

April Releases

Comedies

Gee Whiz (Jack Bennett) 2

The Gingham Girl (Jack Bennett) 2

Shady Aly (Al St. John) 2

June Releases

By Golly (Jack Bennett) 2

You Wouldn't Believe It (Jack Bennett) 2

A Model Husband (Carter De Haven) 2

May Releases

Fresh from the City (Jack Bennett) 2

Spring (Carter De Haven) 2

Let 'Em Go (Jack Bennett) 2

Beating Cheaters (Carter De Haven) 2

An Oriental Sing Song 2

Artistic Antwerp 2

Musko and Mummie of Nippon 2

Battlefield of France 2

Paramount Magazine

The Zero Hour in Art 1

Tallowing in Metal 1

Mental Aerobatics 1

The Nurse of the Tents 1

May Releases

Numbers 3885, 3886, 3887, 3888, 3889 1

Burton Holmes Travel Series

Martyred Cities 1

The French British Rhine 1

Up Country in Spain 1

In Lovely Lorraine 1

June Releases

Beautiful Branches 1

The Love of the Little One 1

Lake of the Sun and Moon 1

Battlefield of France (Special) 1

Paramount Magazine Numbers: 3890, 3891, 3892, 3893, 3894 1

July Releases

The Unck Doctor (Jack Bennett) 2

Paramount Magazine

Four More Releases, three subjects each 1

Burton Holmes Travel Pictures

Japanese Holidays 1

The Lost of Lass 1

Frenchifying Metts 1

In Flinders Fields 1

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

February Releases

Petticoat and Pettipants (Special) 2

License Applied For 2

Should a Husband Tease? 2

March Releases

Her Bridal Night-Mare (Special) 2

UNIVERSAL

April Releases

The Lion Man, 15, 16, 17, 18 (Complete) 2

Elmo, the Penless, 9, 10, 11, 12 2

Length

Reviewed

Release Date

Release Date

Length

Reviewed
Comedies

Downing an Uprising (Lyons-Moran) | 1
A Leather Taster | 1
Stop That Wedding (Lyons-Moran) | 1
Dog Gone Fever | 1
Somebody Lied (Lyons-Moran) | 1
Jazzy Jailer | 1

Western

When the Cougar Called (Mae Drane and Frank Burns) | 1
The Texas Kid (Hoot Gibson) | 1
One He Man (Jack Perrin and Josephine Hill) | 1

Serials

Major Allen's Animal Hunt—Story of Wolf | 1

New Screen Magazine

Issues 60, 61, 62, 63 | 1

May Releases

Comedies

Why Lee (Lyons and Moran) | 1
A Restaurant Riot | 1
Concrete Biscuits (Lyons and Moran) | 1
He Loved Like He Lied | 1

Serials

Elmo the Fearless, Episodes 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 | 1
The Moon Riders, Episodes 3, 4, 5, 6 | 1

Western

Wall Tracks (Hoot Gibson and Thelma Percey) | 1
Ransom (Hoot Gibson) | 1

June Releases

Comedies

His Friend's Tip (Lyons and Moran) | 1
An Artist's Muddle (Harry Mann and Lilian Byson) | 1

Serials

Bought and Paid For... | 1
A Bronco Kid... | 1

Serials

Elmo the Fearless (Elmo Lincoln) 18 (Completed) | 1
Moon Riders (Hoot Gibson) 7 | 1
The Moon Riders, Episodes 3, 4, 5, 6 | 1

Comedies

The Man Rider (Art Acord) 11, 12, 13, 14 | 1
The Vanishing Digger (Eddie Polo) 4, 5, 6, 7 | 1
New Screen Magazine, Issues 73, 74, 75, 76 | 1

Western

The Red Hot Trail (Leo Maloney) | 1
The Boss Rides to Town (Farrel MacDonald) | 1
The Shootin' Kid (Hoot Gibson) | 1
Fighting Pals (Lyons-Moran) | 1

March Releases

PATHE

Comedies

Daredevil Jack (Jack Dempsey) 4, 5, 6, 7 | 1
d (Lyons and Moran) 10, 11, 12, 13, each | 1
Find the Girl (Snub Pollard) | 1
Fresh Paint (Snub Pollard) | 1
Two (Other Pollard Comedies) | 1
Review Numbers 40, 41, 42, 43 | 1
Topics of the Day Numbers 44, 45, 46, 47 | 1

April Releases

Comedies

"Daredevil Jack" (Dempsey) 8, 9, 10, 11, each | 1
"He Met His Match" (Pat O'Malley and Prince Riders) 3, 4, 5, 6, each | 1
"Adventures of Ruth." (Ruth Roland) 15 (Complete) | 1
May Releases

Daredevil Jack, episodes 12, 13, 14, 15, each | 1
Trailer by Three, episodes 6, 7, 8, 9, each | 1
The Third Eye, episodes 1 and 2 | 1

Comedies

"Jiggs in Society" (Birthing Up Father Series) | 1
Cracked Wedding Bells (Snub Pollard) | 1
Speed to Spare (Snub Pollard) | 1
Thee Reviews, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48 | 1
Topics of the Day, 49, 50, 51, 52 | 1

May Releases

An Eastern Westerner (Lloyd) | 1
The Emotional Miss Vaughn (Mrs. Sidney Drew) | 1
Drink Heartly (Snub Pollard) | 1
Trotting Through Turkey (Snub Pollard) | 1
All Dressed Up (Snub Pollard) | 1
Grab the Goat (Snub Pollard) | 1
Kiss a Miss, Laura La Plante | 1
Father's Close Shave (Bringing Up Father Series) | 1

Path Review Numbers 49, 50, 51, 52, 53 | 1
Topics of the Day Issues 53, 54, 55, 56, 57 | 1

June Releases

Comedies

You're Pinched (Snub Pollard) | 1
Star Miss-Show (Beauregard La Plante) | 1
All in a Day (Snub Pollard) | 1
Any Man's Port (Snub Pollard) | 1
Jiggs and the Social Lion (Bringing Up Father Series) | 1

Serials

Trailer by Three, 10, 11, 12, each | 1
The Third Eye, episodes 1, 2, 3 | 1
Path Review, Issues 54, 55, 56, 57 | 1

June Releases

HALL ROOM BOY COMEDIES

March Releases

Breaking Into Society | 1
Oh Baby | 1

May Releases

Tell Us Ouija | 1
Movie Madness | 1
GOLDWYN

March Releases

Three Issues | 1
April Releases

Brytoonotypes | 1
May Releases

Issues No. 43, 433, 434, 435, each | 1
March Releases

Broken silence | 1
Cut and Dry | 1
From East to West | 1
North Wind's Masquerade | 1
Cherry Blossoms | 1

CAPITOL COMEDIES

March Releases

Forget Me Not (Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven) | 1
May Releases

What Could Be Sweeter (Carter De Haven) | 1
Dorothy | 1

BRAVE COMICS

The Great Umbrella Mystery | 1

May Releases

Judge Rummy in a Fitting Gift. | 1

FOX

January Releases

MUTT AND JEFF ANIMATED CARTOONS

March Releases

The Mint Spy | 1
The Chemist | 1
Putting on the Dog | 1
The Plumber | 1
"I'm Ringing Your Party | 1
Fishing | 1
Dead Eye Jeff | 1
The Sour Violin | 1
The Price of a Good Woman | 1
The Chewing Gum Industry | 1

May Releases

The Bowling Alley | 1
Nothing But Girls | 1
The Private Detectives | 1
The PLAYERS | 1

SUNSHINE COMEDIES

March Releases

The Heart Snatcher | 1
The Lightweights, Lovers | 1
May Releases

A Waiter's Wasted Life | 1
The Hump | 1
Dangerous Eyes | 1
Dead Diver's Last Kiss | 1
Should Dummied Wed | 1

PRESTO PICTURES

L. J. Selznick Enterprises

Wm. J. Flynn Series (Herbert Rawlinson) | 1
Kinograms

Every Tuesday and Saturday

FILM SPECIALS

Westerns

Not Guilty (Texas Guinan) | 1
Letters of Fire (Texas Guinan) | 1

VICTOR KREMER FILM FEATURES

A Burlesque on Carmen (Charles Chaplin) | 1
The Champion (Charles Chaplin) | 1

Elmer (Charles Chaplin) | 1

By the Sea (Charles Chaplin) | 1

REELCRAFT

April Releases

Comedies

The Marksmen (Billy West) | 1
Brass Buttons (Billy West) | 1
Distilled Love (Alice Howell) | 1
Her Wooden Legacy (Alice Howell) | 1
Westerns

Four Times Foiled (Chester) | 1
Love Me (Carole Lombard) | 1
Torchy (Johnny Hines) | 1
A Knight for a Night (Jackie Coote) | 1
A Fresh Start (Marvel Rex) | 1

Duck Inn (Lloyd Hamilton) | 1

SPECIALS

Valley of 10,000 Smokes | 1

SCENICS

The Hope of Adventure (Robert Bruce) | 1
The Great Machine (Chester) | 1
The Great Wonder (Chester) | 1

Educaional

June and July Releases

Comedies

Your Times Foiled (Chester) | 1
Nice Me (Carole Lombard) | 1
Torchy (Johnny Hines) | 1
A Knight for a Night (Jackie Coote) | 1
A Fresh Start (Marvel Rex) | 1

Duck Inn (Lloyd Hamilton) | 1

SPECIALS

Valley of 10,000 Smokes | 1
HAYAKAWA in a role especially moulded for his screen ability. A production of class, tension and heart interest. A big star in a big story produced in a big way.

Directed by

CHARLES SWICKARD
The Fortune Teller, starring Marjorie Rambeau, is a screen triumph. It abounds with thrills, love and honor. It is one of the best pictures I have ever reviewed.

—George Pardy,
Exhibitors Trade Review.
Some Short Reels

Another Bray Comic—Goldwyn

Out of approximately a dozen remarks comprising the Lampoon portion of another Bray reel, about two or three may be expected to arouse anything more than passing interest, the rest serving as little more than fillers. Probably there are houses which will be willing to play that sort of material, and these will find this about average. As for the Judge Rummy cartoon which follows, that is fairly well executed and has an acceptable idea, but one that has been employed before similarly. Beyond doubt, however, the animated stuff will get over with most audiences, being quite laughable this time. It concerns some country relatives of the judge, who confuses other rural residents with them. It results in his being fleeced of much of his capital and left stunned as they part in a machine he has just purchased.

"A Counter Plot"—Goldwyn

Mirth-provoking material is included in this two-reeler to a fair extent but there are not enough legitimate laughs to make it stand out among numerous other offerings of the same caliber. Buddy Post is featured in the production in which he is hardly more prominent than the character who plays the sheriff. Helen Howard is the leading woman, who, as is the case in the majority of these pictures, has little more to do than look pretty. A bevy of well-selected bathing maidens frolic about near some water and as may be expected, the residents of the rural district flock near to gaze upon the display. There is some footage in which several of the characters, using uprooted bushes as camouflage, stalk near and Buddy, the elongated fun-maker swims about with his head in a bucket that has some convenient eye-holes. Interwoven with the bits of a plot this has, are several slapstick ideas, not all of which register. At its best, this is an ordinary comedy that does not seem likely to get by before a critical crowd. Harry Wolze wrote it and Mark Goldsine directed.

Pathé Review, No. 53

In the colored scenic which opens this Pathé Review, there are several beautiful shots, colored finely and otherwise pleasing to the eye. Much of it on the other hand appears to be somewhat hazy, the cause of which is not quite evident. St. Gervais, a hilly town in France, is the scene of this portion of the reel, in which there is also another colored part showing a bear and porcupine answering the hunger call. Between these two sections is sandwiched one in which a girl executes several difficult feats on skaters, displaying good form and considerable skill. She is shown in slow motion after the stuff is shown at normal speed and is out of the frame part of the time. As for the colored part, the tinting is faintly thick in places. What is of interest, is some footage showing several time-saving kitchen devices and later Ada Forman executes the "Javanese Dance," from a drawing by Julian Olendorf. The Tersperchorean display is fairly well done and winds up an issue of the series that is not as good as most of the others.

"Ranger Dave Morgan"—Universal

Following a plan that is almost as old as the proverbial hills themselves, Universal has put forth another two reel western with James B. Westerfield and Magda Lane in the leading roles. Real thrills are none too numerous in the production which does not see the hero sufficiently in danger but arouses some suspense when his wife finds herself in the clutches of the villain. Hubby having captured two members of the terrible gang, is the victim of a plot which consists of sneaking into his home and awaiting him. The gang-leader decided that he might as well have a bit of home cooking and then asks for a little kiss. He gets the former but wisely halts at the idea of favoring him with an osculation, whereupon, he proceeds to resort to cave-man methods. Hubby enters in the justly celebrated nick of time upon receiving a cleverly-conceived signal, captures the crowd and then they show a flash of how happily the two are living some years later with the family numbering three.

"Brownie, the Peacemaker"—Universal

Universal's intelligent bound, Brownie is featured in this two-reeler in which Phil Dunham, Merta Sterling, Jessie Fox and Chai Hwang also appear, the first two named being the most prominent, together with the comedy heavy. The dog has proven on a number of occasions that he is capable of doing much that is out of the ordinary, but in this does not receive the opportunity to display all of his talents. There is not quite as much of the rotous as usual this time, but one good comedy situation helps it along considerably. Genuine laughs are not included in great numbers, however, and as a result, this cannot be expected to prove of more than passing interest.

"A Drop of Ink"—Films of Business

How ink, carbon paper, paste and other products of S. S. Stafford are made is taken up in an industrial which shows the various parts of the factory, the machines and the processes through which each of these articles passes before it may be called complete. There are a pair of interesting trailers, one at the start and another at the finish which add pleasant touches, the little colored girl and her smile adding to the value of the reel. Otherwise, it ranks with the general run of industrial pictures, differing little from the usual film of this type. It has a bit of instructive value, but not very much in the way of entertainment.

"One Round Jeff"—Fox

They use a very old idea in this Mutt and Jeff release and although they manage to extract a number of laughs from it the release as a whole is not up to the high standard that has recently been set by these funny men and their creators. Mutt enters the ring against the champion in an endeavor to stay three rounds. The champion is made out as a fire-eater who has to be chained to his seat by a brass collar before the fight begins. Jeff is Mutt's second and puts dumb-bells in the glove in a futile attempt to have his partner win the fight. Later Jeff goes behind the curtain and does the old clubbing trick. Whenever a head makes a bulge in the cloth he wallops it with a big stick. Several times he hands Mutt a knockout blow as well as his opponent. In the end Mutt persecutes Jeff as per usual.

"The Making of An American"—Worcester Film Corp

Night schools and their advantages are taken up in a single reeler, in which the foreigner is urged to learn the English language. In a story, showing the experiences of an Italian immigrant, portrayed by Emile De Verry and directed by P. D. Hugon, the cause of Americanization is aided by this offering, which has an acceptable amount of entertainment value and serves its purpose quite well. The manner in which the immigrant after learning the language becomes a valuable member of the community and urges others to follow his example is taken up finely. The principal gives a creditable performance and the vehicle has been selected wisely.
“Short Reels”

“Foam Fantasies”—C. L. Chester

Scenes of waves and breakers lashing a rocky shore comprise this issue of the Chester Screenics. Throughout, the photography and technical end of it generally hold up splendidly. The water stuff is excellent throughout, and while the spectacle is not a novel one, as far as scenes are concerned, it has been filmed so well that the production holds the eye throughout.

“Lunatics in Politics”—Reelcraft

When woman suffrage was generally regarded as a source of good humor, stuff of the type seen in this two reeler, starring Alice Howell, was used quite frequently. Of late, burlesquing the masculine woman is something that appears to have gone out of fashion. However, Reelcraft has come back with just such a production and the result is a creditable comedy—creditable because its good qualities outnumber its bad ones. Considerable fault could be found with the technical end of the production, for the lightings and photography are rather below par in a number of places. From the beginning of the picture until it is well under way, it keeps the laughs coming at a rapid rate, and although the very finish is not quite as good as what precedes, it holds up acceptably. This shows Alice Howell, who incidentally is a capable comedienne, as the candidate for chief of police with the broad-proportioned Rose Burkhart as the opposition. Dick Smith and Tommy Flynn, the former the director, are also seen in it. There are several clever bits of business in the shaving scene and the campaign portion, in which the rival candidates endeavor to secure the attention of the audience. The latter part is the big gun in the piece, and it certainly produces the desired result.

“Play Hookey”—Reelcraft

Material concerning the efforts of the stellar performer, Billy Francy, as a fisherman, occupies most of the footage in this single reel production which is made up almost entirely of slapstick comedy stunts, several of which should register quite well. The principal fault of this is that it is not sufficiently “dressed up,” that the impression it makes upon the eye is not a very good one. The photography is open to criticism in more than one place and the film does not end anywhere in particular. George Jeske is credited with directing again, and the offering should get over nicely where other Franey comedies have been well received.

“The Electric Heart”—Baumer

Storage batteries are alluded to as electric hearts in this single reeler which explains quite conclusively by coupling scenes at a factory with diagrams, the manner in which they are made. The Preo-to-lite company’s output receives a bit of mention towards the finish, but otherwise, this is free from excessive advertising matter and is a highly satisfactory industrial production. In explaining the manner in which these batteries are made, it makes matters clear and the technical end of it has been taken care of in satisfactory style.

“A Bungalow Bungle”—Reelcraft

Milburn Moranti appears to be specializing in the handling of henpecked-husband roles, for in this two reeler he again essays the part of a spouse who is ruled by a strong-minded wife. The story concerns the efforts of a group of his friends to assist in his liberation and, needless to say, their schemes work out successfully. Bathing girls are introduced in the production after it has gone along for a while and they help it considerably. The biggest laugh in the piece is the beating Moranti receives at the hands of Raye Hampton after she has found him together with the vamp, played by a lady who bears the name of Wanda Waldrip. Ordinarily, the spectacle of a man receiving a pummeling at the hands of his spouse would not occasion very much surprise or laughter, but the manner in which they have filmed it this time makes it a genuine scream. Miss Hampton goes to the task of administering the thrashing with a nonchalant air that makes it really amusing, her delivery of the stiff-armed blows being mirth-provoking. A comedy that can fit into more than one show.

“Getting His Goat”—Reelcraft

Grafting of glands has been much used as the basis of more than one comedy, but has not been overworked and may still be expected to get smiles. Billy Francy is starred in this single reeler, in which Charles Haefeli and Charles Post are also prominent. It opens with a scene at the deathbed of an old man, who subsequently arises from the wheel chair in which he is taken out to be drowned, secured some goat glands and proceeds to cut capers. The beginning, in which the relatives eagerly await the aged gentleman’s death hoping that they may share the inheritance more quickly is funny and the picture holds up splendidly throughout, this being one of the best if not the best of the series.

“A Trip to Coney Island”—Hy Mayer Travelaugh

Whether or not Hy Mayer’s “Travelaugh’s” will be released generally is not certain, these productions having been presented at the Capitol exclusively thus far. Their nature is such, however, as to make them suitable for showing elsewhere, and if they are put on the release schedule of some distributing organization, they should receive a considerable amount of booking. Coney Island, haven of summer pleasure-seekers, has been selected by the artist as the subject for his newest offering and by combining actual shots of the resort with drawings, he has secured much laughable material. That the reel can be made into a distinct novelty was amply demonstrated at its first showing, when all of the familiar sounds of the scene of action were cleverly rendered by the orchestra and others. Even without the effects, however, this is very unusual. Mayer has made drawings of some of the characters which are cleverly faded into actual pictures of the people, while in other cases he has used either the drawings or other footage alone. The technical end of it is practically flawless, the photography and camera work of fine quality and the result is worth while entertainment.
DON'T BOOK
"Back to God's Country" during the Summer months
UNLESS
you are ready to turn on the steam as this CURWOOD Story is cooling and refreshing enough for any house during the hot spell.

A First National Attraction

AVERAGING 30% REPEAT BOOKINGS

Any First National Exchange NOW
Another Drive

Mabel Normand romps with typical abandon through this delightful picturization of George Ade's famous play.

It's a hot-weather hummer.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN
Presents
MABEL NORMAND
in
"The Slim Princess"

Written by George Ade.
Directed by Victor Schertzinger

MABEL NORMAND Laces Out Another Drive

GOLDFYN PICTURES CORPORATION
BOOKING COMBINES

“Won’t Book” by Many Distributors Regarding Booking Combines—and Tell Why

Following will be found the opinions of a number of executives prominent in the distributing end of the business regarding the attitude of their companies as to selling to booking combines.

“Al” Lichtman, Famous Players’ asky: “We have never sold to a booking combine, and we never will. That is all there is to it.”

P. B. Warren, general manager of Associated Producers: “Associated Producers will not sell their product except to individual theater owners or operators or owners of bona-fide chains of theaters. Under no conditions at any point will we deal with a booking agency or booking office.”

Hiram Abrams, president of United Artists Corp., was week-ending at a meeting regarding this booking proposition. However, from his office came the statement that Mr. Abrams had not changed his mind a single iota from the time that he issued his first statement on the policy of United Artists Corp., from which is quoted the following:

“We shall continue to rent our productions on a single picture basis only, so that theater men may handle each picture individually on its own merits and absolutely without bearing on any other production.

“‘And we shall continue to deal exclusively with individual theaters.

“No arrangements whatsoever will be made with booking agencies, circuits or distributing organizations, but will be even the remotest way the control of our productions out of the hands of either this organization or the theaters that book our pictures.”

He had transferred the brain of the crook to the ape, and was astonished to see the brute move and begin to breathe—Marshall Neilan’s “Go and Get It” a First National attraction. —Advt.

Federated Meets Today

The Federated Film Exchanges of America, Inc., will hold a meeting today at the Hotel Astor. It is expected that a general manager will be named.

Chicago—The Century Films, Inc., is the name of a new exchange formed here with Maurice A. Salkin as president.

An epidemic of booking combines is spreading through the country. Whether this happens to be a sporadic movement inspired by conditions existent, or whether it is part of a sinister scheme to tie up the entire country for a national booking idea, remains to be seen. But this is what is happening.

Jensen & Von Herberg have just put together in Seattle an organization of exhibitors of Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana under the name of the Independent Exhibitors Corp.

S. A. Lynch has called a meeting of Southern exhibitors for Atlanta today, where they will be apprised definitely of the Lynch booking plan which will be along the lines of furnishing exhibitors any productions they desire and Lynch will take 30 per cent of their gross for his booking services. There are other interesting ideas in the Lynch plan which will be made known at today’s meeting.

In Minnesota and the section which Ruben & Finkelstein dominate, it is understood that plans for a booking organization are being perfected along the lines of the Stanley company in Pennsylvania.

Over the week end, important factors in the National Booking Co., with headquarters in the Broadway Theater Bldg., New York, discussed plans for their proposed national organization in Atlantic City. Some people in the industry commented that it was somewhat unusual that important factors of First National should happen to be meeting in Atlantic City at the same time as Jules Mastbaum, Bill Heenan and Mike Hennessey of the National Booking were there.

Aroused by the unusual developments of booking combines being formed throughout the country, executives in charge of distribution of some of the larger corporations issued statements on Saturday, the general tenor of which was that they would not book to booking combines.

(Continued on Page 2)
Booking Combines

"Wont Book"

(Continued from Page 1)

"At all times each individual theater can feel that its dealings on each production will be free and unhindered by any consideration outside that particular theater's problems."

Even prior to the issuance of this statement, at the very inception of the new system, Mr. Zukor emphasizes the fact that at no time will United Artists make arrangements with booking agencies, circuits, or distributors of the product of United Artists Corp.'s product.

Elmer R. Pearson, sales manager: "We have not taken any action on the matter as yet. We are not in favor of booking combinations of this sort. Our entire plan is based on what these combinations have accomplished in the past."

It appears to us as if there is an attempt to inject the old idea of a company booking picture, that has been discarded by other companies, into the business. We are opposed to the injection of anything in the business that will add to the cost of operation of a business that has practically been operated on a direct producer to exhibitor basis.

Every time there appears an addition of this sort it adds just so much trouble and expense to the operation of the business. These booking agencies are not interested in their health. They want to make money and if they can't extract it from the exhibitor they will extract it from the producer."

Arthur S. Kirkpatrick, vice-president and general manager of the Robertson-Cole Dist. Corp.: "If the national booking is worked on a fair and equitable basis, I think they get off so far as prices for their product is concerned. Once this is established, these men insist that then it will only be a question of time before the one owner will be at the mercy of the booking company."

The attitude of the national distributing organizations operated from New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors. Despite the fact that Zukor and others insist that it is not new to New York, seems to be unequivocally uniform, although there do not seem to have been any conferences between the several distributors.
In the Courts

E. Clarence Jones, a wealthy member of the New York Stock Exchange, who was a partner of the Brady in the New Nethe-sland Theater Co., in the playhouse filed suit in the Supreme Court asking the dissolution of the New Nethe-
sland Theater Co. to the end that a receiver may be appointed for it to order that the theater may be sold. He says he can not recover his money, and Mr. Brady, has already sustained a loss in his in-est through his acts, and can't his stock.

Two suits for $2,500 each on notes have been filed in the Supreme Court the Commonwealth Bank against N. Hall and the Liberty Exchanges, Inc. In one suit, Sidney Chan is joined as a defendant and the other Joseph A. Jacobs is a

The Palace Players Film Corp-which controls the Victor Studio at West 43rd St., in a partition suit of William the City Court against Joseph von Totten and Joseph W.
ley for $2,000 on a note given for $1 month's rent of the third and 4 ferris of the studio building, the defendants have filed a counter-

The suit rent them the two floors
with privilege of re-

Two months with privilege of re-

The suit rent them the two floors
with privilege of re-

High class stu-

"Photoplay" June 1920

After Rights to "Madelaine"

It is understood that Celebrated Authors Society, Joseph Menten and
L. F. Rubenstein, will shortly

The Court of Appeals late last week reversed the order and decided that Harper's was not responsible for the publishing of an indecent story.

The story, if secured, will be used for Madeline Traverse, former Fox

The new contract between National Film and Goldwyn for a series of Capitol Comedies calls for $25 during the year. These are to be dis-

C. A. "Doc" Willat has been made a vice-president of National Film in addition to being gen-

Invin Willat Prod. have leased

L. May Have New Zone

Los Angeles—The City Council
 issued instructions to have

The Cosmos Art Co. wants to

Mats, Electros and Stereos
for the
Motion Picture Trade
T. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereopticons in
N. Y. C.

The big producers know
that the books and plays we sell
are the best, and that we've got

CELEBRATED AUTHORS
SOCIETY
701 7th Ave., N. Y., Phone Bryant 1511

Mrs. Dal Clawson Dies
Mrs. Dal Clawson, wife of Dal
Clawson, the cameraman died on Saturday as a result of an attack of acute indigestion.

The body will be shipped to Hol-

Goldsmithe Leaves for West
Milton M. Goldsmith left for a trip through the Middle West yestday in the interests of the International Exhibitors' Circuit which may take over the assets of the United Picture Theaters.

Neal Birk, former auditor of Uned, is now in Cleveland arranging for the Ohio franchise for the

Willat, Nat'l Film Vice-President
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—C. A. "Doc" Willat has been made a vice-president of National Film in addition to being gen-

Irvin Willat Prod. have leased

L. May Have New Zone
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—The City Council
issued instructions to have

The Cosmos Art Co. wants to

Mats, Electros and Stereos
for the
Motion Picture Trade
T. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereopticons in
N. Y. C.

The big producers know
that the books and plays we sell
are the best, and that we've got

On Broadway

Criterion—“Humorose.”
Capitol—H. B. Warner—“One Hour Before Dawn.”
Rialto—Robert Warwick—“The City of Masks.”
Rivoli—Thomas Meighan—“The Prince Chap.”
Strand—Mildred Harris Chaplin—“The Interior SEX.”
Astor—“Shipwrecked Among Cannibals.”
Broadway—Herbert Rawlinson—“Man and His Woman.”
Lceee’s New York—Today—Hobart Bosworth.
Tuesday—Jack Pickford—“The Double-Dyed Deceiver.”
Wednesday—Edith Storey—“Moon Madness.”
Thursday—Tom Moore—“The Great Accident.”
Friday—Gladys Brockwell—“A Sister to Salome.” Anne Cornwall—“The Girl in the Rain.”
Saturday—Charles Ray—“Homer Comes Home.”
Sunday—“The Best of Luck.”
Brooklyn Strand—Norma Talmadge—“Yes or No?”

Next Week
Criterion—“Humorose.”
Capitol—Rex Beach’s “Going Some.”
Rialto—Not yet determined.
Rivoli—“The World and His Woman.”
Strand—Marshall Neilan’s “Go and Get It.”
Brooklyn Strand—Mildred Harris Chaplin—“The Interior SEX.”

La Carmen Prod. Formed
Los Angeles—La Carmen Prod. have been formed here for the purpose of making a series of six reel features. Dolores Lopez is to furnish six original stories and Claude Butler will direct. Antonio Stanich, who has appeared in grand opera will play leads. Releasing and studio arrangements unknown.

The title of “The Return of Tarzan” has been changed to “The Revenge of Tarzan.”

Bobby Vernon’s chin was razored when this scene for “Kiss Me Caroline” was made. It’s a new Christie two reel Comedy at Educational exchanges.

“Won’t Book”
(Continued from Page 2)
it would have beneficial results in that it would tend to reduce the overhead in operating expense. Our experience, to some extent, with combinations has not been along those lines, however.

“There is considerable danger that by sheer force of bookings controlled we would be compelled to sell our product at such low figures that it would mean a loss of money to producers.”

W. E. Atkinson, general manager of Metro, stated that his company was unalterably opposed to such a proposition.

“We think,” said Mr. Atkinson, “that it is a direct attempt at the replacing of the exchanges. We have turned down all offers to date on such propositions. We have been dealing with the exhibitor direct for the past five years and we see no reason why the exhibitor should not know from us what we want for our pictures. We are opposed to this move.”

At Fox, Herman Robbins was out of town and in his absence no statement could be secured.

Neither W. W. Hodkinson nor John M. Quinn of Vitagraph could be reached on Saturday. John Woody of Realart is ill at home. No one would make any comment in his absence.

Fred Quimby and Ralph Proctor of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., are in Atlantic City over the week-end.

Thelma Percy, sister of Eileen, Fox star is to be featured in “The Star Rover” a Jack London story for Metro. Edward Semon will direct.

10 Per Cent Fee
For Booking Under the Jensen & Von Herberg Independent Exhibitors Plan
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Seattle—Here are some of the plans of the new Independent Exhibitors Corp. organized by Jensen & Von Herberg with 118 theaters in the Pacific Northwest for the purpose of booking pictures. A big entrance fee is charged and 10 per cent is charged on each booking except for First National productions. Contracts are made out in the name of the theater but signed by the corporation. Exhibitors in joining agree that no pictures shall be booked to their theater except through the corporation. The corporation is not bound to buy any picture requested by any exhibitor.

Thought by picture men in the Northwest that the three prime objects of Jensen and Von Herberg in organizing this booking corporation is first to establish a machine against Famous Players, whom they fear will build in Seattle and Portland; second, to sell First National sub-franchises; third, to get films cheaper themselves.

Von Herberg has already disclaimed the last named object, but judging from his past activities film men are inclined to discount his statement, which follows.

In response to various inquiries made at a meeting of the Northwest Film Board of Trade attended by a representative of every film exchange in the Northwest, Von Herberg said: “The policy of Independent Exhibitors Booking Corporation contemplates fair, equitable and profitable business relations with film exchanges. Nothing of an arbitrary nature is intended. No illegal advantages are expected. Harmonious and cooperative methods only will be attempted. It recognizes the fact that the preservation of the best interests will depend largely upon exhibitor willingness to assume all responsibilities. On this basis it desires the support of producing companies.”

Gilbert to Direct Hope Hampton
Los Angeles—Jack Gilbert will direct Hope Hampton in future productions. Gilbert has been Maurice Tourneur’s assistant for some time past.
Miss Hampton will leave for east shortly where she will make a picture and then return to the coast.

Screen Bulletin, Crawford’s Idea
Merritt Crawford, who recently signed as director of publicity for Fox Film has established a weekly newspaper service which he calls Ti Screen Bulletin. Crawford has his offices in the Fitzgerald Bldg.

221 Films Made at Brunton’s
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Los Angeles—At the director’s meeting of the Robert Brunton Studio Inc., a report was submitted showing that 221 pictures were made in the studio in the last two years.

Finish Two Reel Westerns
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
San Antonio—The Shamrock Pictorial Corp., of which P. S. McGin- ley is director general, has completed the first three of a series of two reel westerns featuring W. C. Hackett, Rambabble and Levy. 1493 Broadway, New York, has cured the world’s rights.

4 A WEEK

COMEDYART
In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUS-SCENIC-STORIES
Built by a real artist with the cooperation of the greatest off-roof magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a “Special.” See the “Special” representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION
H. W. Hellman Bldg., LOS ANGELES
Mastbaum Heads

The National Booking Corp., with offices in the Broadway Theater Building, is not ready to make any formal announcement of its plans as yet. A man intimately identified with the company recently told the trade that the National Booking Corp. would be making things easy.

Julius Mastbaum, president of the Stanley Co., is president of National Booking. His New York office will be in the new Bunny. The traditions of the company are expected to be maintained.

Among those who have been interested in National Booking are other principals of the film business. The company has already made some important moves toward making things easy.

The company has already made some important moves toward making things easy.

Pickford Released

Goldwyn Star Relieved from His Contract—Coming East

(Continued on Page 2)

Fox in Serial Field

Will Have One Episode Ready for Every Week of New Season

William Fox has plans for a regular output of serials by the Fox Film Corp. Richard Stanton has very quietly completed “Bride 13,” the first of the serials which will be ready for release Sept. 5.

Fox plans to have an episode of a serial available for every week of the new season. “Bride 13” was the forerunner and the second is now in production.

Goldwyn Back

Praises Betty Compson—24 Pictures Ready for Release

“’I believe that in Betty Compson we have found the greatest star of the screen,” said Samuel Goldwyn just back from the Coast yesterday, made this statement when asked what, in his opinion, was the most important thing happening in the film industry.

“While Miss Compson’s work in ‘The Miracle Man’ was a revelation” he said, “she shows much improvement in her first production for Goldwyn ‘Prisoners of Love’ that it is safe to say she will not only prove one of the greatest surprises of the year, but in my opinion should prove one of the foremost works of the season.”

It was very hard for Mr. Goldwyn to talk about anything else.

The head of Goldwyn said: “Nothing else counts but pictures.”

While on the Coast he saw 24 of the productions which Goldwyn will release during the coming season, 16 of which will be in our exchange by August 1st. The remainder are being cut and edited at present.

“Only one thing will count—good pictures—big pictures, and never mind about anything else.”

Offers Home for Chicago Changes

(Special to WIFD’s DAILY)

Chicago—William S. Furry has purchased the lease on the old Columbia theater property at the northwest corner of North Clark and Kinzie Sts. He has made an offer to the local film exchanges to erect a $1,500,000 exchange building on that site provided the companies enter into long term leases with him.

Under the new city ordinance which went into effect in May each company must store its film in a fireproof vault provided with a separate chimney for each vault. This building proper must be outside of the loop district.

“Very soon,” he is willing to do all this but must first secure long term leases from the tenants.

Brands Offices for Levey Corp.

Harry Levey, after attending a breakfast at Keen’s at which he was the guest of honor of his employees in the Harry Levey Service Corp., left for Cleveland and Chicago last night to arrange for the opening of offices in those two cities.

YOUR Good Printing
Let SOLOMON do it, he’s wise.—Advt.
Mastbaum Heads
(Continued from Page 1)
and several others returned to their homes direct from the seashore. In Atlantic City at the same time were Jules E. Mastbaum of the Stanley Co., Heenan and Hennessey of the New York headquarters of National Booking, and several others.

While nothing is definitely known as to what transpired at the shore it is said that a series of all conferences were held during which plans relative to the new booking organization were discussed.

Rich” to Come Here
One of the interesting incidents of the Natl. Booking plan is to have J. V. Richards, general manager of the Saeager Amusement Co. of New Orleans spend from three to six months in New York in the interest of the new idea. Julian Saenger, head of the firm, it is said to be deeply interested in the National Booking plan. According to the Motion Picture Journal of Dallas “Rich” is to be chairman of the Board of Directors of Asso. First Natl. Pictures.

A Zukor Idea
Just about a year ago when there was talk of a national booking plan, when the Stanley Co. secured offices on 42nd St., there was considerable talk that Adolph Zukor was much interested in the plan. This was probably the result of a statement made by Mr. Zukor when as a guest of B. S. Moss, he attended a dinner of the Vaudeville Managers Protective Asso. at the Plaza, when he said that he hoped to see the picture industry work with the smoothness and facility with which organized vaudeville operated; that he hoped to live to see the day when this happened; that there was no co-operation in the film business, and it was greatly needed, that he would forego his personal ambitions to work to this end.

A year has passed. Some of the plans understood to be behind the Natl. Booking idea are practically those expressed by Mr. Zukor. But the men planning to go ahead on this plan are not what are known as “Zukor men.” Rather the opposite. Mastbaum, who heads the new concern was then and is today, head of the Stanley Co. of America. But his new affiliations are with First National.

Three New District Managers
Samuel Sax, former branch manager of the Indianapolis branch, is district manager of the Central Division embracing Cincinnati, St. Louis and Indianapolis. Arthur S. Hyman has been appointed district manager over Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and Ohio.

Claus C. Ezell is now district manager of all territory south of Washita, D. C. All Select appointments.

No smoke without a fire—and no profits without RITCHLEY POSTERS.

RITCHLEY
LITHO CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y., Phone Chelsea 8988

Here Again

Kerrigan in

“The Green Flame”

A Romance and Mystery Drama of Wide Appeal and Assured Popularity

5 Reels

As a star that climbs the heavens, so J. Warren Kerrigan climbs the heights of popularity through screen dramas of it creating box-office power. Following the success of “Number 99,” the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation now releases the latest Robert Brunton Production—Kerrigan pictures. “The Green Flame,” on July 18.

It is ready for you now, not next September, NOW through Pathé Exchange

W. W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
537 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through patents Exchange, Inc. (in foreign Countries: J. Frank Boulevard, Inc. 700-24, New York)

PROTECTION

The fundamental principle back of every successful business enterprise is insurance. Corporations owe it to their stockholders. Partners owe it to each other. You as an individual owe it to yourself. Do not allow yourself to be lulled into false security. You NEED insurance.

REUBEN SAMUEL INSURANCES

INSURANCE 60 MAIDEN LANE NEW YORK
Phone John 5425—5196—5617—5798

AMERICA’S FINEST LABORATORY

AtoP The Palisades

Hudson River Night Lines

Hudson River Line

N. Y. & A. T. R. Y.

Daily Salings From Pier 31, N. R. & A. (open seven days a week) 6:15 A. M. Sundays and Holidays, 6 P. M. & 9 P. M.
West 122nd St., half hour later

(Daylight saving time)

Due Albany 6 o’clock following morning.

Palisades Film Laboratories
Palisades, N. J.

Hudson Navigation Company
Phone Canal 9000.

The Rivoli attraction next week will be “The World and His Wife,” and not “The World and His Woman” as noted.

Hudson Daily
M AND M

J. D. Williams
Moe Mark

Harry Schwalbe
Nate Gordon

Robert Lieber

and associates of the

FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS CIRCUIT

M AND M

will gross as much as any special picture

you have ever distributed.

Norma Talmadge is good — so is M. and M.
Constance Talmadge is good — so is M. and M.
The Chaplin you get every time a Republican Governor is elected in Georgia — is good

SO IS M. and M.

ASK US ABOUT IT

BOX M. and M.

Care WID'S
Dear [Name],

I hope this letter finds you well. We have an exciting opportunity that we believe you will find appealing. We are looking for a Sales Representative to join our team, and we believe your background and experience make you a strong candidate.

Your responsibilities will include:
- Developing and maintaining relationships with key clients
- Identifying new business opportunities
- Negotiating contracts and closing deals

We are seeking someone with at least two years of experience in a similar role, preferably in the entertainment industry. Proficiency in Excel is required, and experience with CRM software is a plus.

The salary is competitive, and we offer a comprehensive benefits package. If you are interested in this position, please submit your resume and a brief cover letter outlining your qualifications and why you think you are a good fit for this role. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
Booking Fee
Of National at Less Than 5 Per Cent of Rental—Some of the Plans

The information presented below relative to the National Booking Corp. is news information collected from various sources, and is not editorial comment reflecting the views of this publication.

Jules E. Mastbaum, head of the National Booking Corp., was in town yesterday but could not be reached for a statement relative to the plans of the new company.

Some of the plans of the new organization, however, are understood here to be:

1. The arrangement of programs for exhibitors so that they will not be upset or disturbed as to what their bookings will be; aiding independent producers by making liberal allowances to producers who desire to work independently, and who have proven their merit; solidifying the market and protecting realty investments, in other words insuring going businesses against unhealthy opposition; and by buying wholesale rather than retail to give exhibitors the benefit of such purchases.

2. To be better out of relations between exhibitors, with an understanding as to product to be booked; those exhibitors who are to be charged for this service is not definitely known, but it will be below 5.

(Continued from Page 2)

Stanley Invasion Down East?

There was a report in circulation yesterday that the Stanley Co. of America had secured options on a number of existing theaters and others on theater sites in New York State and New England.

Jules Mastbaum of Stanley was in town yesterday from Philadelphia but could not be reached for a statement regarding the report.

Stanley Gets F. P. for 3 Months

The Famous Players offices yesterday stated that the company's production for the first three months of the new season had been booked over the theaters owned by the Stanley Co.

It was quite clearly stated, however, that the theaters for which Stanley books are not included in the contract but only those houses which Stanley owns.

Griffith Stock on Curb

The stock of D. W. Griffith, Inc. was introduced on the curb market yesterday.

One hundred shares changed hands and the prices maintained a steady level throughout the closing of 15.

"Griff's" Stock Plan

Announced to Public—Class A Stock at $15 Per Share

The first detailed announcement of the new D. W. Griffith, Inc., publishing offering were made known yesterday in large-sized advertisements which appeared in a number of morning newspapers.

The Class A stock of which 125,000 shares will be offered is to be sold through Connell & Co., Chicago and Berriton, Conn. and Co., Inc., of New York.

The advertisement reads in part:

"Ferible Assets—The assets acquired by the company will comprise the studio headquarters and equipment of England, arrived in property of a large number of complete productions, and those in process rights to future productions and contracts with distributing companies and with the prominent members of the Griffith organization.

The company acquires a one-fifth interest in the United Artists Corp. which release star pictures including those of D. W. Griffith, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Chaplin, each owning a one-fifth interest.

As shown by the audit of Pricewaterhouse & Co., and the appraisals of the Coats & Barchard Co. an analysis of the ferible assets, excluding the effects of financing, but without giving consideration to value of contract, equities, etc., the company's net tangible assets are $2,944,053.02 or about $23,00 per share, and net current assets equal $4,140 per share of Class A stock.

"Earnings—The gross receipts from pictures produced by the Griffith organization during the period of months and upon completion of the runs, are estimated to exceed $9,200,000, and net earnings will approximate $3,000,000.

The management estimates net earnings for the next 12 months, after Federal taxes, will exceed $1,500,000, equal to over times the Class A preferential dividend.

"Dividends—It is the intention to (Continued from Page 2)

Greenhill Arrives

Greenhill has been touring Japan and is understood to have made the New York visit for the purpose of securing a number of important productions for distribution in Europe.

YOURS Press Books.
Let SOLUMO do it, he's wise. Advet.

"Do you realize that a gorilla can be made into a man with a new brain? I'll make a man of a monkey," he said. —Marshall Neilan's "Go and Get It," a First National attraction. —Adv.

Lab' Solution Near

(Continued)

It seems very likely that the difficulties between the laboratory workers around New York and the owners of the plants regarding an adjustment of the wage scale will be settled without recourse to a strike.

Because of the apparent misunderstanding of the some of the demands made by the Motion Picture Craftsmen.

Local 614 on the part of the manufacturers, the union has invited the manufacturers to attend a meeting tonight at the Astor at 8:30, when the executive board of the union composed of A. M. Corley, L. M. Innes, Ralph Racicot, Pete E. Bralavon and George G. Woodruff, will take over the situation with a view to a final basis of adjustment.

At union headquarters, it was stated that a number of acceptance had been received and that the meeting would probably be well attended.

Besides the laboratory workers there will be present Frank Kirby, of Local 557, (camera man), and Sam Kaplan, president of Local 306 (operators).

Exhibitors Meeting

(Continued from Page 2)

Brandt Serial for Arrow Film

Joe Brandt, in conjunction with Ben Wilson will make a 15 episode serial to be called "Thunderbolt Jack" in which Jack Hoxie will be starred. The serial will be distributed by Arrow Film in the open market.

Production will be at the Berwick studios, Hollywood. Ben Wilson left for California yesterday to get active work under way.
At Broadway Theaters

Strand

The comedy pictures strike the high lights on the Strand, 1122 Broadway. In the latest, "High and Dizzy" and another "Out West Comedy," the New Yorkers will be seeing a lot of local color. Harold Lloyd is the star of "High and Dizzy," while Mabel Normand makes her first appearance on Broadway in "Dumbarton." In "Out West Comedy," the subject is a 36th-year production. "Scheherazade" is to be seen at the Palace. N. Y.

Rivoli

Rivoli—The combination of orchestra, soloists, ensemble and stage pictures are worked out in perfect harmony. The discovery of the opera is the highest, and those who have seen this picture have no need to be anxious about the outcome of the next. The stage pictures are as beautiful as the ballets. The first picture is the Prima Rosa of the Paris Opera in the "Ballet Russe."

Rialto

Rialto—Robert Warwick is still considered of a favorite in Broadway and the "City of Masks." He has a lot of the funniest pictures he has appeared in. The picture is a good one, and the dialogue is in the line of a "Carnival Episode." The picture is well acted, and the dance numbers are well executed. The audience is charmed by the brilliancy and charm of the picture.

Argonaut

The Argonaut—The picture is "Out West Comedy," which is quite an entertaining one. The cast is well selected, and the picture is filled with笑isasms. The picture is a good one, and the audience is charmed by the brilliancy and charm of the picture.

Theatre Royal

The Theatre Royal—The picture is "Out West Comedy," which is quite an entertaining one. The cast is well selected, and the picture is filled with laughasms. The picture is a good one, and the audience is charmed by the brilliancy and charm of the picture.

Capitol

The combination of orchestra, soloists, ensemble and stage pictures are worked out in perfect harmony. The discovery of the opera is the highest, and those who have seen this picture have no need to be anxious about the outcome of the next. The stage pictures are as beautiful as the ballets. The first picture is the Prima Rosa of the Paris Opera in the "Ballet Russe."

Capitol

The combination of orchestra, soloists, ensemble and stage pictures are worked out in perfect harmony. The discovery of the opera is the highest, and those who have seen this picture have no need to be anxious about the outcome of the next. The stage pictures are as beautiful as the ballets. The first picture is the Prima Rosa of the Paris Opera in the "Ballet Russe."
If you assembled your salesmen in New York and showed them

They would all say:

"That's the kind of a picture we can sell"

Nazimova never showed in a better one—Lytell is a good card—so is M. and M., Mr. Loew will book it if some one else distributes it—so you'd better arrange to look at it.

JUST A CARD TO BOX M. and M.
Care WID'S

AND SAY WHAT TIME WE SHOULD BRING THE PRINT
Ed Laemmle Goes West

Ed Laemmle has left for California where he will direct a series of westerns for Universal.

"Griff's" Stock Plan

(Continued from Page 1)

the company to pay dividends of at least $1.50 per share per annum on Class A stock commencing with the first semi-annual dividend on or about Jan. 1, 1921.

"The Motion Picture Industry—Motion pictures are recognized as the most powerful single medium for reaching all classes. The industry is the fifth largest in the United States. Average daily attendance amounts to 11,000,000 people. Motion picture theaters now total 18,000 and 1,200 additional houses are being built in 1920. Box office receipts during 1919 were $800,000,000 and estimated receipts for 1920 are $1,000,000,000. This reflects the accomplishment of a 20-year period."

Free Vacation!

DIRECTORS!! PRODUCERS!!

Why sizzle in New York when you can make your next picture where Swiss scenery invites you, and an up-to-the-minute INDOOR STUDIO may be had for ½ what you pay in New York? ALSO—Expert LABORATORY work, 5 hrs. from the city—chair cars!

PARTICULARS:

JOHN L. RUSSELL, 19 Elm St., Gloversville, N. Y.

Large vault and office space for rent in film building.
Phone, Bryant 1335. Ask for Mr. Barr.

LABORATORY Superintendent, many years experience, desires to associate with concern where quality is essential. Would consider proposition from producer having work handled outside. Familiar with all angles of routine. Best references. Box P-44, Wid's.

Hudson River Night Lines

New York—Albany—Troy

Daily Sailings From Pier 31, N. Y. (at Desbrosses St.) week days, 6 & 7 P. M. Sundays and Holidays, 6 P. M. & 9 P. M. West—132d St., half hour later (Daylight saving time).

Due Albany 9 o'clock following morning, Troy 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West. Express Freight Service. Autos Carried.

Hudson Navigation Company
Phone Canal 9600.

D. N. Schwab Productions offer for

STATE RIGHTS
David Butler in
SITTING ON THE WORLD
117 West 46 St., N. Y. C.

Edison

"The first kind of Animation and Art Titles" 160 West 45th St. Phone, Bryant 3765
Printed in U. S. A. and Europe

Eddie White

High class studio together with Laboratory for sale.

ADDRESS: X. Y. Z.
c/o WID'S

NEGATIVE WANTED
We desire to secure an unreleased negative of five-reel drama of Americanization theme or one in which Americanization could be written.

C. B. PRICE CO., INC.,
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

Says

"Special" motives were ever pure"

IRVIN S. COBB
in the Sat. Eve. Post
July 3rd 1920.

The big producers know
That the books and plays we sell
We own outright.
Big names—advertised values
For vehicles that "catch on"
See us.

CELEBRATED AUTHORS
SOCIETY
701 7th Ave., N. Y. Bryant 15

CONVENIENCE
316 East 48th St.
DOBBS LABORATORY
Murray Hill 4963
Negative Developing
Sample Prints—Titles
Quick Service
Small Studio for Rent

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART
In so much that those who fail to arrange starting dates
NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD—
SCENIC-STORIES
Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S.
Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS
A single reel comedy in a class
by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" repreresenative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES
CORPORATION
H. W. Helmian Bldg.,
LOS ANGELES

"We Never Disappoint"

Cromlow Film Laboratories
INCORPORATED
220 WEST 42ND STREET
NEW YORK

TELEPHONE BRYANT 5576

Allan A. Lowens
Gen. Mgr.
BOOKING SITUATION
On National Basis Far from Settled—
Northwest Not Lined Up

Information from reliable sources is to the effect that the National Booking Corp. plans are far from settled, so far as a national organization is concerned. While the Northwest, under the management of Jensen & Von Herberg seems well set, and the Philadelphia territory is controlled by the Stanley Co., excepting for the New Orleans section (Scudder's) the remainder of the country is yet to be put in shape for this move. A number of sections, including Indiana, Illinois, New England, Minnesota and the Dakotas, North Carolina and Eastern Southern States, New York and several other territories are ready to be worked, but when the remainder of the country will be set for the move is not known.

IN NEW YORK

Whether or not a booking plan could be made effective in New York City was regarded yesterday as questionable by a well posted film man who said there were so many working arrangements between exhibitors and so many chains that he doubted if it would be practicable. The Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce has had no official information from the booking organization as yet, and it was said yesterday by an official of that organization that so far as he knew none of the members had as yet been approached regarding the idea.

McCormick Leaves Circle

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Indianapolis—S. Barrett McCormick, managing director of the Circle theater and reputed as being one of the live wire showmen of the country, has resigned, effective Sunday.

McCormick has accepted a similar post with the Rivoli, Toledo, a new 3,000 seat house, to be operated by Charles Olson and E. G. Sombier in this city. He starts Aug. 15.

Ralph W. Lieber, nephew of Robert Lieber of First National, will succeed McCormick at the Circle.

"Step back, step back," she laughed, but there was fear in her heart at the mad man who was creeping toward her.—Marshall Neilan's "Go and Get It," a First National attraction.—Advt.

PLANS SELL OF ASSETS

Zalkin to Wind Up Affairs of United Theaters and Production Company

Harry Zalkin, receiver for United Picture Theaters of America, Inc., and the United Picture Productions Corp., in the bankruptcy proceeding brought against the two companies by creditors, said yesterday that he had applied to the court for an order of sale and that in about three weeks he expects to dispose of the assets of the two companies and to liquidate their affairs.

Zalkin explained that he had taken this action because in the two months since the bankruptcy suits had been filed against the two companies nothing had been materially done to perfect a reorganization and for that reason he had decided to liquidate the affairs of the two companies.

Milton M. Goldsmith, before he left for the West stated that he had been informed of Mr. Zalkin's action and that it was possible that present United officials would themselves purchase the United assets at the sale.

WILL GO TO COURTS

To Maintain Validity of Charles Ray Contracts, Says Brandt for Theater Owners

The Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce plans to go into the courts to prove that the Charles Ray—First National contracts which they say were signed some months ago are valid.

William Brandt of the organization said yesterday: "We have tried in every way to settle this matter amicably. We are determined to hold Charles Ray and First National to their contracts. It is time to see whether a contract means anything and whether an exhibitor can be as sure of a week of pictures as he signs and pays for." Brandt stated that Arthur S. Kane, Ray's representative and First National had been informed of the proposed action.

At the executive offices of First National no statement could be secured regarding the above matter.
Meeting Postponed

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Boston—Alfred S. Black, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors of America, Inc., stated yesterday: “At the request of many exhibitors who are not in harmony with the methods invoked at the Cleveland convention, and who are anxious that the meeting can be held where it would be more convenient for them to attend, it has been decided to postpone the annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors of America, Inc., called at the Hotel Astor, July 28 and 29, to the Hotel Congress, Chicago, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 31, Sept. 1.”

A. P.'s Staff Rounded Out

Under Oscar A. Price, president, and F. B. Warren, general manager of distribution, the following executive personnel has been installed at the headquarters of Associated Producers in the Godfrey Bldg.: George B. Clifton, comptroller and assistant treasurer. Clifton came from the U. S. Railroad Administration a year ago into the same office with United Artists.

Thomas J. Shanley, auditor, Shanley has been the past four years the New York auditor for Thomas H. Ince.

Paul J. Richrath, purchasing agent. Richrath was originally purchasing agent for Goldwyn, later joining the Hodkinson organization as traffic manager.

Benjamin C. Dubb, advertising art manager. Dubb, formerly art manager of the Tribune Graphic Section, was the first advertising manager of Goldwyn and later with Hodkinson.

Dwight S. Perrin, night news editor of the Tribune, director of exploitation for the distributing company.

Large vault and office space for rent in film building.

Phone, Bryant 1335. Ask for Mr. Barr.

W. M. Camuels.

If

Director ERNEST C. WARDE believes that will interest Kerrigan’s world following more keenly than anything he has hitherto appeared in.

THE GREEN FLAME

You Know It Must Be Good
When Critics Say:—

One of Kerrigan’s Best,—
Exhibitors Trade Review

Plenty of Action, well sustained suspense, adventure and heart interest.—
N. Y. Telegraph

Count The Green Flame a Winner—very entertaining and cleverly handled from all angles.—
Wid’s

You Know He Is Right

NOW YOU KNOW

W. W. HODKINSON CORPORATION

527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through N. Y. Exchange Incorporated
With Doug and Mary in Europe—the Lord knowing when they will return—Chaplin chafing at the bit.
Griffith busy on his new Billion dollar troupe.

In the meantime will be a release Mary and Doug and you and your exchange heads will rave about.

JUST A CARD TO

BOX M and M
Care WID'S
AS TO WHAT TIME YOU WILL LOOK AT IT
Amador in New Company
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Charles Amador, who has appeared in Bull's Eye releases, is to be starred in 26 one reel comedies yearly by the Amador Film Co. just formed here. Judge Barnes, H. J. G. Bruning, James Leek and Fay Harwood are interested.

D. N. Schwab Productions offer for
STATE RIGHTS
David Butler in
SITTING ON THE WORLD
117 West 46 St., N. Y. C.

H. H. VAN LOAN
Recent Releases
Tom Mix in
"The Speed Maniac"
"The Virgin of Stamboul" with
Priscilla Dean
121 West Eulalia Street
Glendale, California
"If it is a Van Loan story it must be good"

N. W. Operators on Strike
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Seattle—The union operators and musicians in all the Jensen and Von Herberg theaters in Seattle, Butte and Yakima have gone on strike in sympathy with the operators and musicians in Tacoma who have been out for two weeks. J. G. Von Herberg in discussing the situation said:
"The operators and musicians in Seattle, Butte and Yakima walked out against the individual inclination of the men. It is a sympathetic strike because the operators in Tacoma suddenly made up their minds they could no longer abide by an agreement which was to have continued until Sept. 1. The strike was called here because we are financially interested in five Tacoma houses which are, however, under the management of H. G. Moore in that city. None of the houses has been closed."

LABORATORY Superintendent, many years experience, desires to associate with concern where quality is essential. Would consider proposition from producer having work handled outside. Familiar with all angles of routine. Best references. Box F-44, Wid's.

Hudson River Night Lines
Daily Sailings From Pier 21, N. Y.
(at Desbrosses St.) week days, 6 & 7 P. M.
Sundays and Holidays 6 P. M. & 9 P. M.
West, 125th St., half hour later
(Daylight saving time).
Due Albany 6 & 9 daily following morning.
Troy 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West.
Express Freight Service. Autos Carried.

Hudson Navigation Company
Phone Canal 9980

Robert A. Sanborn
Adapter of
Over 30 O. Henry Features for Vitagraph
At present with
Universal West Coast Studios
Universal City, California

Photoplayers, Attention
We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the photoplay profession here on the coast. We invite your patronage.

Yours for success,
Bill Richardson

Richardsons
607 West Seventh Street
Los Angeles, California. Phone 64955 or call in person.

There you are old pal. Here comes my little queer. There's my little prince, the heir to the gum estate.

A sketch from one of the new Animated Cartoon Comedies. "The Queer." now appearing on the screens of the leading theaters throughout the country.—Advt.

Plays that are known to Authors who are known to Books known the wide world over in other words
THE STUFF BIG PICTURES ARE MADE OF!
CELEBRATED AUTHORS
SOCIETY
701 7th Ave., N. Y. Bryant 1511

Vick Carter
Engaged by Broadwell

High class studio together with Laboratory for sale.

ADDRESS: X. Y. Z. c/o WID'S

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART
In such demand that there fail to arrange starting a
NOW must forever forfeit its contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD-
SCENIC-STORIES
Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest oof-door magazine and U. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS
A single reel comedy in a cl-by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a charter comedy.
These three weekly releases are a pick of offerings. Every show new a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURE
CORPORATION
H. W. Hellman Bldg., LOS ANGELES
New Booking Circuit

to Life at Dallas Convention

“Griff”

Sydney Cohen Tells Producer of Abrams’ Alleged Unfair Treatment

Complains to “Griff”

Sydney S. Cohen, president of the M. P. Theater Owners of America, under date of July 30 has sent a letter to D. W. Griffith and a member of United Artists complaining of the alleged unfair methods Hiram Abrams uses toward the exhibitors of the country.

Cohen calls Abrams’ attitude “hostile and antagonistic” and refers to the full payment demanded by United Artists for contracts providing for a playing date more than seven days in advance.

Cohen cites the case of Tom Baldwin of Oklahoma City, who it is said contracted for “The Mollycoddle” and “Suds” and only by accident secured there pictures from the United Artists’ Dallas office after he had extensively advertised the productions for July 4. It is charged that Baldwin’s competitor was given the pictures after Baldwin had signed the contracts for them.

Cohen in closing his letter states he hopes Griffith will “act quickly in this matter.”

John Lloyd, speaking for Mr. Griffith at the Mamaroneck studios yesterday, said that as yet no letter had been received from Mr. Cohen.

Hiram Abrams of United Artists said yesterday regarding the Baldwin matter: “I hope Mr. Cohen, as president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, should attempt to discuss a matter on which he is apparently so poorly informed. The entire Baldwin affair is a matter of record. Mr. Baldwin knows just what the circumstances are and our correspondence files show a clean record. Any discussion is out of place.”

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford are London for New York on July 21.

Another Lowo Dividend

Loew’s, Inc., has declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 17.

“Way Down East” Finished

D. W. Griffith has finished his production of “Way Down East,” for which he paid Wm. A. Brady $175,000.

Your Next Insert

Let SOLOMON do it, be’s wise—Advt.
Gen'l M'gr. Named

The Federated Film Exchanges of America, Inc., have appointed W. E. Shalleuberger of Arrow Film general manager. Permanent offices have been opened in New York in Suite No. 402, Candler Bldg.

Federated is after pictures from one to seven and eight reels in length. The officers are: J. L. Friedman, President; Harry Charnas, vice-president; R. S. Friedman, secretary and treasurer; and L. J. Schwartz, manager of Eastern office.

The board of directors in addition to the above consists of Benjamin Amsterdam, Masterpiece Film, Philadelphia; Arthur G. Whyte, Empire State, New York and Harry Charnas, Standard Film, Cleveland.

The members of the purchasing committee are: Harry Charnas, Arthur Whyte, D. G. Chatkin, Benjamin Amsterdam, Harry Lande of the Quality Film, Pittsburgh, R. D. Lewis of Dallas and Sam Werner, United Film Service, St. Louis.

New Booking Circuit

(Continued from Page 1)

able to the house and town. A sum of $10,000 was subscribed on the floor. As many members will be able to procure other independent exhibitors in a town, affiliation being with both the circuit and the association.

The purpose of the association is to have a capital fund with which to buy from exchanges special feature and pay two-thirds the same for the entire circuit, and to provide a fund to finance film supply contracts entered into by the circuit.

Officers were elected as follows: E. T. Peter, Cuer, president; H. H. Elliott, Cosy, vice-pres., and J. L. McGinn, secretary. There will be an executive committee not necessarily an executive committee, nor necessarily a board of directors, but the power of the hands of an executive committee, and also a legislative committee. Resolutions were adopted fairly in line with the Cleveland convention on forms of contracts, deposits, theater operation, etc.

Fred H. Herrington of Pa., was a lion of the convention.

A special contribution of $800 was made to start immediately to organizers to line up other theaters for both organizations, and these organizers will be kept in the field out of present resources of the circuit until the field is fully covered.
Dear Alex Beyfuss of Robertson Cole

You've shown excellent judgment in many of your recent purchases but will easily outstrip any special feature you've ever distributed. It's built for long runs and high prices.

M AND M

Lew Cody Hayakawa Carpentier and all your stars will profit by association with

M AND M

JUST ADDRESS BOX M and M care of WID'S and have Mr. Kirkpatrick and Mr. Cole in your projection room.
Donaldson Prod.

Arthur Donaldson, former character actor with Vitagraph and one of the veterans in the business, has in formation a company to be called Arthur Donaldson Prod., Inc.

The new company will star Donaldson, who will also supervise direction and production. Scandinavian capital is said to be interested in the company.

Pictures will be made in the summer only and stage plays will be concentrated on during the winter months. Evind Eriksen and Louis D. Lyons are interested in the new company. Offices have been established in the Candler Bldg., Room 2001.

Another Meeting Aug. 15

Ivan Abramson stated yesterday that there will be another meeting of independent exchange men held in New York Aug. 15, to talk over the formation of a new national distributing organization.

It is understood that at the Chicago meeting last week a proposition to Aly exchange men with a minute and production is discussed for the new International Exhibitors’ Circuit was formed. International as noted, expects finally to take over the assets of United Pictures and operate along First National lines.

Just what sort of an affiliation this would mean cannot be learned yesterday outside of the fact that the exchange men headed by Herman Eivind of Boston may secure the eight pictures which United holds as assets.

Abramson’s new producing company will be formed as planned but the distributing company is held up until the August meeting.

Schwalbe Buys in Atlantic City

(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

Atlantic City—Harry O. Schwalbe of First National, together with E. S. O’Keefe, present manager of the City Square have purchased that theater from Dr. J. B. Thompson for a reported sum of $20,000. The theater will be extensively renovated.

O’Keefe has also taken a long lease on the Criterion theater here.

Wheeler Returns

“Jack” Wheeler of Kosmik Films, Inc., has returned from California with a print of “The Hope Diamond Mystery,” the company’s new serial.

Hoot Gibson in Features

(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Hoot Gibson, who has been making two real westerns for Universal, will hereafter appear in both full length features and short subjects. He has signed a five year contract.

Reed Signed by Internat’l

Luther Reed has been signed by International Film as a member of the scenario department. Reed was formerly with Metro and Ince.

Proctor Leaves Internat’l

George D. Proctor has left the Capellani unit of International Film. He recently completed the scenario of “The Inside of the Cup” which Capellani directed and which will be released as a special. “Other Men’s Shoes,” “The Fortune Teller” and “Whispers” also bear Proctor’s name as continuity writer.

PHOTO ENGRAVINGS

Delivered when Promised

EGGERS, Inc.

Photo Engraving
1537 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Day and Night Service

“NICK CARTER never wasted any golden moments”--

IRVIN S. COBB
in the Sat. Eve. Post
July 3rd 1920.

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting date NOW must forever forfeit the contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD-
SCENIC-STORIES
Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest out of door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS
A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a “Special.” See the “Special” representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES
CORPORATION
H. W. Hellman Bldg.,
LOS ANGELES

NAME OF THE PUBLIC KNOWS

BY E. W. HORNUNG, AUTHOR OF “RAFFLES”

“THE CROWN JEWELS”

A screen vehicle of startling power, by a writer whose reputation is world-wide

CELEBRATED AUTHORS SOCIETY, 701 7th Ave., N. Y.
Phones—Bryant 1511

WHY BUY UNKOWN STORIES

D. N. Schwab Productions offer for
STATE RIGHTS

David Butler in

“Sitting on the World”

117 W. 46th St., N. Y. C.

NEGA ctIVE WANTED

We desire to secure an unleased negative of five-reel drama of Americanization theme or one in which Americanization could be written.

C. B. PRICE CO., INC.,
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

Title: Stoll Plans 'Changes

BRIEF:

Stoll plans to establish a distributing system in the United States for its product—English determined to break in for Special to WID'S DAILY.

London, Eng.— It is learned here that the Stoll Film Co. Ltd., will establish a system of exchanges in the United States to handle its product. Stoll plans increased production for the new year and to date has had no adequate method of distributing its productions in the United States.

The above dispatch was taken yesterday as being indicative of the determined effort to be made by English producers to secure bookings for their pictures in America. Hepworth, one of the oldest of the English producers, as first published in WID'S DAILY, has formed an American company which may establish its own exchanges while Alliance Film Corp., Ltd. by many to be the most ambitious undertaking yet launched in England so far as production is concerned, will in all likelihood form its own distributing system here to release product for which First National has not contracted.

Exchanges and Exhibitors to Battle

The F. L. M. Club and a number of exhibitors plan to battle all over the picnic grounds at Glennwood, on the Sound today, where a series of athletic contests as well as a ball game will be held.

Harry Buxbaum is chairman of the committee on sports and manager of the exchange men's baseball team. Billy Brandt is captain of the exhibitors' team. Rumor has it that a lot of old grievances against exchanges will be settled at the meet today.

New F. P. Theater for St. Louis

St. Louis—Frederick L. Cornwell, the Famous Players-Missouri Corp., has purchased for Famous Players-Lasky Corp., a quarter of a block, taking up the northwest corner, at 7th and an I. Sts. on which a combination of live and office building will be built. It is estimated the enterprise will cost $4,000,000.

Famous is now erecting a 12 story hotel and theater at Grand and Lucas Aves.

Goulding Sails Monday

Edmund Goulding, who has been directing Herbert Kaufman's Back to the Open, is sailing for Selznick, sails for London on Monday.

135 W. 44th St.—Bryant 5294.—Advt.

Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.

---

Mr. Independent Exhibitor

Have you forgotten how to sight?

It's the same old story told in a different language—but you should know the answer by now—do you?

Are you a Newman or would you prefer to be a janitor?

How are you going to block his monopoly thing?

Tell us why.

See Sunday's editorial.

---

Mr. Independent

Exhibitor

By wire to WID'S DAILY

Los Angeles— It is reported here that there are 200 men employed and at the Bound Brook plant about 250. It is planned to organize two separate local?? which will be affiliated with the I. A. T. S. E. The Jersey City plant operated by Pathe is included in the Local 614 which embraces all of the laboratories in Greater New York.

Hussey Buys Jefferson, Dallas

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

DALLAS—The Hussey-Lynch interests have purchased the Jefferson theater, on Elm St., from the Jefferson Theater Co., for $170,700. They have taken possession.

“Another Flea on the Dog,”

Read Sunday's WID's.—Advt.
Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>75</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do pd.</td>
<td>67</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn's</td>
<td>77</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's Inc.</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit. Pict. Prod.</td>
<td>1.5</td>
<td>1.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do 2nd pd.</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Monday's quotations.

Wednesday's quotations.

New Theaters

Houses Planned

- Baltimore: Horn Amusement Co. $18,000.
- Baltimore: Capitol Theater Co. Capitol, $1,500. Over $200,000.
- Boston: Wm. I. Stobber has bought a site for a theater.
- Seafield, Del. E. Boeding to build.
- Philadelphia: Philadelphia Amuse Co. to build.

St. Louis—Buena Amuse Co., $100,000.

- Knoxville, Tenn.—Signal Amuse Co., $175,000.
- St. John, Canada—F. G. Spencer to build.

Hudaverdi Dead

Edward Hudaverdi, president of the Empire State Engraving Co., engravers to the trade, is dead.

New Release for Special Pictures

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

- Los Angeles—Premier Prod., Inc., have been formed here, backed by Los Angeles capital to make a series of short reel pictures.
- Former District Attorney Woolwine is associated with Alonso L. Bart, Max Richmond and John R. Martin in the new company. Special Pictures Corp. will handle the Premier product.
- Plans under way for Premier's own plant either in Hollywood or Culver City but until that structure is completed production will be at the Long Beach studio used by Special Pictures.

Dazy Sells Story to Bradley

A contract has been signed by the Bradley Features Company, Inc., and Charles P. Dazy, author of "In Old Kentucky," whereby Samuel R. Bradley will produce Dazy’s "The Women Men Love."

Robert W. Frist, president of The Film Market, Inc., acted for Dazy and Benj. W. Reuben for the Bradley Company.

Bronx Theaters Held Up

Two new theaters, one already started and the other planned for the Tremont section of the Bronx, are being held up because of the labor situation.

Fox's new theater on Tremont Ave., between Washington and Park Aves., and directly opposite his Crotona theater will not be started until the Spring of 1921 and the tenants who were forced to move to make way for the new theater are moving back again.

Moss' new house on Tremont and Webster Aves., which has been partly completed has been halted. Fox's Crotona will shortly shut down for two weeks during which time alterations will be made. That will leave a thickly populated section of the Bronx with only one picture theater, the Tremont, at Webster Ave. and 178th St., owned by Sydney Cohen.

Garsson Film at B'way

Bathing girls from "Up in Mary's Attic" will appear in person at the premier showing of the picture at the Broadway Theater commencing Sunday, July 25th.

The length of the showing has not been decided upon.

Frederic Shipman Here

Frederic Shipman and his wife have arrived in New York from England. They have just finished a four year's tour of Australia, New Zealand and the near East.

Faralla Devises Budget System

Dario L. Faralla comptroller of Reart, has devised a budget system of finance for Reart which he states is similar to that used by all large industrial corporations.

Mayberry Goes to Chicago

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis—Cecil Mayberry, Goldwyn manager, who some time ago closed what was termed a record deal for first runs in this city, has been transferred to Chicago. Jack Vel, formerly with Republic in Kansas City, succeeds Mayberry.

Cook Sells Kansas Chain

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Kansas City—Blaine Cook has sold his theaters to S. H. Blair. They are the Perkins, Holton, Kans.; the Victoria, Hiawatha, and the Majestic at Belleville.

---

To Reach a Goal Quickly

Ritchey Letho Corp.

400 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

To reach a goal quickly, run fast and start soon. In other words, demand Ritchey posters insistently and begin at once!

---

Our Policy

We Are Experts

We modestly admit it—but it's the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given us a staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.
M AND M

ASSOCIATED EXHIBITORS Inc.

You certainly need a big feature for your first release

YOU CAN GO WRONG

on another picture

BUT

YOU CAN'T GO WRONG

ON

M AND M

IT'S PERFECT FOR LONG RUNS

AT BIG PRICES

WRITE AND SAY

"Send M and M to our projection room"

BOX M and M

Care Wid's
Portland Colony

Chamber of Commerce Would Induce Film Men to Locate There

Portland, Ore.—According to plans announced by W. H. Crawford, manager of the Department of Industries, concentrated efforts will be made by the Chamber of Commerce to induce motion picture men to erect studios and laboratories in the vicinity.

What seems to be the chief difficulty as far as getting producers to establish themselves here is the fact that there is a lack of studios. The Chamber will make an effort to provide the proper facilities, however, and a representative will visit Los Angeles and other picture centers to convince men prominent in the industry.

E. W. Masters has announced to the Chamber the formation of a local organization with a proposed capitalization of $500,000. Over $100,000 of this, it is claimed, has already been subscribed.

Must Close Houses on Sunday

(Fortune Weekly Magazine)

Findlay, Ohio—After being open on Sunday for two months, motion picture houses have been ordered closed on the Sabbath, as a result of the indictments returned by the Grand Jury against theater managers. Counsel for the managers advised the closing, pending the hearings scheduled to start in the common pleas court.

Annonce Montreal Statistics

Montreal, Canada—According to official records, there are 160 houses here, the amusement tax making the income for them for the year to July $1450,000. Of these 66 are picture houses, which although in the management account for the entire part of the sum. Of the amount collected, about $200,000 will go to hospitals and charity institutions while the remainder will go into the city treasury.

Plans Large Manchester House

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Manchester, N. H.—Abraham Goodside plans the erection of a house costing over $300,000.

Add To Release List

The Photo Products Co. has added to its list of releases, three Alma Hanlon productions as well as two with Irene Fenwick, "The Scarlet Road," an Anna Q. Nilsson film also is listed.

Fox Kansas City Exchange Moves

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Kansas City, Mo.—The local Fox exchange has moved from the third to the ninth floor of the Ozark Building.

Plan Large House

Cleveland.—A house seating 2,000 is planned by Emanuel Mandelbaum, interested in several Ohio houses and also in the Loew Theater Enterprises. He has taken a 99 year lease on the site at St. Clair Ave., and 10th St.

Eisner General Manager

Kansas City, Mo.—A. M. Eisner has been appointed general manager of the Exhibitors Film Co.

To Open Indianapolis Exchange

Indianapolis.—The building at 18-40 Capitol Ave. has been leased by Famous Players to be used as an exchange. C. C. Wallace of Irvington will act as manager.

Large House for Atlanta

Atlanta.—The Metropolitan Co. will erect the Metropolitan at Broad, Luckie and Forsyth St., at a cost of $350,000.

Boost Film Sections

St. Louis.—Co-operating with the exhibitors, the Post Dispatch is urging readers to pay more attention to the film section. Opposition papers are also beginning to fall into line.

Derby Handling Short Subjects

St. Louis.—Short subjects for the Famous Players—Missouri chain are now being booked by "Pep" Derby.

New Chain Formed

Indianapolis.—A $75,000 company is now being organized to build in four Indiana cities. Edward G. Souther, Charles M. Olson, and other local men are interested in the organization.

Says Taxes Hit Business

Montreal.—Exhibitors in many instances claim that since the new taxes have been instituted, business has taken a slump.

New Comedy Series

Pathe will shortly announce a new series of one reel comedies to be produced by Hal Roach.

Stewart at the California

William G. Stewart, formerly in charge of production at the Capitol has been appointed producing manager of the California theater, Los Angeles.

Fox will issue an elaborate press book on "Skirts," Hampton Del Ruth's five reel comedy.

Question No. 18

What are the Export Regulations?

Answer

Wid’s 1920 Year Book Will Tell

Inter-Ocean Issues Export Catalog

An attractive 28 page catalog has just been issued in English, French, Spanish and German by the Inter-Ocean Film Corp. The catalog describes in detail the variety of accessory products controlled by Inter-Ocean.

The catalog has been printed on coated stock and the covers are printed in gold on heavy buff.

New Exchange in Atlanta

Atlanta.—A new state right unit has been born in the South with the home office here. Frank W. Salley, formerly sales manager of Consolidated Film and Supply Co., and D. Tweeggs Roughton, have organized under the name of Frank W. Salley & Co. and their first production is Robert McLaughlin's "The House Without Children."

Robert W. Priest of New York co-operated with Messrs. Salley & Roughton in the formation of their company.

Mortimer M. Flanders has been appointed head of the Photographic Department of the Harry Leroy Service Corp.

In the Courts

A default judgment for $3,000 has been entered in the Supreme Court in a suit of the O. J. Gude Corp. to recover sums alleged to be due for the rental of electric signs. The defendant contended that the contract had been cancelled.

Goldwaite, Tex.—Manager Brown of the Crown has sold half interest in theater to Foster Brim.

Nick Carter can be found at 1115 Brokaw Building Consult him today regarding THE $100,000 KISS

Hudson River Corp.

Daily Sailings From Pier 31, N. R. (at DeKroes St.) week days, 6 & 7 P. M. Sundays and Holidays, 6 P. M. & 9 P. M. West 132nd St. half hour later.

Due Albany 6 o'clock following morning, T. & T. S. Y. 7:15 A. M. Direct rail connections at Albany to all points North, East and West.

Express Freight Service, Auto Carried.

Hudson Navigation Company

Phone Canal 9600.

4 A WEEK

COMEDYART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD—SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between a one reel DAILY and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Holman Bldg.

LOS ANGELES
One of the most powerful dramatic situations ever devised.

It was her reputation or Katie's at stake! The one who remained in the room was forever damned in the eyes of the world!!!

What did Katie do?

The MISFIT WIFE
Featuring ALICE LAKE

Adapted from the successful stage play by JULIE HERNE. Picturized by LOIS ZELLNER & A.P. YOUNGER. Directed by EDWIN MORTIMER.

METRO
THIS photoplay is a warning to girls. It is high-class but the appeal is direct. It conclusively proves all is not gold that glitters beneath an Old World title. It permits women to discover that polish doesn't make the man. The Prince appeared to be all that a man should be. His smartness, gallantry and fine talk were the heroine's only guides. They were very poor guides.

ALICE BRADY

is at her dramatic best in this subject.

REAL ART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Features Reviewed

H. B. Warner in ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN Hampton-Pathe ................................ Page 5
Robert Warwick in THE CITY OF MASKS Paramount-Artcraft ................................. Page 7
Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran in LA LA LUCILLE Universal ............................................. Page 9
William DeMille's THE PRINCE CHAP Paramount-Artcraft ........................................ Page 11
Zena Keefe in THE WOMAN GOD SENT Selznick-Select ........................................ Page 14
Herbert Rawlinson in MAN AND HIS WOMAN Blackton Prod.-Pathé ............................. Page 15
Alma Rubens in THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE Cosmopolitan-Paramount-Artcraft ............. Page 17
Alice Lake in THE MISFIT WIFE Metro ................................................................. Page 19
Pearl White in THE WHITE MOLL Fox Special ......................................................... Page 21
Buck Jones in FIREBRAND TREVISON Fox .............................................................. Page 24
Short Reels .................................................................................................................. Page 23

---

News of the Week in Headlines

Monday

Tuesday

Fox to have regular output of serials.

Jack Pickford released from Goldwyn contract. Will form his own company.

Jules Mastbaum, president of National Booking Corp. Some First National franchise holders interested in plan.

Wednesday

National Booking expected to charge less than 5 per cent of rentals as its booking fee.

D. W. Griffith, Inc., offering 125,000 shares of stock at $15 per share. Issue listed on curb market.

Thursday

Oliver Morosco Productions, Inc., formed with $2,500,000 capital. Will film stage producers' plays.

Harry Zalkin, receiver United Picture Theaters and United Picture Productions Corp., will sell assets of companies and liquidate their affairs.

Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce will go into courts to uphold validity of Charles Ray First National contracts.

M. P. Exhibitors of America, Inc., to meet Aug. 31-Sept. 1 at Hotel Congress, Chicago.

Friday

Texas Exhibitors Assn. formed in Dallas. To be affiliated as booking circuit with exhibitors in Texas.

Sydney Cohen writes D. W. Griffith complaining of "hostile and arrogant" attitude of Hiram Abrams toward exhibitors.

Laboratory situation in Greater New York rapidly approaching a crisis. Special meetings held by N. A. M. P. I. and Laboratory Union.

W. E. Shallenberry appointed general manager of Federated Film Exchanges of America, Inc.

Arthur Donaldson Productions formed.

Saturday

Executives of National Booking Corp. to convene in New York next week to determine upon distribution system.

Stoll of England to establish exchange system throughout the United States.

---

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.
You Control the Business—Just Remember That!

Cut through the bunk! Let's get right down to cases!

We are in the midst of an awful hullabaloo about who is going to control the film business.

Don't let anyone kid you—Mr. Independent Exhibitor—You control it now and if you have sense enough to keep your heads you will continue to control it!

Just keep your shirt on—slide over into some shady spot—sit still a minute—and think a little.

Let's dope the situation out—just as she lays.

Every Fall you hear a terrific lot of noise about booking policies, methods of marketing, etc., etc. If you will stop to consider there is always much more noise about "policy" than anything else and you are told why, how and wherefore with the most important item of all—the actual proven merit of the films to be sold—kept very decidedly in the background.

For several seasons past we have seen these great campaigns on paper swing the bulk of the exhibitors into line.

This year the situation is quite a bit changed in several important particulars—AND SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTANT OF THESE PARTICULARS HAVE NEVER BEEN SET FORTH BY ANY-ONE!

There has been a lot of discussion about who owns some theaters and several groups have between them managed to corral about all the bigger houses—BUT—

Have you heard much discussion about who has the best films—

Have you heard much discussion about the fact that there will be more features on the market this Fall than ever before—

Have you heard much discussion about how many of those films will be good and how many bad—and who will have the good ones—

Well—say, boys—it's time to talk brass tacks about these things—

One prominent member of a producing-distributor-exhibitor group who personally owns a number of theaters said in New York this week that from the days of the General Film Co. down to now that he had never seen anything in a film contract given to an exhibitor to sign which gave the exhibitor anything except the privilege of paying for the films every day and cash in advance at that—

Stop and think a bit, boys—

You are being told to sign this and sign that—Why?

What do you get besides the privilege of paying for the film, cash in advance, and at the distributor's own price?

Why should YOU rush to close your time for the coming season?

Why are the DISTRIBUTORS urging you to rush?

Take a pencil and figure it out—There will be more films offered this year than ever before—the good ones will be more evenly divided among more groups—and say, just think how many films went begging for showings last year—

There is the whole answer right across the table—take a pencil and figure up the product—Note how it is split up and then keep your house wide open to pick the good stuff—Grab the good ones now—to be sure—BUT don't buy anything unless you know just what you are going to get!

Don't sign anything you can't cancel quick when the product is wrong and read any contract offered carefully and then have your lawyer read it—

Be sure you can get out of it as quick as the other fellow could—and particularly do you want to be able to dodge bad films—there will be plenty of them!

The stone age method of trying to tie up all your booking time by selling you chunks of features is being forced to the front again—Why should you fall for it—I ask you—think!

It is true that we have some "menaces" this year—some that have been with us for years—some new ones—some that have been helped into prominence in years gone by through the constant publicity given and fear created through everyone always giving them credit for being much more powerful than they really were or are—
There are some new "menaces" about which little has been said!

It is a fact that several producer-distributor-exhibitor groups between them control most of the BIGGEST houses in the key cities.

BUT—

To get real money out of any film it must play thousands of houses—not just a few key cities—

Here is my point—

There will be plenty of films for you to play—

I believe in giving films that actually make good and prove their merit maximum playing time—that is the only way to encourage fine production—BUT—

The fine films cannot get maximum playing time if you tie yourself up to play a lot of inferior stuff under some block sales policy of bunk selling!

Don't go back to the old grab bag idea of buying the whole hat full in order to win the one big prize—that's a joke.

Give some thought to this—If you hold your booking time open and play the real films for truly long runs you please your clientele and make more money!

Last year proved some surprising things about how long good films can run—

Don't forget that lesson—and remember that this year the good big films will be divided more evenly than ever before—and there will be more of them!

Don't get panicky—

You will have plenty of films to play—

Let the other fellow worry—If he has the goods—You will get together easy—WHEN HE PROVES IT!

Just keep your shirt on—think a bit—don't let them stampede you—the independent exhibitors who must furnish ninety per cent of the booking dates hold the balance of power! That's why such an effort is being made to sign up your playing time!

One big exhibitor after looking over a contract offered him in New York found everything left to the distributor to decide. He said—"Why, you might as well just write on a slip of paper, I agree to play fair with you"—that's all you are telling me in this contract."

That is really the only contract worth while—but—boys—this one wasn't signed because they didn't make it out that way, and if they had—Well, think it over—

What do you get besides the privilege of paying cash in advance for film at the distributor's price?

Just keep your eye on the indicator and keep your booking time open—Sign for nothing but pictures YOU KNOW are right—There will be plenty of them—

The film industry isn't controlled by any producer-distributor—exhibitor group yet, and I'd say prospects just now are pretty bad for octopus fattening—This crowd in New York doesn't trust one another well enough to get together and stay together—

Keep your playing dates open—

Forget booking "policies" and book individual films when you know what you are getting—

Figure out carefully what this season's output will be and where the good ones will come from—You know now that it takes DIRECTORS to make good films—They are well scattered this season—Check them over carefully—

You'll really be surprised at the results!

It's the same old fight, boys—All you need to use is the same old common sense!

Program booking methods have been killed in the past—It can be done again!

There are some new 'menaces' this year worse than any of the past—that's the only difference.

Don't be kidded by camouflage!
A Paramount Artcraft Picture

"Greatest Since 'The Miracle Man'"

That's what they say in Chicago.

Here's a wire just received:

"Congratulations on your wonderful picture 'The Prince Chap.' We played to over fifteen thousand people the first week. Hundreds of favorable comments from audiences. Papers unanimous in praise.

"I consider this the greatest picture since 'The Miracle Man.'"

J. F. GILLESPIE
Manager Orchestra Hall, Chicago.

And the Chicago papers were unanimous. Here, for instance, are a few opinions:

"Not since 'The Miracle Man,' has this house entertained a picture of such strong grip or one so well acted. A great tonic for cynics." Chicago Herald and Examiner.

"It's pretty hard to see a picture like 'The Prince Chap,' and refrain from becoming mawkishly sentimental about it. Besides being an adorable tale, full of humor and pathos, it is exceedingly well acted and produced." Chicago Tribune.

"It has the fascination of glimpses into artists' studios; of a wonderful love story, wonderfully acted; of beautiful and unusual photography." Chicago Evening American.

Thomas Meighan is the Good Luck Star. He proved that in "The Miracle Man," in "Male and Female" and in "Why Change Your Wife?"

Now in "The Prince Chap," he shows more than ever that he brings good luck—and big profits—to exhibitors!

From the play by Edward Peple
Scenario by Olga Printzian.
You'll Look Long Before You Find a Murder Mystery Picture Like This

H. B. Warner in
"ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN"
Hampton—Pathé

DIRECTOR ...................... Henry King
AUTHOR ........................ Mansfield Scott
SCENARIO BY .................... Fred Myton
CAMERAMAN ........................ Victor Milner
AS A WHOLE ...... Splendid murder-mystery story; finely developed and well played.

STORY ...... Develops with ever-increasing suspense and force.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet.

You'll have to search a long while before you find a murder-mystery picture the equal of "One Hour Before Dawn." It's really a splendid picture every way you look at it. The action isn't under way very long before you sense the fact that there is a murder coming. And it is this note of impending tragedy that Director King has sounded in a very subtle fashion again and again before the actual deed takes place. In this way he has caused a rising degree of suspense that reaches its full climax when the unfortunate member of the cast is found dead in his bed. Nor does he permit this well accumulated suspense to slack off or drop after it has reached its height. It is another tribute to his skill that he has kept up the fine pace of the beginning right through until the detective cleverly brings in the solution of the mystery.

The action is compact and swift moving, all of it taking place during an evening and the morning following. There is a house party in the home of the Copelands. Osgood, one of the guests, is a hypnotist and to prove his powers he brings Kirke, a boastful, too talkative member of the party under his influence and succeeds in making a fool of him. Out of his trance, Kirke is furious at Osgood and in a mad moment threatens to kill the hypnotist.

Clayton, a novelist, also a guest of he Copelands, disapproves of Osgood's trick but submits to his hypnotic powers himself. While under the domination of Osgood's mind he is told to kill Kirke one hour before dawn.

During the night Clayton has a peculiarly vivid nightmare in which he sees himself kill Kirke. He awakes in a cold sweat and the next morning is more than nervous when Kirke fails to appear. Then when the butler rushes downstairs to announce that Kirke has been found dead in his bed, Clayton actually believes that his nightmare was reality itself. A detective is made out as a really clever fellow and the course his mind travels is interesting and whets the spectator's appetite for the conclusion still further. Despite Clayton's self-condemnatory actions the detective proves that he was only dreaming after all. All this time suspicion had been cast on Osgood, but there is a fine surprise at the end when Manning, an old enemy of Kirke's, is revealed as the murderer.

There is a wealth of fascinating detail introduced during the closing scenes that keeps the interest running at a high pitch. There is also a slight romantic thread of action introduced that registers very nicely and serves to lend the proper balance to the story.

H. B. Warner plays the role of Clayton in ideal fashion. Frank Leigh is very good as Osgood. Howard Davies plays Kirke with skill and Augustus Phillips registers nicely as Manning. Anna Nilsson provides the love interest, while others are Adele Farrington, Lillian Rich, Dorothy Hagan, Thomas Guise, Ralph McCullough, Edward Burns and Wilton Taylor.

Every Audience Is Ripe For Entertainment of This Sort

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Every audience is ripe for a regular thrilling murder-mystery story and "One Hour Before Dawn" certainly fills the bill with much to spare. It is quite a perfect picture of its kind and you can go the limit in praising it in your best superlatives.

Even the title itself suggests a thriller and these expectations are realized to the letter. Give the title a good display and use some short, simple line following to denote the character and strength of the story.

The star deserves great prominence, for, besides being of considerable popularity, he is one of the most skilled actors on the screen and his work here is further proof of that.
Another Flea on the Dog

The several booking offices or booking combinations that are being discussed or formed are not beneficial and are definitely costly and injurious to you, the Exhibitors of the motion picture industry.

The booking office organizer or manager who tells you that he can obtain for you through his booking office any picture made or distributed by Associated Producers, Inc., cannot make good on his promises.

For itself, regardless of what any other distributing organization or organizations may do, Associated Producers, Inc., will not sell any group of exhibitors through a booking office or agency.

We are not going to recognize the entry of any new middle-man or profit-taker into this business to come between ourselves and our customers.

There are too many parasites in the picture business as it is, and as it has been.

Any man owning a chain of theatres, or a single theatre, can buy our pictures, but no man can buy from us our pictures for theatres that he does not own.

No men are organizing a booking company for any other reason than the intention of making a booking office profit for themselves. You, the Exhibitor, will pay that additional profit unless some distributors have the “guts” to protect you against a new form of parasite.

MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER
MAURICE TOURNEUR - J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.

HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY.
Here's Something Altogether Different From the Average Run

Robert Warwick in
“THE CITY OF MASKS”
Paramount-Ar强大

DIRECTOR ................... Thomas Heffron
AUTHOR .................... George Barr Mc Cutchcheon
SCENARIO BY ............... Walter Woods
CAMERAMAN .................. Karl Brown

AS A WHOLE ...... Author's fantastic handling of commonplace plot and splendid work of director make this highly enjoyable.

STORY ...... In its elements very conventional but treatment makes delightful.

DIRECTION ...... Splendid, particularly fantastical bits and comedy scenes.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Excellent
LIGHTINGS ...................... Fine
CAMERA WORK .................. Very good
STAR ...... Does some fine acting and catches real spirit of author's character.

SUPPORT ..................... Excellent
EXTERIORS ...... Some very realistic snow-storm scenes.

INTERIORS ..................... Very good
DETAIL ...... Great; particularly comedy touches.
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... A romance of those who serve the rich in New York.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 4,708 feet.

Here's a picturization of a story that George Barr Mc Cutchcheon must have written while in a very capricious mood. And it is a very fine picturization of it. Both scenario writer and director adapted themselves to the story's spirit in splendid style. At first you are inclined to wonder what the deuce they are driving at when they introduce Tommy Trotter, the chauffeur, Miss Emsdale, the maid and the poor violinist and the shop-keepers all posing as members of a princess's court just to satisfy their caprices and whims. But after a time, as the story progresses, you become fascinated by it all. It contains the glamour of a fairy tale, a charm that captivates.

Comedy and Whimsy of This Will Certainly Register

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Tommy and Miss Emsdale are members of a set of those who serve the wealthy in New York, who congregate every Wednesday night and play their game of make-believe. Strange enough, the political boss of the city, Mr. Fadden, appears also but he assumes the role of a footman. And he delights in removing the mask of everyday life just as much as do the others, less fortunate in the day's work.

The plot is commonplace when stripped of its whimsy and fantastical touches. It merely relates of the manner in which one, Stuyvesant Smith-Parvis, a wealthy idler endeavored to secure Miss Emsdale for himself, how he plotted to frame-up Tommy when he intervened in the girl's behalf and how Mr. Fadden finally stepped in to frustrate his plans, granting to Tommy the position in the diplomatic service that he had previously marked for Stuyvesant. The romance between Tommy and Miss Emsdale is very prettily developed.

Too much can not be said of Director Heffron's fine touches. Besides catching the proper spirit of the make-believe scenes he has introduced, a wealth of comedy detail that registers as practically sure-fire. And again he has had an unusually large cast to deal with and has handled his work in this line without confusion, the same time giving each of the many performers an opportunity to register a distinct character.

Robert Warwick gives of his best as Tommy Trotter, while Lois Wilson does equally as well as Miss Emsdale. Theodore Kosloff is well cast as the violinist. Edward Jobson is fine as Mr. Fadden and Monte Dumont as Stuyvesant is sufficiently villainous. Others are Robert and Helen Dunbar, Anne Schaefer, Frances Raymond, William Boyd, George Berrell, Snitz Edwards, Richard Cummings and T. E. Duncan.

The production is very satisfactory, the snow storm scenes being highly realistic.

It comes pretty hard to convince others who have not seen "The City of Masks" that it is a good picture. It is so different from the usual run of feature material that your auditor is liable to think you're blowing bubbles while you are talking about it. However, it is this fantastical quality, so elusive it is exceedingly difficult to describe, that makes "The City of Masks" the fine piece of entertainment it is.

Certainly those audiences of intelligence and discrimination who kick pretty hard about the mediocre ones are going to appreciate the difference between the usual run and this. It is this point that should be emphasized in bringing the picture to your clientele's attention—its radical difference from the cut-and-dried.

Robert Warwick does good work here and his name should be given a good display despite the fact that the producers have relegated him to the position of a featured player instead of a star.
FRED WARREN and OSCAR PRICE

If you could be sure of a film as big and pleasing as

M AND M

to start your fall season—all your pre-release troubles would be over

YOU CAN BE SURE

WRITE

BOX M. and M.
Care WID’S

AND THE PRINT WILL FOLLOW PRONTO
Second Lyons-Moran Five Reeler a Riot of Fun Once It Gets Started

Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran in "La La Lucille"
Universal

DIRECTORS .................. Lyons and Moran
AUTHOR ........................ Fred Jackson
SCENARIO BY .................. Phillip Hurn
CAMERAMAN ................... Alfred Gosden
AS A WHOLE ................. A little slow in getting started, but riot of fun that follows is worth waiting for.

STORY ............... Adaptation of musical comedy offers a surprise for those skeptical about such adaptations.

DIRECTION .......... Manouvered comedy bits to the best advantage; works up to a great degree of hilarity.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ........................ O. K.
CAMERA WORK .................. All right.
STARS ............................ Provide much amusement.
SUPPORT ............ Dorothy Wolpert as the janitress offers most of the comedy; generally fine cast.

EXTERIORS ...................... Very few
INTERIORS ......................... Adequate
DETAIL ......................... Satisfactory
CHARACTER OF STORY ....... Husband and wife decide to divorce each other that hubby may inherit Aunt's fortune.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 4,900 feet

The fact that they take a little time to get started and in doing so offer some poor comedy in the way of titles isn't going to worry anybody very much once things get going and the complications "set in."
There's a barrel of fun in "La La Lucille" for those who like riotous comedy.

You won't enjoy the latest Lyons-Moran picture unless you make up your mind to accept it as purely comedy stuff, forgetting all such things as probability and plausibility. If you want to be amused, want to see something that will make you laugh and that doesn't require any effort to follow, you will get what you're after in this. And strange to say it isn't Eddie Lyons nor Lee Moran that provide most of the fun in "La La Lucille." It's. Dorothy Wolpert as Fannie, the janitress, who is hired to play the role of co-respondent in the divorce scheme.

Miss Wolpert is a scream all by herself. Her get-up alone, without appearing ridiculously artificial and "made up," is comedy in itself. She offers the biggest laugh in the production when friend husband traces her to the hotel room where she is to compromise the young husband that he may secure a divorce. "La La Lucille" is one of the so-called "bedroom farces" but if accepted in the proper spirit there is nothing that should cause extreme blushing.

John Smith (Eddie Lyons) inherits two millions but must divorce his former vaudeville performer wife to get it according to auntie's will. Fannie, the jani-tress, accepts ten dollars to go to a certain hotel room with John, thereby providing grounds for Mrs.
Smith's divorce after which the couple will marry.
At the same hotel is Britton Hughes (Lee Moran)
and his wife Peggy, elopers.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady, next in line for the fortune, learn of Smith's plan to secure the money. They put Fannie's husband on the trail and from then on things start going. Fannie rushes into the adjoining bedroom and begs Peggy to help her, whereupon Peggy goes in in time to make it appear to janitor husband that she is Smith's corespondent. There is a general mix-up of husbands and wives and a helter skelter chasrse through the hotel by the husband to find Fanny, in the midst of which Peggy's irate father arrives and is accused of bringing Fanny to the hotel. Eventually everything is cleared and the "dead" aunt arrives to say that it was only a scheme to test the Smiths' love for each other.

Box-Office Doings If They Keep Up This Record

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Here's a good hot weather subject. They won't have to sit up straight and pay strict attention to know what it's all about. All they'll have to do is lean back and prepare to be amused. If they don't enjoy the complications and excitement involving two happily married couples who come so near being unhappy and the episode of Fanny, the janitress in the role of a correspondent, then there's something wrong with them. This is indeed a clever adaptation of farce comedy. Theres nothing startlingly original about "La La Lucille." It's just the fact that it has been skilfully produced and the players get right into the spirit of the thing.

There is no reason why the Lyons-Moran combination can't make a real success of their five reel offerings if they keep up the pace set by "Everything But the Truth" and followed by this one. Play up the star's names and mention the stage connection.
In 14 Years these Savages will be a vanished race - this film, their only record.

CARL LAEMMLE presents

"SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS"

We know two certain things in connection with this authentic and astounding picture—FIRST, that it has greater exploitation possibilities than any other picture of any kind on the market today—and, SECOND, that almost any kind of exploitation that you do will pay you and pay you well. This is because the film backs up everything you can say about it and the people who first see it will boost it for you to the skies. The day after its first showing at the ASTOR Theatre in New York every New York paper said: "See 'SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS.'" In its third week at the ASTOR—one of the hottest weeks of the summer—this picture did as much business as in its first week—the proof that you can go the limit in advertising and publicity matter. Book this marvelous film TODAY and CIRCUS it. You'll make one of the clean-ups of the year.

TODAY and CIRCUS it. You'll make one of the clean-ups of the year.
Very Prettily Handled Romance of Sentiment and Charm

William De Mille's
"THE PRINCE CHAP"
with Thomas Meighan
Paramount-Artcraft

DIRECTOR .................. William De Mille
AUTHOR .................... Edward Peple
SCENARIO BY .............. Olga Printzau
CAMERAMAN ................ Guy Wilky
AS A WHOLE .............. Pretty, appealing and highly sentimental romance.

STORY ...... Solely romance with sure-fire sentimental trimmings—they didn't bring out the comedy of the original at all.

DIRECTION ...... Contributes greatly to story's charm and effectiveness—some splendid touches

PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Excellent
LIGHTINGS ................. Unusually good CAMERA WORK ............. Fine
FEATURED PLAYER ...... Handles stellar part in fine style—wins much sympathy playing with apparent ease in all his scenes.

SUPPORT .................. Very good
EXTERIORS ................. Striking
INTERIORS ................. Excellent
DETAIL ........ Some excellent touches, but Meighan should have shown some effect of time after passing of ten years.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Artist awakens to fact that his ward, whom he has cared for since her childhood, is the only real love in his life.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 6,168 feet

William De Mille has made a very pretty, appealing and highly sentimental romance of Edward Peple's play "The Prince Chap." There may be those, acquainted with the original work and the previous picture adaptation of it, who will look for the comedy that will always be associated with the story. This De Mille has omitted, concentrating altogether on the sentimental side. And certainly no one can deny that he has made a highly delightful picture, one fully able to stand on its own merits.

De Mille has also made this work of his distinctive through a number of unusual touches. His studio exteriors suggesting London on a foggy night are highly effective. The little touch used when the model dies in Peyton's arms and sees his face becoming (in her vision) dimmer and dimmer, finally to disappear altogether, is another that makes the production noteworthy. Considering these fine details it is hard to understand why De Mille permitted Thomas Meighan and Charles Ogle to appear after the passing of ten years with no signs of advancing age.

The story is one of the utmost simplicity. Peyton, an art student in London, agrees to care for Claudia, the young daughter of a model. For a great time the picture is little more than a series of scenes showing Peyton administering to the girl's needs. There is an abundance of pathos and the interest the scenes create is delightfully intimate.

Peyton's American financee doubts his honesty when he tells her that his motive for adopting Claudia was solely charity. She marries another and Peyton considers the light of his life gone out. After ten years the former financee, now a widow, returns to Peyton desiring his love, but he discovers that a change has come over him. And it doesn't take much for him to determine, with a little assistance, that the change is caused by his love for Claudia.

Thomas Meighan, who might just as well be starred here as featured, brings much in the way of personality to the role of Peyton, playing it easily and without exertion. Peaches Jackson, May Giraci and Lila Lee all succeed in bringing out the love of Claudia, at various stages of her existence, for Peyton. Kathryn Williams is the other woman in the artist's life.

A Number of Good Angles For Exploitation Here

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Here's one that has a very extensive and deep appeal and one which will likely play to pleased audiences wherever it is shown. The simple romance, so unusual in its beginning is fraught with any number of pretty little episodes while the pathos of the story is genuine in all its manifestations.

As an advertising bet this is better than the average. Although Thomas Meighan is, in name only, featured in this, his work is of stellar calibre and the role he handles is of stellar quality. Showmen will probably find that it will pay to play this up as his first starring picture. This should attract many.

There is also the name of William De Mille. He is to do a series of "director-productions" for Famous and this is the first. Play it up as such. The name of the picture also deserves considering prominence along with the playright who is favorably known.
A Cowboy by Chance!

He was a matinee idol, beloved by the girls because he was So handsome and looked So heroic. Even a matinee idol will fall for a girl and he did,—hard!

To square himself with the one girl’s chaperone, he told her he had known the damsel in Montana; he furthermore intimated that he had ridden bucking bronchos, killed Indians and everything. And then,—O unkind Fate!

He had to make good on his boasts!

A riotous comedy feature, filled with thrills and the most astonishing surprises; one of the very greatest pictures of the year.

Pathe Distributors
JESSE D. HAMPTON presents

WILLIAM DESMOND

in

A BROADWAY COWBOY

By Byron Morgan
Directed by Joseph J. Franz

Pathé Distributors
Story of a Factory Girl Bucking Crooked is Rather Simple

Zena Keefe in
"THE WOMAN GOD SENT"

Selznick—Select

DIRECTOR ......................... Laurence Trimble
AUTHOR ........................... Sophie Irene Loeb
SCENARIO BY ................... Laurence Trimble
CAMERAMAN ........................ A. Gondolphi
AS A WHOLE ............ Rather conventional picture concerning girl's fight for betterment of factory conditions.

STORY ...... Written by social worker and incorporating many of her ideas but plot seems strangely puerile at times.

DIRECTION ...................... Rather commonplace
PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Satisfactory
LIGHTINGS ........................ Same
CAMERA WORK .................... Fair
STAR .................... Plays with great sincerity and feeling SUPPORT .......................... Good; headed by Joe King
EXTERIORS ........................ Satisfactory
INTERIORS ........................ Realistic generally
DETAIL ......................... Some quite poor
CHARACTER OF STORY .......... Girl factory worker attempting to put child labor bill through state senate is blocked by political boss, who turns out to be her father.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,500 feet

This is the sort of picture that used to come along with great regularity in the old days. It concerns the factory girl who would better the conditions of the working children. Her bill is blocked at the state capitol by a political boss in the pay of a factory owner. But when the showdown arrives, the boss turns out to be the girl's father.

Such material seems to be rather puerile. Certainly Sophie Irene Loeb, whose work along social and civic lines is highly praiseworthy, is not much on picture technique. Her plot here is too simple. It appears that she was expected to write a story of this general outline and didn't bother much regarding anything else but the outline.

Laurence Trimble, who made the scenario and directed, might have dressed the plot up in much better style but he has gone ahead in the production of the story content to let it stand on its bare conventions. Some of his detail is quite poor. A single individual would certainly never go to a state capitol to fight for the passage of a reform bill. Large committees and delegations usually do this work. Again the manner in which he reveals that the crooked boss is really the heroine's father, is rather bald. He might at least have lead up to it with some degree of suspense. The scene is handled here as if it were an after-thought.

They open up introducing Zena Keefe as Margaret, a factory worker without a name she can call her own. Some pretty crude and unreal subtitles are worked in. One comes when a rough neck taunts Margaret saying, "You don't even know who your father was." After an accident has crippled a little boy in the factory, Margaret, imbued with the spirit of Joan of Arc, repairs to the state capitol where she introduces her bill with the assistance of a rich young senator, unafraid of the corrupt bosses. It would seem finally that the boss is to have the upper hand but the discovery of his parentage throws a different light on the matter and Margaret and her champion are successful.

Miss Keefe plays with great sincerity and makes many of her scenes highly effective solely through her individual work. Toward the end, however, she and her support are hampered by a very uneven continuity. The action is choppy and the characters jump around with marvelous speed. Joe King appears as the heroic senator and John P. Wade as the father. Others are Russel Hewitt, William Frederick, William Gudgeon, William Magnier, William Nalley and Duncan Pevrarden.

There is a Big Field for Pictures of This Type; Author's Name Will Help

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

There is a big field for the propaganda picture that would spread social reforms, but it takes more than the average amount of skill to make these pictures. Propaganda is the hardest thing to register convincingly on the screen and certainly a more logical and better dressed story than "The Woman God Sent," is needed to spread the message effectively.

This has an appeal but it is limited to a few scenes. If you want to play it, develop the angle of the factory girl going to the state capitol and bucking crooked politics to put her bill through. This side of the story can be made very interesting.

Also play up Sophie Irene Loeb, the author. She is widely known through her reform work. You ought to stir up considerable interest among women's clubs by using her name.
ROBERTSON-COLE

SPECIAL

MOON MADNESS

An enchantment of the land where the jungle and desert meet.

Haworth Production

A Haworth special—with an all-star cast including Edith Storey, Sam Degrasse, Joseph Swickard, Wallace McDonald, William Courtleigh, Clair McDowell, Frankie Lee and Fred Starr. A production built with lavishness and splendor worthy of the “special” brand.

MOON MADNESS

has for its main theme the romance of youth, the eternal search for love and happiness, and in the development of the plot the spectator’s emotions are played upon as keenly as though he himself were living through the scenes portrayed.
"THE BUTTERFLY MAN" is an intensely interesting story of a social aspirant who through a combination of personality and good looks gains the love of women. Cody's characterization is a novel one, and one which will "draw them in." It is one of the best pictures of the year.

Exhibitors Trade Review

"If your audiences like pictures depicting high society life, you will do an extra big business with "The Butterfly Man."

Motion Picture News
Satisfactory Production and Artistic Efforts Fail to Get Story Over

Herbert Rawlinson in “MAN AND HIS WOMAN”

Blackton Prod.—Pathe

DIRECTOR .................. J. Stuart Blackton
AUTHOR ....................... Shannon Fife
SCENARIO BY .................. Stanley Olmsted
CAMERAMAN .................. William S. Adams

AS A WHOLE ...... Well enough produced with much artistic effort but uninteresting and hackneyed situations.

STORY ...... Highly colored melodrama contains plenty of implausible bits and unconvincing action.

DIRECTION ...... Allowed players, notably the star to overact considerably; otherwise first rate.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ....................... Good
CAMERA WORK ................. Some pretty shots.
STAR ...... Seldom convincing, due mostly to over-acting.

SUPPORT ...... May Mc Avoy, pretty and pleasing;
Eulalie Jensen not suited to her role.

EXTERIORS ................. Many pretty scenes.
INTERIORS ................. Adequate
DETAIL ...... Flowery worded titles don't add to production's attractiveness.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Man who goes down and out through woman's unfaithfulness and is regenerated by the love of another.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 6,000 feet.

Without some very pretty scenic backgrounds and the refreshing appearance of May Mc Avoy, “Man and His Woman” would have little indeed to keep you in your seat. It's about time producers got through rehashing the down-and-upper's regeneration. Photoplay audiences have come to expect and want entertaining pictures. To view five reels of a man sinking to the depths of despair through a woman's faithlessness can hardly prove satisfying for those who go to the theater to be entertained.

True enough, it proves the adage that woman can "make or break" a man. But there will be a goodly number who will not be convinced of the author's intent in the case of “Man and His Woman.” Either the author has exaggerated the character of the man or the fault is directly due to Rawlinson overacting.
He certainly does go through some unbelievable tortures as the disillusioned lover.

Director Blackton has secured some beautiful backgrounds, much too pretty for story. These, together with the sincere efforts of Miss Mc Avoy, help to cover up the story's shortcomings. Also there are some clever photographic bits depicting the hallucinations of Rawlinson after he has become a dope fiend.
His thoughts dance around on the screen in the form of faces of those connected with his broken romance.

Dr. John Worthing (Herbert Rawlinson), sacrifices personal desires by leaving his fiancee and departs for a country invested with the plague that he may try out his newly discovered serum. Claire, believing her sweetheart has died in the far away land, carries on an affair with Hugh Conway, a no-account. At the same time Hugh is promising marriage to Eve Cartier, a young and pretty nurse, who soon discovers Hugh's trickery and escapes from his house.

After a year Worthing returns and surprises Claire.
While he is in Claire's apartment, Conway lets him-selv in with a latchkey. Thereupon, the doctor becomes acquainted with Claire's affair and leaves in a fury. Much footage is given over to showing his downfall. He seeks comfort in opium and later is taken from one of the hop joints a raving maniac.
At the hospital he is recognized by his old friend, Dr.
Elliot, who later sends Worthing to his mountain lodge where Eve Cartier nurses him back to health and falls in love with him.

Villain Conway enlists Claire's aid to break up the new romance, but is drowned while carrying out his scheme. Claire remains appropriately in the background while the camera is focused on the couple.

If They Like This Sort of Stuff Give It to Them

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This won't get over satisfactorily in high class theaters catering to intelligent, present day picture goers. There is nothing inspiring or entertaining in the depiction of other people's trouble. Everyone has enough of his own and doesn't want to even hear about trouble.

If you cater to a meller loving clientele, the dime novel type audience, you can promise them their heart's desire in "Man and His Woman." Tell them:
"While he sacrificed his life to cleanse a plague-infested country, he woman he loved deserted him.
See how the love of a pure, good woman brought him back again after the disillusionment had driven him mad".
PICTURES
The Oldest Established British Newspaper
FOR THE PICTURGOER

GUARANTEED WEEKLY SALE
200,000 Copies

LATEST NEWS, SANEST VIEWS and the PICK OF THE PICTURES

PUBLICITY MEN
Put Pictures on your mailing list for exclusive matter.

Advertise in PICTURES to reach the best type of British Picturegoer.

Published by ODHAMS PRESS, Ltd.
also proprietors of Kinematograph Weekly    Pan
Kinematograph Monthly Record    Passing Show
Kinematograph Year Book    Everywoman
John Bull    London Mail
National News    Ideal Home
Sunday Evening Telegram    Etc. Etc.
Story Concerning Tragic Results of Gossip Given Beautiful Production

"THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE"
With Alma Rubens
Cosmopolitan—Paramount-Artcraft

DIRECTOR .................Robert G. Vignola
AUTHOR ....................Charles Frederic Nirdlinger
SCENARIO BY ...............Frances Marion
CAMERAMAN ................Alfonso Liguori

As a Whole: Beautiful production given story that has tragic results of gossip as its theme. Very well worked out—builds with accumulating force—few cuts needed.

Support: Generally very good; includes Montagu Love, Gaston Glass, Charles Gerard and Pedro de Cordoba.

Exteriors: Some shot in splendid settings. Interiors: Great; Joseph Urban did many of them.

Detail: Good. Character of story: Tragedy caused by gossips.

Length of Production: 6,702 feet.

"The World and His Wife" is the story of the tragedy wrought by gossips who peddle their suspicions as the blackest scandals. This story has been given treatment that for the most part is minute and skillful while the production with which it is invested is little short of splendid. The settings alone, many of them the work of the noted scenic artist, Joseph Urban, are worth a dozen odd kings’ ransoms in these days.

The story is laid in Spain and concerns Don Julian and his wife, Teodora. He is middle aged and she is young. Don Julian has as his protege a young poet, Ernesto, who entertains a great platonic love for Teodora, much to her husband’s delight. But the "world" starts to talk. "Youth to youth," it says and adds, "Don Julian is a blind fool." Don Alvarez, bitterest slanderer of them all, finally arouses Ernesto’s blood and a duel is arranged. Don Julian, realizing that the youth has small chance pitted against the best swordsman of Spain, forces the slanderer into a fight with him.

Don Alvarez is killed and Don Julian mortally wounded. He is taken first to Ernesto’s apartment where Teodora has gone to beg him not to fight. Her presence there confirms the gossip in Don Julian’s eyes. And before his death he takes an ironic delight in torturing the two young people. His last request is that they be turned out in the world alone, and so they go.

The leads of the picture do notable work. Montagu Love as Don Julian, Alma Rubens as Teodora and Gaston Glass as Ernesto have the bulk of the work and perform skilfully. Charles Gerard as Don Alvarez brings his usual fine poise and skill to the role.

Over all there is a finely realistic production, keyed always to the emotions of the race it deals with, artistically set, generally well lighted and splendidly photographed. A tragedy could not have a better setting.
Big Theme and Fine Cast Are Best Bets In Presenting This
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE"
With Alma Rubens
Cosmopolitan—Paramount-Arthcraft

Here's a tragedy, the artistic worth of which bows only to Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." Its production value is immense. Furthermore, the story despite its starkly tragic atmosphere contains elements that will appeal strongly to the public. The terrible effects of gossip as pictured here carry an accumulating force that will strike home with all audiences.

A few cuts in the latter part, chiefly in Mr. Love's scenes of deathbed agony will help immensely. Then you can safely bill this as a great picture. Besides the featured player you have a very popular supporting cast to deal with, all the male leads being well known. Mention also that Joseph Urban, one of the greatest of stage directors, prepared many of the settings.

The tragedy that false gossip results in is your cue in advertising the story. Any number of powerful arguments can be built on this theme and if this end is handled correctly you ought to draw large crowds.

Film-Lore Offers a Real Treat for Originality, Quality, and Theme

BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery, and Science by
ALEXANDRE A. STUART

FILM-LORE PRODUCTIONS CO., Inc.
18-20 WEST 34th STREET NEW YORK CITY

Wid's Daily Binders - $3.00

Invaluable for reference purposes.
This Is Conventional To the Extreme But Has Some Appeal

Alice Lake in
“THE MISFIT WIFE”
Metro

DIRECTOR ............... Edwin Mortimer
AUTHOR .......................... Julie Herne
SCENARIO BY .... Lois Zellner and A. P. Younger
CAMERAMAN ......................... A. Reeves
AS A WHOLE ...... Very conventional “movie” stuff, but others like it have gone over time and again.

STORY ... Cut from very familiar pattern—final “big situation” based altogether on coincidence and loses some of its force.

DIRECTION .................. Very commonplace
PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Fair
LIGHTINGS ........................... Average
CAMERA WORK ....................... Satisfactory
STAR ...... Very appealing here and makes her character the most human of the lot.

SUPPORT ...... Forrest Stanley and Edward Martin good; Loeta Lorraine and Helen Pillsbury pretty poor.

EXTERIORS ...................... A few typically western
INTERIORS ........................... Satisfactory
DETAIL ...... One very poor shot of backdrop containing painted moon.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Rich man marries “below” station, but his wife proves her worth.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,000 feet

Metro certainly dug the play by Julie Herne on which “The Misfit Wife” is based, from off the dusty shelves. It contains very conventional story material, material that has long since been more or less scornfully termed “movie stuff.” That it will register a distinct appeal with certain audiences even as have its many, many predecessors goes without saying, but there is nothing different about this one than the rest. In fact the direction and general treatment of the subject are noticeably commonplace, while there are two players in the cast whose performances only serve to emphasize the weak points of the story.

Alice Lake appears as Katie Malloy, a manicurist who sets up business in a western town, where she meets Peter Crandall, a son of wealth, who has been sent away from home to reform. Soon they are married. A western bad man shoots and wounds Peter in a fit of jealousy. His people are notified and a doctor comes, who sneaks Peter on the train in the dead of night and leaves Katie in the lurch.

She is not to be cheated of her husband, however, and follows him east when she receives a cordial welcome from him, but the cold shoulder and the stoney stare from his mother and sister, Edith. These two, of course, don’t regard Katie as good enough to mix with them and in attempting to register this Helen Pillsbury and Leota Lorraine make the characters quite unreal and ridiculous. Peter’s brother-in-law, Edith’s husband, suggests that Peter go west to his oil fields for a time while Katie is polished up for a society role.

Edith has an affair with her husband’s business partner, McBride, and she selects the night of Peter’s return from the oil fields to visit his apartment. Peter brings evidence of McBride’s dishonesty and hastens to his apartment with his brother-in-law. Katie has followed Edith and the two are trapped there. When a tell-tale coat is discovered in the room, Katie steps out from behind the curtains and takes the blame. Peter, however, believes in her innocence and senses the truth while later Edith explains all to her husband and he forgives.

This final situation loses much of its force here as it is all based on the merest coincidence. About the only one of the old trimmings they left out was the scene in which the villain is beaten up.

Alice Lake makes Katie the most human and appealing character of the picture, while Forrest Stanley is satisfactory as Peter. Edward Martindel is also good as the brother-in-law. Others are Billy Gettinger, Frederic Vroom, Jack Livingston, Jim Blackwell and Graham Pettie.

Star Is Your Best Bet In Advertising This One

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

It doesn’t take any great study to determine the conventionality of this one, yet to the contrary and notwithstanding, it will probably find a field among the smaller houses and those catering to the more unsophisticated. Probably some of those who see it will laugh at the efforts of Peter’s mother and sister to appear “above” Katie and so get some amusement from these scenes that would otherwise be altogether ridiculous.

Alice Lake has considerable talent. She shows it here by making her role stand out as exceedingly human, despite its limitations. She is a coming star without a doubt and you can go the limit on advertising her, confident that she will make good. They’ve given you a pretty good title here also. It would be best to treat the story rather lightly in the advertising for certainly not very many are going to take it seriously.
500 PAGES OF VALUABLE INFORMATION in Wid's 1920 Year Book

EDITORS of NEWSPAPERS EVERYWHERE USE WID'S Year Book

A YEAR IN THE MAKING WID'S 1920 Year Book

THIS SPACE RESERVED for Wid's 1920 Year Book

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOUR COPY OF WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK?

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK $1.00 A COPY

ALL EXECUTIVES READ WID'S Year Book

DIRECTORS CAST FROM WID'S Year Book

An Advertising Opportunity

$ WID'S 1920 Year Book

$ WID'S 1920 Year Book

USED EVERY DAY THROUGHOUT THE COMING YEAR

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK COMING SOON
Pearl White Comes Back In Crook Story By Frank L. Packard

Pearl White in
"THE WHITE MOLL"
Fox Special

DIRECTOR ...................... Harry Millard
AUTHOR ........................ Frank L. Packard
SCENARIO BY .................... E. Lloyd Sheldon
CAMERAMAN ........................ Eddie Wynard

AS A WHOLE ...... Crook melodrama with attempt at spiritual uplift possibilities of which would be better realized by editing.

STORY ..................... Not compact in present state
DIRECTION ........................ Average
PHOTOGRAPHY ..................... Good
LIGHTINGS ...... Some of the night effects too dim
CAMERA WORK .................. Commendable

STAR ...... Wasn't lighted any too well, but plays with vigor and wears a remarkable disguise.
SUPPORT .... Headed by Richard Travers; average
EXTERIORS ...................... Good underworld stuff
INTERIORS ..................... Same for most part.
DETAIL ............................. Good
CHARACTER OF STORY .... Reformed girl crook works for reformation of others.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... 7,699 feet.

"The White Moll," is Pearl White's first feature picture for Fox. Peculiar interest is also attached to it in that it was written by Frank L. Packard, the self-same author of "The Miracle Man." It can not be stated with authority that Packard wrote "The White Moll" after George Tucker made "The Miracle Man," but such might seem to be the case. Not that he has attempted to reincarnate the characters of this first film. The story is altogether different. But there seem to be evidences here and there of endeavor on the part of the author to duplicate the theme, spiritual uplift and regeneration, that formed the groundwork for the other picture.

In this respect, it appears, he has failed. "The White Moll" is crook melodrama and it is strongest when it confines itself to its principal characters and their plainly melodramatic actions. The religious quality striven for doesn't register with force or conviction.

As melodrama "The White Moll" is interesting, and at times thrilling. To say that the interest it creates and the thrills it causes would be happily emphasized if the story had been handled with a greater degree of compactness is putting the case quite mildly. "The White Moll" suffers to a degree from being drawn out into a rather episodic picture. At times those concerned in the production, seem to have lost all sense of continuity. Toward the end there is a series of street battles, the causes and results of which are never clear. Night effects that are too dim also work to the spectator's confusion more than once during the picture's course. It is by far too long.

The story concerns the adventures of Rhoda, called the White Moll because she is a lady who has deserted the crooks and gone straight. The opening scenes reveal her in the act of robbing a church. There is a pistol fight and one of the bullets shatters a breast of the figure on the crucifix. In a vision she sees the head of the Christ move. Thus she reforms and her future activities concern her efforts to reform others, the Sparrow in particular. A love interest develops between the White Moll and the Sparrow, but this is broken before the conclusion and the Pug takes the Sparrow's place in this thread of the story.

Pearl White is energetic and wears a very deceptive disguise in some of her scenes. Richard Travers is the Pug and he too has a wonderful make-up when hobnobbing with the crooks. Others are J. Thornton
Baston, Walter Lewis, William Harvey, Eva Gordon, John Woodford, George Pauncefort, Charles Slattery and John Wade.

This Will Certainly Draw the Star's Admirers
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

There are probably a great many fans that will welcome Pearl White back to the screen and these will flock in considerable numbers to see "The White Moll." They will also be interested in that this is her first feature picture.

It is probable that the Pearl White fans will find much to entertain in this, although with the suggested changes it would make a much better impression. Parts of it now really resemble a serial.
Perhaps these parts were inserted to catch the eye of the serial lovers but they do little more than confuse.

Another advertising bet offered here is Frank Packard's name. Mention that he wrote "The Miracle Man" and you've immediately caught the attention.
WHAT DOES "BROADWAY" MEAN?

Every Release on Broadway
Educational's Releases Seen in Big Houses; Featured in Theatre Display

EDUCATIONAL Films Corporation claims that it has set a new record in that every release of the company to date has been given a showing at one of the leading Broadway motion picture houses. It also calls attention to the fact that practically every picture has been featured in lobby display, electric lights and newspaper advertising.

"We have not been holding showings of our pictures for trade paper review," says a statement from Educational, "because all of them to date have been shown at one of the Broadway theatres, and exhibitors have had the benefits of the reviews where the critics have been more or less unconsciously swayed by the effect of the pictures on the audiences. And since the exhibitor is principally concerned with the audience appeal of the pictures, we believe that such criticisms are worth far more to them in judging their worth."

"This week 'A Fresh Start,' the first of the Mermaid Comedies, is given a prominent position on the bill at the Strand. Manager Jos. Plunkett has called attention to it everywhere one of his newspaper ads calls it a portion of the show. This is unusual in the fact that the Mermaid entirely new picture has no

EXHIBITORS have justly ceased to be impressed by the mere fact that a motion picture that has been shown on Broadway. It has lost meaning because they know that often such showings are merely sales arguments to them.

Every picture released by Educational Films Corporation shown on Broadway is paid for at the price fixed by the sales department. No inducement is offered a Broadway manager that is not offered every manager everywhere—he is invited to book the pictures purely on their merits.

But it does mean something when EVERY release of Educational is shown at the Rialto, or Strand, Rivoli, Capitol or Criterion.

IT does not mean that the Broadway manager is any more qualified to select the subjects that he will show than any other manager. But it does mean that he has had the opportunity to in person, inspect ALL the material in the WHOLE market, much of which he can obtain at his own terms.

When you see EVERY Broadway motion picture theatre playing Educational product, when you see EVERY EDUCATIONAL RELEASE at one or the other Broadway theatres, you can be sure that they have met the quality test in competition with EVERYTHING on the market.

In that, only that, we submit, Broadway does mean something to you.
Some Short Reels

"The Quack Doctor"—Paramount—Mack Sennett
Mack Sennett has hit the comedy bell with a resounding ring in "The Quack Doctor." It is filled to the brim with laughs and there are plenty of gags, one of them as new as it is funny. The gags wind into spasm when a conservitive looking gentleman, losing his balance on the edge of a fountain, falls over and just manages to support himself on a rock in the center of the water. Having this he is unable to get back to land again. Louise Fazenda and the hero arrive and start to talk about the right way to rescue him. They get in some great subtitles here. The hero walks on top of the gentleman in the precarious position, while pondering what to do. He eventually gets over on the rock and lifts the gentleman up. Then the rock starts to move out and the two of them are in the same position—unable to rescue themselves. Eventually, Louise arrives with a board and on this the two gentlemen finally rest themselves. But Louise steps on it too, breaks it and they had a ducking. The manner in which this scene is built up is great. It starts with a laugh and ends with a roar. The rest of the offering is up to standard too, the gags and gags, the chase, the pea-shell gardener, the fun and the business of Billy Armstrong as the quack doctor is good. The hero gets in a lot of laughs on his own. He is the same fellow who has been appearing as the property man in the scenes in Sennett's comedies that have transpired back stage.

"High and Dizzy"—Pathé
Harold Lloyd and his co-workers in the production of his two reel comedies are setting a remarkably high and consistent standard, new evidence of which is given with each successive release of which "High and Dizzy" is the latest. Once again originality marks the various comedy gags introduced through the two reels while during the latter part marvelously thick stuff is introduced that is bound to set any audience gasping and wondering. The action for the most part reveals the antics of Lloyd and a fat pal under the influence of home brew. Drunk comedy has been done time and again and often to tiring effect, but here there is so much that is original and novel introduced and it is all played so well by Lloyd and his associate that the laughs are spontaneous and thick. The business with the side-walk elevator is great and timed to the minute. Such stuff hasn't been seen before in comedy pictures. The thrill comes when the ingenue does a sleep-walking act on the edge of a high hotel building and they are intermingled with laughs when Lloyd, supposedly unaware of what he is doing, follows her around on this narrow edge, the while obviously under the effects of his drinks. When he eventually discovers what he has been doing, his hair stands straight on end. Certainly these latter scenes will have every audience alternately laughing and wondering how the dickens the trick was worked. And after its all over "High and Dizzy," will be chalked up as another Lloyd winner.

"The Third Eye"—No. 9 Pathé
The best bit in the ninth episode of "The Third Eye," featuring Eileen Percy and Warner Oland, is the race for life. The chase, while often in various western settings, has been splendidly photographed that it will be sure to offer a real thrill for the serial lovers. There is also some good fight stuff aboard the top of a moving freight train in the midst of which Oland jumps from the train into a river as it goes over a bridge, thereby bringing the hero and heroine together again.

"The Unconventional Maid Greenwood"—Pathé
The latest of Mrs. Sidney Drew's two reel comedies is a bright little piece of domestic happiness with the surprising situation of a wife understanding her husband and believing in him to the extent of visiting the young lady who kept him from being "lonely" while she was away. The offering has been pleasingly produced and contains some spirited comedy bits that will satisfy those who like good, straight comedy stuff. John Cumberland as the husband, handles the situation very nicely, and is so confused when his wife is not furious about his little "affair," that he vows he loves her so much she'll have to chloroform him. Mrs. Drew directed.

Pathé Review No. 61
The colored supplement of this review consists of the Wonder Road of France, a winding road along the edge of a cliff. An automobile is shown traveling the road. The process of cod fishing, from the catching to packing is shown in an interesting series of pictures. The Novographs or slow motion pictures show the maneuvers of a tumbler as he appears to the eye and then slowed down eight times to show details of work. Ditmar's uncommon photographs at the Zoological gardens. Agnes Hunter in a Babylonian Sun dance closes the review.

"Tex of the Timberlands"—Graphilm Corp.—Pathé
The first of the series of Yung Buffalo pictures is presented under the title of "Tex of the Timberlands." Philip Yale Drew, hailed as Buffalo Bill's successor, is the hero of the western series produced by Graphilm for Pathe. The new release. The first of the series deals with Young Buffalo's adventures in a lumber camp. He builds a small cabin for himself and believes himself alone in the mountain until he sees a young girl. He goes to her rescue when she sprains her ankle. It happens that she owns a large lumber camp on the other side of the mountain. Buffalo accepts a job at the camp but his fellow workers cause him to receive an injury while at work, because he has discovered that they are stealing some of the lumber. Another attempt to get rid of Buffalo is foiled when the foreman puts the police on Buffalo's trail and it turns out that it is the foreman they are after. There is a slight romance between the girl and Buffalo. Some pretty shots of a lumber camp at work are attractive. Interesting two reel out-of-door subject.

Our Turn to Lose”—Universal
An altruistic theme has been followed out in this two reeler of the region of gun-fights, horse stealing, cattle rustling, crooked card games, in the Far West. Leo Maloney plays the principal role and is supported by Fred Kohler, Lois Neilson, Jack Sahr and a few others of lesser importance. The first named is a ranger on this occasion, and after seeing his friend shot by a duo of evil-doers, he engages in a fight with the unsympathetic gentry. Maloney routs them, but is not victorious until he and Kohler have engaged in quite a lively host at close range. The latter attempts to wrest a gun from the hero's grasp with some such plan as ramming it down his gizzard (title writers please notice), but Maloney does some ramming himself and is soon seen gazing upon the prostrate form of the unmasked villain. The reward and credit are not claimed by the conqueror, however, he seeing to it that the 'goil' gets the former, while his brother, deceased, receives the latter. And then they tell you in a title that Leo intends to come back some day. Louis D. Lighton wrote the story. Hope Loring the scenario and Maloney is credited with producing it.

Bray Pictograph, No. 445—Goldwyn
Closing this Bray reel is a "Jerry on the Job" cartoon called "Quick Change," a well drawn bit built about a hair lady. It winds up in acceptable fashion but is otherwise a very commonplace screen magazine—one below the usual high standard maintained in the series. Opening is a part about a man and woman going through a band-box and struggle and some footage dealing with camping life follows. Thereafter, comes an interesting section dealing with fingerprints. This and the cartoon will probably save this, but they can hardly make it go over with a resounding bang.
Cowboy Star Appears In Typical Western That's Sure To Please

Buck Jones in
"FIREBRAND TREVISON"
Fox
DIRECTOR ..................... Thomas N. Heffron
AUTHOR ...................... Charles Alden Seltzer
SCENARIO BY .................. Denison Clift
CAMERAMAN .................. Vernon Walker
AS A WHOLE ............ Typical western stuff but well handled from every angle while star shows to fine advantage.

STORY ........ Nothing greatly out of the ordinary, but it hits on high with its thrills from first to last.

DIRECTION ................ Very satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Very good
LIGHTINGS .................... Good
CAMERA WORK ................ Very good

STAR .......... Registers a very pleasing personality

SUPPORT ........... Winifred Westover satisfactory

EXTERIORS ............ Fine western stuff
INTERIORS ............. Typical

DETAIL ........ One or two minor slips in direction but these don't hurt.

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Ranch owner defeats effort of land grabber to defraud him

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

In many respects this is a typical western feature. Its story is interesting what with the eternal battle between hero and villain, and it is the usual sort of story to be found furnishing the ground work for the majority of westerns. And it has a number of good thrills, to say nothing of the usual trick riding and the like.

Typical though it is in these respects, "Firebrand Trevison" goes many of its contemporaries several points better because of the admirable treatment it has received from Director Heffron. He keeps the action going at a fine clip throughout and wastes no time getting into his story. Once in it he isn't inclined to let the interest drop by turning his attention to unnecessary details.

Buck Jones has a very pleasing personality, rides as if born in the saddle and registers the simple emotions demanded of him in no uncertain style. He is the personification of vigor and good health and exudes a clean, honest personality from tip to toe which counts wonders in his favor.

They get right into a thrill at the start when Corrigan, a land grabber, forces Trevison (Buck Jones), into a fight with him to avenge an alleged insult. The fight is a humdinger. The two men mix in realistically and smash up a perfectly good setting.

This is merely the start of the feud between Trevison and Corrigan which doesn't end until the five reels of the picture are spent. Added to the fight over the land there is the fight for Rosalind, daughter of railroad president and Trevison wins out here too as is to be expected.

Besides giving some fine exhibitions of trick riding the star takes a thrilling tumble down hill after being pitched from his horse, who also turns a few somersaults before he can regain his balance, rides across a river on a cable, swings over from a tree to the court-house via a rope, throws the heavy-weight villain about the room like a bag of feathers and in addition sends his partner in crime sailing through a window glass. Quite an array of stunts for a single feature.

Winifred Westover appears as Rosalind and gives a good account of herself, Stanton Heck's Corrigan is very old style and is likely to draw the hisses of the populace. Others are Martha Mattox, Katherine Van Buren, Frank Clark, Joe Ray, Pat Harman and Fong Hong.

You Won't Have Any Trouble With This One—It's There

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

If they keep on giving Buck Jones this sort of pictures he'll soon be up around the top rung of the stellar ladder with audiences who prefer the western pictures. He certainly cuts a very fine figure in this one and in addition, the director has helped him out with a very good production of an interesting story. You can't ask for more than this.

If Buck Jones is going to be one of your regulars you can certainly afford to advertise and publicize him to the limit. Feature also the thrills of the picture. These always attract the lovers of western melodrama and the thrills in this one aren't at all mean.

Use a line such as "A western with the usual number of thrills and then some. Buck Jones, the new cowboy star, stops at nothing. You'll believe that too after seeing his latest." You might give some prominence to the author, also as his western stories are well known.
COMING—RALPH CONNOR PRODUCTIONS!

"Words cannot express the great joy that is mine in being given this opportunity to strengthen, broaden, and in part, recreate the characters of my books to meet the demands of the screen.

The leavening influences of the world's greatest drama so vividly impressed upon me during four years at the French Front, cannot fail to show in a quickening action and compelling appeal in these heart stories of my Northland."

(Signed)
Ralph Connor

RALPH CONNOR
(Major the Rev. Chas. W. Gordon, D. D.)

"Ralph Connor has given us every latitude in adapting his stories so that they may be made to tower as cinema masterpieces.

In addition thereto we have every resource of the Northland,—of civic and military government,—and of finances to the end that these big sweeping and diversified stories of this world—recognized author will be honestly and realistically made each in its own natural environment."

The Dominion Film Company, Inc.

12 in all

"The Foreigner"  "The Major"
"Black Rock" "Cameron of the Royal Mounted"
"The Sky Pilot"  "The Prospector"
"The Man From Glengarry"
"The Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail"

etc. etc. etc.

Ernest Shipman
President
Dominion Film Co., Inc.

6 West 48th Street New York, N. Y.
MABEL NORMAND
in
The Slim Princess

They Weighed Beauty by the Pound

Fat! Tons and tons of it.

Bumping, wheezing, bouncing about the harem of the ruler of Morovenia in the shape of dozens of enormous women!

The little Princess Kalora was a violet in a garden of peonies. But in the eyes of the Morovenian lounge lizards she didn't have a chance—and never would until the day when she could boast of at least three chins.

The adorable Mabel Normand plays the irrepressible Princess in this picture made from George Ade's funniest comedy. It is a splendid box-office bracer for the warm months.

GOLDFYN PICTURES CORPORATION
A.F. of L. Marks Time

Executive Council Will Act on Resolution Denouncing Films at Meeting in August

(Special to W.D.S. DAILY)

Washington—The American Federation of Labor plans no further action under the resolution adopted at the Montreal convention and dealing with the motion picture screen, until the meeting of the executive council.

The council, represented by S. Bradstreet of W.D.S. DAILY in Washington, said the federation pointed out that the resolution taken at the Montreal convention condemned film industry practices but that at that time the council had not had a chance to consider the motion picture situation, and that it was then decided that the council take cognizance of the situation and file protests with the leading producers, distributors and exhibitors, who in turn might make recommendations to their employers.

The council will meet in Atlantic City Aug. 2, and it is quite probable that attention will be given to this matter at that time. It is expected that they will have a great many things to act upon, covered by various resolutions adopted by the Montreal convention in addition to routine work.

The delegates at Montreal charged that their resolution that “the motion picture screen, with such wonderful possibilities, truthful and artistic, is being used to put money first and to make the movie industry as an instrument of misrepresentation in the America-wide campaign against labor and labor organizations, is all of which is evident in both news and feature pictures. Large open meetings of union men or strikers are shown as hoodlums, and their cause is being ridiculed and falsified to all of which labor is without proper answering means.”

Mr. Morrison stated that nothing the executive council had taken up could be done in Washington until later.

Dissent over Hart’s Profits

(Los Angeles—J. Parker Read, Jr., who has brought suit against William J. Hart for $43,300 claims that Hart made a profit of $643,000 as a result of a contract which Read says he secured for Hart. The latter claims that his profits did not exceed $58,250 and that this was not the result of any contract that Read secured for him.

An interesting angle on the testimony brought out at the hearing is the fact that it is alleged Hart and his associates expected to earn a profit of $30,000 in two years as a result of the Artefact contract.

Investigating Co-operative Plans

A special committee of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce will report at to-morrow’s meeting on the new First National sub-franchise plan as well as that of National Picture Theaters.

The plans are being analyzed with the aid of legal advisors, since the exhibitors say the contracts are too voluminous to fathom without the help of attorneys.

Weiss Suing City of Chicago

(Special to W.D.S. DAILY)

Chicago—Harry Weiss, of the Superior Screen Service, Inc., has filed suit against the City of Chicago to restrain the city officials from forcing film exchanges to seek new locations under the new city ordinance.

Judge Foel has granted a temporary injunction against the new law, providing that by Nov. 1 the exchanges must show evidence that they have attempted to secure new quarters and have been unsuccessful.

Charged With Violation of Law

(Los Angeles—Eric von Stroheim, C. J. Rogers, an assistant, and John Froloch, a cameraman, together with C. E. Riley and Julius Gold of the Riley and Moore Engraving Co., were served with warrants on Tuesday sworn to by Secret Service Agent George W. Hazen. The latter charges that a violation of the Federal law which prohibits the re-production of money of a friendly nation even though it be used only as stage money.

Stroheim is working on “Foolish Wives” for Universal.

New Studio for Frisco

(Special to W.D.S. DAILY)

It is purely a personal venture on their part.

Urges Speedy Action

I. A. T. S. E. Head Writes Nat’l Assn. on Laboratory Situation

—Hints at National Move

James Lemke, newly elected president of the National Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and M. P. Operators of U. S. and Canada, under date of July 15 has sent a letter to Frederick Elliott of the National Association in which he hints that unless the association takes heed of the demands of the M. P. Crafts, Local 614, which six weeks ago forwarded a scale for wage increases to the International Alliance will take action as a national movement.

The International includes operators, cameramen and laboratory workers.

Lemke states in his letter that he has read a review of the entire matter as submitted by the union and is convinced that the craftsmen are entirely right in the matter. He further states that as a regularly affiliated branch of the I. A. T. S. E. the Craftsman are entitled to the support of the International Alliance which the latter proposes to give.

At the meeting of the union held in Bryant Hall, Saturday afternoon it was unanimously voted that unless the manufacturers come to the demands of the union by six o’clock tonight, all union employees will go out on strike.

The union claims a membership of 2,046 in New York City, while the total number of workers is placed at 2,600.

The I. A. T. S. E. will support the laboratory workers as a national body.

“Panthea” to Be Reissued

Select will reissue “Panthea,” a Norma Talmadge subject. Release date is Aug. 2.

Proctor Resigns

Ralph Proctor has resigned as assistant general manager of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., effective Aug. 1st. Mr. Proctor states that his future plans are not as yet clearly defined and an announcement of his resignation was made for a few days.

It is rumored in film circles that he will open New York offices for several independent producers.

Let Solomon Do It, He’s Wise

135 W. 44th St.—(Bryant 3234).—Advt.
On Broadway

Coast Brevities

(Special to WID'S DAILY) Hollywood—Having completed "The Chorus Girl's Romance," with Viola Dana, Wm. C. Dowlan, the director, has taken a vacation.

Hobart Bosworth has commenced work on his third J. Parker Read, Jr., production, under direction of Rowland Lee. "Fate's Honeymoon," in the tentative title.

The Louise Glau ma company, filming "The Leopard Woman," has started for a desert location.

The negative of the Dial Film's "The Tiger's Coat," featuring Myrtle Stedman, has been shipped East.

Joseph Urban has arrived at the Bruston Studios to design a number of sets for Marion Davies' latest production "Buried Treasure."

Amos Myers will be the supervising art director for "The Four Men of the Apocalypse," a Metro special. Junc Mathis is busily engaged adapting the story.

Edward Kull has begun work on "The Queen of Diamonds," the Universal serial starring Eileen Sedgwick.

Fischer Again Elected Minneapolis—At a meeting of the Film Board of Trade, A. H. Fischer was re-elected president for another term.

Meyers Heads Change Body Omaha—Sidney Meyers, manager of the Fox Film exchange, has been elected president of the Film Board of Trade.

Sunday Shows Barred Spring Lake, N. J.—Sunday shows have been barred here. C. Ritz, manager of the Ritz appealed but lost out.

Lynn Company Re-organized Lynn, Mass.—Shelburne, Inc., which plans the erection of a theater on Swampscott Blvd., has gone through some sort of a reorganization.

The company will now erect a four-story apartment house and theater combined. There is some opposition to the building of a theater.

New Company Chartered Albany.—The N'Gino Publishing Co. of Manhattan, has been incorporated to operate the Roxy theater. The capital is fixed at $50,000 and will begin business with $30,000. Its objectives are, engage in the motion picture picture and publishing business.

Fox Exchange for Albany—(Special to WID'S DAILY) Albany.—The Fox Film Corp, will open its new Albany exchange about Aug. 1. The Albany district was formerly supplied with film from Buffalo, but the new branch will supply the district from Utica to Poughkeepsie and from the Canadian line to Binghamton.

Fox is having installed a miniature theater for the purpose of holding first showings of new pictures.

The branch will employ 30 persons. Winfield R. Sheehan will come to Albany to participate in the formal opening of the branch offices.

New Houses for Lillian Amusement granite city, Ill.—The Lillian Amusement Co., operating the Washington and Garden theaters here has taken over the Ritz theater. It will be remodeled and opened Sept. 1.

Louis Landau is manager.

The exhibitor who just makes his expenses is furnishing the feathers for another's nest. His surplus profits will only come through use of RITCHIEY posters.

RITCHIEY LITHO CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

Mats, Electro's and Stereos for the Motion Picture Trade I. Rubin & Co., 23 E. 4th St., N. Y. Phones Spring 8303-8304 The fastest stereotypes in N. Y. C.
AND

MEANS

MADONNAS

AND

MEN

100 percent Drama
100 percent Punch
100 percent Lavishness
100 percent Box Office Value

Conditions of release will be announced in the next few days

JANS PICTURES Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City
$10,000,000 in L. A. Theaters

Los Angeles—It is estimated that $10,000,000 either has been or will be invested in new theaters planned for this city and Hollywood. This covers actual building only. The new houses include the new Loew theater at 7th and Broadway, the Pantages theater, the new Grauman house for 6th and Hill Sts. Sol Lesser’s new theater new Orpheum theater, and in Hollywood one each for Grauman and Lesser.

The majority of these houses are film theaters.

Bertram Heads Chicago Lab. Union

Chicago—Edward Bertram of the Rothacker plant has been elected president of the Motion Picture Craftsmen, Local 630. He succeeds Sam Lucas, former president of this branch of the laboratory workers who are affiliated with the I. A. T. S. E., and the American Federation of Labor.

Christie makes Fay Tincher a vamp in this scene in “A Seaside Siren.” A new Christie two-reel comedy at Educational Exchanges.—Advt.

Carewe Coming to New York

Edwin Carewe is expected in New York in about two weeks. He is now in California.

MEET ME
SUNDAY NIGHT
FOLLOW THE CROWDS

Nick Carter can be found at 1115 Brokaw Building Consult him today regarding "THE $100,000 KISS"

The Greatest Problem
"HERITAGE"

LLOYD B. CARLETON
Producing Director
Lloyd Carleton Productions

Next Picture
"BEYOND THE CROSS ROADS" by Bradley King
Holding Up Booking

Reported Several Large Exhibitors Identified With First National Are Withholding Season's Contracts

Reports reaching New York yesterday from several out of town points where big first run houses are operated by franchise holders of First National were to the effect that bookings for the coming season were being withheld, and would be for the next 60 or 90 days.

According to these reports the purpose of this move is to allow the National Booking Corp., to book productions other than the six which First National will have, and also to possibly break the market so far as prices from producers generally is concerned.

Officials connected with several of the larger companies said yesterday that if this plan was to be carried out by the larger first run exhibitors identified with First National that "two could play at that game" and that measures of a retaliatory nature might be adopted.

Arliss In Pictures

Los Angeles—It is reported here that A. J. Callaghan, who has in the Bioscope Love prod., and others, has signed up George Arliss to be featured in "The Devil" for First National release.

Callaghan is stopping at the Biltmore, but could not be reached yesterday for a statement regarding the above report.

Nothing was known of the report at First National.

Edwards Back in Town

J. Gordon Edwards, of the Fox organization has returned from the Coast.

Franklin Here

Harold B. Franklin of Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo, together with Mike Shea, is in town.

Remember that in the past you have had your time tied up by announcements which promised a definite quantity and quality of product? Did they make good? They did not! What are you going to do about it this year—Hold your playing time open.

Ray Prices Hold

As the result of a conference held yesterday at First National offices between executives of that organization, and of the Chamber of Commerce, it is understood that the original contracts for the Charles Ray series were accepted, and the proposed new contracts at a higher rate were rejected.

Moses With Fox

Vivian M. Moses, one of the best known men in the publicity field, has assumed direction of the publicity and advertising departments of Fox Film.

Small's Body Found

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—A body discovered floating in the Niagara River is believed by the authorities to be that of Ambrose J. Small, the Toronto theatrical magnate who disappeared some months ago.

Read Loses Out

Los Angeles—J. Parker Read, Jr., has lost out in his suit for $64,300 which he sought to secure from William S. Hart for the alleged negotiation of Hart's Artcraft contract.

The court discovered that at the time Read negotiated the Hart contract he also closed with the same distributors, Ince and Hart, a contract which gave the distributor three star series, two of whom were Enid Bennett and Charles Ray.

The court ascertained that these contracts were all signed on the same day and that negotiations were carried on for all three at the same time. On this ground, therefore it was held that Read could not recover anything from Hart.

Read will appeal the case.

Strike On

In Many Laboratories—Some Settle Strike Order Calls for Effect Today

At six o'clock yesterday it was announced by leaders of the Laboratory strike that effective with this morning a walk out would take place at the following laboratories: Biograph, Republic, Kessel, Palsades, Famous Players, Paragon, Fox, Universal, Erbograph, Craftsman, Pathé, Eclipse and Evans plants.

It was announced at union headquarters yesterday that the following firms had settled: Dietz, Ass, Screen News, where prints for the various news weeklies are made; Tronalone, Rex and Tremont.

In stating his side of controversy, Mr. Woodruff emphasized that the Motion Picture Craftsmen has not made any demands, "All that we originally requested was the right to bargain with the producers as an organization," he said, "in an effort to bring about a more equitable condition throughout the laboratories. Our attempts to communicate with them have been disregarded, however, and our organization ignored. Later the producers named a committee which was to arbitrate with our executive committee, but nothing was accomplished because their representatives could not agree among themselves. As a last resort we have been obliged to resort to a walk-out, which at present is only a local matter. In event of our not being able to settle it locally, however, we shall make a national issue of it."

About 2,100 men are involved in the strike according to Woodruff, who further declared that the keen competition among the producers was largely the cause of present laboratory conditions. "There is no uniformity in the wage scale whatsoever," he declared, "the prices for negative developers, for example, ranging from $28 a week to $150. We have many of these who are almost equally competent, yet there is this ridiculous contrast in the rates."

"In all other industries," he continued, "we have increased ordinarily to meet the cost of living, whereas, the pay given laboratory employees has increased barely 2 per cent, during the last four years, working conditions generally are poor, showing scarcely any improvement during that same period."

YOUR Good Printing
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.—Advt.
Ostrich Company to Go West

The remainder of Muriel Ostrich comedies will be produced on the West Coast by Muriel Ostrich, who, according to plans made by the producer, expects to leave for Los Angeles August 1. Arrow is the distributor.

New State Righter

Ben Fitz-Gerald, well known among exchange managers and exhibitors in Syracuse, plans to enter the independent field and intends opening offices in Syracuse, Buffalo and Albany.

Fitz-Gerald was for four years manager of the Universal exchange in Syracuse. He has already contracted for "The Golden Trail," released by Arrow.

Till in Independent Field

H. G. Till is now visiting the Ar- row offices. Till is entering the independent field in New Orleans. He has contracted for the series of Mu- riel Ostrich comedies.

Williams Here from Augusta

W. B. Williams, general manager of the Edgar Jones Prod., Inc., is in New York and has delivered to Arrow Film, the last of his Northwood series. Williams plans to build a new laboratory for his studios in Augusta, Me. He has a new series of short productions under way as well as a production by Holman Day.

To Screen Rubaiyat

Los Angeles—Omar Khayyam’s "Rubaiyat" is to be produced in colors by Ferdinand Earle. He will use the Hallschlegel process on practically all of the scenes.

Levin Resigns

Chicago—Samuel I. Levin, for 15 years with Jones, Linick and Schaef- er and lately general manager for the company has resigned to head an organization of his own. Levin plans to build theaters in Louisville, Ky., and Evansville, Ind.

First Bible Story Finished

Los Angeles—The Historical Film Corp. of America which contracted to film "The Letter to Philemon" has finished its first production based on the Epistle of Paul to Philemon.

Stanley in Chambersburg

Chambersburg, Pa.—It is reported that Stephen Stanley, who is expected to erect a theater here. There is only one theater here, the Star, owned by Harry Weber and seating 700.

Barrie Coming

In Fall—Maude Adams May Appear in "Peter Pan" Says Jesse Lasky Back from Europe, Jesse Lasky according to an official announcement issued by Famous Players yesterday said that James J. Barrie would come to America in the Fall to assist in making "Peter Pan" and "It's not at liberty at this time" he says whether or not Maude Adams would be seen in the title role which she created for the stage play.

Lasky brought back an original scenario from Barrie, and said that Arnold Bennett would come to the city to study screen technique. He also announced that a number of other important English writers would prepare scripts for Famous.

Ritchey Coming

As a modern timepiece surpasses the hour glass so also do RITCHEY post- ers surpass the ordinary poster.

We Own World-famous Stories of Established Box-office Value! Our Books, Our Plays, Our Authors Mean Money in U.S. and Europe! Give us the story of your need—You will have it!

CELEBRATED AUTHORS SOCIETY

701 SEVENTH AVENUE, N. Y.

Phones Bryant 1511 1984
MADONNAS AND MEN

Yesterday we were offered $100,000 advance for United States and Canada

WE REFUSED THE OFFER

WHY?

WATCH WID’S THIS WEEK

JANS PICTURES Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City
DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 17

"THE LOVE DOCTOR"

with Earle Williams

PAUL SCARDON

Directed It

And also

"Partners of the Night"

and

"Milestones"

For Goldwyn

Ad House Managers

---

“HERITAGE”

IS IT YOURS?

Producers!

Make your pictures at

UNIVERSAL CITY

Near Hollywood and Los Angeles

A whole city dedicated to the production of motion pictures, housing in one plant the most complete all-around equipment necessary for the production of perfect playplays. Area—nearly 500 acres of land, situated between the Hollywood and the Sierra Madre Mountains, with a splendid variety of beautiful natural scenery; lake, mountains, and plains.

Six covered stages over 1000 feet long and 50 to 100 feet wide, the greatest covered stage area of any studio in the world. Complete electrical equipment securing every modern effect.

Large stocks of furniture, wardrobe, and props, at the disposal of tenants.

Permanent streets of New York, Arizona, Mexico, Paris, Constantinople, Tokyo, Canada, Spain and Colonial Style.

A regular theatre with fully equipped stage.

Our studio is constantly used by the largest producers. During the last year the following have used and are still using our facilities:

- Maurice Tourneur,
- Paramount-Lasky,
- Goldwyn,
- Vitagraph,
- Metro,
- Ascher Enterprises,
- Edgar Lewis,
- Kernick.
- James Oliver Curwood,
- Samuelson Co., Ltd., England,
- Fox Studio,
- Robert Brunton,
- Katherine MacDonald,
- J. B. Hampton,
- B. B. Hampton,
- Havorth Picture Corp.,
- Christie Comedies,
- Ben Wilson Productions,
- McCarthy Productions,
- Numa Picture Corp.

Apply to MR. SIGMUND MOOS, Manager, Leasing Department at Universal City, California, or UNIVERSAL FILM MFG CO., 1600 Broadway, New York City.

---

MOYE MOTION PICTURE CAMERA

Complete with Tripod, Tilting Head, Carrying Case and six Magazines, practically new, for sale very cheap.

Apply Seixas

912—Longacre Building, Broadway & 42nd St.

AMERICAN FILM TITLE CO.

Manufacturers of Motion Picture Titles

Negative Titles Our Specialty

145 W. 45th St. Bryant 7659

New York City

COME ON AND LAUGH

FOLLOW THE CROWDS

SUNDAY NIGHT

A sketch from one of the new Animated Cartoon Comedies, "The Gumps now appearing on the screens of the leading theaters throughout the country. —Advt.

Chris Rub, has joined forces with A. Lincoln Miller, producer of "The Weekly Indigestion." Rub made the Zip comedies for Radin.

ERNEMANN CAMERA

ERNSTERN

413 W. 41st St.

COLLEGE GRADUATE

wishes to connect with producing organization in any capacity where there is a chance of advancement. Actual studio work desired. F-56, care Wid's.

Question No. 20

What Date was that Picture Released?

Answer

Wid's 1920 Year Book Will Tell

---

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Heilman Bros.,

LOS ANGELES
New Stars
or Special Pictures
Reggie Morris
To Be Director General

H. J. Roberts of Special Pictures, et al from the Coast, reports several important changes in that organization. Reggie Morris, formerly with Mack Sennett, and who directed Married Life" and many other features for Sennett as well as the "Bringing Up Father" series for hriestie, will be director general, replacing Ward Lascelle, who has been with Sennett for many years.

Roberts confirmed that Gale Henry would make 12 two reels for a weekly release, and said that Joe Lock and Billy Franey would each represent a one reel comedy weekly, an alternate week schedule. A numer of important announcements respecting the product of Special Pictures will be made before Sept. 1.

According to Roberts, affecting both releasing and producing departments. He said the outlook for the coming year was very bright.

Arranging Release
C. Sharpe Minor, organist at Grau-an's Million Dollar Theater, Los Angeles, and producer of the special e used at the Strand this week inventing the overture "William Tell," is here on a combined business and ple-ture trip, and is arranging a lease of the specialty.

"The Prince Chap" will play a renew engagement at the Riitto. The will play "Crooked Streets" again Ethen Clayton.

Universal will produce a story
John Colton and Nasses J Dozy
"The Flip Flapper."

It is important to you to be able to cancel quickly any contract when the other fellow fails to make good—Be sure you get that kind of contract—
If the distributor is selling films instead of conversation he will be very willing to give you the right to cancel.

Circuit in India
A co-operative association of leading picture theaters in India has recently been consummated by Frederic Shipman, who is the Managing Director of this new association, and who has just arrived from India. Shipman, who is a brother of Ernest Shipman, claims that his circuit, which now comprises 24 of the leading Indian theaters, will be made up by new theaters, coming within a year, number 30, including several new theaters, now planned for construction. Although Shipman left India in April, he did not arrive in New York until last week, having spent a month in Paris, and another in London. His visit to America will be a flying one,
as he is scheduled to return to India
September. He is stopping at the Hotel Richmond.

Al. Santell, formerly supervising manager of comedy productions for Universal, at its West Coast studios, who came to New York to make a comedy feature for Artclass Pictures has completed his contract.

New Buffalo Deal
Harold B. Franklin of Shea's Buffalo organization, closed a deal here yesterday by which the Star, Buffalo, will be taken over by Shea, and renamed the Criterion. About $90,000 will be spent in improvements. While Shea will conduct the house it will be used principally for the showing of Famous product which can stand long runs, two weeks or more. This will give more room in the Hippodrome for general productions. Shea and Franklin left for Buffalo last night.

Paramount Week Sept. 5
National Paramount Week has been set for Sept. 5 to 11 inclusive, and it is planned to be used twice as much advertising space as was employed last year. In 866 papers in 3,000 cities and villages with population exceeding 10,000, space will be taken and a mark of $1,000,000 of business for the week has been set by Al Lichtman.

May Strike
National Association Will Negotiate
If Men Return to Work

A number of conferences about the laboratory strike were held yesterday, and at the hour of going to press, no settlement had been reached. A letter was sent to the National Association in which the Motion Picture Craftsmen, Ohio, asked for a strike, and the representatives of the labor-organizers, presented the matter to the union headquarters to the effect that they would negotiate the matter if the men returned to work, because they had not been given time to arrive at an agreement.

The latter message was voted up on by the other groups. The National laboratories and a recommendation was submitted to the mass meeting where it was adopted. By the time of the strike night and was still in session at press time.

Abe Heller, president of the M. P.
Craftsmen, declared that the plants affected turned out 15,000,000 feet of film a week that the D. W. Gri-tes laboratories with Albert A.
Gray and Democracy laboratory signed yesterday.

Elmer R. Pearson of Pathe, who visited the laboratories, declared that the plants were working with practically a full com-nand of men. At the End release one of the laboratories it was stated that part of the force was out, but that it was working. William J. Westerberg, manager of the Eclipse said that his plant had been obliged to close, and that he would abide by the policy laid down by the National Association. No one at Biograph Palisades or Fox would issue a statement. The Craftsmen lab, it was learned, had been obliged to close, while no answer was obtained over the telephone from Republic, Kessel's and Paragon.

The schedule demanded is:
Assistant superintendent, $125 a week;
foremen, $115 a week; office men, developing room, $90; timer, $90; negative developer, $55; interior negative room, $75; inspector (developing room), $75; positive developer, $55; developing room, $60;
foreman, printing room, $50; foreman
terest room, $50; foreman, examining room, $50; janitor, wash room, $40; foreman dry room, $30; file cutter, $30; present-Laboratory assistants: Tinter, $40 a week;
negative cutter, $40; air conditioner, $40; winder (developing room), $35; hypoman (developing room), $35; perforator, $35; leader, $35; wash room men, $35; inner (projecting room), $35; projection men, $30; negative and positive paperer,
$30; negative joiner, $30; printer, $30; paperer, $30; assembler, $25; mounter, $25; examiner, $25; dry check clerk, $25.

Your Press Books
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.—Advt.
PROPER INSURANCE MEANS PROTECTION

YOUR BUSINESS—AUTOMOBILE, HOME, STAR—YOU YOURSELF—NEED INSURANCE.

Take precautions against insufficient insurance. A $5,000 or $10,000 limit does not adequately cover your auto. Ask us why—and we will tell you.
YESTERDAY WE REFUSED
$25,000 for New York State Rights
$18,000 for Illinois and Indiana
$12,000 for New England

We have promised to hold the production
MADONNAS and MEN
several days yet until certain legitimate theatre owners can decide whether to book
M AND M
as a legitimate road attraction

We will still consider offers from reputable distributors

JANS PICTURES Inc.
729 Seventh Avenue, New York City
New Deal On

For Distribution of Triangle Re-Issues and Hallmark—L. L. Hiller Engineers Plan

As the result of a plan perfected by L. L. Hiller, stateright distributor, all the Triangle re-issues and the Hallmark product, are being contracted for three years by various state right operators, and it is said 85 per cent. of the country has been

S. Zierler of the Commonwealth has New York and Buffalo;
Herman Rikkin, New Haven and Boston; Friedman Film Corp. Indianapolis and Henry Landy, Pitts-bury.

It is said that the deal will give exhibitors some re-issues a year for three years. One of two comedies and three serials.

Denial From Kremer

Victor Kremer states he has not acquired any of the Essanel Prod.
de Luxe of Cleveland or the Ebony Film Corp. of Chicago, as noted in Wid's DAILY recently.

The fourth of the series of Chester Comedies, directed by Wm. S. Campbell is finished.

COOL OFF WITH THE BATHING BEAUTIES.
FOLLOW THE CROWDS SUNDAY NIGHT.

THE MOTION PIC-TURE EDITORS OF
MANY NEWSPAPERS
THROUGHOUT THE
UNITED STATES ARE READY
ASKING FOR

Wid's 1920
Year Book

--Coming Soon--

English Complain Over Bad Prints
London, Eng.—Cinematograph Ex-bhibitors' Association of Gt. Britian Ireland, has passed the following resolution regarding prints of America-films—

"That the General Council call attention to the very serious damage that is still being done to the industry by the large number of bad prints that are supplied to exhibitors in this country, and in order that the ma-protection of the booklet from film from a special American copy all copies should be shipped from the same negative as exhibited at tradishow.
Strike Still On
The Union Stands Pat—Association Charges Dictation and Intimidation

Acting on the decision of the National Association not to negotiate with the laboratory workers discontinued the strike, the Motion Picture Craftsmen have decided to continue the strike, Abe Heller, president of the organization, declared yesterday. It is not including new members; the union now has 3,000, of whom 300 are out. At the National Association it was claimed that the present rate varies from $3 to $3 1/2 cents per foot. Abe Heller stated that while no set price had been stipulated in the contract, a sum of 3/4 cents was to have been written on each contract when it was signed. The National Association claims that the union is attempting to dictate and that the present rate varies from $3 to 1 1/2 cents. Union officials claim that it ranges from $3 to $3 1/2 cents. Intimidation of unwilling members is another claim of the association where it is said many of the strikers would return but fear to do so. "We will arbitrate wages, hours and working conditions," it was stated by J. M. Solomon, who is handling the publicity of the N. A. (Continued on Page 2)

Deal On
"London—Schlesinger of the South African Film Trust is due here any day. Immediately upon his arrival an important conference will take place with several big film men here.

Farrar Picture Completed
The first Geraldine Farrar picture for Asso, Exhibitors, "The Riddle Woman," has been completed by Edward Jose, and is now being cut and titled. Miss Farrar and her husband have gone to the Adirondacks for a rest.

Set "Humoresque" Release Date

Warning
When you see an advertisement quoting a review from Wid's Daily check it up with the review. This may save deception or misunderstanding.

Quick Action
One hour after the Export & Import people saw "Madonnas & Men" the Jans Production, they bought world rights to the feature. And two hours later they had sold to two foreign territories for the feature. All of which means going some.

The unique advertising of the feature has attracted considerable attention. It is understood that several offers are being considered for American rights but no decision has as yet been reached.

To Produce Americanization Reels
Metro will release monthly an Americanization production on one reel. The first has already been completed and is now being cut. "Stranger Beware" is its title. These offerings will be made in conjunction with the Americanization campaign.

Herman Robbins, Fox's general exchange manager, will leave next week on a tour of exchanges.

Big Chain
With Millions of Capital—Irwin's Name Mentioned—Dupont's

Several days ago the office of WID'S DAILY carried a query as to whether anyone had heard of the National Playhouse Corp., with its $42,000,000 capital.

An unknown but "self-appointed reporter" informs us as follows: that Walter W. Irwin is general manager of it; that the Duponts are behind it; that a theater to be named "The Huguenot" is to be erected at New Rochelle, and that sites have been secured in many cities for theaters, including a number in New England; that offices are at 460 Fifth Ave., with architects and draftsmen busy.

Investigating this information this result:
Walter W. Irwin did not care to discuss the matter.

Arlin W. Johnson and the Columbia Realty Corp. have offices on the 10th floor of the Winfield Bldg. Johnson is reported out of town, and doubt on the state of the question. This concern is to be interested in planning at least one theater—for Louisville.

At Goldwyn the Dupont representative, G. Godfrey, has nothing, he says, of the Duponts being in any such organization. But the Duponts are interested in a theater called "The Playhouse" in Wilmington.

"Bannering" Unfair
Important Case Decided in Minneapolis Regarding Methods of Strikers

Minneapolis—Following litigation that has been before the Hennepin County District Court in one form or another for three years, John J. Campbell, proprietor of the Wonderland, 27 Washington Ave, Smth, ob.

(Continued on Page 2)

They were caught on the island alone by the tide. She was happy but could not help wondering what her world would say—Katherine MacDonald in "The Notorious Miss Liste," a First Nat'l attraction.—Adv.

(Continued on Page 2)
Strike Still On

(Continued from Page 1)

"but will not stand for dictation."
Abe Heller denied that the union was making an effort to dictate. "We are willing to have the rate written in when the signatures are attached to each contract," he said.

George C. Woodruff, secretary of the union and Wm. A. Brady held a conference yesterday but the result could not be learned. Woodruff declared that with the exception of the Republic and Empire City laboratory and those that had settled there was not a plant in New York or Fort Lee that was running.

A meeting was held at Fort Lee last night and another at Bryant Hall.

Reicher Directing Dalton

Dorothy Dalton, accompanied by her director, Frank Reicher, and the supporting cast, have left for York Beach, Me., to film scenes in her new picture, "In Men's Eyes."

Cuts and Flashes

Charles F. McGovern, previously with Vitagraph and Fox, will handle publicity and advertising on "The Woman Untamed," featuring Doral, dina, which Elmer J. McGovern has purchased.

Elmer Harris, member of the scenario staff of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, is in New York.

John Charles has been engaged to support Marion Davies in "Buried Treasure."

Monte Blue will come east to appear in "The Kentuckians" for Famous Players. Charles Maigne will direct.

Adele Kelly with Will Morrissey's Revue, "Buzzin Around," was formerly Harry Morey's leading woman. In her last picture for Sterling Features, "The Fighting Kentuckians," she played the heavy.

On completing "The Juckins," George Melford will direct "The Faith Healer."

Davis With Sennett

H. O. Davis has been appointed studio manager by Mack Sennett, according to a current report. This could not be confirmed at the local Sennett offices yesterday.

Star Sues Goldwyn

Madge Kennedy has filed suit in the Supreme Court against the Goldwyn Pictures, under the name of Madge Kennedy bolter. She alleges that the defendant agreed Sept. 5, 1918, to pay her $2,692 a week for services as star and owes her $4,457 salary on that agreement. She also alleges that the defendant was to furnish all costumes except modern costumes and these she was to pay for up to $3,000 a year, the excess over that figure to be paid by the defendant. She contends that $1,574 is due on that agreement.

When the attention of Gabriel L. Hess, general counsel for Goldwyn, was called to the above, he said: "It is true that suit has been begun by Miss Kennedy against this company to recover certain instalments of salary covering a period of approximately ten days. The position of this company is that no services were performed during the period for which compensation is claimed and that therefore nothing is due. Miss Kennedy is still associated with this company, is now engaged in the production of Goldwyn pictures, and her contract upon which she is working is receiving the stipulated compensation provided thereunder." "Miss Kennedy has been a Goldwyn star and engaged in the production of Goldwyn pictures since the Spring of 1917 or practically, since the company's inception and has always been punctually paid the compensation due her."

Photo Products Export Co. is reissuing a series of Billy Ruge comedies.

Star Sues Goldwyn

"Banning" Unfair

(Continued from Page 1)

A permanent injunction against the Motion Picture Machine Operators' Union of Minneapolis, Local 219, the Minneapolis Trades and Labor Assembly, as well as several individuals from "continuing in any manufac- tory any conspiracy heretofore entered into by and between said persons or associations with the purpose or intent of obstructing, destroying, annoy- ing, harassing or interfering with the good will, trade, conduct or pat- ronage of plaintiff's business."

Upholds "Open Shop"

It is the second decision in Hennepin County District Court upholding the "open shop" policy.

The decision was filed by Judge W. W. Bardwell, before whom the action for a permanent injunction was tried Sept. 23, 1919, after there had been action for a temporary injunction in May by D. Dickinson as early as June, 1917.

The permanent injunction prevents the maintenance of picketing or banning of the theater, as "unfair trade practices and organized labor," the court finding such picketing and banning as has been carried on the result of a conspir- acy by the labor unions to improperly and unlawfully restrain trade.
One Hour After the Directors of THE EXPORT

AND IMPORT
FILM CO., Inc.

Saw

MADONNAS and MEN

They Purchased All Foreign Rights

And within two hours after closing the deal sold two important territories

JANS PICTURES Inc.

729 Seventh Avenue, New York City
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 18
“TRANSGRESSION” with Earle Williams and Corinne Griffith

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It

And also “Partners of the Night” and “Milestones”
For Goldwyn

British Firm Has Local Office

Offices have been opened in the Candler Bldg., by the British and Continental Trading. J. C. Barnsley is the American representative and will buy European rights to American productions and dispose of foreign films here. Barnsley also represents the H. A. P. Film Co., Holland, the Cinematographic M. Hacken, Societies Anonyme of Belgium, France and Switzerland and the J. Lundin Photoplay Co. of Stockholm.

LAUGH! LAUGH! LAUGH! at the funniest comedy you have ever seen.
FOLLOW THE CROWDS SUNDAY NIGHT

Nick Carter means Waiting Line

AMERICA’S FINEST LABORATORY
Located Atop The Palisades Opposite 129th Street Palisades Film Laboratories Palisades, N. J. Numbers 621, 622

Putting It Over
Pittsburgh.—School teachers as a rule find their modest honorariums too small to enable them to be able to dispense with more money when the opportunity presents itself and Peter Antonopolus of the Olympic does not hesitate to capitalize on this information.

School instructors being as a rule well read, and well aware of current goings-on, he finds it convenient to arrange with some of them to do this work. Being respected in most communities, they can, as a rule, easily arrange to do other schemes that can be depended on to put a picture over.

Here’s a Stunt
Making Movie Stars is the title of the headline booked by B. S. Moss for presentation at the Regent all of next week. This act reveals the inner working of a studio in full view of the audience.

Movie aspirants from the neighborhood will be given a chance to appear before the camera on the stage of the Regent during the filming of a complete photoplay which will be shown at the Regent the following week.

Broaden Scope of Straw Vote
The League of Nations issue, prohibition and woman suffrage will be included in the presidential straw vote soon to be conducted by exhibitor franchise holders in Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

Schayer to Direct
Los Angeles—E. Rischard Schayer is scheduled to direct for Robertson-Cole. In the meantime he will do a series of continuities for Benjamin B. Hampton.

Farnum Plans Long Vacation
Los Angeles—William Farnum plans to rest until January. There have been frequent reports of late that his health has not been all that may be desired.

Kansas City, Mo.—A. K. Dubinsky bought Subway.

ROBERT A. SANBORN
Adapter of
Over 30 O. Henry Features and Visagraph
At present with Universal West Coast Studios
Universal City, California

Photoplayers, Attention
We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the photoplay profession here on the coast. We invite your patronage.
Yours for success,

Wid’s 1920 Year Book Will Tell

EVERY DAY THROUGHOUT THE COMING YEAR EXHIBITORS AND EXECUTIVES EVERYWHERE WILL BE USING

Form $1,000,000 Corporation.
Indianapolis.—The United Exhibitors’ Productions Corp., has been formed with a capitalization of $1,000,000, all of which is common stock, to operate a chain in Indianapolis.

It has taken over the property of the Lenwood Amusement Company, comprised of the Lenwood, Broadway, Rialto and Gaiety as well as six houses in southern Indiana. Fred B. Leonard, former president of the Lenwood concern occupies a similar position with the new firm and H. M. Wood, also associated with the Lenwood organization is secretary treasurer.

Kansas City, Mo.—H. and R. Amuse Co., bought 99 year lease on Appolo.

Clayo Play Productions
A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Each show needs a “Special.” See the “Special” representative in your exchange city.

Weiss Plans Two Companies
Chicago—Harry Weiss of the S. Screen Service plans the formation of the new subsidiary companies. The first will be called the National Film Service to handle number of features for this territory and the second Harry Weiss, in which will handle 12 features yearly.

He has arranged with Arrow Fil to distribute Arrow productions Illinois and Indiana through Superfix.

Victor Herbert Week in Brooklyn
The Brooklyn Strand will hold Victor Herbert week next week. F “One Hour Before Dawn” a mystery with prologue will be put on.

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART
In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates now must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRU-D-SCENIC STORIES
Built by a real artist with the cooperation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS
A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION
H. W. Hellman Bldg.
LOS ANGELES
 Fight On
Georgia Film Folk Line Up Solidly Against Censorship
(News item headed "WID'S DAILY"
Atlanta—At a joint meeting of the committee of the House and the Senate held Tuesday afternoon bills to provide for motion picture censorship in Georgia were recommended. After arguments on both sides were presented each committee went into executive session. Almost immediately the Senate committee brought the bill. After much deliberation and the offering and accepting of an amendment the House committee voted unanimously in favor of the measure.
A powerful committee representing exhibitors and exchanges is reviewing its efforts to defeat the measure when it comes on the floor, or the exhibitors William Patterson, Arthur Lucas and E. A. Schiller are constantly following every angle that offers a possibility of defeating the bill. All local exchanges are giving all support to the special committee and using every influence to kill censorship before it becomes a law. Despite the fight between the Lynch organization and the independent exhibitors all interests are working together against censorship.

The Monthly Fire in 729

The usual monthly fire occurred yesterday at 729 7th Ave., this time in the offices of the Independent Motion Picture Supply Co., on the sixth floor being the scene of action. When the firemen arrived they were rather pleased to discover the blaze had been extinguished by drinking water.

Lewis Here

Edgar Lewis surprised the Astor crowd by dropping in yesterday, and said he had come East to make "Hanging On," by Kate Corbey, and would return to the Coast about the middle of September.

Don't worry about how much you have to pay for good films—spend more time worrying about paying at all for films that are so bad you would be better off if you didn't play them—bad films are driving many fans away from your house!

Own Exchanges
To Be Opened in Canada by First National Displacing Regal

Toronto—First National will open its own offices in Toronto, Montreal and St. John about Sept. 15 for distribution in Eastern Canada, according to Harry Brouse, owner of the Eastern Canadian franchise. William Morgan and E. Bruce Johnson of the New York office are here arranging matters. Regal Films will continue to distribute the product until the new exchanges open.

This was confirmed yesterday at the local offices of First National. Managers of these branches will be selected later.

Selnick and Owen Moore to Sail

Myron and David Selznick, together with Owen Moore, Selznick star, sail tomorrow for London. The Selznicks will remain abroad for about five weeks. Moore will probably stay longer. Business with pleasure on the controversy that developed at Kassel Studios, Inc.

Lobby paintings for state right buyers. —Advt.

No Change in Strike
Both Sides Remain Steadfast, Abiding by Decisions Made Yesterday

The situation caused by the strike of the Motion Picture craftsmen remains practically the same as it was yesterday. Both the craftsmen and the National Association, representing the laboratory owners, still stand on the statements recently made as to their attitude in the strike.

There was a meeting last night, but no decision was made to, or at least none was given out from the National Association office.

Asked whether or not there was any likelihood of the work ordinarily done in New York being taken to laboratories in other cities, George C. Woodruff, secretary of the M. P. Craftsmen, 604, declared that arrangements were being made with local 630 of Chicago whereby the lab men there would not do the extra work.

Door Open
Says Zukor—Wants to Know Personally About Reported Threats of Famous to Exhibitors

In a lengthy statement issued yesterday Adolph Zukor said, in part, "It has been said that employees of Famous Players-Lasky have threatened exhibitors that if they did not book Paramount Pictures or pay the prices they wanted this company would buy them out or build theaters to compete with theirs. These complaints have never been made to me directly. Had I been informed of these alleged threats I should have demanded immediate accounting. And if I find that any employee of this corporation was guilty of making such threats that employee would have been discharged instantly. I have never authorized such practices; nor has any official or agent of Famous Players-Lasky authorized such practices.

I have taken personal charge of all of this end of my business and I will consider it a personal favor if any exhibitor having a grievance against us shall make his complaint to me personally, or by wire or letter. I promise that I shall myself investigate all such complaints, and I guarantee that I shall see that absolute justice is done. I cannot say this too strongly, for the good will of the people we serve is the keystone of our business structure.

The value we have accepted of our productions above the business he may give me. I am now collecting data bearing on the controversy that developed at the convention of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America at Cleveland. I will present the facts so that exhibitors can clearly understand the position of myself and my associates, and so that they will be fully apprised of the fact that our institution desires to maintain friendly and amicable business relations with the exhibitors of the United States. It will be in the future as it has been in the past my policy to cater to the good will of the exhibitor first, last and all the time."

Anne Cornwall Through

Anne Cornwall, who was starred in some Universal productions, has completed her work with that organization.

Your Next Insert
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise. —Advt.
Quotations

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Wid's Films and Film Folk, Inc., will be held at the office of the company, 73 W. 44th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City and State of New York, on the 26th day of July, 1920, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, to elect directors for the ensuing year and to transact any other business properly brought before said meeting.

Dated, July 5th, 1920.

FREDERICK C. GUNNING, President.
JOHN W. ALICOT, Secretary.

First Franklin-Kaufman

Los Angeles—Parrott and Company, 1127 South Broadway, MacGrattan, will be the distributing agency for the first Franklin-Kaufman production released by First National.

Sixteen Exhibitors Expelled

Los Angeles—The Theatre Owners Protective Association has expelled 16 exhibitors for violating resolutions in force regarding booking United Artists productions.

Spanish Buyer Here

Juan Verdaguer of the Cinematografica Verdaguer S. A., one of the largest distributors of moving pictures in Spain and Portugal, has arrived in town. He can be located at the office of Joseph P. Lamy, 1482 Broadway.

Pioneer Acquires GreaterStars

The Greater Stars Prod. of Chicago has been bought by Pioneer Film, Clyde Elliott, one of the founders of Greater Stars, will remain in charge as general manager.

Violent Mersereau With Pioneer

Violent Mersereau will make a series of six features for the Artographic Film Co. of Denver for Pioneer release. The first will be an adaptation of Robert Ames Bennet's novel, "Finders, Keepers." Otis B. Thayer will direct.

Hughes Succeeds Scully

New Haven—Al Lichtman has announced the appointment of Maxwell C. Hughes as manager of the local Famous Players exchange in place of Frank J. Scully, resigned.

Elect Himmelmein President

Sandusky, O.—Mayor John A. Himmelmein, owner of the Sandusky, Kaito and Elyria, as well as other Ohio theatrical holdings, has been elected president of the Central Managers' Association.

Smith Going to Canada

A. W. Smith, Jr., assistant sales manager of the W. W. Hodkinson Corp., has been appointed by George Ade's "The Slim Princess" to make a conference with the Canadian Exhibitors' Exchange, who are handling Hodkinson releases. He expects more than 140 Canadian exhibitors in the Toronto territory will be booking Hodkinson releases in August.

Got 'Em All Beat

Eureka Theatre, 3941 North St., Phila., Pa.

Wid's Daily, New York,

Gentlemen:

Enclosed you will find check for ten dollars for a renewal of my subscription for another year.

You've got them all beat when it comes to handling your first hand information. Can't do without your Wid's.

Yours truly,

H. PERKELMAN.

A. M. P. A. Meeting

At the weekly meeting of the A. M. P. A. (Advertisers) yesterday the nominating committee to select the names of candidates for office for next year was named. It includes Arthur James, Horace Judge, J. B. Mayer, P. A. Parsons, E. O. Brooks and Harry Poppe, Paul E. Cromeins, president of Inter-Ocean, delivered a address in which he discussed foreign conditions and the presentation of the Harry Reichenbach and company also took place. This was awarded to Vincent Trota, who in the national tournament held at Bayside was said to have rolled up the highest score and lost the greatest number of balls.

Harsh Has New Woman Star

Nathan Harsh, president of the Army Film Corp., has a new star in the person of Florence Chase, who has appeared in several London stage dramas as leading lady. Her first production has been completed and is now in the cutting process and is called "The Woman Above".

Exchange Managers in Town

Herman Stern and E. J. Smith, respectively managers of the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Universal exchanges, are in town conferring with the Central Managers' Association, general manager of exchanges.

Walthal Out of Southwestern

Dallas—W. W. Walthal has disposed of his holdings in the Southwestern Film Corp. to Frank May, who is now in sole control.

The exhibitor needs many things to become really successful, but the things he needs most of all are plenty of Ritchey posters.

RITCHLEY LITHO. CORP.
406 N. 21st St., N.Y., Phone Chelsea 8398
House Changes
St. Joseph, Mo.—Joseph Gatch bought Strand.

Hillsboro, Ky.—S. N. Mallison bought house from Harry Rodgers.

Waterbury, Conn.—Arthur Clemens and Le Land M. Wilson bought house from Paul Carsino for $49,000.

Je Intosh, N. D.—Mr. Cooley bought house.

Kansas City, Mo.—H. and R. House Co. bought Apollo.

Marshall, Wis.—A. A. Thomas bought Trio from Kliner, Land and Harman.

Cincinnati, O.—E. E. Byrne bought American from B. G. Schuler.

Lebanon, Ind.—Leila Hollin bought Otol and Olympic.

Lynchburg, Va.—C. M. Casey bought Isis for $75,000.

Feriden, Conn.—Warren A. Gent bought Star from Russell Erskine, Harry Gold and Dr. C. O. Eler.

New Orleans—Peter Copeland and Miller bought Globe for $120,000.

Philadelphia—H. Schwartz bought house from S. Sternberg. It is assessed at $25,000, subject to a $17,000 mortgage.

Boulder, Col.—C. M. Moore, owner of about eight houses in California, bought Gem from W. A. Seamon.

Denver, Col.—Dave Hepner bought Thompson from International Amuse Co. for $40,000.

Van Alstyne, Tex.—Bill R. Holcombe, chain, bought Lyric.

Goldwaite, Tex.—E. M. Brown bought Opera House from T. H. Kahl.

San Francisco.—Edmund Damon bought Empress and Rex.

Dover-Foxcroft, Me.—Graphic Theaters Co. of Bangor bought New Star from A. N. Merrill.

Brunswick, Mo.—Brent Stanber sold Isis.

Kemo, Ind.—United Exhibitor Prod. Co., Indiana chain, bought Sipe, for reported sum of $60,000.

Baltimore, Md.—Stockholders of the Lyric Co. bought Lyric, when it was planned to transform it into a business block.

Baltimore, Md.—M. Rodman bought Patterson from Julis Goodman.

Houses Completed
Morgan, Texas.—Queen opened.

Buy Vehicle for Mac Marsh
"The Girl Who Lived in the Woods" has been purchased by Robertson-Cole as a vehicle for Mac Marsh. Production work will start within a week under the direction of John Adolph. The story is from the pen of Marjory Benton Cooke.

Cohen Writes Abrams
Sydney S. Cohen has issued another letter to Hiram Abrams relative to the latter's attitude regarding advance deposits, and protesting against the slurring tone of Abrams' reply to him, as in distinction to the courteous attitude of David W. Griffith.

Buy Keeney Productions
The Capital exchange has purchased the Frank A. Keeney productions from the William L. Sherry Service for Greater New York.

"Out of Sunset" for Eva Novak
Universal will star Eva Novak in "Out of the Sunset," by George Rik. The story was published in "Telling Tales".

STOCKHOLDERS
of the
Powers Film Products, Inc.
Are invited in their interest to communicate at once with
FREDERICK J. HARRISON
Former Chemist of the Plant
103 Dartmouth St.
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

For Private Showings!!
BROADWAY'S MOST INTIMATE THEATRE
SEATING CAPACITY 299
ATTRACTIVE—UNIQUE
Orchestra Pit—Uniformed Attendants—Cool
Better Than Any Projection Room
WILL PUT YOUR PICTURE OVER For Terms—Address Box A, Wid's Daily

SIX MONTHS IN PREPARATION
Mountains of Statistics—Volumes of Correspondence—A Mine of Information
BOILED DOWN IN A HANDY VOLUME FOR YOU
MR. EXECUTIVE, MR. PRODUCER AND MR. DIRECTOR

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK
"A Necessity for Every Wide Awake Exhibitor"
Germany Confident
Not Worried Over Importation of American Films

The Evening Post says from a special correspondent in Hamburg: "Reports have recently been circulated throughout Germany that with the return of peace, especially with America, the German film industry would be hard hit by foreign competition.

The point was made that the United States would flood the market of Central Europe with pictures against which it would be useless to compete. Germany began an investigation at once, as a result of which she feels that the future of the moving picture is hers by right of merit."

"Hans Wolfenberg, a prominent lawyer, has handled in his report on the matter, in which he says: "Nothing can be better for the promotion of the German moving picture than the importation of American films. Their outstanding feature is their size. The pictures from America are colossal, nothing more. But that will soon pass on our audiences and they will long for return to the German film, which, because of its artistic quality: cannot be produced in America and cannot be bought by America, with all her millions. The future of the picture stage is ours."

The above dispatch to the Post is interesting in view of the strict embargo now in force as applied to the importation into Germany of American films.

WIE'S DAILY recently published information secured by Lou Auerbach of the Export and Import Film Co., which indicated that Germany will only allow 15% of its total film needs to be imported from outside countries after October of this year.
End in Sight

Each Between Warring Strike Fac-
\ons Narrowing—Union Willing to Arbitrate

It was reported yesterday that the strike of the laboratory strike was at an end and at the hour of going to press, there seemed to be some possi\on that it would be over to-day.
General conferences were held during the day, with both sides retain-\ng the policies previously adopted.
T. P. V. Keller, President of the Motions Pictures Craftsmen, 604, stated that the union was willing to arbitrate, but would not swerve from its renonmation to have its men re-\ned out until the strike had been \ned. He further expressed the \nonion that within 24 hours after \ng together, the dispute could end.

First Deal Closed

Franco-American Cinematograph
\n, with Leonce Perret—Some Plans

Leonce Perret, who has just re-\ned from abroad where he sold Empire of Diamonds" to the \nrganization from Great Britain, \n\na\nrd said that production to the Franco-American Cinematograph Co.
\n the rest of Europe. Perret may \nme director general of this con\n which has just been incorporated
\nchester and with French as well
American directors and stars. Pro\n according to M. Andre will be \n to either country. All the stock
\n has been subscribed by \nman, he stated, and while sev-
(Continued on Page 2)

Remember that a good film
\n a little house for several weeks shows \n much more net profit than one week of the same film in a big house. That \nact will be important this year!

Wid

National Plan

Does Not Materia\n Interest South\ east Because of Lynch Idea

Atlanta—No particular concern is \n a manifest in the southeast over the \ National Booking plan. There is \ some speculation as to whether this \ will develop along the lines of the \ old vaudeville booking agency; and \ there is more or less mild comment
\ as to the possible co-ordination be\ tween the movement originating in \ New York and those starting almost \ independently in other and remote
\ parts of the country. But not enough \ interest has been shown to arouse \ active curiosity. Possibly the south\ east has enough to bother about in \ the booking scheme now being pro\ moted by the S. A. Lynch Enter\ prises, a scheme wherein the exhib\ itor pays 30 per cent of the gross
\ receipts of his house to the Lynch
\ organization for films and booking
\ service.

Mexico Abolishes Censors

Mexico City—The motion picture \ censor board has been abolished by \ Provisional President de la Huerta.

Jensen & Von Herberg Get Another
\ Seattle—The Strand, Second Ave., \ has passed into the hands of Jensen &
\ Von Herberg. The deal involved
\ $375,000.

Thurston's First

The first of a series of psychic
\ productions to be made by Howard
\ Thurston, for 30 years a magician,
\ will be titled "The Twisted Soul."
\ George Kelton directed.

Powers Comments

P. A. Powers of the Powers Film
\ Products Co., when asked for a state\ ment relative to an advertisement ap\ pearing in Wide's Daily asking stock\ holders to communicate with Fred\ erick J. Harrison of Rochester, said \ that there was nothing to say except \ that Harrison was a discharged em\ ployee of the corporation.

Production Halts

Due to Variety of Causes—Some \ Companies Active, However

Production on the part of a number of the larger companies is said to \ be halting. This is due to several \ reasons, chief of which is that prac\ tically all of the companies have a \ large quantity of product on hand
\ and will wait to see how the features
\ are accepted before going much fur\ ther. Another factor is the price
\ of the money market.

A man well posted on the situation
\ said yesterday, "All of the compa\ nies have considerable production
\ on hand. The new season is about to \ open up. Some pre-release dates for \ several of the big features of the \ coming season have been arranged, \ notably "Humoresque," which will \ open next month in Chicago and Los \ Angeles, and which has been play\ ing to good business here. Some of \ the Goldwyn product has had ad\ vance showings. All of the produc\ ers have had their scouts on
\ and have a fairly good idea of what \ the other fellow has. But as usual they don't believe all they have heard of \ what the other fellow has. They want to see before going ahead much \ further. So they are moving slowly.
\ It is as impossible to sell any \ production made outside of the stu\ dios as the big companies. They \ cannot seem to raise the big money \ needed; or if they can they do not \ seem anxious to do so. They are \ waiting to see what will happen with \ what they have."

Cohen Considers Zukor Statement

Sydney S. Cohen when asked yester\ day whether he had read Adolph \ Zukor's statement relative to state\ ments made by employees as the poli\ cies at Famous affecting theater buy\ ing, etc., said that he had read the \ statement several times, and after \ fully digesting it he would probably have \ something to say in answer.

Apfel Talks at Columbia

Oscar Apfel, the director, addressed
\ the students of Columbia College last \ night at Hamilton Hall, on the tech\ nique of the modern photo-play.

"Way Down East" Completed

D. W. Griffith's production of "Way \ Down East," has just been completed \ will be shown for the first time at \ the 44th St. Theater, about August \ 30.

234 W. 44th St.—Bryant 5234.—Adv.
\ Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.
Cuts and Flashes

C. Alfred Karnen has been appointed Editor in Chief of the industrial pictures to be released by the Harry Levey Service Corp.

Blanche Sweet in "The Girl in the Web" Pathé release will be the feature at the Broadway beginning tomorrow.

George Ingersoll has been appointed director of advertising and publicity for the W. Hodkinson Corp., and is now building up the plan and the promotion division of the Hodkinson distribution system.

Pearl Doles Bell of the Fox organization is en route to the coast where she will confer with Shirley Mason.

One of the early fall releases of Pictor will be "Where is My Husband?"

Radin Pictures have sold "Thru Europe Again" to the Screen Art Pictures of Philadelphia for the Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey Territory.

Theresa Maxwell-Conover will support Elaine Hammerstein in "The Daughter Pays." Robert Ellis will direct.

Arline Pretty has been engaged by William A. Brady to appear in "Life." The yacht has been chartered for the Peerless studio in Fort Lee.

Edward Dillon is to direct Bille Burke in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," at the 44th Street studio.

Harry Wulke, formerly with Keystone and Mack Sennett has been engaged to write stories for a new series of Capitol comedies for release through Goldwyn.

Frank Elliott, Los Angeles, western representative of the Sun-Ligh Arc Company, is in the city.

Universal has purchased a story written by Milton Welch. It will be produced as a special feature early in the fall.

Balsy Again an Exhibitor

Kansas City—L. D. Balsy, formerly with First National and later special feature representative for Pathé, has gone back into the exhibiting game. He will manage the Princess theater at Sioux City for A. H. Blank.

Nat'l Ass'n. Completes List

The first authentic list of cities of a population of 15,000 or more under the census of 1920, which has yet been compiled has been delivered to all companies. This list has been prepared in the Washington Bureau of the Nat'l Ass'n. As so far as is known no other trade or industry has received similar information regarding the population of cities. This list should prove valuable to the industry.

First Deal Closed

(Continued from Page 1)

Several Americans have offered to purchase the stock, none has as yet passed from the hands of the original subscribers.

A meeting will shortly be held at which the officers and board of directors will be chosen. It is planned to elect both Americans and Frenchmen as executives, and the director of the concern will eventually be in the hands of financiers and pictures of both countries.

The company may open a chain of theaters and another of exchanges in principal cities in this country.

Corporations

Dover, Del.—Hyperion Picture Corp. Capital, $1,000,000. Incorporators: George H. Witley, W. Hall, New York and Paul F. Macbiche, Brooklyn.

Dover, Del.—Mecca Pictures Corp. Capital, $1,000,000. Incorporators: William F. O'Keefe, George G. Steiger and E. E. Albert, Wilmington.

Albany—Empire Enterprises of Manhattan, $50,000. J. Barnett, S. Schnapps, A. M. Gill.

Dover, Del.—Edward C. Ryan Pictures Corp. Capital, $500,000. In corporators M. C. Kelly and R. H. Mackey, Wilmington.

Syracuse Company Increases Capital

Albany—The Sheridan Theatre Company of Syracuse has certified that it has increased its capital stock to $44,000, with 3,000 shares of preferred stock of the par value of $10 each and 9,000 shares of common stock of no par value.

Sultan, Wash.—J. S. Beadle, owner of the Sultanish and Monroe, has bought the Sultan.

The warm weather approaches. If your theatre becomes uncomfortably hot the audience will not stay. They will enter, however, when you show RITCHEY POSTERS
Coast Brevities

Hollywood—Betty Compson and her company, under the direction of Arthur Rosson, are at Oxnard in the desert.

Constance Binney has started work on her third Reafart picture, "39 East."

Allan Dwan has decided upon "The Sin of Mary Kelly" as the title of his latest completed production to be presented by Mayflower.

"Dynamite," the second of the Lloyd Hamilton comedies, being produced at the Astra studios, will be ready for shipment for release within a few days.

Fontaine La Rue has been engaged by Metro to play an important role in "Body and Soul."

Three companies now working at Rolin Film Co.'s studio, namely: Harold Lloyd, Harry Pollard and Eddie Bohlen and one or two others are to be added shortly according to Hal Roach, president. $100,000 a year to be spent in improvement on the plant to accommodate the increased production activities.

Harry D. Wilson, formerly publicity exploiter and theatrical man, has been engaged by Sol Lesser.

The eighth episode of Charles Hutchinson's serial, "Double Adventure," now being produced by Robert Brunton, has been completed.

Victory Bateman, has been engaged by Brunton for an important part in his initial all-star feature "The Devil to Pay."

Hewlitts Mumpfer, vice president of the Benjamin B. Hampton Co., has left for the East.

Helen Ferguson has been engaged to co-star with William Russell in "The Challenge of the Law," having already completed her work in the first two of a series of four Jack London pictures.

Philip Rosen, president of the American Society of Cinematographers, has proposed a chair of higher cinematography for Stanford and the University of California. Rosen's proposal has been endorsed by the society.

MEET ME
"UP IN MARY'S ATTIC" at the BROADWAY THEATRE MONDAY NIGHT FOLLOW THE CROWDS

Moye Motion Picture Camera Complete with Tripod, Tilt-Head, Carrying Case and Six Magazines, practically new, for sale very cheap.

Apply Seixas 912—Longacre Building, Broadway & 42nd St.

Neal Hart Ready for Work
Los Angeles—Neal Hart will shortly start work on the first of a series of eight features to be made by Eddy Eckles of Chicago.

The old Bachman studio at Glen- dale has been leased for five years and will get under way shortly on re-modeling the plant. The pictures will be released through independent exchanges.

Photoplay Conducting Story Contest
Photoplay Magazine is about to launch a short story contest. Twenty-four stories will be accepted during 1924 for which prizes of $5,000, $2,500, $1,000 and $500 will be offered. For the remaining 20, prizes of $250 each will be awarded. A board of judges to be named will decide the winners. The authors retain the book, stage or film rights but Photoplay will publish each story, illustrated by a well known artist.

Staulcup on Leave
M. P. Staulcup, art director for Metro in the East has been granted a three months' leave of absence. He will spend his time at Lake George. Lester Vermilyea will succeed Staulcup at the studio.

Say 1,200 Houses Are Under Way
A southern publication estimates the number of picture houses now under way at 1,200, the total cost of which is figured at $75,000,000.

Paramount to Build Another
Kitchener, Ont.—Paramount Thea- ters Ltd., will build on a newly acquired site.

Commission to Regulate Houses
Dallas—Picture houses, as well as other places of amusement will be regulated by the Board of Commissioners under an ordinance passed by that body at its first meeting.

Baker Is a Father
St. Louis,—S. J. Baker, manager of the local First National Theatre, is now the father of a baby girl, named Nena.

Point Pleasant, N. J.—Lews- ing completion.

96
D. N. SCHWAB PROD. offer for STATE RIGHTS Better known than Nick Carter

Who is better known than Nick Carter?

D. N. SCHWAB PROD. offer for STATE RIGHTS Better known than Nick Carter

Fickle Women
117 W. 6th St., N. Y. C

For Private Showings!!
BROADWAY'S MOST INTIMATE THEATRE SEATING CAPACITY 299 ATTRACTIVE—UNIQUE Orchestra Pit—Uniformed Attendants—Cool Better than Any Projection Room WILL PUT YOUR PICTURE OVER For Terms—Address Box A, Wld's Daily
New Theaters

Under Construction
Montevideo, Minn.—M. J. Huss recently purchased a building and will remodel it into a picture theater.

Minn.—Excavation for the second Orpheum theater will be started within six weeks, and the building will probably be ready for occupancy by spring. Its estimated cost is between $600,000 and $700,000.

Melrose, Minn.—Work is progressing on the house being erected by the Melrose Amusement Co. It is to be an 800-seat house.

Montevideo, Minn.—The Eagle Lodge is erecting a house which is to be known as the Eagle theater.

Stockett, Mont.—The theater being erected by W. J. Cummings is almost completed.

Des Moines—A local syndicate is building a big theater. The house will be called the Alhambra and will show Loew’s vaudeville and feature pictures. It will open about Sept. 15th.

House Changes

St. Paul.—The Blue Bird will close, owing to the expiration of the lease.

New Ulm, Minn.—J. J. Dietz, has become owner of the G. W. Schlottman Grand hotel and New Grand theater property.

Des Moines—Albert & Getchel have sold the Empress, to the Adams Theater Circuit.

Cedar Falls, Ia.—The Regent has been taken over by B. H. Shepherd, formerly of Grundy Center, Iowa.

Grand Junction, Ia.—W. C. Rolls has bought the Rex.

Houses Planned

Ellsworth, Me.—Theater will be erected on the site of the Old Girgo Club on Main St. To cost $25,000.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Cheless theater showing pictures. Jack Brodie, manager.

Clinton, Ill.—Theater planned for South Center St.

Etna, Pa.—Spang Chalfont Co., to build.

Philadelphia.—Phillip Green to build at 4022 Girard Ave.

Devol, Okla.—E. A. Wine owns adorno opened recently.

Bruce, S. D.—Clarence Faulklin to open house shortly.

McKee’s Rocks, Pa.—Strand. Max Engelberg, managed by Harry Meyers, opened.

Los Angeles—Arthur S. Wenzel at Victory.

Houses Completed

Lynch Plan

Not Making Material Headway—October Set for Decision

Atlanta, Ga.—The “30 per cent of the gross” booking scheme promoted by the Lynch Enterprises, Famous Players-Lasky’s southern representative, has the southeast in a quandary. While the advocates are constantly bringing in new recruits and explaining the provisions of the percentage booking contract it is understood that few are actually signing the agreement. And from all accounts, no particular pressure is being brought to bear by the Lynch organization. The exhibitors are told that their theaters will be booked with “such pictures as we use in our own houses,” and they are given the impression that the Lynch organization is merely offering them the opportunity of coming in on the arrangement; they are told to “think the matter over” and to reach some decision by October.

The plan is intended for houses in cities of 10,000 and under.

Without doubt when the scheme was first launched the Lynch people led exhibitors to believe that practically all the pictures on the market would be available under their contract. Whether such an impression was given intentionally or inadvertently cannot be said, but a recent statement from a member of the Lynch fold very active in this theater acquisition explains that their agreement referred only to pictures which the Lynch organization controls.

The movement has created great unrest both in exhibiting and in distributing circles in the southeastern states. Many exhibitors say that they are reluctant to sacrifice their business and forego the element of individuality, but they are afraid to buck the Lynch interests, past experience having proven that the exhibitor who puts up a fight is too frequently the victim of Lynch’s power and money.

Cincinnati, O.—Cincinnati and Columbus Amusement Co., controlled by J. Libson and Harris Interests of Pittsburgh, bought Colonial for about $250,000.

Exchange Changes

Oahua—L. A. Getzler, former manager for Vitagraph is now with Pathe.

Omaha—Phil Monksy is now with Robertson-Cole. Formerly with Select.

Philadelphia—Frank Gill, formerly poster clerk for Republic, is now connected with the local office of Robertson-Cole, managed by his brother, John Gill.

Philadelphia—S. Applegate is selling short subjects for Republic.

San Francisco—Charles Meuhiman has resigned as manager of the local Fox office. Howard Sheehan, Fox’s western representative, is in charge awaiting the appointment of a successor.

Washington—Robert B. Smelzer is now Pathe sales manager in this territory.

Pittsburgh—The entire stock of photos, slides and paper handled by the Photo Exchange and Supply Co. has been bought by the Exhibitors’ Sign and Supply Exchange.

I. A. T. S. E. Moves

The I. A. T. S. E., the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Hand Employees and Moving Picture Operators of the U. S. and Canada, has moved from 46th St. to Room 701 of the World Tower Bldg., 110 W. 46th St.

Six Hurt As Plaster Drops

Newcastle, Ind.—Falling plaster injured six people standing under a balcony at the Princess. One of them was seriously hurt. A member of the Cincinnati fire department prevented others from creating a panic, the plaster falling into the aisles and covering those who were not injured with debris.

CASTING DIRECTORS ARE ALREADY INQUIRING ABOUT

Wid’s 1920 Year Book Will Tell

HERBERT BLACHE

Now directing

THE NEW YORK IDEA

with

ALICE BRADY

at Famous Players Studio

4 A WEEK

COMEDYART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUS-SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the cooperation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a “Special.” See the “Special” representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Hillman Bldg., LOS ANGELES

An Old Friend

William L. Lochren Film and Slide Co.

Minneapolis, Minn.

Wid’s Daily, New York.

Gentlemen:

It is just like shaking hands with an old friend, a real friend, when I pick up an issue of Wid’s. My best wishes for your continued success.

WILLIAM A. LOCHREN.
HER CRIME

She married out of her station in life when she accepted the offer of a rich young man to become his wife.

It's a play with heart throbs and powerful dramatic punches and is bound to be especially popular with women.

THE MISFIT WIFE

featuring ALICE LAKE

AND A NOTABLE CAST

Adapted from JULIE HERNE'S famous play by LOIS ZELLNER and A.P. YOUNGER

Directed by EDWIN MORTIMER

METRO
REALART STAR FRANCHISE

Contract for Thirty-six (36) Photoplays, Each Starring One of the Following: Mary Miles Minter, Alice Brady, Constance Binney, Wanda Hawley, Bebe Daniels or Justine Johnstone.

Decent Prints for Small Town Exhibitors

(From the "Motion Picture News," July 17)

The best thing that can be done for this industry right now, the one true rallying call for the great majority of American exhibitors, is a revolutionary change in the whole scheme of renting pictures which will give the small town exhibitor decent prints of the best pictures—the pictures which the public wants and of which we are now producing an adequate supply—at live and let live rental prices.

When we say the small town exhibitor we refer to eighty per cent of the picture theatres of the United States and Canada.

Put your finger at this point and you will touch the mainspring of independence today in the box-office of the American picture theatre.

SMALL TOWN exhibitors practically always can get Realart Pictures in from sixty to ninety days of their release. This is because Realart makes twice as many as the usual number of prints of each of its productions. The result is early delivery to the small exhibitor and prints which are in uniformly good condition.

As for live and let live prices, Realart's slogan is and always will be: We ask only our honestly earned share of the profits.

The solution of Mr. Johnston's problem is simple:

Get the Realart Star Franchise!

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY
Features Reviewed

THE MUTINY OF THE ELSINORE
C. E. Shurtleff, Inc.-Metro.......... Page 5

Harry Morey in.................. THE GAUNTLET
Vitagraph ........................................ Page 8

GOING SOME
Eminent Authors-Goldwyn .......... Page 9

Marshall Neilan's .................. GO AND GET IT
First National .................. Page 11

Bessie Barriscale in.............. LIFE'S TWIST
Robertson-Cole ................. Page 14

THE FIGHTING CHANCE
Paramount-Artcraft ............... Page 17

UNDER NORTHERN LIGHTS
Universal ........................... Page 19

Blanche Sweet in................. THE GIRL IN THE WEB
Hampton-Pathe .................. Page 21

Short Reels .......................... Page 23

WARNING
When you see an advertisement quoting a review from Wid’s daily check it up with the review. This may save deception or misunderstanding.

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.

News of the Week in Headlines

Monday
American Federation of Labor to act on resolution condemning films at August meeting.
International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and M. P. Operators of U. S. and Canada threaten strike if demands are not met.
Ralph Proctor resigns from Associated Exhibitors.

Tuesday
Reported several large exhibitors identified with First National are holding back on buying.
A. J. Callaghan reported to have signed George Arliss to appear in "The Devil" for First National release.
Laboratory workers around New York go on strike.
James M. Barrie to come to America in the fall to assist in making "Peter Pan" for Famous.

Wednesday
Reggie Morris new director general of Special Pictures Corp.
Theater circuit for India under way.
New deal on for distribution of Triangle re-issues and Hallmark productions.

Thursday
Holding company being formed for Selznick company.
Reported new theater chain with millions of capital.
Walter W. Irwin and Duponts mentioned.

Friday
Georgia film folk preparing to fight censorship.
First National to open own offices in Eastern Canada, displacing Regal.
Adolph Zukor wants to know personally about reported threats by Famous' employees to exhibitors.
Germany not worried over importation of American films.

Saturday
Production halts due to large number of pictures made ahead of schedule and other causes.
National booking plan causes Southeast no concern.
End of laboratory strike in sight.
Franco-American Cinematograph Co. will have American stockholders and support of French Government—$100,000,000 capital.
Here's the proof we told you UP IN MARY'S ATTIC was the biggest box office winner of the year.

---

Western Union Telegram

Newcomb Carlton, President, George W. E. Atkins, First Vice-President

Received At

C10203 56 NL

CHATTANOOGA TENN 20

1920 JUL 20 PM 8 30

FINE ARTS PICTURES, INC.

NEW YORK NY

UP IN MARY'S ATTIC BOOKED FOR A FOUR DAYS RUN AND HELD OVER FOR THE FIFTH DAY BREAKS ALL RECORDS AT THE CRITERION I CONSIDER THIS SPECIAL A ONE HUNDRED PERCENT BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION ALLOW ME TO CONGRATULATE YOU ITS A REAL MONEY GETTER

T C Thompson Manager Criterion Amusement Co

---

Fine Arts Pictures, Inc.

1457 Broadway - Phone Bryant 9500

For Territorial Rights

L. L. Hiller, 1476 Broadway

---

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class of Service</th>
<th>Symbol</th>
<th>Number</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Telegram</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Day Letter</td>
<td>J</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Night Message</td>
<td>M</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Night Letter</td>
<td>N L</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

If none of these three symbols appear after the check character of a message, the message character is indicated by the symbol appearing after the check.
Why It Can't and Won't Be Done!

A very strenuous effort will be made this year to tie up enough theaters to provide a definite outlet for any film made or bought by the producer-exhibitor groups working in this direction.

It looks to many as if this is a dangerous move and certainly it is not a healthy move, BUT, it will never succeed as at present outlined for some very definite reasons.

Just now there are several in New York who have this dream in mind.

Will they succeed—?

NO!—and why?

To begin with they don’t know how to play fair!

They do not trust others because they attribute to others the scheming, sharp practice, unfair methods which they use themselves!

They spend too much time TALKING about what they are going to do for others and thinking about what they can do for themselves!

They do not know production values and believe they can force the public to accept inferior films by virtue of the ownership of theaters!

They will never be able to develop or hold the individuals who have brains enough to make good films and without good films any group of theaters must fail.

They have the false idea that the public flock to certain theaters as a habit. In the past year many demonstrations to the contrary have forever killed that fool notion. The public to-day will make a success of any theater no matter how small or how handi-capped if good films are shown, properly advertised and properly presented!

The United Theaters plan had many theaters lined up but lacked films and other essentials!

Whenever one man or a committee tries to sit in New York and say what a film is worth nationally and force you to pay for it on that basis—I say he is a hypocrite when he tells you he's doing you a favor!

If that man or committee go out and try to sell that film openly “cards on the table,” for what they say it is worth that’s legitimate business, but when a national value is arbitrarily placed on a production and you are “forced” to buy it at that figure some one gets hurt.

If the film is not worth the figure GUESSED AT, then the exhibitors have been hurt!

If the film is worth much more than the figure arbitrarily GUESSED AT, then the producer has been hurt!

The real producing brains of the country will never work under such a system!

And without the producing brains to create good films no theater monopoly can succeed!

If big theater interests attempt to hire brains and buy productions outright for their houses—the personal profits, they will slip in between production and presentation for exhibition will be unfair and cause trouble! They will be unable to hold creative brains and unable to do business with independent exhibitors!

Figure it out yourself.—

It simply won't work!

You must never lose sight of the fact that this is now “show business.”—

The days of booking your films a year ahead and then letting the operator and ticket seller run the place for you passed out along with the automatic piano, and the wheezing sidewalk phonograph!

You can’t let some one else do your thinking for you and get by in this day and age!

You must buckle down to it and really buy your goods like any good merchant and then you must in turn sell them intelligently to your public!

Don’t let the fear germ bite you—There will be more good films to be bought independently this year than ever before—

Get interested in the game of being a “showman” and work at it—if you’re too lazy or haven’t the necessary brains then you had better sell your house quick.

Stop worrying about any national “bugaboo”—get busy on your own home grounds—

You’ll find plenty of good films to be bought without taking bad ones to get the good ones and then if you sell those films properly to your public you will be so busy handling the crowds you won’t have time to think about your competitor.—

Don’t worry now about next Spring—book films you know something about—When next Spring comes there will still be “too many” salesmen knocking at your door asking you please to buy—

Just remember what happened last year—It will be more so this year—

Keep your shirt on!

Wild Guinan
A "Dope Sheet" Written By Five Great Exhibitors

Five of the nation's most powerful first run exhibitors sat in New York the other night and figured a "form chart" on the twelve big producer and distributor factors in the motion picture industry.

These five men sat and figured in cold blood—they are not the particular friends or allies of anybody making or releasing pictures—how many really big productions (big in box-office earning power) would be delivered by these twelve organizations in twelve months from September 1st., 1920. Here is the table they prepared:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Company No.</th>
<th>Est. Big Pictures</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1.</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9.</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. [Associated Producers]</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

It is highly significant that the big first run factors expect more big pictures from the strong, capable, successful men who comprise Associated Producers, Inc. than from any other source in the industry.

To establish the above table the exhibitors listed every company in the industry; listed 150 directors and listed 250 stars or so-called stars.

We say to the exhibitors of the industry that if there are to be a total of 100 big pictures in the market next season Associated Producers will make and release 30 of the national total.

MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER
MAURICE TOURNEUR - J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.

HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
A Jack London Sea Story Turned Into Thrilling Picture

"THE MUTINY OF THE ELsinore"
C. E. Shurtleff Inc.—Metro

DIRECTOR .................. Edward Sloman
AUTHOR .................. Jack London
SCENARIO BY ............... Albert Shelby LeVino
CAMERAMAN ................ Jackson Rose
AS A WHOLE .............. Big, strong sea story with gripping theme and excellent production effects.

STORY ........... Virile to the core and finely developed throughout.

DIRECTION ...... Excellent in respect to sea stuff, fights and storm effects—put the punches over with fine skill.

PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Very good
LIGHTINGS ............ Fine; particularly in storm sequence.

CAMERA WORK .......... Mitch Lewis very good: Noah Beery, Casson Ferguson, Helen Ferguson and William Mong also do fine work.

EXTERIORS ............. Sea stuff—all good
INTERIORS ............. Realistic

DETAIL ............. Generally good

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Concerns unselfish actions of hero who makes a man of weakening heroine loves.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,950 feet

"The Mutiny of the Elsinore," is big. It is big in its fine, virile story of the sea, it is big in its excellent production and is big in respect to its unusually capable cast which Mitchell Lewis heads. The story may or may not be one of Jack London's best, but it certainly makes one of the best pictures as treated here. The continuity provided by Albert Shelby LeVino is a work of real skill when it comes to the handling of the various dramatic crises and the direction supplied by Edward Sloman is to be highly praised.

The story tells of the manner in which John Pike, first mate of the Elsinore, vows to care for Dick Somers, son of his benefactor, the captain of the ship, when his benefactor dies after being attacked by thugs. Pike sees that Dick is going to the bad and so forces him to join the crew of the Elsinore on a voyage. Margaret West, daughter of the present captain, is very fond of Dick and it is because of her that Pike, who loves her, brings the youngster aboard.

Shipped as second mate is Andreas Meallaire, one of the thugs who attacked the previous captain. He is now disguised with a beard. And the "Rat," Meallaire's enemy because of a betrayal, is among the crew.

After this "planting" of the characters and situations, the action moves forward with significant force. There is a fine sequence in which Dick overcomes his fear of the sea and proves his metal by rescuing a stunned man from a perilous position on a mast high above the decks.

Then Meallaire succeeds in bringing the villainous crew to mutiny. As a storm breaks the crew swarms the decks and attacks Pike, Dick and their few loyal followers. It isn't stretching the point at all to say that Director Sloman has here staged one of the finest sequences of his or any director's career. The storm effects are realistic to a degree, the lighting and photographic work without faults. And the fight itself is staged with all the terrific realism that one could demand. Meallaire comes to an end when the "rat" knives him. The two are swept overboard in a death grapple. Pike is mortally wounded, but when the storm has cleared away he places Dick's hand in Margaret's, for the young man has proven himself.

Mitchel Lewis is fine as the big-hearted, simple John Pike. He lives the role and creates many a wave of emotion on his own account. The rest are all very good and include besides those mentioned, Sidney D'Albrook, Norval MacGregor and John P. Lockney.

Book This and Get Ready for Some Red Letter Days

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Here is certainly a picture that you can bank on. Without doubt it is one of the best seen in recent months and the days you show it ought to stand long as red letter days on your calendar. An extended run is certainly justified in this case, for after a few performances the probability is that the crowds will come flocking to your house. This picture will advertise itself and do the job in a big way.

You have much to advertise regarding this. The fact that it is an adaptation of a Jack London work is the biggest point in your advantage. Go strong on this angle. And then talk about the wonderful production that Director Sloman has given the story, particularly in the big scenes. They'll certainly remember him for his work here.

Mention also Mitchel Lewis. His work here is probably better than anything he has done since "The Barrier." The supporting cast will stand out too, so mention them prominently in your advertising.
EXHIBITORS

HOLD OPEN TIME

FOR

The MIRACLE PICTURE of 1920

CHARLES RANN KENNEDY'S

DYNAMIC DRAMATIC CHALLENGE TO THE

PEOPLE OF TODAY AND TOMORROW

"THE SERVANT

IN THE HOUSE"

AN H.O. DAVIS PRODUCTION,

OF ONE OF THE MOST TIMELY, VITAL AND A

TREMENDOUS LITERARY AND DRAMATIC TRI-

UMPHS EVER TRANSFERRED TO THE SCREEN-

WITH A NOTABLE AND IMPRESSIVE CAST.

A PHOTOPLAY THAT HAS $500,000 WORTH OF

ADVERTISING BACK OF IT, IN THE FORM OF A SEN-

SATIONAL STAGE SUCCESS, THOUSANDS OF COLUMNS

OF NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE PUBLICITY, AND

SUCH GENERAL COMMENT AND COMMENDATION

AS HAVE BEEN ACCORDED NO OTHER PLAY

AND BOOK OF THE PRESENT GENERATION.

FULL LINE OF BUSINESS GETTING AD-

VERTISING MATTER ESPECIALLY DESIGNED

TO EMPHASIZE THE UNUSUAL EXPLOITATION

POSSIBILITIES OF THIS UNIQUE PHOTOPLAY
"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"

HAD ITS PREMIER SHOWING AT MOORE'S STRAND THEATRE, WASH. D.C.
WHERE IT SCORED AN EMPHATIC SUCCESS WITH THE PRESS AND PUBLIC

NO FURTHER BOOKINGS WILL BE MADE UNTIL THE OPENING OF THE FALL SEASON

DISTRIBUTING PLANS ANNOUNCED LATER

ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO
FILM BOOKING OFFICES, INC.
729 SEVENTH AVENUE
NEW — YORK — CITY.
Poor Handling of Conventional Story Material Here

Harry Morey in
"THE GAUNTLET"
Vitagraph ....

DIRECTOR ............... Edwin L. Hollywood
AUTHORS ............. Lillian Bennett-Thompson and George Hubbard.
SCENARIO BY ............ Fred Schaefer
CAMERAMAN ............. Robert Stuart.
AS A WHOLE ............ Utilizes very conventional characters and material, but they haven't been whipped into good shape.

STORY ........ Generally very tame—takes full reel to get going.

DIRECTION ....................... Fair
PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Poor to average
LIGHTINGS ........................ Some very poor
CAMERA WORK .................... Average
STAR .......................... Pleases
SUPPORT ......................... Acceptable
EXTERIORS ... Usual Cumberland mountain stuff.
INTERIORS ..................... Plain but suitable
DETAIL ......................... Average
CHARACTER OF STORY .... Hero, mistaken by moonshiners as "revenuer" wins heroine despite all odds.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........... 4,629 feet.

"The Gauntlet," with its familiar scenes in the Cumberland mountains, its moonshiners, its hero from the north, who is promptly mistaken for a revenue officer and with its romance ever menaced by a hot-headed unsuccessful suitor and divers other villainies, is cut from very conventional cloth. Moreover, those who did the cutting were in no way skillful. With all its familiar old ingredients "The Gauntlet," fails to reach the level of interesting conventionality. The material has been handled poorly for the most part and the story never gets out of the rut into which it falls at the outset.

The entire first reel is given over to the laborious introduction of some dozen-odd characters, only a few of which have much to do with the actual plot.
Then once the hero, Roderick Beverly, lands in the midst of the Kentucky hill-tops, the usual action begins. He is mistaken for a revenue officer by a moonshining gang and warned to "keep away from the ridge," unless he wants to feel the sting of hot-head.

Nessy, member of one of the moonshiner's clans, has just returned from school in civilized parts and her cultivated senses rebel against the sordidness of her relatives' lives. Meeting Roderick she promptly falls in love with him giving her erstwhile moonshining suitor, Buck, the exit gate.

This action of hers precipitates the usual time-honored situation of cross-purposes and complications further arise when Buck kills one of Nessy's relatives and so revives an old feud. However, he succeeds in throwing the blame on Roderick. At Nessy's plea that she will marry him if he frees Roderick, the guileless Buck confesses to the murder before an angry gathering of clansmen and is promptly shot and killed. Roderick is thus brought to the arms of Nessy. The business mission of which Roderick first goes southward is somewhat neglected in the action caused by the moonshiners. But there is a scene showing him discovering iron on his father's property when taking a drink from a spring and he has the satisfaction of at last seeing the tool of rival business who has been taking pot shots at him from the start, go to his death because of a cause of mistaken identity.

There is not much suspense to any part of this. The action itself failing to stir up the emotions, the subtitle writer strove to do it on his own in a number of cases, but his unassisted efforts gain little headway.

Harry Morey pleases in the role of Roderick and Louishta Valentine appears as Nessy. Among the others are Henry Hallan, Herbert Pattee, Walter Horton, Eleanor Barry, Charles Eldridge, Frank Hagby, Matthew Beitz, Bernard Siegel and Robert Gaillard.

Star's Personality Outstanding Feature of This

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

The basic material of this is covered with long whiskers, and, as has been said, the handling is not of the best. You may get by with the offering on the short end of a double feature bill, before the star's following or in the smaller houses where the real good ones don't very often come. But at that the standard of the more commonplace releases of the day is a little better than this.

The best course to follow if this is played is to concentrate on the fine personality of the star, which is again in evidence here, despite all handicaps offered by story and production.

You haven't much chance to present the story in an unconventional light. But if you think the old Kentucky mountain moonshiner-feud story still attracts, go to it.
ROBERTSON-COLE

Will Present
During the 1920-21 Season
a Minimum of

36 Productions
All Super-Specials
THE motion picture trade concedes that Robertson-Cole has by its "honesty of purpose" policy and by the superior class of its productions built for itself a secure foundation and an enviable reputation in this industry.

"To further strengthen this two-fold combination and to increase the elaborateness and entertainment value of its pictures, Robertson-Cole has secured stars, directors and stories in keeping with its promise to give the exhibitors the foremost attractions obtainable, regardless of the investment required.

"During 1920-21 a minimum of thirty-six super-specials will be distributed by Robertson-Cole. To properly present these productions to exhibitors will mean an expenditure of millions. However, each release must be of sufficiently high calibre to attain the standard by which Robertson-Cole has established itself in the industry, or it shall not be offered to exhibitors.

"By our progress we are justified in believing that we have the exhibitors' confidence. We intend to maintain it—and we shall—with really big specials of assured box office values, plus a sound business administration."

A. S. KIRKPATRICK
Vice President and General Manager
ROBERTSON-COLE DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
The First Ten Productions

PAULINE FREDERICK
The undisputed star of dramatic emotion—with all producing restrictions removed—surrounded and supported by the best brains, talent and genius obtainable, leaves nothing more to be said regarding her first super-special.

OTIS SKINNER in "KISMET"
This mighty combination has been regarded with envious eyes by every motion picture company in America. The public, which has long marveled at the stage production, will sit amazed at the grandeur of the unlimited screen version. It shall be undoubtedly the most magnificent attraction of the season.

"SO LONG, LETTY!"
The celebrated OLIVER MOROSCO stage success with a cast such as seldom assembled even for big specials, and personally directed by AL. E. CHRISTIE, is a combination which assures a production that the public will clamor to see. Its exploitation possibilities are unlimited.

LEW CODY in "THE MISCHIEF MAN" (Working Title)
"THE MISCHIEF MAN," like "THE BELOVED CHEATER," and "THE BUTTERFLY MAN," is a delightful fascination. It is another unique characterization, one more triumph for LEW CODY—anther treat for the public that demands "something new"—another "clean-up" for the exhibitor.

WILLIAM CHRISTY CABANNE is now visualizing a remarkable story of his own that required over a year to write. To be penned so painstakingly by one of the screen's greatest directors is proof of its picture possibilities. It is Mr. Cabanne's aim to make it his cinema masterpiece—the moulding of a powerfully human theme into a phenomenal sensation.
A Notable Array of Super-Specials

MAE MARSH
The characterizations of this little artiste are distinctive and admirable. After an enforced absence from the screen she is again to bring to it, in soul-appealing romances of every-day life, her quaint eloquence which creeps close to the hearts of theatregoers.

SESSUE HAYAKAWA in "THE FIRST BORN"
The famed stage success, "THE FIRST BORN" moulded into a classic of the films by the remarkable dramatic ability of SESSUE HAYAKAWA, one of the screen's most distinguished actors, will be an unquestioned box-office asset.

DUSTIN FARNUM in "BIG HAPPINESS"
A powerful, clean story of the great outdoors, "Big Happiness" has a tremendous dramatic appeal and a vivid moral in manliness. DUSTIN FARNUM claims it to be his greatest histrionic triumph.

"THE BEACH OF DREAMS"
From a sensational novel by H. de VERE STACPOOLE, "THE BEACH OF DREAMS" depicts a story ranging from society magnificence to the desert island crudity of romance. It is a rare ensemble of keen action, exquisite beauty, and remarkable talent, in all star cast which includes EDITH STOREY, CAPT. TEMPLAR POWELL and JOSEPH SWICKARD.

"813," AN ARSENE LUPIN STORY
"813" is produced with all the lavishness of modern picturecraft. Detective stories hold a fascination for people in every walk of life and the ARSENE LUPIN stories by MAURICE LE BLANC are the greatest in all fiction. WEDGWOOD NOWELL is an admirable Lupin, strongly supported by KATHRYN ADAMS, WALLACE BEERY, WILLIAM MONG, FREDERICK VROOM, H. MILTON ROSS and other sterling players.
Directors Who Are Now Producing Future Robertson-Cole Super-Specials

CHRISTY CABANNE
Producing a Powerful Drama

JOHN G. ADOLFI
Directing MAE MARSH

L. J. GASNIER
Directing "Kismet"

AL. T. CHRISTIE
Directing "The Long Lese"
Some Good Comedy Moments Here But There Are Quite a Few Lapses

"GOING SOME"
Eminent Authors—Goldwyn

DIRECTOR .................. Harry Beaumont
AUTHOR ........................ Rex Beach
SCENARIO BY ................ Lawrence Trimble
CAMERAMAN .................. Norbert Brodin

AS A WHOLE ...... Difference in pep and sparkle between original and this is marked—frequent lapses here but comes through with moderate number of laughs.

STORY ...... Funny when it deals with business concerning foot-race, but slips at other times.

DIRECTION ...... Average; seems to have overlooked some comedy possibilities.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ........................ Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .................. Commendable
LEADING PLAYERS ........ Good; no outstanding personalities except Willard Louis in comedy role.

EXTERIORS .................. Mostly western
INTERIORS .................. Satisfactory
DETAIL ........................ All right

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Concerns rather serious consequences which hinge on outcomes of comedy foot-race.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... 5,453 feet.

As a book and again as a play, Rex Beach's "Going Some" possessed considerable pep and sparkle. It may be a change in comedy standards of the day when "Going Some" was new and those in vogue today, but whatever the cause, the pictured version of the Beach opus scores only moderately well. There are many lapses in it. These occur when the director attempts to get serious with reference to some of the details of the plot. The comedy concerning the foot-race is all very good, but the serious moments are as dry as the desert which surrounds their location. And the romantic element, quite necessary in an offering of this kind, is largely conspicuous only by its absence.

The story opens at Yale where J. Wallingford Speed, prize cheer leader of the university, tells Helen Blake, who adores athletes, that he really is a star track man and is only out of the race then going on because of his refusal to run against his pal, the champion. Helen swallows this whole and proceeds to start in loving Speed.

The action then shifts to a run down sheep ranch in the west, where the prize runner's sister has gone to obtain a divorce from her husband. Incident to her establishing a residence there she is holding a house party. The men of the sheep ranch are peaved over the fact that the cook at the next camp has beaten their crack runner and caused them all to go broke as a result. Helen exploits Speed as Yale's crack runner and when he arrives, with a trainer for camouflage, he agrees to run the race.

But matters take an ominous turn when the boys discover how seriously the men of the ranch take the race. To top it all oil is discovered on the would-be divorcee's ranch just after she has bet it on the race. The real star runner shows up with a lame foot and so Speed has to go through with it. How it all comes out for the best is told in a climax which is really the best part of the picture.

The comedy, much of it, is in the capable hands of Willard Louis, who appears as the trainer unfamiliar with the ways of the wild west, six-shooters and the like. He gets a laugh whenever he wants one but isn't very prominent in the cast. Of the rest, Helen Ferguson, Lillian Langdon, Lillian Hall, Kenneth Harlan, Ethel Grey Terry, Walter Hiers, M. B. Flynn and Sniitz Edwards, all render capable performances, but none of them registers any outstanding personality.

This Will Draw With Author's Name and Please Moderately

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

A good display of the title of this picture and reference to the fact that it is adapted from Rex Beach's well known book and play of the same name will doubtless draw good crowds to your house. While the picture itself fails in some respects to live up to expectations, it is by no means to be passed over without consideration. The comedy of the races and the stuff injected by Willard Louis is all pretty surefire and serves to carry the pictures in many respects.

Certainly, you won't have many strenuous kicks on this, although the whole thing would have been better if they had put more pep in the action and forgotten to get serious so much.

There are no big names in the cast to exploit so you'd better concentrate almost entirely on the author's name. A book-store tie-up could be worked here to advantage. Anything suggesting college and the athletic track would be appropriate for lobby and stage decorations, while college songs before or during the running of the feature would be appropriate.
Carl Laemmle presents a Great Overseas Drama of Secret Diplomacy and the Three Loves of Woman

TSURU with J. BARNEY AOKI with SHERRY and an All-Star Cast

"The BREATH of the GODS"

Directed by Rollin Sturgeon

Arthur Carewe  Ethel Shannon  J. Barney Sherry  Stanhope Wheatcroft

THIS is a heart picture through and through—but a heart picture staged in the midst of diplomatic happenings that give it the big background of world affairs rich with drama. The story of a little Japanese person whose love affairs became so entangled with her duties to her husband and her country as to make her suddenly the storm centre of a tremendous international crisis. Played by a great all-star cast with all the finish that their names suggest, "THE BREATH OF THE GODS" is one of those rare productions whose plot, settings and general excellence make it linger long in the memories of everybody class of audience.

See it this week at the ASTOR THEATRE

UNIVERSAL JEWEL-SUPERPRODUCTION
Neilan Has Done It Again—This One is a Sensational Knockout

Marshall Neilan's
"GO AND GET IT"
First National

DIRECTORS . Marshall Neilan and Henry Symonds
AUTHOR ......................... Marion Fairfax
SCENARIO BY ................. Frances Marion
CAMERAMAN ...................... David Kesson
AS A WHOLE ................. Great stuff—remarkable combination of thrills, humor and romance.

STORY ....................... Very wild but it "gets" you DIRECTION ................. Excellent; airplane stuff remarkable; comedy good; suspense built up admirably.
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Excellent
LIGHTINGS ..................... Same
CAMERA WORK ............ Wonderful in airplane sequence LEADING PLAYERS ........ Pat O'Malley and Agnes Ayres do fine work; Wesley Barry handles comedy.

SUPPORT ...................... Good throughout
EXTERIORS ..................... Very good
INTERIORS ...................... Very realistic; include some actual shots of newspaper plant.

DETAIL ......................... Fine
CHARACTER OF STORY .......... Reporter scoops newspaper world on weird story and increases value of paper for owner who is heroine.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,300 feet

"Go and Get It," must be recorded as a knockout. It is a marvelous combination of pop-eyed melodrama, romance, comedy and big thrills. It contains a story that, modestly speaking, is awful. There isn't a bit of common or garden logic in the story. But, as the censor boards would say, there's a wonderful moral effect. The moral is the same one that ran through the pages of Nick Carter and his companion heroes of the old attic but, and Irvin Cobb backs up the statement; it's a great old moral. You're with Kirk Connely, newspaper reporter supreme, all the way through "Go and Get it," while he is going and getting his startling scoop and, b'gosh, at the end you're liable to stand up and cheer him.

Kirk doesn't believe in frequenting a saloon's back room and 'phoning the town over for his story, not much. His task is to charter an airplane, chase after the French consul, transfer to said consul's plane in midair, jump back to his own again, chase an express train and drop to its roof, jump on his plane again and then give chase to an ocean liner headed in the general direction of Europe.

The story is all about the dishonest business manager of a newspaper belonging to Helen Allen. Gordon, this manager, is attempting to run the paper to the ground so that he and his colleague can buy it for a song. But Helen Allen places a sob-sister in the office who is her mouthpiece so to speak. Working hand in hand (and heart in heart), with Kirk, she soon discovers that Gordon is crooked.

Then Kirk gets his nose into a story about a doctor who transferred the brain of a hanged ganster to an ape. The ape proceeds to murder all the late gangster's enemies, and Kirk apprehends him as he is about to take the life of the last one. The murderers have stumped the police and Kirk has a wonderful scoop for his paper. And the sob sister turns out to be Helen Allen herself. Of course Kirk gets the job of publisher.

There is two-ply suspense to the windup of the story. Kirk encounters enemies in digging up the details of the mystery and has to fight for his life. In addition to this you are kept on edge wondering whether the crooked business manager will prevent the scoop from going to the presses. But the whole picture is so admirably directed that you're keyed up to the suspense point at all times.

Pat O'Malley and Agnes Ayres are fine in the principal roles. Wesley Barry is the center of comedy that is all burlesque, but it's great. J. Barkey Sherry, Noah Beery, Charles Mailes, Bull Montana (the ape), Walter Long and Charles West are others.

Don't Worry About This—Go and Get It!
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Follow the command of the title. Go and get this whatever you have to cancel or whatever it costs you. Here's a picture that certainly is going to "get" all the audiences in creation. It's perfect audience stuff and there are bets down that this breaks other Neilan records.

Tell them its a story of a newspaper reporter. Speak of the thrills. Get them in any way you can. But after you get them coming nothing on earth is going to keep them away. You can be sure enough of this to book the picture for an extended run right now.

Go strong on Marshall Neilan's name. His other First National pictures have good records back of them. You know that. And he's come through again with this one. Folks will remember the other two. Mention them and then concentrate on what he offers you here. But get phone (or your hat now) and GO AND GET IT.
Note: The above title has been chosen to take the place of "The Return of Tarzan," because of the better exploitation possibilities it offers the exhibitors.

ALL POSTERS, MATS, CUTS AND OTHER ACCESSORIES HAVE BEEN CHANGED TO READ

THE

REVENGE

OF

TARZAN
THE REVENGE OF TARZAN

—is a better title in every way than the old one.

It is stronger. It is more dramatic. It packs a punch.

All advertising and exploitation aids have been changed to read

THE REVENGE OF TARZAN

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORPN.
Very Human Situation and Unusual Plot Make This Entertaining

Bessie Barriscale in "LIFE'S TWIST"
Robertson-Cole

DIRECTOR ................... William Christy Cabanne
AUTHOR ..................... Thomas Edgelowe
SCENARIO BY ................ Harvey Gates
CAMERAMAN ................ Eugene Gaudio

AS A WHOLE ...... Good production given human story, while star's dual characterization always interests.

STORY .................. Based on human situation and developing through unusual plot.

DIRECTION ................. Entirely satisfactory

PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Very good LIGHTINGS .................. Good

CAMERA WORK .......... Camera could have been placed nearer scenes in some sequences to better effect

STAR .......... Creates great interest through very clever dual characterization.

SUPPORT ................. Generally very good EXTERIORS .................. Good INTERIORS .................... Very good

DETAIL .................. Very good

CHARACTER OF STORY ..... Very ignorant girl of the slums awakens wife to her husband's love

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ... About 5,200 feet

Bessie Barriscale appears in a dual role in "Life's Twist" and her widely different characterizations prove very interesting. The picture isn't possessed of any great force nor does it always move at a pace fast enough to demand undivided attention, but at the same time the work of the star combined with a plot that unites a very human situation with more or less unusual twists, works to its general good.

Miss Barriscale appears as the wife of Stephen De Koven, a man who admires her loveliness, but who has married for her money. Discovering this on her wedding night, Mrs. De Koven, her love for her husband and her pride wounded, elects to live her life alone, seeing her husband only when formalities demand.

The star also appears as Tina, an uncultured toiler, whom life has treated harshly in all respects. De Koven chances to meet her and notes the resemblance to his wife. Believing that it is merely his wife's beauty that attracts him, he prepares to enter upon an affair with the amazed Tina. But it doesn't take him long to discover that Tina would make a poor substitute. He realizes that it is his wife only that he loves.

How the estranged couple come together again largely through the services of Tina, makes a climax of fitting character to this rather peculiar story. Mrs. De Koven discovers that her husband has not touched one penny of her money, rather has he made himself invaluable to her father in his business and all obstacles between them are swept away.

Miss Barriscale renders two clearly defined characterizations, both of which deserve praise. Her work as Tina is truly rare and while the role has its moments of real tragedy, it possesses as well a welcome and balancing portion of humor. As the wife the star also acquits herself with great credit. Her performance is queenly. Walter McGrail appears as De Koven, while William Mong scores another hit in a modest character part. Others are Marcia Manon, Claire Dubrey (and here's an actress who knows how to make a society snob real), George Periolat, Truly Shattuck and last but not least King Baggot, who appears in a prominent semi-heavy role. The production details are entirely satisfactory.

Nothing Big About This But You Can Make a Good Card of It

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Here's a picture that offers perfectly satisfactory entertainment and one which, particularly if your people like the star and you play the story from the right angle, should draw well and result in generally pleased audiences, despite its lack of force or any pretentious qualities.

Miss Barriscale is well known. Feature her well and say that she plays a dual role here, the part of a society woman and that of an ignorant toiler.

Give the story a play from these angles, "Kipling said the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady were sisters under the skin. Are they? Conditions, station in life—don't they make a difference?" "She knew her husband had married her for her money and loathed him for it. But she didn't sense his fast growing love and respect for her until awakened to it by a child of the gutter. See how in.—"

These lines aim to create an interest in the unusual character of story at the same time not revealing the plot essentials. This course should be followed in advertising the story to your public.
The MAN on the LOOKOUT for a Good Screen Drama to fill an open date

today—not next September

Will not overlook the great melodrama of the Maine woods

King Spruce
from the novel by Holman Day

Take your patrons on a joy ride to Maine—to the borderline of civilization. Give them a thrill of forest fires flaring, log dams bursting, strong men fighting, great love calling.
In fact, give them "King Spruce."

In Maine the Gray Circuit is playing "King Spruce" because they know it is the real thing. The Beacon and
The Modern play "King Spruce" for first runs in Boston.
It plays The Regent, Kansas City, and The Regent, Pittsburgh. "King Spruce" plays The Garrick in St. Louis and The Palace at Buffalo, The Tabor Grand at Denver and The Liberty at Spokane and The Palace at New Orleans.

SPRUCE UP YOUR THEATRE BUSINESS WITH "KING SPRUCE"

Produced by
DIAL FILM COMPANY

Directed by
ROY CLEMENTS

Distributed by
W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PATHÉ Exchange, Incorporated
"The Most Beautiful Blonde Since Venus" is the phrase a famous artist used to describe

Ruby De Remer

as she appears in

Joseph Levering's Production

As a nurse she falls under suspicion and so down into poverty and want. She answers a strange newspaper ad: "Wanted: A Temporary Wife". How she marries and wins the man of her heart leads to a smashing and thrilling climax.

Ruby De Remer and Mary Boland both wear rare and beautiful gowns. Women delight in the big wedding dinner scene.

The celebrated cast also includes Edmund Breese, Eugene Strong-Armond Cortes and W. T. Carleton. Joseph Levering directed the production of "His Temporary Wife"—a screen picturization of Robert Ames Bennett's popular novel.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PATHE Exchange, Incorporated
Foreign distributor INTER-OCEAN FILM CORP

"His TEMPORARY WIFE"
Production Values and Fine Direction Work Great Success Here

"THE FIGHTING CHANCE"
Paramount—Artcraft

DIRECTOR .................. Charles Maigne
AUTHOR .................. Robert W. Chambers
SCENARIO BY ................. Will M. Ritchey
CAMERAMAN ................ Faxon M. Dean

AS A WHOLE ... Sumptuous production of typical Chambers romance—rich in color and interest

STORY ...... Somewhat out-of-date in its essentials, but details and production values put it over forcefully.

DIRECTION ...... Story is told in typical Chambers style and has peculiar fascination.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Fine
LIGHTINGS .......................... Splendid
CAMERA WORK .................. Excellent

LEADING PLAYERS ...... Conrad Nagel and Anna Nilsson do admirable work.

SUPPORT ........................ Very good
INTERIORS ... Many very extravagant settings enhance story value.

SETTINGS .................... Unusual in details
DETAIL .......................... Fine

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Lovers, kept apart through heroine’s heartless yearning for great wealth, finally brush this and other obstacles aside.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION........ 5,894 feet

Here is a picture that will certainly attract and fully entertain large audiences. Credit for this goes chiefly to the director, Charles Maigne. "The Fighting Chance" is considered by many as Robert W. Chamers greatest story. Perhaps it is. However, some of its essentials, such as the heroine’s almost foolish regard for wealth and the snobs of society have come to be a bit passe, particularly in the period since the war. But as far as romance goes, "The Fighting Chance" has abundant material.

Despite the attractiveness of the story on the printed page, it presented a difficult aspect to the director. Similar to all Chambers’ works dialogue was in a way its pièce de resistance. Transferring this dialogue into interesting action was the trick to make a good picture. This Director Maigne has done. And it is this, that many another director has failed to do in visualizing a Chambers’ story.

The director was aided by a sumptuous production lending a distinct value to the picture. The interiors are lavish to the last degree and the exteriors are embellished with various interesting details such as the bird hunt, the bowling and archery contests that lend vivid color to the whole.

Director Maigne has pictured the story as Chambers would have done. His work contains a number of rather careful characterizations in which he has been aided by a remarkably well balanced and able cast.
The story has as its chief figures, Sylvia Landis, who believes she must marry wealth and Stephen Siward, a man who is burdened with the drink habit. Their meeting results in a case of love at first sight and the major portion of the action concerns Sylvia’s fight against her selfish belief that she must have untold riches, Stephen’s battle with his hereditary habit and their various meetings, during which their mutual love grows stronger. In the story’s little by-plots and various lavish settings and fascinating details, the main line of action is thrown against an ideal background.

Anna Nilsson and Conrad Nagel are seen in the principal roles, both performing with a fine sense of what is required of them and both creating characters that possess poignant appeal. Clarence Burton, Dorothy Davenport, Herbert Pryor, Ruth Helma, Bertram Grassby, Maude Wayne, Frederick Stanton and William H. Brown all acquit themselves creditably in every sense of the word.

Many Things in This to Draw the Crowds and Please Them

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"The Fighting Chance," is certain of a fairly large share of success particularly before metropolitan audiences. It is a picture that will owe this success in a large measure to its striking production values.
Nothing has been overlooked to give the picture a setting fitting to reflect the actions of the group of brilliant society people with which it deals. The backgrounds are time and again fascinating in themselves alone and readily substitute for the author’s remarkable descriptive power on the printed page.

In advertising this go strong on the author’s name and the title of the story as “The Fighting Chance” is considered one of his best works. Also play upon the extreme sumptuousness and fine taste of the whole
production.

You have Anna Nilsson and Conrad Nagel to feature in the leading roles. You know Miss Nilsson and her work and so do your fans. In all probability, they know Nagel, too. He has done a few pictures but he has also had a long career on the stage, traveling much of the time, that will lend a box office value to his name.
YOU WILL SOON KNOW
why
HEMMER SUPERIOR PRODUCTIONS
are really SUPERIOR—the name wasn’t just picked at random.

Watch for the first SUPERIOR release now nearing completion, under personal direction of EDWARD HEMMER, former manager of Mary Pickford.

The superior features of SUPERIOR PRODUCTIONS will make for you the same enviable reputation and recompense that the ability and experience of this director made for America’s screen star.

Look for this new picture—Photography and Cast complete—Editing of film now going on—Ready for release about September 1st.

The mark of SUPERIOR PRODUCTIONS

The Playhouse

137 West 48th Street
Telephone Bryant 4193

New York City
Very Conventional Story and Production

"UNDER NORTHERN LIGHTS"

Universal

DIRECTOR .................. Jacques Jaccard
AUTHOR ..................... Jacques Jaccard
SCENARIO BY ............. Kay Harrison
CAMERAMAN ................ Not Credited

AS A WHOLE ...... Fairly entertaining production with conventional story and average treatment.

STORY ...... Concerns our old friend, the hero of the Northwest Mounted Police force.

DIRECTION .................... Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ..................... Good
CAMERA WORK ..................... Satisfactory
LEADING PLAYERS.... Not at all well known but do satisfactory work.

SUPPORT ..................... All right
EXTERIORS ..................... Good
INTERIORS ..................... Suf-fice
DETAIL ...................... One slip in direction

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Hero confronted with usual struggle between love and duty when brother of heroine commits a crime.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,575 feet

This picture offers passable entertainment but it is in no shape to successfully compete with the average production of the day. It is lacking in all "feature" departments.

The story has as its hero, our old friend the Northwest Mounted Policeman. MacLeod he is this time. He is in love with Suzanne, daughter of the innkeeper at a little Canadian post. MacLeod finds a half-breed Indian baby, discarded by its downcast mother and puts it in Suzanne's charge.

Suzanne's brother returns from the gold fields and indulges in a card game with the villain of the town. This villain is really the father of the child. The brother detects the villain cheating, the latter makes a slurring remark regarding Suzanne and the fight is on. It's a good one and at the end the villain lies dead and MacLeod finds himself confronted with the rather nasty task of taking the brother of the girl he loves into custody.

In the meantime MacLeod's colored servant has discovered the body of the dead Indian maiden and in her hand a note reads that the villain is the guilty party. The colored man heads for the hero's headquarters but is chased by a bear.

MacLeod arrests Suzanne's brother and so earns the scorn of the girl. The negro at last reaches him with the note, and because this stamps the dead villain as very, very villainous, MacLeod turns his back, giving the brother his chance to escape to the border. Another member of the Northwest mounted takes a shot at the fleeing man and accidently hits MacLeod but his recovery is rapid and he is once more received by the girl of his heart.

Incidentally, MacLeod was shot in the neck and when he next appears his neck seems all right while his arm is in a sling.

None of the players in this are well known, the cast consisting of William Buckley, Virginia Faire, Leonard Clapham, Herbert Dethew, Charles Brinley, Ben Corbett, Frank Staples, Oleta Ottis and Kay Harrison.

HOWARD M. MITCHELL

Directed

"MOLLY AND I"

Starring SHIRLEY MASON—for Fox

Considered by critics to be a box-office attraction of unusual merit.

Latest Release—

"THE LITTLE WANDERER"

Starring SHIRLEY MASON

Title of present production to be announced shortly.

ADDRESS: Fox West Coast Studios
Nothing Special to Feature in This
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"UNDER NORTHERN LIGHTS"
Universal

Here is a feature that has its place before the small audiences and in the houses that don't cater to the picture-wise crowds. Such audiences usually demand a thrill or two in their entertainment and these are provided in "Under Northern Lights," when the hero and his companion capture a frisky cow and milk her under difficulties, so that the Indian baby can have its breakfast, and again in the fight scene.

Beyond this, however, the feature is very short on material. The exhibitor who wants something big in the way of a name, or a sensational stunt will be at a loss when it comes to this. The cast doesn't include anyone with a name and the rest of the picture measures along the same lines. It might register all right on a double feature bill, providing the other number delivered the real goods.

WALLACE WORSLEY
Directed
"THE PENALTY"
Scenario by Charles Kenyon to be released by Eminent Authors—Goldwyn

Keep your eye open for it ! ! !

Other recent releases
"THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME"
"THE STREET CALLED STRAIGHT"

Address Goldwyn Studios, Culver City California.

Film-Lore Offers a Real Treat for Originality, Quality, and Theme

BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery, and Science by

ALEXANDRE A. STUART

FILM-LORE PRODUCTIONS CO., Inc.
18-20 WEST 34th STREET  NEW YORK CITY
Mystery Story With Trite Plot and Confusing Twists

Blanche Sweet in
"THE GIRL IN THE WEB"

Hampton-Pathe

DIRECTOR ......................... Robert Thornby
AUTHOR ........................... Geraldine Bonner
SCENARIO BY .................... Waldemar Young
CAMERAMAN ........................ Charles Kaufman
AS A WHOLE.............. Rather trite and long drawn out mystery story creating only small measure of suspense.
STORY ...... Mystery built up on rather false leads that aren't cleared up convincingly.
DIRECTION ...... Satisfactory considering material
PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Very good
LIGHTINGS ........................ Very good
CAMERA WORK .................... Commendable
STAR ...... Her good work and clever personality count to picture's credit.
SUPPORT ............................. Very good
EXTERIORS ........................ Some very pretty
INTERIORS ............................ Good DETAIL ...... Some story details not made clear at conclusion.
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Private secretary of rich family accused of theft—clears self and saves real culprit.
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 5,400 feet

"The Girl in the Web" doesn't get into the Class A of mystery stories due to its very trite foundation and the various false and unconvincing leads it introduces.
The story is also rather long drawn out and becomes rather tiresome as the footage goes on and no real suspense is built up. The conclusion, true enough, is kept safely guarded until the end, but when finally the author shows her hand you become rather peeved at her for employing such trite methods of deception.

The good writer of mystery gets your admiration for his cleverness.

Blanche Sweet appears as Esther, the private secretry in the home of the Janneys. Mrs. Price, the daughter of the house, who has quarreled with her husband causing him to leave her, is in debt because of her bridge playing and her appeal to her mother for funds falling on deaf ears, she rifles the safe during the night and manages to plant a piece of Esther's clothing near the spot so that she will be accused.

In the meantime Esther carries on a mysterious mail correspondence with Mr. Price and also keeps in touch with him over the telephone. Detectives are led to believe that they are guilty of the burglary.
Dick Ferguson, from the estate adjacent to the Janneys, continues to believe in Esther despite the fact that all signs point to the contrary.

Then in the midst of things Mrs. Price's child is kidnapped and she employs a detective to work on the case. The kidnappers demand money and the detective advises Mrs. Price to meet their demands. This line of action winds up with the disclosure that the detective himself is the kidnapper.

Without much more ado they proceed to reveal the fact that Dick's man-servant went through the safe to get some of Janney's imported cigars. Evidently he took the jewels by mistake, but it is never made clear just how Mrs. Price missed taking them and how she met her bridge debts. And all the mysterious procedings between Esther and Mr. Price concern a totally irrelevant and likewise innocent episode.

The star's playing is pleasing and works to the credit of the picture. So also does the work of the rest of the cast, which includes Nigel Barrie, Thomas Jefferson, Adele Farrington, Hayward Mack, Christine Mayo and Peaches Jackson.

Star Is Best Bet Here: Soft Pedal The Story

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one gets over as an ordinary mystery story.
It ought to fare satisfactorily before the star's admirers and those whose favorite entertainment is molded along these lines. The mistakes in story construction may not be obvious to such photoplay goers, but at the same time there is small doubt as to the rather detracting effect they will have on the entertainment as a whole.

Miss Sweet, of course, deserves much prominence.
She is in the midst of staging a fine comeback. The story can be played from its mystery angle, but while it may be presented attractively enough, don't praise it too highly as it certainly doesn't rank up among the best features of this kind.
FIRST FORMS FOR

WID’S 1920 YEAR BOOK

NOW CLOSING

RUSH COPY FOR PREFERRED POSITION

THE EXHIBITOR’S ENCYCLOPEDIA

500 PAGES OF VALUABLE INFORMATION
Some Short Reels

"Kiss Me, Caroline"—Christie

This is the first of a new series of Christie two-reelers, and torches a comedy standard high enough to gain it admittance into the best houses. At the Rialto, where it held a prominent position on the bill last week, it brought the house down at each performance. The idea of the offering is by no means new, Al. Christie himself having employed it time and again heretofore. Betty Bronson dresses as a girl and poses as Neal Burn's wife, while the latter's father insists that he get married and settle down. The father comes to call often and the boys are forced to take up the billing and cooing tactics demanded by the old man much to their disgust. Neal's sister and a girl friend come to visit them and the complications thicken when Bobby falls in love with the sister and Neal with the friend. Christie knows how to handle such material to the ground. He never misses a point and all the situations and gags register sure-fire comedy. Both the male leads acquit themselves creditably, Bobby Vernon in particular, getting a lot of humor from his role and never suggesting anything offensive.

"His Pal's Gal"—Graphilm Corp.—Pathé

Thrills which usually form the backbones of western dramatics are lacking in this issue of the Young Buffalo series. Philip Yale Drew in the principal role gives a fair performance, and Elsie La Cour in the feminine lead is rather attractive but mechanical. The story concerns a duo of westerners, one of whom is awaiting the arrival of his sweetheart. A mustached bad man who is administering a beating to Drew's partner is punished in return and determines to get both young men. He shoots one and when the girl arrives, she finds Drew alone. The latter, having taken to drink and attempts to embrace the lass, declaring that he had fallen in love with her picture. When she escapes, she falls into the bad man's clutches and there a gun fight takes place.

"Call a Taxi"—Pathé

After having the characters, headed by Snub Pollard go through a variety of knockabout bits, they spring a dream gag at the finish, which is quite necessary, for otherwise, there would be little meaning attached to it. A few of the tricks will arouse titters but most of this does not rise above the average slapstick class. There is a stout comedian who has appeared in a few of the Pollard releases, and who makes a good foil for the younger leading lady. Suddenly, the clever little darkey appears as usual, but is not given very much to do. And that is a mistake for he is truly funny.

"Misfortune Hunters"—Hall Room Boy Photoplays

Most of the first half of this two-reeler in which Neely Edwards and Hugh Fay are seen as Percy and Ferdie is up, to desired standard, but after going along splendidly for a while, this deteriorates and the end is not very much above the ordinary. At first, Hall Room Boys are seen doing some of their customary light-housekeeping, with one rather familiar gag being offered, namely, that of asking a duck to lay an egg with the fowl complying. The scheme of securing insurance policies and then attempting to be injured should meet with laughter, the boys finding efforts to get into trouble unavailing until they return the documents, whereupon a heap of misfortune is visited upon them. Later they make their way into a hotel where some of the stuff pulled is quite funny. The good start should be enough to get this over.

Pathe Review, No. 62

Generally up to the usual standard set in the Pathe Reviews, this issue should meet with approval. It opens with a colored scenic, as usual and this time that section includes some splendid views. In the slow motion portion, some balancing and leaping feats are executed, after which the re-soling of shoes is shown. How grooves are fitted is taken up in another part of the reel and to close, Alexander Omansky executes a Russian peasant dance.

"A Bare Idea"—Fox

This is another very good Mutt and Jeff number, in which the artist has brought his imagination into play with fine results. The scene is a golf course and Jeff is tired of playing Mutt's caddie. He takes a drink from the waters of a charmed well. Any wish of he who drinks will be granted, but if the drinker tells a lie, a piece of his clothing will vanish. Jeff wishes that Mutt feel obliged to push a golf ball around the entire course with his nose and the spectator of the long end of the team performing this task is extremely funny. In the meantime Jeff wishes for a pretty girl and an automobile for himself, but when he kisses her and tells the usual lie about her being the first girl he ever kissed, his socks and shoes disappear. And so it goes with Jeff telling a lie and then making a wish until at the end he is left without his girl and also without his clothes. The ending is a fine laugh. Mutt takes a drink from the well and encounters Jeff and learns that Jeff was responsible for him making a fool of himself on the golf course. Then Jeff wishes that Mutt's clothes would disappear. Subsequently they stage their usual final fight in a barrel.

Bray Pictograph, No. 447—Goldwyn

By combining diagrams and actual shots, they show cleverly in the opening section of this reel facts about the pearl oyster and their product in interesting style, with the result that this should hold attention nicely. "A Game of Industry" is the title given the portion which shows a gigantic crane at work. This part is rather brief, but the Max Fleischer cartoon, showing his familiar clown and a newcomer is longer and as usual, excellently animated but for one bit of colored background. Fleischer's nonsensical bits are almost always up to the desired standard and this is not an exception.

Another Bray Comic—Goldwyn

In the Lampon part which as is customary, comprises about half of the production, there are a few laughable remarks, and that part of the reel is better this time than it has been on most occasions before. The Happy Hooligan cartoon which makes up the rest is similar to most of these in which that character has been seen. As usual, he tells his three little nephews a highly fantastic tale about a great achievement which is met with the expected ridicule. This time, he is carried abroad by the waves, to be rescued by some kindly fish which carry him back home. To show his gratitude, he toasts back the multitude of the fished creatures he has caught. A satisfactory idea, executed so as to provoke titters.

"Fit to Fight"—Christie

Bobby Vernon and Vera Steadman are featured in a one reel Christie that keeps the smiles coming in fine fashion and is an excellent offering to add to almost any program. The theme is not essentially new, but the manner in which it is brought out makes it worthwhile. It all concerns the efforts of the juvenile to make peace with the father of the girl he would have stolen. The latter, portrayed by S. French in "One Round McCarth", a pupilist to test the fighting prowess of the diminutive Bobby. With the aid of his friend; the latter, padded up in a part of a football outfit, succeeds; assisted by some vases wielded by his sweetheart, in conquering the scraper. William Beaudine has directed so as to get a goodly number of laughs out of the situations, which while not new, should amuse.
Short Reels

“A Bashful Bigamist”—Christie

Eddie Barry, Helen Deearling and Billy Fletcher are seen in the three most prominent roles in another Christie one reeler which consists in the main of slapstick comedy bits, interwoven with a commonplace plot, that makes this at its best an ordinary offering. A. Watt directed the piece that sees the youthful wife endeavoring to reform her husband by telling him of a fictitious predecessor's worthy ways. She uses an uncle's photograph to illustrate and when the latter appears, the grand mix-up occurs. Naturally, all ends quite merrily with everyone satisfied, and wife, as may have been expected, successful in securing her husband's promise not to neglect her in the future.

“Departed Spirits”—Fox

This Mutt and Jeff number can go down with the best of the series. Jeff consults the Ouija board and learns that Mutt has stolen his precious bottle of alcoholic content. Further consultation with the board reveals the fact that the departed spirit of the bottle will aid Jeff in having his revenge. At the call the spirit emerges and informs Jeff that it will do his bidding, although it will remain invisible. Of course, Jeff requests the invisible one to pound the daylight out of Mutt, and this is subsequently done and the laughs resulting are profuse. The spectacle of Mutt getting the worst of it, eventually having his clothes torn off him, by an invisible opponent is truly very funny and the manner in which the artist has handled the subject is praiseworthy to the minutest degree.

“Two Pairs and a Peach”—Christie

Although there are some incidents in this single reeler, that are open to question as far as plausibility is concerned, it holds up in fairly good fashion. Jimmy Harrison and Charlotte Merriam are featured in it and James Clemens is credited with directing. The theme is satisfactory and while the incidents are not sufficiently funny to secure snickers, it is an acceptable comedy. Not a production for a critical audience, but likely to be received cheerfully where stuff gets by more easily.

“Creation’s Morning”—Storyart

Every new producer of scenes strives to get away from the ordinary, to treat his subject just a little bit different from the next fellow. This is a difficult job inasmuch as straight scenes, no matter how beautiful they themselves may be, offer little opportunities for originality in the way of presentation. The Storyart company has hit upon an idea that bids fair to be successful. In this single reeler which made a fine impression at the Rialto last week, a slight theme is interwoven in a series of highly beautiful scenes. Raising their theme on an old legend concerning the source of man and woman, the producers have traced the courses of man and woman and the results are appealing to a degree. The scenes showing the wonderings of the couple are aided andabetted by a number of subtitles taken, among others, from the works of Shelley and Bryant. The photography is admirable and the tints and tones of the best.

“Ten Nights Without a Barroom”—Fox—Sunshine

The idea of this comedy has been borrowed, as anyone with an eye can determine, from the Mack Scunett factory. It shows the amateur theatrical troupe with all the properties and players going wrong on the stage and with this action, occasional flashes of the audience are interspersed. Comparisons at best are odious and “Ten Nights Without a Barroom” fails to measure along side the same type of picture that comes from the rival comedy factory. It has some laughs to be sure, and Slim Somerville may justly lay claim to responsibility for the majority of these. As the hero of the play he gets in a lot of good work. Otherwise the picture neither matches the standard of previous comedies of this type, nor the standard pretty steadily maintained in the run of Sunshine comedies. Eddie Clune directed and others in the cast are Ethel Teare, Tom Kennedy, Ford West, Harry Gribbon and Harry Mc Coy.

Wid's Daily Binders - $3.00

Invaluable for reference purposes.
"She died that night," he went on slowly. "She died—and over her dead body I swore to find that man and make him pay.
For nineteen years I searched and planned and waited—and one year ago I found him. He did not see Jack Fordham in John Pierce!
I sought for a way to make him suffer as he had made me—some way that would bring him years and years of agony—and I found it.
"That man is Truman Breese—the way I found is—you."

Republic Distributing Corporation
Lewis J. Selznick Advisory Director - Briton N. Busch, President
From The Play That Stole The Public's Heart!

A comedy that travels "on high" from the first flicker to the final amazing climax. Tom Moore’s gayest and most lovable role.

Samuel Goldwyn Presents
TOM MOORE
Stop Thief

The COHAN & HARRIS notable stage success by CARLYLE MOORE
Directed by
Harry Beaumont
Bonding Plan

Chamber of Commerce About To Be Apportioned—How Some Companies Regard the Idea

Plans have been worked out, practically, it is understood, whereby the owner of the Chamber of Commerce will be able to put through the proposed bonding plan to take the place of the advance deposit idea. The plan calls for each member to secure a bond in place of making advance deposits and turn these bonds over to the Chamber of Commerce which, in a way, underwrite them.

The Chamber of Commerce, which claims, over 380 members in Greater New York, the companies who are reported as having done this are Metro, Robertson, and Universal.

Arthur S. Kirkpatrick of Robert-Cole said that he had written to the Chamber Owners’ Chamber of Commerce telling them that it was the wish of the body that advance deposits be eliminated when a period of several months is involved, he was willing to do it provided the Chamber Commerce assured him of the existors’ good faith in keeping contracts.

(Continued on Page 3)

Annette Kellerman in “What Women Love,” a thrilling comedy drama with the most remarkable undersea scenes ever depicted. A Big First National Special.—Advt.

National Playhouse Plans

An officer of the National Playhouse Corp. said Saturday that neither the Dupont’s nor Goldwyn was connected with their organization, and that Walter Irwin would not be the general manager. He added that as to the plans of the corporation nothing could be made public at this time.

This is the organization which, as noted several days ago, it said to be interested in a chain of theaters throughout the country and is capitalized at $42,000,000.

Loew Gets Yakima House

Yakima, Wash.—The Mercy has been purchased from Fred Mercy for Marcus Loew, by Ackerman and Harris for $450,000. It will be renamed Loew’s Hippodrome.

Lee Ferguson has been appointed publicity chief for Selznick Enterprises.

Kassel Studios, Inc.—
Paintings of Stars for theatre lobbies.—Advt.

Buy McAdoo Stock

The one fifth interest in United Artists Corp., held by William G. McAdoo has been purchased by the stars making up the corporation: Fairbanks, Pickford, Chaplin and Griffith. Price paid unknown, but far below $250,000 as reported.

Secure Universal Output

London, Eng.—It is reported here that the Film Booking Offices have secured the Universal output for Great Britain.

At the local Universal office, nothing could be learned about the matter.

Working on “The Forbidden Thing”

Cape Cod, Mass.—John V. De Lacy is working here on Allan Dwan’s “The Forbidden Thing,” for Asso. Prod. release.

Let SOLOMON do it, he’s wise. 135 W. 44th St.—Bryant $224.—Advt.

That $1000 of Cinema Press Assn. Held by the National Association

In the treasury of the National Association (N. A. P. I.), reposes $1,000. It came from the Cinema Press Assn. some time ago. But the attorney of the Cinema Press is talking about wanting it back. And the National Association—well, who likes to give up one thousand dollars?

It all came about this way: Months ago the National Association had an agreement with the Cinema Press by which the Cinema Press was to publish a Blue Book or Who’s Who in the picture industry.

The Association was to have a royalty—5 per cent., it is said—on every book sold and was to endorse the Cinema Press. But later the National Association and Cinema Press agreed not to have the agreement performed, and the $1,000 was retained by the Association. Now the Association claims that the $1,000 was forfeit money on the agreement. But Henry O. Falk, attorney of Cinema Press, said several days ago that the Cinema Press had tried to get it back but could not.

The publication which was to have had the support of the National Association was a “Blue Book,” containing data such as appears in Who’s Who, but with pictures of personalities. Despite that the endorsement and support of the Association has been withdrawn, Mr. Falk says the book will appear. According to Mr. Falk, it will appear in about 9 months; will contain the names and information about 1,200 individuals of importance in the industry, and will be distributed to libraries, newspapers, and be on general sale.

H. E. Atkinson, general manager of Metro, told WID’S DAILY that as far as Metro was concerned the report was not true. He said Metro was still accepting advance deposits but is keeping the money in a separate fund as provided by the recently enacted law which states the money must be held in trust for all exhibitors.

Prices for $1000,000,000 of American Pictures

As Solomon got it—Mr. Solomon have $1000,000,000 in American Pictures. Solomon has been agreeable to $1000,000,000 in American Pictures, not yet was confirmed by Mr. Solomon.

It is said that the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures is to be divided among the exhibitors of the United States, who will have the exclusive distribution rights for the films produced and distributed by American Pictures.

It is believed that the division of the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures will be on the basis of the number of tickets sold during the past year.

It is also believed that the distribution rights for the films produced and distributed by American Pictures will be exclusive and will be granted to the exhibitors who have paid the largest amount of money for the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures.

It is further believed that the exhibitors who have paid the largest amount of money for the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures will be given the exclusive right to distribute the films produced and distributed by American Pictures, and that the exhibitors who have paid the smallest amount of money for the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures will be given the exclusive right to distribute the films produced and distributed by American Pictures.

It is also believed that the exhibitors who have paid the largest amount of money for the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures will be given the exclusive right to distribute the films produced and distributed by American Pictures, and that the exhibitors who have paid the smallest amount of money for the 1000,000,000 in American Pictures will be given the exclusive right to distribute the films produced and distributed by American Pictures.
Weiss Gets National Output

Chicago.—Harry Weiss of the Superior Screen Service announces that he has just completed arrangements with Hunter Bennett, General Manager of the National Exchanges, Inc., to release the entire output of Illinois, Indiana and Eastern Iowa release date.

Griffith Impersonator

A impostor representing himself to be D. W. Griffith, has made his appearance at a number of summer resorts in New York State and after "trimming" the guests at pool, has disappeared without the formality of paying his hotel bill.

Sell Selig Studio

Chicago, Ill.—An automobile con- cern has purchased William N. Selig's studio for $400,000 and involved it in the transaction.

Premier to Produce Short Reels

Los Angeles, Calif.—Premier Prod has been organized with a capital of $250,000, to specialize in short subjects. Claire Wulwine, Alonzo Hart Richmond and Harry Rich mond are interested in the concern and John W. Martin will supervise production which is to start shortly.

Goldwyn Films at Capitol

For the Goldwyn productions have been booked by the Capitol for present- tation during the summer at an early call. "Going Some," the film opened last week. On Sunday "Capit, the Cowpuncher," starring Will Rogers opened there and is followed by Pauline Frederick in "Madame X." "The Penalty," a picture, is being released by Goldwyn.

Cranda Executives to Meet

The executives of the Cranda Theaters of Washington, will hold a conference in New York Aug 2, with the purposes of acquainting their personnel more intimately with the industry and fostering a spirit of personal friendship between its members at those of prominence in the industry in the metropolis.

The one big difference between a good poster and a poor one, lies in the different amounts of tickets each will sell. It is that fact that makes the RITCHIE poster a first class poster.

RITCHIE LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y., Phone Chuse 9338

Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>7334</td>
<td>7334</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do pfd.</td>
<td>85</td>
<td>8554</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's, Inc.</td>
<td>2244</td>
<td>2244</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>90</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Universal Prod.</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>90</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Performance for Organists

A special performance in honor of the National Association of Organists who will convene in New York July 27 to 30, will be given at the Rivoli on July 29. Prof. Firmin Swinnen will play the first Movement of Widor's "Fifth Symphony in F Minor and Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor."

Quotations

Held for Unpaid Taxes

Chicago, Ill.—H. E. Kreme, A. G. Spencer and Harry M. Smith, proprietors of the Playhouse, have been served with a federal warrant charging them with unpaid taxes. The men admit a $2,000 shortage, but claim that this is due to the constant losses and high operators' fees. Seymour Marks, a fourth partner has also had a warrant issued against him, it being claimed that he was $2,000 out of the funds which the house owed to the government.

MacMeekin Special Representative

John MacMeekin, formerly Kansas City manager for Reaart, has been appointed Special Representative. Diaz Callahan, formerly manager of the Dallas Exchange succeeds him at Kansas City.

Donaldson on Stage

Arthur Donaldson's first venture for his new independent company will be a stage play by Chester De Vonde "Sun Valley," which will be presented on Broadway. Later it may be screened.

Famous Buys St. Louis Property

St. Louis, Mo.—The Famous Players-Lasky Missouri Corp., has secured a two story building at 207 N. Broadway, for $120,000. It will be converted into a picture house. An option to purchase a quarter of a block on which a $4,000,000 theater and office building was to be erected was lapsed, due to zoning regula- tions.

Cuts and Flashes

Edna May Sperli who has com- pleted work on "The Devil Brew," an Edward Jones production will be co-starred with Mr. Jones in "The Rider of the King Log," adapted from the novel by Holman Day.

Max Linder is working on a comedy tentatively named "Seven Years Bad Luck."

Helene Chadwick, with Goldwyn and Goldwyn is in town stopping at the Woodward.

Charles F. Mc Govern will handle all advertising, publicity and exploita- tion for "The Woman Untamed," featuring Doralinda.

Arrow will release "Before the White Man Came" Sept 1st. The cast is all—Indian.

P. B. Dana, sales manager for Arrow, left yesterday for a Middle Western trip. He will be gone two weeks.

"For Love or Money," the second of a series of Burton King productions, is scheduled for release by Hallmark following "The Discarded Woman."

Henry Hammond Beall has been made president of the Studio & Publi- listic Association. He was formerly vice-president of the organization.

Charles Urban, president of the Kineto Co. of America, has purchased 2,500 feet of negative taken by Liett. Carl von Hoffman, while the latter was with Admiral Kolchak's ill- fated expedition against the Bolsheviki. Urban considers the pictures of inestimable value for his- torical purposes.
Bonding Plan

(Continued from Page 1)

The exhibitor must, however, pay for the picture before the theater opens. But the trade has no plans to stop W. W. Hodkinson from taking possession of the picture. The exhibitor may not be sure of his rights to the picture, yet no answer has been received.

Coast Brevities

Joseph J. Dowling has been engaged by Benjamin B. Hampton to play the part of "Laurence Olivier." Claire Adams will enact the role of "Avice Milbrey," Jack Conway directing.

Charging that the Katherine MacDonald Pictures Corporation contracted with the Del Monte Proper ty to the Del Monte and Del Monte Lodge, for board and lodging for a large number of persons in the company and failed to honor the organization's contract, the court has filed suit for $1,464.61.

Mrs. Margaret Mann, remembered for her work as the mother in Allen Holubar's "The Heart of Humanity," has been cast for an important supporting role in this picture to be distributed by the company.

Louis Stevens, protege of Jack London, and now a member of the Ince scenario staff, is writing the continuity for Douglas MacLean's new picture.

Roy H. Marshall says that the Bos- worth feature "His Own Law," being distributed by Goldwyn and adver- tised as being directed by Irvin Willat, is an error, as he directed and finished this production for J. Par ter Reed, Jr., after Willat has com- pleted about one reel. This was verified by Willat.

In Wid's review published in July 4, the director's name was omitted on the feature "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals," William F. Adler states that he personally directed this series for Universal. Eddie Laemmle was on this expedition as financial representative and to assist Mr. Ad- ler.

Dagmar Godowsky has been cast for the role of the oriental dancer in the new Universal feature "Black Friday," to be directed by Frederick Thompson.

Anita Stewart expects to leave Cali- fornia for a vacation in the East upon the completion of her present starring vehicle, "Sowing the Wind," a Louis B. Mayer production. As Miss Stewart's contract calls for only four pictures a year, she has so far been used in series of features and is able to rest during the hot sum- mer months at her Long Island sum- mer home.

Pomeroy Cannon has been signed to enact the role of Madariga, in the Metro production, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

Edw. M. McDermott will cut and assemble "Habit," starring Mildred Harris Chaplin and now being produced by Edw. Carcco.

Frederick Sullivan, who recently directed "In the Night," for W. N. Selig, has just finished cutting and titling the picture. It is said the picture will go out as a Selig special.

In the Courts

In the suit brought by A. L. Er- langer and the estates of William Harris and Samuel P. Nirdlinger over their stock in the New York Theater Co., in which they asked that their stock be appraised because they objected to the sale of the prop- erty to the Senecke Holding Corp., alleging to be a holding company for Famous Players Lasky Co., the ap- raisers filed their report in the Supreme Court finding that the property sold for $3,200,000 is worth $1,600,000.

Mr. Erlanger gets $222 a share or $91,814 for his stock, while the Nird- linger and Harris estates get $196,260 and $155,407 respectively.

No testimony was offered to prove the real ownership of the property because that question was not in- volved in the proceedings. The ap- raisers found that in some years the property has been unprofitable and that for that reason refused to find a good will, although the minority stockholders asked for an allowance of $70,000.

Putting It Over

Indianapolis, Ind.—What was styled a "Spectatorama," called "Pagan Purple" was presented in the form of a prologue to Anita Stewart in "The Yellow Typhoon" when she played the Circle. S. Barrett McCormick saw to it that an Oriental atmosphere was maintained, and had special design and color used. In other words, however, it is an ancient Chinese tale was told in verse and song, and the offering was generally an elaborate and interesting side-light to the feature.

Akron, Ohio—Edgar Keene of the Waldorf believes that making friends of the newspapers is valuable to the extreme and in pursuing a policy of pleasing the journalists with stories that do not bear the customary "Not good on Saturdays, Sundays or holi- days." Nor does he try to jam hundreds of passes in on off nights such as Monday or Tuesday. One Pleased Newspaperman said: "More aid to any theater than 100 pleased patrons is his idea and holders of passes are honored guests at his house.

Hollywood—Buster Keaton will shortly start his second comedy for the Cline. Sybil Seely and Joe Roberts will support Keaton in this produc- tion.

Los Angeles—Suit filed in the Su- perior Court recently by Charles E. Kaufman, cameraman, against Frank Kernan. Kaufman alleges Kernan employed him at $125 a week. Kaufman and Kernan agreed to give him five per cent of the profits which Kaufman says he has never received.

Fickle Women

117 W. 6th St., N. Y.

D. N. SCHWAB PROD. offer for
STATE RIGHTS
David Butler in

TITLES

OUR PROCESS A PERFECTION PLAIN ON ILLUSTRATED

ERNEST STERN

THE TITMAN

455 W. ST. PHONE LANGE 553 S 247

BROADWAY THEATRE TO-NIGHT

Matz, Electros and Stereos
for the
Motion Picture Trade
I. Rubin & Co.,
21 1/4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereopticons in N. Y. C.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

for the Stockholders of
POWERS FILM PROD-ucts, INC.

The undersigned is a large stockholder and a former em- ployee (chemist), of the Powers Film Products, Inc. Stock- holders are invited to commun- icate with the undersigned in order that steps for mutual pro- tection of stockholders may be taken.

FREDERICK J. HARRISON
130 Darmouth St.,
Dorchester, Mass.
Another Strike

Employees of 45 Theaters Threaten to Go Out

A strike of the employees of some 45 motion picture theaters on the east side probably will be called before Aug. 2 as the result of the recent threat of the theater owners to close their houses to union men after that date.

Secure "Babe" Ruth Production

Kessel and Baumann have secured the rights to the "Babe" Ruth picture now being filmed. In it Ruth plays a rural role.

AT LIBERTY

A No. 1 cameraman with Bell and Howell camera, fully equipped. Expert with many years' experience, may be engaged immediately up to September 1st, 1920. For full particulars phone Bryant 4600.

They must have thought she was a revenue officer. This makes 'em laugh in "A Seaside Siren" a new Special Christie Comedy at Educational Exchanges.—Advt.

Adler's New Job

Bert Adler, one of the best known special exploitation and publicity men in the business, and whose work in putting over "Soldiers of Fortune" for Realart attracted much attention, will become Eastern representative of Allan Dwan about Sept. 1. He is with Realart at present. He has received many letters of congratulations from some of the biggest men in the business on his appointment.

Weiss Active

Chicago—Harry Weiss, President of the Superior Screen Service has closed deals with the National Exchange, Inc., for Northern Illinois, Northern Indiana and Eastern Iowa, with Sherman Pictures Corp., for Illinois, and State Rights Producing Co., for Illinois and Indiana.

Stiefel to Build

Philadelphia.—M. Stiefel who recently sold his three Kensington theaters to the Stanley Co., will erect a new theater on a plot between 5th and 6th Sts., on Jackson St. The purchase includes the Jackson theater. It is planned to erect a theater that will seat 2,000 on one floor.

Carrier Bro's Leave Selznick

Cincinnati—Jimmie and Eddie Carrier, who for the past ten months have been handling Selznick exploitation and publicity in the Cincinnati and Cleveland offices, have resigned from the Selznick Enterprises.

Before joining Selznick the Carrier boys managed and operated theaters throughout Illinois for a number of years.

Exchange Changes

Buffalo, N. Y.—Otto Seigel has been named assistant manager at the Robertson-Cole office.

Herbert Kaufman and M. Edwards have been added to the Robertson-Cole sales force.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Frank J. A. McCarthy has been added to the sales force of the local Famous Players office.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Jack Kirsch has signed as manager of the local Dooley exchange.

Franey Denies New Connections

A telegram from Billy Franey reads as follows: "Please retract statement connecting me with Comedy Art. They have made several offers which I have refused. I have no intention of joining them or ever had. Am satisfied with my present arrangements with Reelcraft."

Fire in Kansas City Exchange

Little could be learned on Saturday about the fire in the Kansas City exchange building housing the Famous Players and Metro branches. It was reported that a damage of $100,000 had been caused, but it is believed that this is exaggerated. Metro's complete stock of films there was destroyed, it was stated at the local Metro office, while "Al" Lichtman of Famous Players declared that nearby exchanges would supply patrons in spite of the blaze. Famous damage not yet known.

Incorporations

Dover, Del.—Ers-Ka Photo Plays, $100,000, Charles Kramer, Chester B. Smith, Jeanette, Pa., Adam B. Shafter, Greensburg, Pa.

Henley Leaves on Honeymoon Trip

Hobart Henley and Corinne Barker left on Saturday for a honeymoon trip to England.

Grimm Replaces Judge

Ben Grimm has replaced Horace Judge in Universal advertising department. Judge will go to First National.

Lasky Leaves for Coast

Jesse L. Lasky left for the Coast Saturday, following a stay in New York of about a week.

What does Irving S. Cobb think of Nick Carter?

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD-SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest off-door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Hallman Bldg., LOS ANGELES
Craftsmen Claim
Laboratory Conditions Unchanged—
Men Still Out N. A. Says, "Much Better"

As far as can be learned from reports from the rival headquarters, the strike situation in the laboratories remains about the same as last week, while the National Association reports the men coming back to work in some instances, the Union, through its President Abe Heller, gives evidence that the majority of laboratories are working much below capacity.

Heller says that the M. P. craftsmen, backed by the I. A. T. S. E., were ready to stay out six months if necessary in order to get their demands granted.

A report furnished by the M. P. craftsmen regarding the number of men working in eastern laboratories yesterday follows: Republic 20%, Pathe 8%, Universal 15%, Pathe 10%, Fox none, Universal 200 working out of 400, Kessel shut down, Vitagraph 5%, Famous Paragon, Vitaphone, Eclipse shut down, Pathe Shut down, Pathe (Jersey City) 15%, Biograph shut down, Filmart shut down.

The National Association in its daily report on conditions gives the following estimate: Equation "sizable increase," Biograph no report. Craftsman much better. Republic 10%, Fox 40% in the morning. Men returning in afternoon. No report. Crystal no report. Smart resume Wednesday. Universal 5%, Pathe 100%, Vitaphone, Eclipse shut down, Pathe (Jersey City) 90%.

It will be seen that the only industry in which the reports agree is regard to the situation at Pathe's and Brook laboratory. The "no report" of the National Association attempts to mean that the laboratories so referred to are running considerably below average.

What has become of all the noise we heard last fall about "service and exploitation" cooperation? This year the conversation is sales policy. What exhibitors really want are good films. Conversation as cheap as ever and good films are just as rare.

The ruffian was no match for the slender girl in the battle under sea—Annette Kellerman, actually photographed under the surface of the ocean, in the big First National Special, "What Women Love."—Advt.

$500,000 Attachm't Filed Against Equity by Fine Arts
Regarding Young Productions

An attachment for $500,000 against the property of Equity Pictures Corp. was filed in the Supreme Court, yesterday afternoon, by the Fine Arts Film Corporation for breach of contract.

The complaint was filed by Robert M. Brownson, Treasurer of the plaintiff corporation, and the attachment was obtained on the grounds that Equity is a foreign corporation. The affidavit filed by Mr. Brownson states the defendant has repudiated the contract made between the plaintiff and Herbert J. Somborn, dated July 1st, 1919, which Somborn later assigned to Equity Pictures and the repudiation of which will damage the plaintiff to the amount of $500,000 on the 5 films which were to feature Clara Kimball Young. The damage stated to be due is the difference between the sale price of each film of $100,000 and the cost of producing estimated.

(Continued on Page 2)

Farley Decision

Of Interest to New York Exhibitors Who Are Planning Fight on Famous Players' Bookings

The decision in the Farley case, as noted exclusively in WID'S DAILY last week, is of much interest to certain New York exhibitors who are opposing the plan of Famous Players to release during the coming season attractions booked for the present season, withheld and offered for the coming season at an advanced price. Action may be taken by these exhibitors during this week.

The Farley decision was rendered in the Supreme Court at Montgomery, Ala., with reference to a Select conflict, and was fully noted in the issue of July 24.

Exhibitors say some of the companies try this out regularly every summer. Productions scheduled fail to arrive. They are told the producer will not have them ready in time for the season at hand, but the pictures will be forthcoming for the following season at an advanced rental.

Charges Bias

Ince Wants Hart Case Tried Elsewhere for Unusual Reason

Los Angeles—The $100,000 suit of Wm. S. Hart against Thomas H. Ince came to a sensational halt Friday before Judge Lewis R. Works, when Ince filed an affidavit charging Judge Works with prejudice and bias. Ince asked that the case be moved to another court, where the suit might be tried by another judge.

Ince based his charge of unfairness on a letter he received from Judge Works on July 5 in which the Judge asked Ince for a position as revisor of scenarios and writer of scripts for scenarios. He stated in his affidavit that he cannot have a fair and impartial decision by Judge Works in view of the situation created by the letter. Judge Works replied to Ince's charges with an affidavit in which he pointed out a paragraph in his letter asking Ince not to reply until after the present trial had been heard. He also stated that he had sent a similar letter to Hart with the same request and had applied for a similar position with about 15 other film companies. He denied Ince's motion for a change of venue and the case was continued to July 29.

MacAlarney Goes Abroad

Robert E. MacAlarney, for the past four years head of the scenario department, has been chosen production manager for the London Studios of Famous-Players-Lasky British Producers, Ltd., and will sail for England and about Sept. 1 to assume his new duties. With him will go an important director and two well known scenario writers.

Harry Durant will succeed Mr. MacAlarney as head of the scenario department for productions made in this country.

"Wings of Pride," the third of the series of Olave Tell features being produced by Jans Pictures, Inc., under the personal direction of B. A. Rolfe, has been completed, cut, titled and assembled.

Output And Triangle Re-Issues

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Gorham Photopals, Inc., a new independent distributing corporation of which P. E. Meyer is president and general manager, has taken over the Hallmark New York Exchange. They get all the Hallmark Specials and Serials now booking and also the Triangle feature reissues.

YOUR Good Printing
Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.—Advt.
London Letter
By W. A. Williamson

Carl Laemmle has just arrived in town. He is fixing up for Film Booking Offices, Ltd., of which Sir Edward, Hilton is chairman, to handle the theatrical material. He is staying in the Hotel Astor. Sir E. B. O. had the handling of "Broken Blossoms" here, and recently put out "Blind Husbands."

John D. Tippett, who formerly handled Universal's interest here, is in negotiation for the output of United Artists and Associated Producers. He has offered a big price for the stuff.

Hugh Ford is in Paris with his company shooting scenes for the first British-French-Lasky production, "The Great Day," a Drury Lane mel- ler. Arthur Bourchier has the lead. The company has also been on location in the Swiss Alps.

I previously announced that Marie Corelli's "Sorrows of Satan" would be the first Lasky British production. The scenario of this was scrapped owing to trouble with the authors.

Clara Beranger arrived this week to take over the scenario department of the Lasky British studios.

Bryant Washburn arrives on the Krooinaland. He will make a picture here entitled "The Road to London."

H. Pommer of Decla Bioscope is at present in England. He is believed to be negotiating for an international tie-up similar to the famous Lasky, U. F. A. and U. C. L. arrangement. It is rumored by the way, that Gaumont of France is concerned in the latter tie-up. Gaumont are handling the V. C. L. output in France.

The Palace Theater, London, has changed hands and will be run as a picture house. The purchase price was £345,000, of which £20,000 goes to Sir Alfred Butt. Sol Levey made the purchase, but it is believed that his backers are Lord Beaverbrook, the newspaper millionaire whose picture interests are now on a mammoth scale, Sir William Gower and Arthur Chamberlain, of National Explosives.

$500,000 Attachm't
(Continued from Page 1)

at $500,000 exclusive of the amount paid Miss Young.

Mr. Brownson stated that the agreement provided that on July 1st, Fine Arts made a contract with Miss Young for her services for 10 pictures to be delivered four a year and Equity agreed to carry out the Somber- born contract.

The first picture delivered to Equity last October and 3 pictures have been delivered and paid for this year. The plaintiff is working on the 4th picture and the cost of production has been paid up until July 3rd.

The suit for breach of contract is based on a telegram sent by Equity on May 3rd, stating that "neither the Rom Bom nor Cowan stories were approved by us. The picture about the be started is the fourth for 1920, and all that you are entitled to produce during the year."

The telegram stated further that Equity would finance no further production until 1921, and declared that the suit was "very clear on that point."

The telegram concluded that Equity would extend no further money to the plaintiff until the receipt of the negative of "Forbidden Channels" in New York. The defense apparently is that Equity was not required to take more than four pictures a year whereas the plaintiff contends that the telegram has broken the entire contract leaving 3 pictures undelivered.

At Equity Pictures offices it was stated yesterday that nothing was to be said at present regarding the suit.

Jack Evens, formerly with Vitaphone as assistant director, will leave for London with Gene Mullin on Aug. 5.

De Mille's production, "Why Change Your Wife?" was rather severely panned by the press here. Nazimova's "Heart of a Child" did not please: the English scenes in this are very unconvincing.

David Kirkland has been shooting scenes in Paris for a Norma Talmadge picture. Mrs. Talmadge and Natalie are still sightseeing on the Continent. They return to London in August when Norma and Constance will join the party.

PROTECTION

The fundamental principle back of every successful business enterprise is insurance. Corporations owe it to their stockholders. Partners owe it to each other. You as an individual owe it to yourself. Do not allow yourself to be hulled into false security. You NEED insurance.
Coast Brevities

hollywood.—Wm. V. Mong has worked at the Louis B. Mayer lot, playing an important role sup-ing Anita Stewart in "Sowing Wind." John M. Stahl is directing "Passion Fruit."

alfred Valentino has been signed to Metro to enact the leading male in "The Four Horsemen of the calypse." orris R. Schlan, of Hank Mann arrived from New York.

universal announces the purchase of "The Gilded Dream," a magazine adaptation written by Katherine Leiser Robbins, the use of Carmel Myers. Doris roeder is preparing the scenario.

William Duncan and his leading lady Edith Johnson have returned to Denver, where they appeared on a stage at the annual convention of the Rocky Mountain Screen Club.

Vita-ber: Frederick Thompson is the newest "the Universal directorial brainpower.

ward Sloman, having completed his run on "The Star Rover," is being transferred to a new project. Ed exter will support Olive Thomas in her next for Selznick.

constance Binney is now at work on "On East" her stage success by hel Croters.

Hope Loring has been engaged to head up the Universal Sales Department.

Fred Schaefer

(Vitagraph)

Continuity & Titles

"The Sea Rider": "Dollars and the Woman."
"Hidden Dangers."
"The Island of the Stolen Woman."
"God's Country."
"The Woman."

Exchange Changes

Pierre, S. D.—E. Mitchell and R.
D. Hitchcock are now traveling in this territory for Vitagraph.

Philadelphia—Ed Milligan, formerly with Vitagraph will act as special representative of the local Metro exchange.

Philadelphia—Ben Haney has left the Albany exchange for Sowden Co.

Atlanta—Bob Green is now with the southeast office as traveling representative.

Atlanta—Ray R. Garner is now assistant branch manager for Vitagraph here. He has been with Vitagraph as a salesman for some time.

New Orleans—H. S. Bowman, formerly with Famous Players, is now in charge of the local office of Southeaster.

St. Louis—G. M. Owen who has been in charge of the Hobson office has been transferred to Kansas City.

Buys Serial

Dick Dickinson of the Independent Film Co. of St. Louis has purchased "The Blazed Trail," an Arrow serial, for his territory.

C. R. Macaulay has sub-rented one of the Selznick studios at Fort Lee.

Producers!

Make your pictures at

UNIVERSAL CITY

Near Hollywood and Los Angeles

Any entire city dedicated to the production of motion pictures, housing in one plant the most complete all-around equipment necessary for the production of perfect photographs.

Area—nearly 500 acres of land, situated between the Hollywood and the Sierra Madre Mountains, with a splendid variety of beautiful natural scenery; lake, mountains, and plains.

Six covered stages over 1000 feet long and 30 to 100 feet wide, the largest covered stage area of any studio in the world. Complete electrical equipment securing every modern effect.

Large stocks of furniture, wardrobe, and props, at the disposal of tenants.

Permanent streets of New York, Arizona, Mexico, Paris, Constantinople, Tokio, Canada, Spain and Colonial Style.

A regular theatre with fully equipped stage.

Our studio is constantly used by the largest producers. During the last year our studio has been used by the following companies:

Says Sigmund Moos, Manager Leasing Department at Universal City, California, or UNIVERSAL FILM MFG CO., 1600 Broadway, New York City,

Paramount's new short films for the season of 1920-21, will be Paramount Mack Sennett Comedies. Paramount Port Scenes, Paramount Studio, and Paramount Magazine. Famous Plays-

Lasky Corporation will also reissue some of the Paramount Armuck and Paramount Sennett Comedies.

Hudson Promoted

Earl J. Hudson stepped into a new job at First National yesterday. He became the right hand man of Manger J. D. Williams. hitherto he has filled the following have sort of job for C. L. Yar ee, director of publicity. Hudson's new work will call him into all sorts of assignments of a confidential nature for Mr. Williams. Hudson's work in the publicity department has earned him much praise. He is responsible for the publicity stunts and box office attraction ideas which have made the publicity of First National much in demand from the trade parners.

Horace C. Judge succeeds Hudson in the publicity department. He was formerly with Universal, and previously with United Pictures. He has had long experience in publicity work in the theatrical world.

Lesser Closing New York Office

Sol Lesser has decided to close his New York office and transfer all operations to Los Angeles as soon as all details are properly disposed of.
DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 19
"SOLDIERS OF CHANCE"
with Evart Overton

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It

And also
"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"
with Blanche Sweet

Now directing
BESSIE BARRISCALE

New Goldwyn Productions
Culver City—Several new productions will be gotten under way shortly at the Goldwyn studios.
Reginald Barker will next make "Bunny Pulls the Strings" the script for which is now being prepared. Barker is finishing "Black Pawl" "The Scoop" is designed for Madge Kennedy; "The Guile of Women" will be Will Rogers' next; while Harry Beaumont will make "The Caravan," a Rupert Hughes story for Emily Artists. Frank Lloyd is slated to make "The Concert" when he completes "The Great Lover."

More Promotions at F. P. L.
A. Lichtman, of Famous Players announces the transfer of J. W. Hicks, Jr., formerly branch manager at Minneapolis, to the home office in New York, where he will be assistant sales manager. Philip Reisman, salesman working out of Minneapolis, will succeed Hicks.
John A. Muchmore, formerly a salesman out of Des Moines, as branch manager at Des Moines.

New Chicago Home for Vitagraph
Chicago—Vitagraph has taken over the building at 830-35 Wabash Ave. upon which a new structure will be erected. The new building will house Vitagraph's local office.

New Theaters
Pittsburg, Pa.—Walter Artsberger bought Atlas from Morris and Leo Einstein for $50,000.
Burton, Kansas—F. M. Sayers bought Opera House from A. A. Dick.
Kansas City, Mo.—Harrison and Beckles bought Baltimore.
Atchinson, Kansas—Mr. and Mrs. C. Friend bought Airdome.
Pittsburgh, Pa.—Jacob Podolsky bought Edyth.

Houses Planned
Springfield, Vt.—Lenn J. Albee and Henry E. Hubbard, $75,000.
San Francisco, Calif.—A. C. Blumen thal and Co., $75,000.

Baltimore, Md.—Frederick H. Keiser to build.
Kimball, W. Va.—Charles K. Wagner, $48,000.
Welch, W. Va.—Welch Insurance Co., $200,000.
Ashland, Ky.—Edisonian Amuse, Co. to build on site bought for $45,000.

Under Construction
Sedalia, Mo.—Boss building, 3,000.
Cushing, Okla.—Horany Bros. building.
Warrensburg, Mo.—King and Isen inger have air dome almost ready.

Pathé Contracts Renewed
W. W. Hodkinson, Inc., and the American Film Co. have renewed their contracts with Pathé Exchange, Inc., for the distribution of their pictures during the forthcoming year.

IMPORTANT NOTICE for the Stockholders of POWERS FILM PRODUXTS, INC.
The undersigned is a large stockholder and a former employee (chemist), of the Powers Film Products, Inc. Stockholders are invited to communicate with the undersigned in order that steps for mutual protection of stockholders may be taken.
FREDERICK J. HARRISON
103 Dartmouth St., Rochester, N. Y.

Lewis Resigns
Jerome Lewis has severed his connec tions as Director of sales for the D. N. Schwab Prod., and will enter the state rights field with offices at 117, W. 46 St., with two new produc tions "A Woman's Desire," 7 reels, and the second attraction which is entitled "A Husband's Folly," 5 reels.

Under Construction
Ft. Worth, Texas.—Carb building.

THE FOREIGN SITUATION
FOR 1920
IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER BEFORE.
IT WILL BE COVERED THOROUGHLY IN

Wid's 1920 Year Book
—Coming Soon—

Stories—Producers who know prefer making pictures from books and plays which the public knows. For class, distinction and unquestionable value,—ask us FIRST.

CELEBRATED AUTHORS SOCIETY
701 SEVENTH AVENUE, N. Y.

Plays—Authors: E. W. Hornung, Rupert Hughes, Frank Harris and others, all BIG.
National Booking
An Being Discussed by Distributors' Committee of National Association

The Distributors' Committee of the National Association is busy discussing the National Booking Co. There have been several meetings of this committee, the latest of which was Monday morning. Practically all the big distributing and producing companies are represented on that committee, and practically all of them are on record as a result of these meetings, against the proposed plan.

Letters from the various companies expected to be filed with the Association, and they will be forwarded to the trade press later. These letters are expected to prove interesting. That they will be in a measure reflects the attitude of the various companies as expressed originally in D.E.'s Daily when the first reports of the new company appeared is likely, although some interesting angles may develop in the correspondence.

One of the points on which there is a dearth of opinion is how the various companies regard, may regard concerns such as the larger Amusement Co. of New Jersey, the Butterfield circuit, the Astor Co. and others. The contention is made that the large companies are hardly on record in opposition to National Booking if they serve. I intend to serve other looking organizations.

Jules E. Mauban of the National Ruling board could not be reached yesterday for a statement relative to the plan of the National Association.

It is understood that the National Booking is being pushed ahead, how- ever, and "timings things up" in anticipation of starting earnestly this fall.

You certainly know by now that just because some one says "so and so" is a star, that the simple statement does not make it a fact—and anyway it has been demonstrated most emphatically with all our biggest real stars that they cannot make good films without story, direction and production values. Buy intelligently this year.

The Young Case
Jos. I. Schnitzer, president of Equity Pictures Corp., said yesterday in reference to the action brought by Fine Arts Film Corp., Equity Pictures for $500,000 damages that any effort on the part of Miss Young or Harry Garson to present Clara Kimball Young productions elsewhere would be met by determined legal action on the part of Equity Pictures.

In reference to the suit Mr. Schnitzer added that Equity is and has at all times been ready to meet the terms of the contract but that the fault of Fine Arts to deliver the negative of the last Clara Kimball Young production entitled "Mid Channel." Mr. Schnitzer brought from Equity the declaration that until the negative was delivered, payments in accordance with the terms of the contract would be withheld, and that when the negative was delivered, payments in accordance with the contract were sent.

The New York office of Miss Young yesterday issued a statement regarding the libelation in which Miss Young claims that three weeks ago during the filming of a picture, she was notified by Fine Arts that they were unable to give further finance produc- tions alleging that Equity had de- faulted in its contract with Fine Arts. Miss Young's future plans according to the statement, will be made known in "due course."

Bennet Signs Kenneth Webb
Whitman Bennet, who is making a series of Lionel Barrymore productions and certain other special pictures for distribution through Associated First National Pictures, Inc., announced yesterday that he has signed Kenneth S. Webb, director, under a three year contract. This is the first long-term contract entered into by Mr. Bennet.

Mr. Webb has already completed the first of the Lionel Barrymore pictures, "The Master Mind," which was delivered to Associated First National about a month ago, and in the course of the next two or three weeks will have completed several other Barrymore production, "The Devil's Garden," founded on the novel of the same name by W. B. Maxwell.

Ziehn to Sail
Arthur Ziehn, foreign sales manager for Goldwyn, has booked passage for Europe and will sail on August 4. He will arrive on the other side in time to be present at the opening of the International Motion Picture Exposition to be held in Amsterdam, Sept. 21. He will also attend the Kino Messe, and motion picture exhibition of Germany, which will be held in Leipzig the latter part of August.

Jone s Going to Europe
Chicago, III.,—Aaron J. Jones, of Jones Linnick and Schaefer will leave for Europe in November, sailing from New York.

Rodner Promoted
Harold Rodner, formerly in charge of Special Pictures Philadelphia office, will have charge of the New York office. D. H. Stillocks, who has been East looking over affairs of the company, left for the Coast yesterday, and will stop at several Canadian points on route.

She learned the knock-out punch and proceeded to use it on the interfering butler.—Annette Keller in the big First National Special, "What Women Love."—Advt.

"Last of the Mohicans"
Los Angeles—It is said here, that the first Maurice Tourneau production for Asso. Producers will be "The Last of the Mohicans," based on Cooper's famous story.

Clarence Brown will direct another Tourneau supervised company and Winthrop Kelly will also have a working unit.

The Hope Hampton productions which Tourneau supervised is practically completed.

Price Releasing Mack Swain Comedies

Special Selling Stock
Los Angeles—Special Pictures Corp., are offering stock for sale at $1 a share. A letter signed by Wells Morton, fiscal agent of the company, says that Special has contracts of $1,250,000 of "Comedy Art" films.

Wid's DAILY
OL. XIII No. 27
Wednesday, July 28, 1920
Price 5 Cents

The BRADSTREET FILMDOM
The Recognized Authority
Quotations

Dwan Completes Mayflower Contract
Los Angeles—Alan Dwan has completed his Mayflower contract.

New Hampshire Exhibitors Meet
Boston, Mass.—A meeting of the New Hampshire Exhibitors for the purpose of reorganization, has been called for to-day by C. H. Bean, president.

Exhibitors of Three States Meet
Lead, S. D.—Exhibitors from Western South Dakota, Northwestern Nebraska and Eastern Wyoming are in session, having called to gether by Leo Patterson, secretary of the Black Hills Exhibitors League.

New Company to Give Dinner
A dinner will be given at the Ritz-Carleton July 29, by the Franco-American Cinematograph Co., the newly organized $100,000,000 concern, the names of the directors and plans will be announced at this occasion.

Ingram to Direct Ibanez Film
Rex Ingram will direct Metro's production of Vincente Blasco Ibanez' production, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Alice Terry will play the feminine lead.

Set Serial Release Dates

Musicians Want Increase
Jamestown, N. Y.—The local Musicians Union has asked for an increase which would bring the scale up to $49 per seven day week, with six and a half hours a day. The proposed rate for organists and orchestra leaders is $60.

Buy Warner Serial
Chicago, Ill.—The Illinois and Indiana rights to the Warner serial, "The Tiger Band," have been purchased by the Celebrated Film Corp.

In the Courts

Wilfrid North has been sued in the Supreme Court for $15,000 alleged to be due on a loan of $7,000 made to him by Arthur Guy Emery. The suit was brought in the name of Jacob B. Glazer to whom the claim was assigned.

Suit has been filed in the Supreme Court by the Ritchey Lithographing Corp. against the Holland Pictures for a draft for $3,895.

The Victor Kroemer Feature Films, Inc., has brought an action in the Supreme Court against Jacob Sheinfeld and the Pacific Bank. The complaint alleges that Sheinfeld while in the plaintiff's employ collected $3,015 from the Quality Film Co., the Big Features Co. and W. J. Sparks Hald an deposit made in the Pacific Bank in the name of the "J. Sheinfeld Sepicla Account." The plaintiff sues for the money.

Show Films in Schools
Hodgesville, Ky.—Professor G. L. Crone, principal of the Buffalo High School, has introduced an innovation in class work, employing films to instruct in geographical and historical work.

Exhibitors Elect Officers
Cincinnati, O.—The following officers were elected at the last meeting of the Greater Cincinnati Exhibitors Asso., at the Hotel Gibson: I. W. Mc Mahan, president; Andy Teldesheimer, vice-president; John Husse, treasurer; John Huebler secretary and P. S. Smith, sergeant-at-arms.

Restrict Theater Erection
New Orleans—the City Council has passed an ordinance barring the erection of another picture house on Magazine St., between Elmore and Webster St. A house is in the course of construction in the restricted area, by the Sobel-Richards—Shears Enter., and will fight the ruling.
Cuts and Flashes

William P. Carleton has returned to continue his contract with Famous Players-Lasky, and is now playing the leading role opposite Dorothy Dalton in an adaptation of the E. Phillips Oppenheim novel "Jean of the Marshes," now in course of production. The film will be entitled "In Men's Eyes." Carleton was rehired by Famous in order to play the lead in the International Production of "The Inside of the Cup," and the role opposite Geraldine Farrar in the Associated Exhibitors' "The Riddle Woman.

Augusts 1 has been set as the release date for "The Mystery of Washington Square," the Fidelity production, by William G. Smith.

The New York Film Board of Trade will hold its outing and games at Bear Mountain on Aug. 13.

F. Wright, Los Angeles, western representative of the Sun Light Arc Corp., is in town.

Hugo Ballin has finished work on "The Honorable Man," which is now being edited and titled. Release not yet determined.

Paralta Pictures have been sold by Gus Schlesinger of Inter-Ocean for distribution of South Africa.

Inter-Ocean has been appointed American representative for Inter-Ocean Photoplays, Ltd., of London. The London concern will distribute the American Inter-Ocean product for Great Britain.

Eugene Spitz, owner of the Estee studios and an independent producer, left for a tour of eastern summer resorts and the White Mountains.

Walter Porges is now associated with the Arthur S. Kane productions.

John C. Ragland of the Arthur S. Kane productions is spending his vacation fishing in the Maine woods.

Hit by Coal Shortage

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Due to the coal shortage, the mines nearby not working as well as usual, the Liberty is obliged to give only three shows a week.

Carewe Directs MacDonald

Los Angeles—Edwin Carewe will direct Katherine MacDonald in "The Second Latchkey" instead of David M. Hartford, as previously announced. Miss MacDonald will be supported by an unusually strong cast.

Woody on Trip

Chicago—J. S. Woody, general manager for Realart, is in town.

Coast Brevities

Hollywood—Ruth Roland is going on a vacation. She expects to visit Catalina.

Following the completion of "Beyond the Crossroads," the Clermont Photoplay production, Ona Carew will join the Lasky forces as leading woman in De Mille productions for Paramount. Her first picture under the Lasky will be "His Friend and His Wife.

Helen Jerome Eddy signs contract with Smith syndicate.

Jay Brien Chapman has resigned as publicity director for Federal Photoplays, Zane Grey Pictures and Benjamin B. Hanupon productions. He will take a lying trip to New York as his first vacation for four years. On his return he will start a publicity and news service with offices at 1000 Hollywood. Chapman's place will be filled by Jack Lewis, former publicity director for Selznick.

E. M. Post, Metro, is about to go to Rumania to study conditions there for the Red Cross.

Ruth Ann Baldwin has engaged by Metro. First script, "The Marriage of William Ashe," is for May Allison.

Bayard Veiller has completed his first original story for Metro, entitled "He Tried to Be King."

Mildred Harris Chaplin has left for the East. Report says she has several offers from Al Woods and other producers of legitimate stage. She has one more picture to make with Mayer. She says she is considering seriously a stage career.

Hewlings Mumper, representing Ben H. Hampton, has left for New York.

Production of Alice Lake's new vehicle, "Body and Soul," was started this week under the direction of Charles Sirkwood.

C. L. Chester Productions, Inc., are building a new administration building at Beverly St. and Sunset Blvd., which they expect to complete by Sept. 1st.

Sweet Job

John H. Blackwood, Thomas H. Iuce's scenario editor, is in New York for the purpose of obtaining a number of young actresses for principal parts in forthcoming Iuce productions.

Pioneer Opening More Exchanges

Pioneer Film will open offices in Washington, D. C., Baltimore, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha.

The first to begin operations will be Washington, which is situated at 525 15th St. W. N. W. and in Baltimore at 412 E. Lexington St. Ed Price will be in charge in Baltimore. Both of these exchanges were taken over from Screen Art Pictures and in addition to handling the Pioneer output in these territories, it will also exploit the Screen Art Prod. The offices at St. Louis will be situated at 3134 Olive St., and in Kansas City at 1712 Main St. The location of the Omaha office has not as yet been determined.

Baltimore and Washington will begin operations under the Pioneer banner on August 1.

Chadwick Luncheon

Helene Chadwick, who has appeared prominently in a number of Goldwyn productions, and who is well known as a shopping and pleasure tourist, met a number of newspaper and magazine folk yesterday at a luncheon at Delmonico's. There were no speeches and no discussions about plans, or anything. At the luncheon Miss Chadwick invited everybody to come to the Coast to see her, said she was glad to meet everybody, and everybody said she was "just charming."

Coast reports indicate that Miss Chadwick will be engaged by Goldwyn probably next season.

Baltimore, Md.—Everybody's Playhouse, Mrs. A. G. Nathan, opened.

CONVENIENCE

316 East 48th St.
DOUGLAS A. HINCKLEY
Murray Hill 4963
Negative Developing
Sanitary Print Titles
Quick Service
Small Studio for Rent

IMPORTANT NOTICE
for the Stockholders of
Powers Film Products, Inc.

The undersigned is a large stockholder and a former employee (chemist) of the Powers Film Products, Inc. Stockholders are invited to communicate with the undersigned in order that steps for mutual protection of stockholders may be taken.

FREDERICK J. HARRISON
103 Dartmouth St.,
Rochester, N. Y.
Big Stunt Pulled
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Oakland, Cal.—John McCormick, special representative of First National, wired J. D. Williams regarding the exploitation of field day in Oakland Monday. It was the biggest event in the history of the west, and stars and productions of the First National were greeted by a multitude. McCormick put over a stunt that ought to make the west talk for a month, and this is not boosting his game, but First National’s. More than 200,000 people stood in line waiting for the parade which was delayed three hours because the train from Los Angeles was late three hours.

Bernstein Returns from Europe
Jesse S. Bernstein, president and general manager of the Trans-Regional Trading Corp., is just leaving London on his return to the United States after a six months’ business trip through Europe.

Kansas Exhibitors to Meet Kansas City, Kan.—Sept. 27 and 28 have been set as the meeting dates for the Kansas State Exhibitors’ Asso.

Maigne Productions
Charles Maingé has signed a long-term contract with the Famous Players-Lasky as a producer of special productions. Maingé’s new pictures will be known as “Charles Maingé Productions.”

New Tax for Exhibitors Philadelphia—The collector of internal revenue for the first district of Pennsylvania has announced the imposition of a 5 per cent tax on advertising matter purchased with films. The tax will be assessed on all exhibitors and will be collected by the exchanges, which will be required to make a monthly return to the collector of the district in which the exchange may be located. The imposition of this tax is the result of the ruling of the Advisory Board of the Internal Revenue Service, Treasury Department, and is held to be retrospective to May, 1919, at which time the revenue act of 1918 became effective as a sales and excise tax.

Crescent Buys Ostrich Films Kansas City—The Crescent Film Co. has purchased the series of 12 Muriel Ostrich comedies from Arrow for this territory.

Among Exchangemen Kansas City—P. R. Isely, formerly with Republic, is now with Goldwyn.

Kansas City—Albert Vontoska has been transferred from the local Vitagraph office to the San Francisco exchange.

Kansas City—John McGee and E. J. Tilton have been added to the local Robertson-Cole sales force.

George Terwilliger is directing “The Mislleading Lady” with Bert Lytell for Metro.

\"UP IN MARY’S ATTIC\"

SMASHES ALL RECORDS AT
B. S. MOSS’ BROADWAY

POLICE ORDER DOORS OPEN AN HOUR EARLY TO KEEP CROWDS FROM BLOCKING TRAFFIC

THOUSANDS TURNED AWAY

FOR UNSOLD TERRITORY WIRE

FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.
1457 BROADWAY,
New York City

Phone Bryant 9500

The entire third year product of Goldwyn Pictures, including the Capitol Comedies, has been sold for Cuba, Porto Rico and San Domingo by Arthur Zich.

D. N. SCHWAB PROD. OFFER FOR
STATE RIGHTS
David Butler in
“Fickle Women”
117 W. 6th St., N. Y. C.
Against Franchises

New York Exhibitors Want Open Booking and Will So Operate

The Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce of Greater New York is like franchises. And they are moving against franchise circuits. The special sub-committee investigating the franchise plan of First National will notify First National that they are not agreeable to the conditions of the contract offered, and they will be glad to hear from the circuits of First National. The idea is understood that they are strongly opposed to the franchise system.

This idea also extends to National Pictures (Selig) and the new National Booking Co. idea.

One of the members discusses the idea and says that the chief position to the franchise plan was that it "tied up an exhibitor and red him from keeping the gate open. And this," he says, "was not done in saw we are encouraging independent production."

As to Prices

New York exhibitors 'The" to prices which, Famous Pictures for "Humoresque." Orie- ingly it was scheduled as a May re- lease, on the same scale as all Cosmo- pant productions. When the piece was developed, a big fee was inserted and it was withdrawn as a reg- e Cosmopolitan and was withheld in May releases. It is now being sold at much higher prices for a new release. Exhibitors who are reduced to pay $100 for two days the "Humoresque" say they are being asked $500 for two. They say some are saying for it the advance.

Pioneer Distributes Truth Prod. Truth Prod. (Harry Levey) will be distributed through Pioneer Film exchanges.

Honest methods must win eventually but until you prove to all the salesmen from the ex- changes that you won't fall for the old 'bunk you can't expect to work on you- only a producer-distributor who is afraid of the quality of his product will try to force you to tie up all your playing time without cancellation rights.

Wants Conference

Of Exhibitors and Producer-Exhib- itors Regarding Standard Form of Contract

In a letter just sent to all produc- ers and distributors Syd Cohen of the M. P. T. O. suggests a confer- ence between representatives of this branch of the industry and the exhib- itor association with a view of reach- ing a fair contract which may be used as a standard.

Mary and "Doug" Back

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks ("Doug" and "Mary") returned from Europe yesterday on the Olympic. They were met at the dock by Hiram Abrams and their personal representa- tives, Carlyle Robinson and Ken- neth McGaffey, and as fast as the customs were cleared hurried to the Ritz. They will remain there a week or 10 days and then return to California to resume production. Both were highly enthusiastic over their "wonderful reception" abroad.

What's in the Letter?

Craftsmen Write Letter to Brady But Neither Side Reveals Contents

The only marked development in the strikes in the last 24 hours was the announcement made by M. P. craftsmen that a letter had been sent to H. A. Brady of the National Association touching the labora- tory conditions now existing in New York. No statement was given as to whether the craftsmen will reveal the contents of the letter.

In response to the National Associa- tion request that the men are stead- ily returning to work, the union ofi- cials point out that advertisements ap- peared in New York daily last week asking for laboratory men. Ac- cording to the Union this would indi- cate that the laboratories are going very slowly.

A number of the laboratory owners say that in response to letters sent to all striking employees asking them to return at a certain date and stating that differences will be forgotten, that many have returned. The Union denies this and claims the let- ters merely constituted a ruse.

The Union also denies that there were risings in Fort Lee yesterday be- tween strikers and strike-breakers as reported in the metropolitan dailies.

Japs Want Vignola

Robert G. Vignola, whose specials are being made for Cosmopolitan-Francisco, has received an offer to become director general of the Kin- kikan Cinematograph Co. of Tokyo, which is said to have a capital of $500,000. A commission representing the company will leave for New York about the middle of next month to take the matter up with Vignola.

Franco-American Dinner Tonight

At the Ritz tonight the Franco- Ameri- can Cinematograph Co. will tender a dinner at which Paul Caze- lve, Ambassador of France, will pres- ide.

It is expected that the officers and directors of this new $100,000,000 con- cern will be made public, as well as some of their present plans. It is also expected that an exchange of views will take place between those interested from a financial, economic, production and exhibition standpoint in the exchange of American produc- tions throughout the world, with a view of providing a closer tie in the future between the interests of the United States and those of Europe, as represented by the Franco-Ameri- can Co.

Your Engraved Stationery

Let Solomon Do It, He's Wise.
Cuts and Flashes

Lillian R. Gale has been placed in charge of Arthur H. Jacobs service department: exploitation, advertising and publicity.

The cast for “The Foreigner,” the first production of Dominion Films of which Ernest Shipman is president, has been selected and includes Car-\n g tooth, Robert T. Haines, Anne Sutherland, Bradley Barker and others.

Irving Wernick is selling in Brooklyn for Sam Zierler of Commonwealth.

Christie on Way

Charles H. Christie, general manager of the Christie Film Co., is due here Saturday from his coast studio, with plans for more special feature productions to be made by his company.

According to Pat Dowling, who preceded his chief here, Christie desires to correct the impression that the Christie company is making comedies in feature lengths. All special productions which bear the Christie name, he says, are special comedy-drama productions and not elaborated two-reel comedies.

It is expected that C. H. Christie will announce a new brand of one-reel comedies to take the place of the single reel Christies which have been supplanted by the new two-reelers which are being distributed through Educational.

Deitz Back in New York

Howard Deitz, Goldwyn publicity, is back in New York after a five weeks absence, part of which time he spent at the Goldwyn studios in California.

Denver.—D. M. O’Lander has been made sales representative here of the W. W. Hodkinson branch to take the place of Jack Krum, whose resignation has just gone into effect.

Clever Stunt

Engineered by Hunt Stromberg with Newspaper Tie-Up

The exploitation department of the Thomas H. Ince studios has just launched a new cooperative drive. By special arrangement with one newspaper in each city and town of the United States and Canada, Thos. H. Ince has produced a three-reel photo-play which depicts for the first time every phase of on and off stage activity in the Ince studios.

The novel production, released under the title of “A Trip Through the World’s Greatest Motion Picture Studios” will be distributed to exhibitors by and under the exclusive jurisdiction of the newspapers for which it was especially filmed under the personal supervision of Thos. H. Ince, and the direction of Hunt Stromberg, director of publicity and advertising for the Ince Studios, who conceived the idea.

“A Trip Through the World’s Greatest Motion Picture Studios” sidesteps the casual star and player “snapshot” glimpses found in some magazine and special supplements devoted to “behind the scenes” moments. The production presents the full day’s work in a representative American studio.

The circulation department of the various newspapers, in selection of the Ince productions for tie-up, have perfected plans for “cashing in” on the stunt. Special one-sheets, placards, canvas streamers and announcements will be attached to all delivery vehicles. Other exploitation includes a tie-up with the Leo Feist music dealers, who will arrange window displays, lobby exhibits, “stunts” and stage demonstrations for the promotion of the picture and their song hit, “At the Moving Picture Ball.”

Gets Belgian Medal

Chicago—Mrs. Samuel S. Hutchinson, wife of S. S. Hutchinson of the American Film Co., has been decorated with the Belgian Medal of Honor, awarded under a citation by King Albert, for war relief work done in behalf of Belgian prisoners in Germany.
Putting It Over

Pittsburgh, Pa.—N. A. Bouson, manager of the Stadium has hit upon a new plan for improving business using the latter half of the week which at that house has not been very satisfactory. With each ticket purchased, a coupon was handed out, giving the possessor free admission on Wednesday night. One o'clock and ten cents, half of the admission price also entitled the holder of the admission. Benson started the theme when playing "Don't Ever Larr," and it served to fill the house.

Butler, Pa.—String up 1,000 hused-watt lamps along the thoroughfare to the Majestic and painting the telephone and telegraph poles white, manager Frank Dumnaire caused considerable excitement. The stunt helped business materially.

"Headin' Home"

The title of the big Babe Ruth feature now being completed, and which will be handled by Kessel & Baumann is "Headin' Home." Release date has been set for Sept. 30. This release marks the re-entry of Kessel & Baumann in the field after a absence of three years. They believe the Ruth feature will be one of the biggest pictures released in years. Arthur James, formerly of Metro of Fox, is handling the publicity and advertising.

Comment on "Prince Chap" Copy

Considerable comment is heard in advertising circles over some of the copy being used by Famous Players or "The Prince Chap." In a recent edition the caption was "Greatest Since the Miracle Man," and this line was taken from the comment of an exhibitor in a letter to the Chicago branch of Famous. Those who criticize this particular piece of copy say that even though one or two exhibitors have this idea, that as a whole it is known that the production, while enacted to be a very big feature, is nothing like as big as "The Miracle Man" nor is it anything like as big feature or money getter as "Humoresque." The only defence of the use of this sort of copy is said to be at the production came from Wm. ehlke, as part of the Lasky product, while "Humoresque" was made by an outside unit—Cosmopolitan.

Famous Lists November Releases

Miles Expanding

Detroit, Mich.—Charles H. Miles, who recently purchased two houses in Akron, Ohio, is negotiating for houses in Pittsburgh, Scranton and Chicago.

Exhibitors to Hold Convention

Atlantic City, N. J.—The Exhibitors League of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware will hold a convention here Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 23 and 24.

Boys Rights to "Woman He Chose"

St. Louis, Mo.—Rights to "The Woman He Chose" have been purchased for Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois by the Independent Film Exchange.

In the Courts

Minneapolis, Minn.—Joseph W. Cohen, former owner of the Lagoon has filed a suit for $125,000 against I. H. Ruben of Finkelstein and Ruben in the Hennepin County District Court. It is charged that the defendant entered into a move to obtain the Lagoon and that through the alleged action, business at that house became so unprofitable that Cohen was finally compelled to lease it to Ruben at a yearly rental of $9,000. It is claimed that if the plaintiff had been allowed to pursue his work in the regular line of competition, the theater would have paid $30,000 annually for the next ten years.

NEW YORK SWELTERED YESTERDAY

but

“UP IN MARY’S ATTIC”

Drew more money at the Box Office of B. S. Moss Broadway Theatre than ever before in the history of the house.

Thousands turned away at both Matinee and Night Performance.

FOR UNSOLD TERRITORY WIRE

FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.
1457 BROADWAY,
New York City
Phone Bryant 9500

STUDIO FOR RENT

Well equipped, accessible, very reasonable. Write Box B-12, Wid’s
or phone Bryant 5339

NOT MERELY NAMES, BUT PLOTS FROM THE KEENEST BRAINS TO BUILD BIG PICTURE WITH, BUT STILL—NAMES THAT WILL BRING AUDIENCES! CELEBRATED AUTHORS SOCIETY

721 SEVENTH AVENUE, N. Y.

PHONES: BRYANT 1511-1984
DO YOU REMEMBER

No. 20

"THE GRELL MYSTERY"

with Earle Williams and Denton Vane

PAUL SCARDON

Directed It

And also

"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"

with Blanche Sweet

Now directing

BESSIE BARRISCALE

Investigate Film Blaze

Baltimore, Md.—The cause of the fire that damaged the building at 2938 O'Donnell St., formerly the Olympia, is being investigated by the police.

Musicians Given Notice

Providence, R. I.—In conjunction with the new musicians' wage scale going into effect Aug. 1, local theater owners have given the members of the Musicians' Protective Association notice that after two weeks their services will be dispensed with. It is explained by the exhibitors that this move is merely a formality to allow for a reduction in the number of musicians employed.

Photoplaymen, Attention

We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the photoplay profession here on the coast. We invite your patronage.

Your success, face

Richardson's

607 West Seventh Street

America's Finest Laboratory

Located

Atop The Palisades

Opposite 12/f Stories

Palisades Film Laboratories

10th Ave., N. J.

Maylonite 821-2

On Broadway

Broadway

The big drawing card at the Broadway this week is "The California Bathing Girls In A Back Patch," is. This is an entertainment in conjunction with "Up in Mary's Attic," in which several of the bona fide bathing girls are seen. The crowds that lined up in front of the house on Monday night needed the police to keep them in order. Capacity was the order for the two evening shows. The revue is the usual thing of this sort. The girls wear pretty and startling bathing suits, but the dancing and singing show their stuff is for the most part amateur. The number fails to pull the swelling or people at any swindled chorus. The surrounding program is very light. The overture is excerpts from "The Night Boat," and the review contains numerous water pictures of all sorts. "Topics of the Day" completes the bill.

Strand

Constance Talmadge is again at the Strand in her latest First National, "The Perfect Woman." It falls nobly short of Miss Talmadge's best. "Duck Inn," a Mermaid Educational comedy featuring Lloyd Mauney, touches the comedy high-light on the bill. The overture is made up of selections from "Merton Falls," the review and a Chester travelogue, "One Drop Was Enough" follows in order. Carlo Ferrari's baritone renders "Lotita," Spanish serenade, previous to the feature pictures while following the comedy "Serenate," is rendered on the organ.

Capitol

Will Rogers is in "Cupid, the Cowpuncher," by all odds the stellar attraction. It registers as one of the finest comedies seen on Broadway. Selections from Verdi's "Rigoletto" are rendered by the orchestra, ensemble and vocal principals as the opening number of the bill. Two or three simple yet effective stage settings are used as backdrops for the principals. A Chester travelogue, "Some More Soma," is interesting. Another performance is a dance between two female principals to Rubinstein's "Valses."

A prelude to the feature a male quartet dressed in western regalia in the vicinity of the Old Apple Tree. This song comes into the action of the picture several times. The quartet is placed behind a transparent section of the feature's main title giving an odd effect. A "Indian Cycle" is the final picture unit and goes over only now. The "Indian Song" doesn't seem appropriate for a house of the Capitol's size, nor is it very dominant except for the quaintness of the idea the people changing seats and as the feature has just gone off at its beginning there is the usual bustle of going on and coming. Dora's "Indian Lament," played as a violin solo is the feature of the number. The picture is a scene of Lake Tahoe, California and is of average calibur. There should, however, have been a blue tint over the figures instead of a green.

This week the Capitol is printing on its program a notice reading that at which each number goes on. Why not go a step further and display these hours outside the house, the buildings? A variety marks the Rialto program this week, none of the various numbers being closely related. The overture is "Pique Dame" and the pictorial follows, concluding with some scenes of Italy which a Dutch dance is staged before a "ball" backdrop. A Bruce song, The Castle of Destiny" proves to be one of the most enjoyable of this type of picture ever released. It is splendidly photographed, its scenes of a wild sea are altogether unusual and the little theme it carries carries the audience in its grasp. A solo "For You Alone" by Mary Lamb, soprano, comes next and the feature, "Cracked Streets," starring Ethel Clayton, follows. A Chester comedy, "An Overall Picture" as its principals three months whose work is more or less astonishing, the concluding organ solo is "Prelude in C Sharp Minor."

Rialto

The most important thing about the Rialto program this week is the reappearance of "The Prince Chipp," with Thomas Meighan. Broadway after it has played a week at the Rialto, "The Prince Chipp," not a very interesting picture, and others have been that have successfully played the Rialto and Rialto theater at the same time. It would seem that the reason for the success of it is the fine, sympathetic production given the delightful story and the vast popularity of Thomas Meighan in New York. He can draw with the best of them.

The overture is Johann Strauss' "The Bat," one of this composer many waltzes. The Rialto magazine contains its usual quota of interesting pictures selected from all available sources. Currer Mail, tenor, renders a solo from "La Gioconda" previous to the showing of the feature and a new Chester comedy, "A seaside siren" follows. On the organ, selections from "Faust."

To Build Saranac Lake Studio

S. D. N. Mathews, president of the Filmart Laboratories said yesterday that he planned the erection of a hotel and studio, to be ready by the winter on the Amherst property at Saranac Lake. The studio he declared was for the use of picture people who travelled to that vicinity for winter stuff.

Cincinnati, O.—Eddie Fischer is now a member of the Standard Sales force, selling in Western Kentucky.

Form Independent Sales Concern

Joe Brandt and Jack Cohn have formed the C. B. C. Sales Co., to deal in independent productions. The concern will buy and produce short films and features, dealing in the former especially. Brandt left Monday for the Coast.

Enlarge Jersey Exchange

What has hitherto been the Jersey Rolfe Film Co. will hereafter be known as the Jans Film Service. The concern will be enlarged generally and will buy rights to features for New York and New Jersey.

4 A WEEK

COMEDYART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD-

SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the cooperation of the greatest out-of-doors magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

Three of these weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Helman Bldg.,

LOS ANGELES

Thursday, July 29, 1920

DAILY
new Nothing Of It

Reichenbach to District Attorney in Hearing on "Yuki Suicide"

Harry L. Reichenbach yesterday phatically denied before District Attorney Swan having anything to do with the "Onda Yuki," now known to be a fake. He said he was a Universal press agent in conjunction with one of the productions of that organization. To get out his statement, Reichenbach nished three contracts to do spec- tacular, exploitation work, two of these being with Universal and one with ma. His most recent contract, made until August 16, is dated July 17 and provides for his "ex- cepting, advertising and publicizing accordance among Cannibals." He in reply to some of the questions put to him by District Attorney Reichenbach answered as fol- lows:

1. Are you associated with Unival?
   a. No. I am an independent ex- press agent of pictures. I have contracts to do work for Universal but am permanently bound down.
   b. Where are you here during the acl-drowning?
   a. I was in Chicago putting out the Cannibal production. I first read about it in the Philadelphia Daily News.
   b. Wasn't "Onda Yuki" one of the men you were to promote?
   a. No such person exists. Onda Yuki is a character in a picture. I nothing whatsoever to do with it.
   b. Following these points, Reichen- b. denied continually any knowl- edge of the affair. He explained that he did not arrange in person in many of the stunts, he "laid them there.
   a. And didn't you "lay this out"?
   a. On my word of honor, I had nothing to do with it.

(Continued on Page 2)

The United Theaters movement had plenty of theaters but not enough good film—Keep that in mind.

Wid

OL. XIII. No. 29 "Friday, July 30, 1920

Price 5 Cents

Plans Announced

Franco-American Co. Claims to Control 20,000 European Theaters and Many Companies

The first definite plans of the $100,000,000 Franco-American Cinematographe Co., were announced at a dinner last night at the Ritz, which was attended by a number of prominent film folk.

The company will in no way compete in America, although productions may be bought and sold here eventually. Indications at present are that stock will be sold in this country.

The Americans comprising the executive committee are S. J. Fleichman of the Fleischman Construction Co., MacDougall Hawkes, an attorney, and representatives of Educational Film & Co., bankers and Jose Castellot, formerly Mexican Ambassador to Sweden. Other Americans on the directorate will be announced later.

M. Himmel, the representative of the company, can speak but little English, so his address was read. In part he said:

"We have succeeded in grouping together in Europe, all that is important in the moving picture industry.

In France, we control Pathé, Éclipse, Compagnie Studio Cine, de Nice; in England, the London Agency, under which are grouped the principal English motion picture productions, a number of British, Spanish, and Italian pictures.

In Germany, we control the Groupe L. U. F. R. A., Universum Film Aten Gesellschaft, and in Belgium we control the ZYGON Filmst Cinématographiques.

We further control 20,000 theaters and exhibition rooms over the world including 2,220 in France, 2,495 in Germany, 1,650 in Italy, 1,935 in England, 2,103 in Austria, 725 in Spain, and the rest distributed over the other countries of Europe. We are building ourselves 6,000 more theaters.

Among the more prominent film folk present were, Marcus Loew, L. J. Selasick, Whitman Bennett, Earl W. Hanley, Louis B. Mayer, Paul Cromelin, Leonce Perret, William Newgass and Arthur S. Kane.

Your Next Insert

Let SOLOMON do it, he's wise.—Advt.
Cuts and Flashes

Sydney S. Cohen has sent a letter to every member of the Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers seeking harmony regarding the music tax and suggesting its abolishment in the matter appearing in some of the popularizing compositions.

Jules E. Mastbaum has been elected president of the Locust Club of Philadelphia.

Friars’ Dinner to “Dough” and Mary David W. Griffith, Mary Pickford’s first motion picture director, will be one of the speakers at the Friars’ dinner to Miss Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, to be held at the Hotel Astor. Other speakers will include William A. Brady, Raymond Hitchcock and Remo Wolf. Following the dinner an entertainment will be given, and the first picture in which Miss Pickford ever appeared will be exhibited.

Knew Nothing Of It

(Continued from Page 1)

In referring to a statement about the matter appearing in one of the metropolitan dailies, Reichenbach declared that on Saturday he would issue a bulletin concerning the matter.

J. Walter Swan called the Universal publicity office on the phone and arrangements were made whereby J. H. Mayer and Mr. Bate are to appear before him at 12 o’clock today with all data and contracts concerning the exploitation of the Aoki picture. An Ellsworth Motz, who is alleged appeared before the police to furnish information about the “dropped woman” under the name of Harry Ellsworth, and Herbert Leverton were also asked to appear through the Universal offices.

Swann seemed to be quite angry about the entire affair and said significantly that he would “finish the fellow who did it if he got hit.” Asked whether he had made remarks attributed to him in the New York papers, he said, “I don’t know, not having seen the article.”

Reichenbach said yesterday that the first he knew of the action of the District Attorney was when he was passing a newspaper office in Pittsburgh—the Dispatch. “I was reading the bulletin,” he said, “and came across the one referring to Reichenbach. I have a brother who lives in Pittsburgh and at first thought it referred to him. I discovered it was about myself. I was in Chicago at the time the suicide story was printed in New York. When the letter was finally received from the District Attorney I sat down and wrote him that there were a lot of important things happening in New York, such as the Elwhar murder mystery, the trunk mystery and other matters such as wide open gambling, and suggested he not waste good daylight on me. As soon as I arrived in New York yesterday I informed him that I was due in Philadelphia Friday and suggested that I see him Thursday afternoon.”

Gives Data

(Continued from Page 1)

Olive, of yours, trying to get possession of the New Theater. About three months ago your Mr. Morrison, at Dallas, Texas, was asked the matter of leasing the New Theater over our heads. We had not been able to close a contract with the Southern, so last month, and in some way the trustee of the New Theater property obtained the information that Mr. Morrison, at Dallas, was selling the theatre to a party who was to take it at auction.

“Your Mr. Morrison came to Fort Smith, and we closed up a contract for quite a number of your pictures, and after this correspondence with Mr. Morrison had started. Immediately after we had bought these pictures, Mr. Morrison dropped negotiations for the New Theater, on the grounds that our present lease running over a year longer, had too long a term for him to now consider the matter.

“His efforts could result in only one thing—and that would be to hurt our rent, as we had a renewal clause for an additional ten years, the price of which is subject to arbitration. Now the trustee expects Mr. Morrison’s tentative offers as conclusive proof as to why the place is worth nearly double what we are paying them.

“Tf you are really sincere in seeking information, possibly this will help you out.

“Yours very truly,

“C. A. LICK,

“New Theater.

“Fort Smith, Ark.”

At Famous Players it was stated that Mr. Zukor had received the letter from Lick, but was not at the moment ready to comment upon it.

Old Guard Going

Nathan Friend Out of Famous Players—Few of old timers, Nathan Friend, for a long time identified with Famous Players in various important positions, is no longer connected with that organization.

With the passing of Friend, who is a brother of Arthur Friend of Famous, another of the “old guard” of that organization passes. There are very few of the old-timers left—"Al" Lichtman, in charge of sales, and Arthur Friend, who is treasurer of the company.

Offer to Mediate

George C. Woodruff, secretary of the M. P. Craftsmen, declared yesterday that the contents of the letter to William A. Patterson were mainly an offer to get together. He declared that it had been sent by the international committee of the theatrical unions and that as yet no reply had been received. The laboratories according to him are shut down in most cases and the work is being turned out. Otherwise there were no new developments. Both sides apparently are still holding out, with the National Association claiming a victory, and the union insisting with equal firmness that it holds the key to power.
Officers Named

In the interest of the motion picture branch of Atlantic City’s Festival, A. Conrad Echols, chairman of a festival committee, addressed to the
A. M. P. A. yesterday.

The festival which is to be own as the Fall Frolic is planned ny scope to rival the myriad wning.

New Orleans, stated Mr. Echols,
d be directed by the City Commission, Charles E. of Carnival Arts, and other bodies of the seaside city.

The servings of New Jersey, and Delaare promised their support of a festival which is scheduled for September 21-25.

There will be special days set apart for participation by the motion picture industry and by theatrical procurers. It was in the particular inlist of the former that the speaker pressed the gathering.

Following a discussion of the plan-methods a motion was put and ried promising the A. M. P. A.’s pro pos and a committee of the association with Arthur James as chair-an was appointed to give all possible cooperation.

At the business session of the A.
A. P. preceding the address the admitting members were nominated for election in September.

Members of the A. M. P. A. for the earlier commencing: President Lazarus; vice-president, C. L.
aha; secretary, Julian Solomon Yasur; managing editor, Horace Judge; business manager, Tom Wiley.

Commands made for the board of governors is in exchange to the ex-officio members or Arthur James, chairman; Paul se, P. A. Parsons, Harry Reich-bach and Jerome Beatty. The committee: Chairman, Edgar Hoff; Secretary, Arthur Brillant and Maurice SS.

Kinema, Fresno, in Blaze

Fresno, Cal.—Three firemen were juried and a damage of $50,000 wa-nd as a result of a blaze at the ima recently. Operator H. C. ol, who was in the booth when le film ignited and started the connovation, narrowly escaped with life, but the audience was finely han-ed and a panic avoided.

First Hemmer Film Complete

College Point, L. I.—The first picture of the Hemmer Superior Prod.
as been completed and resulted in a elation at the Benedict studios.

Japanese Censorship Stringent

Some data on censorship in Japan reveals some unusual facts. An ac-ent may not abuse a policeman in the Land of the Rising Sun, nor may any way discredit him or to lower the officer’s dignity. The policeman must be the vic-for he may not appear in the pronunciation. Nude statues, embraces, ile plays, etc., are regulated. Per-fers may embrace only wives or mediate relatives, the latter being concession on the part of the police izers.

Putting It Over

Crawfordville, Ind.—Manager B.
V. Barton of the Strand recently gave performance of “Freddy Long Legs” at the Strand, sending matines to take over inmates of the poor farm.” It served as a splendid advertisement. Originally it was in ented to give only one show, but the crowd necessitated two performances.

San Francisco—Soil Lesser, in or-order to secure a suitable bathing swimmers to four of its Annette Kel-lerman’s new production, “What Women Love,” will stage a swiming carnival here.

The shapely Annette will supervise the event, selecting the entries, training them and otherwise acting in an executive capacity.

Incorporations

Albany—Venice Art Film Co. Capital, $10,000. Incorporators: O. S.
Lee, Y. Demaria, J. S. Pisciotta,
1466 7th St., Brooklyn.

Dover, Del.—Lincoln-Union Theacers, Capital, $2,000,000. Incorpo-ratous: Irving E. Holles, Charles L.
Raskin and Helen F. Smith, New York.

Detroit, Mich.—Rivoli Theater Co.
Capital, $20,000. James C. Ritter,
Edward W. Reynolds and Charles J.
Sear.

Albany—Jimmy, Hussey, $20,000.
H. S. and W. N. Hechheimer, M.
Rothstein.

Albany—Wilart Camera Distribution Co., $15,000, M. Rothstein, H.
S. and W. N. Hechheimer. Adversing and motion picture devices.

New Theaters

Houses Reopened.

Toronto, Can.—Colonial reopened
after being rebuilt.

Managers Changed

Winnipeg, Man.—Edward Benson
at Walker, succeeding Oral D. Cloakley.

Winnipeg, Man.—Will M. Elliott to open new Famous Players house.

Dayton, O.—Claude Miller at Strand succeeding Frank Zartman.

Winnipeg, Man.—Jules L. Steele at Allen succeeding Will M. Elliott.

Vancouver, B.C.—Harry Keele at National.

Quincy, Mass.—Charles R. Black at Quincy.

Houses Leased

Shenandoah, Pa.—Alfred Gottes-am leased O’Hara’s Opera House.

El Paso, Tex.—B. O. Fedderson, Coliseum at Phoenix, leased Majestic
picture.

Exchange Changes

New York—E. R. Champion has been appointed special sales representative by Arrow.

EGGERS PHOTO ENGRAVING
1567-1569 BROADWAY
DAY AND NIGHT

TELEPHONE:
BRYANT 4457

POWERS FILM PRODUCTS

Detailed statement of object and reason for Stockholders’ Protective Committee being prepared for distribution to applicants. Meanwhile, see
New York Times, page 12, July 24th.

FREDERICK HARRISON
191 Dartmouth Street
Rochester, N. Y.

Protecting Virtue

Both men and women are beng protected by rulings of the Ohio state board of censors recently made. In a Rolin comedy, "Don’t Rock the Boat," they forbade a scene in which a woman throws a man to the ground and forcibly kisses him.

In a Paramount drama, "The Right to Love," they rule out a nude woman entering a bath and a scene where a man kisses a woman on the neck.

Use Pictures in Sunday School

Memphis, Tenn.—The first experiment in Memphis with motion pictures in the Sunday School drew a large attendance to the Unitarian service last Sunday morning, when Dr.
Wm. E. Clark, the pastor, devoted the regular church hour to the showing of a picture which he used to illustrate a lesson. It was decided not to discontinue services for the sumter, but in order that both the pastor and the congregation might be given a rest Dr. Clark decided to experiment with a motion picture Sunday school at the church hour.

The picture shown at the Majestic Theater, where the Unitarian services are held, was Booth Tarkington’s
"The Teacher’s Pet."

Buffalo—A. Silverman is now a member of the First National sales force.

MR. STATE RIGHT BUYER

“UP IN MARY’S ATTIC”

opened in New York Monday at
B. S. MOSS BROADWAY THEATRE

Wire direct to them to find out how crowded the house has been since.

Then wire to us for unsold territory

FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.
1457 BROADWAY,
New York City

Phone Bryant 9500
Coast Brevities

Harry Lichtig and Ben Rothwell have incorporated under the name of Rothwell and Lichtig, for the purpose of doing personal representation work for the players on the Coast. Harry Lichtig formerly operated his own agency, while Rothwell was connected with Willis & Ingis. Office will be in Hollywood.

Carl Herard has been engaged by Metro to support Alice Lake in "Body and Soul," also is directing.

Vola Vale has been signed to play in the Metro all-star production of "Someone in the House."

"The Jailbird," the newest of Douglas MacLean's productions, is completely edited and titled.

Mr. Expositor:

THE BROKEN GATE
by EMERSON HOUGH
Mr. Exhibitor:

Years of experience as reputable producers have convinced us that this production will be a box office winner.

Watch this space every other day.

Lynch Here

(Continued from Page 1)

York to secure their product for the plan is that practically none of the exchanges in the South are profitable. Under the Lynch plan these exchanges might well be closed because they either lose a bit weekly or about break even. By offering a flat amount Lynch could work his plan very successfully with almost any of the average productions. If Lynch can line up sufficient product of value it will give him a very formidable position in the effort to line up theaters for his 30 per cent plan. Down here it is generally believed that this is the purpose of his visit to New York.

Off for Coast

Benjamin A. Prager, president of Mayower Films, left yesterday for the Coast to look over western producing activities of the company.

When Stuart Paton begins work as the director of Universal's new star, Eva Novak, it will be on a picture situation is now arranged with the蛋白 "Kate Plus Ten." Paton later completed "The Hope Diamond Mystery for Kosnik.

Lustig Elected President

Cleveland, O.—H. H. Lustig, one of the regional directors of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America was elected president of North Ohio Exhibitors Association at its annual election.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Jake Silverman, L. W. Barclay, Charles Baird, and Nick Nogavice were elected president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer respectively of the Keystone Exhibitors Assn.

"Step" Leaves Publishing

Joseph Klein of the D. N. Schwab Prod. announces the appointment of Dimond Scobin ("Step") as supervisor of sales and publicity for that organization. The latter has left the field of journalism for the new enterprise, this being his first affiliation in the motion picture industry. He will leave for an extended trip west very soon.

In the Courts

Robertson-Cole Co. has filed an answer in the Supreme Court in a suit of James H. Maddy for damages for alleged breach of contract. The answer alleges that the plaintiff was engaged Dec. 1, 1918, at $300 a week for an indefinite time, and that when his services were terminated Sept. 20 last he received $200 in full payment. The answer further states that Maddy agreed to be loyal, obedient and faithful, and that in August and September last he made false and malicious statements concerning the business and financial standing of the defendant, for which reason he was discharged.

Winnipeg Reception to Connor Co.

Winnipeg—Mayor Gray, Premier Norris and President Carter of the Chamber of Commerce welcomed the city yesterday afternoon the first motion picture company to work in Winnipeg. The company was headed by Wilton Lackaye, Nan Sutherland, Gaston Glass, Gladys Coburn, Robert Haines, William Colvin and 22 others. They start on location tomorrow to film Ralph Connor's "The Foreigner." The company was entertained at dinner by the council at old Fort Garry. The city was gaily decorated. Henry MacKaye does "Jailbird," and Ernest Shipman is the producer.

Scenarios in Book Form

Joe L. Lasky of Famous says that the scenarios to be prepared by James M. Barrie and other famous authors for Famous Players will be published in book form.

Signet Gets "Woman Untamed"

Elmer J. McGeown has sold Doraldina in "Woman Untamed" for Greater New York and Northern New Jersey to David Solomon of the Signet Films, Inc.

Buy "House Without Children"

"The House Without Children" has been bought by Salie Films for Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Tennessee from the Film Market.

To Make "Women Men Love"

The Bradley Features Co. has purchased "The Women Men Love" for production under the direction of Samuel R. Bradley. It is from the pen of Charles T. Dazey and Frank M. Dazey.

Ray Smallwood is directing Naomi in her new Metro production, "Madame Peacock."

PUBLICITY MAN INVITES OFFERS

For 15 years editor on big-time newspapers; former P. D. for international distrib. organization; late associate with leading fan magazine. A big flag for his job. Interview in New York invited.

Address "Publicity Authority" Care Wid’s Daily, New York City

Mats, Electros and Stereos for the Motion Picture Trade

I. Rubin & Co. 204 E. 4th St., N. Y. Phones Spring 8303-8304

The fastest stereopters in the N. Y. C.

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates will not be able to get them.

SUNSET-BURIED SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S.Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

The three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" for representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURE CORP.
H. W. Hellman Bldg., Los Angeles

YOU WILL FIND THE ADVERTISING ANNOUNCEMENTS OF PRACTICALLY EVERY PRODUCER, STAR AND DIRECTOR OF IMPORTANCE IN

Wid’s 1920 Year Book

Coming Soon—
Deal Being Closed

Red Artists Foreign Distribution to Go to Morris Greenhill's New Corporation

A tentative contract was prepared today for signing between Morris Greenhill of London and Hiram Abrams of United Artists whereby new corporation to be formed in London will acquire the controlling interest of United Artists. The new corporation will be known as Greenhill pictures and will be controlled by Morris Greenhill.

Schulberg Loses Abrams

Jennie P. Schulberg yesterday signed contracts with Hiram Abrams for action relative to commissions deeded for aiding in closing the London United Artists deal. He is said to have received $100,000 per cent. of the amount involved in the Abrams deal would not disclose the matter and that a decision on the matter is not expected until November. Mr. Schulberg has been working for Greenhill or for Tipson, according to general belief.

Tarshis Joins Pioneer

Tarshis, a well known paper publisher, who has been with "Women's" and will join Pioneer Film on Tuesday in an executive capacity.

Is Woods Out of Goldwyn?

A report was circulated yesterday that "Al" Woods has disposed of his stock interest in Goldwyn Pictures. Mr. Woods was asked about it and he said the report was not true, that he retained his holdings in Goldwyn and had had a five year contract with Goldwyn for picture rights to his productions.

Mama's Willie was virtually shocked, but he loved her so much he decided it was his mission to reform the delicious little Hound.—Annette Kellermans in the big First National special, "What Women Love."

—Advt.

Jawick in State Right Field

Charles N. Jawicz has entered the state right field with an office in the Codrey Building. He will open Boston branch.

Moss-Keith Deal

The B. S. Moss houses under a deal just closed will be booked hereafter by the B. S. Keith offices. Moss has eight houses and will be identified with the Keith interests with offices in the Palace; Keith having purchased half interest in the theaters.

Nat Finston With Goldwyn

Nat Finston, the conductor of the orchestra, who has been with the theater since the symphony orchestra was introduced at the Capitol, has resigned to assume the musical direction of Goldwyn productions throughout the country. He will proceed immediately to Chicago to take charge of the presentation of "Earth's Bound," at the Playhouse.

Have Third Cody Film

Leo Cody's third starring production, "Occasionally Yours," produced by Gansier for release through Robertson-Cole, has been completed. James W. Horne directed and H. Tipson Steck wrote the original story for it.

Brunton's 3 Stars

Los Angeles—Robert Brunton will launch three stars this fall. Dustin Farnum will do Ridgwell Cullom's novel, "The Trail of the Ax." Ernest Ware will direct while Fritzie Brunton—the opposite role of Ruth Roland will also star for this producer. Charles Hutchinson is the third star. He will do a serial under the direction of W. S. VanDyke.

George L. Cox, who has long been directing for the American Film Co. at Santa Barbara, is reported to have moved to Los Angeles to direct picture, a large concern soon to be named.

Wydham standing has signed long term contract with Metro Exclusively.

Reported here that Jack Donovan, who formerly played bad opposite well known stars, will form his own producing organization; first productions to begin about October.

By decision of U. S. Commissioner Long Cleb Devos, Clarence E. Riley, Erich Von Stoehlen, C. J. Rogers and Julius Gold have been held for the Federal Grand Jury for using counterfeit money in a feature.

Canada Amusement Tax Nets $50,000

Montreal, Can.—For the year ending June 30, a total of $469,998 was collected through the amusement tax. The cost of collection being $3,000, the net is $446,998. Over $10,000,000 was spent on amusements last year, the great bulk in picture houses.

To Build $500,000 House

Pittsburgh, Pa.—A house costing $500,000 is to be erected by Nathan Friedberg and Harry Alder, who operate the downtown Palace. The site was purchased for $100,000 and is in the North Side section.

Just a Piker

Marcus Loew is probably the most active theater builder in this country. At the Franco-American dinner at the Ritz on Thursday night he was asked what he thought about the plans of that company and their building 6,000 theaters at one time. He hesitated a moment. "Gee," he said, "that makes me a piker, doesn't it?"
We Are Experts

We modestly admit it—but it's the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given our staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.

RITCHETY posters meet the exhibitor's great need, the need for great posters.

RITCHETY LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 3388

The one and only "Ambrose"

MANNY MANDELBAUM
Even Walter Luss will laugh at Leon Perry's New Two Reel Mark Steam Comedies, although Ohio is 65% territory.

State Right
One a Month
Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is composed of live wires. The only motion picture publication they use is Wid's. They have a four-page announcement in

Wid's 1920 Year Book
—Coming Soon—

Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>72%</td>
<td>73%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do, pfd.</td>
<td>84</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn</td>
<td>84</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>84</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>21%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>96</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit, Pict. Prod.</td>
<td>196</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>94</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do 2nd pfd.</td>
<td>96</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

All the rare trophies brought back to Universal City by Wm. F. Adler and Edward Laemmle from their expedition among the cannibals and head hunters of New Guinea and Borneo were bid for by Edward Kull, directing the Universal serial "The Queen of Diamonds," starring Eileen Sedgwick.

Is Zukor In?

The Franco-American $100,000,000 Company—Comment Heard at the Dinner

G. J. Fleischman, of the Fleischman Construction Co. is one of the directors of the $100,000,000 Franco-American Cinematograph Co. He is also one of the largest contractors, especially of theaters, in this country, and has done considerable work for Famous Players.

When it became known in film circles that he was identified with the new company reports circulated that because of his closeness to Adolph Zukor that in some way Mr. Zukor might be interested in this new big foreign concern.

When Mr. Fleischman was asked about these reports he said that a this time he did not care to make any comment.

The dinner at the Ritz was significant, as one of the guests put it in that it showed how the moving picture world had developed "when the Minister Plenipotentiary of France honors such an event with his presence."

Arthur Brisbane, who once upon a time said some harsh things about pictures, took the opportunity to gracefully backing water on this point during his address, which, by the way, was the most interesting o the addresses delivered. He said that when pictures first were coming in he did not like them "just like a lot of other people." Then he went on to explain why, and added that just as it was difficult for some of the ancients to believe that the first hieroglyphics could be improved up on so he had felt that the printed word could be by pictures, but that since then he had learned how the pictures were an improvement.

Some of the figures mentioned by Mr. Fleischman regarding the various organizations identified with the new company called for much common from picture folk. His figures as to the number of houses "controlled" by the company in France and other European countries were, by some considered very high, while some of the companies aligned with the new venture were not regarded as extremely important.

(Continued on Page 3)
Coast Brevities

Hollywood—A research library of rare volumes on architecture will be established with the proceeds of recent ball of The Motion Picture Art Directors.

Lloyd Carleton Productions, first unit of Clemence Pongo, Players Corp, has completed the staging of "Beyond the Cross Roads," Bradley King's story, and is preparing for a special production for "Hollywood Boiled Mabel," from the story by George Weston.

Arthur Edmund Carew, who has been absent from the screen for the past two months, while undergoing a severe operation, is ready to don the greasepaint again. There is a report that Carew will be co-starred with his wife, Irene Pavlovska, the operatic diva.

"Cinderella's Twin," an original story by Luther Reed has been purchased by MGM and will be Viola Dana's next starring vehicle.

May Allison will complete her picturization of Arthur Stringer's story "The Waffle Iron." The picture is to be released under the title of "Are All Men Aliens." Her supporting cast includes Wallace MacDonald, Winifred Greenwood and John Stepping and Ruth Stonehouse.

Phil Rosen directed.

James Young has been offered the part of the Devil in forthcoming George Arliss production, and has been offered the directorship of "The Old Curiosity Shop," starring Bessie Love.

Norman Dawn, has returned to the studio after spending two weeks in New Orleans, obtaining exteriors for "White Youth," a Universal production. Story by Tiera Baranger and Forest Halsey.

"Prisoners of Love," Betty Compson's first production for Goldwyn, will be released about Jan. 1.

Ernst Von Stroheim and his company of Universal players have returned from location work at San Diego, where the opening scenes were shot for "Foolish Wives." Ray Pielay has been engaged by Universal to play a part in "Black Friday." Fred Thompson is directing.

Mike Donlin, famous ex-Giant ball player and actor, was a recent visitor at the Mayer studio where his former vaudeville teammate, Ben Deily, is playing an important part with Anita Stewart in "Sowing the Wind."

An electrical lighting station for the generation of direct current now under installation at Universal City will be the largest and most powerful equipment in use at any studio according to electrical engineers.

Why Producers Fail

W. W. Hodkinson Has to Say to Independent Producers

In a statement just issued W. W. Hodkinson says in part:

"In the matter of cost my sympathies are with the independent producer. I do not reject a picture lightly or without constructive criticism. What I mean to point out is that the present is the right time in the independent producing field. I do not speak so much of the independent producers who have gained a foothold, though they too have incurred avoidable loss. I address myself particularly to the newcomer in the field, whether he be director, promoter or capitalist.

"The percentage of rejected pictures has been extremely high. Time and again we have seen pictures that could not find a market, whether the fault lay in the story or in the execution. The Independent is in a position to be a little more patient than the big exponent, but he must not overlook the fact that the public is becoming more critical each day."

In an address to the Film Board of the National Association of Films, J. A. Harkness, the manager of the Gaumont Palace, New York, spoke on the subject of "Adaptation in the Independent Field." He emphasized the necessity of the producer selecting his actors with care and training them in the art of the stage. "The necessity of discipline," he said, "is becoming more and more evident. The public is not impressed with a show which is not well tailored and which is not a combination of the best dramatic elements and the best acting."

Among Exchanges

Philadelphia, Pa.—Earle W. Swigert has succeeded Edgar Moss as sales manager in the local Famous Players office. The latter has resigned to become affiliated with Associated Producers.

Kansas City—Fred Martin is connected with the Robertson-Cole sales force.

Kansas City—C. A. Robinson has been added to the Vitagraph sales force.

Amalia—Ab Chapman has gone from Fox to Realart.

"Roxy" on Value of Organ Music

Approximately 600 delegates to the thirteenth annual convention of the National Asso, of Organists, now in progress here, held a demonstration at the Capitol Thursday in which was added concrete emphasis to their contention that the organ is essentially the musical medium through which motion picture presentation should be made. They were shown the new Vivian Martin picture, "The Song of the Soul."

One Man Can't Write forty Novels such as "Wings of the Morning" "Number 17" and "The Silent Barrier" without becoming a great drawing card on the screen.

That man is Louis Tracy who wrote the above and 37 others.

"THE SILENT BARRIER" is the first of 17 Louis Tracy Productions from his novels. Excellent acting. Great climax. Good time now to give August audiences beautiful winter scenes and a love story of the Alps.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
353 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Borough data on FBN's Exchange advisable.
New Theaters
Cleveland, O.—M. B. Horwitz bought Southern and Amphion from Hr. and Mrs. G. T. Sharp for a reported sum of $100,000.

Shamokin, Pa.—Chairman Els S. Amuse Co. bought G. A. L. Opera House, for sum reported to be over $85,000.

West Hazleton, Pa.—John J. Cari will sell the Poli.

Newton, Kan.—Mr. Wilson bought house from McClure and Daniels.

Parsons, Ky.—Hawkins bought Liberty from Daniels and Davis.

Belpre, Kan.—Busenbark bought Opera House from Summers and Griffith.

Electra, Texas.—Grand Theater Co. $75,000.

Mena, Ark.—Price McCall bought Best from C. N. Jenkins.

Pitts., Texas.—Robb and Rawley bought Odeon from Phillips and Collins.

Lake Andes, S. D.—Roy Mundon bought O. K. for $18,000.

Winthrop, Minn.—John Pesavato bought Rex.

Detroit, Mich.—Joseph Cosco bought Jefferson from George Harrison for $15,000.

Gary, Ind.—W. J. Hall, Plaza, Lansing, bought Lyric.

Houses Closed
St. Louis—Fox's Liberty, C. B. McDonald manager, for summer.

Phil.—Allegheny closed for summer.

St. Louis—The Empress has been closed for the remainder of the summer season.

Shaw Writes
Gives His Ideas About Jesse Lasky's Desire for Scenarios from Prominent Authors

London.—In a letter to the Daily Express, answering Jesse L. Lasky's desire for scenarios from prominent authors, George Bernard Shaw writes:

"To the Editor of the Daily Express: "Sir—Mr. Lasky is, of course, quite right—the film is a magnificent opportunity for imaginative fiction. "He might have gone so far as to say that the screen is a better medium for popular romance than the printed page, especially with paper at its present price. "The only thing the screen cannot give is dialogue and the customary psychological expectations on what the characters think and feel. "Now many—I had almost ventured to write most—novelists cannot write with a playwright would call dialogue at all; any actress can do better by making faces; and as to the psychological essays, they are only padding and unmitigated tosh at that. "But why does not Mr. Lasky crush all opposition by simply coming to figures? Novelists, with the few dazzling exceptions that every one thinks about, are a needy and consequently intimidated folk. "Mr. Lasky has nothing to do but say how much, at a moderate estimate, he can afford to pay an author in advance of royalties for a promising scenario, and how much a successful one might eventually bring to its inventor, and he will get hundreds of scenarios from our novelists as soon as they can get them down on paper. "If the film companies would offer a quart as much to any novelist for a scenario as they eagerly pay to an American producer to spoil it and spend $200,000 in the process, it would not be necessary to write letters to the papers asking novelists to come forward; rather would it be advisable to engage extra police to stem the rush. "Mr. Lasky offers us opportunities of propagating our gospel in all lands. Most of us have no gospel to propagate, and want new clothes very badly. "When Mr. Lasky comes down to tin tacks we shall all be on his doorstep. "G. Bernard Shaw."

Why Producers Fail
(Continued from Page 3)

It will find its proper medium whether we help it or not, but we may be lucky enough to accelerate a process which will always help to improve and uplift the industry. "I do not hesitate to say that to the personal knowledge of my staff and myself many hundreds of thousands of dollars are wasted annually by reckless, abortive, ill-advised motion picture productions. If all that money or a considerable part of it could be enlisted in an intelligent effort to make motion pictures what a blessing it would be to the industry."

Commins Warns
Samuel Commins has mailed exhibitors in Southern States a letter warning them against booking "Birth or The Duties of Motherhood" through the Eugene Film Co., claiming that the Social Hygienic Films of America owns the feature.

Educational's Big Broadway Showing
In the leading Broadway houses this week Educational Films made a big record by having seven of their releases screened. Three of these were at Rivoli; two at the Strand and one each at the Rialto and the Capitol.

The oldest of old timers could not recall when any one company had more than four releases being screened in these important houses during one week.

Audubon, N. J.—A $100,000 theater will be built here by William Com- zeger, Site, White Horse Pike and King's Highway.

STUDIO FOR RENT
By day, week or month, in Times Square district. Fully equipped, large stage. Everything available for the making of high-class production. Address Box A 15, care Wid's.

4 A WEEK

COMEDYART
In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD-SCENIC-STORIES
Built by a real artist with the cooperation of the greatest out-of-door magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS
A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION
H. W. Hellman Bldg., LOS ANGELES

Wid's Daily Binders -

Invaluable for reference purposes.

Wid's Daily $3.00
She was YOUNG
She was BEAUTIFUL and she loved fine clothes, but she was only a shop-girl. Then chance offered that she fill the place of a wealthy woman claimed by death... They looked so much alike that the world was deceived...

WHAT HAPPENED

HELD IN TRUST

Starring
MAY ALLISON

Based on GEORGE KIBBE TURNER'S Red Book Magazine Serial Story. Adapted by SARAH T. MASON... Directed by JOHN E. INCE

METRO
What is Good Production?

You THINK it is easy to make good pictures? Well, we don’t blame you for the thought if you have never come in contact with the producing branch of the business. You’ve got to get into a studio to appreciate the thousand and one things that must be accomplished to bring out a successful picture. Anybody can write an advertisement stating that his production was made by experts, but people intimately acquainted with the studios know that there are comparatively few really first class directors, players, writers, cameramen and scenic artists available.

And of this limited supply, such resourceful and leading companies as Realart naturally have the pick. Then, production isn’t the whole story. A good production may be spoiled in the printing. Of course, real production experts won’t permit that, and their output is as certain to be as nearly correct on the photographic and printing side as in direction, acting, story and settings. If you could find time to visit all the motion picture studios the importance of production facilities would become clearer to you. Then the mere statement of production excellence in an advertisement or by a salesman wouldn’t win you so easily. Producing photoplays of Realart quality is a little harder than rolling off a log—or rolling fine phrases off the tongue and into print.

REALART PICTURE CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY
Features Reviewed

Will Rogers in...CUPID, THE COWPUNCHER
Goldwyn .......................... Page 3

Constance Talmadge in...THE PERFECT WOMAN
First National ........................ Page 5

THE SILENT BARRIER
Gibraltar-Hodkinson ........................ Page 7

Tsuru Aoki in...THE BREATH OF THE GODS
Jewel Prod.—Universal ...................... Page 9

Ethel Clayton in...CROOKED STREETS
Paramount-Arctraft ......................... Page 11

UP IN MARY'S ATTIC
Fine Arts Pictures, Inc...................... Page 13

WHILE NEW YORK SLEEPS
Fox Special ............................... Page 15

Harry Carey in...BLUE STREAK McCoy
Universal .................................. Page 17

Edith Storey in...MOON MADNESS
Haworth-Robertson-Cole ..................... Page 21

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS
Jans Pictures—State Rights ................ Page 19

Short Reels ............................... Page 23

WARNING

When you see an advertisement quoting a review from Wid's Daily check it up with the review. This may save deception or misunderstanding.

News of the Week in Headlines

Monday

Theater Owners’ Chamber of Commerce to put through bonding plan to take place of advance deposits.

East Side employees may strike Aug. 2.

McAdoo stock in United Artists purchased by stars making up the corporation.

Kessel & Baumann secure the “Babe” Ruth feature.

Tuesday

Craftsmen claim laboratory conditions unchanged.

Men still out.

Jesse Lasky leaves for the Coast.

Fine Arts Film Corp. file $500,000 suit against Equity regarding C. K. Young productions.

T. H. Ince charges Judge Works, hearing Hart case, with bias.

Wednesday

National booking plan being discussed by Distributors’ Committee of National Association.

Farley decision interests New York exhibitors who oppose Famous plan of withdrawing productions.

Thursday

New York Chamber of Commerce Theater Owners want open booking and will so operate.

First Tourneur production for Asso. Prod. “Last of the Mohicans.”

Several big Northwest exhibitors not waiting for combination booking.

Friday

Franco-American Cinematograph Co. announce plans. Claim to control 20,000 theaters and many companies.

S. A. Lynch said to be arranging with producers for product for new booking idea.

Harry Reichenbach denies any knowledge of fake suicide publicity to District Attorney Swann.

A. M. P. A. nominate officers for coming year. Paul Lazarus to be president.

Saturday

Bernard Shaw writes Jesse Lasky on scenarios.

Is Zukor in new Franco-American Co.?

Brunton has Dustin Farnum, Ruth Roland and Chas. Hutchinson under contract.

United Artists’ foreign deal closed—B. P. Shulberg brings suit against Hiram Abrams for commission regarding deal.

“Pardoning the bad is injuring the good”—Benjamin Franklin.
Buy Carefully—Sell With Enthusiasm

The days of "go as you please," have passed—Now you must go as "they" please—meaning the "cash customers."

No longer can you buy a year's supply of "films" and then sit back and watch the small change drop in the old cash box.

No longer can you neglect the important items of music and "presentation."

No longer can you adventure in a routine manner.

Of course, there is no law to keep you from doing these things—but Oh Boy! what a wallop you're goin' to get if you don't come to and realize that now you are in "show business."

The little fellow and the big fellow are both in the same boat!

Don't kid yourself that because you are in some little burg you don't have to worry about anything except how to buy the cheapest "films" without any tremendous worry as to quality.

The isolated and smaller communities and even the farm folk in this country have progressed in the past fifteen years right along with motion pictures—as a matter of fact, the cash customers in small towns are way ahead of you and have been right along!

The rural mail delivery, national magazines, telephones, automobiles and victrolas have brought culture to the isolated peoples with a capital "C." As a matter of fact small town folk as a whole, are probably much better informed than the mass of big city folk.

This year, to really succeed, you must be a showman—you must buy carefully and sell with enthusiasm!

You must pick and choose in making your bookings.

No grocer ever took a hundred cases of spoiled peas because the salesman told him he couldn't have any good peas unless he took the spoiled ones also!

Of course, no grocer ever did that, because no salesman was ever darn fool enough to make such a proposition—but in the film business they try it—and don't they put the propositions in funny ways in an effort to make you buy something you don't want.

Don't go wrong—check up carefully on everything that is offered you—buy what you know you can sell satisfactorily and don't take anything else at any price!

Remember "a good buyer makes a business!"

Then after buying just what you know you can sell and being careful not to overload too soon or too far ahead—because styles also change in this business—you must get going on your real job—"Sell with enthusiasm!"

You know the old style country store, where the "sole proprietor" sat back by the stove and greeted his customers from his easy chair with the drawl "anything ye want 'terday"—Well you've got to quit running your show shop like that—cause if you don't some feller with a shot of pep will come along and sell good films to your folks and you'll wake up too late.

You may think you're a good ad writer—the chances are 100 to 1 you are not—But even if you are—go hire one of the newspaper boys to help you with "ideas." That's what you need to sell films to the public. The amount of space used and money spent is entirely secondary to the copy and ideas put into the selling.

There are wonderful days ahead in the film business and if you let anyone else take your house away from you now—you deserve your fate.

Don't worry—just THINK and WORK—and you'll be surprised how much money you'll make and how many new faces show in your theater.

"Wild" Gunning
Will Rogers Comes Through With Another Great Comedy

Will Rogers in
"CUPID, THE COWPUNCHER"
Goldwyn

DIRECTOR .................. Clarence G. Badger
AUTHOR ..................... Eleanor Gates
SCENARIO BY ............... Edith Bingham
CAMERAMAN ................ Marcel Le Picard

AS A WHOLE .......... Splendid comedy with star's personality dominating throughout.

STORY ........ Reveals highly pleasing comedy plot—filled with sequences of genuine humor.

DIRECTION ............. Excellent
PHOTOGRAPHY ............. Very good
LIGHTINGS ................. Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ............. Commendable

STAR .......... Puts humor over delightfully and gets off a lot of his own wise cracks in subtitles.

SUPPORT ............. Very good
EXTERIORS ............... Western
INTERIORS ................. Satisfactory
DETAIL ..................... Fine

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Just the romance of cowpuncher and boss' daughter, but it holds all the way.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

Will Rogers scores again in "Cupid The Cowpuncher." Here is comedy superb in every sense, filled to the brim with genuine humor and dominated by that wonderful personality of Rogers that has made him one of the most likable stars on the screen. There isn't a great deal to plot of the picture, in fact it is merely the romance of a cowpuncher and the daughter of the ranch owner, but the incidental work, the subtitles, many of them doubtless manufactured by the star, and the aforementioned personality work the trick.

Rogers appears as Alec Lloyd, known as Cupid among his intimates because of the many romances he has engineered. A good sample of his work is shown when he brings together, Rose, the widowed daughter of his employer and the town doctor. Even this brief introductory sequence is rich in its humor.

As is to be expected, Cupid himself finally falls. Macie Sewell, a younger daughter of the ranch owner is the girl. His first meeting with her is a big laugh. A bucking bronco has thrown him into a large puddle and Macie rides by. From there on Cupid is hard hit.

There is a fine sequence in the old medicine show stuff. Cupid canvases among his friends to buy the bottles and vote for Macie as the prettiest girl. They comply and Macie wins. But much to Cupid's dismay, he also receives an overwhelming vote as the homeliest man. The scene between Macie and Cupid after this is the most serious in the picture, and while it is brief and ends in a laugh it tugs a bit at the old heart strings.

Then Macie believes she ought to go to the city and work in grand opera. A slick city doctor with his eye on the Sewell cash, encourages her and plans to sneak off after her. Cupid thrusts his opinions of New York on Macie with a boldness tempered with great anxiety for her well being. The many scenes between them register wonderfully well.

Finally Macie sets off after she has become disgusted with Cupid, believing him involved in a trick, which the rest of the cowpunchers perpetrated, to force her to marry him. The doctor follows in his Ford. Cupid pursues on horseback, lassoes the Ford and ties it up so that it runs around in a circle. This is the latest Ford joke, and it really coupled as it is, with a number of funny subtitles.

Macie decides not to go to the city after all and returns to the parental roof. How old Sewell takes a hand in their romance puts a finishing touch, which is out of the ordinary like all of it.

Clarence Badger's direction of this is just right. Rogers is great, and his support including Helene Chadwick, Andrew Robson, Lloyd Whitlock, Gufo Williams, Tex Parker, Roy Laidlaw and Katherine Wallace, thoroughly satisfactory.

If You Are Looking For Your Money’s Worth Get This

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

They seem to have found the right stuff for Will Rogers. What with "Jubilo," "Jes' Call Me Jim" and the present picture, he has turned out a trio of comedies that are exceedingly hard to match. And Rogers is a big star, don't forget that. This picture will make him bigger too. People certainly like the refreshing, genuine humor that he hands out. Its something entirely distinctive and unusual. All wise exhibitors ought to be cashing in on this wonderful personality and ability of his.

Rogers is practically the whole show from the box office end as well. Play him up big, talk about him and the fine work he does here. You might also mention that the picture is adapted from an original story by Eleanor Gates entitled "Alec Lloyd, Cowpuncher." It was a good story and widely read.
Dispatch from the Front:

The entire "Foreigner" company, en route to Winnipeg, Canada, stopped off at Kenora, Ont., and enjoyed the hospitality of Major Chas. W. Gordon, D.D. (Ralph Connor), at his beautiful summer home at the Lake of the Woods.

Dr. Gordon has officially passed upon the selection of each of the twenty-six individual members composing "The Foreigner" Company, as per agreement with Ernest Shipman, and this visit was in the form of a "get together" between author, director and cast, with a view to a more thorough understanding as to the finer shadings in the production of the story.
This Misses Constance Talmadge’s Comedy Standard by Wide Margin

Constance Talmadge in
"THE PERFECT WOMAN"
First National

DIRECTOR .................. David Kirkland
AUTHORS .......................... John Emerson and Anita Loos
SCENARIO BY .................. John Emerson and Anita Loos
CAMERAMAN ....................... Oliver Marsh

AS A WHOLE ........ Very slow comedy—not near the mark set by this star’s best.

STORY ....... Drags heavily at beginning—inconsequential and not very funny all the way.

DIRECTION .............................. Average
PHOTOGRAPHY .......................... Good
LIGHTINGS ............................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .......................... Good

STAR ....... Doesn’t get the chance to shine here—does what is required of her well enough.

SUPPORT ...... Charles Meredith leading man;
some of the casting not so good.

EXTERIORS ............................... Few used
INTERIORS .............................. Satisfactory

DETAIL ...... Inserts at beginning terribly long—exploding at end would have wrecked house

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Heroine wins love of hero who works on “system” which attempts to disregard sex and love.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .......... 6,667 feet

Even the champion ball team has its off days and Babe Ruth can’t knock a homer every time he takes hat in hand. The disease of inferiority which strikes hard at the best even once in a while, infects Constance Talmadge’s latest production, “The Perfect Woman.” First off it struck John Emerson and Anita Loos, who worked dually herein as authors and scenario writers. Their plot, such as it is, is exceedingly tardy in putting in an appearance. The material isn’t there, that’s all, and probably the director had to stall for time in this tedious way at the beginning. And when it finally does show, it hasn’t the flash, the fine wreckless comedy moments of previous Constance Talmadge productions. Even the star herself gives evidence of being borne down under the handicap.

Miss Talmadge appears as Mary Blake, a working girl, who is bound to become the secretary of Jim Stanhope, ship-builder. Jim has character system in force in his plant and when Mary reports for a job she ranks very low, according to the expert. So what does she do then, but akin her hair back to show a high forehead and protrude her jaw to show strength of character. Then she lands the job, incidentally making a monkey of Jim’s system.

Jim is all worked up like Attorney-General Palmer over Bolsheviks,” “Red Hands” and “Red plots.”
They have threatened to ruin him and his business.
Mary gets along fairly well as his secretary, but falls in love with him to such an extent, that she finds it hard to remain in her intellectual character. Eventually her ruse is discovered and Jim gets furious.

That night the plot thickens. The “Reds” descend on Jim’s home in a body of three, tie him up and plant a bomb. Then Mary gets on the job and by exercising the wiles of the eternal feminine, vamps
the three “Reds” into a state of submission, where it is easy for her to clout each one over the head with a brass statue. Thus again, Jim’s system proves all wrong. There comes then an anti-climax sequence, in which Mary forces Jim into a proposal. It is rather foolish as not very many men are as thick as Jim is made out to be.

The most amusing part of the picture is Mary’s vamping of the “red” trio. But they might have made them plain crooks or anything else, but “Reds” to take the curse of the out-of-date propaganda picture off the story. And it is very hard to reconcile that excellent stage comedian, Ned Sparks, with the role of Grimes, the leader of the villains.

Charles Meredith struggles to make the part of Jim human, but is unable to. Elizabeth Garrison, as his mother and Joseph Burke as his partner, complete the cast.

Soft Pedal the Story Here and Pray for a Better One Next Time

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

While this contains few laughs in comparison with the majority of previous Constance Talmadge pictures, it won’t totally displease. The star is so firmly established in the hearts of fans through her many delightful pictures of the past, that it will take more than one like this to dislodge her. And those who glory in the star’s personality will have full opportunity to do so in the comparatively short sequence in which she displays her skill at vamping the trio of villains.

In advertising this, put the soft pedal on the story and concentrate almost entirely on Miss Talmadge.
The authors’ names might be used but the Emerson Loos combination have been responsible for many better things than this.
KESSEL & BAUMANN

present

The greatest photodrama for matinee and evening business in independent picture history - to be exploited by independent buyers and road showmen with special territorial campaigns warranted by its tremendous drawing power.

Arrangements are now being made with such dealers for

Babe Ruth

in

Headin' Home

Produced by Yankee Photo Corporation for Release September 20th

KESSEL & BAUMANN - LONGACRE BUILDING, NEW YORK
Sympathetic Theme and “Different” Locations Notable in This

“THE SILENT BARRIER”
Gibraltar—Hodkinson
DIRECTOR .................... William Worthington
AUTHOR ........................ Louis Tracy
SCENARIO BY .................... Charles T. Daze
CAMERAMEN...... Virgil Miller and Bert Dawley
AS A WHOLE .... Continuity of this jumps a lot at start, but gets into very sympathetic story later and holds through this and unusual locations.

STORY ...... Develops a very sympathetic plot between father and daughter.

DIRECTION ........................ Satisfactory

PHOTOGRAPHY ........................... Good

LIGHTINGS ............................. Satisfactory

CAMERA WORK .......................... Good

LEADING PLAYERS ....... Adolph Milar and Gladys
Hulette do best work; Sheldon Lewis is villain

SUPPORT .............................. Generally capable

EXTERIORS .... Good snow stuff that passes for Swiss mountains

INTERIORS ......................... Satisfactory

DETAIL ...... Inserts of still pictures of the Alps don’t convince; could be eliminated easily

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Mountain guide saves heroine from attack by villain who.previously had wronged his daughter.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,200 feet

The first part of this picture is considerably jumpy, due in all probability, to the fact that much footage was cut out to bring it down to it’s present length.
While this results in the story getting away to a rather unpromising start, once the various characters have been planted and the action begins in all earnestness, the picture picks up in good style and at the middle and through to the finish develops a very sympathetic theme.

In addition “The Silent Barrier” is laid against unusual backgrounds. The locale is the Swiss Alps and Saranac Lake in mid-winter substitutes very nicely for the real thing. The director has been particularly painstaking in regard to details of native costumes and the lake and the atmosphere thus created has real illusion. But evidently someone thought otherwise, and a number of still shots of the real Alps have been inserted here and there.

The production has a number of plot threads, the most important being the one between Stampa, a mountain guide and his daughter, Etta. In another day Etta had been betrayed by a traveller and her father had cast her out. Helen Wynton, a London girl, hears her story and brings about an understanding in the father’s heart with the result that he welcomes his daughter home.

At the hotel, Helen is bothered by the attentions of Mark Bower, a millionaire. Bower is the man in Etta’s life. There is some good suspense in the descent of the mountain when Bower tries to kill Stampa, of whom he is afraid, by letting a rope slip.

At length Bower’s attentions to Helen become so obvious that Millicent, another of his flames, tells Stampa that Bower was the cause of Etta’s sorrow.
For the climax, Bower it attacking Helen in a mountain cabin when first, Spencer, the man who loves her, comes to her rescue, but gets the worst of it and then Stampa. There is a fine bit of suspense in the scene where Bower backs off the porch of the hut and falls to certain death, so affected is he by the righteous stare of Stampa.

Adolph Milar as Stampa gives a fine performance and Gladys Hulette as his daughter, plays very well.
The scenes between the two are frequent and have a compelling sympathetic quality. Sheldon Lewis is up to his old villainous tricks as Bower, and Donald Cameron is Spencer. Helen is played by Florence Dixon. Others are Corinne Barker, Ernest Des Bail-lets, Fuller Mellish, Joseph Burke, Mathilde Brud-age, Jack Raymond and Robert Lee Keeling.

Above The Average From the Box Office Angle

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This picture has it’s faults, the majority of them falling in the beginning, but after they get into the main line of action, it creates a real interest, while the locations serve to reinforce the story considerably.
The probability is that this will go over easily in the various chain houses and the daily change theaters.

You have much to advertise in this. The name of the author will carry considerable weight as a box office attraction. Then there is the cast. Sheldon Lewis and Gladys Hulette are very well known. Each has starred. Use their names prominently. Also mention that the action takes place in the Swiss Alps.
The atmosphere they have achieved for these scenes is quite convincing.

The title, though similar to others that have gone before, is a strong one and one around which interesting advertising readers can be written.
Exhibitors will be quick to notice that we are not attempting to “circus” thousands of locally important exhibitors through announcement of the big city first runs that have contracted for Associated Producers’ productions.

We feel that there are 2500 to 3000 cities and towns quite capable of forming their own judgments—commercial and artistic. Quite capable of knowing the power and value of our product. Quite capable of knowing whether they want our pictures, or do not want them.

Quite capable of leading themselves instead of being asked to follow some big city “bell sheep” in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia or San Francisco.

The guarantee of bigness, of high exhibitor values, that goes with the 30 productions we are to release from September 12th, will aid any exhibitor in forming his own judgment without the aid of others.

Our managers are in our twenty-two branches to serve you. They have already signed contracts with nearly two thousand of the most powerful national and local exhibitor factors of the industry.

MACK SENNETT ~ MARSHALL NEILAN ~ ALLAN DWAN ~ GEORGE LOANE TUCKER
MAURICE TOURNEUR ~ J. PARKER READ JR. ~ THOMAS H. INCE

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.
HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Generally Good Production to Rather Vague Story

Tsuru Aoki in
"THE BREATH OF THE GODS"
Jewel Prod.—Universal

DIRECTOR ..................... Rollin Sturges
AUTHOR ........................ Sydney McCullough
SCENARIO BY ................. Charles J. Wilson, Jr.
CAMERAMAN ................... Alfred Gosden
AS A WHOLE ................. Interest lags at several points; picks up satisfactorily after slow beginning.

STORY ............. Permits of numerous opportunities for artistic effect and works up to dramatic climax.

DIRECTION .......... Very good; beautiful artistic results.

PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Excellent.

LIGHTINGS .................. Good
CAMERA WORK ............. Distinctive

STAR .......... A talented actress; gives a highly pleasing performance.

SUPPORT .......... Stanhope Wheatcroft hardly convincing; Arthur Carewe gives best support; others satisfactory.

EXTERIORS .......... A fine idea of the Orient INTERIORS .............. Many pretty sets
DETAIL ................ Nothing particularly wrong
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... A young Japanese girl torn between love of country, her husband and an American lover and her final tragic death

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 6,225 feet

A lavish Oriental atmosphere together with many beautiful sets and numerous artistic effects, makes up the biggest appeal of "The Breath of the Gods," a Jewel super production starring Tsuru Aoki (Mrs. Susse Hayakawa). Neither expense nor effort has been spared in providing an accurate locale for the story. The interiors depicting the Japanese home, as well as the unique exteriors are indeed pretty to look at.

However, all this effort has not been wasted, inasmuch as the story itself is not enough to get the picture over. The star works hard enough and succeeds in convincing in her own role, but the author wavers too long before reaching conclusions, thereby causing interest to lag badly in places. The beginning is very slow and it is not until after Tsuru has made the sacrifice and married a native prince that the real interest is acquired. Stanhope Wheatcroft, as the lover, is not well suited to the part. The most pleasing performance after that of Miss Aoki, is given by Arthur Carewe as the prince. Others in the cast aren't called upon for any particular effort.

The trouble with the story seems to be that the reasons for the various depressions endured by the little Japanese gal are not made forceful enough to the spectator to warrant the serious complications that they seem to cause.

While attending college in America, Yuki Onda promises to marry Pierre Le Beau. Political trouble threatens in Yuki's native land, and she returns home with her friends the Todds, Senator Todd having recently been appointed Minister to Japan. The time is 1903, just before the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war. Prince Hagane proposes marriage to the little Japanese, and for reasons that are not made particularly clear, she feels duty bound to accept the situation and sacrifice her love of Le Beau for love of country.

But Le Beau persists in his attentions after Yuki becomes Princess Hagane. Count Ronsard, a Russian, aware that Le Beau's mother was a Russian, persuades Pierre to help him obtain papers in the possession of the Prince, thereby serving a double purpose, helping Ronsard's cause and avenging the marriage of Hagane to his Japanese sweetheart. Pierre enters the Hagane home and snatches the paper from the Prince before Yuki can prevent the act.

Believing his wife unfaithful, Hagane promises to give her to Pierre in return for the papers. The plan is agreed upon, but Hagane and Yuki realize their love for each other and rather than go to the faithless Pierre, Yuki kills herself.

Use the Star's Name and Play Up Japanese Atmosphere

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

In "The Breath of the Gods," you have plenty to talk about in the way of atmosphere and Oriental settings. Make your main appeal from a standpoint of production—artistry and technique. Promise them a trip to Japan, tell them of the Nippon gardens, the Temple of Buddha and the quaint Japanese homes. The exteriors and interiors are complete in detail in representing Oriental atmosphere.

From a story angle play up the following catchlines: "What is the greatest love? See the story of a faithful Japanese girl torn between love of country, love of a sweetheart and faith to a husband she did not love." Or, "See Tsuru Aoki (Mrs. Susse Hayakawa), in her latest production 'The Breath of the Gods,' a story of love and sacrifice laid in a picturesque setting, with Japan at its locale." Play up the name of the star together with the fact that she is the wife of Hayakawa.
THE NEW YORK TIMES says:
"It is, in all departments, a work above the average. Rollin Sturgeon, the director, must be credited with skilful work and the story gives opportunity for the acting of an excellent cast."

THE NEW YORK TELEGRAM says:
"An unusual drama of marked interest. The story becomes absorbing, then grips with the fascination which comes from tense scenes."

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE says:
"Large crowds saw the opening of 'The Breath of the Gods' at the Astor. Tsuru Aoki plays the unfortunate Yuki Onda in a way that brings to mind the great stage successes—'Madame Butterfly,' for instance."

THE NEW YORK GLOBE says:
"You'll find 'The Breath of the Gods' colorful and entertaining and its settings of amazing fidelity."

featuring
TSURU AOKI with J. BARNEY SHERRY Supported by Stanhope Wheatcroft
Marion Skinner

UNIVERSAL-JEWEL
Good Atmosphere and Fine Fight Scenes Register This Satisfactorily

Ethel Clayton in
"CROOKED STREETS"
 Paramount-Artcraft

DIRECTOR .................. Paul Powell
AUTHOR .................... Samuel Merwin
SCENARIO BY ............... Edith Kennedy
CAMERAMAN ................ William Marshall
AS A WHOLE ...... Very colorful production, but action drags considerably up to fight sequence STORY ................. Not much to it—might be titled "Little Trips Through Shanghai.”

DIRECTION .......... Satisfactory to very good in fight sequence and incidental details.

PHOTOGRAPHY ............. Very good
LIGHTINGS ................ Very good
CAMERA WORK .......... Commandable
STAR ........ Registers satisfactorily, but role doesn’t contain much appeal.

SUPPORT .................. Headed by Jack Holt
EXTERIORS ......... Include a lot of actual shots of Shanghai without any of the principals showing
INTERIORS ................. Realistic
DETAIL ............... Excellent in respect to Oriental atmosphere.

CHARACTER OF STORY .... Heroine gets goods on opium smugglers by posing as leader’s secretary.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 4,750 feet

"Crooked Streets,” for the most part, is laid in Shanghai, China. The opportunities that this city offers for color, seem to have overshadowed the plot material in the director’s mind. He shows a lot of fancy street settings, that generate a fine atmosphere of reality. The one on the old quay is particularly fascinating. In addition, several actual shots of the city are sandwiched in the make-believe action. Still more atmosphere is supplied by these but they are very palpably inserted only for this reason.

Really “Crooked Streets” takes a long while to get going. The first part of it might easily be entitled "Little Trips Through Shanghai.” No dramatic action shows. The interest drops to an alarming level. In fact there isn’t much to the picture in the way of suspended action at all, save for the long and thrilling fight sequence. On this part of the production, Director Powell has expended his best efforts and the results he has achieved are even scintillating.

The fight is staged between Rupert, the hero and a big half-drunk sailor, who has seen Gail, the heroine, in the old quarter of Shanghai and quite naturally mistakes her for a girl of an opposite type. He claims her as his prize until Rupert comes to the rescue. The sailor agrees, that whoever wins the fight can take the girl. Of course Rupert’s motives are entirely virtuous.

Rupert informs his supporters that he once stood up with Carpentier in Paris for six rounds. Such a title doesn’t convince. However, the fight is staged, and its a darn good one. It has been built up remarkably well with flashes of the excited spectators, all types of them, and remarks thrown out by the supporters of the battlers. At the end Rupert, half dead from exhaustion manages to land a knockout blow and the sailor goes down for the count. The girl is thus saved from a horrible fate.

It is not at all convincing the way Rupert picks himself up and walks into the next scene as if a jolly little battle with a brute sailor was all in the day’s work.

The plot concerns Gail, who in California, hires out as secretary to an alleged collector of antiques, who turns out to be a smuggler of opium. But why should an experienced smuggler hire a stranger as his secretary? Gail turns out to be a member of the U. S. Secret Service and Rupert, a member of the British Secret Service. And they are married.

Ethel Clayton’s role of Gail doesn’t arouse any real sympathy, but she registers all her scenes very well. Jack Holt is good as Rupert and Frederick Starr is the exact type for the sailor. Clyde Fillmore, Clarence Geldart and Josephine Crowell complete the cast.

An Average Drawing Card That Will Give Average Satisfaction
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one is lacking in story value, but it will get by as average entertainment due to its fine atmosphere and the skillful manner in which the fight is worked up.

Naturally, these elements of the picture are the ones to be talked about in your advertising. You can promise a real good ring fight and the picture will certainly deliver. Moreover, the consequences which hang on its outcome add a fine degree of suspense to it. The realistic scenes of Shanghai will also attract.

Miss Clayton deserves a star’s prominence, and it would also be good policy to give Jack Holt a play as the leading man. He is rising in popularity with every passing week, becoming a real asset to any picture, inside of the theater and out.
To The Alps!

Louis Tracy is fast becoming the screen's most successful writer. "Wings of the Morning" and "Number 17" are making big money everywhere.

Now comes "THE SILENT BARRIER"
From the Pen of this Master Novelist

One of Louis Tracy's Best Stories—produced by his own company—A great acting picture with an all-star cast of players—Cash in on the tremendous popularity of Tracy's forty novels—Scenically superb—dramatically intense—with scenes that range from the homes of London's aristocracy to the white grandeur of snow-clad Alpine Peaks.
Mildly Interesting Feature Comedy With Some Amusing Moments

"UP IN MARY'S ATTIC"

Fine Arts Pictures, Inc.—State Rights

DIRECTOR ........................................... W. H. Watson
AUTHOR ......................................... Howard Donaldson
SCENARIO BY ................................. Howard Donaldson
CAMERAMAN ................................. Tom Buckingham
AS A WHOLE ................................. Feature comedy has amusing moments, but is burdened with rather long uninteresting lapses.

DIRECTION ........................................... Average
PHOTOGRAPHY ................................. Good
LIGHTINGS ......................................... All right
CAMERA WORK ................................. Satisfactory
LEADING PLAYERS ............................ Harry Gribbon and Jane Novak do satisfactory work.

SUPPORT ......................................... Satisfactory
EXTERIORS ....................................... Satisfactory
INTERIORS ....................................... Good
DETAIL .............................................. All right

CHARACTER OF STORY ........................ Efforts of heroine to keep her marriage a secret so that she will receive inheritance.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........... About 6,000 feet

"Up in Mary's Attic," is a fairly interesting feature comedy. It amuses now and then but on the whole it is drawn out too much, with the inevitable result that it becomes tiresome more than once before its conclusion. Its brightest spots are the scenes that take place between the baby and the dog. The dog looks to be the same breed as Teddy, of Mack Sennett fame, and certainly he's got the same kind of brains. The scenes in which he attends the infant's wants are very pretty—hardly comical. Moreover, the baby is one of the most good-natured ever filmed. Its a joy to look at it.

However, a comedy of feature length needs more than a dog and a baby, and while "Up in Mary's Attic" has a little more than these two, it is unable to take rank with the best of the tomfoolery-bathing girl-ecentric comedies because of its uninteresting lapses.

There is a plot concerning Mary, one of the boarding school girls, who is secretly married to Jack, the athletic instructor. The prying son of the principal discovers them with their baby at the house of the laundress, so they have to place it up in the attic where the dog cares for it.

Mary is due to inherit a sum of money if she stays single or marries, only with the approval of her guardian, the principal. Thus it is up to Mary to keep the marriage and the baby secret until she becomes of age.

The principal's son, discovering the true situation, attempts to ruin the happiness of the couple by employing a vamp to capture the husband. Her efforts fall rather flat, both in regard to purpose and effect. In the end of course, the villain is refuted and Mary comes into her fortune.

The funniest scene is the one showing all the girls lined up ready to salute the flag as Jack prepares to raise it. Mary has used the flag cord as a wash line up in the attic and when Jack gives it a pull the baby's clothes run up the mast instead of the flag.

There are also some scenes of interest, showing the school girls in the gymnasium and again in the tank. The diving, slowed up somewhat by the camera, is pretty.

Harry Gribbon is a capable comedian and gives eccentric color to the role of Jack. He hasn't got quite enough material to work with, however. Eva Novak is attractive as Mary. Meta Sterling as the fat girl gets some laughs and Minnie, the old Indian, does her usual pipe smoking. Others are Edna Gregory, Clifford Bowes and Al Miechlesfield.

Good Chance To Put This Over With a Bathing Girl Revue

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"Up in Mary's Attic," is turning 'em away at the Broadway theater where it is running along with a bathing girl revue. The latter is doing the pulling however. Every male that passes the theater is attracted by the prospect of seeing pretty girls in one piece outfits.

Of course, all exhibitors have the same opportunity to stage such a revue. On the other hand, the picture is only moderately good when considered on its individual merits.

A display of bathing girl stills in the lobby will doubtless attract many and there are numerous ballyhoo's that can be devised to draw patronage. And while the picture isn't a comedy knockout in any sense of the word, it certainly provides an appreciable portion of entertainment.
STATE RIGHT BUYERS! DISTRIBUTORS! EXHIBITORS!

IT'S YOUR MOVE

If You're in this Game—Play "Nick Carter"
King of the Two Reel Division

BROADWELL PRODUCTIONS, Inc.
Suite No. 1115 1457 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

J. J. GLAVEY, Representative
Three Stories in One Picture Offer Distinct Novelty

"WHILE NEW YORK SLEEPS"
Fox Special

DIRECTOR .................. Charles J. Brabin
AUTHORS ... Charles J. Brabin and Thomas Fallon
SCENARIO BY Charles J. Brabin and Thomas Fallon
CAMERAMAN .................. George Lane

AS A WHOLE ...... Three separate and distinct stories; last one in four reels is gripping tragedy; other two are "shockers," with surprise finishes.

STORIES ...... All well developed; first two are lurid melodrama; last has tragic flavor of Russian school.

DIRECTION ...... Generally good for this type of stories
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Good
LIGHTINGS ..................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .............. Good
LEADING PLAYERS ... Estelle Taylor and Marc MacDermott appear in all stories—their work in first doesn't match with fine performances they show in others.

SUPPORT ..................... Satisfactory
EXTERIORS .................. Realistic—well chosen
INTERIORS ..................... Same
DETAIL ..................... Some very good

CHARACTER OF STORIES ...... First: wife is shocked by reappearance of husband she thought dead—Second: rather daring version of badger game—Third: tragedy of New York east side

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 8,000 feet

This is really three separate pictures combined under one title. The first two averaging about two reels each, may be described as "shockers." Their counterparts have often been seen on the vaudeville stage. "Out of the Night," the first, deals with the reappearance of the husband, a now happily married woman thought dead. He demands money for his silence. A burglar, hiding on this scene, shoots and kills the other intruder when the situation is at its height. The wife takes the pistol as her husband enters and tells him that she has shot a burglar.

Estelle Taylor is inclined to overact as the wife, while Marc MacDermott wears a palpably false beard. Harry Sothern and William Locke complete the cast.

The second "The Gay White Way," is a real "shocker," with a version of the old badger game as its basis. It is very sexy, daring in the extreme and not exactly fit for family consumption. The married man is shown living with a lady of Broadway. He learns his wife will sue for divorce and leaves the apartment. The woman fires a pistol as he leaves. He returns to find her prone and motionless on the floor. Another man enters, claiming to be the husband of the dead woman. The married man gives him money for his silence. He leaves, the woman gets up and as they are making their getaway the married man returns, showing himself as a detective.

This has been given a lavish production with cabaret scenes and the like. Estelle Taylor is fine as the vamp, and MacDermott good as the detective. Harry Sothern is the other man.

"A Tragedy of the East Side" is gripping tragedy, well acted and realistically set. It tells the story of an old paralytic, forced to sit and watch the wife of his adored son give herself to another man. There is no ray of happiness in the story, but the accumulative power of its tragedy is sweeping. It might have been written by a Russian playwright, so gruesomely powerful is it in every twist.

MacDermott as the paralytic is splendid and Miss Taylor, as the wife, plays with fine effect. Harry Sothern as the son and Earl Metcalf as the other man are both good. The atmosphere of the very poor east side has been admirably brought to the film.

A Real Money-Maker for Certain Houses
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This is certainly a novelty and one which ought to make a good lot of money in houses where the audiences are not too touchy. The second story will likely offend the family trade, although in out-of-town houses fathers and mothers can point it out as a striking reason why their children shouldn't venture to the big city. The last one is a truly great tragedy and might, well make a separate feature. This too, is rather broad in places, but its whole tragic sweep is masterly in every sense of the word.

Exhibitors that play this have a lot of valuable advertising material right in the main title of the three stories. This is attractive in itself and can be built upon along a variety of pulling lines.

Naturally, the New York idea is the big angle. Play it for all its worth. Probably the wickeder you paint the city, the more attractive the picture will be to your patrons and no one in the big city is liable to start a libel suit against you.
Wid’s Daily

of next Sunday will contain an eight page three color insert announcing the production plans of

GUY EMPEY PRODUCTIONS, Inc.

ARTHUR GUY EMPEY, President

220 West 42nd Street

New York City
There Have Been Better Carey Pictures Than This One

Harry Carey in
"BLUE STREAK MCOY"
Universal

DIRECTOR ................. Reeves Eason
AUTHOR ...................... H. H. Van Loan
SCENARIO BY ............... Harvey Gates
CAMERAMAN ................ William Fildew
AS A WHOLE ............. Works up to a good finish, but
...drags until nearly half way through the picture DIRECTION ............. Takes too long to get at the ...story; injected some effective human touches.
STORY .............. Provides a role suited to the star and ...offers opportunities best suited to his perso...nality.
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Good
LIGHTINGS ................... Night scenes not good
CAMERA WORK .............. Average
STAR ......... Gives his usual satisfactory performance SUPPORT ........... Reeves Eason, Jr., a clever young...ster; others fulfill requirements.
EXTERIORS ................. Satisfactory
INTERIORS .................. Adequate
DETAIL ...... Poetically worded titles out of place
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Rough and ready
...ranger with a string of good deeds to his credit;
...slight romantic twist.
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,574 feet
There's nothing unusual nor particularly attractive about this latest Harry Carey production. He has had much better stories and as a whole, generally better pictures.

The picture doesn't contain any suspense and isn't at all pretentious as to production. The story is essentially a string of incidents showing the better side of Blue Streak McCoy. These incidents are loosely connected to form a story which won't arouse any special comment on its account but offers satisfactory enough material for Carey.

The opening scenes show Carey celebrating the institution of the 18th Amendment, by drinking more than is good for him. Still in an unsteady condition, he rescues the hat of Eileen Marlowe, who is stand-ning on the platform of a train stopped to take on water.
For some unknown reason, hero suddenly becomes very sober after this gallant act.

Some time later Carey accidently meets Eileen, who has sort of lingered in his memory. Eileen lives with her uncle, aunt and their small son Albert. The uncle owns a gold mine of which Frank Otis is superintendcent. Carey becomes a regular visitor at the Marlowe home mostly to be near Eileen, but also because he has taken a fancy to young Albert. One day while playing with the child he overhears Otis trying to convince Mrs. Marlowe that her husband is false.

Otis succeeds in framing Marlowe in his wife's eyes, but Carey is on the job. He frustrates the elopement by telling Mrs. Marlowe how she has been deceived by Otis and there is a good battle between Otis and himself. In the meantime Conchita, the dancer-sweetheart of Otis, who had helped frame Marlowe, discovers her sweetheart with Mrs. Marlowe, whereupon, she tells what she knows of the superintendent's plan to rob the company's safe which contains a large amount of gold ore, and the plans are foiled.

Eileen has fallen in love with a young ranger, so the only reward that "Blue Streak" asks of Marlowe is the key to his cellar. In the cast are Charles Arling, Lila Leslie, Ruth Golden and Ray Pipley.

"GEVAERT"

F I L M

Positive—Negative—Colored Positive

(U. S. Pat.)

Make Pictures Perfect!

United States Distributor
L. DESTENAY
LONGACRE BUILDING
1472 Broadway, N. Y. City
Phone: BRYANT 7315

Manufactured by
L. GEVAERT & CO.
ANTWERP, BELGIUM
Where Star is a Favorite This Will Probably Satisfy
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Harry Carey in
"BLUE STREAK McCoy"
Universal

"Blue Streak McCoy," isn't big enough to do much talking about on its own account, so if the star isn't a favorite in your theater they probably won't be satisfied with this picture. On the other hand, if the Carey pictures in the past have satisfied your crowd, his work in this together with some cute kid stuff on the part of young Eason will probably get this by without any serious kicks. It's a typical Carey vehicle, giving the star the position of prominence all the way through.

If you care to use catchlines in connection with the story you might use: "He was only an uncouth ranger but he was alert to do the right thing when a woman's happiness was at stake. See how 'Blue Streak McCoy' saves a home from being wrecked. Or, "See Harry Carey and his youthful support in Blue Streak Mc-Coy.'"

Film-Lore Offers a Real Treat for Originality, Quality, and Theme.

BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery, and Science by
ALEXANDRE A. STUART

FILM-LORE PRODUCTIONS CO., Inc.
18-20 WEST 34th STREET  NEW YORK CITY

PHOTOPLAYER'S ATTENTION
Special Rates To and From Studios

Garden Court Garage TAXI SERVICE

7030 HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD

Holly 2902  577-116

IMMEDIATE SERVICE
Just a Bare Idea—Poorly Developed and Directed

“A WOMAN’S BUSINESS”
Jans Pictures—State Rights
DIRECTOR ............................. B. A. Rolfe
AUTHOR .............................. Charles Belmont Davis
SCENARIO BY ....................... Violet Clark and Carey Wilson
CAMERAMAN ........................ A. A. Cadwell

AS A WHOLE ............... Atmosphere of unreality hangs heavy over this—situations don’t convince and characters fail to win sympathy.

STORY ............ Deals with superficialities and is generally unreal—no element of suspense.

DIRECTION .............................. Poor

PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Very poor in many sequences
LIGHTINGS ........................... Some very bad.

CAMERA WORK ........ Sets are crowded too much by camera.

STAR ............ Suffers from poor direction and generally unsympathetic role.

SUPPORT ........ Good players, but they also work under handicap.

EXTERIORS ............... Satisfactory
INTERIORS ............................... Average
DETAIL ............................... Poor
CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Young woman, ambitious to rise in society learns that love is the only thing worth while.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet
With a plot that is at best, just a fragment of an idea, and dealing with superficialities of life with deadly seriousness, with direction that is often poor, and with handling of the camera that is generally weak in all departments, “A Woman’s Business” presents an inferior aspect. The heroine is drawn as empty-head to the extreme, living for the hollow glory of social position alone until love does the usual awakening trick. But it must be recorded that neither Barbara, this heroine, nor any of her associates herein, succeed in drawing an iota of sympathy from the spectator. They are all puppets. In none of them courses a vital spark and they appeal to none of the senses.

The direction is full of mistakes. From the very first when Barbara spins around on her heel in the southern kitchen and puts out her hands to her mother saying, “What future is there here for me?” there are innumerable scenes where artificiality predominates and superficial, foolish subtitles are injected as the remarks of people.

Barbara seeks elsewhere for her future and marries Johnny Lister, a social secretary. His employer promptly fires him for his virtue lay in single blessedness. In New York, Johnny is unable to find work, although you never see him trying to find it. Anyway, a social secretary of Johnny’s type isn’t exactly a virile and appealing character.

So Barbara attempts to advance herself by trying to squeeze a market tip from Johnny’s erstwhile employer. Johnny discovers them and knocks the other man down, administering a black eye. Then a title reads, “After the divorce,” and Barbara is revealed establishing a millinery shop with the money advanced by a millionaire. Despite the millionaire’s promises, he comes one day to exact payment and Barbara throws a jar at his head and tears up all her hats.
Next she walks coolly to Johnny and asks him to take her back. This scene is complicated by the introduction of the wife of Johnny’s, erstwhile employer who also wants him to take her. The two women enter into a ludicrous verbal argument over Johnny, the ex-wife finally triumphing.

Barbara is distinctly not a cultured daughter of the old south. Her manners smack of Broadway. Thus Olive Tell has an exceedingly difficult time fighting with the part. The part wins the argument and Miss Tell’s personality goes down. Edmund Lowe, Lucille Lee Stewart, Jack Davidson, Stanley Walpole and Donald Hall also have a hard struggle with parts that are generally unsympathetic and unreal.

There Are Possibilities to This But Go Slow
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

The title of this and the many arguments that could be built around it together with the popularity of the star, will doubtless tempt many exhibitors to favor this picture. However, despite this fine advertising possibilities, there is generally inferior tone to the production that quite overshadows it’s merit
at the box office.

If you think you can get by with it play it along these lines in the advertising: “Every man has a busness and many women. But what is Every Woman’s Business?” “Barbara considered her business in life a greater thing than her love. See the lesson she learned,” “Do you know what Woman’s Business is?
It isn’t an arbitrary business, but a business she has taken to herself. See—.”

Give Miss Tell considerable prominence and also mention the supporting members of the cast.
FIRST FORMS FOR
WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK
NOW CLOSING

RUSH COPY FOR PREFERRED POSITION

THE EXHIBITOR'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

500 PAGES OF VALUABLE INFORMATION
Much Ado About Sex in Rather Elemental Story that Runs Too Long

Edith Storey in
"MOON MADNESS"
Haworth—Robertson-Cole

DIRECTOR .............. Colin Campbell
AUTHOR ................. J. Grubb Alexander
SCENARIO BY ............ J. Grubb Alexander
CAMERAMAN ............. Fred Schoedsack

AS A WHOLE .............. Colorful production with pronounced sex appeal but it runs too long.

STORY .............. Rather long-drawn out with quite a number of episodes that could be cut down.

DIRECTION .............. Contains a lot of color, but some steps of story aren't clearly registered.

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Very good
LIGHTINGS .............. Excellent; star very strikingly lighted in closeups.

CAMERA WORK .............. Good
STAR .............. Very good; registers forceful appeal.

SUPPORT .............. Very good
EXTERIORS .............. Some good desert stuff.
INTERIORS .............. Many quite elaborate.

DETAIL .............. Fair
CHARACTER OF STORY .... White girl, brought up with Bedouin tribe, is saved from fate of her mother by her father.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,400 feet

"Moon Madness" is a very colorful, and at times exotic production, containing a story which makes up in sex appeal what it lacks in the way of dramatic situations. The story was really too simple to bear the burden of the footage awarded it here. There are episodes such as the Egyptian one, introduced solely for its sex appeal, that might have been omitted altogether and there are others that could easily be cut down to shorter lengths.

The story opens with a burst of melodrama. It's raining pitch-forks on the edge of the Sahara and a professor's wife is in the act of eloping with the villain when they are apprehended by the third party. As the wife goes to the door of the cottage she is struck by a falling tree and is killed. The villain takes to his heels in the rain and the professor is left alone with his baby daughter. It didn't seem quite clear the way she finally came into the hands of the Bedouin tribe.

Grown to womanhood, she is known as Zora and beloved by the son of the chief of the tribe. A Parisian artist makes love to her and she believes him sincere. She follows him to Paris. Here a villain, Raoul, establishes her in luxurious quarters with the understanding that if she doesn't win the artist's love, she must give herself to him. All she arouses in the artist is his passion, and it seems rather strange that at first he didn't recognize her as the self-same maid of the desert to whom he first made love.

Back in her apartment Raoul comes to collect on the bargain but Zora's father who has been hovering in the ofing since her babyhood crashes in, in the nick of time and rescues her. He recognizes Raoul as the man who broke up his home in former years and ends his nefarious career by drowning him in the basin of a fountain. Zora is glad to go back to the true love offered her by the son of the Bedouin chief.

The production has a certain air of richness about it that commands attention. The sex appeal is played strong and dominates the picture. Edith Storey in the role of Zora is prominent in fostering it and besides makes a very striking appearance in her picturesque costumes. She also has the benefit of some fine lighting. Wallace McDonald is the Bedouin, Sam De Grasse the artist and William Courtleigh the villain—a fine supporting trio. Joseph Swickard appears as the father and Miss Storey also plays the brief role of the mother.

Return of Edith Story is a Good Advertising Angle Here

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one has such a prominent sex appeal that the exhibitors catering to the well-known transient and down-town audiences might do well to consider it. It is in no way offensive, but at the same time the plot is quite elemental and concerns itself with little else than this appeal.

It ought to be shortened, however. Superfluous footage seems to be a fault common in a great number of recent releases. Careful cutting would help considerably.

You could feature the return of Edith Storey to the screen in advertising this. She hasn't been seen in quite awhile, and she certainly had a good following in the early days. Also mention the other principal members of the cast. They are well known and good actors, all of them.
July 17, 1920

Mr. J. Skirboll,
Ohio Exchange for Educational Films, Co.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

My Dear Jack:-

For the first time in the history of this theatre, a new precedent has been established. A comedy without star, in fact I might say of unknown origin, has come to town, played on our screen for three days, and literally "knocked 'em cold". All these laurels belong to your first Mermaid release entitled "A Fresh Start". Having seen this comedy before I put it on, I advertised it "without fear of contradiction, the greatest comedy ever shown in Hamilton, on this or any other screen, barring none".

When you stop to consider that we run America's Greatest Comedian comedy series, that was saying a mouthful for your product. Now that it's all over but the shouting, I am here to tell you, that my statement was in no wise exaggerated. Our patrons are still talking about A Fresh Start, as hilarious a comedy as any one could wish for. To the best of my recollection, this Mermaid is the first comedy I ever saw that hasn't a dull moment through the two reels, which to say the least, is something very unusual.

If the remainder of your comedies are anything like A Fresh Start, you'll not have to worry about an outlet for your product in this city. If you want any of our weekly programs or newspapers to substantiate what I think of your first Mermaid, let me know and I'll be glad to forward them to you.

You are at liberty to quote me in connection with A Fresh Start in any way you see fit, and any statement made in complimentary reference thereto, can not be too strong to suit me. You've got it coming, and I am glad to "hand it to you".

Wishing you and your product unlimited success and with best wishes, I am

Cordially yours

Managing Director.
Some Short Reels

“Duck Inn”—Mermaid—Educational

“Duck Inn,” is a highly amusing comedy in which Lloyd Hamilton reappears. It opens with a fine comedy sequence in which the chief comedian is shown coming from his house. It immediately starts raining and he ducks back inside. The rain stops and he comes out. This process is repeated several times and the laughs increase with each repetition. It’s a new gag and gets over big. There follows some good comedy, Hamilton and a Ford as principals, the setting being a very windy desert. The final sequences introduce a duck hunt and many laughs are derived from the scenes between Hamilton and the duck that squirts water over him. Marvel Rae is the girl. Altogether, this is high class nonsense-comedy, ranking with the best of them.

“One Drop Was Enough”—Chester—Educational

This takes in a trip down a South American river to a large and beautiful series of waterfalls. The subtilities, in their efforts for comedy, neglect to say just where pictures were efforts for comedy, neglected to say just where the pictures were taken and this information would lend additional interest. Many of the scenes are unusual and the reel provides generally good interest. The subtilities use “we,” giving the impression that travelers take the river trip. However, the boats reveal only natives. The spectator might justly ask, “Where do you get that stuff?”

“His Wife’s Husband”—Goldwyn

In an effort to build what would ordinarily be enough material for a one reeler, into a two reel offering, they have filled with a considerable quantity of souse stuff, with Ed. Flanagan, who has scored another partner named Edwards, both featured occupying the featured roles. Flanagan performs as the intoxicated husband and most of the situations are gleaned from the efforts of one of the women to have a neighbor pose as her husband. A bit of it just borders on the risque, but there is really nothing objectionable. The souse stuff is not very much different from numerous similar portrayals that have been seen times innumerable, and can hardly be expected to get over very strong. With judicious cutting, this can be placed in a position to jolly well take up its assigned place, for the theme is fairly clever. In its present shape, however, it can not be expected to hold up very well, however.

Bray Comic, No. 817—Goldwyn

Of the eleven Lampoons which make up the first half of this Bray Comic, only one or two may be expected to get hearty laughs, the rest of the material being just about average. The cartoon which makes up the rest of it, however, is a meritorious creation which should get over nicely. Of course, it is thoroughly ridiculous, but is based on a funny idea and has been executed in good style. Judge Rumhauser and Silk Hat Harry, Ted’s caricature characters are seen in it and their efforts to win favor with a pair of beach bushes are funny. First they become bow-legged, then tattooed and finally sun-tanned to win favor with the girls. The last named process includes being placed on a spit in a rotisserie and when the trick is finished, they are black, being finally mistaken for wild men and put in a cage. At this stage the girls decide that they are cute.

“The Castaway”—Bruce—Educational

This is one of the best scenes that Robert Bruce has ever turned out. Beside showing some marvelous views of a turbulant sea at the opening, he has incorporated a theme in the various scenes that captivates. He takes up the fate of a sailor, cast up on a tropical island, who signals frantically at the passing ships at first but after a time regrets them passing by in silence. He has found contentment. There are some glorious views of full rigged schooners sailing along the horizon. The light and shade of these are quite effective. A bit of artistic might strive in vain. The reel got a big hand at the Rivoli at its conclusion.

“Some More Samoa”—Chester—Educational

This reel shows interesting glimpses of the Samoan islands and their inhabitants. The native industries and dances are also interestingly depicted. The subtitles are written in a light style and provide just the right balance. It is an interesting reel and worthy a position on any program.

“An Overall Hero”—Chester—Educational

The monk that made his appearance in the first Chester two reeler is again in evidence in this number and he also is supported by the other animals of the same species. The picture opens with some good comedy-thrill stuff, showing the monk taking the place of the jockey on the race horse after some crooks have gotten in a bit of dirty work. Later the monk again refuses the villains when he frustrates their attempt to steal the winnings of a pair of old folks. When the all animals are brought in, the comedy works up a bit. And some of the subtitles are two obviously written in to fit the action. It would seem that one animal in a comedy of this kind were enough. The latter part is mildly amusing, but doesn’t take rank with the first.

“Screen Snapshots, No. 3”—Jack Cohn—State Rights

For the average screen fan an issue of this type, added to the bill, will have the value of frosting added to cake. Taking the spectator behind the scenes at picture studios and giving him intimate shots of picture celebrities will undoubtedly hold attention, especially so with this production which is titled in splendid style and generally up to the mark. Muriel Ostriche is the first star to face the camera and is shown lounging about as well as at play. Jim Corbett essays a few steps in another part of the reel, after which Pauline Frederick is seen, followed by Viola Dana, attired in an Oriental costume. A bit of hokum is included in which Fatty Arbuckle, Chester, and Sessue Hayakawa, who regard the cameraman simultaneously as they display a few steps. Bessie Love, amusing herself with a flock of birds, occupies the center of the screen later on and then the building of a studio set, work of Elaine Hammerstein and others in it hold the eye. To close it, a scene in which a number of embryo screen performers apply for duces as extras is shown, with some of them being photographed in order that their abilities may be determined.

“Old Buddha’s Maze”—Chester—Educational

China is the scene of another Chester travel production released through Educational, incidentally one of the best yet done by Chester. The technical end of it has been taken care of in satisfactory fashion, and what features it is the choice of subjects. Pekin and its outlying parts as well as other Chinese points are picturesque if anything, the architecture generally quaint and the resulting spectacles distinctly soothing to the eye. Opening is a water scene with some old-fashioned sailing vessels making a pleasing picture. A Mongolian funeral occupies a fairly large part of the footage, several of the customs usually observed having been photographed in good style, although in one scene some of the younger people could not restrain their curiosity and deliberately faced the camera. The temple of Buddha, which is shown towards the finish, is a beautiful, elaborate edifice and the material throughout is interesting.
"Pyrenees and Wooden Legs"—Chester—Educational

Andorra, a tiny state in the Pyrenees, is not very well known to most people and naturally a production shot in that locality will be somewhat unusual. In this reel, bits showing natural scenes are intermingled with more numerous pieces of footage in which the buildings, small cities and people are dealt with. A shepherd with his flock is seen during most of the latter part of the offering and a unique feature is that he wears stilts constantly with unusual ease. Tobacco smugglers, said to be genuine, are seen in another section as well as some youngsters and townpeople, and the piece as a whole is quite acceptable.

"Snakes"—Reelcraft

Bolshevism and bombs were a much more popular topic for discussion up to about a year ago than they are today, and this Billy E. Van comedy in two reels obviously was made at that time. While it is somewhat disconnected at times, there are several humorous bits and the production as a whole is acceptable. Well photographed in most places, this maintains a reasonably good average and should get over in limited a few houses. Some of the hokum is of the rather hackneyed type, but much of it can be depended upon to hold its own. This is the second of the series of Royal comedies.

"The Law of the Border"—Graphilm—Pathe

There seem to be about three or four formulas that are almost invariably followed in the production of short reel westerns. Occasionally they differ from one of the customary themes or build about it so that there is some novelty. In this, however, they deviate only slightly from the usual and the result is an average western. Young Buffalo sets out on the trail of a criminal sheriff who works recklessly and commits murders and hold-ups with considerable regularity and no evident fear. A romance with the villain’s step-daughter occupies part of the film which ultimately sees Drew freed after facing death without a chance to defend himself. The bad man had tied the girl to a bed in another room, but she manages to kick the door, attract attention and then save her lover in time to be able to participate in the necessary clutch.

"The Nuisance"—Universal

A very funny fight scene in which instead of attempting to find a new way of burlesquing a pugilistic battle, they secure the services of a baby in the part, along by the pastime of the fight fans, makes this worth while. It’s a new situation and one that will secure laughs almost anywhere. The rest of the reel is disconnected in a few places, but generally it is of a sufficiently high standard to insure its success in most houses. Certainly it is superior to the average single reel production, there being a proper proportion of story material and slapstick comedy.

"Who’s Crazy Now"—Universal

A single reeler which has a few fairly humorous complications but generally lacks material that is really funny. Most of the story centers about the romance of a young duo, with the father of the girl possessing the opinion that the young man is crazy. The two plan to make the old man believe that he is the lunatic and the young fellow promptly poses as a feminine brain specialist. An escaping insane of an insane asylum arrives to make matters all the more complicated and the lovers are finally united. This has a few laughs, but lacks continuity of fast action and real humor.

"A Seaside Siren"—Christie

Chase stuff and knockabout bits make up a considerable portion of this Christie special which has an acceptable theme and is funny enough to get over in most houses, although by no means a hit. Fay Tincher is featured in the two reeler in which Eddie Baker, Jimmie Harrison, Virginia Ware and a few others play principal roles. Most of the comedy results when Fay Tincher agrees to pose as her mistress, in order that the latter may marry the man of her choice. She visits a fashionable resort and there her generally coarse demeanor does not meet with approval. Eventually, she dons male clothing and a long chase through hotel rooms and bath-houses results. Much of the material employed in this section is not very new. Some of it does provoke mirth, however, and with a few other laughable scenes it will probably hold its own.

"Live and Learn"—Pathe

One situation included in this Snub Pollard comedy is certain to get a laugh from any audience and makes it a worth while production. There are several other bits in it that are also laughable and the action is fast throughout. The portion that is sure to get the biggest laugh is that in which Pollard posts a bill on a barn with a dividing door. A poster of a woman in the usual chorus girl costume is pasted over the door, when the novice in art is employed and several aged farm woman looking out, all of the good folks in the vicinity are shocked. Later the action is shifted to a gymnasium where a burlesqued light occupies a large part of the type. Of course, all of the above can seldom be entirely new, but most of it is really funny this time. The reel is one of the better ones of the series.

"The Third Eye"—Pathe

Usually serial episodes end with the hero, heroine or both facing danger. The eleventh episode of this, however, is a sharp deviation from the usual order, a new mystery angle being developed and a big punch added. While it makes the production more complicated, it continues to maintain suspense—something all serials do not do after the first few episodes. Having Warner Oland meet the woman who styles herself "The Long Arm of Vengeance," which appellation gives the episode its title and shrunk back in apparent terror makes the ending unique and decidedly different.

Pathe Review, No. 63

Some excellent water stuff is included in the colored scenic study which comprises the initial portion of this Pathe Review. There are several meritorious shots. "Contra-band Treasure" shows the confiscated plumage of some birds of paradise. As usual there is a slow motion part in which some girls are seen in scant beach costumes and then executing some swimming strokes. Average audiences would probably welcome shots of the girls slowed up while on the beach more than those of the strokes, but it will probably hold interest. "Lights of the World" shows the making of electric light bulbs and to wind it up, four colored dancers, one of them a woman, execute the old fashioned buck and wing dance.

"Starting Life"—Ford-Goldwyn

Most of the Ford productions have been industrials, with a few scenic mixed in occasionally. This is a deviation from the usual run of these offerings, consisting entirely of sketches of sheep, kittens, pups, fowls and so on down the line. Animals almost invariably register well on the screen and this production, which is simply a conglomeration of scenes of that type, should score heavily in almost any house. It has been photographed well, maintains a splendid atmosphere and furnishes picture patrons with what they usually want. A distinctly commendable deviation from the customary succession of Ford pictures.

Bray Pictograph, No. 448—Goldwyn

Scientific fish farming as practiced at the hatchery at Hackettown, N. J., is shown in the opening part of this Bray reel, and is explained splendidly. The shots of the hatched creatures, just hatching eggs and other bits being of real interest. Sherlock Holmes, a trained dog, is shown performing some of his stunts in the section titled "Do Dogs Reason?". Undoubtedly the canine is remarkably well trained, but as to his reasoning powers, those are still left in doubt in spite of his exhibition. Jerry is on the job in "The Rhyme Went Wrong," an acceptable cartoon seen at the close. As a whole, a satisfactory screen magazine.
EVERYONE KNOWS THE POWER OF A WILLARD MACK STORY.

A STATE RIGHT SPECIAL DE LUXE

HERITAGE GOES FURTHER A SOUL-STIRRING DRAMA OF THE HUMAN EQUATION

"HERITAGE"
by WILLARD MACK

Featuring the popular juvenile star... MATTY ROUBERT And a powerful all star cast...

WRITE OR WIRE FOR OPEN TERRITORY

Matty Roubert Productions, Inc.
1457 Broadway New York City
Everybody who will see this picture—and that means everybody—will call it the best thing Will Rogers ever did. Packed to the last inch with every element a picture needs for record-breaking success.
Big Reception
Tendered "Doug" and Mary by Friars—Both Visibly Nervous But Happy

No one could ever claim that either "Doug" or Mary suffered from stage fright. But if they didn't they gave a very good imitation at the Astor last night. In the Grand Ball room, they were welcomed back from Europe in an affair that was one of the most pleasing events of the year. Surely, they must have been delighted with all of the fine things said about them. Because, from the moment they entered the hall until they left, way after midnight, they heard nothing but—well, the sort of things that they probably expected, only more so.

John J. Gleason was toastmaster and S. J. Kaufman master of ceremonies. They showed one of Mary's earliest pictures—"The Stronger Love," a Universal production, and the titles were added by side line comments from Tommy Gray, that made the hit of the showing. My, how different Mary looked in those days! No wonder they called it "movie" stuff. They also showed an original slide feature of Doug's smile. Then Frank Bacon, Renold Wolf, Frank McGlynn, who, while with Belasco, carried Mary in his arms up a flight of stairs in "The Good Little Devil," and told about it; Tom Wise, who carried "Doug" off; William A. Brady, who said the stars owed their popularity to the greatest industry in the world; S. Jay Kinnon, "Doug" Baer, the Philosopher of the Potosiac, and Raymond Hitchcock spoke. "Hitchy" easily carried off the honors of the evening. The crowd couldn't get enough of him. Of course Mary thanked everybody in her sweet way, and then "Doug"'s nervous and all upset, tried to tell about the European trip. (Continued on Page 3)

Strike Ends
Men Return to Work, Pending Negotiations—Will Settle Wage Scale Later

Following a meeting of the Motion Picture Craftsmen, 604, at Bryant Hall on Saturday, it was decided to return to work this coming Monday. George C. Woodruff, secretary of the Laboratory Men's union, and W. McKinley, general organizer of the I. A. T. S. E., met a representative of the National Association prior to the meeting and the matter was arranged. The men are returning to work with the assurance that representatives of the National Association will meet those of the union to agree upon a wage scale and settle other matters.
Cuts and Flashes

D. N. Sheehan Prod., Inc., after next Monday will be located at 1,600 Broadway, in the suite formerly occupied by Sol Lesser.

M. Lowell Cash has been placed in charge of advertising and publicity of Federated Film Exchanges.

Raver Resumes

To Present "Virgin of Paris"

Harry Raver has completed arrangements whereby Anthony Hope's best seller "Sophia" will shortly reach the screen under the title of "The Virgin of Paris.

Raver's staff includes Gerald Fontaine, director, with Harry Melville, assistant. Franklyn Morel and George Constantine are the photographers. Agnes Fletcher Bain prepared the adaptation.

Has Backing of Chicago Men

Anna Q. Nilsson who recently formed a concern in Los Angeles, to be known as Anna Q. Nilsson Prod., which will be incorporated in California yesterday told a representative of WID'S DAILY that a group of Chicago financiers are behind the concern. She would make no statement about the capitalization of the concern, but stated that she would begin work after October. A studio on the coast will be hired, she further declared, and a series of pictures in which she would be featured at the head of all-star casts would be turned out.

Denver Chain Adds Three

Denver, Colo.—The Midwest Theater Corp. has purchased for the U. S. A. Fort Morgan; Lyric, Sterling; and U. S. A., Sidney Neb. It is reported that Midwest will take over a chain in the Rocky Mountain region.

FIVE HUNDRED PAGE OF LIVE, INTERESTIN AND EDUCATIONAL MATTER, GATHERED FROM A YEARS WORTH

We Place Insurance for
FATTY ARBUCKLE CO.
(Watch this Space for Others)

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A POUND OF CURE

Don't wait with your insurance problems. To-day may be too late. Years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture field has enabled us to handle your problem intelligently, dispatch and economy. May we prove to you how we can serve you better? Your phone handy.

Of many good reasons why the exhibitor should demand RITCHIEY posters, only one is important. They sell an increased number of tickets.

RITCHIEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

AARON JONES

Even the little "schafer" will enjoy JEN PEKRY's new two reel McD AYDA'S LAMBS. "Linicked" in a series of one a month.

State Right
One a Month

Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.
Coast Bravities

Hollywood—Bert St. John who had announced the presentations at the California theater is now in charge of the Vitagraph office.

St. John, Canada—Joe R. Kaufman, special representative for Select, is in charge of the local office of that organization replacing ‘Mac’ MacMorgan who resigned.

Toronto, Can.—C. H. Haddon, local manager for Famous Players is seriously ill.

Portland, Ore.—Frank Cassill has been appointed representative here for the W. W. Hodkinson Corp.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Howard F. Brink has been appointed manager of the Dooley Exchange.

Interesting Figures

Omaha, Ne.—A big exchange has just completed figures comparing business the first eight weeks of this summer with the corresponding period last year. The figures show an increase of 40 per cent over last year. While some of it is due to the increased business of this particular exchange, the greater share of the increase can be traced directly to mororship on the part of the exhibitors.

While a number of theaters in the smallest villages have dropped their six or seven day schedule to three or even two days, the great majority of them are keeping up to their mid season form. Small pictures are said to be booked tight, and regular service is going great, but the feature business has fallen off during the summer months.

Trade Showing

"The Answer of the Sea" will be screened at 11 o'clock Tuesday, at the Astor Theater. The production is being sold on a territorial basis by Wilt & Wilt. This screening is for exhibitors and exchange men.

To Start in Fall

Atlanta—It is reported here that Arthur Lucas, district manager of the American Theaters Corp., who has left New York with an offer to accept active steps towards the new corporation to a successful future. Lucas is one of the best known men in the game in the South.

Changes in Alliance

London—There has been quite a shakeup in Alliance Film, the concern of which Harley Knott is a director general. Sidney Reynolds is out and so is Charles F. Higham. It is said that while production has been checked owing to internal difficulties, that Knott is expected to speed up production.

Big Reception

When he finally finished Gleason said that the stars and the girls also the audience that the Friars have endowed a Mary Pickford-Fairbanks building in the Children's Hospital for little children, and that Mary appeared vigorously.

When the crowd assembled a huge building was erected on which the stars were placed in state. Before they had a chance to meet those present Commodore Blackton furnished the first surprise by introducing Sir Thomas Lipson, who made a big hit with his speech, but he was left in the lurch by no less than Thomas Dewar, the "whisky Tom" as Lipton put it, who made a tremendous hit. Following was a big vaudeville bill of one of the features of which was "Doug" being called upon to danced by Mack Murray. Mary also danced and for the windup she and "Doug" were compelled to dance together while the big crowd was from circle applauded to the limit.

Among the film folk there were Robert Z. Leonard and Mae Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Selden, Ken McGaffey and the rest of the stars, publicity staff, Hiram Abrams, who was the guest of the day, Mr., and Mrs. Harry Rapp, Will C. Smith, O. Powers, Mrs. Allan Dwan, Mr. M. H. Malevinsky, Miss Frances Marion, A. H. Banzhaf, Grünthal's attorney; Eugene Mullins, and J. W. Alcott and Joe Dannenberg of WID'S DAILY.

Rork Coming With First Print

Los Angeles—Sam Rork, who associated with Eugene Orth left for New York Sunday with prints of "Isabel," a James Oliver Curwood story which is the first of a series of productions to be produced by Ror and Roth.

Ward to Go to California

Reginald Warde will leave for the coast on Friday.

NORMA TALMADGE
STUDIOS AVAILABLE
To Desirable Company—Aug. 5th to Oct. 1st.
APPLY
EDWARD SMALL
SOLE AGENT
1493 Broadway
Phone, Bryant 2389

LLOYD B. CARLETON
Producing Director
Lloyd Carleton Productions

Director General
Clermont Photoplay Corporation

Next Picture
"BEYOND THE CROSSROADS" by Bradley King
Putting It Over

Dayton, O.—An exploitation stunt that enlisted the hearty co-operation of local merchants and set the entire city talking, was devised and put across with a bang recently by Manager Gates of Loew's Dayton in connection with the week's first run showing of "The Cheater". The stunt which took the form of a "Favorite Local Stars' Contest," was given much publicity by the Dayton newspapers. Mary Allison herself took a hand in making the advertising feature a huge success by wiring to the Dayton newspaper through Hollywood that she would contribute as a personal prize a handsome hand-framed life-sized portrait of herself to the local star distinguishing herself in the special musical comedy to follow the contest.

The proposition, as set forth by Manager Gates, was that the people of Dayton were to vote for a solid week for their favorite amateur actresses, and the ten who received the most ballots were to be featured in a musical comedy to be produced at the theater for a week.

In his reading notices Gates pointed out that May Allison was started on her professional career after capturing first prize in a beauty contest held in Georgia.

No sooner had the management announced the details of the contest than the biggest stores in town scrambled to get in on the good thing.

Quinn Made Manager for Empey

Philip Quinn has been appointed production manager for the Guy Empey Productions. Ben Garretson has been named advertising and publicity manager.

Holyoke, Mass.—Lewis and Brown will erect a house at a cost of $250,000. The lower floor will seat about 1,400.

To Join Pathe

Kansas City, Mo.—Charles H. Mills, director of visual instruction and recreation in local public schools will accept a position with Pathe. He has left for New York City.

Pictorial Beauty in Comedies.

This new Christie two-reel comedy, "Out for the Night," has a prize-fight in it too. You'll see a scene of the fight next week.—Advt.

New Theaters

Vallejo, Cal.—Virginia opened. P. Hanlon owner.

Houses Under Construction

Brownsville, Pa.—Tom Wright's use progressing rapidly.

Bedford, Pa.—Charles Richelieu's house will be built there.

Campbell, Cal.—G. A. Resco to build house in early July.

Houses Leased

San Jose, Cal.—Edward Manlatt has leased.

Cleveland.—Ed P. Strong and Lelange leased Opera House two years.

Reading, Pa.—David Schlar will have it.

South Hadley Falls, Mass.—R. M. Bostic, owner of the Joyce has leased auditorium in the home hall to pictures.

New Theaters

Morrill, Mo.—W. P. Chambers build here.

Arnett, Kan.—New theater is under construction here.

Detroit, Mich.—E. V. McGarth at. Colder.

Medison, Mass.—Madden and Shaw ling.

Plumbus, O.—James under way.

Culver, Kas.—Electric, R. O. r, re-opened.

Martha, Mich.—L. J. Murphy owns nd. $175,000. 1,200.

Hann, Mass.—Tom Whyte at Cap.

Himore, Md.—Morris Klein, ume Homeiste and J. Louis e are president, treasurer and ivery respectively of a company will build the Capitol, $250, 1,500.

Omaha's Exchange Building

Omaha, Neb.—A film exchange building 12 stories high and costing $300,000 will be erected at Eighteenth and Davenport, according to an announcement made by Sam MacIntyre, chairman of the building committee of the Omaha Film Board of Trade. Work will begin at once and the building will be ready for occupangement by January 1.

Each exchange agreed to pay three months rental in advance on completion of the building, and every one of the exchanges in Omaha will move to the new general quarters.

There will be accommodations for two film companies on each except the top floor of the building, which will be entirely occupied by Famous Players Lasky. There will also be a projection room on each floor.

Companies which have exchanges in Omaha and which will occupy the building are: Metro, Famous Players-Lasky, Realart, Vitagraph, Universal, Select, Robertson-Cole, Goldwyn, Republic, Fox, A. H. Blank Enterprises, Fontenelle Feature Film Co., Pathe and the Omaha Film Co.

Incorporations

Dover, Del.—Pacific Studios Corp. $1,120,000, C. H. Blaske, M. A. Bruce and S. E. Dill.

Albany, N. Y.—Dilum Amusement Co. of Troy, $18,000. S. Otten, B. jole, J. Weinstein.

Albany, N. Y.—Film Frolics Motion Pictures Corp. $10,000. J. os, G. Alexander, and H. H. Pathe.

Delta, Utah.—W. G. Hammert organizing company capitalized at $40,000 to build.

Leviston, Me.—J. A. Hunt at Empire, succeeding Dennis O'Brien.

4 A WEEK

COMEDY ART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRUD-SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the cooperation of the greatest out-of-town magazine and U.S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a charac-

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Hellman Bldg., LOS ANGELES
More Loew Stock

Block of 288,000 Shares to Be Offered at $22.25 a Share—New Theaters Planned

A block of 288,000 shares of the stock of Loew's Inc. will be offered to the present stockholders of the company at a figure in all likelihood will be $22.25 a share. The new issue will be offered on a one share to every three shares of the old stock held and has been underwritten by Van Emburgh & Atter- vay and Montgomery & Co. It is planned to raise approximately $5,800,000 in this manner which will be invested in new theaters and operating projects.

Christie Here

Charles H. Christie, of the Christie Co., is in town from California. He visited the Biltmore.

Storm Organizes Own Company

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Jerome Storm will organize his own producing company which is to have the support of all the leading Californians.

Tippett Going Home

John D. Tippett will sail for London tomorrow on the Olympic, after being here a week. Regarding the foreign deal of United Artists, Tippett said all was well with him except that he had trouble in getting copies of WID'S DAILY regularly and this disturbed him. So he decided to join the ranks of those who hate the mail service.

Joseph M. Schenck has purchased a chessboard, a story recently published in Young's Magazine by Delphine Sharp, for Constance Tal- lage's next picture, to follow "Good Ser- vices." The name has been changed to "Dangers Business."

Wid

Are you checking carefully to be sure there is a cancellation clause in every contract offered you—Watch your step!

Moreno Renews With Vitagraph

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Antonio Moreno has signed a new contract with Vitagraph this time for three years.

Moreno is at present making "The Veiled Mystery," a serial.

At the Vitagraph studios the above dispatch was not denied, but it was stated, however, that word of the new contract was expected from the coast 'sooner or later.'

Winik and Ziehm Sail Tomorrow

Hyman Winik of Western Import and Arthur Ziehm, foreign manager of Goldwyn sail tomorrow for Europe. Winik will be away for several weeks while Ziehm's stay abroad will be more extended.

Wyndham Standing has signed a long term contract with Metro to play leads.

Going Home Tomorrow

Dong and Mary will leave tomorrow for the coast where they will resume production.

Perrin With Asso. Prod.

Dwight S. Perrin yesterday joined Associated Producers as Director of Publicity for the distributing end of the corporation. Each of the seven producers has his own publicity department headed by some of the highest paid men in the business. Ince has Hunt Stromberg, Nellan, Peter Smith; Senet, Walter Anthony; Read, Sig Schlager; Tournour, Clark Ervine; Dwan; Bert Adler and George-Louite Tucker has chosen all these men although his name has not yet been made public.

Crandon's Party

Harry Crandon entertained his house managers at dinner at Tap- pen's, Sheepshead Bay last night and later took them to a roof show in town.

Cromelin Hiss

At Combinations—Says No Greater Injury Exists Not Only to Industry But to Nation

Paul Cromelin of Inter-Ocean hit hard at combinations yesterday at a luncheon given in honor of his return from Europe. Undoubtedly Mr. Cromelin was referring to the new $100,000,000 Franco-American Cinem- atograph Corporation. He said he had been here last week at a dinner at the Ritz, where the combination in personal.

Cromelin said he had talked at length of conditions in Europe, and he was far from optimistic. "But," he added, "the new things going on here are worthy of thought. I refer to the combinations being talked of. There is no greater danger, not only to the industry, but to the nation as well.

When any group of individuals can force the American people to look at what they want the people to see, then it is time to consider. Russia will be opening up in a few years, and only 5 per cent of its people can read. China will be opening up soon to the tremendous value of the screen with its universal language. Independent production, regardless of where it is made abroad, if it is fit for our screens, should be encouraged. Combinations which prevent this are detri- mental, one of the most detrimental things that could be conceived."

When asked specifically whether during the 12 months he was in Europe he had heard anything which might refer to the proposed operations of the Franco-American corporation, he said that he had not, but that often large mergers might be under way without anyone talking about it.

In the earlier part of his discus- sion, Cromelin went back to the old days of the Picture Patents Co., and the fight made against that "trust" by the independent producers. "It was only when the independents fought their way to the top, that the industry began to grow."

The safety of the industry, he said, lies in individual units handling production, distribution and exhibition. "I can imagine no greater evil to the industry than putting its affairs in the hands of one group."

Bert Adler also spoke and went back to 1909, when he said Mr. Cromelin was interested in the Bianchini camera.

Case Scheduled for Sept. 20

The action of Cora C. Wilkening against Mary Pickford for recovery of commissions was heard in the U. S. District Court yesterday and trial date set for Sept. 20.
Chicago Notes

L. L. Sill of the Palace, Gilman, Ill., was a city visitor.

R. H. Fox, a well known Chicago film salesman, is now working the Denver territory.

The New Palace at Danville, Ill., will open Oct. 1st. Thomas Ronan, manager.

Wm. C. Cooke has joined the sales force of the First National local exchange.

Geo. H. Hines of the Auditorium, South Bend, Ind., has returned from his vacation at Denver, Col.

Allens Shake Up Managers

(Winnipeg, Manitoba.—A general shake up among managers of Allen houses has resulted in the following changes: Helmer Jernberg, formerly at the Province at Allen; Jack Ward, formerly at Gaiety at Province; Charles Worden at Gaiety; A. M. Fergusson at Allen, Yorkton, Sask; appointments at Dominion and Rex, as result of resignations of Ben Davis and R. E. Villis pending.

Sees Menace in Canada

A. W. Smith Jr., assistant sales manager of the Hoebstson Corp., has returned from a conference with various exhibitors in Canada and says of conditions there:

"Certain producers-exhibitors are proving a menace to the progress of the industry by requiring exorbitant rentals for their pictures and building and buying theaters where they cannot get such rentals."

Among Exchanges

Detroit, Mich.—J. M. Duncan, W. D. Ward and Jess Fishman were re-elected president, vice-president and treasurer respectively at the annual meeting of the Detroit Board of Film Exchange Managers.

Detroit, Mich.—Frank Drew, formerly with Special Pictures is now associated with Fox.

Detroit, Mich.—Hal Smith is now a member of the sales force of Special Pictures.

Kansas City, Mo.—C. W. Burnham, formerly with Goldwyn, is to travel in Southern Kansas as a member of the Robertson-Cole Sales force.

Kansas City, Mo.—An office has been opened on the fifth floor of the new Exchange Building by Educational Film.

Opens Independent Exchange

Detroit, Mich.—William A. Haynes formerly with Equity, has opened an independent exchange in the Film Building.

Confesses He Burned House

Butler, Ga.—A negro, recently arrested, has confessed that he was implicated in the burning of the Grand at Reynolds.

Clearwater, Fla.—John S. Taylor, H. W. Bivins and H. Fittman, $60,000.

Columbus, Ga.—Roy Marton to build.
Distributors' Division of the National Association has heard the views of practically all of the leading producing and booking companies as to their attitude regarding selling to booking companies. In practically all instances the distributors reiterated their position which was first published in S DAILY on July 12 by saying they will not sell to booking companies and favor dealing directly with exhibitors.

The views of the distributors were secured after several days were held, when booking companies and especially the one of the National Booking Co. were discussed.

O. Schwalbe, one of the officials of National Booking, asked whether National Booking could not make any statement regarding the views of the distributors, said: "I can't understand what all the fuss is about. National Booking is simply an agency. We will book only to those who are interested, and if later it is decided to book to others, that will be a matter to be disposed of at that time. That is all there is to it."

The views of the various companies, as forwarded to Percy L. Fox, Chairman of the Distributors' Division are as follows:

Statement from F. P. L. Mr. Waters: We have always been opposed to our product through booking, and we see no reason why we have our policy at this time. We are Justice to the exhibitor and the public, but we will not sell our product to the theater owner or to the middleman.

"W. E. ATKINSON.

Triangle Opposes Move men: lving to yours of recent date, we have decided on bookings, feeling that each exhibitor should be book separately and not through an agency as has always been our policy.

"PERCY L. WATERS.'

Distributors' Division of the National Association has heard the views of practically all of the leading producing and booking companies as to their attitude regarding selling to booking companies. In practically all instances the distributors reiterated their position which was first published in S DAILY on July 12 by saying they will not sell to booking companies and favor dealing directly with exhibitors.

The views of the distributors were secured after several days were held, when booking companies and especially the one of the National Booking Co. were discussed.

O. Schwalbe, one of the officials of National Booking, asked whether National Booking could not make any statement regarding the views of the distributors, said: "I can't understand what all the fuss is about. National Booking is simply an agency. We will book only to those who are interested, and if later it is decided to book to others, that will be a matter to be disposed of at that time. That is all there is to it."

The views of the various companies, as forwarded to Percy L. Fox, Chairman of the Distributors' Division are as follows:

Statement from F. P. L. Mr. Waters: We have always been opposed to our product through booking, and we see no reason why we have our policy at this time. We are Justice to the exhibitor and the public, but we will not sell our product to the theater owner or to the middleman.

"W. E. ATKINSON.

Triangle Opposes Move men: lving to yours of recent date, we have decided on bookings, feeling that each exhibitor should be book separately and not through an agency as has always been our policy.

"PERCY L. WATERS.'

Distributors' Division of the National Association has heard the views of practically all of the leading producing and booking companies as to their attitude regarding selling to booking companies. In practically all instances the distributors reiterated their position which was first published in S DAILY on July 12 by saying they will not sell to booking companies and favor dealing directly with exhibitors.

The views of the distributors were secured after several days were held, when booking companies and especially the one of the National Booking Co. were discussed.

O. Schwalbe, one of the officials of National Booking, asked whether National Booking could not make any statement regarding the views of the distributors, said: "I can't understand what all the fuss is about. National Booking is simply an agency. We will book only to those who are interested, and if later it is decided to book to others, that will be a matter to be disposed of at that time. That is all there is to it."

The views of the various companies, as forwarded to Percy L. Fox, Chairman of the Distributors' Division are as follows:

Statement from F. P. L. Mr. Waters: We have always been opposed to our product through booking, and we see no reason why we have our policy at this time. We are Justice to the exhibitor and the public, but we will not sell our product to the theater owner or to the middleman.

"W. E. ATKINSON.

Triangle Opposes Move men: lving to yours of recent date, we have decided on bookings, feeling that each exhibitor should be book separately and not through an agency as has always been our policy.

"PERCY L. WATERS.'

Distributors' Division of the National Association has heard the views of practically all of the leading producing and booking companies as to their attitude regarding selling to booking companies. In practically all instances the distributors reiterated their position which was first published in S DAILY on July 12 by saying they will not sell to booking companies and favor dealing directly with exhibitors.

The views of the distributors were secured after several days were held, when booking companies and especially the one of the National Booking Co. were discussed.

O. Schwalbe, one of the officials of National Booking, asked whether National Booking could not make any statement regarding the views of the distributors, said: "I can't understand what all the fuss is about. National Booking is simply an agency. We will book only to those who are interested, and if later it is decided to book to others, that will be a matter to be disposed of at that time. That is all there is to it."

The views of the various companies, as forwarded to Percy L. Fox, Chairman of the Distributors' Division are as follows:

Statement from F. P. L. Mr. Waters: We have always been opposed to our product through booking, and we see no reason why we have our policy at this time. We are Justice to the exhibitor and the public, but we will not sell our product to the theater owner or to the middleman.

"W. E. ATKINSON.

Triangle Opposes Move men: lving to yours of recent date, we have decided on bookings, feeling that each exhibitor should be book separately and not through an agency as has always been our policy.

"PERCY L. WATERS.'
Oppose Combines
(Continued from Page 2)

using company in good faith withdraws its support from all booking agencies however dis~usted, and adds that to determination in both letter and spirit.

I am obliged to bring up this question because you have forced the same upon me by your letter of July 20.

As regards any new enterprise of the nature of this, I beg to advise you that our exchanges in the industry have always maintained that there are two directions in which our interests are to be made with any agency representing any theater or group of theaters, and that pictures are to be rented solely and directly to the individual theaters exhibiting such pictures.

In other words, while we regard the booking agency as one of the greatest evils with which the industry is confronted today, so long as our competitors recognize the agencies above referred to and deal with them, either as such or on the ground that they have an ownership or control interest in the enterprise, we shall be obliged to protect our own interests by doing likewise.

LEWIS INNERA ~

Realart

Dear Sir:

There is only one question for either an exhibitor or a distributing organization to take with respect to group bookings. Realart declines such bookings on the following grounds:

1. They would increase the cost of pictures to exhibitors.

2. They would inject into the business a commission merchant who is an unnecessary factor and whose purpose it is to collect toll both from exhibitors and distributors.

3. They would tend to force the exhibitor and distributor apart and to prevent solidarity in the industry.

4. They would check competition between distributors and deprive the exhibitor of detailed information which he should have with respect to the various propositions available.

5. They would give to one man or one small group of men an unfair advantage over competing exhibitors; no one else would profit anything.

6. They would open wide the way for secret agreements and understandings with the persons controlling the booking combination, enabling them to exact or to receive tribute for unfair exercise of their influence with exhibitors.

7. They would allow a clique to dictate theater policies and so reduce other exhibitors to the status, virtue of which is control of a large group of theaters; conversely, they would result in the signing away by the exhibitor, without any financial return, of rights of the most important part of his own business.

8. They would encourage neglect in securing the front end of the print — the booking by the agent — and the booking agent would be the factor catered to and satisfied.

9. They would insure discrimination in every issue involving priority which might arise in the territory, the booker and his friends, of the front end advantage.

10. They would tend to deprive the exhibitor of the freedom which he now has with respect to changes in line-up and program, because he would easily be able to favor the distributor whose service the exhibitor desired to discontinue.

12. They would often impose upon the exhibitor the necessity of going on his knees to the booker in order to obtain the rights which would be his without contract if no contract was signed in his own name.

13. They would make the business of a whole group of exhibitors essential to the business of the booker, with probable corresponding neglect of the affairs of the individual exhibitor.

14. They would be a confession of the inability of the exhibitor to conduct his own affairs as well as some one else could conduct them.

Reduced to its elemental factors, Realart's objection to group booking is based upon the belief that it would destroy the intimate personal relationships which has been established between this concern and its customers. Realart's success has been built upon this basis. We believe development of this principle is fundamental to the industry that the normal tendency is toward the strengthening of individual relationships, and that any enemy to furtherance of this policy should be strongly opposed by distributors as well as by exhibitors. For these reasons Realart declines to sign contracts with intermediaries.

We are frank to say that we are much more impressed by the individual appeals and arguments of our customers than we possibly could be by the formal demands of a more or less disinterested third party.

JOHN S. WOODY

Selznick Statement

Dear Mr. Waters:

I am in receipt of yours of July 20 asking me to advise you as to the policy of Select Pictures Corp. and Republic Distributing Corp. with reference to group bookings of our products with booking agencies in the United States.

We will positively not book our productions in that manner. We will do business direct with the individual exhibitor.

LEWIS J. SELZNICK.

Associated First National

Dear Mr. Waters:

We do not believe that distributors have any right or any special privilege in this industry which entitles them to dictate in any manner to any distributor of films. Our personal opinion expressed in response to the request in your letter July 20th.

Distributors are, to use a pet phrase: 'a necessary evil,' and the fact that they are essential to the industry makes it imperative that they should be fair and assume and maintain a policy of square dealing with producers and exhibitors. There are no forces of the motion picture business which can be considered a vital part of the industry with the exception of producers and exhibitors.

The distributors' efforts to protect exhibitors without interference or objection the same rights to co-operate for their own booking or in any other way they deem necessary, as they, the distributors, take in collective actions on various matters of mutual interest, and the same attitude should prevail towards producers.

Six directors can get together and form an organization for their mutual interests in every particular. There is no reason apparent to me why six exhibitors, or more than six exhibitors, should not join hands for mutual protection.

Before definite action could be taken by Associated First National Pictures to arrive at a conclusion concerning any booking plan, it first would be necessary to have a decision on the subject by the Executive Committee, and I feel quite confident that the Executive Committee would decide every individual booking plan or booking arrangement of Associated First National Pictures fairly and justly on its own merits rather than attempting to deal with the matter in a general way.

J. D. WILLIAMS

Universal Film

Dear Mr. Waters:

The following cablegram explains itself:

Paris, July 22nd, 1920. Universal Film Manufacturing Co., and the Universal Film Sales Corp., are not under any circumstances, supply product to any of the booking agencies now being formed throughout the country.

CARL LEMMLE:
"H. M. BERMAN."

Associated Producers

T. B. Warren, general manager of Associated Producers, said yesterday that any such company as the Associated Producers, a member of the Association said yesterday:

Without regard for any other companies' position we announced two months ago that Associated Producers would not book through or be a part of any booking office organization. I know it is unusual in the picture business for companies' statements to be delivered for or by exhibitors to take any distributors words at par, but exhibitors will find Associated Producers keeping their word and agreements.

United Artists Corp.

Hiram Abrams, president of United Artists in a statement to WID'S DAILY regarding the booking of pictures through booking agencies said:

"The productions of the United Artists Corp. will be rented only through its own sales organizations; no outside exchange, circuit or booking agency will in any way be concerned in the handling of its product."

Cohen Silent

Sydney S. Cohen, president of the Metropolitan Motion Picture Co., for the nation, America, would not comment on the matter yesterday, merely stating that he preferred to say nothing at this time.

Coast Brevities

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—Geo. Proctor has a been selected by Nazimova to play the leading male role in her forthcoming Metro production, "Madame Peacock."

Ann May has been engaged by Reginald W. Enfield for a role in his new picture, tentatively called, "The Other Wife."

The production of "The Furniture," directed by Wm. D. Taylor, has completed at the Famous-Players Lasky studio.

Filming of "Hell's Oasis," starring Neil Hart, has begun at the Bachman Studio, Glendale.

"The Big Show," a Chester con-edy, portraying circus life, has been completed, William S. Campbell.

Winthrop Kelly has arrived from New York to direct a company under the personal supervision of Maurer, Turner for Associated Producers.

After eighteen days on the sun baked plains of the Mojave, Harry A. Auer, his director, and all the actors, except the author H. Herbert Kriks, have returned to Universal City to film interiors for "Sundown Slim."

Filming of the first scenes of the new Douglas MacLean comedy, "Johnny Comes Marching Home," started at the Ince studios, under the direction of Jack Nelson.

Agnes Christine Johnstone, popular authoress of a number of recent Thomas H. Ince successes, has been working long enough to write that she will return to the Ince studios about the first of September to continue her original and continuities for the Ince studios.

John Griffith Wray, new Thos. Ince director, who completed the coming Ince-Vance special, "The Revel," has migrated to San Diego, California, where he will stage several new productions for the Wra Bissac Stock Co., in which his wife, Virginia Bissac, is starred.

William Orlamond, who played important part in support of Madam Nazimova in "Aladdin," has been cast to play in her new Metro production, "Madame Peacock."

Wallace MacDonald is the fifth member of the cast selected to play Victor Buna in "Cocoon Twain," Mr. MacDonald will play the lead. Dallas Fitzgerald was cast.

Viola Dana has returned from a vacation in Northern California and is now preparing to work on "Pot of Violets" in "Cocoon Twain," an original story by Luti Reed, which Dallas Fitzgerald directs.

G.A.S.M.A.
New Theaters

Houses Planned
Bridgewater, Tex.—W. F. Box and associates secured ground floor of Iowa Bldg. Will remodel into theater.

Stratford, Conn.—Harry Feldman and Samuel Butler to build on Dayton property, leased for ten years.

Manchester, N. H.—Capitol Theater Co. to build.

Houses Completed
Osage City, Kas.—William Coding $50,000.

Holyoke, Mass.—James H. Baker to build Strand.

Delzer, Colo.—Louis Sierer Co $100,000.

Springfield, O.—Regent, Gus Sun scheduled to open August 16.

Guilford, Conn.—Episcopal Parish to use former Third Congregational Church as picture house, under its auspices.

Pecos, Texas—J. Carragen's new house, almost ready. It represents an expenditure of about $150,000.

Northampton, Mass.—Cos mi an Hall, formerly a church, opened as picture house by Florence Amusement Co.

Baltimore, Md.—RealArt, Levin Bros., 400 seats, opened.

New York—Morris Porsodi to build at 117 E. 115th St. $100,000.

Larchmont, N. Y.—Edward F. Albee to build on newly acquired site.

Shenandoah, Pa.—Strand, Alfred Gottseman, opened July 6.

Portsmouth, N. H.—To build house for Army at Fort Constitution for $11,982.

Baltimore, Md.—RealArt, Irwin and Jack Levine, opened.

Aledo, Ill.—J. C. Mays' new house to open within fortnight.

Wilmingon, Del.—Park, West End Amusement Co., to open.

Ranger, Texas—Temple, Southern Enterprises of Dallas, opened.

Hartford, Conn.—Capitol, S. Z. Poli almost finished.

Selznick Sets Four Fall Releases
Elaine Hammerstein in "The Daughter Pays," and "The Point of View," Ralph Ince's "Red Foam" and an all star cast in "Wilderness Fear" have been set as fall releases by Selznick.

Cut and Flashes

Louise Lovely has started work on her first starring vehicle for Fox, "The Little Grey Mouse."

The next special production produced for Fox by Richard Stanton is entitled "The Face at Your Window."

Clarkson Miller, formerly Hallmark Scenario editor is now editor-in-chief of the scenario department of the Walker Whiteside Productions.

Selznick releases "Panthea," the Norma Talmadge revival this week.

Eugene O'Brien has completed scenes for "The Thug," the H. H. Van Loan story, in which he will star for Selznick.

Pantages' Opening Aug. 28
Toronto—This city's new million dollar Pantages Theater will open on Saturday, Aug. 28, playing a six act bill and feature photoplays. A delegation of New York managers and representatives will attend the opening. The seating capacity is 3,000.

N. E. Miller of New York is to be the resident manager.

Fred Schaefer
(Vitagraph)
Continuity & Titles
Continuity: "The Sea Rider."

Producers!

Make your pictures at
UNIVERSAL CITY
Near Hollywood and Los Angeles

An entire city dedicated to the production of motion pictures, housing in one plant the most complete all-around equipment necessary for the production of perfect photographs.

Area—nearly 500 acres of land, situated between the Hollywood and the Sierra Madre Mountains, with a splendid variety of beautiful natural scenery; lake, mountains, and plains.

Six covered stages over 1000 feet long and 50 to 100 feet wide, the greatest covered stage area of any studio in the world. Complete electrical equipment securing every modern effect.

Large stocks of furniture, wardrobe, and props, at the disposal of tenants.

Permantent streets of New York, Arizona, Mexico, Paris, Constantinople, Tokyo, Canada, Spain and Colonial Style.

A regular theatre with fully equipped stage.

Our studio is constantly used by the largest producers. During the last year the following have used and are still using our facilities:

Maurice Tournier,
Paramount-Lasky,
Goldwyn,
Vitagraph,
Metro,
Ascher Enterprises,
Edgar Lewis,
Kearns,
James Oliver Curwood,
Samuelson Co., Ltd., England,
Fox Studio,
Regent Bronston,
Katherine MacDonald,
J. D. Hampton,
B. B. Hampton,
Haworth Picture Corp.,
Christie Comedies,
Rem Wilson Productions,
McCarthy Productions,
Numa Picture Corp.

Apply to MR. SIGMUND MOOS, Manager Leasing Department at Universal City, California, or UNIVERSAL FILM MFG CO., 1600 Broadway, New York City.
DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 21

"IN THE BALANCE"

with Earle Williams and Grace Darmond

PAUL SCARDON

Directed It

And also

"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"

with Blanche Sweet

Now directing

BESSIE BARRISCALE

Meighan Leaves for Soast

Thomas Meighan leaves for the coast today, having completed "The Frontier of the Star" under the direction of Charles Maigne. In Hollywood he will work in "Easy Street."

Metro Buys Williams Story

Metro has purchased "Barbe John's Boys," a novel by Ben Antes Williams published in Munsey's recently.

Consider New Operators' Scale

Cleveland, O.—The new wage scale presented by the Operators' Union is to go into effect August 19, is now under consideration by the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Asso. Under the present two years agreement, expiring Aug. 19, operators receive from $26.60 to $44 a week. The Union divides the houses into three classes Class A, those charging $.15 or under, a rate of $.15 an hour is asked. Class B, houses, charging $.15 to $.25 are asked to pay $.10 an hour, and for those in Class C, charging $.25 or over, a rate of $.15 is requested.

Utica House Closes

Utica, N. Y.—De Luxe has been closed.

Moeller Appointed Manager

Detroit, Mich.—Albert J. Moeller has been appointed manager of the Michigan Exhibitors' League. He is well known in exhibitor circles.

Table Sunday Show Order

Brockton, Mass.—The City Council has tabled the resolution to go or record in favor of Sunday shows.

House Changes

North Attleboro, Mass.—Elm Amusement Co. bought Sharkey.

Connelsville.—David Wertheimer bought Colonial.

Lassen, Cal.—Red River Lumber Co. bought Orpheum.

Arlington, Texas.—J. M. Reynolds bought house.

Jacksonville, Texas.—Ross S. Dorbandt, Dorbandt, bought Park.

Murphysboro, Ark.—Muriel W. Williams bought Gem.

Cleburne, Texas.—Southern Enterprises bought Rux.

Kansas City, Mo.—H. Radford has been added to the sales force of Richards and Flynn.

Leonard, Texas.—W. T. McQuade bought partner's interest in National.

Screenplay Office for Shanghai

J. F. Newman, who has been appointed representative of Screen plays Prod. Inc. for Eastern Asia has left to establish an office in Shanghai.

Ritchey Suiting Hallmark

The Ritchey Lithographing Corp. has filed judgment for $5,980.48 against Hallmark Pictures Corp.

Hampton Film in East

Hope Hampton's next production will be made in the East.

Reid at Work

Wallace Reid's next production for Famous Players will be "Always Audacious." James Cruze will direct.

Well with Hodkinson

Richard Well, formerly associated with Selznick and Robertson-Cole, is now with the Hodkinson organization. He will assist George Gallup, director of advertising and publicity.

Weisman With A. P.

Alex Weisman will cover New York State for Associated Producers, under supervision of Marx Nathan, local branch manager.

A sketch from one of the new Animated Cartoon Comedies, "The Gumps," now appearing on the screens of the leading theaters throughout the country.—Advt.

Putting It Over

Philadelphia, Pa.—While a number of local houses were playing "The Man Who Lost Himself," a William Faversham impression contest was staged in several Pennsylvania newspapers with favorable results. Film fans in large numbers sent in letters explaining their impressions and interest was thus aroused in the picture.

Syracuse, N. Y.—When Owen Moore appeared in "The Desperate Hero" at the Top, A large red, white and blue banner bearing the following inscription was put up: "You don't have to be a desperate hero to join the Army. You can learn, earn and travel without getting into troubles that Owen Moore did as The Desperate Hero." Twenty full one-sheets were used by the Army Recruiting station and Army trucks were placarded with similarly worded messages. To follow up these stunts, a tall man was engaged, dressed in white clothes, given a tin automobile about 14 inches long and told to parade about town pulling it and giving a sign advertising the fact that he was desperate and would auction the little vehicle off at the top.

Larkin in Town

George Larkin is in New York making arrangements for production of the first Frances Edmond production.

Augusta, Me.—Black and Churchi Theaters of Rockland. $50,000. A Fred S. Black, Ida H. Bokes an Beecher Churchill.

4 A WEEK

COMEDYART

In such demand that those who fail to arrange starting dates NOW must forever forfeit their contract.

SUNSET-BURRU-SCENIC-STORIES

Built by a real artist with the co-operation of the greatest out-of-doors magazine and U. S. Government.

CLAYPLAY PRODUCTIONS

A single reel comedy in a class by itself. A cross between an animated cartoon and a character comedy.

These three weekly releases are the pick of offerings. Every show needs a "Special." See the "Special" representative in your exchange city.

SPECIAL PICTURES CORPORATION

H. W. Hollman Bldg.

LOS ANGELES

MANY STARS, with a keen eye to the value of their vehicles, are every day calling on us for material. "The play's the thing" the star must have! We have reputation-making stories by writers whose reputations are made!
L. XIII  No. 34
Wednesday, August 4, 1920
Price 5 Cents

“I’m Sorry”

It’s regrettable to report that D. W. Griffith yesterday was summoned from location in response to a long distance call from his office.
Griffith is seriously hurt while shooting exteriors in Connecticut. His office hadn’t heard anything at the matter and when John was reached at the studios in Connecticut he said that he had heard that Mr. Griffith at W. Smith’s summer home at Farg ton, Conn., was seriously hurt.

It was learned at the Smith house that Mr. Griffith was not there at the time of the incident. Farmington was then reached and Mr. Griffith summoned from Long Island, New York, to say that he was perfectly all right and wasn’t up to anything at all.

Mr. Griffith said he was shooting scenes for a new comedy of which it did not care to divulge at this time.

Stars Out Spot Lighted

Doug and Mary and Norma Tal
d and Muster Norma, otherwise
Schenck in a show Monday.

Doug was called on to make a speech. But this was poorly received by the audience of the spot light man and full light was thrown for a long time on the smiling, the embarrassed honesty of Joe Schenck.

Doug and Mary leave today for the summer.

Have you made up your mind who will play the Ben Tawel in the new film?
Quite interesting, don’t you think?

And were you a child when you first saw it?

Mrs. Chaplin Seeks Separation

Los Angeles—Harris Chaplin has filed suit for separation from Charlie Chaplin alleging cruelty.

Mrs. Chaplin is in New York, stop ping at the Chatham Hotel. She will stay here for several months and make one picture in the east.

Sperc’l Signs Conklin

Special Pictures Corp., distributors of the Comedyart, Sunset-Burrud and Chapley Prod., have signed Chester Conklin to make 12 two-reel comedies.

Special Pictures plan to back the Conklin comedies with an extensive exploitation campaign and will inaugurate a drive to put the new series over.

Eugene Gaudio Dead

Los Angeles—Eugene Gaudio, one of the best known cameramen in the business and a member of the American Society of Cinematographers, died Sunday morning at the Angelus Hospital. Gaudio was taken ill with appendicitis and was operated on immediately.

Irvin V. Willat, has completed his first independent production, “Down Home,” which will be released by Hodkinson in October.

Can’t Dodge Issue

Says Hodkinson Relative to Selling Booking Combines

“I have been much interested at the willingness with which executives in charge of producer controlled distribution systems have gone on record in effect that they would not deal with organizations of exhibitors who wish to book pictures collectively.” says W. W. Hodkinson.

“This is naturally to be expected because of the ease with which a producer group in control of distribution can keep out either independent and unprotected individual exhibitors.
They naturally will not help him gain strength with which to defeat their own selfish aims.

On the other hand, it is to be expected that exhibitors suffering under producer domination will utilize the strength of such organizations ruthlessly and without regard to the rights of the producer and there will probably be no choice of methods between the individual exhibitor in the hands of the producer or the producer in the hands of the organized exhibitors.

More and more forcibly are we seeing the point which I have been making for years past and which my organization is designed to meet — that is the necessity of a distributing organization free from the dom-imination of either producer or exhib-tion and that can deal with either exhibtors or producers individually or collectively on the merits of each individual case.

We will deal with exhibitor combinations today provided they recognize this fundamental difference between us and their producer enemies and provided we can deal on such a basis as to fully protect the interests of the producer, who have placed their product in our charge. There is no use dodging the issue — until exhibtors and producers can meet on an equitable basis, the process of elimination by destructive methods will go on. Our organization is especially designed to coordinate the interests of a group of exhibitors and a group of producers. Only by such a neutral agency can the relation ship between producer and exhibition be eliminated, and such a coordinated group is bound to take the leadership in this industry.”

Banks Comedies for Federated

Federated Film Exchange of America will distribute as its first series of short subjects 18 Monte Banks comedies produced by Warner Bros. Each comedy will be in two reels.
Putting It Over

Lewiston, Idaho—The manager of the Paramount theater tried something out of the beaten path in the way of exploitation when he played "The Silver Horde." Working upon the always sound idea of giving people something cool to think about during the hot days of summer, the manager secured a typical Alaskan outfit, dogs and a sled guided by a man fully protected by furs against the cold of the "snowy spaces." During the hottest days of the early summer this procession traversed the streets of Lewiston much to the astonishment of the natives. Without going to any great expense, the man stationed his "trains" and in giving his lobby a sufficiently northern atmosphere to carry out the idea, using snow shoes and turf as a basis for the decoration. This exploitation was backed by display advertising in the local paper.

Milwaukee—By arousing the mental reflexes to extreme cold of all prospective patrons who passed his theater or entered its lobby, H. M. Ronda, manager of the Merrill theater, coaxed the people in to see "The Silver Horde" despite the -77 degrees of heat registered by the thermometer. By the simple expedient of decorating his lobby with imitation icicles, snow scenes and a painted waterfall he induced a mental shiver, so to speak, in the brain of the individuals who took a look at his theater.

Rouda hung large imitation icicles from the canopy in front of his theater and over the main entrance placed a panoramic painting of snow-capped mountains and pine trees to a group of Eskimos in the foreground. That promise of comfort and cold was further enhanced by a miniature waterfall, flowing over granite white rocks, erected over the top of the cashier's booth.

A mass of imitation icicles hung from the lobby ceiling and over the entrance to the theater proper was another large painting. It portrayed another expansive snow scene with a fur-clad fisherman driving an Alaskan dog-team. Concocted red and green lights cast an inviting glow over the scene. The lettering advertising "The Silver Horde" ran across the top of the picture.
On Broadway

Strand
Victoria Herbert's "Babies in Toyland" is being presented at the Strand, with a private scene for the benefit of the Heredities. "King Richard's Maze," now in the theater, is a hit. "The Irish Maid," according to one review, "is the most entertaining piece of the night."

Rivoli
The Rivoli is now showing "Robespierre," with a private scene for the benefit of the Heredities. "King Richard's Maze," now in the theater, is a hit. "The Irish Maid," according to one review, "is the most entertaining piece of the night."

State Rights Here
A number of Eastern newspapers are calling at the Arrow offices. Among the callers are Harry Hirsch, managing editor of the New York Post; Harry Newman, managing editor of the Evening News; and Robert Rosenthal, managing editor of the New York Times. The New York Daily News, which has been circulating copies of "The Irish Maid," is now showing "Robespierre," with a private scene for the benefit of the Heredities.

New Brighton to Show Films
The New Brighton to Show Films, on Ocean Parkway, Martin Bridge, will show first time picture of the week, with a private scene for the benefit of the Heredities. "The Irish Maid," now in the theater, is a hit. "The Irish Maid," according to one review, "is the most entertaining piece of the night."

Samson on Trip
Chicago—J. Joseph Samson, president of the Film Distributors, is touring the Middle West.

Montreal Men Hopeful
Montreal—Film men here are quite sure that the coming season will prove the most profitable yet in the Province of Quebec. Famous Players' theater here is progressing rapidly and with its completion it is expected that the theater will be the most complete of its kind in the entertainment that a first-class theater has to offer.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—The filming of Ben Anees Williams’ story, “Black Pawlw,” a Goldwyn production, with Russell Simpson in the title role, has been completed. Reginald Barker directed.

After long experience as a leading woman, Helen Jerome Eddy will be put forward as a star by the Smith syndicate, who also are exploiting Zasu Pitts.

Kathleen Kirkham is at Balboa Beach looking over stories for future
productions.

Frank Mayo is shortly to be pre-Parve by Universal in a screen version of “Davey Crockett.”

Work on “The Whistle,” a Wm. S.
Hart production, has started. It was adapted for the screen by Lambert Hillyer from a magazine story written by Ray Whiteman and Olin Lyman. In this story Hart discards his cowboy outfit for that of a factory worker.

Phillip Rosen, president of the American Society of Cinematographers, announces that the members of this association are in no way affilited with any of the labor organizations.

Buster Keaton has completed his second comedy which is titled “Convict 13.” The film has been cut and sub-titled and as in the first comedy Sybil Seely plays opposite Buster, with “Big” Joe Roberts as his test. Eddie Cline directed.

J. G. Hawks, Goldwyn’s scenario writer is taking a vacation at Big Bear Lake.

Virginia Warwick, a former bathing beauty, will have a part in “The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.”

Douglas Gerrard, who is to direct Doradlea in “Passion Fruit,” has returned from Monterey, Cal., where he went to select locations.

Tom Geraghty is now writing the continuity for “All Souls Eve,” Mary Miles Minter’s next Realart produc-

“A Connecticut Yankee in King
Heralds, one-sheets, slides and banners
June 12th, when 18,954 persons paid to see “The Hourglass.”

The best previous record was for the second week ending June 14th, when 25,115 persons paid to enter the theater. Last week’s attendance was 231 greater than during the record breaking second week. The total seating capacity of the Criterion is 650.

During the nine weeks’ engagement it is said more than 145,000 persons have paid to see this play.

Salisbury Starts Second Film
(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Monroe Salisbury’s second independent production will be a story by Sarah Waters.

We Will Buy
your NEGATIVES
Address Box F 16 c/o Wids
International Exhibit

To Open Next Week—First Big Foreign Show since Beginning of Great War

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Amsterdam, Holland—Plans are being set for the opening of the International Cinema Exhibition Aug. 12, this is the first big foreign event in decades for the opening of the International Cinema Exhibition Aug. 12, and we had previously reported that various German producers, such as the U. P. A., Decla, and A. E. G., and others will exhibit in a separate section of the hall, whereas French, Italian and English producing con-ratios will be also represented. As the American concerns, Fox Film and Goldwyn will exhibit display pictures of the day in one of the branches of 20th Century-Fox. In the other two branches, Loew's German, H. C. Sohn's German, and Pola will also exhibit pictures. The German stars, Henny Porten and Pola will also exhibit pictures in the German section.

One of the objects of the exhibition will be to bring the producers, exchanges and exhibitors of all countries together with those of the Central Powers so as to get better international understanding.

Famous Players Stated yesterday at John C. Graham, general manager of the English subsidiary would probably attend the exhibit.

Natl Assn. Meeting Sept. 8

William A. Brady has called a meeting of the National Association for the week of Sept. 8, to elect officers for the ensuing year and map plans for 1923.

It's the "weak sisters" and the "fillers" that hurt your business the next week more often than the one capacity day at advanced prices which you generally blame the slump. Play the good ones as long as you can—that's the way to build!

Drops Star System

(Los Angeles—J. L. Frothingham of the B. B. Features, Inc., who until now have been making productions for Robertson-Cole with Bessie Barriscale as star, states that his organization in the future will abandon the star system and make all-star pro-dictions.

Miss Barriscale is now at work on "The Broken Gate," an Emerson Story, and when she finishes this her contract with B. B., will be completed. It is not known what her future affiliation will be:

At Hodkinson it was admitted that the company would distribute "The (Continued on Page 3)

Musicians' Strike in Toronto?

(Los Angeles—The next Mary Pickford subject to be made at the Brunton studios will be started in about two weeks.

Plan Stop-Over in Toronto

(Toronto—Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford will stop over here today en route to California.

Sells Franchise

Tom Moore Disposes of Associated National Franchise to J. D. Williams

Tom Moore of Moore's Theatres, Washington, D. C., admitted yesterday that he had disposed of his Associated National franchise for the District of Columbia territory, which besides the district proper includes Baltimore, part of Maryland and part of Virginia.

Mr. Moore has sold his franchise to J. D. Williams, manager of Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

Mr. Williams confirmed the above, but said nothing as to what had been done or to the future plans of the franchise to someone else.

Koplar Case Hearing

(St. Louis—The Koplar-Famous Players suit will start here on Monday. Koplar is now trying to secure several houses which were originally sold to Famous some time ago, as noted.

Billy Goldman, formerly Koplar's partner, now general manager for Famous for the string, is in New York.

Keith Will Not Produce

Keith, the producer, circulated yesterday that the Keith interests would produce pictures, was denied yesterday by E. F. Albee's office.

Allen Sailing for England

(To be continued on Page 2)

More for Lynch

(Dallas, Texas—Lynch has put up through several more deals according to reports in local film circles. He has taken over a chain operating in Wichita Falls, believed to be the Dye, Ford & Rogers group, the Har-
Among Exchanges

New York—George West of Reelcraft, has left on a lengthy trip during which he plans to cover about 22,000 miles. It will take about three months.

Detroit, Mich.—Frank Gehrdt has been named manager of the Robertson-Cole exchange, succeeding Robert Churchill.

Buffalo—Andy Sharick, exploitation manager for Select for over a year, is now a special exploitation representative for that organization.

Toronto, Canada—Jack Droy has been appointed Western Canadian manager for Canadian Vitagraph. Hitherto, he has been manager of the local Vitagraph exchange.

San Francisco, Cal.—W. A. Mead has been appointed manager of the local Robertson-Cole office. He succeeds W. A. Crank.

San Francisco, Cal.—Herbert H. Meyers, formerly with World is now assistant manager for Republic here.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Hugh Rennie has been appointed manager of the local First National office, succeeding Harry L. Knappen.

Harry Zalkin, receiver of the United Picture Theaters of America, Inc., and the United Picture Prod. Corp., is advertising the sale of the furniture of the theaters corporation to be held at 10:30 o'clock Aug. 12, in the offices of the corporation, 1600 B'way.

Vitagraph has purchased for Alice Joyce "Cousin Kate," by Robert Henry Davies. Ethel Barrymore played the title role on the stage some years ago.

House Changes

Stamford, Conn.—Mrs. Charles D. Voono, Strand, bought Opera House and Arcade Building.

Plymouth, Pa.—Moore and Moss bought Lyric.

Paxton, Ill.—Aleru Theater Co. bought Scenic, Bloomingdon and Royal, Minn.ILL.

Managers Changed

Lawton, Okla.—The Orpheum has re-opened under direction of Fred McLenan and Scribe Thompson.

Woodsville, N. H.—The opera house here has re-opened.

Buffalo, N. Y.—The Family has been closed. It will soon be razed to make room for a 10 story of office and theater building which M. Slotkin and associates will erect.

Milwaukee—Edward J. Weisfeld, manager of the Alhambra succeeding George Fischer.

Tarentum, Pa.—Irwin Zwerling bought Star from J. J. Page.

Warsaw, Ind.—E. G. Hauanay bought Strand from James Bouras.

Paul Cazeneuve, who recently finished work on "Her Honor The Mayor" in which Eileen Percy makes her stellar debut under the Fox banner, is working on an original story which will be the basis for an elaborate special production to be made under his direction early this fall.

The Strand will show "What Women Love," with Annette Kellerman, next week.

There is as much difference between an ordinary poster and a RITCHETY poster as there is between a tack hammer and a pile driver.

RITCHETY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 6388

The one & only "Ambrose"

RUBEN & FINKELSTEIN
When you see Jan Perry's new two reel Mark Twain Comedy you'll want to open your new Capitol Theatre.

State Right
One a Month

EVERY DAY THROUGHOUT THE COMING YEAR EXHIBITORS AND EXECUTIVES EVERYWHERE WILL BE USING

Wid's 1920 Year Book
—Coming Soon—
Mayflower Men in Town

Wright In Again
Will Have Active Part in Jensen &
Von Hess's New Exhibitor Organization

(A wire to WID'S DAILY)

Seattle—H. B. Wright, formerly secretary of the Northwest Exhibitors Circuit is secretary of the new Independent Exhibitors Corp., recently formed, as noted, by Jensen & Von Hess, Inc., and will head their productions.

Wright resigned from the Northwest circuit after a number of fines were imposed on members of the circuit for violating rules of the organization. He had not particularly popular, so it is said, by some of the leaders of the movement because of certain letters and orders which he issued regarding distributors and producers, some of which found their way in print.

It is said that the new organization is trying to secure stock outstanding of the old Northwest circuit.

Not Brunton Stars
The following letter has been received from Lewis Inerarity, secre-ary of the Pathé exchange:

"I beg to call your attention to a statement appearing in your issue of Saturday, July 31st, to the effect that Miss Ruth Roland will star in certain pictures for Robert Brunton during the coming fall, and that Charlie Hutchison will do likewise.

"Both Miss Roland and Mr. Hutchison are under long-term contracts.

"Both Miss Roland and Mr. Hutchison are under long-term contracts.

"We have arranged with Mr. Brunton to make productions for this company in which Miss Roland and Mr. Hutchison will appear."
DO YOU REMEMBER
No. 22

"THE OTHER MAN"

with Harry T. Morey
and Grace Darmond

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It

And also “Partners of the Night’
and ‘Milestones’

For Goldwyn

Gina Relly Sails
Gina Relly, who was brought to this country to play the featured feminine role in “The Face At Your Window,” an Americanization play showing the menace of the spread of Bolshevism which Richard Stanton recently finished for Fox, sailed last Saturday for a six-weeks’ vacation in England and Southern France.

Before she left, Mlle. Relly authorized Merritt Crawford to conclude negotiations which she had begun with a firm of independent producers to star in a big dramatic production this fall.

Legend Film Plans Comedies
The Legend Film Co., which announces its intention of specializing in original two-reel comedies featuring John Junior and Edna Shipman, will commence operations upon the return of Edna Shipman from Winnipeg, where she is working in “The Foreigner” under the direction of Henry MacRae.

Miss Shipman is a niece of Ernest Shipman.

A. P. Move Into New Quarters
Associated Producers, Inc., have moved from their temporary location on the 10th floor of the Godfrey Bldg. to the fifth floor of the same building.

Pending the taking over of the entire floor, the New York exchange in charge of Mars S. Nathan, and the Newark exchange, in charge of John G. Robins, will remain on the tenth floor.

New Unit Formed on Coast
(by wire to WDF’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Irving V. Lesser, general manager of a new company known as the Western Pictures Explotation Co., which will assist local producers in arranging for distribution and in generally exploiting their product.

Irvig is a brother of sol Lesser.

King Baggot plays a part in “The Dwelling Place of Light,” which Hodkinson will release in September.

Putting It Over
Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show up. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

Those exhibitors who have booked Will Rogers in “Cupid, the Cowpuncher,” will be particularly interested in learning just how S. L. Rothafel created the “atmosphere” which put the picture over at the Capitol.

Against a background drop announcing Will Rogers in the piece, Rothafel placed four men (in this instance the members of the Capitol Theater Quartette) dressed in cowboy costume. They were gathered at the left of the stage where the subdued stage lighting was tinged with a reddish glow to give the impression of a camp fire. Another cowboy gave a rope dance in imitation of the larat-throwing star of the film who is called upon in the picture to give an exhibition of fancy rope dancing.

After the rope-dance was finished and the dancer of the stage, the cowboys around the camp fire sang “In the Shade of the Old Appletree,” the very song which Will Rogers, in the person of “Cupid” Lloyd in the picture, sings.

The softness and glow of the lighting, the singing of the old ballad and the rope-dance served to put the spectators into a psychologic frame of mind to enjoy “Cupid, the Cowpuncher,” even though Rogers’ comedy was flashed upon the screen immediately afterwards.

OMAHA—The hottest of midsummer weather in July couldn’t keep the Omaha artists from bursting out into full page, even double-page spreads of advertisements. The Moon, showing “The Slim Princess” and “Behind the Screen,” sponsored a full page of advertisements by Omaha merchants, showing women in front of various Omaha stores. The pictures were taken at random, then sold to the merchants in a double advertisement with women whose pictures appeared were invited to come to the Moon and get free tickets for a box party of five.

The Strand, featuring “Let’s Be Fashionable,” stood for it when an advertising man of the Omaha Bee went out and got two full pages of advertisements. “Let’s be fashionable by purchasing a home,” said the loan and building association. “Let’s be fashionable and beautiful on home grounds,” says a landscape gardener. “Let’s be fashionable and shop at Orin Brothers,” says a big exclusive shop for women. A jeweler, an automobile dealer, a piano firm and a store for men, filled out the two pages.

Such feature pages of advertisements are usual in Omaha in season, this is the first time they have been attempted in the middle of the summer.

Seattle, Wash.—Contests of various sorts have been held to exploit pictures, but John Von Herberg of the Liberty pulled one recently that set the town talking and won the admiration of picture people as well because of its novelty. In conjunction with the showing of a Wesley Barry film, released by First National, a “freckles” contest was held. A sum of $20 was offered to the boy who could show more freckles than the youthful screen performer. About 140 youngsters appeared before Herbert and several were quite capable of beating Barry. The king of them all was selected, given the bill and then all of the boys were asked to take part in a parade. They were advertised to see the film while the boys cashed in on the publicity.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—T. H. Schrader, manager of the Columbia, believes that lobby displays help in exploitation, but does not make them too elaborate as a rule. His reason is that people who come near enough to the house to see the lobby display will usually enter anyhow.

OMAHA, Neb.—Showing “The Slim Princess,” the Moon theater placed a pair of scales on the front of the entrance and offered a free admission to anyone weighing more than 250 or less than 98 pounds.

Carry Censorship Editorial
Atlanta, Ga.—An editorial about a column long was recently published in the Journal opposing censorship. It was given the position of prominence on the editorial page.

Colton Coming East
John Colton, the Universal scenarist who wrote “The Cat That Walked Alone,” for Priscilla Dean, has left Los Angeles to discuss with William A. Brady the production of a Chinese play in which Alice Brady will star.

Burrows Leaves Dayton Theatre
(Special to WDF’S DAILY)
Dayton, O.—Gil Burrows has signed as manager of the Auditorium which was recently taken over by Ascher Bros. and Goldwyn, than Erber succeeds Burrows.

La Porte, Ind.—Reddington Potties, Etropol to build $90,000ater.

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

“CLAYPLAY”
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

“COMICCLASSICS”
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scene
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life" & "Bringing Up Father"

Special Pictures Cor
F. P. Not in Control
Of Saenger, Gueringer Tells Dallas
Paper Regarding Lynch-Fichter
Deal

(Special to WID's DAILY)
Dallas—The Motion Picture Journal, which originally printed the article relative to the purchase of S. A.
Lynch and therefore Famous Players-into Saenger Amusement reprints in its current issue a letter from W. H.
Gueringer, assistant general manager of Saenger, quoting the report. The letter says:
"We wish to set you right on the 'moonbeam' story contained in your issue of June 22nd, wherein you state the control of the Saenger Amusement Co. has passed into the hands of the Famous Players-Lasky organitation.
"We also want to set you right on the startling news that E. V. Richards, general manager, has moved to New York to take up the duties of Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Associated First National Pictures."

(Continued on Page 3)

Coast Plant for International
Service
(Continued on Page 4)

Los Angeles—International Film
Service, producers of Cosmopolitan Prod., have taken over the American Film studios at Santa Barbara.

International admitted yesterday that Marion Davies would finish
"Buried Treasure" at the Santa Barbbara studios and take some scenes for "The Love Piker" there. She will then return to New York to film
"The Daughter of Mother Magee."

Griffith Opening Aug. 23
"Way Down East" will open at the 44th St. Theater on Aug. 23. The picture is in 12 reels and a special musical score has been arranged.

The Griffith offices stated yesterday that Mr. Morgan婶societv leader, had not signed a film contract with any company as reported, and that her first appearance will be in "Way Down East."

Future Griffith Productions
(Special to WID's DAILY)
Los Angeles—A local publication states that D. W. Griffith has planned for future production two stories by Joseph Heresheimer, "Java Head" and "Wild Oranges."

Mr. Grinnin has held the rights to "Wild Oranges" for over a year. It was stated yesterday at the local Griffith offices that Richard Barthelman was anxious to appear in "Java Head" as his first starring vehicle.

The biggest and brainiest ex-tatives in the world hire ad-tising brains in order to get selling ideas. Why shouldn't you—you need them!
Northwest Notes

(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Seattle—Leland J. Burrid, photographer of the Sunset-Burlud Pictorial, spent last week in Seattle, after returning from a leisurely trip into the Inside Passage to Alaska. He made the trip in company with Stewart Edward White and Wallace Irwin in a private yacht.

J. Willis Cayre, in charge of publicity for the Jensen and Von Herberg houses in Seattle, has gone on a motoring trip to California. During his four weeks absence his work is being attended to by G. H. Belfman, editor of the motion picture section of the Times. Mr. Belfman himself expects to leave for his annual trip to the motion picture capital in a few weeks.

The Greater Features Co. of Seattle have recently made the following purchases for the Pacific Northwest territory: The serial, “The Lost City,” the Al St. John comedies, Will Rogers’ Illiterate Digest, the Hank Mann comedies, a number of features, and the serial “The Tiger Band,” which will follow “The Lost City.”

Louisiana Exhibitors Meet Aug.
New Orleans—A. J. Bethanco has issued a call to Louisiana exhibitors to meet at the Hotel Gruenew Aug. 10 and 11. This exhibitor organization is the Motion Picture Theater Owners.

The RITCHEY poster is a poster with a purpose, and that purpose is to sell tickets.

RITCHEY LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 3338

INSURANCE EXPERTS
TO THE THEATRICAL AND MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY FOR THE PAST 20 YEARS. "ASK ANY PRODUCER."

Did you ever hear of “Insurance Service?” Well, that’s what we have to offer. Can we explain further how we can serve you—

Reuben Samuels
EAL INC SERVICE
1600 Broadway, New York
Phone John 5425 - 5426 - 5427 - 5428

STUDIO FOR RENT
40 minutes from Times Sq. Complete modern lighting equipment. Electrician and carpenter in attendance. Up-to-date scenery, modern sets, props, etc. For rent by day or week. Apply to
Mr. Goldstein
UNIVERSAL
1600 Broadway
F. P. Not in Control
(Continued from page 1)

The enclosed letter from Herman Lichtenberg to F. V. Richards, setting Flichtenberg’s position in the matter. We merely changed an inactive partner for an active partner, who acquired a substantial minority of stock.

J. H. Seanger is president, Richards is general manager, with a tree and as in the past, and will remain until the sheriff comes around. Richards, incidentally, is, as usual, signing all contracts.

The Seanger Amusement Co., Inc. will continue to expand bigger than ever, this recent deal enabling it to spread our interests from the Potomac to the Rio Grande.

Mr. Richards maintains a summer home in Atlantic City. This may have caused the sidewalk rumor club, your correspondent, perhaps interviewed. At present he and Mr. Seanger are enjoying an eight week vacation through Europe—their first real rest in ten years.

After Sept. 15 they will return to New Orleans, and will be doing business at the same old stand.

WID’S DAILY published the report of Richards’ coming to New York to become chairman of the board of directors of Associated First National as printed in the Motion Picture Journal. First National made no denial of it at the time of publication.

Quinn Back in Los Angeles
Los Angeles—J. A. Quinn, president of the Motion Picture and Theatrical Cooperative Assn. of the World, is back in town.

Prager Arranging for Studio
Los Angeles—The visit of Benj. A. Prager, president of Mayflower, to the coast is understood to be for the purpose of arranging for studio space for the company’s present and new producing units. It is likely that the Bronston studios will be selected.

Geraghty Coming East for Famous
(From wire to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Tom Geraghty, well known scenario writer, has been appointed production editor for the Famous Players new studios in Long Island City.

At Famous Players the above dispatch was verified. It was further stated that Geraghty will succeed Roswell Dague, who has been production editor until now, but who will go to London with Robert Mac-Alaney.

Abramson at Work

Ivan Abramson is at work on a new feature at the International studios in Harlem. It is called “The Wrong Woman,” and has in the cast Montagu Love, Olive Tell, Willard Lytell, Guy Coombs, Regina Quin and Jack Crosby.

Alder Going to Coast

Bert Adler, newly appointed personal representative for Allan Dwan leaves for California shortly to confer with Dwan on his remaining Mayflower productions as well as those he will make for Associated Producers, Inc. Adler will be in Los Angeles only for several weeks and return immediately to New York.

Chase Narrowly Avoids Death

Boston—Colin Chase, who is playing “Chick” in the Nick Carter series of productions now being made by Broadwell Prod., narrowly escaped death yesterday morning when an aeroplane in which he was riding dropped into the bay near Lynn. The pilot in the machine freed himself and rushed to Chase’s aid. A bad shaking-up was the only result.

Eaton in New Company

Jack Eaton, former managing director of the Strand, is interested in a new company to be formed known as Town and Country Films Inc. The company will make short reels.

Freeman Leaves Today

Y. B. Freeman, general manager of the S. A. Lynch Enterprises, leaves today for Atlanta. Mr. Lynch will remain in New York for the press.

Barrell Addresses Advertisers

Charles Barrell told the A. M. A. yesterday of an 8,000 mile trip which has just completed in Western Canada and the American Northwest. Barrell took scenes for several educational pictures while away.

Sedalia Theater Opens

Sedalia, Mo.—The new Lona theater here opened last night. “One Hour Before Dawn” was the feature.

Because sometimes in the rush under the present methods, the Director is overlooked in exploitation announcement, I wish to call the attention of you who were so appreciative of the Skinner Series made at Essanay, to some of my productions made for Goldwyn:

THIRTY A WEEK
CITY OF COMRADE
ONE OF THE FINEST
LORD AND LADY ALGY
TOBY’S BOW
THE GREAT ACCIDENT
GOING SOME
OFFICER 666
STOP THIEF

CASTING DIRECTORS ARE ALREADY INQUIRING ABOUT

Wid’s 1920 Year Book
—Coming Soon—

HARRY BEAUMONT
THE BROKEN GATE

Mr. Exhibitor:
Joseph Kilgour will play the part of Judge William Henderson.

Wid's Daily

Friday, August 6, 1920

Showdown Coming
(Continued from Page 1)

form.
Executive Committee Members
E. T. Peter, Treasurer, Texas.
Ralph Talbot, President, Oklahoma
Theater Managers' Assn.
J. E. Ritter, President, Michigan
Exhibitors' Assn.
C. L. O'Reilly, New York.

Members
J. T. Collins, President, New Jersey Exhibitors' Assn.
H. C. Bean, President, Motion Picture Theater Owners of New Hampshire.
H. C. Varner, Secretary, North Carolina Exhibitors' Assn.
As soon as they arrive in New York next week Cohen will inform Zukor when and where the meeting will be held. It will be open to representatives of the press.

The correspondence passing between Cohen and Zukor started af-after a statement was issued by the headquarters of Famous Players, and printed in WID's DAILY, to the effect that Mr. Zukor was ready to meet any individual that he denied the alleged threats and accusations of unfair methods used by employees of Famous. And, that stated that his door was open, and that he would personally be glad to investigate any matter that was brought to his attention.

In re-

On Aug. 4, Cohen wrote Zukor, saying:
"Having then a disposition on your part to meet us half way and casting aside for the present at least any doubt as to the good faith of the offer, I believe that the interests of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America and the interests of the whole industry will be well served by a formal declaration of our willingness to accept your offer. You have in the most explicit words, disavowed all responsibility for the offences against the independence of the exhibitor.
You have gone further even by your pledge now that you will personally take up, consider and adjust such grievances as we have time and again submitted to your representatives.

"To show the good faith and the con-clivity spirit of which, under the instructions of the Cleveland Convention I had given such a pointed assurance in my letter, I propose under the authority conferred upon me by the unanimous vote of my fellow exhibitors to appoint a committee of motion picture theater owners which will be thoroughly representative of the exhibiting body of the whole country. I will ask this committee to share the responsibility of discussing and acting upon your declaration. I believe that this committee will be willing, as I know it will be competent, to sit as a board of arbitration, according to you the privilege of proving your sincerity and good faith by appearing before it, conferring with it and I trust in the end cooperating with it. Peace and harmony throughout the various branches of the industry are essential to its prosperity, and its future development, both as an art and as a business.

"If the necessary assurances can be obtained to this effect, backed up by such deeds and pledges as will satisfy the comnitee, it will mean the end of an evil which has cast its shadow over the entire industry and has created conditions of chaos and confusion, postponing economic disaster all around.

"We have specific instances in writing of representatives of your organization threatening and intimidating exhibitors and also similar activities by the associate of the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. in England,
Alfred S. Black, and of the associate of Famous Players-Lasky Corp. in the South,
Mr. S. A. Lynch. We are prepared to meet you and your associates at the earliest pos-bable moment and present these definite and specific facts."

In response Zukor wrote Cohen, saying:
"I agree with you most heartily that the best interests of all of us can be best served by the conference suggested. I shall be very glad indeed to meet your committee at the earliest possible moment. Will you please set a time for the discussion, which I am sure will clear away all difficulties and put

Getting "Humoresque"
(Continued from Page 1)

which would indicate its closing at the Criterion before that time.
Loew will show the film for week stands at the Delancey and Avenue
A theaters, which are in the heart of the East Side. These will run simultaneously.

It was impossible to secure definition yesterday, but it is believed that Loew paid the highest price in his history for "Humoresque."

It was learned that Famous Players will take "Humoresque" out of the Criterion not because the picture is falling down, but because Cecil De Mille's "Something to Think About" and "The Restless Sex" are scheduled for runs there before their release dates.

an end to the arguments that I know have been caused only by misunderstanding and ignorance of our problems.

Yesterday Cohen wrote Zukor, who is in New York, that he is ready to meet him and that the meeting will take place at

365 East 57th Street

Staates will be

Mats, Electrots and Stereos

The Motion Picture Trade
T. Ruben & Co.

2E. 4th St., N. Y.

Phones Spring 8303-8304

The fastest stereotypers in

N. Y. C.

We Will Buy
your NEGATIVES
Address Box F 16 e/o Wids

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICCLASSICS"

1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc.

Special Pictures Corp.
A BARGAIN is a BARGAIN

Mary Manchester shop girl, thought it fair enough when she assumed the identity of her double in return for wealth and social position... But when the widower who passed as her husband demanded her kisses, Mary fought like a tigress.

The story is one of the most unusual ever filmed, & will hold you spellbound from start to finish. It teems with situations of the utmost dramatic intensity.

HELD IN TRUST

starring

MAY ALLISON

Based on George Kibbe Turner's Red Book Magazine powerful serial scenario by Sarah Mason
Directed by John E. Rice

JURY IMPERIAL PICTURES Ltd. Exclusive Distributors throughout Great Britain. Sir WILLIAM JURY Managing Director.
Box Office Value of Famous Titles

The question is often asked, Why does Realart, whenever possible, secure well-known book or stage titles for Star Franchise productions?

The answer to this is not hard to find. Realart has the advertising advantages of famous books and plays constantly in mind. The exploitation opportunities in such billings for live exhibitors are too great and too numerous to be lost sight of. Audiences stand ready to patronize photoplays from popular novels or stage successes, if they are adequately produced. It is just as clear to Realart as it is to the exhibitor that a very large percentage of the people read the best-selling books and most of them see the successful plays.

Therefore, Realart believes that such vehicles, with the added opportunities for exploitation, are most desirable for its Franchise program. But where Realart’s superiority becomes manifest is in its ability to attract a flow of this much desired and over scarce material to its studios. In a play market distinguished by its dullness, Realart has had little trouble in finding an abundance of big book and stage titles to meet its Franchise requirements.

A Branch Office is located in your Territory.

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK
Features Reviewed

King Vidor’s.............. THE JACK KNIFE MAN
First National .............. Page 3

Alice Brady in .............. A DARK LANTERN
Realart ........................ Page 5

Gladys Brockwell in ........... ROSE OF NOME
Fox .......................... Page 7

.................................................. THE INVISIBLE DIVORCE
National Picture Theaters, Inc. ........ Page 9

Edith Roberts in .............. THE ADORABLE SAVAGE
Universal ..................... Page 11

William Russell in .......... THE MAN WHO DARED
Fox .......................... Page 14

Enid Bennett in .............. HAIRPINS
Ince-Paramount-Artcraft ........ Page 15

Elaine Hammerstein in ...... THE POINT OF VIEW
Selznick-Select .............. Page 17

Louise Glaum in .............. LOVE MADNESS
J. Parker Read-Hodkinson ........ Page 19

Buck Jones in ............... THE SQUARE SHOOTER
Fox .......................... Page 21

Short Reels ........................ Page 23

WARNING

When you see an advertisement quoting a review from Wid’s Daily check it up with the review. This may save deception or misunderstanding.

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.

News of the Week in Headlines

Monday

Laboratory strike ends. Joint committee to meet and arrange wage scale.
Advertising matter not included in 5% rental tax. Government decides.

Tuesday

Loew’s, Inc., to offer 288,000 shares of stock at $22.25. New finances to be invested in theaters.
Paul H. Cromelin, president of Inter-Ocean, hits at combinations in the film industry.
Prominent producers and distributors, all members of N. A. M. P. I., go on record as opposing booking agencies.

Wednesday

Ormer Locklear, producing for Fox, killed in airplane accident at Los Angeles.
Special Pictures Corp. signs Chester Conklin for comedy series.

Thursday

International Exhibition, first since the Great War, to open in Amsterdam, Holland, Aug. 12.
Tom Moore disposes of Associated First National franchise for District of Columbia to the circuit.
Bessie Barriscale completes contract with B. B. Features, Inc.
Frances Marion to direct Mary Pickford in two pictures.
S. A. Lynch acquires theater chains in Wichita Falls, Little Rock and El Paso.

Friday

Adolph Zukor agrees to meet committee of exhibitors to go over Famous Players’ theater policy.
Annette Kellerman forms new producing company.
“Way Down East” to open at 4th Street Theater Aug. 23. Twelve reels.

Saturday

W. H. Swanson, First National franchise holder in Salt Lake City, to enter producing field.
Wyoming, South Dakota and Nebraska exhibitors to form one organization.
Charles Maigne to make series of special productions for Famous Players.
YOUTH PREDOMINANT

In A New Series of Special Two Reel
COMEDIES

Presented by LEGEND FILM
PRODUCTIONS, Inc.

Written by
TREVE COLLINS, Jr.

Directed by TEFT JOHNSON

Under the Personal Supervision of WILLIAM BOWEN

Co-Stars
EDNA SHIPMAN
JOHN JUNIOR

LEGEND COMEDIES are synonymous with the highest class screen entertainment. They are BUILT, not thrown together, and depend for their unusually keen and abundant humor upon GENUINELY FUNNY HUMAN situations.
They are made by people who KNOW, for a discriminating public.

LOANED
Edna Shipman has been loaned by Legend Film Productions to the Dominion Film Co., Inc., to play an important part in “The Foreigner” by Ralph Connor.

Legend Film Productions
47 West 42nd Street New York
MISS BARRISCALE'S remarkable character work in this picture will inspire a favorable word-of-mouth comment, far surpassing that created by any of her past productions.

PRODUCED
By
B. B. FEATURES

Directed by WILLIAM CHRISTY CABANNE
YOUR public always pays generously to see a fair, closely-matched battle—and there is tense, red-blooded fight through every reel of this romantic story of new days in old China, with its artistic backgrounds, unsurpassed in any recent production.

The superb acting of the distinguished star, Sessue Hayakawa, will add new laurels and bring new friends to his following.

Produced by HAWORTH
Pretty Story With Delightful Characters Given Wonderful Production

King Vidor's
"THE JACK-KNIFE MAN"
First National

DIRECTOR ...................... King Vidor
AUTHOR ........................ Ellis Parker Butler
SCENARIO BY .................... William Parker
CAMERAMAN .................... Ira Morgan

AS A WHOLE ...... Human and appealing little story given wonderfully realistic production.

STORY ...... Is pretty and has beautiful moral, but only gets beyond prettiness once or twice.

DIRECTION ............ Excellent—characters truly drawn and atmosphere wonderful

PHOTOGRAPHY ........................ Fine
LIGHTINGS .......................... Excellent
CAMERA WORK ...................... Very good
LEADING PLAYERS ............ Fred Turner, Harry Todd and Bobby Kelso very good in distinctive parts.

SUPPORT ...................... Very good
EXTERIORS ...................... Fine Mississippi river stuff
INTERIORS .................. Most realistic

DETAIL .......... Wonderful directorial touches

CHARACTER OF STORY .... Based on theory that contact with a child makes the whole world kin

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ............ 6,900 feet

The play "Lightnin'" which has just rounded out its second year in New York, showed all other producers that a becurled ingenue or a sweet young thing of the drawing room is not essential to the success of a stage piece. Several other speaking productions have followed it, centering their interest on an eccentric male character and have generally met with some success. King Vidor evidently realized the trend of the times when he selected "The Jack-Knife Man," to produce for the screen. There is no ingenue, or heroine to his latest work.

His story, a visualization of one of Ellis Parker Butler's works, has as its chief points of interest, an old man, close to being a fragment of the Mississippi 'po white trash' and a little boy. How the boy awakens within his senior protector a sense of good and of feeling for his fellow-men, makes a story the prettiness of which it is difficult to parallel.

Vidor has given the story a delightful production. The Mississippi river scenes are wonderfully true. The long shots of the house-boat floating down the river are beautifully lighted and photographed. The detail of the interiors is such as to make them the most realistic ever filmed. This production of Vidor's really creates an interest which is about 50 per cent. of that created by the entire picture.

The story is pretty, but somehow it never seems to strike below the surface until the end. It has been press agented as "The Music Master" of the screen which is a comparison bound to bring disappointment. That play strikes to the heart and sets the tear ducts working over-time. "The Jack-Knife Man" contains pretty, even beautiful sentiment, but the moments when it gets under the skin far enough to bring tears are rather sparse.

The performances are all delightful. Fred Turner's characterization of the old man is a rare piece of screen acting. His is a distinct creation, sure to interest and entertain, clever enough to win great approval. Harry Todd as the jovial tramp leaves nothing to be desired. The boy is played realistically by Bobby, Kelso. The scenes between these three are the essence of pretty sentiment. They warm the heart to the core.

By All Means Give This A Trial
Box Office Analysis for The Exhibitor

Mention of "Lightnin'" was made above for a reason. The majority of amusement seekers as the success of this show has well proven, are on the lookout for something different, something away from the cut-and-dried type of entertainment, the usual eternal triangle complication or heavy melodrama.

Now a more deeply appealing picture than "The Jack-Knife Man" might have been made around its theme, but at the same time it remains that this has more distinctive atmosphere, more downright pictorial beauty and pretty sentiment than the majority of pictures released. And it also contains a lovable old man character, something of a third or fourth cousin to the Bill Jones of "Lightnin'" fame.

Considering all these qualities of appeal, it is quite likely that the exhibitor catering to the better class audiences, will be highly praised for showing this. It isn't melodramatic, exciting or sensational. It is the antithesis of all these. It is very human; very much like every-day life. That it might have struck deeper is true, but it strikes home and that it isn't a tear-puller makes little difference. You aren't going to harm yourself by showing this and the chances are about fifty to one that they'll like it and tell you so.
KESSEL & BAUMANN present

The greatest photodrama for matinee and evening business in independent picture history - to be exploited by independent buyers and road showmen with special territorial campaigns warranted by its tremendous drawing power.

Arrangements are now being made with such dealers for

Babe Ruth in Headin' Home

Produced by Yankee Photo Corporation for Release September 20th.

KESSEL & BAUMANN - LONGACRE BUILDING, NEW YORK.
Jumpy Story that Gets All Muddled Up Offers Little Satisfaction

Alice Brady in
"A DARK LANTERN"
Realart

DIRECTOR ...................... John S. Robertson
AUTHOR ......................... Elizabeth Robins
SCENARIO BY .................... Burns Mantle
CAMERAMAN .................... Roy Overbaugh
AS A WHOLE ...... Rather unappealing story—very jumpy and developing what appear to be psychologically false characters.

STORY ...... Jumps around at terrific clip—evidently cutting spoiled continuity—fails to work to any definite climax.

DIRECTION ...... Certainly can't rank with the best things Robertson has done.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Average
LIGHTINGS ........................ Average
CAMERA WORK .......................... Crowds the settings
STAR ...... Doesn't appear to be old self—has lost a lot of weight—wears miserable makeup.

SUPPORT .................. Average; headed by James L. Crane
EXTERIORS ....................... Satisfactory
INTERIORS ...................... Satisfactory
DETAIL ............................ All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Heroine renounces prince who offers her morganatic marriage and gives herself to upright hero.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 5,956 feet

Both Alice Brady and Realart have done 100 per cent. better than this. "A Dark Lantern," (the very weak interpretation of this title, meaning the heroine's first impression of the hero’s face), is lacking in story and character appeal and presents a terribly jumpy continuity, some of the jumps of which were doubtless caused by rather reckless editing.

The picture goes on its jumping way until Katherine, an English girl, has renounced the love of Prince Anton, of our dear old mythical kingdom, because he has insulted her with an offer of morganatic marriage.

One of the grounds on which he excuses himself is that such marriages were once in style in the heroine's country. The prince is a bit off on his facts as modern history records such a situation in her country.

The prince's proposition and the death of Katherine's father precipitates a nervous breakdown and the girl is attended by Dr. Garth Vincent, a cynic toward women. He falls in love with her, but refuses to reveal his state of heart. Here perhaps was a chance to build toward a climax of definite and interesting proportions. But it seems that there are a few dark and be-clouded scenes and subtitles by which the doctor tests Katherine's love. It is to be faintly gathered that he invites her to live with him sans marriage ceremony. Of course, she doesn't, even though she does appear willing. The prince appears for the last time and forces a show-down. Katherine confesses her love for the doctor to his face and they make haste to have the conventional ceremony performed.

All this may not read exactly clear. Nor is it "seen" clearly on the film. It is exceedingly difficult to gather just what they all are driving at.

Miss Brady is not the emotionally sure actress of a year since. She seems at a loss in the role of Katherine. Furthermore, since her last appearance, she has lost considerable weight and also the ability to make up properly. Some of her closeups are awful, while she seems never to have thought of her hands while dallying with the grease paint. James L. Crane, is indeed the dark lantern. His face reveals scant trace of emotion in any scene. Reginald Denny is the Teutonic prince. They don't call him a German, but the supposition is, inasmuch as he kicks his servant, has a secretary named Wilhelm and tells Katherine that he remained neutral during the war because of her, that he is.

Others are Brandon Hurst, Marie Burke, David Montero and Virginia Huppert.

Even Star's Admirers Will Have Struggle to Accept This

Box Office Analysis for The Exhibitor

The "star's admirers" are usually the court of last resort to which to submit a picture, inferior in story and production. Yet in the present instance, these tolerant folk will doubtless be the first ones to register kicks against "A Dark Lantern." Miss Brady certainly doesn't look at all well in this. Her role provides for her sickness, true enough, but her disregard of proper makeup has worked severely against her here.

As far as the story goes, very few will be entertained by it. It isn't at all compact or precise and jumps about with a disregard for time and space that is ludicrous more than once.

You may have a good angle to handle this on in the theme of the heroine being lured by the prospects of a title and then discovering the ill-virtue that lies beneath it. Such a line of advertising would doubtless carry a strong feminine appeal. At the same time, it is best to think twice over painting the picture too attractively as it is surprisingly disappointing in some respects.
OUR CONGRATULATIONS TO MISS KATHERINE MACDONALD,
THE
KATHERINE MACDONALD
PICTURES CORPORATION
AND
FIRST NATIONAL
EXHIBITORS' CIRCUIT

Upon the splendid achievement of their latest production and next release,
"THE NOTORIOUS MISS LISLE"

Based upon the popular novel by Mrs. Baillie Reynolds, which may modestly be described as one of the finest creations of photoplay fiction of the year, and which establishes for all time Miss MacDonald's claim, not only as the most beautiful woman in the world, "THE LADY OF THE SCREEN," but as an artist of rare charm and subtle skill, equal to the foremost stellar personalities of stage and screen.

ATTRACTIONS DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
B. P. SCHULBERG, Pres. J. G. BACHMAN, Treas.
B. P. FINEMAN, V. Pres.
1476 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
RELEASING KATHERINE MACDONALD PRODUCTIONS THROUGH FIRST NATIONAL EXHIBITORS' CIRCUIT.
Conventional Story of Alaskan Dance Hall Has Few Bad Spots

Gladys Brockwell in
"THE ROSE OF NOME"

Fox

DIRECTOR ............... Edward J. LeSaint
AUTHOR .................. Barbara La Marr Deely
SCENARIO BY .......... Paul Schofield
CAMERAMAN ............. Harry B. Harris
AS A WHOLE ............. Melodrama with very conventional appeal dealing with Alaskan dance hall STORY ........ Generally rather commonplace—has a few illogical twists and overdrawn characters
DIRECTION ................. Average
PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Good
LIGHTINGS ................. Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ............. Good
STAR ........... Shows flashes of fine ability, but makeup is too heavy at times.
SUPPORT .......... William Scott leads with colorful performance as hero.
EXTERIORS ................. Good
INTERIORS .................. Usual
DETAIL .................. Fair
CHARACTER OF STORY ....... Heroine flees brutal husband—falls in power of wicked dance hall proprietor—finally saved by hero.
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"The Rose of Nome" is a rather conventional drama of the Alaskan dance hall. It is fairly well made and interesting, although the director has depicted his villains in wild extremes. They kike their women around and chide them at the slightest provocation. There seems to be a slip at the end when a member of the Northwest Mounted enters Alaska in pursuit of the murderer. To general knowledge a Canadian officer can’t function in American territory. This error could have easily been avoided had they laid all the action in Northern Canada, leaving the Alaskan locale out of it.

The story opens with a woodcutter mistreating his wife (Gladys Brockwell) all over the forest. Later she runs off to a dance at a neighboring settlement in an endeavor to enjoy herself. A note of real tragedy is struck when the husband comes after his wife and forces her to return to their hut. Miss Brockwell’s acting here registers very forcefully. Her little pleasure at the dance is terminated so abruptly by the appearance of the brute husband.

That evening a sympathetic friend urges her to leave her husband. The friend stays behind and after robbing the brute shoots him. The action then skips to Nome, where the wife is now a dance hall artist and the friend, who has developed into a full-fledged villain, is the proprietor. Anatole, a young man from the East, puts in an appearance and falls in love with the wife.

The Canadian policeman then comes in and starts watching the heroine. The proprietor discovers his identity and prepares to flee, forcing the heroine to accompany him by taking possession of a child she has adopted. Anatole pursues, however, and his playful dog chews up the villain in a very unconvincing manner. The policeman discovers that the dead man was the real murderer and the heroine and Anatole are free to marry. Anatole violates all picture tradition delightfully by not inquiring as to the heroine’s past or bothering about it.

Miss Brockwell plays with an effective display of emotion. Her lip makeup is too heavy at times. William Scott creates a colorful character in Anatole. Herbert Prior is the villainous dance hall proprietor and Stanton Heck plays the member of the Canadian police force.

Just One of the Commonplace Majority

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This is a generally commonplace picture with little to distinguish it from the usual offering dealing with the Alaskan dance hall. While its story possesses a degree of interest the overplaying of the villains serves to lessen the force of its varied situations.

The picture will probably register satisfactorily in the one-day houses and those that draw their shows from the lesser of the productions of the day. Miss Brockwell’s admirers will also find that here she shows flashes of very good work despite the conventionality of her surroundings.

Lines such as the following might be used in advertising: "The story of a woman who found happiness after living in a ‘Hell on Earth,’” “She had flown from her husband because of his cruelty and now an officer sought to arrest her for—what?”, "A story of the Alaskan dance hall dealing with the best and the worst of its people in vivid terms.”
"A remarkable picture, both from a production as well as an entertainment angle. It proves that Erich Von Stroheim is a born genius."—HARRISON'S REPORTS.

"One of the finest contributions to the screen—the play sweeps ahead with a spontaneity and power that will not be denied. The climax is a revelation in dramatic strength."
—MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

"Erich Von Stroheim has proved himself a big director again. Don't make any mistake about this director—he's there! Remember "Blind Husbands," then go to it with this—it is fairly sweeping in its effects."—WID'S.

"It will have wide appeal because of its plot novelty and brilliant presentation. It shows a keen eye for artistic effects and a mastery of pertinent detail."—MOVING PICTURE WORLD.
Terribly Slow Tempo

“THE INVISIBLE DIVORCE”
National Picture Theaters, Inc.
DIRECTORS ........... Tom Mills and Nat Devereich
AUTHOR .................. Leila Burton Wells
SCENARIO BY .............. Katherine Reed
CAMERAMAN ............. Max Dupont
AS A WHOLE ...... Just a bare idea to this with no amplifying situations—drags terribly at begining.

STORY ...... Human enough, but not big enough to eat up the best part of six reels.

DIRECTION ...... Tempo entirely too slow—in attempting to draw unconventional hero they’ve made a totally unsympathetic character.

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Very good
LIGHTINGS ................ Very good
CAMERA WORK ............. Average
LEADING PLAYERS ...... Walter McGrail and Leatrice Joy.

SUPPORT ...... Includes Grace Darmond and Walter Miller.

EXTERIORS .................... Good
INTERIORS .................. Very good DETAIL ....... Some subtitles endeavoring to make hero out as ambitious fellow determine him as lazily lout.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Husband’s harshness shatters wife’s illusions—when financial success is his she awakens him to his mistakes.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,000 feet

The idea of this picture is very human. It concerns the relations of a young married couple. The wife struggles to keep a small home together and to inspire her husband with success. He is unappreciative and finally his temper gets the better of him and he up-raids his wife in terms, that in their harshness, hurt her to the quick.

Such a little domestic quarrel is a very human thing.

Everyone of experience will recognize it as such. But it is a question whether a little quarrel, such as this, could have effect through three or four years. These small tilts are often as quickly brushed aside as they are started. And it would have been exceedingly more convincing had the quarrel been over something else than a statute of the Winged Victory. The way they scrape their pennies to buy this three dollar piece of clay when their actual wants are extreme, falls short of convincing.

Perhaps the ever-to-be-considered “woman angle” of the story is a better one from which to look at it.
It is through the wife’s tolerance and suffering that the husband raises himself to success. She also advises but he takes this advice as his own. This is very often true. But in making the wife the sympathetic sufferer they have neglected to instill any redeeming spark in the husband. He goes around talking of doing big things but never does them. Even his success comes through the tolerance of others.
They paint his as idealistic, ambitious. But he develops into an utterly lazy lout.

But the idea of the story, good or bad, realistic or untrue, needed amplifying situations, plot, action, to carry it along interestingly. This “The Invisible Divorce” does not provide. It is terribly slow getting started, due to lack of situations and a tempo that drags all over the place. And even when the break between husband and wife is precipitated there is no real action. And the tempo goes on dragging from first to last. Two reels would have been the proper footage in which to tell such a story.

Walter McGrail and Leatrice Joy play the married couple, the latter giving a fine picture of feminine suf-ferring, the former handicapped by an utterly thankless part. Grace Darmond (“D’Armond,” if you please, in the subtitle), and Walter Miller have the other chief roles.

Has Big Woman Appeal and Should Be Played From This Angle

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Probably this story was selected and produced because of its strong woman appeal. This is not to be denied as indicated above. However, even the women of picture audiences demand something a little faster than this. The picture’s biggest fault is its tempo—a tempo that is extraordinary slow and tedious.

The picture has good advertising possibilities. By relating the idea of the story, you can bring out this woman appeal to its fullest extent. And there is the title as an added attraction. Without doubt this appears to be one of the best picture titles of the year.

A line such as “The young wife suffered in silence, tolerating her husband’s uncalled for abuse, loving him just the same, praying for his success and then when it came—” might well be used in advertising this.

The cast doesn’t contain any big names but the quartette that appears in the principal roles is quite well known. Use the four names and also play up the authoress.
You Must Read

"The Claws of the Lobster"

In Martin Quigley's "Exhibitors Herald," issue dated August 7, Page 65, there is a signed article by Marshall Neilan which will interest every motion picture theatre owner and exhibitor in the United States. If you have laid aside your issue of "Exhibitors Herald" when this advertisement comes to your notice it is our suggestion that you take out your copy and read the article at once.

Under a good-natured but nevertheless biting Irish wit in Mr. Neilan's article there is strong, sound, clean reasoning that will interest an exhibitor's pocketbook.

The seven members of Associated Producers, Inc., owing their own organization, are "free men." Each of the seven members has kept and is keeping and working out his previous contracts cleanly and honorably. Not one of them is a defaulter or pledge-breaker or contract-jumper.

For the first time in their lives, for the first time in the history of the motion picture industry, these seven Producers are able to do the big things they want to do without hindrance or censorship. They are able to do the pictures they have dreamed about and worked out in their minds. They are able to engage and star or feature or use the personalities who mean new blood and larger audiences for the screen.

They are able to deal with exhibitors direct. They have in New York an organization that cannot be bunked or tricked into alliances that will work against the exhibitors of the country; an organization that has never had a recorded or unrecorded case of pledge breaking or ill-treatment of exhibitors.

Knowing these things about us, you will read "The Claws of the Lobster" with even greater interest and you will be more prepared to take our word for it that we are already engaged in making the biggest pictures of our careers for your theatres. We ask you to give us time for our thirty pictures and not to sew up your time. If our pictures are not big cancel any one of us out under one-picture cancellation. There's an individual producer cancellation clause in every contract we make with you.

MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER - MAURICE TOURNER - J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.

HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Good Production With Star Adorable But Hardly Savage

Edith Roberts in
"THE ADORABLE SAVAGE"
Universal

DIRECTOR .................... Norman Dawn
AUTHOR ...................... Ralph Stock
SCENARIO BY ................ Doris Schroeder
CAMERAMAN .................. Thomas Rae

AS A WHOLE ...... Tropical atmosphere and spectacular climax helps cover up vague and improbable story.

STORY ...... Some attempt at suspense that doesn't register; settings and locale its redeeming feature.

DIRECTION ...... Works up to a first rate finish; handles typhoon sequence realistically.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Very good
LIGHTINGS ........................ All right.
CAMERA WORK ................. Splendid STAR ...... Lives up to the title; surely pleasant to look at.

SUPPORT ........ Well selected and give adequate support.

EXTERIORS ............................. Realistic tropical settings
INTERIORS ............................. Adequate
DETAIL .......................... Titles too wordy
CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Girl who goes back to Fiji life when she learns she is half-caste.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 5,000 feet

As far as production is concerned, "The Adorable Savage" is not lacking in atmosphere or novelty. There are some beautiful tropical scenes, plenty of dark skin hula maidens and finally the spectacular storm. The latter has been photographed splendidly and thoroughly realistic. Some of the lightning "flash" stuff should be eliminated because they show so much of it that it finally doesn't appear real.

The director put forth his best effort toward the close-of-the-picture in which he works up a pretty exciting climax. The early reels are rather slow and the action not always plausible.

Marana, daughter of a Fiji palinter, is called back to her native land to protect her aged father's rubber crop which is being stolen by her brother-in-law. The girl gives up her boarding school life and returns to Fiji where she makes the best of things when she learns she is half-caste. She soon becomes a favorite among the natives but incurs the enmity of her brother-in-law when she accuses him of stealing the rubber.

There is another white man on the island, Templer, a fugitive from justice. He falls in love with Marana, but is repulsed because she believes she would not be respected by a white man. For this reason Marana is about to become the wife of the ruler of the island, but when Templer arrives on the scene she realizes she cannot go through with it and runs to him. The native ruler has Templer seized, but he is released when Marana threatens to kill herself if they don't let him go.

Marana is retained but makes her escape. A typhoon and tidal wave sweeps over the island, but Templer and the girl find each other and survive the storm. Coincident then plays the finishing touch. A yacht bearing Templer's uncle seeks refuge in a cove during the storm. The uncle goes ashore and arrives in time to save Templer and Marana from the savages and to tell the hero he is innocent of his supposed crime.

The ending is expected, but pretty.

Attractive Title and South Sea Atmosphere Has Effective Appeal

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

If you want something just a little out of the ordinary for a change, "The Adorable Savage" should prove an agreeable choice. There is a tropical atmosphere with a typical South Sea storm—a realistic typhoon and tidal wave—for you to talk about. Added the charming little star and her pleasing appearance as the little savage, you can promise them a satisfying bit of entertainment. If the star hasn't made herself known in your neighborhood, his is a good time to start boosting her. Perhaps you played her in "Lasca," in which case mention the fact.

A carefully selected musical accompaniment will add to the attractiveness of the picture and the tropical atmosphere lends all sorts of ideas for exploitation and lobby display. There are still a good many who favor this sort of locale and you can count on them to like this. Show stills of Miss Roberts in her grass skirt attire over the caption: "Isn't she an 'Adorable Savage'?"
J. PARKER READ JR.

Presents

LOUISE

GLAUM

IN

LOVE-
She Stands Alone—

—The Great Emotional Actress of the Screen

At the pinnacle of her powers and in a greater picture than "SEX"—LOUISE GLAUM now registers the supreme triumph of her career in C. GARDNER SULLIVAN'S greatest story

"LOVE MADNESS"

Produced by the producer of "SEX" Written by the author of "SEX"

With all the sex-lure of a beautiful woman she seeks the man who must die in place of her husband. It is a new Glaum role—a role of mother-love and wifely devotion to the limit of faith and love.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION

527 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Distributing through PATHÉ Exchange, Incorporated
Western Picture Complicated by Introduction of Religious Angle

William Russell in "THE MAN WHO DARED"
Fox
DIRECTOR .................... Emmett J. Flynn
AUTHOR ...................... Julius G. Furthman
SCENARIO BY ................. Julius G. Furthman
CAMERAMAN ................ Clyde De Vinna
AS A WHOLE ...... Western production of love and revenge complicated by introduction of religious angle.

STORY ...... Worked out in generally convincing style, although religious motive is carried altogether too far.
DIRECTION .................. Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Good
LIGHTINGS ..................... Commendable
CAMERA WORK ................ Satisfactory
STAR ...... Gives of his best here—creates character of real strength SUPPORT ................. Good; Eileen Percy is heroine
EXTERIORS ...... Good opening shots of Redwood forest
INTERIORS ..................... Satisfactory
DETAIL ...... Some in religious sequence questionable in effect.

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Hero in jail has vision and forgoes revenge, leaving this to Higher Power.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"The Man Who Dared" is a generally well worked out offering of a man’s love and contemplated revenge. A religious angle is introduced when the man, in jail and pining to avenge himself for a wrong done him by an enemy, sees a vision and is reformed.

A story such as this demands the most artistic handling to register it convincingly. All people, no matter what their belief, are sensitive on the subject of introducing a figure of the Christ into pictures. If a director is artistic enough and gets his players to feel little short of inspired, he can make such an idea beautiful and effective. Director Emmett Flynn has put these scenes on in just an average fashion and he has carried them along too far. The speech of the hero before the assembled villagers, in which he tells them of his experience is superfluous.

The story relates how Jim O’Kane was framed and sent to jail by the sheriff. They are rivals for the hand of Mamie Lee. Her father has forged a check and the sheriff provides him with money to cover his trick, demanding Mamie’s hand in return. He also tells her that he will confess to the robbery for which Jim is accused if she will marry him. She consents but the sheriff double crosses her and fails to confess.

In the meantime Jim is cursing God in his cell. An Italian, a condemned murderer in the opposite cell has “got” religion and spends the night chiseling a figure on the cross, much to Jim’s disgust. However, during the night Jim is changed when he sees a vision of the Figure stepping down from the cross and assisting the Italian in his work. And after the man has been hanged the next morning his spirit returns to Jim to tell him that vengeance is the Lord’s.

Finally cleared of the charge, Jim in a rage goes to find the sheriff. He has slipped for the moment and believes he will kill. But the sheriff has beat him to it, having taken his own life.

There are some good shots of a Redwood forest in the opening reel and later there are some fine seascapes introduced, but rather suddenly as there has been no suggestion of the action transpiring on the water’s edge.

William Russell makes a strong figure of Jim. Eileen Percy is the girl and Frank Brownlee the sheriff. E. A. Warren does quite a character bit as the Italian and also appears as Mamie’s father. Joe Ray is also seen.

This One is “Different” But Religious Part is None Too Well Handled

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one alters the routine provided by the usual western with its religious angle. It is really impossible to advise on how such scenes will be accepted. The exhibitor had best judge for himself. They may go well with some audiences and fall flat with others. And these scenes herein haven’t got such a marvelous touch to them. They are rather commonplace.

The same goes for the advertising possibilities of the picture. It’s up to the exhibitor whether or not to promote the religious idea. If you don’t you can easily fall back on the usual western argument, centering your advertisements about a “story of love and revenge, etc.”

William Russell deserves considerable prominence. His work here is very good. Eileen Percy might also be mentioned. She is quite well known. For the rest just determine what angle you want to play this from and then go to it. You can praise it considerably as the story is unusual and generally well done.
GUY EMPEY PRODUCTIONS

(Arthur Guy Empey, President)

announces a forthcoming series of comedy dramas starring

GUY EMPEY

Supported by Florence Evelyn Martin

First in the series is

"OIL"

a story that is full of

Romance and Love
Humor and Laughter
Drama and Thrills
Entertainment and Happiness

THE comedy drama of the year!
The kind of picture YOUR patrons want!
Ready For Immediate Release!
Romance and Love.

The history of the world holds no greater romance—save the love story of a boy and a girl—than is played on the oil fields of America today. The gold rush of 1849, the diamond mines at Kimberley, the Alaska placers—all fade into insignificance before the magic of oil.

The shooting of a twenty-thousand-barrels-a-day gusher thrills the beholder into a veritable ecstasy—and such a scene is in the picture.

Oil, the life-blood of industry, is the object of the greatest game in the world today; it is the second most interesting word in the language to the most people in the United States.

But the greatest romance of all time, the one word that means most—universally—is love. And there is a love story in this picture which is truly beautiful—because it concerns a girl and a boy “even as you and I.”

Timely—thrilling—sweet: these attributes make “OIL” the comedy drama of the year.
Humor and laughter.

Situations and subtitles galore that will make your patrons laugh with glee.
One day it's turkey; the next day it's bones!

Your patrons want comedy drama—"OIL" is the comedy drama of the year—YOUR PATRONS MUST SEE "OIL".
Twenty-thousand-barrels-a-day; pouring forth with all the pent-up energy bottled up for centuries in Earth's fastnesses to supply the life blood of industry.

"OIL"

Treachery, plotting, villainy—overcome by honesty, determination and grit—just the kind of part for Arthur Guy Empey.

Drama and thrills.

Every day brought another battle to keep what he had earned by the sweat of his brow from the vultures that prey on every field where treasure abounds.

He won out because he was fighting not only for wealth, but for the girl he wanted—

"OIL"

offered the one way for him to win her

With this greatest incentive, he was bound to win out; his victory will thrill your patrons and crowd your theatre.
Even as you and I—that's the kind of people who interest us most.

Your patrons know hundreds like those portrayed by Arthur Guy Empey and Florence Evelyn Martin; "just folks"—people you'd like to know, abound in

"OIL"
Entertainment and Happiness—that's what your patrons want.

After the busy day at the office or the shop, after the housewife’s daily stint, after the lessons for school are done, man or woman, boy or girl—all seek entertainment and happiness in the intimate revelations of life they behold on the silver sheet of the screen.

“OIL”

brings them into a world of adventure and romance, thrills them with its drama and emotion, tickles them with its wholesome comedy, brushes away the frowns of the workaday world.

The comedy drama of the year!

Ready For Immediate Release

GUY EMPEY PRODUCTIONS INCORPORATED

220 WEST 42nd STREET NEW YORK CITY
Author's Touches Make Conventional Story a Realistic Little Gem

Enid Bennett in “HAIRPINS”
Ince—Paramount-Arcaft

DIRECTOR .......................... Fred Niblo
AUTHOR .............................. C. Gardner Sullivan
SCENARIO BY ........................ C. Gardner Sullivan
CAMERAMAN ........................ George Barnes
AS A WHOLE ...... Follows along the lines of “Stepping Out”—is broader than its predecessor but has strong appeal and good comedy quality.

STORY ...... Conventional in essentials, but author has dressed it up with wonderfully real touches and displayed remarkable knowledge of feminine psychology in drawing of characters.

DIRECTION .......................... Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY ........................ Very good
LIGHTINGS ............................ Very good
CAMERA WORK ........................ Very good
STAR ...... Gets over some subtle comedy scenes and creates very appealing character.

SUPPORT ...... Matt Moore very good as husband
EXTERIORS ............................ Few used
INTERIORS ............................ Just right
DETAIL ................................. Great

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Wife wakes up to fact that husband is slipping away from her because of her carelessness regarding her looks.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet.

Last year Thomas H. Ince produced “Stepping Out” one of the most delightful and real little stories of domestic life that ever saw the light of the screen.
The author was C. Gardner Sullivan. The star was Enid Bennett. This year the same combination is responsible for “Hairpins,” a story that steps out in much the same direction as the other. It is not quite a human as regards plot and situations, but it is as to characters. And what the other had in the way of genuine, human appeal, “Hairpins” possesses in its comedy and its remarkably well drawn characters.

Sullivan has displayed a rare knowledge of feminine psychology in the developing of “Hairpins.” He plays right into the hands of the women and there isn’t one among them who won’t appreciate his successful efforts along this line. “Hairpins” is a picture that will confirm their beliefs in their superiority over men.
But the nice part of it is that the author hands the men a bouquet or two as well. He is so impartial that it appears he would make a successful umpire in a family quarrel.

Muriel Rossmore, wife of Rex, is more careful of her accounts than she is of her person. In the home and even on the street she is dowdy. There is a fine comedy sequence at the opening showing Rex attempts to doze off to sleep but drawn by some irresistible impulse to look at his wife, while she is greasing her face and doing up her hair in nasty little papers preparatory to retiring.

Muriel wakes up to her shortcomings when she hears Rex talking with his employer about giving her up. Rex has been comparing her with the up-to-date stenographer supplied him by the firm, and his wife has gotten the worst of it.

Then of course, Muriel comes to her senses and re-habillates herself as it were. She blossoms forth as a little queen of fashion and high spirits, and poor old Rex is completely nonplussed. He sees her in intimate conversation with a notorious lounge lizard and that is enough. He takes her home. In the conversation between the two at the end, during which their differences are swept aside, Sullivan has revealed a particularly fine skill at fathoming the mind of the wife. The way in which she throws all the best of it to her husband is a trick that will draw many a chuckle.

Miss Bennett performs very well in the role of Muriel, nor does Matt Moore take any second honors as Rex. Others are William Conklin, Margaret Livingstone, Grace Morse, Al Filson and Aggie Herring.

This One Has Big Feminine Appeal and the Men Will Like It Too

Box Office Analysis for The Exhibitor

This story have been used many times before on the screen and in all other forms of fiction. It isn’t at all new in its plot essentials, but at the same time it is made to appear new in the present instance. Sullivan has such a great knack of dressing up his stories with real touches and clever bits of psychology that you don’t realize you are looking at something you’ve seen many times before.

“Hairpins,” is going to get over very well because of this. It is so downright true and real in all its clever little twists and turns that it will captivate all audiences. It is a particularly strong women’s picture, and this appeal should be played up in a not too obvious way in the advertising. At the same time the author is clever enough to cater to the men. It’ll go over with everyone.

In describing the story try to give it the touch of reality that is so dominant in the picture. Feature the author’s name as well as the star and don’t forget the producer.
Because sometimes in the rush under the present methods, the Director is overlooked in exploitation announcement, I wish to call the attention of you who were so appreciative of the Skinner Series and "Brown of Harvard", to some of my productions made for Goldwyn.

"THIRTY A WEEK"
"CITY OF COMRADES"
"ONE OF THE FINEST"
"LORD AND LADY ALGY"
"TOBY'S BOW"
"THE GREAT ACCIDENT"
"GOING SOME"
"OFFICER 666"
"STOP THIEF"

HARRY BEAUMONT
Fine Characterizations Makes Conventional Story Very Interesting

Elaine Hammerstein in
"THE POINT OF VIEW"
Selznick—Select

DIRECTOR ......................... Alan Crosland
AUTHOR ........................ Edith Ellis
SCENARIO BY ............ Edward Montague
CAMERAMAN ..................... Jack Brown

AS A WHOLE ...... Very true characterizations and good performances by leads make interesting picture.

STORY .............. Creates good interest: due to well drawn characters rather than situations.

DIRECTION ...................... Very appropriate
PHOTOGRAHY ..................... Good
LIGHTINGS ......................... Good
CAMERA WORK ................. Good

STAR .......... Makes very human person of leading character; refreshing personality registers nicely

SUPPORT ........ Headed by Rockcliffe Fellowes who does good work in opposite role.

EXTERIORS ............. New York City stuff
INTERIORS .................. Good
DETAIL ......................... All right

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Version of the plot in which heroine marries for money, subsequently growing to love her husband.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,000 feet

On the surface "The Point of View" is the very old story about the girl who marries solely for money and later grows to realize what a fine man her husband is.
Beneath this rather conventional plot, however, there is a brace of fine characterizations brought out by equally good performances on the part of Elaine Hammerstein, the star and leading man, Rockcliffe Fellowes, which serve to make the picture one of general good interest.

A most appropriate production given the picture by Director Alan Crosland also aids the interest not a little. He hasn't made very many false moves in this, his work being entirely free from the usual exag-gerations that find their way into stories of this type.

Miss Hammerstein appears as Marjory Thorncroft, daughter of a family whose pride in name and position is its sole asset, if thus it can be termed. When poverty descends on the family, Marjory takes up the burden of managing the affairs of her helpless father and aunt, her grown brother who is studying the violin, and the younger of the family.

Marjory rents a room in their apartment to David Baldwin, a millionaire from the west, uncouth in man-ers and speech, but with the usual heart of gold.
David gets a fine introduction. After riding along the important ways of New York City, he hands the taxi driver a hundred dollar bill. The gasoline pirate attempts to beat it off with the change due David, but the latter takes possession of a policeman's mount and overturns him.

David thrusts himself rather ungracefully on Marjory and she finally accepts him for the sake of her brother, who needs study abroad to complete his musical career. David is kindness itself and when the brother returns arranges a great reception for him.
But his playing is uninspired and the debut is a failure.
And David also believes that he is a failure and prepares to leave Marjory and depart for the west. He summons the man he believes she loves and starts off, but then Marjory awakens to his bigness and the fact that she loves him and lets him know just how she feels.

Miss Hammerstein's refreshing personality stands her in fine stead here, and her work in the role of Marjory is very sincere and effective. Mr. Fellowes is also very good in his role. The others include Arthur Housman, who has a good comedy scene at the end, Warren Cook, Helen Lindroth, Cornish Beck, Hugh Huntley and Thomas Guise.

Provides Type of Entertainment that Should Register in All Houses

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one isn't due to make any great splash. It isn't a picture that grips the spectator to any great extent, but at the same time it ought to afford very pleasing entertainment to most all audiences. The story, while it is in its essential quite conventional and time-worn, is very nicely and realistically de-developed and what with its two good characterizations by star and leading man, it pleases over all its length.

There are many chances to go wrong and exaggerate oh stories of this type. This has been proven very sadly many time in the past. Here, however, they have steered clear of all the usual pitfalls and have made a picture which is a very distinctive one of its type.

You can safely praise this and it would be best policy to feature the realistic production and the fine acting of Miss Hammerstein and Mr. Fellowes. It is these adjuncts that are going to make the picture liked and it is these that deserve first positions in your advertising copy.
World's Dancing Sensation

is being offered to the State Right Market by Elmer J. McGovern in that Photo Play Magnificent The Woman Untamed produced by The PYRAMID PHOTO PLAYS, Inc. directed by JACK PRATT edited by ELMER J. McGOVERN

Elmer J. McGovern
130 West 46th St., N.Y. Tele. Bryant 5600
Wonderful Production Values and Fine Treatment Put This Over Big

Louise Glaum in
"LOVE MADNESS"
J. Parker Read—Hodkinson

DIRECTOR ....................... Joseph Henaberry
AUTHOR ...................... C. Gardner Sullivan
SCENARIO BY .................. C. Gardner Sullivan
CAMERAMAN .................. Charles Stumar

AS A WHOLE........... Big production values and fine development put over conventional story.

STYLE............. Plot has been seen many times before, but fine treatment supplies great suspense.

DIRECTION........... Very fine—has accentuated production values and given entire work realistic atmosphere.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Excellent
LIGHTINGS ....................... Fine
CAMERA WORK .................. Excellent
STAR ....................... Handles role skilfully SUPPORT .................. Unusually good
EXTERIORS .................... Few used
INTERIORS ............... Great; many lavish to extreme
DETAIL ..................... Very good

CHARACTER OF STORY........ Wife preys on villains' weaknesses and extracts confession of murder that frees her husband.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION..... About 6,500 feet

Lavish production values and C. Gardner Sullivan's fine skill in building a continuity determine the value of "Love Madness"—a value that is certainly no mean thing. "Love Madness" is another big special, quite worthy of following in the tracks of "Sex," as it has been handled in the same generally fine and lavish style, although it doesn't possess the great appeal of this former work.

Sullivan's story here is plain melodrama and one which has been seen on the screen many times before. Toward the end there are several turns of it that are convenient to the extreme, but these don't retard it as might be the case under more ordinary circumstances. The production values again dominate, together with the fine element of suspense that Sullivan has injected into his climax sequence.

The plot, briefly, concerns Lloyd and Mary Nord-wood. Lloyd, a weakling, is framed on a murder charge and sent to prison and the date set for his death. Mary, feeling sure that he is innocent, poses as a member of the underworld, gains access to the inner circles of the gang of crooks responsible for her husband's plight, and by playing upon the weaknesses of "Jack" Frost, the leader, and Pussyfoot Conner, one of his chief aides, gains their confessions just in time to save Lloyd from the chair.

Mary gets Pussyfoot's confession through his belief in the supernatural. She employs an ouija board and the ghost of the murdered man comes forth to accuse him. This is merely a hoax arranged by Mary, but it scares Pussyfoot into a confession. From Frost she gets the desired information by playing upon his desire for her.

Louise Glaum handles the role of Mary skilfully, her "vamp" scenes being convincing and her playing adding considerably to the suspense of the situation. Matt Moore is very good in his rather brief part of the husband. Jack Nelson does a fine piece of work as Pussyfoot and Noah Beery lends a brutal strength to "Jack" Frost's character. William Conklin, Peggy Pearce and Arthur Millet complete the cast.

The scenes of the underworld hangout are very lavish and excellently lighted.

---

HOWARD M. MITCHELL
Directed
"THE TATTTLERS"
FOR FOX

ALSO
"THE HUSBAND HUNTER"

ADDRESS: Fox West Coast Studios
Another “Special” Quite Worthy of Following “Sex”
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Louise Glaum in “LOVE MADNESS”
J. Parker Read—Hodkinson

“Love Madness” is a great old melodrama. It will thrill audiences and the well-built suspense of the wife’s adventure in the underworld will have everyone keyed up to a high pitch. Because of the wonderful production values the “convenient” nature of the story in the final reels can be overlooked. If analyzed, however, the way the villains play into the wife’s hands is too good to be true or convincing.

This can be played as a special just the way “Sex” was and it will draw big and please if you handle it in a big way. Mention of the previous picture, the fact that this was made by the same producer with the same lavish disregard for expense and with the same star, will help at lot. And don’t forget C. Gardner Sullivan’s name. That’s a box office attraction in itself.

Play the story up in this fashion: “She knew her husband had been ‘framed’ by desperate villains. The police were powerless to help him. The death chair stared him in the face! She alone could save him by venturing into the very underworld that was responsible for his impending fate. It was madness, but it was the madness of love. See—.” Lines on this order should attract, and of course play up the extremely lavish production.

WALLACE WORSLEY Directed
“THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME”
In the reviews of this feature, attention was called to the direction as being “VERY GOOD—ESPECIALLY FOR THE MANNER IN WHICH COHERENCE WAS MAINTAINED”
also
“THE STREET CALLED STRAIGHT”
An Eminent Authors—Goldwyn release
Watch For
“THE PENALTY”
Scenario by CHARLES KENYON
To be released by Eminent Authors—Goldwyn
Address: Goldwyn Studios, Culver City, California

Film-Lore Offers a Real Treat for Originality, Quality, and Theme

BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery, and Science by
ALEXANDRE A. STUART

FILM-LORE PRODUCTIONS CO., Inc. 18-20 WEST 34th STREET NEW YORK CITY
Very Satisfactory Western Production

Buck Jones in
"THE SQUARE SHOOTER"
Fox

DIRECTOR .................................. Paul Cazeneuve
AUTHOR ................................. Denison Clift
SCENARIO BY ............................ Denison Clift
CAMERAMAN ............................. Vernon Walker
AS A WHOLE ................................. Typical western picture—brisk action—a few stunts and satisfactory plot.

STORY ........... Nothing very different but holds the interest well all the way.

DIRECTION ....................... Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ........................... Good
LIGHTINGS ......................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ......................... Good

STAR ........... Pleasing personality wins again—does stunts well and gets everything over nicely.

SUPPORT ............................... Satisfactory
EXTERIORS .............................. Western
INTERIORS .............................. Usual

DETAIL ................................. All right
CHARACTER OF STORY .. Owner of ranch masks as eastern tenderfoot and gets goods on cattle rustlers and villains.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"The Square Shooter" may be set down as a typical western picture. It fills the bill to a nicety as regards brisk action, stunts of horsemanship and provides as well a plot, which though containing nothing vastly out of the ordinary, succeeds in holding interest all the way. In addition the star contributes a few stunts displaying his athletic prowess and daring which provide the finishing touches that a picture of this type demands.

Buck Jones continues to shine with that vigorous, clean personality of his. He is always successful in registering the simple emotions required of him in these westerns and his moderate ability in this line coupled with his personal attributes serve him in fine stead.

Here he appears as Chick Crandall half-owner of the Flying A Ranch. He has been away from his property for a period of years and on his return notices some of his men, headed by the forearm, Curtis, rustling cattle. He decides to proceed on to the ranch immediately. In this plan he is aided by Harold Montagu, the tenderfoot son of the other owner.

Harold has come west to look after his father's interests and Curtis and his men plan to scare him away. They board the train and demand his surrender. Harold skips out the other end of the car and takes refuge in the shack where Chick is reposing. He dons his clothes and is preparing to leave when Chick wakes up. Harold fires at him in a fright and believes he has killed him. He goes to the sheriff and surrenders himself.

But the bullet has only grazed Chick. The next morning he puts on Harold's clothes and, posing as the young Montagu, heads for the ranch. In his disguise Chick is able to work among the ranchmen and discover just who is crooked. There is a good romantic element introduced between Chick and Barbara Hampton, a girl who believes Montagu, Sr., responsible for the loss of her father and home. The action tightens up when Curtis and his men decide to put Chick out of the way. A number of good thrills are staged in the final sequences in which Chick manages to escape the dire plots of his would-be destroyers.

In the end of course, the villains are brought to justice and Chick reveals himself to Barbara under his right name and everything concludes in a very happy fashion.

Supporting the star is Patsey De Forest as Barbara, while others are Charles K. French, Al Fremont, Frederick Starr, Edwin B. Tilton, Ernie Shields, Charles Force, Lon Pooff and Orpha Alba.

Star Should Draw Well Now—This One Pleases

Box Office Analysis for The Exhibitor

Here is a western that can stand right in with the average picture of this type produced today. It doesn't quite come up to the star's last one inasmuch as there aren't as many stunts of the sensational thrilling sort that were present in "Firebrand Trevison." However, the fast action, the hard riding and the few stunts the star performs are sufficient to give this a very satisfactory bill of health.

Buck Jones ought to be drawing very well by this time. "Firebrand Trevison" should have helped his box office average considerably and audiences should be eager to see this, his next production. And while it won't startle them with anything extraordinary, certainly this will entertain over all its length.

Play up the star and tell them that this is a western in which the ranch owner poses as a tenderfoot to get the goods on the cattle rustlers.
COMING

FLORA FINCH

Back Again
IN SOMETHING BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

THE WORLD FAMOUS COMEDY STAR SUPREME

In a Series of
NEW 2-REEL COMEDIES

Watch for the Early Release of the First Special
Arrange to Book Them Now
First Come, First Served! "Nuf Sed!"

ADDRESS ALL INQUIRIES TO

FILM FROLICS PICTURES CORPORATION
APOLLO HALL, 1383 BROADWAY
NEW YORK CITY
TELEPHONES: GREELEY 785-6023-6024-6025
"Love was the only motive that made her a criminal. Love -- and love only!"

He did not know, as he stood there pleading for her life, that this pitiful, broken creature was his mother.

The opinion of press and trade journal experts who have seen "Madame X" is that it is one of the greatest productions of the last ten years.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN
Presents
PAULINE FREDERICK
in MADAME X
Adapted from the French of ALEXANDRE BISSON
by arrangement with
HENRY W. SAVAGE
Directed by
FRANK LLOYD
GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
Your patrons will not know until the last few feet of the picture who was the guilty man.

Here is a perfect mystery story, with action and dramatic power from start to finish. Superbly produced, with acting way above par, it will hold any audience as though in a vice. It is Class A in everything that makes a picture big.

Who was the criminal? What was it that made an innocent man believe himself guilty? Can a good man be prevailed upon to do evil by an evil will? Is a good man guilty if he does wrong unintentionally and without his own knowledge?

Jesse D. Hampton
presents
H.B. Warner
in
One Hour Before Dawn

From the book "Behind Red Curtains" by Mansfield Scott
Directed by Henry King

Pathe Distributors
Library of Films
Being Assembled by St. Louis Company—Expected to Have 15,000 Subjects
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
St. Louis—E. F. Howe, general manager of the National Film Publicity Bureau, 2 S. Belle Ave. Co., the producer of short length advertising films, states his company is assembling a large library of advertising films to be installed at the St. Louis headquarters and will contain 15,000 subjects, every kind of business being comprehensively covered.

The Kansas City offices of the company are located at 305 Hall Bldg. The company also has established connections with the Queens City Advertising Cumberland, Md.; the Pyramid Co. Pittsburgh; Superior Advertising Co., Cleveland, and Detroit, Denver Advertising Co., Denver, Clane Price Advertising Service Co., Anderson Advertising Co., Nashville, and other concerns throughout the East, Central West and South, and with its own field force covers Missouri Kansas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Kentucky. Arrangements have been perfected whereby this territory will be fur-ished the latest in moving picture advertising subjects almost at a motime’s notice.

Howe explained that his company can furnish on 8-hour notice, 3,000 ft. of advertising matter. The studios, print, development and commercial departments have been enlarged to facilitate the handling of orders.

"Publicity Trade Topics" is the company’s motto and endeavors to teach the merchant, so he will realize the advantage of advertising, and obtain all the benefits of advertising films. The company’s house organ, which is a part of the general system to assist in patronizing, will have a circulation of 5,000 a month.

During the past few months the seed men and photographers of the company have been on the road and several scenario writers are kept on the job constantly.

Arrivals from England
Sir William Jury, Richard A. Rol-
land, John Emerson and Anita Los arrived in New York yesterday aboard the Imperator from England.

N. W. Line-up
complete List of Members of Independent Exhibitors Corp., New Booking Circuit
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Seattle—The following is a complete list of the members of the Independent Exhibitors Corp., the new-looking circuit recently formed by en-sen and Von Herberg.

Theaters representing the Josen
Heinrichs (Continued on Page 3)

Hutton Closes Deal
F. Laws Hutton and Frothingham, who operate as B. B. Features, Inc., told WID’S DAILY on Saturday that he had completed arrangements for a series of four pictures to be distributed through the W. W. Hodkinson Corp. The first of these, as already noted will be "The Broken Gate" with Bessie Bar-riscale as star.

Mr. Hutton who leaves for Caliifornia tonight stated that "The Broken Gate" and one additional feature will mark the termination of Miss Barriscale’s contract with him but un-imated that there may be a renewal perhaps on a somewhat different basis.

He verified what WID’S DAILY has already published from Los Angeles.

(Continued on Page 4)

Library of Films
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
St. Louis—E. F. Howe, general manger of the National Film Publicity Bureau, 2 S. Belle Ave. Co., the producer of short length advertising films, states his company is assembly a large library of advertising films to be installed at the St. Louis headquarters and will contain 15,000 subjects, every kind of business being comprehensively covered.

The Kansas City offices of the company are located at 305 Hall Bldg. The company also has established connections with the Queens City Ad-tending Cumberland, Md.; the Pyramid Co. Pittsburgh; Superior Advertising Co., Cleveland, and Detroit, Denver Advertising Co., Denver, Clane Price Advertising Service Co., Anderson Advertising Co., Nashville, and other concerns throughout the East, Central West and South, and with its own field force covers Missouri Kansas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Kentucky. Arrangements have been perfected whereby this territory will be fur-ished the latest in moving picture adtering subjects almost at a mo-
time’s notice.

Howe explained that his company can furnish on 8-hour notice, 3,000 ft. of advertising matter. The studios, print, development and commercial departments have been enlarged to facilitate the handling of orders.

"Publicity Trade Topics" is the company’s motto and endeavors to teach the merchant, so he will realize the advantage of advertising, and obtain all the benefits of advertising films. The company’s house organ, which is a part of the general system to assist in patronizing, will have a circulation of 5,000 a month.

During the past few months the seed men and photographers of the company have been on the road and several scenario writers are kept on the job constantly.

Arrivals from England
Sir William Jury, Richard A. Rol-
land, John Emerson and Anita Los arrived in New York yesterday aboard the Imperator from England.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—William S. Hart has filed a new suit against Thomas H. Ince to restrain him from acting as treasurer of the company involved in the litigation and to return his money to his account $165,108 which Hart alleges Ince withdrew from a Los Angeles bank without authority.

In the Courts

The Goldwyn Picture Corp. has filed its answer in the Supreme Court to the suit brought by Madge Kennedy, who sues under her family name of "West," to recover two weeks' salary at $2,600 a week. Miss Kennedy alleged that the Goldwyn company had not lived up to its contract to reimburse her for money expended by her for costumes used in the pictures. She named $3,224 as being due. The company admits the agreement, but says that the money was paid to Miss Kennedy on April 28, and that they were released of all claims.

In a suit at the Ritchey Lithographing Co., against the Hallmark Pictures, Inc., the defendant filed an answer in the Supreme Court denying the plaintiffs' story, and filed a counter claim for $165,108, which was purchased from the plaintiff. The court granted the defendant's motion for a new trial.

Newsubsidy
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Albany—Loew's Niagra Falls Theater, Inc., with capital of $65,000 has been formed here. The directors are William L. Hunt, Ward Coon, William L. Hunt, Frank S. Nichol- son, Robert R. Rice, Sigmund Leap- acy, Harry J. Traverse, all of Niagara Falls and Jesse S. Knowles of Lockport.

Quotations

Last Bid. Asked. Sale.
Famous Players 27 70¢ 67
Goldwyn 83 83 83
D. W. Griffith 13 15 15
Loew's, Inc. 20 20¢ 20¢
Triangle 36 36 36
Unit, Pict. Prod. 13 13 13
World Film 6¢ 6¢ 6¢
do 2nd pd. 6¢ 6¢ 6¢

Colton Here

John Colton has arrived in town from California.

Chase Leaves Hallmark

Paul A. Chase, comptroller and assistant treasurer of Hallmark, Corp. has resigned from that corporation. Chase says he will join the contemplated unit of the Stoll Films, Ltd., of London, which, as noted will establish its own exchanges in this country.

Fred Levy in Los Angeles

Los Angeles—Col. Fred Levy, first national franchise holder to Kentucky and Tennessee, is here visiting various studios.

The difference between the posters that get satisfactory box office results and those that don't is the difference between RITCHLEY posters and the other sort.

RITCHLEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

The one & only "Ambrose"

HARRY DAVIS
Dean Perry's new reel about the renamed Samson Corbin will be the talk of the patrons of the cafes and pool rooms.

State Right
One a Month

Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.

Wanted

FILM EDITOR and
TITLE WRITER for permanent position. Must be an expert. Write fully, stating desired.

CONFIDENTIAL
Box B-4—WID'S

Vac

Copyright 1920, W. D. 's Film and Film Folks, Inc. Published daily at 71-73 West 46th St., New York, N. Y. by W. D. 's Films and Film Folks, Inc.

G. E. "Wid"" Gunning, President and Treasurer; Joseph Dausenberg, Vice-President and Editor; J. W. Alias, Secretary and Business Manager.

Entered as second-class matter at 73, 1918, at the post office at New York, N. Y. under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Terms (Postage free) United States, Outside of Greater New York, $1.00 a year; 6 months, $50; 3 months, $1.00. Foreign, $5.00. Subscribers should remit with order. Address all communications to WID'S DAILY, 71-73 West 46th St., New York, N. Y.

Telephone: Vanderbilt, 4521-5522

Hollywood, California

Paris Representative—Le Film, 144 Rue Montmartre.

Quotations

Last Bid. Asked. Sale.
Famous Players 27 70¢ 67
Goldwyn 83 83 83
D. W. Griffith 13 15 15
Loew's, Inc. 20 20¢ 20¢
Triangle 36 36 36
Unit, Pict. Prod. 13 13 13
World Film 6¢ 6¢ 6¢
do 2nd pd. 6¢ 6¢ 6¢

Newsubsidy
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Albany—Loew’s Niagara Falls Theaters, Inc., with capital of $65,000 has been formed here. The directors are William L. Hunt, Ward Coon, William L. Hunt, Frank S. Nicholson, Robert R. Rice, Sigmund Leopaci, Harry J. Traverse, all of Niagara Falls and Jesse S. Knowles of Lockport.

Sir:

The Weekly Film Review, Atlanta, Ga., says:

"Just as "The Miracle Man" touched the height of dramatic possibilities, the novelty of the picture is destined to do this season. It is one of the year’s best stories."

Gausman

In the Courts

The Goldwyn Picture Corp. has filed its answer in the Supreme Court to the suit brought by Madge Kennedy, who sues under her family name of "West," to recover two weeks' salary at $2,600 a week. Miss Kennedy alleged that the Goldwyn company had not lived up to its contract to reimburse her for money expended by her for costumes used in the pictures. She named $3,224 as being due. The company admits the agreement, but says that the money was paid to Miss Kennedy on April 28, and that they were released of all claims.

In a suit at the Ritchey Lithographing Co., against the Hallmark Pictures, Inc., the defendant filed an answer in the Supreme Court denying the plaintiff's story, and filed a counter claim for $165,108, which was purchased from the plaintiff. The court granted the defendant's motion for a new trial.

The difference between the posters that get satisfactory box office results and those that don't is the difference between RITCHLEY posters and the other sort.

RITCHLEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

The one & only "Ambrose"

HARRY DAVIS
Dean Perry's new reel about the renamed Samson Corbin will be the talk of the patrons of the cafes and pool rooms.

State Right
One a Month

Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.

Wanted

FILM EDITOR and
TITLE WRITER for permanent position. Must be an expert. Write fully, stating desired.

CONFIDENTIAL
Box B-4—WID'S

Vac
On Broadway

Capitol—"The Devil's Pass Key."
Strand—Annette Kellerman "What Women Love."
Rialto—Mary Miles Minter—"A Cumberland Romance."
Rivoli—Bryant Washburn—"What Happened to Jones."
Broadway—"Up in Mary's Attic."
Fickle Women."

Criterion—"Humoresque" eleventh week.

Astor—"Earthbound"—beginning Wednesday.

Lyric—William Farnum—"If I Were King."

Brooklyn Strand—Alma Rubens—"The World and His Wife."
Loew's New York—Today—Doris Keane—"Romance."

Tuesday—Will Rogers—"Cupid the Cowpuncher."

Wednesday—Sessue Hayakawa—"An Arabian Knight."
Thursday—Alice Brady—"A Dark Lantern."

Friday—Harry Carey—"Blue Streak McCoy."

Saturday—Enid Bennett—"Hairpins."

Sunday—Douglas Fairbanks—"The Mollycoddle."

"Coincidence" New Being Cut

"Coincidence" New Being Cut

On Broadway

Capitol—"The Devil's Pass Key."
Strand—Annette Kellerman "What Women Love."
Rialto—Mary Miles Minter—"A Cumberland Romance."
Rivoli—Bryant Washburn—"What Happened to Jones."
Broadway—"Up in Mary's Attic."
Fickle Women."

Criterion—"Humoresque" eleventh week.

Astor—"Earthbound"—beginning Wednesday.

Lyric—William Farnum—"If I Were King."

Brooklyn Strand—Alma Rubens—"The World and His Wife."
Loew's New York—Today—Doris Keane—"Romance."

Tuesday—Will Rogers—"Cupid the Cowpuncher."

Wednesday—Sessue Hayakawa—"An Arabian Knight."
Thursday—Alice Brady—"A Dark Lantern."

Friday—Harry Carey—"Blue Streak McCoy."

Saturday—Enid Bennett—"Hairpins."

Sunday—Douglas Fairbanks—"The Mollycoddle."

"Coincidence" New Being Cut

Chet Withey, who has been engaged in directing Bobby Harron in "Coincidence" states that the picture is now being cut and titled in the Manhurinck Studios. It is expected that the picture will be released on October 25th.

If you would be well informed about the motion picture industry read

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

COMING SOON

PUBLICITY MAN

Powers Film Products, Inc., have not yet communicated with the undersigned for their participation in the Powers Stockholder's Protective Committee, are invited to write today to Frederick J. Harrison, Stockholder and Former Chemist of the Powers Film Products Plant, 103 Dartmouth Street, Rochester, N. Y.
Swanson to Produce
First National Franchise Holder interested in New Company
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Salt Lake City, Utah—W. H. Swanson of the Swanson string and holder of the First National franchise in this territory is interested in what promises to be a $10,000,000 corporation which will produce, headquarters probably in this city. Swanson's general manager, G. E. Mayone, is also interested, in the position as Elton Cook and E. W. Smith.
A studio is planned to house company's proposed production department. Seven companies are planned.

ENLARGEMENTS
of moving picture films, for stills and cuts. Also high class prints.
Twenty years' experience in laboratories.
W. J. Morant
302 E. 33rd St., N. Y. C.
Phone, Vanderbilt 7631

Mate, Electro's and Stereos
for the Motion Picture Trade
I. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phone, Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereotypers in N. Y. C.

We Will Buy
your NEGATIVES
Address Box F 16 c/o WID's

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels-One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels-One-A-Month

“CLAYPLAY”
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel-One-A-Week

SUNSET BURREL
Scenic Stories
1 Reel-One-A-Week

“COMICCLASSIC”
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
“His Married Life”
“Bringing Up Father”

Special Pictures Co

Incorporations
Albany—Stuart Amusement Co., Troy, Capital $18,000. Incorporators, Isaac Weinstein, Cohoes; Benjamin Apple, Troy and Sidney, Otter, N. Y.

Will Feature Atlanta Girl
Atlanta, Ga.—Louise Du Pre, recently understudy to Mary Pickford in “Pickaninny” will be starred by a new $1,000,000 organization, the Pan Film Corp., of which Charles J. Gieglerich is vice president and general manager. Her real name is Louie Fady.

Williams Named Manager
San Francisco—E. R. Williams has been appointed manager of the All Star Feature Studios.

Posters Censorship Battle
San Francisco—Dr. G. B. Maynard of the University of California is making efforts to revive state censorship agitation.

Lynch Heads Phila. Group
Philadelphia—The motion picture group of the Chamber of Commerce has organized for the year 1920, by electing the following officers: Bob Lynch, Metro, president; George Dembow, Fox, vice-president; John Clark, Famous Players, secretary and treasurer. Max Milder, Select, and Felix Mendelssohn, Goldwyn, members of the Grievance Committee.

House Changes
La Fayette, Ind.—The Luna theater has re-opened.
Owatonna, Minn.—The Palace theater, will be ready for the re-opening Sept. 1.
Ord, Neb.—Mrs. John Wentworth has secured entire control of the Ord Opera House.

Third Annual Paramount Week
SEPTEMBER 1920
Full page advertisements in the Saturday Evening Post and Collier's Weekly will carry the message of Paramount Week to over ten million readers.

Hutton Closes Deal
(Continued from Page 1)
edeals that B. B. Features, Inc., are breaking away from the star system in favor of the all-star cast productions.
Hutton who is also interested in the Brunton studios stated that nothing had as yet been done regarding the erection of a studio in the East, as has been contemplated for some time. Regarding this he said there would be no immediate action. The Hodkinson offices admitted that the above deal had been closed.

A KNOCK-OUT COMEDY
Christie's new comedy is "Out for the Night." The girls in it are sublime and Eddie Barry is ridiculous. Christie had an awful time getting it all in two reels.—Advt.

The Broken Gate
EMERSON HOUGH
Mr. Exhibitor:
Margaret De La Motte will take the part of Anne Oglesby.
Watch this space every other day.
Three Suits Filed
First Powers Film Products Co.—Cibrario Wants $250,000 Damages
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Cibrario—Fred J. Harrison of 103
Court St. announced yesterday that three damage suits, one of them
$250,000, have been started at the Powers Film Products Co., 967 Ridgeway Ave. Harrison is the plaintiff in one of the suits in which he asks $10,000,000 to recover back pay.

The $250,000 suit has been brought by Cibrario, a New York City printer. Preliminary hearings have already been held in New York City and the purpose of cross-questioning of E. A. Powers, president of the Powers Film Products Co.

accuses Company of "Frauda"
Harrison went to work for the film industry only after it was organized in July, 1918, as a chemist. He saw a new profession in the film industry and was an employee of a manufacturing company which was shades of desirability. He claims that he discovered what the terms "frauda" were being perpetrated by the company, he refused to work for it longer and consequently threw his job. After quitting, Harrison asked for his back pay, which claims the company refused to him. George B. Ward, formerly manager of the film plant, brought a suit against the company in which he asks $6,000 to recover back pay.

Buy Rork Out?
was reported yesterday that
E. Schulberg and Bernice Fine had bought out the interest held in E. Rork in the Katherine Donald company.

Getting Ready
For Conferences to Zukor Industry Held All Day Yesterday were a number of important conferences held all during yesterday and up to the hour of going to by prominent members of the industry, including which will meet:

Sukor regarding Famous' pear buying activities.

The meeting were in the nature of immature discussions, while an will be held this morning at 10.
It is expected that the meet-will be held some today.

Secret Session—Why?

The special committee of 9 exhibitors who are to hear what Adolph Zukor has to say regarding theater owning activities of Famous are to meet in secret session.
The meetings at which the head of Famous Players will have his say are not to be open to the press.

This has been decided, so it is understood, by Sydney S. Cohen, although it is known that Mr. Zukor would have no objections to the presence of the press.

Neither Mr. Cohen nor Sam Berman, secretary of the M. P. T. O., could be reached yesterday. It was said that they were out of the city.

Why the star chamber methods, Mr. Cohen?

What's the big idea?

Crandall's Franchise

Associated First National Goes to Washington Exhibitor in Place of Tom Moore

It is understood that Harry Crandall of Washington has obtained the franchise for the District of Columbia for Asso. First National Theaters, at an approximate price of $150,000.

Tom Moore, as noted exclusively last week, is the former fran-chisee, selling to J. W. Williams, manager of First National.

Crandall, as expected, was here last week at the same time that Moore sold the franchise back to First National. He originally held a sub-franchise under the Moore franchise.

First National offices yesterday confirmed the report that Crandall had obtained the franchise.

Injured in Accident

S. M. Berg, compiler of music cue sheets, and his wife were injured in an automobile accident Saturday night, when Berg's auto was struck by a street car. Berg was severely bruised.

Fineman in Town

"Bernie" Fineman of the Kath-line MacDonald company is in town.
Says he has closed several big deals since he arrived the end of last week.

English Deal Closed

Universal officially announced yesterday the closing of a deal with the Film Booking Offices, Ltd., of En-land for distribution of its product in Great Britain.

Carl Laemmle personally closed the deal.

Officers Elected

(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Philadelphia—The complete per-ficial of the executive staff of Nat'l
Booking Corp. is as follows:

Jules Haas, president, E. V.
Richards, New Orleans, first vice-executive; Sam Katz, Chicago, second vice-president; James Clark, Pittsburgh, third vice-president, and Terrance Schwalbe, Philadelphia, secretary.

According to "The Exhibitor," a regional trade paper with publication office in this city, an executive committee will also be appointed which will consist of a number of promient people in the industry. This publication states that a meeting of the directors of the corporation will be held at the end of the present month, at which time a definite policy will be decided upon and the workings of the new organization definitely started.
Three Suits Filed
(Continued from Page 1)

Harrison is endeavoring to get all those owning stock in the film company to join with him in forming a stockholders' protective association.
He says that it is the purpose of the association to demand the money they paid out for stock. He says that the company will be sued by the stockholders if necessary. Harrison said that he estimated Rochester people were in debt to the sum of $1, 000,000 through purchase of stock in the film company, which he claims has depreciated to such an extent that it is hard to get $6 a share for it now.
Thomas E. Donovan was the broker who sold the stock here.

The Powers Film Products Co. was organized here in July, 1918, and occupied the old Fireproof Film Co.
built at Marigold and Ridgeway
Aves., where it has been ever since.
The firm is still doing business. Halton B. Bly is attorney for Harrison in the damage suit.

Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—In "Man, Woman and Marriage," Allen Holubar will have this strong cast: Dorothy Phillips,
Emily Chichester, James Kirkwood,
Robert Cain, Shannon Day, Margaret
Mann, J. Barney Sherry and Jean Calhoun.

Hollywood—When George Beban was appointed Mayor of Oakland for one day, he availed himself of the opportunity to address a large gathering of city officials, and film fans.
The theme of his talk was based on uplifting pictures. He is against the sex and vice problems and claims he has never and never will film a picture of this nature. "One Man in a Million," the latest Beban production, which will soon be out of the cutting room, is, according to Beban, a good example of photoplay without bearing on the sex question. So Lesser is associated with Beban in the arrangements for this production.

GAUSMAN

PROTECTION

The fundamental principle back of every successful business enterprise is insurance. Corporations owe it to their stockholders. Partners owe it to each other. You as an individual owe it to yourself. Do not allow yourself to be lulled into false security. You NEED Insurance.

Already 278 Stockholders
of the
POWERS FILM PRODUCTS, INC.

Have expressed their interest in the Stockholders' Protective Committee now forming to investigate the formation, the conduct and the present condition of the company and to take such steps as may be found necessary to protect their holdings. The balance of the Stockholders should communicate immediately with the undersigned, giving the date and number of shares purchased, price paid and from whom bought.

FRED'K J. HARRISON

Stockholder and Former Chemist at the Plant
103 DARTMOUTH STREET
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Sir:
The Exhibitor's Herald says about "Going Some":
"Refreshing humor and a succession of thrills will keep the merriment high in any audience, and the occasional moment of sentiment will stir the heartstrings of the romantic ones."

Goldwyn Pictures
Corporation

Theater has Novel Feature
San Francisco.—A dance hall in what was the original Fillmore, makes it possible for people to dance and view the films as they please. The old building housing the dancing floor is connected with the auditorium used for screening pictures.

EREUNENIAMUEL
REAL INSURANCE 80 Maiden Lane
Phone John 5428–5926–5427–5438

As Solomon said, "There is a time for everything."
NOW IS THE TIME TO order RITCHHEY posters.

RITCHHEY LITHO. CORP
406 W. 31st St., N. Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

The one & only
"Ambrose"

He's Not Beautiful, But Oh! how he makes 'em laugh
Perry Comedies, present
MACK SWAIN
3 9 series of new two reel
comedies.
State Right
One a Month
Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C

TO BE SUCCESSFUL
YOU MUST BE
WELL INFORMED.
ONE WAY TO BE WELL INFORMED
IS TO THOROUGHLY
READ

Wid's 1929
Year Book
—Coming Soon—
Exhibitors Meet

(BY WIRE TO WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The Los Angeles ex-actors' assn. will open a two-day session at the Merchants Hotel this afternoon. This state league is affiliated with the M. P. Theater Owners America.

Metro Buys Boston Exchange

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Boston—Metro has assumed control of the exchange operated by the American Feature Film Co., which now distributed Metro product to its theaters.

A. Golden remains in charge.

Ince to Make Williams Story

Los Angeles—John E. Ince will present "All Men Were Vaillant" for Metro.

To Play Week Run

Washington—Loew's Columbia has advertised its policy from a split week to a full week run program be-inning on Sept. 1.

Fox Albany Office Opens

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Albany—Fox have just opened their new offices in this city. Clay-son Sheehan will be in charge as general manager, and W. C. Daughring will be his assistant. The Albany office will comprise about 20 and will be charged with distribution as far west as Poughkeepsie, west to Utica north as far as the Canadian border.

Edward Bowers of the Capitol returned yesterday from a month's visit to San Francisco.

Producers!

Make your pictures at

UNIVERSAL CITY

Near Hollywood and Los Angeles

Our studio is constantly used by the largest producers. During the last year the following have used and are still using our facilities:

- Maurice Tourneur,
- Paramount-Lasky,
- Geraldine.
- Vitagraph
- Metro.
- Ancher Enterprises.
- Edgar Lewis.
- Konnik.
- James Oliver Curwood.
- Motion Picture Corp.
- Robert Bronston.
- Katherine MacDonald.
- J. D. Hampton.
- B. B. Hampton.
- Haworth Picture Corp.
- Christie Composites.
- Ben Wilson Productions.
- McCarthey Productions.
- Una Picture Corp.

WHEN YOU COME TO UNIVERSAL CITY—READ THIS:

Write or wire

NATHAN HIRSH

729 SEVENTH AVE.

Apply to Leasing Department at Universal City, California, or UNIVERSAL FILM
MFG. CO., 1600 Broderick, New York City.
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 23
"THE DESIRED WOMAN" with Harry T. Morey and Jean Paige

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It
And also
"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND" with Blanche Sweet
Now directing BESSIE BARRISCALE

Legal Opinion
Being Sought by New York Exhibitors Relative to Famous Booking Contract

The Theater Owners’ Chamber of Commerce intends testing out the legality of Famous Players’ booking contract. They have retained Wise & Seligson, attorneys, and will be guided by their advice as to whether Famous, or for that matter any company, which agrees to show any picture, can withhold that product until later and then charge a higher rate for the showing. This, with particular reference to “Humoresque,” which, as noted last week, is under discussion.

It is understood that the Theater Owners intend being guided by the advice of their attorneys, and only by them, and will accept no decision from any committee with reference to this matter.

The national organization, the M. P. T. O. of America has a special committee which is said to be looking into this same question.

Sidney Cohen could not be reached yesterday for a statement.

Fitzer Buys “The Woman Untamed”
Ben Fitzer, an exchange man from Northern New York, has purchased Elmer J. McGovern’s “The Woman Untamed,” featuring Doralina, for that territory. Mr. Fitzer is a newcomer in the ranks of the independent exchangethe corporation will operate from Albany and Buffalo.

Mollie King Sued
Mollie King has been sued by the Fitzgerald Manufacturing Co., for $2,731 damages alleging that in April 1919, a contract was made with Miss King for the exclusive use of her phonograph, name, etc. on an electric phonograph. The plaintiff alleged that she later learned Miss King had sold the rights to other parties.

“Fielder Woman” is now playing at the Broadway Theater. It is a D. N. Schwab prod. starring David Butler.

Boom in Theaters
In England, according to Jury and Rowland, Just Here from Abroad

Both Richard A. Rowland, president of Metro, and Sir William Jury, head of Jury’s Imperial Pictures, Ltd., Metro’s English distributor, see a theater boom coming in England. They have just arrived in New York from abroad.

English production is going ahead rapidly, they say, and British producers are determined to make their mark in film history, according to their observations.

Sir William is to be the guest of Mr. Rowland while in this country. His stay here will be an indefinite one.

European Theater Shell-Shocked

The European theater is suffering from shell shock, according to John Emerson, president of the Actors’ Equity Association, who returned on the Imperial Sunday. Mr. Emerson spent six weeks overseas studying the European theater and gathering data on foreign organizations of actors and dramatists.

“In both England and France the plays this season are far below the pre-war standard,” said Emerson. “They are inferior in quality and comparatively few in number and the managers have been obliged to put on revivals or import plays from America in order to fill their theaters.”

Emerson was accompanied on his trip by his wife, Anita Reelcraft, the scenario writer, who searched the European markets for new stories for Constance Talmadge. A tour of the foreign studios convinced Mr. Emerson and Miss Loos that Europe is at least five years behind America in photoplay production, since producers are loath to risk the capital required for the production of pictures suitable for competition in the world market.

Empire, New Brighton, Bought
New Brighton, Pa.—The S. and L. Amusement Co. purchased the Empire at Third Ave. and Eighth St. from Charles M. McDanel.

"Bud" Duncan, Reelcraft Star
“Bud” Duncan, the “Bud” of “Ham & Bud,” is coming back to the screen as a star for Reelcraft in a series of one reel comedies, to be distributed as “Bud & His Buddies.”

Incorporations

Atlanta—Sally Films, Inc. Capital $10,000.

Atlanta—Georgia Enterprises, Inc. Capital $100,000.

Raleigh. N. C.—Motion Picture Theaters Corp., Charlotte. Capital $100,000.

NEGATIVE
For Sale, Reasonable
U. S. and Canadian Rights
Print available for screening
C. B. PRICE & CO., INC., 1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Bryant 799

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

“CLAYPLAY”
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

“COMICLASSICS”
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month with our Greatest Stars
Directed by REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made “His Married Life” “Bringing Up Father” etc.

Wid's Daily
Tuesday, August 10, 1921
The Bowery Boy finally learned how to eat soup with an ear trumpet. Arthur S. Kane's presentation of Charles Ray in George M. Cohan's great stage play, "45 Minutes from Broadway," a First Nat'l attraction.—Advt.

Garson at Odds

Harry Garson, a stockholder of Equity Pictures Corp., on Saturday secured a receiver for the company on the grounds that the assets valued at $600,000 were not properly being cared for. Judge Glennon of the Supreme Court appointed A. J. Johnson, former city chamberlain, receiver for the company. (Continued on Page 3)

Service for Ind'p'ts

A new organization called the Allied Independent Attractions, Inc., has been formed to supply a complete service to independent producers from the time a film is contemplated and the script has to be prepared to the completion of distribution arrangements.

Harry Leonhardt, builder of the California theater in Los Angeles, is (Continued on Page 3)

Koplar Gets Offer

Of Over $500,000 and Famous Litigation May Be Settled Out of Court

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis—The controversy over the ownership and control of 16 houses and airdomes between Famous Players of Missouri Corp., and Harry Koplar will be settled out of court in the next few days, it was learned yesterday. The suit is set for trial in the Circuit Court Thursday.

A tentative offer of settlement has been submitted to Harry Koplar. It is understood he will accept. It is said to provide for payment of $25,000 to Koplar for his interest in the theaters. Also $45,000 for attorney fees. Koplar has declined to discuss the offer, saying he will not make a statement until the deal is consummated.

The legal controversy between Koplar and Famous Players organization has attracted considerable attention. It started last March. Since then suits, counter-suits, petitions for receivers and requests for accounting have followed one another in rapid succession.

New Film for Criterion

It is understood that "Humoresque" will close its run at the Criterion on Saturday, Aug. 21, and that either "The Right to Love," a George Fennamoire production with Mae Murray and David Powell, or "The Restless Sex," starring Marion Davies, will go into the theater for a run. "Humoresque" will play the Rialto and the Rivoli for one week each.

Reelcraft Stock

Faron, Son & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, are offering to the public a block of 200,000 in 8 per cent preferred Class A stock of the Reelcraft Pictures Corp., which deals exclusively in short reel subjects.

The issue is in shares of $25 par value and as an added inducement Faron, Son & Co. are giving a bonus of 100 shares of the common stock with each one of the preferred.

William Faron of the brokerage firm is a director of Reelcraft.
Holiday Time

Due in Industry Tomorrow Because of Theater Owners' Excursion to Bear Mountain

It promises to be a sort of half holiday in the industry tomorrow because of the big outing planned by the Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce Bear Mountain.

Not only has one of the biggest excursions been chartered exclusively for the excursionists at the Washington Irving—but a big shore dinner and a fine supper have been arranged together with many other novelties, which are expected to be enjoyed.

It is said that many of the big excursions will practically close down to allow their men to join the party. Many of the most important executives will be on hand. Adolph Zukor, Marcus Loew, F. B. Warren and others, will be there and Selznick will send a cameraman along to shoot 1,000 feet or so of the party to be shown in the houses owned by the Theater Owners.

If you haven't already arranged to get in on this, better do so—that is, if there are any tickets left.

Savin in Town

R. M. Swanson, state right buyer, is in town. He is stopping at the Astor and is making his headquarters at the Lynch office.

Howells Going Abroad

David P. Howells will leave on Aug. 14 for a trip to Europe. He will visit his offices in London and Paris and will visit other European lands.

Changes at Rialto-Rivoli

Rivoli has been given some new features: At the Rivoli, Wallace Reid in "What's Your Hurry," and at the Rialto, "The Soul of Youth," will appear David T. William production for Realeart.

190 Houses Signed

Harry H. Buschbaum, local manager for Famous Players, reports that 190 theaters have already signed in the Greater New York territory for the annual Paramount week, Sept. 5 to 11.

Shipment Starts Another Deal

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

Montreal. Que.—A meeting occurred here yesterday between D. G. Campbell, president of Northern Pictures Corp., Ltd., of Calgary, and Ernest Shipman, president of Dominion Film Co., Inc., of New York, controlling the screen rights to the Ralph Connor stories, and as a result the Northern Pictures Co. will produce "Camerons of the Royal Mounted," and "The Patrol of the Sun Down Trail."shipman will accompany Shipman to New York, where plans for immediate production will be put into effect.

Nelians Signs Rosher

Hollywood—Marshall Nelians has signed on a long term arrangement Charles G. Rosher, who has been photographer for Mary Pickford the past three years.

46 the First Year

Planned by W. H. Swanson's New Producing Company in Salt Lake City

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Salt Lake City—A minimum of 46 feature productions the first year is promised by the Utah Motion Picture Producing Co., as W. H. Swanson's new company is expected to be called.

Of this number 40 will be features and six specials. There will also be 12 two-reeler comedies and two 18-reeler serials. It is understood that permanent source of story material has been arranged for and that a well-known star has been signed to work for the new company. Hamilton Smith, who is affiliated with Swan- son in the new company, will be in charge of production for the company.

Fathe and the Franco-American

Davis, Inerarity of Pathé Exchange declares that the statements attributed to M. Andre Himmel of the Franco-American Cinematograph Corp., that Pathé was controlled in France by this new organization "are without foundation of fact."

A member of the banking firm of Keech & Co., which is interested in the Franco-American concern, said yesterday that he desired to enter into no altercation regarding the affiliations of the Franco-American, but that the statements originally made at the Ritz dinner stood, and that it was not necessary even to confirm them.

It was this statement that Mr. Inerarity says is "without foundation of fact."

Pioneer Gets McLure Squibs

J. S. Hastings, better known as Luke McLure, the famous conductor, whose quips appear every day in over 250 newspapers throughout the United States and Canada, has gone and done it. The "movies" will soon have Luke McLure's Film-Osophy through arrangements with Pioneer Film.

Buster Keaton Injured

Los Angeles—Buster Keaton, according to a physician at a hospital where he was operated on, was not injured enough to require hospitalization.

Terwilliger Taken Ill

George Terwilliger, while directing "The Misleading Lady" with Bert Lytell, was taken ill and was forced to abandon work on the Metro screen, George Irving has taken Terwilliger's place until the latter's return.

Samuels Selling Houses

Atlanta—Adolph Samuels, president of Southeastern Pictures is disposing of his exhibitor interests and disposed of the Alamo at Valdosta and Alamo at Newnan to J. H. Smith and E. B. Armstead respectively.

Montpelier, Vt.—Inter State Amusement Co. of Barre $50,000. John E. Hoban, John B. Eames and George W. Gorman. Will operate places of amusement, especially picture houses.

The Ritchey poster is interest compelling, it is persuasive, it is convincing. As a natural result it sells the maximum number of seats.

DO YOU KNOW HOW MANY THEATER CHAINs ARE IN THE UNITED STATES? THEY ARE ALL TABULATED IN

Wid's 192 Year Book

—Coming Soon—
Garrison at Odds
(Continued from Page 1)

Monday the matter was taken up in court in the court house town. Johnson was in- formed that the order appointing him as Tax Collector had been vacated by Judge McAvoy.

Joseph J. Schnitzer, president of Motion Pictures, said to WID’s DAILY yesterday: "The receiving order was granted on the false affidavit and false testi mony furnished by Harry Garrison. Papers were served in this office late Saturday afternoon. Had they been served earlier we would have moved to vacate the receiving order that day. As it was we could take no action until Monday, when upon our application and our evidence the receiving order was vacated."

There were reports in circulation yesterday regarding an alleged unique happening in the Equity offices late Saturday night, but no confirmation of the reports could be secured.

Service for Ind’pts
(Continued from Page 1)

president of the new organization. Ralph Proctor, formerly with United Artists and Associated Exhibitors, is vice-president, and general manager, and O. E. Chaney, president of the stock brokerage company at 35 Wall St., bearing his name, is secretary and treasurer. Chaney is also president of the Hemmer Superior Trust, a new company formed to take care of Edward Hemmer, formerly with Mary Pickford, is actively interested.

Allied Independent Attractions plans to provide a local headquarters for independent producers who arrange for its service. Proctor is now completing a staff of assistants which will cover every branch of the business from preparation of the scenarios to arrangement of first run in the country’s big cities.

Houses Bought
Baltimore—Joseph Blechman bought Picture Garden from John J. Faupel.

Pittsburgh—J. Soltz bought Accro Afternoons from Max Steinberg.

Pittsburgh—David Wertheimer bought Colonial.

C. B. C. Film Sales
New Independent Organization Formed by Joe Brandt and Jack Cohn

Joe Brandt, former director general of National Film Co., has formed the C. B. C. Film Sales Corp., which will deal exclusively in independent productions.

Mr. Brandt has associated himself with Jack Cohn, producer of Screen Snapshots and also of the Halilroom Boys comedies. Cohn will take care of the New York office of the company at 1600 Broadway.

Brandt is now on the coast supervising the production of the Thunderbolt Jack serial. Before leaving he stated he had already signed contracts for production of six reel westerns for Irvin Phelps and with the Marion H. Kohn Prod. for a series of two reel comedies.

Cuts and Flashes
"Kiss Me Quick" is the title of Clyde Cook’s first comedy for Fox.

Edward Earle will support Doradina in "The Passion Fruit."

Claire Whitney has been engaged by Metro to appear in "Fine Feathers.

Bayard Veiler has completed his first original story for Metro, "He Tried to Be King."

Arthur E. MacHugh will leave the Maggie organization on the 20th to rejoin the Hammerstein show, "Always You."

Burlington, N. J.—A syndicate operating a chain bought Auditorium from Edward B. Hulke, Ellis H. Parker and Harvey E. Lippincott.

Camaraman
With complete outfit
Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE Co., Inc.
446 Broaday, N. Y.
Phone Bryant 799

Wanted
FILM EDITOR
and
TITLE WRITER
for permanent position. Must be an expert. Write fully, stating salary desired.

CONFIDENTIAL
Box B—WID’S

A producer will spend a hundred thousand on a picture and then allow it to be spoiled by permitting some hair-brained, flea-sensed individual to edit it. It isn’t too late to save your picture! I can show you how to make your “Evver” look like a Rolls-Royce.

1600 Broadway, N. Y.

Free one-sheets, bannars, slides, herald cards (one and two color) newspaper advertising and Money Sheed.

What more do you want?
At Broadway Theaters

Rivoli
Bryant Washburn in a new version of George Broadhurst’s “What Happened to Jenny?” has gone into a long run. Only a fair amount of amusement is afforded by it but a splendid accompanying program helps considerably.

Broadway
“The California Bathing Girls,” the revue which has been appearing for the last two weeks at this house in conjunction with the picture, “Up in Mary’s Attic,” still holds the lead for its third week despite the fact that Mary and her Attic have been turned off the screen. David Butler in “Filmie Women” has the feature picture and between it and the revue there is no more relation that her magazine is holding and Mary Falcondale bathing suit. In other words the present “Filmie Women” is not to be matched up in regard to its separate parts. Mary's photograph is done, all the review and Topics of the Day are the other numbers.

Strand
Anneke Kellerman in “What Women Love” is the attraction at this house. Joseph Punkevit has used many of the large paintings in the lobby, showing the story in a piecemeal attitude. A scene prologue, “Bottom of the Sea” with John Hart. Despite the fact that the play is rendered before the picture, it is the prologue, “Pinchme” and the prologue, “In and after the feature there is a vocal-instrumental number, “Fiddle and I,” utilizing the services of a vaudeville trumpeter and soprano. The comedy is “His Master's Breath,” from Universal.

Capitol
Von Strokeh’s “The Devil’s Pass Key” is the feature at this house and is preceded by a prologue utilizing the services of the Capitol ensemble and orchestra. The entire arrangement of feature and prologue is the doing of the Victor. Mr. van der Smee, sojourns at the Capitol now in place of Nat Humes and his orchestra at the Rialto and Rivoli in the old days, and recent arrangements of songs by acting the part of Hugo Kiesler’s musical comedy, “Betty.” This week he has arranged Liszt’s “Twentieth Hungarian Rhapsodie” and conducts it as the overture. Another of Gumsky’s latest effects, “Scarlet Dance,” is given before a pretty Wagner setting, The Capitol News and the feature follow with “Nanam” as the organ solo concluding the bill.

Selznick Backs Independents
In reply to a telegram from Sydney, Selznick has announced the activities of S. A. Lynch, who is charged with endeavoring to negotiate for the output of all productions of the Southern States, L. J. Selznick says he will continue to support the independent exhibitor and is against any monopoly schemes.

New Serial for Pathé
Pathé has acquired the picture rights to “The Portieth Door,” with Mary Hastings Bradley, and will produce it as a 15 episode serial starring Charles Hutchinson. Contracts for the filming have been closed by Pathé with the author and Robert Brunton, who will produce it.

Judgments Filed
The following judgments have been filed:
C. Lucirt against Andrew J. Callaghan for $490.48.

Worthy of Repetition
Irving Ky., Kentuckiens take their political seriously, and much to their disappointment are exploiting repeat engagements on Charlie Chaplin in “A Dog’s Life” and Shoulder Arms,” David But- field, owner of the Gains Theater, filed a petition nominating the comedian for Congress. The fact that the nomination was ruled out on account of the non-residence of the candidate didn’t hurt the results of the exploitation, however.

A Film-Less Town
Clinton, Iowa—This town for the first time in its 100 years, was without a picture show on a miner pay-day the last week in July. The Orpheum was closed for summer repairs and the Wonderland was closed for two days on account of the death of Mr. W. P. Scratcher, mother-in-law and grandmother of William and Paul Shaw, owners of the theaters and the holder of the Associated First National sub-franchise for the Clinton territory.

“The Thug,” starring Eugene O’Brien, and “The Poor Simp,” starring Owen Moore, have been changed to “The Wonderful Chance” and “Love Is An Awful Thing,” respectively.

ENLARGEMENTS
moving picture movies, for stills and cuts. Also high class printing. Twenty years experience in film laboratories.

W. J. Morat
302 E. 33rd St., N. Y. C.
Phone, Vanderbilt 7361

Many Sales for Hall Room Comedies
The Hall Room Boys Comedies, the series of shorts recently acquired by Inter-Ocean for exclusive foreign distribution covering a period of three years, have been disposed of according to its Sydney Schlessinger, for Great Britain, Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay and Japan.

Pathé’s Sept. Schedule

Peerless State-Rights
Jean Lewis who recently resigned as director of sales for the D. N. Schwab Prod. is now with the Peerless Pictures Co., with offices at 17 W. 46th St. The Peerless Co Oct. 13.

Carlos Returns
Among the passengers who returned to this country on the Imperator are Carlos, connected with the Fox European organization.

New House for First National Ashbury Park, N. J.—The new theater now under construction at Main St., will be operated by Walte Read. He will show First National productions.

Mrs. Sidney Drew is to direct Alice Joyce in “Cousin Kate” at Vitagraph.

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month
GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month
“CLAYPLAY”
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week
“COMICLASSICS”
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars

Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
“His Married Life”
“Bringing Up Father” etc.

Special Pictures Corp.
Strike in Sight

In New York theaters may go about the end of the week—unable to get together with local exhibitors. It is something unforeseen. It looks as if the operators could be for a long time.

A last proposition made to the operators was $1.10 an hour flat for all up to 1,500 seats and $1.20 an hour for houses of greater seating capacity. This was rejected by the operators' committee.

It is understood that the operators believe the following scale of prices is from 60 to 85 per cent above the existing scale:

- Seating 300 to 600: $1.38
- Seating 601 to 1,000: $1.50
- Seating 1,001 to 1,500: $1.62
- Seating 1,501 to 2,000: $1.75
- Seating 2,001 to 2,500: $1.80
- Seating 2,501 and over: $2 an hour

Their rate for all circuit houses is $1.50 an hour.

The committee is told that the operators have made offers to the exhibitors for a more amicable settlement of the strike. The exhibitors claim to be willing to meet a reasonable advance in the wages desired under the existing scale.

They claim that skilled labor is paid $1.50 an hour for 52 weeks of a year, and that $75 per month in better prices than many electricians, etc., are getting.

They claimed that while a majority of the operators' union are desirous of reaching an agreement with the operators that some of the more radical in the organization are insisting on scale demanded, and a strike.

Horowitz, recording secretary of the union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, yesterday that there was no evidence in the reports that negotiations between the Chamber of Commerce had broken off and no strike date set.

It is said that concessions were still on and that he offered a satisfactory conclusion to the strike.

Local Scenes of "Headin' Home"

Ruth Will start shooting the scenes of "Headin' Home" when the group returns home next Monday. The director has shown much interest in the matter.

Offices Abroad

The Harry T. Levey Service Corp. plans to open a series of offices in foreign lands to handle "Truth Productions" as the company's product will be called.

Allyn B. Carrick will have charge of the foreign end of the company's business. He will make his headquarters in London at the end of the month to start a tour of the continent. He will later go to South America and the Orient to arrange for branches.

The west coast of South America will be handled from the Hotel Colom, Plaza Zela, Lima, Peru, and Belzium from 9 Rue de Chartres, Brussels.

Levey, besides handling industrial, will have on hand stock scenes of fires, strikes, etc., which he will sell to producers. He has just completed a film for the Jewish Welfare Board which will become part of the Army and Navy record at Washington.

Europe Bound

A party of film folk will leave today amateur Monday afternoon for Europe aboard the "Empire."

Constance Talmadge, her sister Norma, Joseph M. Schenck, Dorothy Gish and her mother, Olive Thomas, and Jack Pickford have booked passage. All are going on pleasure trips.

Denver Theaters Not Closed

An erroneous impression prevails in film circles that on account of the strike the Denver theaters have closed. A proclamation by the Mayor has been made, those of the Denver Film Exchange Board of Trade, advising that the Denver theaters were closed only for three hours on Friday afternoon, this action being taken solely through voluntary order of the house managers and owners.
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

Atlantic, Ga.—Willard G. Patterson, manager of the Criterion, criticises severally the exhibitor who exploits on a large scale the inferior production leaving the good one to take care of itself. "The business of exhibiting, unlike that of running tent shows," says Patterson, "is not to make a clean-up one week or one day, but should consist of aiming at a steady patronage. He will never reach a mark of 100 per cent satisfaction for his patrons but can come close to it by playing up good films and packing the house with them, while he soft-pedals the poor ones." Patterson declares that an exhibitor can pack his theater with sufficient exploitation to see the poorest pictures turned out—for one night. Hundreds who have come under the impression that they were going to see something fine will place the blame on the management and that is where I belong.

Use Compton Picture on Pamphlet

Los Angeles—The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is preparing a special booklet called "Motion Picture Making in Los Angeles" which will have on the cover a scene showing Betty Compton filming "Prisoners of Love." The booklet will be given worldwide distribution.

Stockholders of

POWERS FILM PRODUCTS, INC.
who have not yet communicated with the undersigned for their participation in the Powers Stockholders Protective Committee are invited to write today to:

FREDERICK J. HARRISON,
Stockholder and Former Chemist of the Powers Film Products Plant,
103 Dartmouth Street
Rochester, N. Y.

A. C. Berman in from Canada
A. C. Berman, general sales manager for the United Artists Canadian organization is in town for a few days.

Kineto in Deal With Major Film
Carl H. Fiore, vice-president of Kineto Co. of America, has closed a deal with the Major Film Co. of Boston, whereby the latter company will distribute Chas. Urban's "Movie Chats" in New England.

Treme Pictures" for Schertzinger
Los Angeles—Victor Schertzinger, directing Mabel Normand for Goldwyn, will hereafter make what he terms "theme pictures."

Schertzinger's idea calls for the use throughout the making of a picture of a certain musical selection which best fits the character of the story. He thinks the orchestra leaders in theaters should use the same selection in preparing the musical score for the picture, drawing the conclusion that it will hold good for the completed picture as well as for the film while in the making.

Irene Castle at Ithaca
(Issue to WID'S DAILY)

Ithaca, N. Y.—Irene Castle is at work at the old Wharton studio where Cayuga Pictures are making their first picture. Robert Gordon is also in the cast. This is the company in which J. X. Naulty and Gardner Hunting are interested.

Nathan Hirsch is preparing a number of advertising novelties for "The Woman Above Reproach" which will be state-righted.

Quotations

Last Bid Asked. Sale

Famous Players............ 70 1/2 70 1/2

Goldwyn.................. 15

D. W. Griffith............. 15

Loew's, Inc. 20 3/4 20 3/4 20 3/4

Triangle.................. 16

Unit. Pict. Prod............ 17

World Film................. 98

do 2nd pfd................ 98

New Houses for Wilmington

Wilmington, Del.—The Park at Third and Union St. has opened. Two more picture houses are under construction; the Palace at Market above Fifth St., and one on Market St., which will probably be called the Wilmington.
The Whole World will see

"EARTHBOUND"
and acclaim

T. HAYES HUNTER
THE GREATEST DIRECTOR OF HIS TIME

T. Hayes Hunter's wonderful example of perfected crécencraft, applying to motion pictures for the first time the technique of the drama in its highest development

is now playing at the

ASTOR THEATRE NEW YORK
AT TWO DOLLAR PRICES
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 24
"THE BACHELOR'S CHILDREN"
with Harry T. Morey
PAUL SCARDON
Directed It
And also
"Partners of the Night"
and
"Milestones"
For Goldwyn

Small's Play Co.
Edward Small, well known as an agent in the picture field, has just secured the Edw. Small Play Co., in which stage productions will be handled, as well as for picture rights later.
Small has just completed an important foreign deal whereby Sidney Garrett will have Small's stage directors for foreign productions. This is expected to develop in an important way when foreign production activities develop.

Southerners Here
There has been a great party on from Southern exhibitors at the Astor all week. R. D. Craver, First National franchise holder in the South, has been showing a big crowd of Southerners all about the town. In the party are Rowland Hill of Greensboro, A. F. Sands of Winstou-Salem and half a dozen others.

Ray Finishes Cohan Play
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Ray Fin has finished work on "45 Minutes from Broadway" and will next make "Nineteen and Phyllis."

Three Production Units
Messmore Kendall and Robert W. Chambers will have three production units at work in the fall. One on Chambers' stories, one on Vivian Martin Prod. and a third on C. Gardner Sullivan Prod.

Talk Over Sub-Franchises
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
New Haven—J. D. Williams, Harry O. Schwalbe, Lient. "Jim" Anderson and Nathan Gordon of First National held a conference here last Friday with the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of Connecticut at which the circuit's new sub-franchise plan was gone into.

Brown Plans Another Film
Los Angeles—Bothwell Brown, who appeared in "Yankee Doodle in Berlin" is expected here at the completion of his vaudeville tour to make another film. It will be an independent production.

New Theaters
Houses Planned
Providence—Emery Bros., Sun- bert-Majestic and Emery, to build.
Danville, Va.—C. P. Wall and J. W. Norman to build.
Milford, Conn.—Joseph Pulasik and Carl Noneki. $60,000.
Clinton, Ill.—Clinton Amusement Co. to build.
Boston—William Stobber plans theater in newly-acquired building.
Baltimore — Douglas Amusement Corp. to build.
Dorchester, Mass.—Dr. H. Norman to build.

"Roxy" Receives Praise
One of the outstanding features of the special showing of "Earthbound" (to be reviewed in Sunday's issue) at the Astor on Tuesday night, was the presentation by "Roxy." There was a most unusual and artistic hanging employed about the screen, which remained in place time, depending upon the motif of the picture, was colored with beautifully tinted lights, which varied from red to blue and other tones. It is the first time that this innovation has been used. In a manner it was somewhat like the effect that Griffith presented with the premier of "Broken Blossoms," and yet it was entirely different. It will probably prove an inspiration to many exhibitors. The music cues and the entire musical accompaniment to the production were unusually fitting. There was some question whether the prologue was not too long insofar as there was no action to its, but this may have seemed longer than it actually was because of the intense and aggravating heat.

"Life" Completed
William Brady's production of "Life" is finished and has entered the cutting stage. Over 150,000 feet of negative were taken. It is expected that the picture will be ready for a trade showing the last week in August, and its initial public showing may be expected about the middle of September.
No arrangements have as yet been made as to the method of distributing "Life." Brady proposes to make at least four pictures a year from now on and probably more.

Photoplayers, Attention
We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the photo-graphy profession here on the coast. We invite your patronage.
Yours for success.

Cohen To Edit Films
Jack Cohen has installed a new department at 1600 Broadway, where he will take care of the editing and cutting of films. His specialty will be the building up of "weak sisters."

San Diego Coming to New York
Pittsburgh—S. San Diego of the S. & F Film and Supply Co., distributor of the Pioneer product in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, is going to New York to look around for fall releases. He will make his headquarters with Pioneer Film.

Williamsport, Pa.—Williamsport Theater Co. bought Naje.

ROBERT A. SANBORN
Adapter of
Over 30 O. Henry Features for Vitagraph
At present with Universal West Coast Studios
Universal City, California

WANTED:
FILM EDITOR
and
TITLE WRITER
for permanent position. Must be expert. Write fully, stating salary desired.

CONFIDENTIAL
Box B—4—WID'S

Cameraman
with complete outfit
Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO. INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 796

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month
GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc

Special Pictures Corp

AMERICA'S FINEST LABORATORY
Located
Atop The Palisades
Uppere 12th Street

Palisades Film Laboratories
Palisades, N. J.
Manhattan 621-2

STATE RIGHT BUYER

Who Is
The Woman
Above
Repose?

Write or Wire
NATHAN HIRSH
729 SEVENTH AVE
N. Y. C.
Completes Contract
by Gish Has Finished 14th and Last Production for Famous Players

Departure of Dorothy Gish for the New was they manager called seeking Angeles understood special depression and have provided Famous loss rather than to be East Louis owners the picture star was filmed happy and A. Nazimova attorney operators' admission to court.
No. 14, has remained Nazimova, the Griffith union as Famous Kane, the have been controversy and the result has been Hyde that other theaters, which
in was 12,000,000.

What 1920, and
and

Adv.

"You crook, I'll put you out of business for all time for this."—Charles Ray in "45 Minutes from Broadway," from the great stage play by George
M. Cohan, presented by Arthur S. Kane, and a First National attraction.—

Chaplin Talks
Dispatches from Salt Lake City yesterday morning quote Charlie Chaplin as saying, in connection with his divorce proceedings, that his wife, Martha, Harris Chaplin, is seeking an order restraining the sale of a picture which he worked for two years and which has been sold for $300,000.

The dispatches add that Chaplin went to Salt Lake City because of a law in Utah which would prevent serving the restraining order and that
(Continued on Page 6)

More Studio Space for Schenck
Joseph A. Schenck's executive offices will be removed from 110 W.
42nd St., to the studio in East 48th St. about Sept. 1.

Schenck has taken over the Oliver studios immediately adjoining the TLMajad Plant and will break through the wall. The combined studios will provide increased production space as well as quarters for the offices.

Controversy Ends
(As quoted by WID'S DAILY)
St. Louis—It is understood on reliable authority that the Harry Koplar controversy with the Famous Players-Missouri Corp., regarding 16 theaters and airoutes here has been settled out of court. Koplar is understood to have received $25,000 and $45,000 in attorney fees.

No one could be reached at Famous Players for confirmation of the above.
The terms of the settlement, however, are those outlined in a special dispatch to WID'S DAILY, published on Wednesday.

Block New Manager at Chicago
At Lichtman, Famous Players, has announced the appointment of Percy Block as branch manager at Chicago. Block formerly was manager at Cleveland for Goldwyn.

Kassel Studios, Inc.
Lobby paintings for state right buyers.—Adv.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Hollywood—Arthur Rosson, who is directing Betty Compson in her second starring vehicle, which is to be distributed by Goldwyn, has returned from a three-weeks' location trip at Oxnard, Cal., where desert scenes were photographed.

Robert Karrle, who photographed many of Bert Lytell's Metro successes, has returned to the Metro studio and will do the camera work on the Mattie Gleason, all-star production, which Philip Rosen is to direct.

One of the big productions which will shortly be filmed by Famous Players-Lasky is a version of the latest Wm. Vaughn Moody's play, 'The Faith Healer.' George Melford is to direct. Milton Sills is to have the same part.

Wallace Reid's next production for Famous will be "Free Air" an automobile story that appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Reid is now making "Always Audacious."

The title of the Universal photo drama just completed by Reeves Eason, featuring Gladys Walton and Jack Fernin, and produced as "Out of the Sky," has been changed to "Pink Tights."

Chester M. Franklin will direct Mary Miles Minter in her next feature, "All Soul's Eve," adapted by Tom Geraghty from Ann Crawford and Flanner's stage play of the same name.

Jeannine Patrick, a newcomer in pictures, will play the lead opposite Wanda Hawley in her new starring vehicle for Realeart.

Harrison Ford has been engaged to play the leading male role in Bebe Daniels' next starring picture, which is scheduled to start next Monday.

James Neil and Edythe Chapman have been signed by Goldwyn for an other year.

Tom Meighan's next Paramount production will be "Easy Street" which Tom Forman is to direct.

H. H. Van Loan is turning out a new western thriller for Tom Mix.

William Conklin has been added to the cast of "White Ashes," Metro.

Cameraman's Experiences
The National Geographic Society has accepted publication in its magazine an illustrated article based on the experiences of a Chester-Outing cameraman among the Indians of the Matto Crosse in the interior of Brazil, the country covered by the Roosevelt expedition. The article was written by William Henry Wright, a former magazine editor, in charge of the title writing for the Chester productions.

Turning the Tables
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Bremerton, Wash.—E. M. Taylor of the Osram Amusement Co., which operates the Rialto, Dream and Rex theaters here worked a clever stunt on Aug. 1, in connection with the showing of "Nothing But Lies" at the Rialto.

The Osram Amusement Co., is controlled by Jensen and Von Herberg, who are experiencing difficulty with the operators' unions.

The union had been throwing leaflets in front of the Jensen and Von Herberg theaters labeled "Unfair to Organized Labor."

Taylor had these gathered in and had printed along the margin in red ink "Nothing But Lies—Rialto, Sunday, Aug. 1."

Cuts and Flashes
The A. M. P. A. held a routine meeting yesterday at Cafe Boulevard.

Howard Thurston, the magician, completed his first picture "Twisted Souls."

Ondy Bergere has gone for a short visit to Hot Springs, Ark., where her mother is ill.

S. P. Blackman, formerly of American, Cinema, has filed judgment against James Keane for $21,441.26.

Arthur Mande has been engaged by Metro to prepare the scenario for "The Message to Mars" in which Bert Lytell will appear for Metro.

Herbert Feldman, formerly of Famous Players and Universal, has entered the ranks of the free-lance publicity writers.

Hugh Thompson has completed work in the third Goldwyn production starring Mabel Normand, in which he has appeared as her leading man. They are "The Slim Princess," "What Happened to Rosa," and "Head Over Heels."

Arrow Sales
"The Golden Trail" Arrow fall release has been sold in the New England to Samuel Grand, Arrow Film Corp. of New England.

Changes in the Field
Minneapolis—E. B. Thompson, Walter Waddell, E. R. Ridich and E. R. Wilk have been added to the sales force of the Friedman Film Corp.

Chicago—Harry Weiss of the Superior Screen Service, Inc., has closed with the Creation Film Inc., for Illinois and Indiana rights on "The Freedom of Ireland." This is a six reel feature, with De Valera and an all star cast.
Sub-Franchise Analysis

Famous Players’ Criticism of Sub-Franchise Plan Answered by First National—Some Interesting Ideas

Below will be found a criticism of the sub-franchise plan of First National as made by an attorney in behalf of Famous Players, together with a statement from First National relative to his criticism. An official of Famous Players, in protesting against the printing of the circular sent to salesmen in Famous Players’ organization, made what was termed a “knock” at the proposed plan, but was simply to advise the salesforce with reference to the franchise plan of which so much has been discussed. He closed by saying that Famous Players “knocked” any opposition or competitive company.

On the other hand, at First National it was stated that they heard of the circular immediately it was sent out, and had based their analysis of the criticism and forwarded it to their salesforce. And, while any motive or intent on the part of Famous in bringing out the criticism can be disregarded, the following is value: it is an interesting discussion relative to the sub-franchise idea that has as yet developed. For this reason it is listed in full.

The first paragraph in each item is the view of the attorney of Famous issued, and the following paragraph the comment on that criticism as made by First National.

Paragraph 1—Under paragraph one, First National agrees that the exhibitor would not distribute pictures that he did not distribute or designate until there is no statement as to many pictures First National would receive the following year and incorporate over, as they did this year, without protection which is given to those holding franchises. They would naturally do this in a jam.

First Nat.’s Claim—Should Asso. National Pictures be dissolved year and be reincorporated, the exhibitor members at that time would not receive stock collateral in new enterprise in exactly the same way as the present Asso. National members when First National’s Circuit was used as the for creating Asso. First National. When this was done, each of the original members received in Asso. First National Pictures, dollar for dollar in exchange for the assets each of them in First National Exhibitor’s Circuit in over to Asso. National Pictures. That such a corporation might happen is very probable and could only be done by the consent of a majority of the membership, and it is very in that nothing of this kind ever be done by Asso. First National. Pictures along the lines or the methods which have char- the reorganization of several other concerns as new branches of established companies, transactions with which the industry generally is familiar and which is still remembered very clearly by those involved in those organizations and in the early days of their activities.

Paragraph 2—Under paragraph four make this contract at all, in view of the fact that the company sets the prices at which the articles are to be sold, or at what time they are to be sold, and do not in any way say how many articles are to be sold and only sets the price of the articles at the time of delivery and not now when the contract is signed.

First Nat.’s Claim—We cannot say today, what Charles Ray productions will be worth two years or five years from now. This applies to every other star, director and producer now releasing through First National or outside First National. It is impossible for any human being to determine what specific film values will be a year or more in advance. No other company can promise exhibitors new productions a year ahead for definition of production cost and rental prices.

Paragraph 3—Under paragraph five this has a very dangerous provision for the exhibitor in view of the fact that First National can distribute as many pictures as it wants and might very well distribute more than an exhibitor in a certain territory, and the franchisee might distribute pictures of a very inferior grade to a certain extent, and these pictures the exhibitor would be in no way to sell. Also, if a person in his territory, thereby building up his own opposition to some extent, would go without the approval of the exchange in the territory, and if the exchange change and the exhibitor disagreed, and supposed it is the sole boss in the situation. Under this clause, some of the little exhibitors could be struck out very quickly if the distributor desired to do so.

First Nat.’s Claim—The majority of theaters now entering First National’s franchises are first run houses, charging high rentals, and this automatically regulates the number of productions which Asso. National can release, thereby making it almost certain that exhibitors who change pictures daily or three times a week will never have enough small value pictures for exhibition. Our contracts for pictures always are made with the chief purpose of obtaining productions that are strong enough in star value to attract story values to play profitable engagements of seven days or more in the many first run key city houses which have franchises. They are necessarily the first and most important consideration, and it follows that pro pictures do not stand the test of daily, or tri-weekly. This eliminates the possibility of any inferior grade of production. Moreover, the criticism above is ridiculous in declaring that in the event of inferior pictures the exhibitor is bound to our relations to some other person in his territory, thereby building up his own opposition, because no opposition theater can succeed with poor produc. Seven day pictures never will occasion any necessity to franchise owners with small houses to seek to them in any but their own theaters.

Paragraph 4—Under paragraph six this has a very dangerous provision for the exhibitor in view of the fact that First National can distribute as many pictures as it wants and might very well distribute more than an exhibitor in a certain territory, and the franchisee might distribute pictures of a very inferior grade to a certain extent, and these pictures the exhibitor would be in no way to sell. Also, if a person in his territory, thereby building up his own opposition to some extent, would go without the approval of the exchange in the territory, and if the exchange change and the exhibitor disagreed, and supposed it is the sole boss in the situation. Under this clause, some of the little exhibitors could be struck out very quickly if the distributor desired to do so.

First Nat.’s Claim—The majority of theaters now entering First National’s franchises are first run houses, charging high rentals, and this automatically regulates the number of productions which Asso. National can release, thereby making it almost certain that exhibitors who change pictures daily or three times a week will never have enough small value pictures for exhibition. Our contracts for pictures always are made with the chief purpose of obtaining productions that are strong enough in star value to attract story values to play profitable engagements of seven days or more in the many first run key city houses which have franchises. They are necessarily the first and most important consideration, and it follows that pro pictures do not stand the test of daily, or tri-weekly. This eliminates the possibility of any inferior grade of production. Moreover, the criticism above is ridiculous in declaring that in the event of inferior pictures the exhibitor is bound to our relations to some other person in his territory, thereby building up his own opposition, because no opposition theater can succeed with poor produc. Seven day pictures never will occasion any necessity to franchise owners with small houses to seek to them in any but their own theaters.

First Nat.’s Claim—Every franchise holder under the franchise agreement is entitled to a certain percentage of the cost of motion pictures to be delivered over the next two or three years. He has absolutely no say in the matter as to how much he must advance, nor has he any say in the matter as to the release of the pictures. It is he who has to advance the money. For example, under the clause, there is nothing to prevent the company from calling upon the exhibitor with the demand for advance, and if he fails to do it, to be made in the future and which might not be released until 1925, 1926, 1927, etc., for the return of his money in the event the picture is for reason not released.

First Nat.’s Claim—Here the person on the Executive Committee, which each member has from 20 to 40 big picture franchises, precludes any such possibility, because their respective theaters each carry an advance assessment that is made; nor is there the least likelihood that through the action of the Executive Committee would be asked any advance assessment money which could not be recovered should the pictures not be delivered.

Moreover, the original franchise owners in First National’s Exhibitor’s Circuit have advanced $2,000,000 to stars and producers as part payment on future productions all of which are available to new sub-franchise owners without any immediate issue. This amount constitutes almost one-half of the entire total capitalization of Associated First National Pictures and must be accounted for in the stock which the new sub-franchise owners obtain through their membership.

Paragraph 7—Under paragraph seven “In the event that a picture turns out to be exceedingly cheaply produced, it does not get the advantage of a legitimate run, and must be content to wait until the legitimate run is over, at which time it is turned in the contract a substantial increase in admission price over what the theater of the franchise holder is charging for admission. Taking New York specifically, this is not meant that in the event of a good picture being brought out, the Strand Theater of New York will be able to change the legitimate run of the picture before it could play it. No theater holds the title to be able to do this, unless that is the proceeds of the legitimate run.

First Nat.’s Claim—Every franchise holder has the option of playing every picture obtained by Asso. First National Pictures. The reservation of right to play rare attractions on any other basis is at once a protection and a safeguard to our members, because it enables them to increase the value of their franchise equity in any given production, which is as a release may call a longer run and a higher admission than is made possible by the established policies and recognized precedents in their own immediate theaters, but this is in accordance with the terms of the franchise agreement, is entirely optional with the exhibitor members.

Our critics neglect to point out that there are only 30 cities in the entire United States, and wherein big special attractions can be put on for extended runs, and inasmuch as there are only the original exhibitor members of First National’s Exhibitor’s Circuit and sponsored by such an action. They also omit explanation of how our original members realized this fact.

(Continued on Page 4)
Franchise Analysis
(Continued from Page 3)

fully when they agreed to that condition in the franchise agreement and did they know that a member in any of the 8,000 or more cities and towns remaining would be con tresed into a franchise of this kind. This course would only be adopted to establish definite exhibition contracts and to secure a greater percentage of the gross in so doing the publicity and general advertising in the 30 key cities would greatly intensify the value of an inferior class, made by franchise holders in all other zones in the country.

Regarding Paragraph 8

Famous Players’ Claim—“After number eight, the contract is in small type, and the most important clause against the exhibitor appear in small type.”

First Nat’s, Claim—Not even remotely correct. The reading matter was secret other than absolutely fair and just. This inference in the criticism is worse than absurd.

Regarding Paragraph 9

Famous Players’ Claim—“Paragraph Nine says substantially that where they have an outside producer where the producer of this outside production insists upon percentage arrangements and approval of contracts, that all that goes before in the contract counts for naught and these pictures will be sold on a basis approved by the producer.”

First Nat’s, Claim—The proposition of a First National house in any town has as much chance of getting these pictures as the First National house; if it does not get the pictures, it can jack up the price to a point where the First National house cannot pay no money. All of the good pictures which will be released on the First National program will be released by producers who get their own house, and this provision is the only pictures that will be released. The other way are the pictures which will not be released. The people engaged in the theater business, the managers, the do and corporate directors, who require the financing. In other words, where the exhibitors are wealthy companies, they are going to be a better investment. Where there are things like the Talmadges or Ray pictures, they will have to pay practically the same price as they had in the past. This is the vital point of weakness in the whole contract.”

First Nat’s, Claim—It is impracticable for any producer to attempt to play more than two per cent. of the theaters in the United States and Canada on a percentage basis. It is only the big key city houses which can give the producer a sufficient return on his investment. And even setting up this profit as the cost of exploitation, advertising, representatives, and all other expenses, of all kinds of the business, and this again returns the main responsibility and the main contract with remotely possible obligations to the franchisees. Only one or two of the national members of First National Exhibitors’ Circuit who own and hold franchises for a great majority of the two percent of the theaters which a producer can play a percentage. This particular clause in our sub-franchise agreement was written in purposely to avoid closing the door entirely to big special productions. We did not want to take away from the producer in a position which would make the producer of a truly great picture look upon their theaters as entirely beyond the scope of the market awaiting his efforts.

Furthermore, should AssO First National Pictures contract, with a producer to make a picture on a percentage basis, an agreement for a payment on a straight percentage basis, this action automatically eliminates him from the exclusion of pictures, owners and gives them equal opportunity with all other exhibitors to obtain such a production through our only one exchange of dollars proportionally the same prices and on the same terms to which they would be entitled should any particular production of that kind be offered to them through some other agency. They are not obligated by this arrangement to buy pictures play or pay for a production which we might obtain on a straight percentage arrangement.

Regarding Exhibition Valuation

Famous Players’ Claim—“There is another vital point in regard to the contract, which seems to have been overlooked. For example, a picture might be a very great success in North, like ‘The Copperhead,’ and be absolutely valueless in the South. Still if the exhibition value set by the compensation, the percentage of picture, although it would be worthless in the South, yet if a Philadelphia exhibitor were unable to play a picture on account of censorship, he would still have to pay for it under his contract, because if he did not pay for it, there would be no way for the main office to make up for it by charging more somewhere else.”

First Nat’s, Claim—Investigation of past releases by all companies shows conclusively that it is very difficult to predict the result of any picture that has failed to have a general national appeal but allowing that some production might be a success, the company has taken a given section of the United States and the necessity of paying the assessment would for the moment be lifted, the record remain of that picture. It is absolutely certain that the owner stock of the productions they will receive on franchise which will have a great appeal and which will show box office results in some other territory when what should be the average nominal return on the rental or assessment price for those pictures. The possibility of the value of the pictures in any territory is extremely remote, and indicates the extremes to which the contract is written with finding points of attack upon our franchise.

Regarding Defaulting Members

Famous Players’ Claim—“Under this contract a man might run along and have advanced a great deal of money on productions to be delivered in the future, and then might deliver under this agreement. In the event that he does so, all the moneys which he has put up to pictures to be delivered in the future, are forfeited as liquidated damages. This is a very harsh clause against the exhibitor and I do not see how it could be avoided.”

First Nat’s, Claim—It has been the general practice of all companies to give the other companies buy before they sell and therefore incur no specific liability in behalf of any exhibitor any financial obligations under a national when they contract for one of more productions we do so in behalf of the entire association, and it cannot be considered fair or just to the other members when one member, equally in whose behalf film purchases have been made, suddenly defaults for one reason or another and expects that his consequent failure to fulfill his portion of the responsibility shall be absorbed and paid for by his fellow members. This clause is neither new, nor really any hardship to any honorable man is prepared always to fulfill every obligation he incurs personal or through collective buying, representing an expenditure of money and protection, this very clause has been written into the franchise agreement upon the advice of an attorney that they will not be compelled to pay the bills for a defaulting member.

Regarding Cancellations

Famous Players’ Claim—“After 1926, every party to this contract can cancel the obligations of the other party simply means that for the next few years the exhibitors are building up the First National institution, which will be controlled from the inside, and if at the end of five years it becomes a success all these exhibitors contracts will be cancelled as the exhibitors will not be needed to finance the manufacture of motion pictures, and the organization will be swamped with control of the situation in hands of one or two leaders.”

First Nat’s, Claim—The Board of Directors and the Board of Trustees of First National Pictures were elected by the entire membership. The Board of Voting Trustees which will vote all stock, until 1923, remains in existence until that time, and if there are any exhibitors who can find any reason or use for any or the past record of any member of this Board which causes a doubt or the least tendency to doubt the integrity, honesty, loyalty and complete confidence of any one of all of these members then the exhibitor or exhibitors who doubt should not join or remain a part of First National franchise. The above criticism charges that we might wish to cancel a good contract. This is a lie, thought, because this wouldn’t mean destruction of the organization through loss of its market and by the very laws of economics such a calamity with First National Pictures would have to refund stock or its equivalent in cash to every exhibitor so cancellation would be impossible. The criticism of intelligence or business sense in devoting five years to perfecting a co-operative organization of exhibitors only to disrupt it after it had been thoroughly established. Moreover, members would not for an instant tolerate a control vested in “one or two leaders,” and if anyone were fool enough to attempt to obtain such control, then the entire membership will be in a position to prevent such a consequent disaster not to the organization but to the “one or two leaders” who would create for poses of their own.

Say Contract Is “All Company”

Famous Players’ Claim—“There are one or two clauses. One regard to the assignment, which every harsh on the exhibitor, and the other a clause which is practically nothing exhibitor. If we compare it with one of our own, it is easy to point out the advantages ours and the disadvantages of ours, and particular, one, particularly stressing lay stress in the fact that the individual exhibitor is buying as a part of the Board for an uncertain number years at an uncertain price; the71 j said the time the delinquent had been having the making of the picture and only getting credit on a small percentage of the gross and the payments WITHOUT INTEREST, or price being set upon a competitor before the franchise had been made and the house recess by the up prices. This last sentence was the whole situation in a nutshell.”

First Nat’s, Claim—The matter of stock assignments to the Board of Voting Trustees is covered by the stock certificate receipting the Associated Artists, creating a Board of Voting Trustees was to protect every member from the strong possibility that if the stock was sold in several thousand shares, opponents of First Nat could easily buy their way into the organization, obtain a deal of voice in its affairs against interests of its members, and about contacts difficulties looking the financial position of the organization. Again, the matter of membership in the Board of Voting Trustees becomes important and no one member of the Board in them should consider himself as a franchise. The phrase: “The President of our company without a franchise,” is really invalid, because First Nat’s pictures are composed entirely of exhibitors and no company. The matter of the above criticism is covered in earlier paragraphs.

In conclusion First National comments on the criticism of Fox Players as follows:

“Remember this! If other critics attacking our franchise plan do not believe that it is practical, so absolutely false. Every exhibitor member, and so valuable once the individual exhibitor takes the time to study and analyze it carefully, they would not have to agree with the use of their money to criticize any particular. They are not here for special sales meetings with daylight hours long—as they are First National. The first phase—on any proposition which is to have more than enough means to insure its ultimate success. Remember that!”

FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1926

WIDE DAILY
Alleged a Bankrupt

Pittsburgh Film Company Subject of Court Action by Creditors

Pittsburgh—Another chapter in the existence of the Advanced Photoplay Corp., a local concern promoted here recently for the purpose of building a photoplay studio in the vicinity of the Public Square Garden Eastend, was written yesterday when an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against the corporation in the U. S. District Court. It is said considerable capital was invested in the enterprise by local investors, but the concern never went through as intended.

The involuntary petition filed showed creditors' claims of almost $10,000. It was brought by A. H. Saddale and M. A. Saddale, trading as A. H. Saddale & Son, Allison Park. The petition claims the corporation committed an act of bankruptcy by permitting its landlord, the Automatic Association of Pittsburgh, to obtain preference through legal proceedings over other creditors.

The petition gives the following as officers of the corporation: Edwin McKim, president; David D. Davies, secretary and treasurer, and Samuel Bennett, assistant secretary. The office given in the petition as Penn. and Highland Aves.

Climax Buys Two Films

Climax Film Corp., a leading silent picture firm has purchased two pictures for the independent market: "Love's Battle" and "The Fourth Face."

Ellis Making Gov.'s Film

The official "Standards" of the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor are being told in a two reel story. Carlyle Ellis of Auto graphed Films who produced the production was awarded a prize of $500 when the week.

New Exchange in Baltimore

H. P. Moorehead, an exhibitor of Washington, has opened an independent exchange in Baltimore. He is located at the Arrow offices and contracted for "Woman's Man." His contract provides for distributing in Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia.

Hunter Prolongs Visit

T. Hayes Hunter, director of "Earthbound," who was here a few days ago, is not ready to return to his headquarters at the Labors Club during his stay in New York to witness the opening of his picture at the Astor Theater, will not leave for Hollywood until next Wednesday. His original schedule called for just four days in Broadway.

Nellon Warns of Imposter

Los Angeles—Marshall Nellon has issued a warning to exhibitors in the Western states to guard against an impostor suggesting himself as Mr. Nellon. This is not the first time the matter has been brought to the attention of the trade. A company that makes several films has appeared on the west coast under the Nellon name.

New Theaters

Houses Planned

Greenville, Pa.—Alph. M. P. Co., $25,000.

New York—Sarasota Realty Co., $200,000, 149 W. 13th St.

Elorado, Kan.—About $300,000 will be spent on the erection of a new house by the Elorado Hotel Co.

Newark, N. J.—Adams Bros., will erect a house seating 2,000 at a cost of $1,000,000.

A'ltontown, Pa.—The Liberty Theater Co., will build a $275,000 house.

Evansville, Ind.—The Standard Theater Company will erect a house costing $450,000.

Carlfon, Ind.—Frank P. Paul will open a new house.

Kewanee, Ill.—F. W. Fisher purchased the Garden from Harold Sallade.

Kankakee, Ill.—W. H. Cadaret, La Petite Theater, has returned from New York.

Sycamore, Ill.—Ed Fechel, Plum Theater, announces the opening Oct. 12.

Tensertown, Pa.—Liberty being built $200,000, 1,400. A Sowra, manager of the theater will act in similar capacity at this house.

Baltimore—Leo H. Homand and C. Constantine building Appollo.

Milford, Conn.—Harford interests to build.

El Dorado, Ark.—L. B. Clark is the manager of a company which will build. $75,000. 350.

Martinez, Cal.—J. J. McNamara $100,000, 1,400.

Sahana, Cal.—Turner and Dahnken $13,500, 1,400.

San Francisco—Herbert L. Rotschild to build on Portola site.

$1,500,000 Delaware Company

(by wire to WID'S DAILY)

Dover, N. J.—The McDonald Motion Picture and Amusement Corp. is the latest of the film companies to be chartered here. Capitalization $500,000. Incorporators Frank Valastro, August Maymi and Dolores Rivers, New York City.

The Life of New York Motion Picture Corp., with a capitalization of $250,000 has also been formed here by the Corporation Trust Co.

Sanders Presented With Gift

When Claud Sanders returned to his desk at Famous Players yesterday following a business trip to the Middle West, he found a handsome solid gold cigarette case together with a framed letter signed by the field exploitation force.

The gift is a momento of the first anniversary of the establishment of the Exploitation Department under Mr. Sanders' direction.

Dustin Honored at Dinner

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

At Long Beach last night a banquet was given Edward Dustin, former manager of the Pathe, who left this week for the coast to engage in the producing business. The affair was held at Caronville, a suburb of St. Louis, and Dustin was presented by the members of the Pathe Film Board of Trade with a pair of diamond cuff links and a silk umbrella.

Dustin was very popular here.

PARAMOUNT WEEK, SEPTEMBER 1920

A demonstration by America's best theatres, to show the people where to go—not just for this week, but for the entire season.

THREE LARGE OFFICES WITH VAULT SPACE FOR RENT

Use of Cutting Room—Terms Reasonable

Telephone: Bryant 1335, 4347

Ask for Mr. BARR

Already 278 Stockholders of the POWERS FILM PRODUCTS, INC.

Have expressed their interest in the Stockholders' Protective Committee now forming to investigate the formation, the conduct and the present condition of the company and to take such steps as may be found necessary to protect their holdings.

The balance of the Stockholders should communicate immediately with the undersigned, giving the date and number of shares purchased, price paid and from whom bought.

FRED K. HARRISON

Stockholder and Former Chemist at the Plant

103 Dartmouth Street

Rochester, N. Y.
Pathé Takes Lease

On United Picture Offices—Assets Brung Over $6,000,000.

The most important occurrence of the week was yesterday's sale of the assets of United Picture Prod. Corp., and United Picture Theatres Corp. to Pathé Exchange, Inc. for $1,880,000 for the annual rental of $7,000 and $7,000 more for the purchase of the lease. In August 1922, by Pathe Exchange, Inc. This down payment amounted to $500 and brought a verbal battle, a representative of the landlord announced that the owner would not recognize the purchase of the lease, and a meeting of the courts upholding the lease, the contract would not stand. It was pointed out by Re-"veiver Zalkin that the landlord could not interfere with the pur-"thase of the lease, and it was soon disposed of.

Pathé repeated its attempt to sell all of the assets in one lot and the sum bid of $500 was rejected. The final transaction of the productions company and the theaters company were then offered for sale separately. It is estimated that $4,000 and $1,880,000 were received for these, the lease being disposed of by itself. It was then decided to auction off the two lots individually, the features, etc., of United Picture Prod., being sold for $884,91, and those of United Picture Theaters for about $4,000.

Five reel comedies and two features are still in the hands of Zalkin, who will dispose of them in about 30 days. These are the Lee Kids in "Freaks and Oil" and "Dixie Kids," each of a two-reeler; Cissy Fitzgerald in "Cissy's Fun-fun-M," "Cissy's Financial Flite" and "Cissy's Economy," Florence Reed in "The Eternal Mother," and Patricia Marsh in "Face to Face."

Pathe plans to renovate the quarters and house its Newark exchange in the new building, and the exchange already occupies space on that floor.

$213,133 Recovered

In Delinquent Theater Admission Taxes by Government Force

(Continued from Page 1)

Washington—In a period of seven weeks, from June 16 to July 31, the government has recovered a special force of revenue officers recovered $213,133 in delinquent theater admission taxes. This total等于les from twelve theaters from recovered production from picture theaters and those from legitimate theaters.

The drive is under direction of Commissioner of Internal Revenue William M. Williams and will be conducted in all sections of the country in an aggressive manner. The revenue officers investigating delinquent admissions are armed with special powers, such as the ability to examine all books, papers and bookkeeping accounts.

Alleged Conspiracy Unearthed

(Continued from WID'S DAILY)

Denver—Detectives claim that picture theater owners and the government have been victimized in a systematic fashion by employees of the Princess Theater here in concert with Hal J. Davis, cashier, who are alleged to have resold tickets and pocketed the money themselves. Government officers are expected in other theaters here since delinquent practice has been due in a widespread one, in aggregate One $12,000 or $12,000 is stolen in the past year by dishonest employees.

Wisconsin Exhibitors Form League

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Milwaukee—A state league to be known as the Wisconsin Exhibitors' Association, has been formed with the following officers: President, John R. Roden of Keshena; vice-president, Arthur Herrick, secretary, Fred Segret of Milwaukee; treasurer, J. Winninger of Appleton; and the executive committee consists of F. J. Williams, J. H. Silliman, Henry Goldman, E. F. Walcott and Ernest Langmack. These officers along with Kinnov and Kendall Rice make up the executive committee.

Flynn Promoted

J. E. Flynn, former resident manager of the Detroit branch of the Wisconsin Exhibitors Association, has been appointed supervisor of the territory covered by the Cincinnati and Cleveland offices, with headquarters in Detroit.

Publicity Man Invites Garments

For 15 years editor on big-time newspapers; former P. D. of national advertising agency; late associate with leading fan magazine. A big man in the public relations field, New York invited.

Circus Authority

Care Wid's Daily. New York City

for the

Mats, Electrics and Stereos

For the

Motion Picture Trade

T. Rubin & Co.

23 E, 4th St., N. Y.

Phones Spring 8303, R7.1.

The fastest stereopticons in N. Y. C.

They Were All There

Yes; there were all there all right. From prominent executives right down the line to film salesmen and exhibitors.

The occasion was the outdo of the Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce at Bear Mountain. And the outing was a "dinner." Music was provided by Haunmel's Jazz Orchestra from the Biltmore. There was shore dinner, dancing, athletic contests, all sorts of races including three legged and leaping dominoes and a number of other features that made this event a memorable one.

The White House was cheer-tered by the Chamber of Commerce especially for the occasion. It was an all day affair and everybody agreed that it was a good one.

Grainger Leaves the "Herald"

Ed C. Grainger, attached to New York office of the Exhibitors' Herald, has resigned, effective tommorow, to become New York representative for King Vidor Prod. headquarters will be at the First National offices.

Huguenot Theater Corp.

(Continued from WID'S DAILY)

Albany—The Huguenot Theater Corp., has been formed here with capitalization of $1,000,000. Watson, F. W. Nixon and G. F. J. is president of 120 Sherman Ave., are the corporators.

The above corporation was formed it is understood, to cover the erection of a picture theater to be called Huguenot, attached to National Playhouse Corp., is believed to be the hooking proposition.

Chester Conklin

2 Reels—One-A-Month

Gale Henry

2 Reels—One-A-Month

CLAYPLAY

Novelty Comedies

1 Reel—One-A-Week

Sunset Burud

Scenic Stories

1 Reel—One-A-Week

Comic Classics

1500 ft. of Comedy

500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Mor with our Greatest Stars

Directed by

Reggie Morris

the man who made

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father"
Lynch and Black
Connections With Famous to Be Investigated by Committee of 9—Report Made Public
The M. P. T. O. Committee of 9 as filed its report of how it views the theater owning properties of Famous Players. Its findings, agreed to by Mr. Zukor, have just been made public. Mr. Zukor agrees, as he has always said, not to build where his productions can get a fair showing. The committee will try to work at an equitable contract with Mr. S. A. Black for the benefit of exhibitors.
And in addition Cohen has sent a letter submitting reports of a few of the flagrant complaints relative to the activities of Mr. S. A. Black and his representatives, in New England, and of Mr. S. A. Lynch, southern Enterprises, Inc., and representatives in the South. Our understanding is that you are to have the people and their representatives investigate these complaints and we have their reports on same.
"It is also understood and agreed by this committee to meet with Mr. S. A. Lynch and his representatives, and Mr. S. A. Black and his representatives, so that we personally can go over these propositions in detail, and that Mr. S. A. Lynch, Southern Enterprises, Inc., and theater
(Continued on Page 4)

Hobart Resigns
Henry M. Hobart, vice-president and general manager of the International Film Service Co., Inc., producer of Cosmopolitan Prod., has resigned.
While Mr. Hobart could not be reached for a statement yesterday, Joseph A. Moore, treasurer of the International Magazine Co., which publishes WID'S DAILY, that it was true.
Hobart had resigned. Moore further stated that Hobart would not leave International Film until a new general manager had been appointed. Hobart has been on the score sheet for a long time and Hobart is well known to the industry.

Bankruptcy Alleged
Creditors File Petition Against Hallmark—No Statement Fortcoming from Frank Hall
An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday afternoon in the U.S. District Court against the Hallmark Pictures Corp.
The creditors and the sums involved are as follows:
- The Penn Export and Import Co., $157,000.
- R. F. Noonan Co., Inc., $2,017.
- Fred Speyer, $115.
Frank Hall could not be reached at his office yesterday and in his absence no official of the corporation cared to make any comment on the proceedings.

"Big 4" Must Show Books
Justice Richard P. Lydon has signed an order directing United Artists to produce their books in court in connection with the report of the product abroad to Morris Greenhill of London. Benjamin P. Schulberg is suing the company.

Censor Bill Dead
No Chance for Another Measure in Georgia for One Year
(By wire WID'S DAILY)
Atlanta—The censorship measure before the legislature has been killed.
The bill was never brought out of the rules committee and when the legislature adjourned last Wednesday the bill was killed with the closing of the session.
The question is therefore settled for another year.

Ascher Bought Out
First National Franchise for Illinois Sold to Balaban and Katz
(By wire WID'S DAILY)
Chicago—Balaban and Katz, who until now have retained a part interest in the First National franchise for Illinois, have taken over the interest of Ascher Bros. in the franchise.
This gives Balaban and Katz the entire franchise for the State of Illinois.
The First National executive offices yesterday verified the above dispatch. An official of the organization further stated that the Chicago deal eliminated from First National the last factor which is in any way connected with producing interests.
Ascher Bros., as noted, have sold a part interest in their theaters to the Goldwyn Company.

Commission Investigates Booking Combines
(Continued on Page 4)
Washington, D. C.—The Federal Trade Commission is conducting an investigation of booking combines, relative to their methods, and the result of the operations of such organizations.

Bookings Are the chief complaint of New York, and that a number of important film executives will be asked some interesting questions relative to booking combines.

Some time ago the Commission investigated the Stanley Co. of America, and also the Saenger Amusement Co. of New Orleans.

What do I care about the opinion of the society women, if you like me."
—Charles Ray in Arthur S. Kane's presentation of George M. Cohan's great stage play, "45 Minutes from Broadway," a First National attraction. —Advt.

Booking Combines
See Monday's issue for important information relative to booking companies and companies.
New Theaters

Houses Planned

Sebring, Fla.—Milton Baker to build.

Kimball, W. Va.—Charles K. Wagner. $18,000.

Long Beach, Cal.—Limerberger and Hite. $200,000.

St. Louis—Audrey Realty Co. $90,000.

Elgin, Ill.—Frank Theaian to rebuild house. $150,000. 1,600.

West Haven, Conn.—Herman Penn. $50,000.

Clearwater, Fla.—H. W. Bivins will build here.

Toledo, O.—Community Amusement, $65,000.

Freeport, Pa.—H. A. Seitz, $20,000.

Fairmont, W. Va.—Fairmont Amu. Co. to build.

Buffalo—Shea Amusement Co. to build theater and roof garden.

Portsmouth, Va.—Harry Holheimer to build.

Philadelphia—A. H. Levin, $30,000.

Munich, N. D.—Munich Playhouse Co. to build.

Farrel, Pa.—Stahl Bros. $5,500.

Fargo, N. D.—W. J. Hawk to build.

Dannville, N. Y.—Lally Amusement Co. to build.

Auburn, N. J.—Company headed by William Congerer. $100,000.

St. Louis—John P. Murphy to establish theater in newly acquired building.

Marquette, Mich.—Delf Theater, chain, to build another.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Pierre Lindaunt. $45,000.

Ashley, Mich.—G. D. Whitman opened picture house in Odd Fellows Hall.

Redondo, Cal.—Venice Investment Co. to rebuild Casino Cafe building into modern theater.

Ansonia, Conn.—B. N. Beard to build.

Alton, Ill.—Alton Amusement Co. to build.

Davison, Ill.—Horne Theater Co. to build.

Ely, Kan.—Walter Billings, American to build. $125,000.

Chandler, Ariz.—Theater to be called the Chandler will be built here.

Beatrice, Neb.—Rialto will be ready in September.

New Orleans—Orpheum expected to be ready early in January.

Allentown, Pa.—Liberty Theater Co. to build.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Louis Sedler, $100,000.

Toronto, Canada—Famous Players, $113,000.

Little Rock, Ark.—C. H. Crutchfield to build Alice.

Order Theater-Garage Closed

Dillsburg, Pa.—Due to the fact that there is a garage beneath it, the Opera House has been ordered closed.

Faulkner-Tyril Pictures, Inc., will produce “Claire,” published by Grosset & Dunlap.

Vogue Comedies Sales

Vogue Comedies handled by the American Film Co., have been sold for West Missouri and Kansas. T. Friedman, Celebrated Player, for North Illinois and Indiana; H. C. Charnas Standard Film Service Kentucky and Michigan; Ralph W. Weinsteiul Midwest Dist. Co., for Wisc. R.; and R. D. Lewis Film Company, for Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Steinberg, S. & S. Film Supply Co., for West Pennsylvania and Virginia; Consolidated Film Exchange, for East Penn. and Southern New Jersey; R. M. Savini of Savini Film, Inc., for Georgia; Florida, Alabama, Carolita and Tennessee; Sam Weiser for East Missouri and South Illinois; S. B. Lyst Super Film Attractions for Maryland, Delawar, Virginia, District of Columbia; P. Goldstone Sterling Film Corp., for Iowa and Nebraska.

Gail Kane who appeared “Empty Arms” for Park-Whitner Prod. and Henry Iden Ottmann who married several weeks ago, became known yesterday.

All RITCHIE posters have one thing in common: the ability to procure the maximum amount of box office receipts.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Lloyd Hamilton and Jack White have formed a producing combination known as the Hamilton-White Comedies.

Max Linder has completed his first independent production. When cut and edited he is going to take it to New York.

Reginald Barker, Goldwyn director who recently completed filming "Black Paw," will next take charge of "Bunny Pulls the Strings."

George Beban has finished cutting "One Man in a Million," the filming of which was started one year ago.

Mrs. Thomas H. Ince and her two sons have gone to Alaska on a three weeks' trip.

A "Tray Full of Trouble," is the release title of the latest Douglas MacLean vehicle, recently completed at the Ince studios under the title of "Yanconna Yllies," the name of the original story by Herschel S. Hall, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

"Some Chickens," is announced as the release title of the latest Douglas MacLean vehicle, recently completed at the Ince studios under the title of "Yanconna Yllies," the name of the original story by Herschel S. Hall, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

"Film City" for Frisco
(Special to WID’S DAILY)

San Francisco—The Argonaut Film Co. plans a "film city" at Santa Vrita, three miles north of San Rafael.

More for Hostetter Bros.
(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Omaha—The Hostetter Bros. have taken over the Orpheum and Family theaters in Clinton, la. The Hostetters own a string of houses through this section.

Kansas City, Mo.—Offices have been opened in the Film Exchange Building by a new independent exchange, the M. and N. Film Co.

Mozart Buys "Fickle Women"
The Mozart Film Exchange of Baltimore has purchased "Fickle Women," now running at the Broadway, for Washington, Delaware, Maryland, North Carolina and Virginia.

$10,000 Raised
(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

New Orleans—The convention of the Motion Picture Theater Owners held at the Hotel Gruenwald was in every way a success, according to A. J. Bethancourt, an official of the league.

About 150 theaters have been lined up in this territory for affiliation with the national organization and $10,000 was raised for working funds and the quota for the national treasury.

Bethancourt said to WID’S DAILY after the convention: "Antagonistic interests tried hard to bull the meeting, but we very graciously expelled them from the meeting."

Marx Succeeds Lux
Baltimore—E. Lux has been succeeded as Metro representative here by J. H. Marks. Lux resigned to enter another business.

Printing that is Distinctively Different

BARNES PRINTING COMPANY
INC.

"We Never Disappoint"

36 East 22nd Street
GRAMERCY 945

FIVE hundred pages of live, interesting and educational matter, gathered from a years work in

WID’S 1920 YEAR BOOK

COMING SOON
Lynch and Black

(Continued from Page 1)

holding associates representing your organization in the South, and Mr. A. S. Black and his associates in New England, will enter into a similar arrangement with the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, through your efforts as was entered into this 12th day of August, 1920, by and between the Famous Players-Lasky Corp., through you, and the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America."

S. A. Lynch of the Lynch Enterprises is in town but could not be reached yesterday for a statement as to his ideas of the Cohen communication.

A. S. Black could not be located yesterday, but in Cleveland several months ago he emphatically denied by telegraph to the exhibitors then in session, that he had sold his houses to Zukor.

While a number of the Committee of 9 will over until next week for the possible hearing with Lynch and Black, or their representatives, several of them will probably go home almost immediately.

The findings of the committee as presented by them are as follows:

"In view of your statement which appeared in Exhibitors Herald, issue of Aug. 14, 1920, and in view of the correspondence between our organization and yourself, we are submitting for your consideration the following proposition, with the earnest hope that same will lead to a permanent settlement of the controversy existing between the members of your organization and your organization."

"You state that it is your desire and purpose to have the good will of the independent exhibitor of the United States. In our opinion, same can be obtained if you, in behalf of your organization, will go on record in favor of the following definite policies:

A. That your organization does not intend to acquire theaters or to build new theaters in competition with the independent exhibitors of the country except in cases where you personally believe that your product is not receiving a fair and proportionate representation.

B. That whenever in any town city, community or zone, an independent exhibitor presents to the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America a claim that you are about to purchase, acquire or build a theater which will compete with his, this organization will appoint a fair and impartial committee to investigate the matter (none of whom will be affiliated with any producing or distributing corporation directly or indirectly). If the committee finds that you are intending to compete with the exhibitor in such instances, notwithstanding that you are able to secure for your product a fair and proportionate representation in such town, city, community or zone, you agree to receive the report of such committee and to give it your personal consideration and to give a personal hearing to the committee or its representatives if so desired.

"If you cannot obtain a fair and proportionate representation of your product in any case our organization would deem further activities of your company in that case as justifiable and not a violation of your pledge to our organization.

"To obviate the possibility of any misunderstanding on the above, we desire to call your attention to the fact that we do not propose to permit any committee of our organization to be used for the purpose of forcing any exhibitor to buy inferior productions.

We feel that you would want the merit of box office values of your productions to be the deciding factor on this point.

C. In conformity with the resolution unanimously adopted by the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, at their convention in Cleveland, Ohio, on June 8, 9 and 10, 1920, regarding an equitable contract between distributors or producers and the exhibitors, your company will cooperate with the counsel and executive committee of our organization and endeavor to agree upon a fair and equitable form of film rental contract, to be made effective at the earliest possible moment.

D. You will instruct your sales force that upon taking application for every contract for film rental service, they will leave with the exhibitor a true copy of the form of contract application which has been signed by the exhibitor.

"In return we are prepared to pledge the unqualified support of our association and its members to your enterprise."

The communication is signed for the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America by Sydney S. Cohen, president; C. C. Griffin, first vice-president; E. T. Peter, treasurer; W. D. Burlford, Fred C. Seegert, C. L. O'Reilly, John T. Collins, C. H. Bean, H. B. Varner, and is accepted for the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. by Adolph Zukor, president.

Davis Distributing Amalgamated in Ontario

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Toronto—Davis Amusement Enterprises have taken over the distribution of Amalgamated Exhibitors Circuit, Ltd., product for the Province of Ontario. The latter organization was formed some months ago by a group of Montreal exhibitors, who opened offices in Montreal and Toronto for the distribution of Hallmark and Pioneer productions.

The new arrangement does not affect the offices of both concerns in Montreal which remain as in the past. Davis Amusement Enterprises have been operating offices in both Toronto and Montreal for the past two years, distributing state rights productions and short subjects.

No Musicians Strike in Toronto

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Toronto—There will be no strike of musicians in the theaters of Toronto. A settlement was made last week and the downtown houses acceded to the demands of the musicians for the coming season, granting an increase of 33 1/3 per cent.

The smaller houses offered the musicians an increase of 10 per cent, which was accepted by the Musicians Union.

Incorporations

Dover, Del.—Jerome's Film Corp., Capital, $500,000. Incorporators: Jerome Herhenson, C. Herhenson, Fitchburg and E. E. Arrensmith, Knoxville, Pa.

Sacramento, Cal.—Sunquist Film Co., Los Angeles. Capital $10,000.

Greene Here

Walter Greene, editor of the Canadian Moving Picture Digest, is in town on one of his frequent visits.

Louis Burston Here

Louis Burston is back in town from California. He has with him a new contract called 'The Great Reward,' in which Francis Ford and Ella Hall appears.

Burston has some other films for disposal while here.

Joe Reddy of Pathe is to mar the date is Sept. 7 and the local lady, Ruby Jones of Saluda, Va.

"Nobody's Girl," starring Bill Rhodes is to be released by Federal Film Exchange of America in Aug. 15th.

CAMERAMAN

with complete outfit

Available

All Hours for Special Work

C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 299

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"

Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD

Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICCLASSICS"

1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month

with our Greatest Stars

Directed by REGGIE MORRIS

the man who made

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father," etc

Special Pictures Corp.

Wid's Daily

Binders

$3.00

Invaluable for reference purposes
THE CHORUS GIRL'S ROMANCE

Photodramatized from the Saturday Evening Post story
HEAD & SHOULDERS by F. SCOTT FITZGERALD

Scenario by PERCY HEATH and direction by WILLIAM C. DOWLAN

THE CHORUS GIRL'S ROMANCE

Starring

The Adorable VIOLA DANA

A stirring and moving story of the theatre and New York night life in which the soul of a chorus girl is laid bare.
Here is a picture that hits the bull’s eye of popular favor. "A DARK LANTERN" throws a bright light on your box-office. Miss Brady has always been the public's star and this is the public's picture. It is built to please all the people. The plot and Miss Brady's gowns give it particular appeal to the womenfolk, but the photoplay proves just as interesting to male audiences. The princeling heavy is a fine screen type because he is strange to this country; the inscrutable doctor hero is a man's man who wins quick admiration from gentler audiences; Miss Brady is a sure fire hit as the American girl who evades the princeling and solves the sphinx-like hero, whom she marries.

Better book this immediately!

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE  NEW YORK CITY

Copyright 1920, Wid's Film and Film Folks, Inc.

Published Daily at 71-73 West 46th St., New York, N. Y., by WID'S FILMS AND FILM FOLKS, INC.
P. C. ("Wid") Gunning, President and Treasurer; Joseph Dannenberg, vice-President and Editor; J. W. Alcort, Secretary and Business Manager.

Entered as second-class matter at New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.
Terms (Postage free) United States, Outside of Greater New York, $10.00 one year; 6 months, $5.00; 3 months, $3.00. Foreign, $15.00.
Subscribers should remit with order.
Address all communications to WID'S DAILY, 71-73 West 46th St., New York, N. Y.
Telephone: Vanderbilt 4551-4552-5558

Paris Representative: Le Film, 144 Rue Montmartre.

---

Features Reviewed

Basil King’s .................................. EARTHBOUND
Eminent Authors-Goldwyn ......................... Page 2

Annette Kellerman in ............... WHAT WOMEN LOVE
Sol Lesser-First National ....................... Page 3

May Allison in .................... HELD IN TRUST
Metro .................................... Page 5

David Butler in ............... FICKLE WOMEN
D. N. Schwab Prod.—State Rights ............. Page 7

Bryant Washburn in WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES
Paramount-Arctraft .......................... Page 9

Sessue Hayakawa in .................... AN ARABIAN KNIGHT
Haworth-Robertson-Cole ..................... Page 11

Mary-Miles Minter in A CUMBERLAND ROMANCE
Realart .................................. Page 14

Mildred Harris Chaplin in THE WOMAN IN HIS HOUSE
Louis B. Mayer-First National ............... Page 17

Matty Roubert in ................... HERITAGE
Wm. L. Roubert—State Rights ............... Page 19

Shirley Mason in ............... THE LITTLE WANDERER
Fox .................................... Page 21

Short Reels ................................ Page 23

---

WARNING
When you see an advertisement quoting a review from Wid's Daily check it up with the review. This may save deception or misunderstanding.

---

News of the Week in Headlines

Monday
B. B. Features, Inc., close deal with Hodkinson Corp. for four pictures.

W. H. Swanson of Salt Lake City planning $10,000-000 film producing company. Plans studio to accommodate seven companies.

Tuesday
Three suits for damages filed against Powers Film Products Co. in Rochester.

Harry Crandall, Washington, purchases Associated First National franchises formerly held by Tom Moore.

B. P. Schulberg and "Bernie" Fineman buy Sam Rork’s interest in Katherine MacDonald Co.

Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce seeking opinion as to legality of Famous Players' booking contract.

Harry Garson secures receiver for Equity Pictures, but court later vacates order.

Wednesday
Allied Independent Attractions, Inc., formed by Ralph Proctor to supply service to independent producers. Other producer-exhibitors in addition to Famous Players may be asked to meet the exhibitors' Committee of 9 on the theater holding question.

Thursday
Local operators’ union may go on strike Sept. 1. New demands aggregate 85 per cent increase.

F. J. Harrison, former chemist for P. A. Powers, seeks inquiry into affairs of Powers Film Prod. Co.

Reelcraft Pictures offer $800,000 stock to public.

Friday
Famous Players’ criticism of First National sub-franchise plan answered in detail by the latter.

Dorothy Gish completes Famous Players’ contract.

Harry Koplar settles controversy over St. Louis theaters with Famous Players for reported sum of $570,000.

Nazimova to make two more for Metro under present contract. May renew Metro contract.

Federal Government recovers $213,133 in delinquent theater admission taxes.

Saturday
Balaban & Katz buy Illinois First Nat'l franchise from Ascher Bros.

Censorship killed in Georgia.

Exhibitors’ Committee of 9 to investigate connections of Lynch and Black with Famous.

Involuntary petition of bankruptcy filed against Hallmark Pictures Corp.

---

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.
A Radical Step on Untrodden Ground—Destined to be Showered with Attention

Basil King’s “EARTHBOUND”
Eminent Authors—Goldwyn
DIRECTOR ....................... T. Hayes Hunter
AUTHOR ........................ Basil King
SCENARIO BY ..................... Edfrid A. Bingham
CAMERAMAN ....................... Andre Barlatier

AS A WHOLE ..... A Picture that gives shape to an indefinite idea over which everyone has pondered—will doubtless create tremendous discussion

STORY ...... Largely discursive in character; too slow at beginning but riveting attention during latter half

DIRECTION ...... Splendid as regards technical details and handling of murder and court-room scenes

PHOTOGRAPHY ....................... Fine
LIGHTINGS ........................ Excellent
CAMERA WORK ...... Perfect; double exposures wonderful

LEADING PLAYERS ................. All very good EXTERIORS .......................... Pretty
INTERIORS .......................... Quite perfect
DETAIL ......................... Generally satisfactory

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Concerns the influence of a departed spirit on the living.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 8,000 feet

“Earthbound is destined to be showered with attention because it makes a radical departure from the usual picture and delves into spiritualism. Its central character, a man who has lived according to the creed, “No God, no sin, no future life,” is murdered. By technically perfect processes of double exposure his “spirit” is seen mingling with the living characters, endeavoring to communicate with them, trying to bridge the gap between. Slowly he makes his presence felt on the rest, and, this accomplished and his earthly sins atoned for by those he has left behind, his spirit is unleashed from its earthbound state to depart for a Hereafter.

The cue of this work of Basil King’s is found in one of the subtitles which suggests that a man’s conscience may be, instead, a voice from the “other side,” struggling for the expression of the right. Thus the spirit of Desborough so effects Mrs. Daisy Rittenshaw through her conscience, that she takes the stand in her husband’s defense, revealing the sordid truth as to why Rittenshaw killed—her lover.

T. Hayes Hunter, in his capacity of director, has revealed himself as exceeding skillful in the main. The technical perfection of the double exposures are doubtless due to his efforts as well as his cameraman’s. There is a wealth of suspense preceding the murder scene and this scene particularly is handled in a masterly style.

The final half of the production holds strongly. Scenes between the Desborough spirit and the living characters are handled with fine regard for their effect. The first part of the picture, that is, that action introducing the characters and preceding the murder is, undoubtedly, possessed of superficial footage. This action is neither physical nor spiritual but largely convivial.

Wyndham Standing as Desborough and his double exposed spiritual outline succeeds in creating first a character of more or less timid swagger and later a suffering soul that could almost be termed realistic. Mahlon Hamilton as Rittenshaw and Flora Revalles as Daisy are well cast and perform unusually well. Naomi Childers gives a deeply sympathetic performance as Desborough’s wife while Lawson Butt and Alec Francis as Desborough’s friends are entirely satisfactory.

See This Yourself and Consider It Carefully from All Angles

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

First of all go and see “Earthbound” yourself. See it and then think it over carefully. It is a picture so unusual and marking such a radical departure in idea, that you can’t possibly accept it on somebody’s word the way you can a good melodrama or a comedy.

Then consider these facts. Never before have the questions of spiritualism and an after life been so prominently before the public. The papers daily carry news and special articles concerning these and related subjects. Everyone is interested.

Also bear in mind that there are thousands of people suffering bereavement who entertain ideas of communication with the departed. These ideas may be indefinite, but such a picture as “Earthbound” tends to shape them.

These things considered next turn to your advertising. Sensationalism might offend. Dignified arguments will attract attention because of the idea. That idea is the big point for you to feature.
Snappy Novelty Comedy With Star in Series of Water Stunts

Annette Kellerman in “WHAT WOMEN LOVE”
Sol Lesser—First National

DIRECTOR ......................... N. C. Watt
AUTHOR ............................ Bernard McConville
SCENARIO BY ...................... Not Credited
CAMERAMAN ........................ Not Credited
AS A WHOLE ...... Good novelty comedy with rapid action throughout and showing star at aquatic stunts

STORY ...... Not an awful lot to it, but it supplies a thread of interest and many amusing comedy sequences

DIRECTION ............... Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY ........... Generally excellent
LIGHTINGS ...... Very good; under water scenes very clear
CAMERA WORK ............. Very good

STAR ...... Shows a world of athletic ability and pep

SUPPORT .......... Very good

EXTERIORS ................. Fine

INTERIORS ........................ Good

DETAIL .......................... Generally all right

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Heroine falls in love with hero after he proves himself able to fight for her

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 6,377 feet

What women love, take it from this picture of that name, is cavemen. This conclusion may seem a bit sweeping and arbitrary to pop up at the end of a novelty comedy such as this, and it really is the only inconsistent point in the entire picture. Otherwise the production is a comedy of entirely priceless value. Annette Kellerman proves herself an athlete of general all around ability as well as a mistress of aquatic stunts, but these latter furnish the sensations of the picture.

There is plot sufficient to supply a fairly coherent thread of interest throughout the picture and the novelties and thrills provide a substantiating degree of it. Miss Kellerman appears as Annabel Cotton, the tomboy daughter of a would-be reformer. The gymnasium scene used to introduce her will draw many a laugh particularly her bout with the unwilling butler.

The next comedy sequence is the one in which she dives beneath the fisherman’s boat, rocks it, twirls it around in the water and fastens his boat to his own line. This one is certainly rich in extravagant comedy although if realism is looked for one has to excuse Miss Kellerman’s long stay beneath the surface by mentally awarding her with a pair of lungs of immense capacity.

The ocean beach is the scene of some good stuff in which the star, surrounded by a group of the ever-present bathing girls, and a couple of purity league scouts are the principal figures. At the end of this sequence Miss Kellerman executes a number of the fancy dives she is noted for.

Willie, Annabel’s suitor, practices up on boxing, etc., in order to be a match for her. His transformation from a senseless fop into a rugged hero affords opportunities for more comedy, few of which have been overlooked. In the end Willie proves himself a caveman by rescuing Annabel from an ex-prize fighter and a rough neck crew of a tramp vessel, into which he had taken her a captive, ignorant of the bad character of the general surroundings.

Miss Kellerman has been carefully handled in her closeups and registers very attractively. Wheeler Oakman does some good work as Willie and Walter Long is successful in creating a brutal heavy. Carl Ullman, Ralph Lewis and Bull Montana complete the cast.

This One Ought to Go Big With All Audiences

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

“What Women Love” is a very fine novelty comedy. At the Strand, New York, it seemed to please immensely and laughs were numerous. Probably at houses of all other types it will go over as well and doubtless in some of the smaller ones it will register a bigger hit. The comedy is novel and the thrills unusual. This combination of entertainment, set to the tune of brisk action, is pretty sure of registering with all audiences.

The title appears to have been chosen for its advertising purposes and for the fact that it suggests a story with a dominating element of sex. This latter isn’t the case. Considering the picture’s character, the title is a little off and in advertising it will be well to bring out that the picture is a novelty comedy and nothing else.

Play up the star, her aquatic stunts and the fact that this is the first picture she has had in a long while. Feature the fact that it’s a comedy. You can get over the title with such a line as, “What type of man is most favored among women. The caveman, the dilatante, the artist? See this whirlwind comedy and the conclusion it points to.”
Not Fair To The Other Exhibitors
O Boy! What a landslide for the FIVE WEEKS FREE SERVICE

Lord, Man, they came in like a deluge!!! Telegrams—Night letters—Letters—Telephone Calls (Don’t count these) just think, 1250 Applications in 3 days’ time, however, the trouble was—

I have from near by Points in and around N. Y. City and although I appreciate these, I want an exhibitor customer in every town in the United States, whom I can depend upon to give me his moral support, remember, I said MORAL, and not like some of the others who want YOUR MONEY ONLY.

If I am successful in lining up, we’ll say, FIVE THOUSAND EXHIBITORS who will give me their moral support, and will rent my product at “Live and Let Live” prices, with NO DEPOS-

GIVE AWAY SERVICE FOR A LIMITED PERIOD

With no obligation on your part to continue thereafter unless you so desire. That’s pretty plain, isn’t it? SOUNDS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE. For example, here’s what some of the boys wired in last week:

“I put the Rex in, hurrah for ‘Smiling Jimmy.’”—C. C. Conger, Cleburne, Tex.

“Saw you ad., and don’t believe it, put me down anyway.”—Andrews, Emporium, Pa.

“I’ll bite, if no strings attached count me in.”—Bailey, Rialto, Akron, Ohio.

“Gotchaboy, Should be Sunshine instead of Smiling Jimmy.”—McAvoy, Morgan, Auburn, N. Y.

“Hook me to the tail of your kite, here’s luck, Jimmy.”—Costello, Beverly, Brooklyn, N. Y.

“Don’t sound right, but if you are sponsor, must be O. K.”—Pollard, Guthrie, Okla.

HERE’S THE DOPE! (Read carefully)

Up to and including September 1st, 1920, I will give to any exhibitor who will wire or write to me, giving me name of his theatre and town:

Five weeks’ free service of two pictures each

THAT’S STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER AND ENOUGH!!!

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE TRADE IN GENERAL

We have our own producing staff, our own Studios, our own Laboratories. We have one hundred percent distributing facilities in 22 LARGE CITIES (Our Own Exchanges and not releasing through someone else.) We have no ITS OR ADVANCE PAYMENTS, I will have “A BIG STICK” that no Trust or anybody else will have any effect upon.

Please bear these important facts in mind, Brother Exhibitor. I am not trying to SELL YOU ANYTHING, there are absolutely no strings attached to my proposition at all, it is bona fide in every respect and will stand A ONE HUNDRED PER CENT ACID TEST. What I am trying to do is:—

And hundreds of others just like the above, ALL SKEPTICAL, but willing to give my plan a “fling,” just on general principles. The Exhibitor HAS A RIGHT TO BE SKEPTICAL, he has been browbeaten, cheated, double crossed, and in fact there is no telling what has happened to him, but “Straight from the shoulder” if the Lord will just give me strength, I am going to develop an organization with enough REAL BONA FIDE BUSINESS MEN EXHIBITORS to support same, that will be in a position to dominate everybody but THE EXHIBITOR if necessary, and as long as I have anything to do with it, you can rest assured that you will receive MORE THAN AN EVEN BREAK. I’m going to have my inning now!!! And I’m batting for the Exhibitor!!!

GET IN ON THE BAND WAGON, MR. EXHIBITOR. There is NOTHING TO LOSE and everything to gain.

The score is 2 to 0 against us, but we have two men on bases and “BABE” Kelly is at the bat!!!

There she goes over the fence!!! Hurrah! a HOME RUN! By

JAMES B. KELLY “Smiling Jimmy”

Temporary Headquarters: HOTEL CLARIDGE - - - NEW YORK CITY
HERE'S an entirely new characterization by Hayakawa, which will charm all his old friends, and vastly widen his appeal.

It will win for the exhibitor, on the simple ground that greater appeal means more patrons, and more patrons, more money.

Briefly: "An Arabian Knight" is the greatest Hayakawa picture, so far, from the exhibitor's standpoint, because it has the greatest box-office possibilities.
ROBERTSON-COLE
SPECIAL

MOON MADNESS

A Story of a Wild Desert Woman among the Wild Men of Paris.

A LOVE STORY, hot and compelling as the desert's heat, the mystery of the African borderland, and the glitter of the Paris boulevards all exert tremendous drawing power for this production.

Add an all-star cast, and one of the most artistic backgrounds ever seen, and the result is told in added profits to the exhibitor.
Very Obvious Story and Slow Tempo Too Much For This

May Allison in
"HELD IN TRUST"
Metro

DIRECTOR .................. John E. Ince
AUTHOR .................... George Kibbe Turner
SCENARIO BY ............... Sarah Y. Mason
CAMERAMAN ................. William Edmond

AS A WHOLE ...... Slow moving and obvious production given story that offers little entertainment.

STORY ...... Not much to it—anyone can see far ahead of the action.

DIRECTION ...... Awfully old style—tempo exasperatingly slow.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Average
LIGHTINGS .................... Average
CAMERA WORK ................ Good

STAR ...... Does what is required of her satisfactorily but doesn’t bring any distinction to role.

SUPPORT ..................... Fair
EXTERIORS .................... Nice
INTERIORS ..................... Satisfactory
DETAIL ........................ All right

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Shop-girl takes rich woman’s place believing it for the good of community—meets hero whom she is thus harming.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 5,600 feet

The heaviest drawback to “Held in Trust” is the terribly slow tempo at which it moves. The director seems to have taken a delight in instructing his players to proceed in their actions at a gait that would ordinarily be taken as a sign of fast approaching sinility and paralysis. There is one scene where a doctor uses up three pretty long flashes in the act of sitting down.

The plot is obvious to the extreme. One subtitle gives the whole thing away. After that subtitle, which comes very early in the action, there’s nothing to do but sit back and wait till the scenes have recorded the story you know is to be recorded. There isn’t a picture goer who won’t have the plot figured out in all but the little details.

And there aren’t more than a handful of these details. More dressing was needed for a story of this type. Dressing in the form of comedy, romance or anything to relieve the spectator from the simple obviousness of the plot. But the comedy strives for doesn’t register with any degree of surety. It is laborious.

The story has as its central character, Mary Manchester, a poor working girl. She is approached by a couple of schemers who want her to take the place of a rich woman who has died of insanity. They tell her that if she refuses the late lady’s fortune will go to the state and so throw thousands of people out of employment.

It takes Mary almost a full reel to decide whether to accept the proposition but at length she does. That’s about all there is until she meets Gorgas, a young doctor, relative of her deceased double. He fathoms the whole scheme by asking Mary pertinent questions about “herself,” which she is unable to answer. Discovering that she cheated Gorgas out of the fortune (which he would use to help the poor) Mary escapes from the schemers and puts herself in his charge.

But they capture Mary again and take her back to her prison-home. The husband in the case enters and attacks her. He sees the curtains move and shoots, believing the disturbance caused by Gorgas. In reality, the unlucky man is his own confederate. Gorgas arrives to save Mary from the brutalities of the husband and after that they are married.

May Allison does what is required of her in the role of Mary, but doesn’t register any greatly distinctive personality. Others are Darrell Foss, Walter Long, John Elliott, Lawrence Grant, G. Burnell Manly and the clever little lame dog.

This Was a Red Book Serial—That’s About All You Have to Talk About

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one hasn’t much to recommend it. Its box office power depends entirely on the star’s popularity and the fact that people may want to see the story, having read it in the Red Book as a serial.

However, they certainly will be expecting something better than what is offered them in this. Neither story nor star meet requirements or live up to expectations and there are merely some mildly amusing comedy bits in the whole course of the picture.

If you play this, soft-pedal the praise for the story and star. Merely announce that Miss Allison appears in an adaptation of a Red Book serial and let it go at that.
Yes, Mr. Gunning, We Have Figured It Out!
[And So Have the Country's Exhibitors]

Seven of the directors who are generally recognized by exhibitors as possessing the abilities to do work ranking with the best the industry has ever known—

Are working for themselves this year and for many years to come.

Seven producer-directors are no longer carrying weak stars or sustaining uneven-strength programs with their best work.

Seven producer-directors working out their ideals, doing the kind of productions that exhibitors themselves have told them mean the heaviest public patronage of picture theatres—such a seven-man alliance is a very high percentage of the twenty-five directors about whom "Wid" Gunning asks.

We believe that thousands of exhibitors must have noticed that we have issued no publicity for weeks; that we haven't sent a piece of publicity to the trade journals in a month. We are working, not talking. Evidently, on the basis of contracts already signed, the exhibitors of the country have a measure of the confidence in us that we have in ourselves.

Our hearts are in our work. You, the exhibitors, will reap the benefit of our ambitions and our efforts.

MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER - MAURICE TOURNEUR - J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE

Associated Producers Inc.
HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
New Star Shines in Very Pleasing Comedy-Drama

David Butler in "Fickle Women"

D. N. Schwab Prod.—State Rights

DIRECTOR ......................... Fred J. Butler
AUTHOR .............................. Sophie Kerr
SCENARIO BY ....................... Lee Royal
CAMERAMAN ........................ Hugh McClung

AS A WHOLE .......... Very pleasing comedy drama of the Charles Ray type

STORY .......... Registers fine comedy and has big sympathetic appeal

DIRECTION ... Very good—fine atmosphere of realism pervades whole work

PHOTOGRAPHY ......................... Good
LIGHTINGS ............................ Commendable
CAMERA WORK ......................... Good

STAR ......... A very good actor; registers comedy delightfully and plays on sympathy very skilfully

SUPPORT ............................... Very good
EXTERIORS ............................ Good rural stuff
INTERIORS ............................ Appropriate
DETAIL ................................. Fine
CHARACTER OF STORY .... Romance of returned soldier

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 4,837 feet

There was a lot of noise made about this picture when they started in to shoot and it was justified. David Butler, the star is a well known stock actor. He has brought to the screen a pleasing personality, a fine physique and an ability that is exceedingly above par in the picture world. His father, Fred Butler, attended to the directing and to general knowledge, this is his first attempt away from the stage. He has been very successful in his work here, the little details that go so much to make a picture stand out, being present in abundance.

"Fickle Women" is a story of the Charles Ray Type.

This One is Certainly There With a Big Entertainment Value

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Most all of you will find "Fickle Women" a fine piece of entertainment property. This is something of a foregone conclusion because it closely resembles productions of the Charles Ray type. However, the star here has a distinctive personality which thoroughly guards against the accusation that he is imitating. He creates a character quite out of the ordinary and makes it human and appealing down to the ground by his fine acting.

The title of this is all wrong. It doesn't mean very much at all. The original title of the story is by all odds better and still might be used over the picture. In this way you'll have the benefit of the advertising that the story got when it appeared in magazine form and this is a good angle to remember when you're bringing out a new star.

If Butler goes now with stuff like this, you can feel pretty sure that he'll be well known and popular before long.
Not Enough Real Comedy Situations to Satisfy

Bryant Washburn in
"WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES"
Paramount-Artcraft

DIRECTOR .................. James Cruze
AUTHOR ...................... George Broadhurst
SCENARIO BY .................. Elmer Harris
CAMERAMAN ............... Kinley Martin

Not enough real situations in this new version to cause any special comment.

Generally speaking, "What Happened to Jones" isn't up to the usual standard of farce offered by Bryant Washburn. There aren't any obviously original tricks nor any unusual twists to help it along either. The piece runs along in choppy sequences with a little wallop at romance for a finishing touch.

Jimmie Jones, bachelor, starts off bag and baggage (the latter containing two very coveted bottles), to spend a few days with an old pal (Bobbie Brown), who has married a woman much older than himself, wealthy, but a staunch reform worker. Jimmie arrives at Quiet Meadows minus John Barleycorn, the railroad officials having removed it from his luggage.

Considerable footage following this discovery is given over to Jimmie and Bobbie's effort to secure a drink. The hunt brings them to an old barn where they are followed by the sheriff and barely escape capture for bootlegging. They seek refuge in Bobbie's home. Mrs. Brown's old maid sister is expecting her husband-to-be, a reformer whom she has never seen. For no apparently good reason, Bobbie suggests that Jimmie impersonate Anthony Goodley, the reformer.

The impersonation goes over well enough except that the real Anthony arrives just as Jimmie is getting ready to deliver a speech on the evils of tobacco at the town hall. Anthony finds himself locked in the bathroom, minus his clothes. In the meantime Jimmie is delivering Anthony's speech which is met with a storm of eggs, cabbages and other unpleasant missiles and is forced to leave town.

He takes with him Mrs. Brown's young sister Cissy, with whom he has fallen in love. In the cast are Margaret Loomis, J. Maurice Foster, Frank Jonasson, Lilian Leighton, Caroline Rankin and Richard Cummings.

Title Together With Star's Name and Prohibition Angle Should Draw

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

You have a good drawing card in the title and the star's name so that it should not be necessary to resort to unusual means to get them in. Just announce the well known Broadhurst title telling them it's a new version based on the prohibition tragedy and the fact that Washburn is the star. Show some stills of the star in his "sideboards" make-up delivering a speech on the "Evils of Tobacco."

- Despite the fact that "What Happened to Jones" hasn't anywhere near the comedy situations found in some of the more recent Washburn productions, the liquor angle and the complications that Jimmie and Bobbie get themselves into, in an effort to get a drink in a bone-dry town, may provide enough amusement for those who haven't seen some of the star's better productions. Catchlines such as "He wanted a drink but see what he got," etc., should prove effective.
WATCH FOR

FILM FROLIC COMEDIES

Featuring the World Famous Comedy Star Supreme

FLORA FINCH

A Feast of

New 2-Reel Comedies

ONE RELEASE EVERY SIX WEEKS

Ask Us About the

First Special "His Better Half"

Arrange To Book All of Them Now
First Come First Served! Do It Now!

Address All Inquiries to

Film Frolics Pictures Corporation
Apollo Hall, 1383 Broadway
New York City
Telephone: Fitzroy 785, 6063-4-5
Amusing Comedy-Drama That Stands Out as “Different”

Sessue Hayakawa in “AN ARABIAN KNIGHT”
Haworth—Robertson-Cole
DIRECTOR .................. Charles Swickard
AUTHOR ..................... Gene Wright
SCENARIO BY ................. E. Richard Schayer
CAMERAMAN ............... Frank D. Williams
AS A WHOLE ................. Very colorful and generally amusing comedy-drama; something different that ought to appeal STRUCTURE ...... Is a bit more coherent and interesting than the musical comedy plot but is same type
DIRECTION ................ Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY .......... Very good
LIGHTINGS ................. Very good
CAMERA WORK ............. Commendable
STAR ............... Proves himself a serious-minded and quite effective comedian SUPPORT .......... Includes a number of pretty and attractively drapped girls EXTERIORS ................. Picturesque
INTERIORS ................. Same
DETIL .............. Satisfactory
CHARACTER OF STORY ..... Arabian youth enters American family through humorous circumstances and saves it from villain’s gang for climax
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 4,954 feet

Sessue Hayakawa has been leaning quite obviously toward comedy in several of his recent pictures and in “An Arabian Knight,” he has taken it as the main prop of interest. This latest production of his is a decidedly different comedy-drama, one that succeeds in amusing and retaining the interest all the way and one which should, as a consequence, have little appeal.

Time was when Hayakawa’s pictures were becoming dangerously “typed.” It was always a fifty-fifty bet that he would sacrifice himself so that some American could marry the girl or that the girl would discover her blood contained a mixture of races.

Now, however, he is exploring a new field and the results are more than satisfactory. He proves himself a capable comedian and although there are times in “An Arabian Knight” when the experienced eye will be able to detect humorous possibilities that were overlooked in the production, it stands out as something quite extraordinary and pleasingly done.

Hayakawa appears as Ahmed, an Arabian tender of donkeys, Cordelia Darwin, sister of an American Egyptologist, and a spinster in the bargain, has a wild vision that she is descended from the ancient Egyptians and that Ahmed is the reincarnation of her lover.

Thus it is that Ahmed enters the household of the Darwins as a glorified servant. The comedy play between Ahmed and Cordelia occurs often and is most always sure in effect. Hayakawa plays his scenes with the spinster in a thoroughly appreciative style.

The presence of Ahmed ultimately saves the Darwin family from disaster. Pasha, an acquaintance, abducts Darwin’s ward, Elinor, and Ahmed first rescues her and then saves the whole family when Pasha descends on the house with a horde of hashesh-drunk natives. These sequences are handled with an eye to their melodramatic effect though at the same time the comedy element is played strongly.

Hayakawa has the support of a number of attractive young ladies. A romance is introduced between him and Zorah, a part prettily played by Jean Acker. Lilian Hall appears as Elinor and gives a creditable account of herself. Others are Marie Pavis, Elaine Innescourt, Harvey Clarke, Fred Jones, Roy Conson and Tom Bates.

Feature the Comedy in this Prominently—Should Attract Good Business

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

You ought to be able to attract good crowds with this if you handle it properly. And certainly they will go away realizing that they have seen a different type of Hayakawa picture, as well as comedy that departs from the beaten path.

Feature the comedy of the story and dwell on the fact that the star is its chief exponent. People will certainly wake up to the fact then that this is something out of the ordinary.

Use lines such as, “Ahmed was just a plain donkey boy, but an American spinster thought he was a reincarnated Pharaoh and that she was his ‘soul-mate.’ See Sessue Hayakawa in a thoroughly “different” type of comedy-drama.” Anything to suggest the high comedy value of the picture. The star’s popularity and the fact that he is branching out into a new field will subsequently pull the business.
A BENJ. E. PRO

From W.

BENJ. B. HAMPTON
The Producer Without a Failure

Producer of the Great Successes
Desert Gold
The Sagebrusher
The Westerners
Riders of the Dawn

The DWELLING
Here Is a Combination That Will Make Big Money for All Exhibitors

1. Benj. B. Hampton
   The producer without a failure.

2. Winston Churchill
   America’s greatest novelist.
   A sincere genius who wrote “The Crisis,” as well as “The Dwelling Place of Light.”

3. An All-Star Cast with sterling aggregation of players including Robert McKim, Clair Adams and King Baggot.

   This alliance of great names has brought to the Screen a genuine Special Production that tells a story of heart-hunger and American ambition, such as has no equal for power and intensity and emotional appeal. It is, in fact, Benj. B. Hampton’s supreme triumph as a producer of great screen drama.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PARE Exchange, Incorporated Unusual Story Twists and Excellent Treatment Result in Fine Picture

Mary Miles Minter in "A CUMBERLAND ROMANCE"
Realart

DIRECTOR ......................... Charles Maigne
AUTHOR .......................... John Fox, Jr.
SCENARIO BY ..................... Charles Maigne
CAMERAMAN ...................... Faxon M. Dean
AS A WHOLE ................. Different twists to Kentucky mountain romance and great atmosphere and detail make this stand out as unusually enjoyable.

STORY ........ Has a lot of comedy, very pretty romance and decidedly unconventional finish

DIRECTION .......... Unusually good particularly as to handling of star and injection of local color.

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Excellent
LIGHTINGS ...................... Excellent
CAMERA WORK ................. Very good
STAR ........ Confines herself to characterizations and omits mannerisms—her best performance.

SUPPORT ......................... Very good
EXTERIORS ..................... Beautiful
INTERIORS ....................... Realistic
DETAIL ......................... Fine
CHARACTER OF STORY ......... Romance of Kentucky mountain girl and "foreigner," without the usual clinch for finish

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 5,679 feet

They certainly wished a terribly cut-and-dried title on this one. It seems to suggest the same old story of the Kentucky mountains and practically defies originality. But the contents of the picture are quite the opposite of expectations. "A Cumberland Romance" has much about it that is familiar, but the twists given the romance between the mountain girl and the "foreigner" are decidedly different, while the fine touches of local color, atmosphere and attractive detail that Director Maigne has incorporated in the production make it distinctive in many respects.

Special mention should also be made of Mary Miles Minter's performance. It is undoubtedly the best she has given to the screen. She confines herself to the development of a very interesting character and drops the "cute" mannerisms of recent attempts.

There is only one spot in the continuity that lags a bit. This is a long scene between hero and heroine, in which a flock of conversational subtitles are used. Undoubtedly necessary in the telling of the story it is entirely too long.

The story proceeds with the meeting of Easter Hicks, the mountain girl, and Clayton, from the city. The more or less conventional course that this action travels is relieved by the pictorial beauty of the scenes and the fine touches of the director. The wedding is arranged, but it is not a gloriously happy occasion. Each party recognizes the great contrast that education and environment has caused. This causes an undertone of indecision that is productive of good suspense. At the wedding, Easter's father, drunk, picks a quarrel with Clayton and draws his gun, seriously wounding his daughter. This tragedy stops the ceremony and awakens within Easter a realization of her true love for "Sherd" Raines, her mountain suitor.

Maigne, in his capacity of scenarist, has kept the sympathy with each of the three characters despite this unusual ending. He has made the very best of the author's material. And he has been aided by fine performances, for besides Miss Minter's attractive characterization, John Bowers gives a real picture of Clayton and Monte Blue develops a most interesting "Sherd" Raines. Guy Oliver as Easter's father has considerable comedy to interpret and gets the most from it, while Martha Mattox and Robert Brower appear to advantage in supporting roles.

Should Please All and Go Very Big With Star's Following

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Here's a picture that will give great satisfaction to all and where the star is popular it should go particularly well. This because of the immense strides made by the star since her last appearance and the altogether excellent treatment accorded the production by Charles Maigne.

Play up the unusual ending of the story. You can create an interest by building advertisements about the choice the girl had to make between her local suitor and the man from the city. This will be a good angle to play from because most people will, of course, pick the city man as the winner and you'll fool them at the last minute:

Besides giving the star all that she deserves, dwell on the author, John Fox, Jr. His stories are vastly well known. And if you haven't been giving Maigne a play, it's about time you started. He has come through a winner with all of his recent efforts and you'll soon be getting "director specials" from him.
E. K. LINCOLN

The Inner Voice

with

AGNES AYRES
FULLER MELLISH
RILEY HATCH
WALTER GREEN
EDWARD KEPLER

Scored a Distinctive Triumph at the Leading Broadway Theatres

Broadway Theatre
Adelphi Theatre
Symphony Theatre
Standard Theatre

Fox's Audubon
Moorish Gardens
Olympia Theatres

Broadway Photoplays
Moss' Regent Theatre
Schulyer Theatre

Fox's Washington Theatre

AMERICAN CINEMA CORPORATION
411 FIFTH AVENUE

WALTER NIEBUHR, Pres't.
THE SECOND AMERICAN CINEMA SUPER-SPECIAL

HIS BROTHER'S KEEPER

with

MARTHA MANSFIELD
ROGERS LYTTON
GLADDEN JAMES
ANN DREW
GRETA HARTMAN
FRAZER COULTER

A Worthy Successor to
"The Inner Voice"

In Preparation
"A Moment's Madness"
featuring
Marguerite Namara

AMERICAN CINEMA CORPORATION
WALTER NIEBUHR, Pres.
411 FIFTH AVENUE
NEW YORK
Deeply Sympathetic Story Finely Handled

Mildred Harris Chaplin in
"THE WOMAN IN HIS HOUSE"
Louis B. Mayer—First National

DIRECTOR ....................... John M. Stahl
AUTHOR ......................... Irene Reels
SCENARIO BY .................. Madge Tyrone
CAMERAMAN .................... Pliny Goodfriend

AS A WHOLE......Very strong and sympathetic production dealing largely with mother love—will get them crying, and they'll like it.

STORY......A few places where continuity is jumpy but on the whole story is excellently handled—climaxes all powerful and "miracle" finish finely staged.

DIRECTION......Ably handled storm sequence gives picture fine start—all emotional crises expertly handled.

PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Very good
LIGHTINGS ...................... Effects very fine
CAMERA WORK .................. Very good
STAR......At her very best—gets wonderful appeal into role of mother.

SUPPORT ........................ Excellent
EXTERIORS ........................ Fine
INTERIORS ....................... Very realistic
DETAIL ............................ Very good

CHARACTER OF STORY......Climax deals with triumph of mother love over medical science.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION.....About 6,000 feet

"The Woman in His House" is a very strong and sympathetic production dealing, in the main, with the greatness of mother love. Many other elements enter into the story's telling and the rapid pass of the various situations and well-handled crises makes for a steady and uninterrupted thread of interest. There are many sequences between the mother and her child that sound the depths of the spectator's sympathy. They will certainly make the average spectator cry and this the average spectator likes to do.

After a wonderful storm-at-sea sequence in which the love of Philip, a doctor, and Hilda, a fisherman's daughter, is born the action jumps ahead and reveals Hilda as Philip's wife, telling the story of her romance to her curly-haired son. In the meantime Philip has become absorbed in his medical experiments and leaves Hilda to the company of Peter, his friend, and Robert, the usual lounge lizard.

Robert plants the seed of discontent in Hilda's mind while Peter endeavors to awaken Philip to a realization of the situation. But an epidemic of infantile paralysis breaks out and Philip is absorbed in his care of the poor children. And his own little boy is brought down with the plague and, to all appearances, dies.

After Hilda has left the bedside with her heart hardened toward her husband for what she believes his neglect, Philip and the accompanying physician discover that the child still lives—lives to be a hopeless paralytic. Fearful of what his wife will say if he tells her the truth, Philip keeps silent and works over the boy for the space of a month in the quiet of his laboratory. But his efforts are to no avail.

Peter discovers Philip's secret and insists on bringing Hilda to her boy. And where science has failed, mother love works the miracle of cure. The youngster rises from his chair and walks toward his mother.

The scenes at the bedside of the boy are handled delicately and appeal deeply. There is also a fine contrast in the scenes of the happy little boy playing with his mother and duckling and diving like a fish in his bathtub and the poor little cripple of the following scenes. This child is so natural that the appeal of the scenes is tremendous.

Mildred Harris Chaplin gives of her best as Hilda. Ramsey Wallace as Philip delivers a notable characterization. Thomas Holding is fine as Peter and George Fisher does well with the slightly too-conventional role of Robert. Gareth Hughes renders a fine bit of character work in the part of the crippled fisher-lad.

John M. Stahl's direction deserves great praise. He has handled the entire series of difficult sequences with fine skill.

This Is Big Any Way You Look At It

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

What with the fine story offered here, the excellent treatment it has received, the box office value of the title and the popularity of the star, certainly this may be set down as a fine accomplishment and a production that any exhibitor can book with no uncertain conviction that it will draw big, please everyone and be a striking financial success.

The mother love theme is the dominant note and the "miracle" finish in which this love proves itself the better of medical science is handled with wonderful skill. And you'll have your people talking about the little boy in this for days to come. He's a wonder.

The element for you to feature in the story—the mother love theme—is one that will attract all. Certainly the star and the title will draw well. Thus you have here a picture that will measure with its box office power in the entertainment line. Hop to it. Such pictures are all too rare.
ALLIED INDEPENDENT ATTRACTIONS, Inc.
Announces the opening of their offices

Rendering for the Independent Producer a distinctive service of complete production plans, distribution counsel and exploitation salesmanship, together with dignified New York headquarters, under the direction of men who are qualified.

HARRY LEONHARDT  O. E. CHANEY
President  Secretary and Treasurer

RALPH PROCTOR
Vice Pres. and General Manager

BROKAW BUILDING  Suite 1111
42nd Street and Broadway  Telephone Bryant 9500
Fairly Pleasing Picture with Boy Actor in Principal Role

Matty Roubert in
"HERITAGE"

Wm. L. Roubert Prod.—State Rights

DIRECTOR ......................... Wm. L. Roubert

AUTHOR .......................... Willard Mack

SCENARIO BY ........................ Not credited

CAMERAMAN ......................... N. C. Travis

AS A WHOLE ...... Considerable human appeal but depends upon coincident too much in building situations

STORY ...... Interesting narrative of a boy’s life; too rigid detail causes it to drag badly at times

DIRECTION ...... Generally straight stuff; no attempts at anything unusual

PHOTOGRAPHY ......................... Good

LIGHTINGS .......................... All right

CAMERA WORK ........................ Not unusual

STAR ...... Gives a pleasing performance; is sincere and gets the part over satisfactorily

SUPPORT ...... Joseph Burke as the old-time actor very good; others fill demands

EXTERIORS .... Many New York city street scenes

INTERIORS ............................. Adequate

DETAIL ............................... Nothing seriously wrong

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Boy kidnapped in infancy, becomes boy actor

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 5,000 feet

With the foreword “As the twig is bent, so grows the tree,” “Heritage” starts out to prove its theory.
The producer has succeeded in making a convincing picture from Willard Mack’s story and there are moments containing considerable human appeal which is put forth through the influence of a small boy.
However, the production is too long for the amount of story material contained in it and while the production given the story is adequate, there is nothing to lift it above the average line of feature production.
The cast is a rather well balanced one with no particular one standing out in prominence except perhaps the performance of Joseph Burke as Edward Brackett, too old to fill the roles that once made him famous.
The infant son of Charles Suydam, theatrical producer, is kidnapped by Tony, a discharged stable hand.
Several years pass and the infant, now a grown lad, has run away from his cruel foster-father. During his travels as a bootblack he comes upon Edward Brackett, old time actor, who is being annoyed by a couple of small boys. Jit, the bootblack, played by Matty Roubert, and Brackett become friends and the old actor offers to share his room with Jit.
Jit continues his shoe-blacking business during the day and spends his evenings studying the drama with his elderly pal. Eventually the pair find themselves without food or money. Reading an announcement in the theatrical notes to the effect that a certain show’s opening is delayed because of illness of a boy actor, Jit decides to apply for the job.

After considerable difficulty he succeeds in getting to the manager, Charles Suydam, his father, though he doesn’t know it. Jit makes good and is given the part. The play is a great success. Jit and his acto-pal are invited to Suydam’s home where Mrs. Suydam relates the story of the kidnapping and the recent confession of the Italian that the son was alive. Jit realizes he is the long lost son and there is the usual happy ending reunion.

PHOTOPLAYER’S ATTENTION

Special Rates To and From Studios

Garden Court Garage TAXI SERVICE

7030 HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD

Holly 2902 577-116

IMMEDIATE SERVICE
Should Get Over Satisfactorily Especially with Younger Patrons

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Matty Roubert in "HERITAGE"
Wm. L. Roubert Prod.—State Rights

If you book this and bill it as an interesting narrative, giving an idea of the story without making any promises of anything pretentious, you should be able to please a good many. Play up the name of the author, mentioning some of his stage successes. Tell them about the boy actor, Matty Roubert. The picture should be specially interesting to youthful audiences. You can be sure to please them with this.

To attract patrons from the story end of it use the excerpt from the foreword, "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree," etc. The title is a good one which should be played up. Use catchlines along the lines of: "See how Jit, the homeless little fellow found his heritage despite awkward surroundings." Or, "What is 'Heritage?' See Matty Roubert, the boy actor, in the photoplay by that name."

A FULL YEAR’S VALUE FOR EVERY ADVERTISER
IN
WID’S 1920 YEAR BOOK

Rush Copy -- Forms Now Closing
ARTHUR F. BECK & CHARLES C. BURR PRESENT

"The SILENT BARRIER"

A ROMANCE OF THE ALPS

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK CITY
Distributing through PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

FOREIGN DISTRIBUTOR-INTER-OCEAN FILM CORP.
Louis Tracy is fast becoming the screen's most successful writer. "WINGS OF THE MORNING" and "NUMBER 17" are making big money everywhere.

"THE SILENT BARRIER" is one of Louis Tracy's Best Stories—produced by his own company. A great warm weather picture with an all-star cast of players. Cash in on the tremendous popularity of Tracy's forty novels. Scenically superb—dramatically intense—with scenes that range from the homes of London's aristocracy to the white grandeur of snow-clad Alpine Peaks. BOOK "THE SILENT BARRIER" Today.
Very Conventional Situations Not Handled Very Well

Shirley Mason in
"THE LITTLE WANDERER"
Fox

DIRECTOR .................. Howard M. Mitchell
AUTHOR ...................... Denison Clift
SCENARIO BY ............... Denison Clift
CEMERAMAN ................ George Schneiderman

AS A WHOLE............. Many conventional situations form this production which is mildly entertaining though too slow.

STORY............... Fairly well constructed, though original premise is lost in subsequent action.

DIRECTION............ Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ............ Average
LIGHTINGS ............... Average
CAMERA WORK .......... Satisfactory

STAR.............. Does very well—personality stands out despite hackneyed nature of surroundings.

SUPPORT.............. Headed by Raymond McKee
EXTERIORS ............. Good
INTERIORS ............. Satisfactory
DETAIL................ All right
CHARACTER OF STORY .... Romance of children of old business partners who have become enemies

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION... About 5,000 feet

'The Little Wanderer' is a compound of a number of rather conventional situations. Starting out with promise of being a comedy-drama or at least a light drama, the original premise is soon forgotten and the action turns plainly melodramatic. Shirley Mason's characterization which is rather spirited and amusing in the initial scenes comes to rather an abrupt end as the tone of the story turns into familiar channels.

It really seems as if the author, Denison Clift, had been rushed on this. Clift has shown his ability more than once in Fox pictures, but recently his name has appeared so often and his work has simultaneously fallen off, that this conclusion must be reached.

They open up with scenes between Hart, a newspaper publisher, and his son Larry. The former contends that his sensational methods of conducting his paper are the best. The latter is for a conservative and dignified news policy. The father contradicts the son and says that his sensational stories have never hurt anyone except those that should be hurt.

From this they branch into the old situation in which the son bets his father that he can take a crook and keep him honest for a year. Then and there this train of thought is dropped. Larry meets Jenny, a little tramp who dresses as a boy. There is nothing about her that suggests that she is a crook. Larry puts her in his home in the care of his sister, and soon Jenny blossoms into a fine young lady and accepts Larry's proposal of marriage.

But the father intervenes, saying that Jenny is the daughter of his old business partner who swindled him and was subsequently sent to jail. It remains for Jenny's father to put in an appearance and rightfully accuse Hart of being the swindler. Then he takes his daughter and leaves. Larry becomes seriously ill at her loss and Hart humbles himself before Jenny's father beseeching him to permit her to return. Though the father objects, Jenny goes and later there is a very, very happy ending with Larry running the paper, happy in the love of Jenny and with the fathers starting out all over again in business.

Whenever Miss Mason is on the screen the production takes on an interest that the conventional melodramatic story is unable to create. Her scenes in the first reel when, disguised as a boy, she meets her father on the train (on which they are both stealing a ride) and remains unaware of his identity are entirely agreeable and the meeting of Jenny and Larry is fraught with considerable interest.

This Can't Match With Star's Previous Pictures

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one gives mild satisfaction. That's about all. Miss Mason's previous pictures for Fox have generally touched a higher mark. Her admirers will enjoy the first part of this very well, but the action seems to lose track of itself later and the melodrama introduced is so obvious that it commands little attention.

Use lines such as these in advertising: "Jenny had a wonderful past. She had danced in a medicine show, had 'jumped' trains like a regular tramp, had gone from one adventure to another, never fearing, always smiling. Then when she found real love at last it was short-lived—others wanted to snatch it from her—See—" "She had mingled in the streets shooting craps with the urchins one day—the next she was clothed in silks and satins and established in one of the town's 'best families'—see Shirley Mason in 'The Little Wanderer.'"
CLEAN CLEVER CROWD
COMPPELLING

YOUR PHONE'LL BE BUSY
ASKING FOR MORE LIKE IT

"He got his troubles before he married em"

BOBBY VERNON
AND DOROTHY DEVORE IN SEVEN BALD PATES
A Furious Farce that Never Falters

fourth of the new CHRISTIE COMEDIES 2 reels 2 every month

EDUCATIONAL FILMS
CORPORATION OF AMERICA
729 Seventh Ave. New York.
Some Short Reels

Another Issue of the New Screen Magazine—Universal

Beavers are discussed in the opening part of this Universal New Screen Magazine reel. The rodents are taken up in a manner that should instruct and entertain. Following is a part showing how the three shell game, three card monte and one-hand cut are manipulated. These methods of gathering superfluous change are explained so as to hold attention nicely, but the material which follows does not maintain the same degree of interest. A bit of a mechanical contrivance is used to depict what is alluded to as the baseball germs and moves about in a manner which may keep them watching but the "Mickey Sex" remarks closing rank with much similar stuff.

"Run 'Em Ragged"—Pathe

Two highly humorous gags make their appearance in this Sush Pollard one reeler, in which Marie Mosquini is featured in a role of little importance. Sammy, the diminutive colored darkey, also is seen, but only for about three seconds, no additional opportunity being given him to display his wares. As a matter of fact, the little fellow is as capable an entertainer as any other performer that has been appearing in these pictures and much funnier than some of them. Keeping him out of the foreground is a mistake.

The opening scene in which a number of characters step forth from a garbage can has been used before in similar form, but has not been overdone, and should prove mirth. In the hold-up scene, wherein the two whiskered gentlemen of Hebrew persuasion face a gun in the hands of Pollard, there is a great laugh. One of the two owes the other a debt and hesitates about paying it until the pistol appears. He immediately hands his compatriot the sum. As a matter of fact, the situation is one that was used successfully in vaudeville for a number of years in slightly different form, but is probably not familiar to most, so that it can be depended upon to get over. As a whole, a satisfactory piece of its length.

"The Hold-Up Man"—Graphim-Pathe

Thematically, this two reel western in which Philip Yale and Fredric March are the principal roles, with Elsie Laine again appearing as the leading woman, is not much different from some other dramas of this type witnessed not so long ago. Somehow or other, in spite of a fair-sized quantity of action, there do not seem to be very many real thrills in the offering. The piece lacks a really powerful climax—a fault that appears to have found its way into more than one issue of the series.

"The Invisible Ray"—Frohman—Joan Film Sales

There is always a peculiar sort of fascination for the unknown—an awe that affects followers of the drawn-out type of drama especially. Invariably, serials which have a sufficient amount of the occult, enough footage devoted to the beyond, attract large audiences. This production has evidently been built up in accordance with this knowledge, for with what is referred to as "The Invisible Ray," a light force strong enough to cause tremendous damage and entirely the product of the author's imagination they have inserted a sort of trump card which is practically certain to insure patronage.

One predominating fault seems to stand out in the piece and that is the extent to which it is complicated. There are numerous characters introduced rather quickly and it requires a great deal of concentration to follow the tale. In addition, the fact that the action is rapid throughout, serves to make the story all the more difficult to understand. While fast motion is undoubtedly a help to an offering of this variety, it cannot be denied that in places it makes this just a bit too confusing.

Technically, the piece is satisfactory, although nothing to enthuse about. As far its spectacular qualities, the material is of the sort that can be calculated to hold the eye. There are many thrills, physical battles and, above all, an underlying romantic motive and many-angled mystery.

Jack Sherrill and Ruth Clifford, who play the principal roles, are well enough supported by Edward Davis, Sidney Bracey and Corinne Uzzell. While Sherrill is not a really capable emotional performer, he does his stunts in good style, Ruth Clifford registers unusually well throughout, presenting an attractive appearance at all times.

Should you book this, you will have some excellent angles to play upon in the light-ray, the mystery and romance. Bill it as a tale of love, the unknown, etc. If they don't lose track of the plot at the start, they'll follow it up with enthusiasm.

---

Wid’s Daily Binders - $3.00

Invaluable for reference purposes.
SHORT REEL RELEASES
FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CO.

March Releases

Comedies
Namrod from Ambrose (Mack Swain) 1
Annie Goes Bad (Mack Swain) 1
Bess of the Ranch (Texas Guinan) 1
Lost Bill (Texas Guinan) 2
FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY

April Releases

Comedies
Ambrose and the Bathing Girls 2
The Glaughan Girl (Mack Sennett) 2
Ship Aboy (Al St. John) 2

May Releases

Comedies
By Golly (Mack Sennett) 2
You Wouldn’t Believe It (Mack Sennett) 2
A Model Husband (Carter De Haven) 2

Paramount Magazine
Numbers 3877, 3878, 3879, 3880 1

Burton Holmes Travel Series
Martyr’s City 2
The Freshman (John Blythe) 2
Up Country in Siam 2

June Releases

Comedies
Beautiful Bruges 2
The Lure of the Legion 2
Lake of the Sun and Moon 2
Battleground of France 2

Paramount Magazine
The Zero Hour in Art 2
Tailoring in Metz 2
Mental Acrobats 2
The Nurse of the Tenements 2

July Releases

Comedies
The Quack Doctor (Mack Sennett) 2

Paramount Magazine
Number 3885, 3886, 3887, 3888, 3889 1

BURTON HOLMES TRAVELE SERIES

March Releases

Comedies
The Lion Man, 15, 16, 17, 18 (Complete) 2
Elmo, the Fearless, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 2
The Moon Riders, 1 2

Comedies
Dowhill an Uprising (Lyons-Moran) 2
A Champion Loser 2
Stop that Wedding (Lyons-Moran) 2
Dog Gone Clever 2
A Jazzy Janitor 2

May Releases

Comedies
Major Allen’s Animal Hunt—Story of Wolf 2

New Screen Magazine
Last 60, 61, 62, 63 1

May Releases

Comedies
Why ler (Lyons and Moran) 2
A Restaurant Riot 2
Concrete Biscuits (Lyons and Moran) 2
Too Many Bars (L-Spade and Mepha) 2
He Loved Like He Lied 2

Serials
Elmo the Fearless, Episodes 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 2
The Texas Kid, Episodes 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 2

Westerns
Wolf Tracks (Hoot Gibson and Thelma Percy) 2
Rainbow (Hoot Gibson) 2

June Releases

Comedies
His Friend’s Tip (Lyons and Moran) 2

February Releases

Comedies
Tells and Petticoats (Special) 2
License Applied For 2
Shoul’d a Husband Tell 2

March Releases

Comedies
Kidding the Landlord (Bartie Burkett) 2

Paramount Magazine
Numbers 3890, 3891, 3892, 3893 1

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

April Releases

Comedies
Davis the Kid 2

May Releases

Comedies
One He Man (Jack Perrin and Josephine Hill) 2

New Screen Magazine
Last 60, 61, 62, 63 1

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

February Releases

Comedies
From a Blackberry Bush 2
The Girl of the Fugitives 2

March Releases

Comedies
An Artist’s Model (Harry Mann and Lillian Byron) 2

April Releases

Comedies
Sought and Paid For 2

May Releases

Comedies
Fils for Papa (Neal Burns and Josephine Hill) 2
Should Waiters Marry (George Ovey) 2

NEW SCREEN MAGAZINE
Numbers 66, 67, 70, 71 1

July Releases

Comedies
Fils for Papa (Neal Burns and Josephine Hill) 2
Should Waiters Marry (George Ovey) 2

HALL ROOM ROY COMEDIES

April Releases

Comedies
HALL ROOM ROY COMEDIES

May Releases

Comedies
Tells and Petticoats 2

June Releases

Comedies
From a Blackberry Bush 2

May Releases

Comedies

deach

6, 2 each

each

each

each

each

each

each

each

each
On the road to God knows where"

"Goldwyn, and more particularly, Frank Lloyd, the director, have extracted a fine picture from the story of "Madame X," which it would not surprise me in the least to see better all the records made by "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Mr. Burns Mantle

In September "Photoplay"
H.B. WARNER
IN ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN
From the book "Behind Red Curtains" by Mansfield Scott
Directed by Henry King

Splendid actor in a splendid story:
perfect production and direction;
sensational without being wildly melodramatic.
Any one of three different men might have been guilty;
each of them could be proved to have a motive, and yet—— evidence points most strongly to one:
Who was the guilty man?
Russia a Bonanza

Cameraman Sees Great Ad

Dietrich Leaves International

De Vry Convention

Gloria to Star

Two New F. N. Units

Almost Alone

Booking Combine

"Kiss me! Kiss me!" whispered the Lorelei. An Allan Dwan production from the epic drama of American life, "In the Heart of a Fool," with William Allen White—A First National attraction presented by Mayflower Photo-

Paintings of stars for theatre lobbies.—Advt.
On Broadway

Criterion—"Humoresque."
Capitol—Tom Moore—"Stop Thief."
Strand—Katherine MacDonald—"The Notorious Miss Lisle." Rialto—Wallace Reid—"What's Your Hurry."
Rivoli—"The Soul of Youth."

Brooklyn Strand—"The Jack-Knife Man."

Lyric—William Farnum—"If I Were King."

Astor—"Earthbound."

Broadway—Blanche Sweet—"Help Wanted: Male."

Tuesday—Alma Rubens—"The World and His Wife."

Wednesday—Gladys Brockwell—"The Rose of None."

Thursday—May Allison—"Held in Trust."

Friday—Taylor Holmes—"Nothing But Lies."

Harry Carey—"Blue Streak McCoy."

Saturday—Olive Thomas—"Darling Mine."

Sunday—Mary Pickford—"Suds."

Next Week

Criterion—George Fitzmaurice Prod. — "The Right to Love."
Capitol—Tom Mix—"The Untamed."
Rialto—Charles Ray—"The Village Sleuth."

Rivoli—"Humoresque."

Start Mae Marsh Film

Los Angeles—with the arrival of George Benoit, cameraman, the work of shooting the new Robertson-Cole special in which Mae Marsh is starred was begun. It is expected the film will be ready for distribution in the fall.

We Place Insurance for

SELZNICK PICTURES CORP.

(Watch this Space for Others)

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A POUND OF CURE

Don't wait with your insurance problems. To-morrow may be too late. Years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture field has enabled us to handle your problem with intelligence, dispatch and economy. May we prove to you how we can serve you better? Your phone handy.

REUBEN SAMUELS
E & S SERVICE
80 Maiden Lane
Phone John 5425—5426

To All Persons Holding Shares

of the

POWERS FILM PRODUCTS, Inc.

Interested parties are trying to buy for $2 to $3 per share the stock for which you paid $17 to $25.

Do Not Sell Your Stock

but wait forthcoming action by the now-forming

Stockholders' Protective Committee

Join the 305 Stockholders in a demand for complete inquiry into the formation and conduct of the company by its President and his Board of Directors.

Write for particulars

FREDERICK J. HARRISON
Stockholder and Chemist of the Plant

103 DARTMOUTH STREET, ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

Albany Operators Receive Incl

inauguring tomorrow on Labor local operators will receive 3.

This is 50 more than present rate.

In every line of endeavor there is only one best. Insofar as motion picture posters are concerned that best is beyond all doubt the RITCHEY poster.

RITCHEY

LITHO. CORP.

406 W. 31st St., N.Y.

Phone Chelsea 8338

The one & only "Ambrose"

They thought he was a raft floating in the ocean, so the bunch of beauties used him for a diving stand.

Wouldn't that make you laugh?

Perry Comedies present

MACK SWAIN in a series of two new reel comedies

State Right

One a Month

Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C

Just received from our Hollywood Studio

A High Class Feature Production

Will sell American or world

OSCAR JACOBS

PRODUCTIONS

Room 203—1600 Broadway
Phone Bryant 9758
Combine Problem Important

(Continued from Page 1)

...is reached it is impossible to obtain any information as to the plaint which reached the body.

It is not illegal for men to combine for business purposes, unless there is specific evidence offered of unfair methods of competition, the Commission would have no reason to prosecute.
Is a serious question whether any of the combines now being assued or planned have as yet reached such a point, but unnially certain action must have occurred to have brought the commission to go so far as to take up the question of an investigation.

During the Summer of 1918 the Trade Commission served aimants upon the Saenger Amusement Co. and the Stanley for alleged unfair business methods.

At the time these hearings excited unusual interest in the side. Since then there has been no action upon this point.

This is certain: In view of the findings of the Commission ward to these companies, if it is ascertained that these companies have a controlling interest in the new National ings Co., the Commission will likely regard the situation as serious. It is, of course, a question whether or not these companies will, as companies, have such an interest, although importable executives of each corporation are said to be identified with the National Booking Corp. in an important capacity.

Russia a Bonanza

(Continued from Page 1)

...find a fertile field in which to work. In the Russian Government, says Kees, has organized a school of actics which had about 200 students at the time he was there. These students are, in the main, members of former Russian aristocracy. The Government’s idea is to train the students in the art of cinema acting and the preparations for the production of films at the proper time.

Kubes states that the Government has perfected an elaborate system of filming every important occurrence as further added that as a result of the Soviet Republic would perhaps have the most complete pictorial record in the world of its current history.

Kubes filmed all phases of Russian in conditions in Petrograd and Moscow to those prevailing in the ural districts. Twelve thousand feet of has been secured and Kubes believes that he has secured the first graphic record of life and conditions soviet Russia, as they really are.
If has secured views of Lenin and Trotsky, and other Bolshevik officials, all of whom figure so promi-nently in the press today.

He has brought back with him original negatives after developing the film in Paris. He plans to edit the pictures and release the picture as a four-reeler.

In the near future Kubes will return to Europe and endeavor to reter Russia for additional material.

Large Theater for Akron, O.
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Akron—Johnston and Malone have sold a block of property including the old Minor Allen house at Bowery St. to a syndicate represented by the Portage Engineering Co. and Adolph Haner.

The sale of the property is said to have involved $400,000. An apartment hotel and theater are planned on the site at an estimated cost of $2,000,000.

Approved 24,395 Reels
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Bucyrus, O.—State film censors, operating as a branch of the state industrial commission, approved 24, 395 reels without elimination during the year ending June 30, according to the annual report of the censors just filed with the industrial commission.
Eliminations were made from 4,175 reels and 175 reels were rejected entirely. The censor board was more than self-sustaining. Receipts amountto $29,087 and expenses $19,453.
THE BROKEN GATE

EMERSON HOUGH

Mr. Exhibitor:
The further we get into the production of this story the more thoroughly we are convinced of a box office sensation.
Watch this space every other day.

Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

FIVE hundred pages of live, interesting and educational matter, gathered from a year's work in WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK COMING SOON Shakespeare Up to Date. Some six-foot-shelf. Bobby Vernon is in this new Christie two-reel comedy "Seven Bald Pates," at Educational Exchanges.—Advt.

Buy Neal Heart Series
The following sales have been made on the series of Neal Hart Pictures: Major Film Co. of Boston for New England; Geo. Exhibitors Exchanges of Buffalo and Syracuse for upper New York; Commonweal Film Corp., of New York City, New York and Northern New Jersey; Exhibitors Film Exchange, Washington, D. C., for Maryland District of Columbia and Virginia; and S. Film and Supply Co., Pittsburgh, for West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania; Warner's Attractions of Cleveland for North Ohio; Strand Features of Detroit Michigan; Magnet Film Co., Omaha and Davenport for Iowa Nebraska; R. D. Lewis Film Co. Dallas, Texas, and other cities Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas Kaufman Specials of Memphis, Tennessee and Southern Kentucky.

Filming of Wm. D. Taylor's special production for Realart, "The Witch Hour," has started. Julia Crawford Ivers made the adaptation from Augustus Thomas play.

PUBLICITY MAN INVITES OFFERS
For 15 years editor on big-time newspapers; former P. D. for international distributing organization; late associate with leading fan magazine; big man for big job. Interview New York. Address "Publicity Authority" Care Wid's Daily, New York City.

Mats, Electros and Stereos for the Motion Picture Trade
J. Rubin & Co., 23 E. 4th St., N. Y. Phones Spring 6303-6304
The fastest stereotypers in N. Y. C.

CHESTER CONKLING
2 Reels—One-A-Month
GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month
"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week
"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made "His Married Life" "Bringing Up Father" e.
Special Pictures Co.
Blames Booking Company

Tom Moore Says National Booking Ideas Caused Him to Quit First National as Franchise Holder—Declares that Booking Company is "Hanging a Crepe on Thing He Loved" and Gives His Ideas as to Nat'l Booking Plans.

The plans of the National Booking Co., are severely arraigned by Tom Moore, formerly franchise holder for the District of Columbia of First National, in a letter which he has sent WID'S DAILY, relative to his reasons for disposing of his First National franchise.

According to Moore, under the new plan of Asso. First Nat'L, eventually it will resolve itself into the National Booking plan. Moore, who claims that for two years efforts have been made by certain First National officials to get him to believe in the booking idea, probably furnishes more definite information as to the probable plans of the booking company than have heretofore been presented anywhere. Because of this his letter is unusually interesting.

(Continued on Page 3)
Shipman Active
Closes Deal to Handle Catharine Curtis Prod.—Will Handle 14 in Incoming Season
Ernest Shipman, Jr., has completed a deal to handle 14 productions during the coming season. He has just closed an arrangement with the Catharine Curtis Corp., a Des Moines, Iowa, company that specializes in making six pictures to be made by that organization.

James Oliver Curwood is following the lead of Shipman, through with Shipman, with “Noonas of the North” and has incorporated his own producing company known as James Oliver Curwood Prod., Inc.

The business men of Canada, California, and the famous enters, have formed a new producing corporation known as Northern Pictures Corp., Ltd., with contracts for the making of two Ralph Connor stories, “Cameron of the Royal Mounted” and “The Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail.” D. G. Campbell, resigned as secretary of the Calgary Board of Trade to organize this company.

At Winnipeg a group of men have organized the Winnipeg Prod. Ltd., for the purpose of making “The Foreigner,” by Ralph Connor.

Citizens of Ottawa will cooperate in the production of the Canadian serials of the Dominion Film Co., of which Shipman is president.

Dr. C. A. Willat, general manager of the N. T. Motion Picture Corp., has entered into a contract with Shipman for the exploitation of “Tarzan of the Apes,” and “The Romance of Tarzan.”

The Legend Films will make a series of comedies with Edna Shipman.

Temporary office now at 6 West 49 St. and 720 7th Ave., now combined in some new headquarters as soon as desirable arrangements can be made.

Arrest Employee for Embarrassment
Cincinnati—Joseph Noterman, Miss Billie Biddle and Elizabeth Smith, cashiers at the Colonial here, have been placed under arrest on charges of embezzlement preferred by I. Frankel, owner of the theater.

The trio resold old tickets and pocketed the money accrued from the practice.

New Goldwyn Purchase
Goldwyn has purchased from Katharine Newlin Burt the photoplay rights of her newest novel, “Snow Blindness,” now appearing serially in Red Book.

Educational Confr Aug. 20
The eastern branch managers of Educational will convene at the Hotel Astor on Aug. 20 for a two day meeting. Managers from the New Haven, Boston, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, and six offices will be present.

After the confab Harry Ginsberg, sales manager, range for offices in Dallas and New Orleans.

Postpone Chicago Opening
Chicago—Sept. I have been told as the opening date for the Stratford, originally scheduled to open Aug. 15.

Call Copy “Drivel”
Newspaper Editor Sees Change in Character of Press Material
Los Angeles—Drastic changes in the present methods practiced in the publicity departments of motion picture and other concerns that flood the newspapers with the words “copy” are prophesied by Edwin R. Collins, managing editor of the Los Angeles Evening Herald.

Collins has studied the film publicity game from close range for the past eight years and has drawn two conclusions from the study of the present deluge of drivel is valueless to the concerns that send it out and tends to cheapen the standing of the industry: and, second, that the deluge of news that is sent to the editors is not news at all, but what are camouflaged and designed to tickle the vanity of film stars and executives.

To test his first conclusion, Collins requested Benjamin A. Prager, president of Mayflower, to give an expression of his attitude toward publicity. Prager’s opinions were published on the front page of the Los Angeles Evening Herald.

Regarding the present flood of publicity from the standpoint of the editor, Collins declared that unless sweeping changes are effected in the realm of publicity and “intelligent stories are handled by highly trained men,” sent out from the publicity offices, the newspapers of the nation will soon prove up to the story of the press agent and get news and features of value through their own staff men.

He pointed out that an amazingly large proportion of the people in the civilized world are seriously interested in the motion picture business and that few industries in this world afford such interesting, interesting and entertaining material.

“Yet,” declared Collins, “ninety per cent of the supposed news stories from the publicity departments are of the lightest sort of drivel, such as some star saving her life by pulling an automobile equipped with shower baths.”

The artist by Prager, which appeared in the Herald, said in part: “Today, with the film industry ranking third in the list of America’s great enterprises, the newspapers all over the land are eager to publish stories about it, provided they can be given the kind of ‘copy’ that they need. But the ‘press agent’ brand of publicity is too frequently something that the newspapers cannot use at all.

“THERE is enough legitimate news in the motion picture industry to make this sort of publicity unnecessary.”

Jensen Goes on Tour
Chicago—C. E. Jensen, Goldwyn’s district superintendent in the Central West, is on the road. He will stop at St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, Minneapolis and other towns.

D. N. Schwab Prod. wish to correct the impression that “Fickle Women” played in conjunction with “Up in ‘Mary’s Attic’ at the Broadway. The Schwab picture was the only feature last week at the theater.
James Booking Co.

(Continued from Page 1)

Mr. Frank E. Moore, official of First National had been given the task of putting together an entirely new and different type of Exhibitors Circuit having nothing to do with any other company.

Letter follows:

Mr. J. B. Wild, of Wild’s Daily, New York:

Mr. Wild, I was not able to comply with your request when you called at the Ritz in New York for an appointment with me, and you are not the last in line to have had this experience.
I have always held the highest regard for you, and I am planning to keep my promise by seeing you the following Monday. I think you will understand that the signing of articles incorporating into the agreement of sale, I shall not have anything to do with.

Begin with, I sold my holdings down in the market, and I think I have sold them for the real estate prices.

The same idea shall forever be lost on me, and I will have nothing to do with any company which now intends to operate with me.

This idea shall forever
be lost on me, and I will have nothing to do with any company
which now intends to operate with me.

Wanted Showdown on Booking
Company

The many appeals I have made, written and verbal, for a showdown in the First National Exhibitors
Company, have been accepted.

I have been
the background in the mind of a small portion of the membership, and an wealth of money
has been

A deep sentiment in this connection surrounded me for the apparent direction

of

the

in

I

shall

I

have the

in further my

I

have

I

shall

I

shall

I

I

have

I

have

I

shall

I

shall

I

have

I
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 25
"THE GOLDEN GOAL"
with Harry T. Morey

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It

And also
"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND" with Blanche Sweet

Now directing BESSIE BARRISCAL.

Blames Booking Co.
(Continued from Page 3)

not possibly form the interest of First National, and get them their benefit and thereby make good their many promises to the exhibitors, while at the same time they are trying to set up a national booking company and it is my true belief that First National, whether they realize it or not, has been swindled and bagged by the National Booking Co., and it is my belief that at no distant date another meeting, being the annual meeting of national and national and National Booking Co., will find not only this action put through, but First National franchises "once more" deposited in trust to secure good faith in the performance of the National Booking Co., and the power in their direction vested in a few months to see that their holders make good such security.

I agree with No. 2: Because I have hoped that instead of further planning a national booking company that Mr. Schwalbe might have given the exhibitors the idea to the end gaining his ability and judgment in the direction of many other advantages for the furtherance of First National, but the members who met at Chicago in the Spring just past, loudly praised First National for it had truly come into its own. The faith of the exhibitors throughout the country toward First National was a thing any man may have been proud of.

Hanging Crepe on a Thing He Loved

The tide toward a national booking company so far has reached my ears, I mean to it the "hanging of a black crepe" on a thing I loved. I have often estimated in my mind the wonderful progress, the great opportunity, the high respect and esteem First National may have had and enjoyed by my friends, Mr. Schwalbe directed his genius, efforts and ability in the sole protection of First Nation.

Having submitted my franchised to the President, Mr. Lieber, for sale and receiving a favorably reply, after Mr. Schwalbe arranged to sell me, my attorney and the director general to Mr. Schwalbe to arrange for a sale of the franchise to Mr. Lieber with full power for me, they were adviced by Mr. Schwalbe that he would let Mr. Lieber buy same and subsequently signed a paper, dictated by Mr. Schwalbe, to allow First National as a whole to buy, 30 days to vote on said option, which was accepted and later an agreement to sell to Mr. J. D. Williams, assuming all the risk of obtaining approval by the members, I will say I have ended my business relations as a franchise holder as a loyal member, especially since I sold at $50,000 below the value given by the Asso. First National Pictures, Inc.

W. J. Morat
302 East 33rd St., N. Y. C.
Phone, Vanderbilt 7361

ENLARGEMENTS
of moving picture films, for stills and curios. Also high class printing. Twenty years experience in film laboratories.

Respectfully,
TOM MOORE.

Par West Prosperous, Says Storey
John E. Storey, assistant to Elmer B. Pearson, director of exchanges of Pathe, brings back to New York a rosecate view of conditions west of Chicago, following a trip which took him into the Rocky Mountain districts.

"The better type of theater," says Storey, "is doing business throughout our district. Exhibitors who formerly conducted small, unappealing theaters have remodelled their houses increasing the seating capacity two and three fold, and adding all modern improvements. Better showmanship is in evidence. The small town editor, in many instances, is setting the example for the managers of the bigger houses, competition everywhere. Story-telling and exploitation ability is counting materially at the box office."

F. S. Shradar, Central West district manager, while in New York confirmed the reports from all parts of the country that the exhibitor continues to enjoy an era of prosperity.

Broadwell Here
Robert B. Broadwell, president of Broadwell Prod., Inc., producers of the "Sleuth" series, is in New York to close a deal for the distribution of the series.

STUDIO FOR RENT
Immediate possession
308-10-12 East 48th St.
Inquire of Mr. Mannix at Talma dge Studios, 318 E. 48th St.
Vanderbilt 7340
or Mr. Mahan, Columbus 2475

To all Persons Holding Shares of the Powers Film Products, Inc.
Interested parties are trying to buy for $10 to $20 per share for which you paid $17 to $22.
Don't Sell Your Stock but wait forthcoming action by the Protective Committee of the holders of Stockholders. Protective Committee has been formed for the protection and conduct of the company by its President and his special committee of directors.

For further particulars
FREDERICK J. HARRISON
Stockholder and Chairman of the Plan
103 Dartmouth St., Rochester, N. Y.

Storm to Direct Lillian Gish
Arthur Jacobs has placed Jero Storm to direct the first film production for Frohman Amuse Corp. The title has not been announced. The picture is by Thos. Kelly.

Storm has completed the for mation of his own producing or ganization, but will not start actual work for three months. In the mean while he will direct Miss Gish.

Tourneur Special for Metro
Metro is making big preparations for the release of "The Great Deeemer," a Maurice Tourneur pro duction from the story by H. H.
Loan.

The film will be released in Oc tober and is scheduled to be one of the most important of Metro's fall follers. It is in six reels and is fol ished by House Peters and Marjorie Dav
Clarence Brown directed the Tourneur's personal supervision.
Gilbert and Jules Furthman did the continuity.

Fred Schafer
(Vitagraph)
Continuity & Titles
Continuity: "The Sea Rider, the Gauñetle.
Titles: "Dollars and the Woman"
"Hidden Dangers," The Island of Regeneration," "God's Country" and the Woman," "The Wiper Market."
Lynch and Black

Lynch in South and New England Being Investigated by the Committee of 9

When A. Lynch of the S.A. Enterprises has been interrogated by the Committee of 9 of the P.R.O. of America in their investigation into the modus operandi of alleged allies of Famous Players, the conference is expected to take place next week. The committee's sessions are being held at the London hotel where the conference is being held.

Black is expected to appear before the committee. A. Lynch is quoted as saying that Mr. Lynch will not appear before the committee until the conference is over. He also denied that the conference was being held in the British Empire. He said that he had not been interested in the conference until yesterday when he heard that the conference was being held in the British Empire.

Merger in Canada

Regal Films, Ltd., and Exhibitors' Distributing Corp. Combine

(Continued on Page 3)

Chaplin in "The Kid"

Comedian Talks of Feature—Quoted as Arranging for Sale in Salt Lake City

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Charlie Chaplin, according to a dispatch from Salt Lake City published in a local paper, has plans for the feature picture called "The Kid," on which he has been working for two years.

The publication says: "Here (Salt Lake City) the process servers cannot serve him and he will remain until he has sold his great cinema effort 'The Kid,' reputed to cost $1,000,000 in the making, which his wife, Mildred Harris Chaplin, now suing for divorce, seeks to restrain him from selling.

"Chaplin is wise. He knows all the wiles of the cinema game and how to thread himself out of the labyrinth of the law as well. He has consulted expert counsel and he knows what he is doing. He has knowledge of a law on the Utah statute books which the California

Levy Buys Backer Studios

The Harry Levy Service Corp. has bought outright the Bacon Backer studios at 230-232 West 36th St., and the property on which it stands, measuring 40x100 ft., which Levy had at first merely leased.

Monte Blue to Star

Monte Blue may be developed into a Paramount star to be featured in several productions and his elevation to starrer ranks is expected to follow.

McKenna Here With Compton Print

Lindsay McKenna, representative of Betty Compton Prod., arrived in New York yesterday with the print of the first Compton picture, "Prisoners of Love," for Goldwyn release.

McKenna will remain in New York for a month to confer with Goldwyn on the exploitation and advertising of the picture.

More Product for Hodkinson

The Hodkinson Corp. may be expected to shortly announce a new series of productions based on the works of one of the most popular authors of the day.

There has been a new department created called "the small town department," which will devote its attention to "the small prints," and will let them for small town showings. It is hoped in this way to reach small exhibitors with prints perfect in every respect.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Hollywood—Dorothy Phillips, 1st Nat'l star, was named honorary member of the Midshipmen's Brigade of the Annapolis Naval Academy after presenting the midshipmen with a silver loving cup. The boys got their first glimpse of the tropics on a set of the Allen Holubar Prod. at the Hollywood studios.

Superba Comedies, Inc., featuring Jack Hunt Prod., have leased space at the Francis Ford studios and are shooting one reel comedies, directed by Jack Hunt. A. Nathan, production manager, says release will be announced shortly.

Jack Neville, formerly publicity director for Mildred Harris Chaplin Prod., Inc., has been engaged by Dorothy Phillips.

The Renco Film Co., 724 South Spring St., with H. J. Reynolds as president, announces the completion of its organization and that they will start production within a few days. "Lavender and Old Lace," a novel by the late Myrle Reed, according to announcement, is to be their first picture.

Russell Simpson has been assigned the character lead in Goldwyn's production of "Butty Pulls the Strings," a Reginald Barker production.

The Universal scenario department reports the purchase of the screen rights to "Out of the Sunset," a story by George Rix. Eva Novak will probably be cast for the leading role with Stuart Paton directing.

Harry Revere and a company headed by Carle Schramm and Maullia Martinez has left for the mountains to film exteriors for "The Son of Tarzan," a National Film Corp. production.

Virginia Warwick has been selected to play the part of "Chichi" in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." GAUSMAN.

New Theaters
Orange, N. J.—South Orange Theater Co. $100,000.
Hamilton, O.—M. Chios, Sorg Opera House, to build.
Deiphos, O.—F. H. Stump to build.
Columbus, O.—Swan Amuse. Co. to build.
Paris, O.—George W. Stewart to build.
Mobile, Ala.—J. B. Webster, Empire, to build. 2,500.
Miami, Fla.—Rumieh, to build.
Brooklyn, N. Y.—William Small to build in Bridge Plaza section.
Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.—Foster L. Hastings. $40,000.
Mcauley, Oklahoma.—Charles Thomas to build.
Hominy, Okla.—Petitt Theater Corp. $50,000.
Arndmore, Okla.—Consolidated Amuse. Co. $100,000.
Allentown, Pa.—C. J. Otto to build on site of Lafayette Hotel.
Corry, Pa.—D. Mauley Parker and C. B. Roberts. $75,000. 1,200.
Eddiesville, Ill.—Wilday, J. A. Siepker manager, opened.
Cleburne, Texas—Rex opened.
Hanover, Pa.—Hanover Opera House, Fred Binner manager, opened.
Fosston, Minn.—George Berger now manager of Liberty.
Chaplin in "The Kid"

(Continued from Page 1)

attorneys seem to have overlooked, or perhaps have not discovered, which renders him safe from the restraining process servers so long as he remains in Utah, so he says.

Chaplin is quoted as saying: "I have been working on The Kid for two years and I do not propose to lose the fruits of my efforts. I wrote the scenario, acted in the play, directed it and produced it.

"I have invested in it $300,000, saving a weekly expense account of $5,000 to keep the company. It is a drama of pathos and humor unlike anything I have ever done and it means everything to me. I have practically completed the picture except writing the titles."

"The part I am fighting is the effort to restrain me from selling The Kid in which I have invested almost everything I have."

"The Kid" did not cost $1,000,000. Nothing like it. I have been required to be a millionaire, but I am not a rich man by any manner of means."

He is further quoted: "Now I am going to remain here until the picture is sold and there won't be any divorce until it is sold. There is a State law that protects me and prohibits the service of the restraining order on me. Probably I shall have a Salt Lake attorney look after my interest.

"Several cinema men will be here to see me with regard to purchasing the rights to "The Kid," in fact I have received several offers from local interests. I may be compelled to take a trip to New York in this connection, but I shall stay in Salt Lake until the picture is sold."

First National still has Chaplin under contract.

Carlos Guest at Dinner

A number of friends of Abraham
Carlos of Fox Film tendered him a dinner at the Astor last night. Carlos is back from Europe only a short time.

Berman on Exchange Tour

Harry M. Berman, general manger of Universal exchanges, is on a visit to the company's offices through the Midwest. Expected back on Saturday.

-.

Goldwyn Premieres in Detroit

The first showings of two Goldwyn pictures took place on Sunday, when Rex Beach's "North Wind's Malice" opened at the Madis-son and Governor Morris' "The Penalty" at the Adams. Both are scheduled for their New York showgings at the Capitol Theater later in the season.

Dustin Joins London Co.

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis—Ed Dustin, for many years with Pathe, has departed for the West to join the Jack London Co. at Hollywood.

Shipman Busy

(Continued from Page 1)

made on the Upper Ottawa River and 50 per cent of the stock will be Win-ipeg holdings. The "Foreigner" company has gone to Banff to make coal mine scenes. They will be back in Winnipeg Aug. 21, as First National expects to have the picture finished for early fall release. All Canadian pictures produced by Shipman's companies will be released through First National. Shipman saw the Board of Trade and Premier Norris of Manitoba, accompanied by Mayor Grey, and was given promises of hearty support from official quarters. Shipman sees great future for Canadian drama for screen and the press here is giving him whole-hearted support.

"Doc" Willat Arrives

C. A. ("Doc") Willat has arrived in New York with the print of the first picture produced and directed by his brother, Irvin Willat, entitled "Down Home." The picture will be released through Hodkinson.

FIVE hundred pages of live, interesting and educational matter, gathered from a year's work in

WID'S 1920
YEAR BOOK

COMING SOON

Got your bookings for Paramount Week? It isn't too late to get in on the free advertising.
At Broadway Theaters

BROADWAY

Rivoli

"The Soul of Young Earth," Realart picture produced by William D. Taylor, is proving an admirable attraction at the Rivoli and the Chaplin revival, "The Adventurer," is drawing its share to the house despite the heat. The overture is "Rosamond" and the pictorial number "A Little." The premise continues the Chaplin comedy is just previous to the concluding organ solo.

Capitol

Forcic and slapstick predominate in the pictorial part of the Capitol's program, the feature being "Two Thieves," starring Tom Moore, and the shorter comedy, "The Stage Hand," starring Larry Semon. Both are going very well. The rest of the program is varied, opening with a Madame Buttery overture and following with another Oom-pah ballet arranged to "Caprice Viennais." These settings are very popular with the patrons. The "Pat" cartoon is a summer cartoon serial and this is followed by the "Bedouin Love Song" sung by Wilfred Gies. The news picture comes next and the feature to the well-known quintette from Wagner's "Die Meistersingers" is rendered. After "Stop Thief" comes "Old Timers Waltz," which embraces several tunes popular from ten to 20 years ago. This registers a distinct hit. The Benson comedy follows.

Strand

"Chimes of New York," the overture at this house, the number fitting very well with the feature, "The Northern Lights." The review follows immediately after the overture. The next number is another pictorial, "The Northern Lights." The news picture comes next and the feature to the well-known quintette from Wagner's "Die Meistersingers" is rendered. After "Stop Thief" comes "Old Timers Waltz," which embraces several tunes popular from ten to 20 years ago. This registers a distinct hit. The Benson comedy follows.

Aside to the summer weather, the audience attended the feature, "The Northern Lights," the pictorial number "A Little." The premise continues the Chaplin comedy is just previous to the concluding organ solo.

Rialto

Considering the very favorable, comfortable weather, the audience attended the feature, "The Northern Lights," the pictorial number "A Little." The premise continues the Chaplin comedy is just previous to the concluding organ solo.

Huge Industry Revealed in Booklet

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—Complete information on the moving picture industry in Los Angeles is contained in a booklet just issued by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. It is entitled "Motion Picture Making in Los Angeles." Two hundred thousand copies of the pamphlet mark the initial issue, and in the general distribution which is to follow will be issued in 500,000 lots.

Two hundred thousand copies of the pamphlet mark the initial issue, and in the general distribution which is to follow will be issued in 500,000 lots.

Fox Opens Exchange at Butte

Butte, Mont.—Fox Film Corp. has opened a branch office at 125 West Broadway. This is the exchange for the 20th in the United States for Fox.

Lawrence J. McGinley, formerly assistant manager at Seattle, will be in charge.

Chautauqua Forces Closing

Elk Lick, Pa.—The Dreamland will temporarily close because of the Chautauqua scheduled to take place during the week of Aug. 30.

Authors Going to Studios

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Jesse L. Lasky says that among the authors who are definitely slated to come here to write stories for Paramount are Edward Knobby, Arthur Bennett, Henry Arthur Jones and Compton Macenzie.

Musicians Demand More Money

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

New Orleans—Beginning Sept. 1, the local musicians' union asks for an increase totaling $16 weekly. Projection machine operators have also asked for increases, their amounts totaling 10 per cent. It seems likely that the demands will be granted.

Mayer Studios Shut Down

Los Angeles—The Louis B. Mayer studios have been shut down for a short spell. Anna Stewart and Mil- dred Harris Chaplin are both in New York for reel's and Louis B. Mayer is well ahead on his releasing schedule for the early fall. Mayer leaves for New York on the 21st.

F. P. Releases

A Maurice Tourneur production, "The White Circle," and Bryant Western in "In That Happened to Jones" are the features released by Paramount this week.

The first of the Cayuga Prod. to be made in Ithaca is "Three Women Loved Him." E. H. Griffith directing.

CHESER CONKLIN

2 Reels—One-A-Month

GAL HENRY

2 Reels—One-A-Month

CLAYPLAY

Novelties Comedies

1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD

Scenic Stories

1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICCLASSICS"

1500 ft. of Comedy

500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month with our Greatest Stars

Directed by

REGGIE MORRIS

the man who made

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father" etc.

Special Pictures Corp.
Internat'l Theaters

$4,000,000 Company Chartered in Delaware—Walter K. Hill a Vice-President

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Dover, Del.—The Corporation

The present contract with the theater owners expires Sept. 1. To date there has been no renewal or any definite action that would indicate a settlement.

Three Buildings Damaged

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Philadelphia—Thousands of feet of film have been lost and the three buildings 1215-15-17 Vine St. badly damaged by the fire which swept the premises Tuesday.

The firms occupying the three buildings are the Masterpiece Film Attraction Co., the Equity Film Co., W. Bradenburgh, film importer, Consolidated Film Exchange, the Economy Film Co., the Penn Poster Co. and the National Poster Co.

He was paying for the sin of his youth, but the price was more than he could bear.—In "The Heart of a Fool," by William Allen White, an Allan Dwan production, presented by Mayflower and a First National attraction—Advt.

Storm Pictures, Inc.

Director to Make Four a Year for New Unit—W. H. Kemble President

It has been definitely decided that Jerome Storm will make four pictures a year for his newly formed company, Storm Pictures, Inc. William H. Kemble, who operated the old Triangle theater on Flatbush Ave., extension, Brooklyn, when Triangle

Black Here

Alfred S. Black of New England, whose activities in the theater field the Exhibitors' Conference of 9 is to investigate, is in town.

Walsh Finishing Contract

George Walsh is understood to be working in his last picture for Fox Film. It is "Dynamite Allen," which he must finish in three weeks.

The Fox offices did not care to comment on the Walsh matter yesterday.

Three a Year

Being Considered by Marguerite Clark—May Be Made in New Orleans

Marguerite Clark's future production plans are not definitely settled. It seems likely, however, that about the 340,000 square vehicles she secure the proper vehicles she will make two or three productions a year.

Miss Clark told WID'S DAILY yesterday that she did have a plan in mind to produce pictures from May to November, possibly in New Orleans, and remain in the South for the remainder of the year.

The productions will be of the super-special calibre only.

Theater Project Abandoned

The theater planned as a part of the Heckscher Bldg. now being erected at 57th St. and 5th Ave. by George Bucker, will be eliminated from the completed structure. It is unknown for what reasons the change has been made.

Federated Signs Love

Four Productions to Go Through New Releasing Organization—Two Finished

W. E. Shallenberger, general manager of the Federated Film Ex changing company, yesterday informed the exhibitors' conference that the company was closing its contract with Arthur S. Kane, representing the Andrew J. Callaghan Prod., Inc, for a series of four productions starring Bessie Love.

All four of Miss Love's picture are to be made from the works of well-known novels by famous authors. The first two, which are ready completed, are "Bonnie May," by Joseph Dodge, and "The Magnolias," by Chas. Tenney Jackson. These were directed by Ida Ma Park and Joseph de Greese. Federated, as noted, will distribute a series of Monte Bank short subjects.

Lichtman Talks to Exhibitors

All Lichtman of famous players, was learned yesterday, addressed the Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce at the astro on Tuesday and offered the company's stand relative to the contracts with exhibitors which, at noted, are the subject of investigation by the Chamber of Commerce.

Lichtman spoke until almost o'clock on Tuesday and because the lateness of the hour the exhibitors could not hold an executive session to officially pass on what Lichtman said. It is understood, however that Lichtman followed the lines that since the picture industry was not mercantile business, in the strict sense of the word, existing agreements and contracts were likely "offer changes in order to meet preconditions.

Lichtman could not be reached yesterday for a statement as to just when he did say at the meeting.

Baker Back

George D. Baker has finished "Buried Treasure" with Marion Davies and is now back in New York with the members of the support company. He starts work next week on a new picture for International the East. Marion Davies has remained California to make "The Love Pike" with Frank Borzage directing.

Benjamin Here

Samuel Benjamin, accompanied his wife, is in New York. Benjamin is Universal manager in Oklahoma City.
Censor Evil Again

Another Bill Planned for Missouri—
Church Organizations Busy
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis—Another effort is to be made to establish state censorship of mov- ing pictures in Missouri.

The St. Louis branch of the Fed- eration of Catholic Societies has launched the movement. They have written to have the support of the Lutheran Ministers' Alliance and the Church Federation, an organization representing the leading Protestant churches of St. Louis.

Petitions are being circulated among the churches of the state. Catholics have sent out enough petitions for 250,000 names, according to Edward V. P. Schneiderhan, at- torney and chairman of the morals committee. He claims Protestant churches have promised to handle an equal number.

John F. Chew, editor of Church Progress, a Catholic weekly, and chairman of the federation, says a censorship bill will be introduced when the new Missouri legislature convenes in January, 1921.

The censorship movement will be state-wide.

Already committees from the federation have written to candidates for the state legislature to ascertain their views towards a censorship measure. Reports of such expressions by candidates have been made at meetings of the federation.

The St. Louis Film Board of Trade has written a questionnaire to every can- didate for the legislature. In addition the board is prepared to have competent legal counsel look after its interests while the legisla- ture is in session.

Prisco Leads Paramount Race

Owing to the heavy bookings and the pressure of work in compiling records on the third annual Para- mount race, the winners will be named after the completion of the campaign before the prize winning exchanges can be announced. Records to date indicate that San Francisco still holds the lead for the first prize. Other ex- changes stand in the following order: Seattle, Philadelphia, Los Angeles.

A noteworthy newcomer among the leaders is the New Haven exchange, which in the past week jumped from thirteenth place to fifth.

New Treasurer for Selznick

Henry C. Siegel, for five years with the Public National Bank, has been ap- pointed treasurer of the Selznick Enterprises, Inc.

David Selznick has been acting as treasurer until now.

Bell Coming to New York

Los Angeles Majors Charles H. Bell, studio manager for famous Players-Brayish Producers, Ltd., who is studying studio conditions, will leave here for New York about Aug- ust 26 to spend three weeks at the East- ern studios before departing for Lon- don.

Company Dissolved

Albany—The Sohmer Photo Play Prod. Co. of New York City has been dissolved.

Watch for the bombshell.

Storm Pictures, Inc.

(Continued from Page 1)

was in its heyday, is president of the new company.

Storm stated yesterday that he ex- pects to produce both in the east and on the coast. He will start work as noted, when he finishes the first Lil- lan Gish production for Frohman Amusement Corp. This will go into production almost immediately.

Kemble, as noted in WID'S DAILY on June 25th, formed the William H. Kemble Prod., Inc., in California with a capitalization of $1,000,000. It was learned yesterday that the above company will not oper- ate as such and that it was formed as a holding company for Storm Pic- tures, Inc.

Mr. Kemble left for California yester- day afternoon to complete distribution arrange- ments.

Cuts and Flashes

At Hall will aid Robert Broadwell as assistant director of the Nick Car- ter stories.

Charles F. McGovern goes to Wash- ington today to close a deal on "The Untamed Woman."

Tom Bret has been engaged by Broadwell Prod., Inc. to title their series of Nick Carter productions.

The New York Telephone Co. has filed a judgment against Grossman Pictures, Inc., for $160.11.

Garrette Sabin, producer of the Muriel Ostriche comedies, is recuperating from an appendicitis opera- tion.

J. F. Jossey and E. R. Champion, Arrow special representatives, go to Boston and Washington today on sales trips.

Kassel has placed in the Lyric lobby 12 large paintings on the Fox production, "If I Were King.", and also 7 paintings in Moss' Broad- way on the California Bathing Girls.

Walter Richard Hall is completing a screen version of Lillian Friend- land's story, "The Unfair Sex," which will be placed in production by Artclass Pictures under direction of John Joseph Harvey.

If you judge a certain poster to be a great poster, look for the RITCH- EY trade mark upon it. If it is there your judgment was correct.

RITCHEY
LITHO. COMP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y., Phone Chelsea 3388

The one & only
"Ambrose"

is the biggest money maker appearing in comedies.

Perry Comedies present MACK SWAIN in a series of new two reel comedies.

State Right
One a Month
Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.

AMERICA'S FINEST LABORATORY
Located at Arop The Palisades
Opposite 129th Street
Palisades Film Laboratories
Palisades N. J.

FOR RENT
Fully equipped Modern Studio.
Box B-9, care WID's.
Hold Motion Picture Pageant
Pleasanton, Cal.—Under the direction of Thomas H. Ivey and the Chamber of Commerce, a motion picture pageant was held recently.

Opens Temporary Office
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
San Francisco.—Temporary offices have been opened by J. A. Hart, manager of the California division of the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association, at 247 Golden Gate Ave.

Enlarge Publicity Staff
San Francisco.—Turner and Dahmken have enlarged their publicity department, two men having been added. W. H. Jobelman remains the head.

Merit Adds to List
Pittsburgh.—The following productions have been secured by Merit: "Who's to Blame" with Paula Shay, "Repentance" with Alma Hanlon, "A Wife's Story" with Otto Kruger, "Truth Will Prevail," and "Like an Old Fool," with Christine Mayo.

Wilmington House Changes Policy
Wilmington, N. C.—The policy of Victoria has been changed from first run pictures to musical comedy tabloids. The Royal, when alterations have been completed, will play first run films. Both houses are operated by Howard-Wells.

BLACKTON STUDIO
Available to Desirable Company. First class lighting facilities.

SOLE AGENT
EDWARD SMALL
1493 BROADWAY

FIVE hundred pages of live, interesting and educational matter, gathered from a year's work in WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

COMING SOON
PRODUCTION AFFILIATIONS

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD PRODUCTIONS
“Nomads of the North”
(A First National Attraction)

“BACK TO GOD’S COUNTRY”
by James Oliver Curwood
(A First National Attraction)

NATIONAL FILM CORPORATION
Re-Issues of:
“Tarzan of the Apes”
and
“A Romance of Tarzan”
(First National Attractions)

LEGEND FILM PRODUCTIONS, Inc.
New Series of Two-Reel Comedies

CATHRINE CURTIS CORPORATION
Studios, Los Angeles

HENRY MACRAE
Supervising Director of

DOMINION FILM COMPANY, Inc.
Production rights to works of Ralph Connor and other famous authors

WINNIPEG PRODUCTIONS, Ltd.
(Winnipeg, Canada)
“The Foreigner”
by
Ralph Connor

NORTHERN PICTURES CORPORATION, Ltd.
(Calgary, Canada)
“Cameron of the Royal Mounted”
and
“The Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail”
by
Ralph Connor

Cable
“ERNSHIP”
Phone: Bryant 4730
6 West 48th St.
New York City.
RALPH CONNOR

The Foreigner
The Prospector
The Man from Glengarry
Cameron of the Royal Mounted
Black Rock
The Major
The Sky Pilot
Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail
12 in All

PRODUCTIONS

Separate producing units, each complete in itself, will make these Ralph Connor stories.

"Telling the truth in Pictures" will be the slogan—each production will be made upon the identical locations described by the author.

Scenes will be "Shot" in vast outdoor studios ranging from the snow-capped Rockies to the storm-swept shores of Newfoundland.

Each director will SPECIALIZE upon the story in hand, and compete for supremacy with the other producing units.

Keen competition between these producing units will result in greater artistry and more entertaining screen drama.

In due season each company will make its own individual announcements to the trade.

Management of

Ernest Sjukman

6 West 48th Street,

New York, N. Y.
Coast Brevities

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—Jack Ford, Universal director, who, as was recently announced, has returned to the studio after honeymooning a month.

The Metro scenario and news departments are now occupying their new Garden Court offices across the street from the main studio buildings.

Hollywood—"Sowing The Wind," Anita Stewart's latest Louis B. Mayer production for First National release, has been completed under the direction of John M. Stahl.

Frank Mayo will be supported by Irene Blackwell, Dagmar Gowsky, Helen Lynch, Edward Coxen and Gordon Sackville in his forthcoming Universal production, "The Throwback," written and to be produced by Jacques Jaccard. Production will begin within a few days.

Phillip Kirby, author, war correspondent and newspaperman, has joined Metro's staff of scene writers.

A. S. Dudley, formerly assistant secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed secretary to the Sacramento (California) Chamber of Commerce. Dudley says that in his new connection he will be pleased to be of service to the moving picture fraternity in that capacity.

New Sales Plan

Being Formulated for Universal by F. A. Hartman Heads Department

Universal Industrial Department is expected to shortly announce the details of a new sales plan for its products. The idea will include a regular output of industrials and educational films weekly.

L. H. Hartman of Chicago, who is in charge of the Surplus Property Bureau at Washington during the war, has been placed in charge of the department. George D. Uffin will be associated with him.

Walter V. Coyle and Lem F. Kennedy are in charge of all directional activities.

Harry Forbes is in charge of the technical staff, which includes Hoey Lawler, animated cartoonist; Roswell Johnson and Al Marinier, camera operators.

The industrial department states the agreement with the Motion Picture Exhibitors of America for exclusive representation of the Universal product is still in force, and that distribution of other product will be continued. It is in connection with this that the new sales plan will become operative.

U. T. P. L. Meets Sept. 13th

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Minneapolis—President Steffes, of the United Theatrical Protective League, states that the annual convention of that body will be held Sept. 13th, 14th and 15th in this city.

Although the date of the annual convention was originally set for October, the board of directors of the U. T. P. L., decided to set the convention date ahead because of the many problems confronting the exhibitors at this time.

New Quarters for Universal

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Minneapolis—The Universal exchange, now occupying from its present location at 719 Hennepin Ave, to their new quarters at 21, 23 and 25 N. 3rd St.

This move will give Universal one of the best offices in the city. They will have more room, and the new quarters are well lighted and thoroughly fireproof.

Start Hampton Film

A new Hope Hampton production will be started next Monday at the Paragon studios in Fort Lee with Jack Gilbert directing.

Virginia Valli, who has been appearing as lead in recent productions, will be in the supporting cast, also Percy Marmont and Jack O'Brien.

New First National Unit

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Dover, Del.—Representatives of the Corporation Trust Co., have formed a new First National unit, it is the Associated First National Pictures of Louisiana with capitalization of $82,500.

Morton Blumenstock formerly with Goldwyn is now with the First National publicity department.

---

STUDIO FOR RENT

Immediate possession

308-10-12 East 48th St.

Inquire of Mr. Mannix at 7-mudge Studio, 318 E. 48th Vanderbilt 7340 or Mr. Mahan, Columbus 25

CAMERAMAN

with complete outfit

Available

All Hours for Special W.

C. B. PRICE CO., INC.

1451 Washington, N. Y.

Phone Bryant 799

---

CHESTER CONKLIN

2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY

2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"

Novelty Comedies

1 Reel—One-A-Week

---

SUNSET BURRI

Scenic Stories

1 Reel—One-A-Week

---

"COMICLASS"

1500 ft. of Comedy

500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month

with our Greatest Star Directed by

REGGIE MORRIS

the man who made

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father"

---

Special Pictures Co.

---

DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 26

"A GAME WITH FATE" with Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe

PAUL SCARDON

Directed It

And also

"Partner of the Night" and "Milestones" For Goldwyn

---

Trade Boom Through Films

It was reported from Washington yesterday that the present engaged movement is sponsoring a traveling motion picture exhibit showing the development and progress of English industries.

The films are to be used throughout the world as a means of advertising, and as they are to be eventually shown in this country and according to present information are to be supplied to theaters without any charge.

Will Write for Boston Paper

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Idelle Emery, dramatic editor of the Boston Post, has arrived in Los Angeles. She is to make a survey of film conditions in California and write a series of articles on the film conditions.

New Studio Manager for Tourneur

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Robert B. McIntyre has been engaged as studio manager by Maurice Tourneur.

Thurston Plans More

Howard Thurston, the magician, who has finished "Twisted Souls," plans a series of pictures. His original intention was to make one.

Kosloff Going Abroad?

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The "Times" says in part: "It is possible that Theodore Kosloff, head of the Kosloff Dancing School, who is at the Lasky on special work with Cecil DeMille, may go to France. Kosloff is in receipt of an offer of $1,000 per week to direct a new film company in Paris. The name of the company is the Erleff Film Co. and all the studio work is located at the old Pathe, near Paris. Included in its directorship and management is a number of noted producers from France, Russia and Italy, and it promises to be one of the biggest concerns among the foreign producers."
Suppose Abrams.

Exhibitor Organizations Frown "Big 4" Policy of Collecting Rentals.

P. T. O. has been informed by several state exhibitor officers that a full-scale campaign to collect "Big 4" rentals has been contemplated in many states. The P. T. O. officers have been informed that the "Big 4" rental policy was a question of state law, and that state officers have a duty to look into it.

Black Statement.

Answering Cohen Committee, He Says He Has Made Only Booking Arrangement With Zukor—Claims First National Financial Patterson Chicago Meeting—Won't Meet Cohen Committee—Zukor Pledge Made Public—Lynch Says He Is Not Preparing for Booking Combine in South.

Despite that the Committee of 9 of the M. P. T. O. of America (the Cohen Committee) "understood" with Adolph Zukor that Mr. Zukor was to have S. A. Lynch and Alfred S. Blakesky "investigate" exhibits relative to theater acquisitions for Famous, Mr. Blakesky somewhat upset these ideas when, in a statement issued yesterday, he declared that he would not meet the Cohen Committee of 9; that he would deal with them only through the trade press and made several other interesting statements, among which were that he had been compelled through the operations of First National to arrange a

Continued on Page 3

Vitagraph Warns Against Attempted "Theft" of Larry Semon by Other Producers—Under Contract Till 1924.

Vitagraph, in an advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue, warns the trade against the making of contracts with Larry Semon, whose obligations with Vitagraph will not be completed until 1924. The announcement issued by Alfred E. Smith, president of the company, says in part: "I wish to warn the motion picture trade in general and particularly those who make a practice of stealing motion picture stars from reputable producers that Larry Semon is at present under written contract with the Vitagraph Co., which will not expire until Dec. 1, 1924, unless before that date he completes 36 motion pictures with the aid and assistance of the Vitagraph Co. of America. "Under this contract Semon has agreed to devote his entire time and attention to the business of assisting in the production of these pictures for the Vitagraph Co. of America, and he has expressly agreed that he will not, until the full completion of this contract, engage in similar work either in his own behalf or in behalf of any other person or corporation. Thus far only five of the 36 pictures have been produced."
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

Franklin, Pa.—A method whereby a decorative and permanent lobby display can be made to play a part in the exhibition of current and past attractions has been devised by the management of the Park. The lobby decoration consists of four massive frames which hold pictures of four stars and each frame has an open panel at both the top and the bottom by which titles of pictures and date lines for showing can be inserted.

Portraits of Constance and Norma Talmadge, Katherine MacDonald and Mildred Harris Chaplin are set permanently in the frames. The title of the picture as well as the dates are painted by hand to correspond to the coloring of the portraits. The title card is placed in the top panel above the portrait and underneath the dates of the engagement. The day prior to the opening of a production of any of the stars the date panel is taken out and a "tomorrow" sign substituted. Then when the production opens a "Today" card succeeds the "Tomorrow." None of the portraits are identified by the names of the stars, as it is the theory of the management that the name makes a greater impression if it has to be asked for by persons who are not sufficiently acquainted with the productions of the quartet to be able to recognize them.

Tear Down Old House

Des Moines, Ia.—The last of the old 5 cent houses here, the Unique is being torn down to make room for a modern theater.

Join Merchants and Manufacturers

Baltimore, Md.—The local Exhibitors' League has joined the Merchants and Manufacturers' Assos.

Many See Free Films

Des Moines, Ia.—Three thousand people have seen the free pictures at local playgrounds during the past month.

Eastman Stock at $533

The New York Times said yesterday that a sharp rise on Eastman Kodak stock yesterday (Wednesday) at $533 a share. This is the last sale on the New York Exchange in five years, the last sale before haging been in August, 1915, with the price $605 a share. Yesterday's price was, therefore, 72 points below that last recorded. It must be remembered, however, that in the space of five years the stock has recovered in regular and extra dividends about $200 a share.

Goldwyn Studios Busy

Culver City—The cast was completed this week for Will Rogers' new picture, "The Guile of Woman." Robert Sprocket, Lionel Belmore, Charles A. Smyly, Nick Cogley, Doris Pawn, John Lince and Jane Starr are in the cast.

Munger Here With U. P. Trail

Hewlings Munger, treasurer of Federal Photoplays of California, is in New York from the west coast with a print of "The U. P. Trail."

Long Island Plant Ready Oct. 1

The Long Island studio of Famous Players is expected to be ready October 1.

INSURANCE EXPERTS

TO THE THEATRICAL AND MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY FOR THE PAST 20 YEARS. "ASK ANY PRODUCER."

Did you ever hear of "Insurance Service?" Well, that's what we have to offer. Can we explain further how we can serve you—

REUBEN SAMUELS

REAL INSURANCE

SERVICE 80 Maiden Lane

Phone John 5487 - 5488 - 5487 - 5488

The Broadway, beginning Day, will run two shows a day, reserved seats and show wanders in conjunction with features.

The reputation of the RITCHIE poster is based upon performance, not promises,—upon what it has done rather than upon what it will do.

RITCHIE

LITHO. CORP.

406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 838

Munier Here With "U. P. Trail"

Hewlings Munger, treasurer of Federal Photoplays of California, is in New York from the west coast with a print of "The U. P. Trail."

Get's real laugh's that bring in real dollars.

Perry Comedies present MACK SWAIN in a series of new two reel comedies.

State Right

One a Month

Distributed by G. B. Price Co. Inc.

1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.

Just received from our Holly Studio

A High Class Feature Production

Will sell American or world rights.

OSCAR JACOBS

PRODUCTIONS

Room 203—1600 Broadway

Phone Bryant 9758
Black Statement
(Continued from Page 1)

Black's statement will be found elsewhere in this issue. Yesterday also saw the issuance of a supplementary statement by the Cohen Committee, the Committee of which, except that it was reprinted, will also be found in issue. This statement includes point that Mr. Zukor's statement was made by the committee at a meeting of the American and American Methodists employed at the Cleveland Convention, the worst known in the history of motion pictures, and why we left the convention floor.

Attacks Gordon and First National

"Why do not the officers and this committee, the product of this convention attack the greatest distributor-exhibitor combination in the United States — the First National — and especially to the activities of Mr. Nathan H. Gordon, of Boston, the owner of the New England First National franchise and the largest operator of theaters in New England through his own and affiliated companies?

"Why don't the M. P. T. O. of America, ascertain whether or not the First National through Mr. Gordon's management in New England and by others over the United States, has done the independent exhibitor more harm through heavily increased film rentals and extension of theater ownership than any other ten interes?

"Why don't they find out about the pressure being used by First National make the exhibitors buy their franchises on one hand and the theater activities by Mr. Gordon's affiliated interests (and some new ones, too) on the other hand?

"Why don't they investigate the First National's new booking propo sition which, if put into successful operation, would soon tie up between all three methods the motion c pictures business in a regular vise?

"Why don't they now openly admit, which they do privately, that the so-called Patterson Chicago movement was financed by the First National and the attack on the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. alone was mal-icous and unfair?

"Why did Mr. Cohen and his committee refuse to admit the press at their meeting with Mr. Zukor?

"Why was it that the recent meeting of the Connecticut Exhibitors, which Mr. Sydney Cohen attended, was turned into a First National banquet?

"As President of the Motion Picture Exhibitors of America, I openly ask Mr. Gordon and the officials of the First National to deny these charges and to state their honest intentions not camouflaged by their affiliated interests. If we are going to clean house and find where everybody stands, let's go through the whole list and do it on the level, openly, not privately."

Hasn't Sold a Single Theater

"So there will be no misunderstanding as to my exact position in the New England theater field — I have not sold control of a single theater. I was forced through Mr. Gordon and his various connections to recently make a booking arrangement with financial interest to protect my theater holdings. Believing that the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. produced the best pictures made, I succeeded in making an affiliation with them to offset considerable extent
Mr. Gordon's rapidly attempted control of New England."

(Continued on Page 6)

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

COMING SOON

EUGER

PHOTO ENGRAVING
1507-1589 BROADWAY
DAY AND NIGHT

T I L E P H O N E
BRYANT 4045

The refreshing evidence of a new season — the biggest in your history.

FIVE hundred pages of live, interesting and educational matter, gathered from a year's work in

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

COMING SOON
Public Notice and

Information has reached me that certain persons are and for some time have been endeavoring to induce Larry Semon to leave the employ of the Vitagraph Company of America and to engage in the production of motion pictures for some other company.

I wish to warn the motion picture trade in general and particularly those who make a practice of stealing motion picture stars from reputable producers that Larry Semon is at present under written contract with the Vitagraph Company which will not expire until December 1, 1924, unless before that date he completes thirty-six (36) motion pictures with the aid and assistance of the Vitagraph Company of America.

Under this contract Semon has agreed to devote his entire time and attention to the business of assisting in the production of these pictures for the Vitagraph Company of America, and he has expressly agreed that he will not, until the full completion of his contract, engage in similar work either in his own behalf or in behalf of any other person or corporation. Thus far only five of the 36 pictures have been produced.
Warning to the Trade:

The Vitagraph Company of America has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in exploiting its pictures of Semon and in popularizing Semon throughout the world and it does not propose to have its property stolen or appropriated either by the unscrupulous or by those who are ignorant of Semon's present obligations to the Vitagraph Company of America.

We shall, as we have in the past, protect our property in this contract and in the contracts of all of our stars by litigation, whenever necessary, and we will prosecute to the fullest extent of the law any or all firms, persons or corporations who, by offers of increased salary or other inducements, aid or encourage Semon to breach his existing contract with the Vitagraph Company of America.

VITAGRAPH COMPANY OF AMERICA,
ALBERT E. SMITH,
President
Black Statement

(Continued on Page 3)

Rodien, at Concord, N. H., and other places; Beecher Chu-Chili, in Aroostook County, Maine; and very recently T. W. Mc Kay of Rutland, Vt., also W. Grace of Fairbanks, Vt., and Andrew J. Cohe of Lawrence, Mass. Ask these men what they think of our business dealings.

At the present time, after using the Famos Players-Lasky, I am one of the largest buyers of independent film in the United States.

"ALFRED S. BLACK"

Findings of Committee

The announcement from the Committee of 9, in part, says:

Every executive committee member of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America has been requested by wire to gather in his zone all complaints and any specific instances of abuses towards independent exhibitors in his territory, and to send same to the committee for submission to the conference.

Pledge from Zukor

The official report embodied a statement made by Zukor to the members of the committee which reads as follows:

"Under no circumstances will I connive at any unfairness in dealing with independent exhibitors. If any of my representatives or associates at any time resort to threats or intimidations or any other form of coercion, I will promise you I will not tolerate same. You must know I have the power to call them to account and I will not hesitate to do so. If any theaters have been obtained by my organization in any manner other than a fair legitimate sale, I want to know about it and I will personally see to it that any man thus aggrieved shall be restored to his property and all ".

"I will go further than this and say that I will throw the weight and whatever influence my organization and my associates may have in the industry, in cooperation with the national organization of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, against any man or set of men who resort to unfair competition with the independent exhibitor.

This report then goes on to say:

"The committee said that it had information from various parts of the country that other producers and distributors were using as a sales argument for their production, the country in which had arisen between his corporation and our organization, and they felt under the circumstances that the committee should endeavor to use its every effort to come to a speedy and satisfactory arrangement with his corporation, so that the coming year could be met by the exhibitors of the country in a different frame of mind than they were in at present."

At another point the report reads:

"Mr. Zukor pledged his word to the committee that both Mr. Lynch and Mr. Black would act as if they were a part of the original agreement. The committee was impressed with Mr. Zukor's statement and signed the agreement submitted, their understanding of same as understood in the letter, and then depend upon Mr. Zukor to see that both of his associates live up to the letter and principle of same."

"Mr. Zukor promised to adjust all complaints against 1919-1920 contracts. In some of the territories where specific instances were submitted to the committee in reference to the controversies over the 1919-1920 contracts between Famous Players-Lasky Corp and the independent exhibitor, satisfactory arrangements have already been reached. Telegrams have been sent to the committee here from all parts of the country commending on the business like way in which the agreements have been so far reached.

Plans No Combine, Says Lynch

"The committee have had several conferences with Mr. Lynch on matters of dispute in territories in the Southern States, and Mr. Lynch has authorized the committee to make the statement to the effect that under no circumstances will he endeavor to secure the film of any other manufacturer or producer than Famous Players-Lasky Corp. and Realart, and there is no foundation for the current rumor that he intended to force a booking arrangement on the exhibitor of the South."

"Mr. Lynch wants it to be known he agrees with Mr. Zukor that the good-will of the exhibitors is the most necessary part of his business, and that it is his endeavor to build up that good-will and if any complaint of an independent exhibitor not affiliated, directly or indirectly, with his interest is brought to his attention through the proper channels of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, he will immediately give the same the personal attention and adjust it to the satisfaction of all concerned.

"Mr. Lynch wants to emphasize that he will resist in a most drastic way any interference with any independent exhibitor by any other distributor or producer, directly or indirectly, who threatens the independent exhibitor, and he will not permit any of his representatives to employ in any way a threat or intimidate any exhibitor in order to sell or dispose of his holdings."

Other Producers Lined Up

The report closes with the following:

"The committee also called to see Samuel Goldwyn, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, he will immediately give the same the personal attention and adjust it to the satisfaction of all concerned."

"Mr. Lynch wants to emphasize that he will resist in a most drastic way any interference with any independent exhibitor by any other distributor or producer, directly or indirectly, who threatens the independent exhibitor, and he will not permit any of his representatives to employ in any way a threat or intimidate any exhibitor in order to sell or dispose of his holdings."

The same promise was made by Lewis J. Selznick, president of Selz

"The committee of the M. P. T. O consisted of Sydney S. Cohen, pres-ident; C. C. Griffin, vice-president; E. T. Peter, treasurer; C. L. O'Reilly, W. D. Burlford, F. C. Seeger, C. H. Bea, J. T. Collins and H. B. Varner. Burlford took the place of J. C. Ritter of Detroit, who could not attend conference because of important business matters on hand. See tended in place of Ralph Ta.

The entire committee met after the conference with Zukor left the continuation of the meeting with Mr. Lynch, Mr. Black and Zukor and the other members with a sub-committee consisting of Mr. Lynch, Sydney S. Cohen, C. C. Griffin, Peter, C. L. O'Reilly and Jim Collins.

Ready for Straw Vote

Associated First National aside the week of Sept. 20 to which to hold its presidential vote. It is expected that 60 votes will be cast by theater managers.

Harry Chandler and Will Lautn's "Voice of the Blood" is being released in a production by Famous Players-Lasky Corp., at the moment.

FOR SALE

PRINTING MACHINES
20 Duplex Printing Machines
Inquire of Sam Sedran, Universal Film, 1600 Broadway, N. Y.

ENLARGEMENTS

moving picture films, for stills and cuts. Also high class printing. Twenty years' experience in film laboratories.

W. J. Morin
302 E. 33rd St., N. Y. C
Phone, Vanderbilt 7361

STUDIO FOR RENT
Immediate possession
308-10-12 East 48th St.
Inquire of Mr. Mannix at Madison Studio, 318 E. 48th St.
Vanderbilt 7340
or Mr. Mahan, Columbus 2475

Cameraman with complete outfit Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y.
Phone Bryant 299

THREE LARGE OFFICES WITH VAULT SPACE
FOR RENT
Use of Cutting Room—Terms Reasonable
Telephone: Bryant 1335, 3427
Ask for Mr. BARR

CHESTER CONKIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month
Gale Henry
2 Reels—One-A-Month
"Clayplay"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
Sunset Burrow
Scene Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
"Comiclassic"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scene
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Week with our Greatest St. Directed by REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" Special Pictures Corp.
Settle With Equity

Garg-Garson Litigation Ended—Latter Has New Sales Plan to Market Productions

Garson and Young Prod., a company in which Harry Garson Clara Kimball Young are inter-deed, has settled its litigation with Guy Pian, and will have the exclusive right to distribute the Young productions under a new franchise plan to be announced.

Under terms of the settlement, Equity, the latter concern will be able to use the name of Garson and Young, and will have the exclusive right to distribute their productions under a new franchise plan that has been negotiated.

The exalted status of the Equity concern will be restored, and Garson and Young will be able to continue their operations.

Educational Confab

Educational Film branch managers in the East conferred on the future of the branch and its relation to the educational field.

The meeting will be held at a close date.

Regarding "The Kid"...

"The Kid," an educational film, will be shown at the East conference. The meeting will be held at a close date.

"The Kid," produced by the Educational Film Co., will be shown at the East conference. The meeting will be held at a close date.

Goldwyn Buys in Chicago

Goldwyn Buys in Chicago

- Chicago—It is understood that Goldwyn has purchased the rights to "The Kid," an educational film, for $500,000. This picture, which has been under development for some time, is expected to be released soon. The film was produced by the Educational Film Co., which has been issuing educational films for some years.

- Los Angeles—The Educational Film Co. has been discussing the possibility of producing a film for the educational market. The film will be called "The Kid," and will be produced by the Educational Film Co., which has been issuing educational films for some years.

- New York—The Educational Film Co. has been discussing the possibility of producing a film for the educational market. The film will be called "The Kid," and will be produced by the Educational Film Co., which has been issuing educational films for some years.

Charges Fake

Christie Film Co. Intends Suing Milwaukee Promoter— Alleges Misrep-

sentation

- Los Angeles—The Christie Film Co. has sued alleged fake promoters who it is said used the name of Christie without permission to promote enterprises of their own in Milwaukee.

- The following statement has been issued by Christie.

"According to statements in the Milwaukee papers, Roy Pierce of Milwaukee publicly stated at a film ball held there that Myrtle Moran was chosen winner of a contest and chosen by a Christie Film director to go to California and start her career.

To Make 3 More

Lionel Barrymore Will Make Seven Pictures All Told for First National

- Lionel Barrymore, through Whitman Bennett, has contracted to make a series of three specials for the First National company. The first of these is "The Prodigal," by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, which is already in progress at the Yonkers studio under direction of Kenneth Webb. The second and third subjects in the new Barrymore series have already been purchased and are the works of American authors and playwrights credited with long runs on Broadway. Under his old contract Barrymore starred in "The Master Mind" and "The Devil's Garden," and he has yet to do "Jim the Penman" and another unnamed production. The Master Mind will be a September release and the other Barrymore pictures will be screened later in the season.

Ready for Action

Eastern Canadian Exhibitors to Discuss First Nat'l Franchise Plan at Tuesday's Meeting

By wire to WID'S DAILY

Toronto—It is learned here that the Motion Picture Protective Assoc. of Canada, the exhibitors' organization, will thoroughly discuss the first Nat'l sub-franchise plan there will be held on Tuesday.

The exhibitors in this section of the country, it is learned unofficially, are not particularly pleased with the granting of the sub-franchise to the Allied Motion Pictures, and point made is that the independent exhibitors here have been playing with Nat'l for several years past and now by virtue of the Allen deal they are "left out in the cold," so to speak.

Last week there appeared in one of the trade papers here an advertisement which reads as follows:

"During the next few weeks you will be approached by an exchange to take out a franchise for their productions.

"Before signing any contract of this nature, watch the decision of the Motion Picture Protective Association of Canada, the exhibitors' body, who will discuss this thoroughly at their next meeting."
Number 67

PathéNews

KYOTO, JAPAN—Gion Matsuri of July

Over 60,000 flock from all parts of the city with the goal to witness the picturesque proces-

IN THE LIMELIGHT—Woman

A mere chance for any Kansas to note—Mrs. Carrie C. Curti, a

ENGLAND—French Cyclists

Contractual at the Seville auberge in the city of Cadiz.

SANTO PEDRO, MEXICO—Villa

Pathé News presents exclusively first part of the surrender of the notorious

SAN ROSA, CAL.

California’s “plumed”

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Nation

Death of Surgeon-General Gorgas!

NEW YORK CITY—New York’s

News item for September in the field of Medical Corps.

---

Plan Another “Film City”

San Diego, Cal.—W. J. Cox, president of Master Pictures, which was formed in early May,

THE GOOD WIFE:

San Diego was purchased the Jamul ranch near on which the company plans to build the

FOR SALE:

Western city to be used in a number of photoplays.

FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc., has

Master started production in a new city which originally announced its intention of building

---

Today

The one & only “Ambrose”

Is heading toward the height of his career in the new two-

RITCHIEY LITHO., CORP.

406 W. 31st St., New York City

RITCHIEY

In the universality of its appeal the RITCHIEYposter is pre-eminent among posters. It has a message for every man, woman and child, the gist of which can be summed up in three words—"Buy a ticket.”

Distributors

623 E. Price Co., Inc.

1446 Broadway, New Y. C.
REGARDING CHARLES CHAPLIN AND "THE KID"

New York, August 20, 1920

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In reference to the published statements of Charles Chaplin to the effect that he intends to sell a motion picture produced by him in approximately five reels, entitled "The Kid," we wish to warn and advise you that Charles Chaplin, by virtue of a contract entered into on the 19th day of June, 1917, with the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc., a New York corporation, is under contract to produce solely and exclusively for the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc. eight photoplays; that the term of the said contract has not yet expired and that until the expiration of the said contract the said Charles Chaplin has no right or authority to produce motion pictures for any person, firm or corporation or to sell any motion pictures produced by him to any other person, firm or corporation other than the said First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc.; and further that the said First National Exhibitors' Circuit Inc. claims and contends that the distribution rights for the world for the aforesaid motion picture entitled "The Kid" belong to it, and that the said Charles Chaplin has no right or authority to dispose of same.

First National Exhibitors' Circuit Inc. further gives notice to all persons that it will prosecute and defend its right in the premises in the courts of the land to the utmost of its ability.

First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc.
per H. O. Schwalbe
Secretary
The Middleman

Under the caption, "Why Another Middleman?" ‘Greater Amusements’ of Indianapolis says editorially: "Much has been heard in recent weeks regarding formation of ‘booking agencies’ in some regions of the country and the news is causing no little concern among distributors, producers and independent exhibitors. And with good reason. They fear the so-called group booking of productions, by booking agencies is the saving involved in the selling cost. No one wants to point out how gets the money thus saved? Does the distributor get it? Or the producer? Or the exhibitor? Not in a manner so that it would be noticeable. The amount of money thus saved on the selling cost would hardly, if at all, bear the expense of maintaining the booking agencies. That’s just one point against the booking agencies. The establishment of booking agencies, socially speaking, is no more than just one more middleman, who must be supported by the box office of the motion picture. Practically every industry has its middleman, he is considered a necessary evil. In the motion picture industry we have the exhibitor, who, in every sense is a middleman. He is the agent who acts for the producer and exhibitor.

"And that the distributor is a necessity to this industry cannot be denied. The success of the motion picture as an art and its appeal to the public is very nearly based upon the extent to which the producers keep abreast of progress and public demands. To do this in a most complete manner, necessitates specialization in its kearest form. Therefore the one branch must specialize on production, the third branch, called upon to specialize in the sale of the product to the consumer, "Inasmuch as ‘booking agencies’ are neither producers nor consumers, they must be placed in the category of a middleman and no industry can afford to support one middleman, without exacting an exorbitant revenue from either the producer or consumer.

That too, there is danger involved in the powers of 'booking agencies.' They will not only have a powerful club to wield against the producers but will also have a powerful weapon to use against the exhibitor who is not a member of the 'agency.' If these agencies become a power, they can dictate to a large extent to the producer or the authorized distributing agent of the producer, as to the return to be derived from the public. As the producer must secure a fair return on his investment in the 'booking agencies' may force him to exact an unfair rental upon his goods from the exhibitor who is not a member of the agency. Therein lies the biggest menace in these proposed 'booking agencies.' "

"Under the present plans upon which the film business is conducted, the producer and exhibitor have an investment which must be protected and a responsibility that is a duty to uphold. The 'booking agencies' would have little or no investment to protect and their responsibility would end with satisfying their clients alone, regardless of the effects upon producers, non-member of exhibitors or the public."

Charges Fake (Continued from Page 1)

with the Chesty Co., Los Angeles, and under the Chesty Co. Organization. At the same time, Madeline Stevens was chosen as a winner in the screen talent contest of the Wisconsin News to go to California to appear in films for the Dodge Film Co. As an aftermath of these contests, Dodge has been detained in Milwaukee and Miss Morris realizing the contest was never authorized by Christie, is determining to journey to California and go into pictures at her own expense.

"The first intimation that the Christie Co., received concerning this public contest was when the parents of one of the girls winners wrote to the Christie Co., to see if anyone had been authorized to represent them. An investigation was made in Milwaukee and charges of misrepresentation and fraud were being brought against the Chesty Co. and the fake promoters with a view of curbing this sort of evil in the future."

Lee Goldberg Here

Lee Goldberg, manager of Asso. Services, Milwaukee, said the first National exchange at Louisville, is giving the Broadway the "over" this week and transacting business with the home office.

Schwab Leaves for Coast

D. N. Schwab of the D. N. Schwab Prod. left for California yesterday to see a view of curbing this sort of evil in the future."

Missouri Organizes

Exhibitors Affiliated With M. P. T. O.—Officers Elected

Special to WID’S DAILY

Moberly, Mo.—Missouri exhibitors have formed the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, Missouri, an affiliated body with the national organization.

The convention was a well-attended one. Resolutions were adopted along the lines of those passed at the Cleveland convention.

The quota at the national treasury for Missouri was $3,250, but this amount was more than doubled at the meeting.

The officers elected are as follows: Charles T. Sears, Brookfield, president; Joseph J. Mogler, St. Louis, vice-president; O. W. McCutch- in, Charleston, 2nd vice-president; S. E. Wilhoit, Springfield, 3rd vice-president; A. M. Ebnier, Kansas City, secretary, and Jack Truit, Sedalia, treasurer.

Lawrence Goldman of Kansas City is legal adviser.

De Haven Coming East

Los Angeles—Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven have completed "Twin Beds." De Haven will leave for New York when "Twin Beds" has been disposed of, and assembled in order to be present at its engagement at the Strand. He will then return to Los Angeles to start work on a second comedy.

Coliseum, Seattle, Robbed

Seattle—The Coliseum was robbed on Wednesday night. The robbers broke into the office and secured $500.

They held up Frank Steffy, the house manager, and Ben Larsen, the superintendent, just as Larsen was closing the sale with the day’s receipts. The robbers bound Steffy and Larsen to chairs and escaped, but overlooked $2,000 in another compartment of the safe.

Andre Barlatier, who photographed "Earthbound," has arrived in New York from the coast to take up his duties as cameraman for Charles Maigne, Famous director.

Carl Harbaugh, former director of Fox, has left for California.

Kansas City, Mo.—W. J. Sturman is now associated with A. H. Blane as a representative in the State of Kansas.
OH ~ BOY!

HER FACE WAS PRETTY AND HER SHOULDERS

VIOLA DANA

CAS THE FASCINATING LITTLE SHIMMY DANCER IN

THE CHORUS GIRL'S ROMANCE

JURY IMPERIAL PICTURES LTD
Exclusive Distributors throughout Great Britain.

LIAM JUDY............ Director
"As the bow unto the cord is—"

A star without a capable supporting cast is like a general without a staff, or a pitcher without teamwork, or a director without an orchestra.

REALART pays the same degree of attention to the casts as to the distinguished players who head them. This is to the star's interest, and by the same token, to the Exhibitor's interest, as well. Hitching the production wagon to a star is sound wisdom, but the wagon will go a lot farther and faster with a good cast of virile and capable players along in front of it.

And so when REALART selects a play or a story and picks the star to lead in it, it selects the very best cast of the most capable players that will permit the star to shine the brightest and do justice to the picture.

That is what keeps a star a star, and it goes a long way toward explaining why REALART productions are keeping up their high standard of excellence. And so it is almost the same as INSURANCE to sign a REALART STAR FRANCHISE.

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK
News of the Week in Headlines

Monday

Booking combines question a serious one to warrant investigation by Federal Trade Commission.
First National forms two subsidiary companies to handle Canadian distribution. W. J. Drummond, general manager.
American observer, back from Russia, sees wonderful field there for exporters.

Tuesday

Tom Moore says National Booking idea caused him to break with First National.
Walter E. Greene, former Famous Players' official, enters commercial laboratory field.
J. W. Allender withdraws houses from Independent Exhibitors Corp. in Northwest.
Universal sells product for South American countries.

Wednesday

Regal Films and Exhibitors Distributing Corp. merge interests in Canada. Gives Regal Robertson-Cole product.
Committee of 9 investigating S. A. Lynch's theater activities in South.
Charlie Chaplin, in newspaper interview, talks about "The Kid," his feature-length production.

Thursday

International Theater Corp. formed. After chain of houses.
Federated Film Exchanges of America secure four Bessie Love Prod.
Storm Pictures, Inc., formed. Four a year the schedule.
Missouri may again have censors.

Friday

Alfred S. Black refuses to meet Committee of 9. Says First National financed Patterson Chicago meeting. Lynch plans no booking combine.
Vitagraph warns trade against attempted "theft" of Larry Semon. Under contract for 36 pictures.
Seven state exhibitor bodies adopt resolutions condemning United Artists' policy on collecting rentals.

Saturday

Canadian exhibitors to meet on First National sub-franchise plan. Dissatisfaction evident.
Lionel Barrymore to make three more productions for Associated First National, making a total of seven.

“Pardoning the bad is injuring the good”—Benjamin Franklin.
Wonderful Characterization of a Boy and Splendid Touches of Detail

William D. Taylor Production
"THE SOUL OF YOUTH"
Realart

DIRECTOR .................. William D. Taylor
AUTHOR ..................... Julia Crawford Ivers
SCENARIO BY ................ Julia Crawford Ivers
CAMERAMAN ................ James C. Van Trees
AS A WHOLE ....... Very human and deeply appealing story of a boy's struggle STORY ...... Has a background of melodrama for boy's adventures that suits very well

DIRECTION .................. Splendid
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Excellent
LIGHTINGS .................... Very good
CAMERA WORK ................ Very good
LEADING PLAYER .... Lewis Sargeant, the Huck of "Huckleberry Finn" is amusing, appealing and human young "rough neck"

SUPPORT .................. Highly commendable
EXTERIORS .................... Right
INTERIORS ..................... Same
DETAL ......................... Splendid
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Tale of a bad boy who finally gets a chance to be good

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... 5,995 feet

William D. Taylor had so much success in the production of Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," that it is no wonder he desired to further extend himself with a picture along related lines. "The Soul of Youth" is the result of this desire and effort and while in the physical aspects of the plot it is little like its predecessor, it will create the same warm, whole hearted appeal because of the remarkable boy characterization rendered by Lewis Sargeant, the Huck of the previous work.

Taylor has a wonderful eye for the detail of a boy's days. He is fully able to turn his steps backward the required number of years and touch the early teens of boyhood with a deft and sympathetic hand. This he displays in his thoroughly realistic treatment of his boy here. Sargeant, a typically amusing, appealing and delightfully human "rough-neck" aids him considerably with his marvelous personality and ability but Taylor's little touches count wonders.

He first introduces his boy in an orphan asylum and carries him through a number of appealing sequences, showing him getting the worst of it every time through no fault of his own. After one abominably hard day he makes a break from the institution and takes to the streets. His training all against him, his first act is to purloin a bunch of bananas and subsequently to run from a "cop." Thus he gets himself in bad with the guardian of the city streets right at the start.

Later he and his newsboy pal are caught robbing the pantry of the rich Hamiltons. The boy is brought up before Judge Ben Lindsay, and there is an interesting and appealing sequence showing the noted judge himself dealing with the juvenile delinquents brought before him. The boy is adopted by the Hamiltons and proves his gratitude by stealing papers from Hamilton's rival in the Mayorality race, that had previously been stolen from Hamilton's messenger. The manner in which the boy works out this trick, attempting to adhere all the time to his promise to the judge to go straight, is both amusing and deeply real.

Taylor didn't work any romance in here with reference to the boy and the omission should be praised. Instead he has concentrated on building up the boy's character to the fullest extent and with the distinctive assistance rendered by Sargeant, he has accomplished his ends gloriously. The frame of the story is quite melodramatic and provides an interesting setting for the characterization.

A large cast including Ernest Butterworth, Clyde Fillmore, Grace Morse, Lila Lee, Elizabeth Janes, William Collier Jr., Claude Peyton, Betty Schade, Fred Huntley, Sylvia Ashton and Russ Powell appear in support.

You Can Book This One Without the Slightest Hesitation

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Book this! And don't hesitate about it. It's great stuff from first to last. It is so darn good that the audience at the Rivoli on a hot sticky afternoon gave it a big hand at its conclusion. And besides being interested, in the whole production, they were greatly interested and moved by the glimpses of Judge Lindsay. He isn't dragged in by the heels. He's right in with the professionals, acting along with the best of them.

And all audiences are going to like this. It is so true to life and downright real that they won't be able to help themselves. You can defy them to leave your theater without feeling a darn sight better.

If you played "Huckleberry Finn" mention that in connection with advertising this. And the fact that Sargeant is in this too and that it was made by the same director will help to draw them in. And the picture itself will do the rest.
Author and Leading Man Assist Viola Dana to Great Comedy Success

Viola Dana in
"THE CHORUS GIRL'S ROMANCE"
Metro

DIRECTOR ............... William C. Dowlan
AUTHOR .................. F. Scott Fitzgerald
SCENARIO BY ............. Percy Heath
CAMERAMAN .............. John Arnold
AS A WHOLE ............ Splendid comedy, full of originality and containing very clever twists

STORY ........ Was entitled "Head and Shoulders" in Saturday Evening Post which is better title

DIRECTION ................ Fine
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Good
LIGHTINGS .................. Good
CAMERA WORK ............. Very good

STAR ...... Has human role and gets lots of appeal into it

SUPPORT ...... Gareth Hughes great in opposite part; looks like potential star

EXTERIORS ................... Right
INTERIORS ................. Very good
DETAIL ..................... Splendid

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Romance and married life of chorus girl and scholar

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 5,850 feet

New blood in the writing line is always welcome. F. Scott Fitzgerald is a new author but the magazines have recognized his worth and have taken him up with alacrity. And Metro recognized it too—evidently before all competitors. His Saturday Evening Post story, "Head and Shoulders" has been transferred to the screen and entitled "The Chorus Girl's Romance." The picture is a great comedy but before going any further this question must out; Why kill a good title and one that has been well advertised in such a medium as the Post and fasten on a cut-and-dried, commonplace one such as "The Chorus Girl's Romance"?

Is it because of some ancient illusion that the public quivers at the idea of a chorus girl?

Fitzgerald certainly took conventionality by the horns and flung it far and wide when he penned this story. Marcia Meadows, is the prize shiny shaker of a Broadway show. Horace Tarbox is something of an infant prodigy—eighteen and able to out-profess the professors at Yale. Marcia is the first chorus girl in his life—and the last, for he marries her.

Then for the highly original, amusing and clever comedy situations. The world doesn't take kindly to Horace's philosophy and he has to seek mental work. And while he does not approve of Marcia's shiny shaking he realizes that her shoulders' undulations help keep the wolf from the door. But a time comes when Marcia has to stop her violent dancing and then Horace is obliged to take up the cudgels in earnest. What does he do but become a vaudeville acrobat because he has figured out some new aerial stunts from the fourth proposition in Euclid!

And while Horace is on the road Marcia becomes a mother. Their affairs progress happily, some great action being introduced registering the fact that Horace has become a physical hero as well as an intellectual one, and finally the happy pair is shown successful. Horace has gained his success through the stage whereas Marcia has earned a name for herself at writing.

Besides this downright clever and rather novel idea the author has supplied a number of situations toward the end that both amuse and create a fine element of suspense. And throughout the development of the two characters there is plenty of very human comedy—comedy resulting from a contrast of two entirely different characters.

Viola Dana does well with the stellar role, Gareth Hughes is splendid as Horace. Hughes is something of a type due his lack of height and more or less aesthetic features, but the way he plays his role here seems to stamp him as a potential star. Others are Phil Ainsworth, William Quinn, Jerre Sundin, Sidney DeGrey, Lawrence Grant; Tom Gallery, Edward Jobson, Martyn Best, Anne Shaefer, Dorothy Gordon and William Mong.

Write This Down On Your List Right Now

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Be sure to write this down on your list! Its a picture that will "get" everyone, due to its downright human humor and the fine original twists to the story. Its so different from the usual comedy that its originality fairly stands out all over it. If you fail to take advantage of such an opportunity—well the other fellow will.

Feature the fact that this is an adaptation of Fitzgerald's "Head and Shoulders." The advertising that this title carries is not to be regarded lightly. Dwell on the fact that he is a new author with new ideas.

Besides giving the star her rightful prominence be sure to play up Gareth Hughes in the featured position on the billing. His work here is great and people will surely remember him.
Congratulations to William Fox
Upon His Tremendous Growth

Associated Producers, Inc., view with pleasure the announcement of William Fox and his Fox Film Corporation for the amusement year now about to open.

We wish him well with his great volume of product distributed in virtually every part of the world through his own organization.

William Fox is the first great independent producer and distributor of this industry. He alone broke the monopoly of the Motion Picture Patents Company and through this courageous step made this a "free industry" in which strong and able men could establish themselves and in which, rightly, weak men could fail as weak men fail in other industries and professions.

No men agree on all points at issue and there may be, and are, doubtless many points over which we would differ with him over the multitude of phases of this industry and its problems.

But we admire his daring and insistence upon independence and we hail his gigantic imagination that has built a powerful, sound, world-wide independent organization to establish his name.

It is fair to point out that Associated Producers, Inc., places the same emphasis upon its freedom and independence that William Fox places upon his own. Like his own organization, ours is being kept free of entangling alliances and intrigues.

Competing fairly and cleanly with him at a thousand points or more, it may be a pleasing surprise to William Fox to know that Associated Producers, Inc., sales organization of a hundred men carries our liking and respect for this first great independent out across the broad map of America to the exhibitors we mutually serve, as well as to those we expect to serve.

MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER - MAURICE TOUSSAINT
J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE - MACK SENNETT

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.

HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
We herewith announce that our first production for nation-wide release in the great first run theatres of the country is a

THOMAS H. INCE
Associated Producers
SPECIAL
HOMESPUN FOLKS
A Modern "Old Homestead" and "Way Down East"—a Heart-Drama of Ten Thousand Small Towns and Sixty Million Small Town People

By Julien Josephson Directed by John Griffith Wray
Featuring LLOYD HUGHES
and the most natural and perfect cast ever assembled for a great native American drama.

Here is a story with tears in it. A story with healthy laughter in it. A story with thrilling excitement and action in it. A story that does not burlesque the country and its wholesome people. A story that fills your brain with a memory of the old home town.

First Run Release Date: SEPTEMBER 12, 1920.

The twenty-two Resident Managers in charge of Associated Producers offices are now notifying our first runs of their play dates. One hundred prints are being issued on this remarkable production which means that more than three hundred of the largest cities in the country can play "Homespun Folks" within thirty days from its first release on September 12th.

Watch for the "Homespun Folks" insert in next week's trade journals.

MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER
MAURICE TOURENUR - J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.
HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
We are pleased to announce the completion of another notable first production by a member of Associated Producers, Inc.

FOR EARLY FALL SEASON RELEASE
We announce for release on September 26th the first spectacular

J. PARKER READ JR.
Associated Producers
SPECIAL
A rich, colorful, magnificent production starring

LOUISE GLAUM
in
THE LEOPARD WOMAN
From the world-known novel by Stewart Edward White
Directed by Wesley Ruggles

Step by step, with tremendous rapidity, J. Parker Read, Jr.'s. production standards and Louise Glaum's personal popularity and drawing power have increased through a sequence of great successes. First "Sahara," then "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," next "Sex," later "Love Madness," a tremendous picture; and now "The Leopard Woman," the greatest of all of them.

This production has been purposely deferred two additional weeks, or till September 26th, to enable Mr. Read and his staff to add to it those final little touches that have still further increased the power of "The Leopard Woman."

Watch for the remarkable trade paper insert in the motion picture trade journals week after next.

MACK SENNETT - MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER
MAURICE TOURNEUR - J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE

Associated Producers Inc.
HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Very Old Story Well Handled Except in Cutting

Katherine MacDonald in
"THE NOTORIOUS MISS LISLE"
First National

DIRECTOR ......................... James Young
AUTHOR .......................... Mrs. Ballie Reynolds
SCENARIO BY ................. James Young
CAMERAMAN ..................... Joseph Brotherton

AS A WHOLE ...... Different handling of "woman-with-a-past" idea, proves interesting but scenes have been chopped in cutting

STORY ...... More or less inconsequential in plot material but treatment brings good results

DIRECTION .... Very good, particularly in achieving foreign atmosphere

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Very good
LIGHTINGS ...................... Very good
CAMERA WORK .................. Average
STAR ...... Very beautiful and shows effective emotional ability

SUPPORT ........................ Commendable
EXTERIORS .................... Very picturesque
INTERIORS ..................... Realistic
DETAIL .......................... Good

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Husband discovers wife is mixed up in sensational divorce trial but later finds her innocent

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .......... 4,500 feet

"The Notorious Miss Lisle" reveals the familiar "woman-with-a-past" theme, handled differently and with many artistic touches so that it generates considerable interest. At the same time the scenes have been chopped considerably in the cutting and the material, for all its extraordinary handling, is inconsequential beyond its main issue.

The story opens in a little town on the French sea coast, where Mr. and Mrs. Lisle and their daughter, Geanor are introduced. From their actions and conversation, it is gleaning that the family is fleeing from the limelight of odious publicity and the constant talk about this creates a strong interest in the subsequent action.

During all this early part Director Young has injected a fine atmosphere. His scenes suggest the far off land to a nicety. He has also selected a number of beautiful sea-scapes before which to lay his action.

Then Peter Carstin, an Englishman, appears and the romance between him and Geanor straightway starts, despite the seeming reticence of the girl. Peter tells her he doesn't care about her past and so they are married there in the little town with the peasants as guests. This is another very picturesque bit.

Later, in Paris, Peter discovers that his wife is none other than the "notorious Miss Lisle," named as co-respondent in a sensational divorce case, not yet settled. He takes her to task for not telling him about it and she, believing her case hopeless leaves him and departs for England. On the channel steamer she sustains an accident and is conveyed to a hospital after the boat lands by Craven, the man who has named her as his co-respondent in the divorce action. She lies for several days unconscious. At length Peter visits Craven and the latter, suffering a change of heart, tells him the truth about his wife—that she is innocent of all wrong-doing. And so Peters returns and begs her forgiveness.

Katherine MacDonald is a beautiful woman beyond question of doubt, and in her role here, she appears to her best advantage. She also reveals an emotional ability that is at all times effective. Nigel Barrie is Peter and plays well. Others are Margaret Campbell, Ernest Joy, William Clifford and Dorothy Cummings.

A Very Good Attraction from the Outside Viewpoint

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Considering the records that the previous Katherine MacDonald pictures have made, it is entirely probable that the present production will score to even better advantage. It is certainly a good bit better than her previous one, both as regards story, production and her own personal work.

The story is, of course, very time worn, but there is no denying the fact that they have handled it admirably well here except in the cutting. Moreover, the artistic touches and the fine backgrounds are going to count largely in its favor.

Assuming, then, that it will give good satisfaction to the average audience, the exhibitor can turn to the box office angle and there, there are no misgivings. The title is one that will undoubtedly attract attention. It is a box office title in every sense of the word. The star's popularity is growing with each picture and so the appearance of her name in the advertising of this should prove the proper finishing touch in box office value.
CARL LEMMILE presents

CARMEL MEYERS

in

"IN FOLLY'S TRAIL"

Directed by Rollin Sturgeon from the story by Katherine Dobrians.

The first of her eight great heart pictures in UNIVERSAL'S NEW STAR SERIES.
Just An Average Western

Edythe Sterling in
"THE GIRL WHO DARED"
Republic

DIRECTOR ......................... Cliff Smith
AUTHOR ........................... Alvin J. Seitz
SCENARIO BY ...................... Not Credited
CAMERAMAN ........................ Not Credited
AS A WHOLE .............. Just an average western production

STORY.... Some of its minor twists aren't clear but rapid action and emphasis of salient features put it over

DIRECTION ....................... Average
PHOTOGRAPHY ................. Generally good—some few poor shots.

LIGHTINGS ........................ Generally satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ......................... Satisfactory
STAR ................................. Satisfactory
SUPPORT ............................. Fair
EXTERIORS ........................... Usual western stuff
INTERIORS ........................... Fair
DETAIL ............................... All right

CHARACTER OF STORY .... Girl-sheriff captures cattle rustling villains and saves father from false accusation.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"The Girl Who Dared" is responsible for still another mark opposite the greatly favored "average western" classification. There are times during its course when it slips a little below this mark, but taken by and large it offers the usual entertainment along these lines. Its story is fast-moving to the extreme, and furious riding, villains who stop at nothing and a nice assortment of stunts and thrills thrown in.

Where "The Girl Who Dared" skids is in its continuity. There are several places where action has been removed by the editor who neglected to substitute anything for it. Two shootings are thus skipped by with great suddenness. On the other hand they encounter a pretty hard time of it keeping the details of the story straight in its middle part. There are a considerable number of these details, strange enough, and the motion and riding is so fast that they are unable to make themselves felt. However, the salient turns of the plot are plain and obvious.

Edythe Sterling appears as Barbara Hampton, daughter of a ranch owner, who is elected sheriff of New York, a western town so named because it is different from the eastern burg. Barbara incurs the enmity of Knowles, former sheriff, her father's foreman, and a silent leader of an outlaw band whose active head is Ramez.

Knowles' plot is intricate. First he discharges all the honest ranch hands. Then he puts the Ramez crowd in their places. Then he "frames" Hampton on a charge of cattle rustling. Then he rouses his neighboring ranch owner against him so that Barbara is forced to throw her father into jail.

In the meantime Knowles and Ramez drive off hundreds of cattle in the general direction of the Mexican border and then kill and rob the cattle buyer who had come to negotiate a business deal with Hampton.
Barbara gets on their trail and single-handed surprises Knowles and Ramez in their lair. She ropes them and directs her pony to drag them up the side of a cliff, and this accomplished she goes up herself and lands the villains in jail. Subsequently she saves her father from being strung up to a tree and all ends happily. The romantic element is very thin and gets little attention throughout the picture.

Miss Sterling renders a satisfactory performance in the role of Barbara. Steve Clemento as Ramez and Jack Carlyle as Knowles do their villainous tricks averagely well. One named Yakima Canutt is the hero and isn't much of an actor. Gordon Sackville is Hampton.

Not Big League—Few Advertising Opportunities
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"The Girl Who Dared" isn't big league stuff and doesn't pretend to be. It's the sort of picture that passes average muster at the transient houses which, during the day time, draw a rather easily pleased crowd and those who have an hour to spare and don't care much what they do get as long as they get a picture.

The production hasn't any great box office value in the way of names. No one very well known seems to be connected with it. The title itself may attract some. At the same time there is no denying the fact that it is quite conventional and doesn't seem to suggest anything out of the ordinary.

Just advertise this as a western and lay stress on the final stunt. You might also find some way of originally presenting the story by referring to the fact that it takes up the career of a western girl who is elected sheriff of her town.
The Swing and Pace of this Tale of the Woods Will Delight Your Crowds

Dial Film Company presents

MITCHELL LEWIS in King Spruce

From the novel by HOLMAN F. DAY
Directed by Roy Clements

Mitchell Lewis in a part which fits him like a glove—homespun honesty and heart of gold.

With the first turn of the crank your audience is plunged into the very midst of things and their hearts are kept vibrating with thrill and emotion to the very close of the curtain.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PASE Exchange, Incorporated.
Carmel Myers Returns to Screen in Wonderfully Human Picture

Carmel Myers in
“IN FOLLY’S TRAIL”
Universal

DIRECTOR .................. Rollin S. Sturges
AUTHOR .................. Katherine Leiser Robbins
SCENARIO BY .................. Doris Schroeder
CAMERAMAN .................. Harry Harris
AS A WHOLE ............. Very human little picture dealing with married life; appeals and entertains STORY ............. Very realistic; holds interest steadily because of its true situations
DIRECTION ................ Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Very good
LIGHTINGS ................ Some striking effects
CAMERA WORK ............... Commendable
STAR ............. Creates unusual and appealing character; beauty offset to best advantage SUPPORT .................. Headed by Thomas Holding EXTERIORS ................ Few used
INTERIORS ................ Just right
DETAIL .................. Excellent
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Incompatibility of husband and wife who come from totally different sets
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 4,825 feet

More and more it seems producers are realizing the value of the little human story. That small but strikingly dramatic "slice of life" is so difficult to communicate to the film but which, once communicated, is fit matter to rival the far more pretentious production in entertainment value.

Of course these stories are very hard to find. It's easy enough to point out that there is drama in the life of the milkman and the family in the flat downstairs but there are comparatively few authors willing to search for it. C. Gardner Sullivan did, and found it, in "Stepping Out" and "Hairpins" and now Katherine Leiser Robbins has accomplished the feat in "In Folly’s Trail."

Here is a simple little story, the central characters of which are a flighty little show girl, with small education and tastes that fairly lacerate finer sensibilities, and an artist whose refinement and culture are just a bit over-developed.

Their marriage occurs after a brief and glamorous courtship and then the incompatibility of the two temperaments begins to reveal itself. Lita is careless, eager for the companionship of her former runstout friends, Howard seeks a quiet existence and devotion to his art—every act of his wife, the simple soul and heart of whom he loves dearly, grates on him.

Finally his inability to meet her half way results in a breach and it is only through the severe lecture read Howard by Lita's erstwhile suitor, Goldberg, a man of big purse and big heart, that he awakes to his selfishness and begs forgiveness.

The detail of this is splendid, the scenes between husband and wife being enriched by expression, actors and bits of business that give them the indelible stamp of reality. Nor has the director forgotten his production values. There are a number of extravagant and lavish scenes in the Goldberg home with revelry at its height that afford remarkable balance to the less spectacular level of the main action.

Carmel Myers creates an unusual and appealing character in Lita. She appears to live the part. Her beauty, too, is offset to its full advantage. O'Farrell is the last name they gave her which seems to strike a very minor discordant note. Thomas Holding plays the selfish husband excellently. George B. Williams as Goldberg does some delightful character work while others are Arthur Clayton, Viola Lind, W. H. Bainbridge and Beth Ivans.

Can Stand a Lot of Boosting; They’ll Love It

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"In Folly's Trail" is another little "human document," to employ a rather bromidic description. And like the other pictures that have confined themselves to the realities of life, in which there is a world of drama, it is bound to highly satisfy all audiences. Its drama is never clashing but always potent, coursing along beneath the surface and making itself felt at all times.

Certainly Miss Myers could not have wished for a better picture in which to be re-introduced to her fans. And she seems to have improved since her earlier screen appearances.

In advertising this stress the fine human quality of the story to the utmost and dwell on Miss Myers' return to the screen after a year's absence on the musical comedy stage. Such a line ought to attract, and certainly the picture has the goods to please all audiences and to back up the superlatives that you use in exploiting it.

DAVID WARK GRIFFITH presents "THE LOVE FLOWER" From the Collier's Weekly Story "Black Beach" by Ralph Stock.
"The Love Flower's" wondrous appeal is being carried to millions of picture patrons now through these pages in The Saturday Evening Post.
Motor Story Up to Mark of Reid's Others

Wallace Reid in
"WHAT'S YOUR HURRY"
Paramount

DIRECTOR ..................... Sam Wood
AUTHOR ........................ Bryon Morgan
SCENARIO BY ................... Byron Morgan
CAMERAMAN ........................ A. Gilks

AS A WHOLE.......Automobile story that differs from this star's previous offerings of their series in that it does not depend on a spectacular race to furnish it's climax

STORY......Eulogizes the awkward truck rather than the pretty but useless racer

DIRECTION ...... Generally good; one or two slight slips, but held up well otherwise and put the big punch over in fine fashion

PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Very good
LIGHTINGS . Up to the standard; fine in rain scenes
CAMERA WORK ............. Highly satisfactory

STAR ...... Performs as usual, with his broad smile frequently visible

SUPPORT ...... Charles Ogle is next in importance to star; Lois Wilson acceptable in feminine lead EXTERIORS ....... Suitable, good atmosphere being maintained.

INTERIORS .... Just what they are supposed to be

DETAIL ...... One of the "Packro" trucks bears the distinctly visible trademark of a well-known brand

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Dare-devil driver forsakes racing car to drive trucks to scene of danger in time to avert a catastrophe

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION......5,040 feet

In the preceding automobile stories in which Wallace Reid occupied the stellar role, he drove speedy racing and stock cars to victory, the thrills coming as his vehicles flashed across the line in position of honor. In the third of the series, it is an ungainly truck that he pilots to the scene of a raging body of water that threatens to tear a dam, flood a valley and cause tremendous loss of life and property.

It is this deviation from the other two productions largely that should spell success for this one. Undoubtedly, this type of story which, while maintaining the same atmosphere, differs in theme, will sustain interest in the series. It is a drama that can be depended upon to please the average audience, and while not a special, can hold its own before any crowd.

Reid as "Dusty" Rhodes is introduced as a hero of the speedway, looked upon unfavorably by Patrick MacMurran, president of the Packro Motor Co., but the hero of Virginia MacMurran. Pat holds that Rhodes should do some useful work before he may wed the fair Virginia and Rhodes accepts a position as publicity man for the new Packro truck.

What "Dusty" considers splendid exploitation ideas fall flat until he is summarily discharged. Then comes his big opportunity! The Cabrillo dam is threatened by the swollen torrent caused by heavy rainfall. No spillway can be blasted because of the lack of dynamite in camp. Crossed wires result in his receiving the information. Rhodes loads several machines, secures the necessary help and after a long, weary drive appears at the scene of danger.

Meanwhile, the torrent, increasing in power forces aside the weakest portion of the embankment. Water pours in and it seems that the battle has been lost after all. Rhodes is the proverbial Johnny-on-the Spot, however, and rides a machine into the breach. His rival who had previously displayed symptoms of cowardice is discredited and Rhodes claims the heroine.

You Should Be Able to Put This Over Easily
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

In "What's Your Hurry," you are offered a production which should be easy enough to exploit. Three ace cards are given you in the fact that it is the third of a successful series, the other two of which, many of your patrons have undoubtedly seen, that it is a Saturday Evening Post story from the pen of Byron Morgan and that Wallace Reid is starred. The knowledge that it has appeared in the Saturday Evening Post under the title, "The Hippopotamus Parade," will attract many others, and you can promise the Reid fans a production in which their favorite appears to advantage.

Should you care to go in for something unusual in the way of exploitation, rig up a truck and something resembling a racing car, think up some catchy slogan and have them driven about the streets of your town. Probably, you will be able to get some establishment which is advertising some brand of truck to co-operate with you in one of its window displays or otherwise. If they liked Reid's other racing tales, this one will also be well received.
Very Good Farce Comedy Interpreted by Strong Cast

Tom Moore in
"STOP THIEF"
Goldwyn

DIRECTOR .................. Harry Beaumont
AUTHOR ........................ Carlyle Moore
SCENARIO BY .................. Charles Kenyon
CAMERAMAN .................. Norbert Brodin
AS A WHOLE .................. Good farce-comedy

STORY ........... Most of action takes place in one setting; complications may become slightly tiring at end

DIRECTION .......... Considering material excellent
PHOTOGRAPHY ................. Very good
LIGHTINGS .................. Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ................ Very good
STAR .................. Handles crook role satisfactorily
SUPPORT ............... Includes Raymond Hatton in good comedy role

EXTERIORS .................. Hardly any INTERIORS ................. Few besides one setting which is most satisfactory

DETAIL .................. Complicated farce based on the "button, button who's got the button" idea

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

"Stop Thief" is a very good farce comedy. Its action is rapid, its complications profitable and well timed. It lacks variety, true enough, as each successive complication is merely a slightly different version of the one which preceded it, but all things considered, it hits a high pace at the start and keeps it up till the finish. The similarity of the action may cause some to tire toward the end but certainly it provides plenty of laughs for most of the way.

Considering the fact that practically all the main action takes place in one setting, Director Beaumont has done an exceedingly fine job. He has had more than this difficulty to contend with too. There are many characters, all important, and introducing them and keeping them straight in the spectator's mind was no small task. He has also employed good judgment in the timing and introducing of the many complications.

The action gets away to a brisk and very funny start showing Jack Gougan and his pal, Snatcher Nell, plying their trade in a restaurant in order to get enough cash to pay the bill. After these few preliminaries the action shifts to the living room of the Carr mansion where a rehearsal for a wedding is in progress. Nell has entered the house as maid, while Jack comes later to see how she is getting on in securing the layout of the wedding presents.

The crooks are about to make their getaway with the loot when first one principal of the wedding and then another surprises them. Detectives and police also enter the action and before a search is made Jack and Nell succeed in placing all the stolen loot on the wedding principals. In the end they are discovered but are let off on the plea that they were to be married and try the straight and narrow path. For a finale there is a triple wedding.

Tom Moore appears as Jack and gives a good account of himself. There are others just as prominent as he including Hazel Daly as Nell, Raymond Hatton as the bridgegroom and Edward McWade as the absent minded father. Irene Rich, Molly Malone, Kate Lester, Harris Gordon, James O’Neil, John Lince and Lefty Flynn all do creditable work.

Should Amuse All Audiences

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"Stop Thief," several years ago, was a tremendously successful stage farce and certainly it has been dimmed little during its transfer to the screen. It makes a picture that will register in a very satisfactory way before all audiences. Only at the end does it seem to tire but it keeps up a fine pace for most of the way and gets the laughs in fine fashion.

In advertising this treat the subject lightly and endeavor to use lines that will suggest the farcical character of the plot.

Tom Moore does some very good work here and it is also to be said that they have not played him up to the detriment of the various complications. There are many others who contribute just as much to the success of the picture and these should be mentioned, especially Raymond Hatton.
You'll look good and long before as enthusiastic as this!

EXHIBITORS TRADE REVIEW

“One Hour Before Dawn”

Exciting Mystery Drama

Running Time, 65 Minutes.

This is one of the most interesting, exciting and suspenseful mystery melodramas which has come to light this fall. It is exactly constructed, scientifically directed, entirely logical and altogether absorbing. It is a story that is a superlative and which closely follows the action of the dramatic and which serves to start a new interest in the drama of Appeal. The story is surrounded with a wealth of intrigue, the mystery which keeps the audience on edge and the events astound in excellent taste. An air of realism is maintained in all the background—excellent lighting and photography. A quiet, serene and likable performance, which could not be improved upon. The acting is excellent. The various settings are carefully designed and executed, and the music is perfect.

Excellent Mystery Story Well Produced

The mystery story is always a good investment for photoplays, and this one is no exception. It is a story of the “Behind Red Curtains” type, but it is not as complicated as some of its ilk. The mystery is well developed and the solution is logical. The acting is good, and the story is well produced.

Distributors: Pathe.
You find reviewer praise

From Evening Sun, July 12, 1920

... Mr. Warner is one of our best screen actors. He has carried much of the whimsical charm and suavity of manner which he employed so successfully on the stage in his screen work. In his latest picture he has a mystery story to deal with, and handles it in his usual clever manner. The development of the plot concerns the search for a murderer. Warner in the role of a man who has been commanded while in the hypnotic state to kill the murdered man is the suspect. The film finds Warner at his best and is excellent entertainment.

From N. Y. Tribune, July 12, 1920

"ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN" IS STRONG PICTURE, WITH H. B. WARNER AT HIS BEST

Only a superficial analysis is needed to determine the ingredients that have been used to make "ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN," in which H. B. Warner is starring at the Capitol Theatre this week, a picture which thrills and interests. The film physician probably prescribed as follows: large dose of hypnotic suggestion, the triangle, one woman and two men this time, dinner party of the upper set, mystery murder, skillful detective work, and the clearing of the hero after all the evidence at hand points to him as the murderer.

A less experienced actor than H. B. Warner might easily have overacted the role of George Clayton. It is a full and difficult role and Mr. Warner's work—especially his facial expressions—is good. Anna Q. Nilsson also plays well.

From Evening Mail, July 12, 1920

"ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN," the feature at the Capitol this week, is a drama of the intense variety which one expects when H. B. Warner is cast for the leading role. The swiftly moving, absorbing story is played by the entire cast with a zeal that leaves no dull moments from beginning to end. H. B. Warner, as George Clayton, the author, scores a real success. It is in the drama that demands the expression of vital personal power that Warner is at his best and "ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN" offers him an ideal vehicle.

"ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN," has a psychic background with the saving grace of plausibility. The cast supporting Mr. Warner is excellent, including Anna Q. Nilsson, Augustus Phelps, Howard Davies and Lilian Rich.

From The Illustrated News, July 13, 1920

MURDER MYSTERY PUZZLES

AUDIENCE AT CAPITOL

You know, when we received notice that the Capitol Theatre had scheduled a mystery yarn for this week's entertainment, we had quite made up our minds that we were going to be bored, but were pleasantly surprised as we watched the unwinding of the plot of "ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN."

Harrison Kirke was stabbed to death "ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN," and George Clayton thinks he committed the murder under hypnotic influence, having awakened from a nightmare in which he saw himself murder Kirke.

We can't tell the public anything about H. B. Warner that they don't know. Suffice it to say that there couldn't be a better choice for the sort of picture "ONE HOUR BEFORE DAWN."
Slim and Inconsequential Plot Develops Into Just Fair Entertainment

Blanche Sweet in
"HELP WANTED—MALE"
J. D. Hampton—Pathé

DIRECTOR ......................... Henry King
AUTHOR .......................... Edwina Ledin
SCENARIO BY ..................... George Plympton
CAMERAMAN ...................... Lucien Andriot
AS A WHOLE ...... Very inconsequential story retards interest here — comedy is hackneyed — romantic element best STORY .......................... Hasn't the material to successfully occupy feature footage
DIRECTION ....................... Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Very good
LIGHTINGS ....................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .................. Commendable
STAR .................. Hasn't got a very good part but looks as attractive as ever SUPPORT ...................... Henry King is leading man
EXTERIORS ...................... Pretty seashore stuff
INTERIORS ....................... Satisfactory
DETAIL .......................... All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Telephone girl's efforts to bag millionaire husband after inheriting a thousand dollars
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,000 feet

What there is of "Help Wanted—Male," is very inconsequential and there really isn't much to it. It can be classified as a romantic comedy but for the most part the comedy is hackneyed. The romantic element is the most pleasing one of the picture but this only becomes prominent at the end.

Really the story herein was never meant for feature footage. The idea isn't any where near big enough nor well enough developed to deserve such space. The story concerns Leona Stafford, a telephone girl, who inherits a thousand dollars and who is advised by her companion to hie herself to a fashionable resort and attach a wealthy husband.

Leona goes to the beach, posing as Madame Sonia, wears black and carries a bull dog that pursues all abnoxious males with malice aforeskewed. There is some slapstick comedy in the sequence where the dog chases the flirt all over the hotel lobby but this is really the liveliest spot until the end.

Leona discovers that picking a rich husband is not so easy, in fact she falls in love with one, Tubbs, an unshaven fisherman. However, it doesn't take any great brain to figure out that Tubbs is none other than a missing millionaire, war hero. The hotel clerk believes that Leona is a rank adventuress and being an amateur detective shadows her constantly and often confronts her with what he believes her crimes. This line of comedy is worked in pretty strong but it is rather conventional and somewhat out of place.

In the end Leona is accused of a serious robbery and makes her escape with Tubbs in a hydroplane. They are forced to descend to the water for lack of gas. The next morning they are discovered by the hotel people who offer apologies to Leona, for the real crook has been discovered in the meantime. Lena decides she loves Tubbs and then he finally decides to let her know who he really is.

Blanche Sweet plays the heroine well enough, is attractive and full of life, but the role provides her with few opportunities for the work she is able to deliver. Henry King, the director, returns to the screen after a long absence, in the role of Tubbs and gives a most satisfactory account of himself. Others are Frank Leigh, Mayme Kelso, Thomas Jefferson, Jay Belasco and Jean Acker.

This Just Gets By—Good Advertising Opportunities

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This one just about gets by. But the picture wise among all audiences, will be inclined to feel the lack of plot material and the inconsequential character of that which is present.

The strong points of this are the title, the star and the advertising arguments that the story permits. The title is certainly one around which any number of good stunts could be worked, while the star is coming back strong.

The story can be presented with the following catch lines: "A thousand dollars was her's! She had been living on a small salary. The inheritance gave her her chance. What was it?", "She aimed to catch a wealthy husband on a thousand dollars! How? See—," "A thousand dollars isn't much but its quite a bit after you've been slaving away at a small salary half your life. And a thousand dollars can go quite away after all. It carried Leona to—."
Presentations that Clinch Success

PIioneer methods are just a little different than others-

They function FOR The Exhibitor

A Pioneer Picture —is consistent
—is distinctive —is human
—is artistic

Pioneer Pictures—Reach the Top Note of Quality
Book Them and Profit
HERE'S PIONEER'S CHOICE LIST—BIG NAMES—BIG PLAYS—MONEYMAKERS FOR YOU

Alma Rubens in "Thoughtless Women"

Emily Stevens with Montague Love in Harold MacGrath's famous novel "Place of Honeymoons"

Marie Doro in "Midnight Gambols" with Geoffrey Toole

Louise Huff in "What Women Want"

Jose Collins in "Where is My Husband?"

Violet Mersereau and Edmund Cobb in "Finders Keepers"

"His Brother's Keeper" with Martha Mansfield, Regis Toole and Gladys Lane

E. K. Lincoln in "The Inner Voice"

Mary Anderson in "Bubbles"

Marguerite Namara in "A Moment's Madness"

Gail Kane and J. Herbert Frank in "Idle Hands"

Gail Kane and J. Herbert Frank in "A Good Woman"

~ Short Subjects ~

Luke McLane's Filmosophy "500 Feet of Laughter"

Sonny Series — The Modern Peck's Bad Boy Comedies

WHEREVER YOU GO—A PIONEER EXCHANGE

New York City
Buffalo, N. Y.
Cleveland, Ohio
Cincinnati, Ohio
Detroit, Mich.
St. Louis, Mo.
Omaha, Neb.
Baltimore, Md.
Washington, D. C.
Milwaukee, Wis.
Kansas City, Mo.
San Francisco, Cal.
Los Angeles, Cal.
Chicago, Ill.
Boston, Mass.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Montreal, Que.
Toronto, Ont.
Halifax, N. S.
Minneapolis, Minn.
Portland, Ore.
Atlanta, Ga.
Dallas, Tex.

PIONEER FILM CORP.

130 West 46th Street New York
Satisfactory Western Production for the Smaller Houses

Joe Moore and Eileen Sedgwick in
"THE WHITE RIDER"
Masterpiece Film Dist. Corp.—State Rights

DIRECTOR ...................... William J. Craft
AUTHOR ......................... William J. Craft
SCENARIO BY .................. Not credited
CAMERAMAN .................... Joseph Mayer
AS A WHOLE................. Satisfactory western with surprise finish.

STORY.............. Has a number of loopholes but engaging character of action and its rapidity overcome them.

DIRECTION ................. Fair
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Good
LIGHTINGS ................. Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ............... Average
STARS ...................... Very pleasing
SUPPORT ..................... Average
EXTERIORS ................. Western
INTERIORS ................... Suitable
DETAIL ....................... Fair
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Mysterious “white rider” proves secret service agent who had posed as mollycoddle to fool the villains.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ... About 4,750 feet

“The White Rider” will pass muster as a satisfactory western production. It is not big by any means, nor has it that something usually defined as “class,” and on close analysis there are a number of pretty big loopholes in the story, but on the whole it should prove an acceptable attraction for the public it will reach.

The story has a mystery twist which is very well maintained. Not until the end is it revealed that the tenderfoot mollycoddle is none other than the mysterious “white rider,” a secret service agent trailing dishonest miners.

Chauncey, the secret service agent, is played by Joe Moore, the youngest of the popular Moore family. His good-natured manner is responsible for a number of pretty good laughs while he is forced to play the mollycoddle to discover the plot of the villains. The scene where he lands in the water trough is the best of the lot.

How Chauncey manages to discover so much about the villains without exerting himself any more than to ride recklessly about on a horse dressed up like a night rider is one of the details of the story that is left unexplained. However, this and other similar slips count for little considering the generally engaging character of the action and the rapidity at which it moves.

The story merely relates how Brand, a miner, is framed on a fake murder charge by the dishonest gold assayer and the manager of an eastern syndicate. He believes himself in their hands and is even ready to give his daughter, Jewel, in marriage to the manager to save himself. The activities of Chauncey, however, terminate in revealing the tactics of the villains and save the day.

None, of course, is more surprised than Jewel when the mollycoddle that she had tried but failed to like, proves himself the heroic white rider. Jewel, in fact, gets a bigger surprise than the audience.

Eileen Sedgwick gives a very nice performance as Jewel and Moore is pleasing as the hero. Robert Craft gives a conventional and effective picture of the chief villain, while others are S. W. Williams, Robert Gray, J. Harris and Francis Powers.

Should Entertain the Audiences for Which It Was Made
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This picture wasn’t made to compete with the big productions of the day nor even to buck the usual star picture offered on the various programs. It is obviously a production for the smaller houses and before the audiences of these theaters it will get over very nicely. Its action is rapid and there are a number of good comedy moments that register very well. On the other hand, the mystery titular character provides a good element of suspense. If the story had been somewhat better handled in the scenario the entire picture might have been lifted to a much higher level than that on which it rests.

In advertising this try to stimulate interest in the mystery surrounding the white rider. Some lobby display arrangement might be put over with a dummy figure wearing a white garment and mask and holding a pistol.

People will also be interested in the appearance of Joe Moore, youngest of that popular family. Feature his appearance heavily and bring out the fact that he is the brother of Tom, Owen and Matt. His work will prove likable inasmuch as he has such a cheery personality. Good naturedness stands out all over him.
The Son of the World's Greatest

Written by
EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Produced by
National Film Corporation
Hollywood, California

Scenario by Roy Somerville of Tarzan
Wonder Jungle

Directed by
HARRY REVIER

Address Inquires to
GEO. H. HAMILTON
Care of
DAVID P. HOWELLS
729 Seventh Ave.  N. Y. City
The Last Call

NEARLY 500 INDIVIDUAL ADVERTISERS HAVE ALREADY TAKEN SPACE IN THE MEDIUM CARRYING A FULL YEAR’S ADVERTISING VALUE

WID’S 1920 YEAR BOOK

Forms Now Closing -- Rush Copy
Wonderfully Well Done Spiritual Drama That Entertains Tremendously

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"
Film Booking Office, Inc.
DIRECTOR ................. Hugh Ryan Conway
AUTHOR ..................... Charles Rann Kennedy
SCENARIO BY ............... Lanier Bartlett
CAMERAMAN ................ Elgin Lessly
AS A WHOLE ...... Spiritual drama wonderfully well done and vastly entertaining.
STORY ....... Besides spiritual element it contains a strong personal plot and considerable delightful
     comedy.
DIRECTION .................. Excellent
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Good
LIGHTINGS ................. Effective
CAMERA WORK .............. Good
LEADING PLAYERS ...... All splendid; characterizations of Jack Curtis and Harvey Clarke stand out as gems.
EXTERIORS .................. Typically English
INTERIORS ................... Just right
DETAIL ...................... Great
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... A Christian spirit whose creed is the brotherhood of man restores order and peace in the lives of several who are living in despond.
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 8,000 feet
"The Servant in the House," a picturization of Charles Rann Kennedy's spiritual play of that name, is splendid entertainment. Its entertainment value is recorded first because with all the deep thought back of the picture, it is far more than interesting. It is at turns dramatic, delightfully amusing, spiritually up-lifting and always downright entertaining.

       Kennedy had a certain message to convey in his play and that message strikes deep because of the drama through which the propaganda is glimpsed.
The message is an indictment of the commercial aspect of the church and the truth of his word is so potent, so masterfully shaped and put forward that it strikes straight home.

       The central character, the servant in the house, is a Christ-like figure who enters the home of a curate in rural England. The curate has been living a lie all his life. Trying to establish himself as of the elite when actually he rose from the gutter through the services of his brother, a worker in the filthy drains, whom he tries to ignore.

       The servant's mission is to set the curate, his wife and other related characters aright in the world.

The acting of the various principals is really some of the best the screen has revealed. Jack Curtis, as the drain man, gives a deeply human and appealing characterization, the best of the many fine things he has done. Harvey Clarke's study of the corrupt bishop is rare. The character is also employed in the lighter scenes and Clarke's fine comedy sense proves a delightful complement to his characterization. Jean Hersholt, as the servant, gives a performance digniified and beautiful. Edward Piel and Zenaide Williams, as the curate and his wife, are very good also, while Dick Rosson in a humorous role, Clara Horton, Jack Gilbert, Claire Anderson and Mrs. George Hernandez complete the cast.

Though the character of the action is, to a great extent, conversational, it gets a big grip on he interest because of the potent truth of he drama and the rare characterizations rendered by the leads. Director
Conway has handled the picture in wonderful spirit.

Printing Film With A Conscience

Where expert service like printing film is concerned, satisfactory results are not sufficient. Coupled with the will to serve is everything.

Experience, knowledge, judgment and skill are essential to success, but their potency is conditioned on faithfulness and dependability.

The success of the Republic Laboratories, Inc., is due not only to ability to make good prints, but to its policy of conscientious interest in the welfare of its customers.

REPUBLIC LABORATORIES, Inc.
729 SEVENTH AVENUE Phone—Bryant 7190 NEW YORK, N. Y.
An Unusual Attraction—One for a Real Showman to Handle

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"
Film Booking Office, Inc.

The day of the spiritual pictures and of pictures with the spiritual touch seems to be here. "The Servant in the House" is positively one of the greatest dramas ever conceived along such lines, and in its transfer to the screen it becomes one of the greatest of picture entertainments—an entertainment with a gripping theme back of it.

In fact there is no doubt about the entertaining power of this picture. It remains merely for the exhibitor to handle this to the best advantage. It is understood that the Film Booking Office is to play this as a road show in some quarters while they will also release it through independent exchanges with the option that they control the method of actual distribution. But if it comes within reach you certainly ought to grab it. It is something far out of the ordinary and something in the way of entertainment that will really send the crowds out feeling better.

In view of the indictment of the commercialism of religion carried in the picture you might possibly anticipate trouble from certain circles, but this isn't probable, as those who would naturally feel the sting of the message will probably hypocritically congratulate themselves that the action transpires in England.
Poor Treatment and Miscasting Lessen Value of This

Eileen Percy in
"HER HONOR THE MAYOR"
Fox

DIRECTOR ....................... Paul Cazeneuve
AUTHOR ......................... Arline Ness-Hines
SCENARIO BY .................... Denison Clift
CAMERAMAN ...................... Walter Williams
AS A WHOLE...................... Rather unskillfully handled comedy-drama; not the right vehicle for star STORY ......................... Has a small human interest element but the comedy is distorted into burlesque.
DIRECTION ..................... Fair; burlesque characters and subtitles don't speak well for director's ability
PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ....................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .................. Good
STAR .................. Pretty and attractive but not the right type for heroine.
SUPPORT ............... William Fletcher badly miscast as "Buddy."
EXTERIORS ...................... Good
INTERIORS ....................... Satisfactory
DETAIL ......................... Fair
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Young girl proves, as mayor, that a heart counts as much as a brain
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 5,000 feet

The biggest point of comment to be made in regard to this feature is that it was not the proper vehicle for the star. The role of the heroine, made mayor of a fair sized town, was certainly not meant for an actress of Eileen Percy's type. Madaline Traverse would have fared to better and more realistic advantage in the part.

But this evidence of miscasting might have passed with scant attention had the production rendered the picture heen of the best. Director Cazeneuve seems to have aimed to reach his audience through very obvious and false methods, not caring a great lot about the balance of his whole work. Following such a course is dangerous for the ultimate goal is seldom achieved.

The comedy in this is distorted into the crudest sort of burlesque. The types of townsfolk introduced at the beginning and who are maintained in fair promience throughout the picture are terribly overdrawn.
The minister might be found in a Sunshine comedy and the "suffragette" types are exaggerated tremendously. Such stuff certainly doesn't fit in a picture that aims to be at all serious.

Another case of miscasting also presents itself in the case of the character of Buddy Martin, whom Her Honor the mayor regards as her little brother. Buddy is played by a small man, William Fletcher, but his height is the only evidence of youth. His face and general build denote maturity. Therefore, the scenes between him and the star take on an aspect that is altogether grotesque.

The story shows Julia Kennedy, mayor of a middle western town, triumphing in her position through the use of her heart as well as her brain. The romantic element is rather a bad second to the rest of the action while the director has displayed small dramatic sense in the continuity of the scenes. The sequence in which the heroine and the district attorney turn back the threatening political boss by reminding him of his past is perhaps the most effective, but this is touched strongly with conventionality.

Miss Percy is very pretty and always a delight to behold. Ramsey Wallace is the district attorney, who finally comes around to her way of managing civic affairs, and who then consents to run as governor with her as "governess." Edwin B. Tilton and Charles Force complete the cast.

Play Up Title and Moral of Story

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Doubtless the display of this title and the announcement of the fact that the picture is a comedy-drama will serve to attract. The title suggests something unusual in the way of a story. Such expectations will, at least, be fulfilled for the general outline of "Her Honor the Mayor" is out of the ordinary.

It is too bad, considering this, that those concerned in the production were not more careful in their work.

The high class audiences will hardly be entertained by the picture inasmuch as the burlesque is so out of place and the piece miscast in two notable instances.
There may be some audiences who will be entertained by the action, but these will be found in the houses catering to the less educated.

The moral of the story is a good one and this might be the point to feature in your advertising of you chose to play it. A line such as "In which Her Honor, the Mayor, proves that a heart is worth just as much as a head in running a city" would serve to bring the moral out.
CURRENT RELEASES

EQUITY PICTURES CORP.
For the Soul of Rafael (Clara Kimball Young) 6 5-30-20
Keep to the Right (Edith Talbot) 6 5-30-20
Whispering Devils (Conway Tearle) 6 5-30-20

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.

June
Old Wives for New (De Mille-ctina) 5662 7-11-20
Below the Surface (Lorne Special) 5987 6-13-20
Paris Green (Charles Ray) 4239 4-25-20
Remodeling Home (Brian Gable) 4796 3-26-20
The City of Masks (Robert Warwick) 4708 7-18-27
Sara Abel (William S. Hart) 4850 6-27-20
Sand (William S. Hart) 4850 6-27-20
The Restless Sea (Martha Mansfield) 4917 6-13-20

July
The Sins of St. Anthony (Bryant Washburn) 4565 7-18-20
Away Goes Prudence (Billie Burke) 5046 7-11-20
Let's Be Fashionable (MacLean-Mayo) 5050 7-11-20
The Ladder of Lies (Ethel Clayton) 4771 7-11-20
Honor Comes Home (Charles Ray) 4515 7-4-20
The Fourteenth Man (Robert Warwick) 4639 7-4-20
The World and His Wife (Cromopol. Prod.) 6702 7-18-20

August
The Fighting Charms (Cecil B. De Mille) 5093 8-11-20
The Prince Clasp (DiMille Prod.) 6199 7-18-20
Crooked Streets (Ethel Clayton) 4750 8-1-20
The White Circle (Tournour) 4912 8-1-20

FIRST NATIONAL
The Inferior Sex (Mildred Harris Chaplin) 5 9-20
The Fighting Shepherdesses (Anita Stewart) 4/4 9/20
The Family Honor (King Vidor) 5 9-20
Pires of Youth (D. W. Griffith) 8 9-20
The Woman Gives (Norma Talmadge) 4 9-20
The Man from the Green Light (Dorothy Dalton) 5 9-20
Don't Ever Marry (Nelson Prox) 6 9-20
The Love of Josie (Ethel Clayton) 4 9-20
Passion's Playground (Katherine MacDonald) 4 9-20
The Yellow Typhoon (Anita Partidge) 4 9-20
Yes or No? (Norma Talmadge) 4 9-20
So说我 (William S. Hart) 6 9-20
Curtain (Katherine MacDonald) 6 9-20
The Jack of Malin (Wing Vidor) 5 9-20
45 Minutes from Broadway (Charles Ray) 6 9-20
Married Life (Mack Sennett Special) 5 9-20
The Perfect Woman (Emma Talmadge) 6 9-20
The Splendid Hazard (Henry Walthall) 6 9-20

FOX FILM CORP.

William Farnum
The Orphan 6 5-20 20
The Joyous Troublemaker 6 6-20 20

Specials
While New York Sleeps (All-Star) 8 1-20
If You Were King (Wm. Farnum) 7 7-4-20
The White Rose (Pearl White) 5 7-18-20

Tom Mix Series
The Terror 5 5-23-20
The Golden Coin 5 7-4-20

Fox Entertainments
The Ghost of Good (Madeline Traverse) 6 7-11-20
The Iron Heart (Madoline Traverse) 6 6-24
White Lies (Gladys Brockwell) 6-20-20
The Twins of Suffering Creek (William Russell) 6-20-20
A World of Polly (Vivian Rich) 6-13-20
A Sister to Salome (Gladys Brockwell) 6-12-20
Number 17 (George Walsh) 5 5-10-20
The Square Shooter (Jack Jones) 5 6-20-20
Firebrand Trevison (Jack Jones) 5 7-18-20
The Little Wanderer (Shirley Mason) 5 5-12-20
The Loss of Some (Gladys Brockwell) 5 5-12-20
Her Honor the Mayor (Klein Percy) 5 5-12-20
The Man Who Dared (William Russell) 5 5-20-20

GOLDWYN DISTRIBUTING CORP.
The Silver Horde (Ray Beach's) 5 5-16-20
The Cup of Fury (Rupert Hughes) 5 4-13-20
The Strange Boarder (Will Rogers) 5 4-23-20
Dangerous to Know (Eminent Authors) 5 3-21-20
The Woman and the Puppet (Geraldine Farrar) 7 3-21-20
The Woman in Room 13 (Pauline Frederick) 7 4-11-20
Dollars and Sense (Midge Kennedy) 5 5-27-20
Out of the Storm (Eminent Authors) 5 6-20-20
Yet Call Me Jim (Will Rogers) 5 5-18-20
The Great Accident (Tom Moore) 5 6-27-20
The Slim Princess (Mabel Normand) 5 7-6-20
Roads of Destiny (Pauline Frederick) 6 6-20-20
Double Dyed Divorcer (Jack Pickford) 6 6-20-20

HALLMARK PICTURES CORP.
Famous Director Series
A Dangerous Affair (Herbert Rawlinson) 5 5-23-20
Carmen of the North (Eminent Authors) 5 5-23-20
Love Honor and Glory (Ethel Clayton) 5 5-23-20
The Phantom Honor (Mitchell Lewis) 5 5-23-20
Wit Wins (Mayo Methot) 5 5-23-20
Wits vs. Wilts (Novelty Corp.) 5 5-23-20
The Discarded Woman (Grace Darling) 6 6-6-20

W. W. HODKINSON CORP.
Distributing Through Pathe
Zane Grey Pictures, Inc.—Benj. B. Hampton and Eltinge F. Warner
Riders of the Range (Helen Kimball) 7 8-10-20
Love Madness (Louise Glau) 6 8-20

Artco Productions
Cynthia-of-the-Minute (Leah Baird) 7-11-20

Robert Brunston Productions
No. 99 (J. Warren Kerrigan) 5 5-22-20
No. 32 (J. Warren Kerrigan) 5 7-11-20

Louis Tracy Productions
The Silent Barrier (Mitchell Lewis) 6 8-1-20

METRO PICTURES CORP.

Screen Classics, Inc. (Specials)
The Best of Luck (All Star) 6 7-11-20
June The Cheater (May Allison) 6 6-20-20
July Earler, Bedroom and Bath (All Star) 6 7-4-20
July The Unruly Woman (Lilyan Harte) 7 7-4-20
Aug. 3 The Chorus Girl's Secret (Ethel Clayton) 6 7-25-20
Sept. 6 The Hope of Almar (All Star) 6 8-1-20
Sept. 16 The Price of Redemption (Rert Lylell) 6 8-29-20
The Saphire (Honeycomb) 6 8-29-20
Clothes (All Star) 6 8-29-20

Taylor Holmes Productions
Nothing but Lies 6 5-23-20

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

American Film Co., Inc.
The Honey Bee (Mme. Sylvia) 6 5-23-20
The Thirteenth Piece of Silver (Margaret Fisher) 6 6-20-20
The House of Toys (Seena Owen) 6 5-30-20
Peggy Rebels (Mary Miles Minter) 6 6-20-20

ROBERTSON-COLE

Specials
The White Dove (H. B. Warner) 6 6-20-20
The Wonder Man (Georges Capretti) 6 6-20-20

SUPERIOR PICTURES

The Woman Who Understood (Bessie Barriscale) 5 5-16-20
Bright Skies (7A7u Picts) 5 5-16-20
The Devil's Claim (Senora Hayakawa) 6 5-16-20
The Fortune Teller (Marjorie Rambeau) 6 5-16-20
The Nefarious Mrs. Sands (Bessie Barriscale) 6 5-30-20
The Butterfly Man (Lew Cody) 6 5-30-20
Uncharted Channels (Louis L. Archer) 6 6-20-20
Li Tong Long (Sessue Hayakawa) 7-11-20
Life's Twist (Bessie Barriscale) 7-21-20
Moon Madness (Edith Storey) 8-1-20

REALART PICTURES CORP.
Soldiers of Fortune (Anna Q. Nilsson) 6 5-16-20
The Deep Purple (R. A. Walsh Prod.) 6 5-16-20
The Laws of the Valon (Chat Million Prod.) 6 5-16-20
Jenny Be Good (Mary Miles Minter) 6 5-16-20
Miss Hobbs (Wanda Hawley) 6 5-16-20
A Dark Lantern (Alice Brady) 6 8-20-20

REALART PICTURES CORP.
Soldiers of Fortune (Anna Q. Nilsson) 6 5-16-20
The Deep Purple (R. A. Walsh Prod.) 6 5-16-20
The Laws of the Valon (Chat Million Prod.) 6 5-16-20
Jenny Be Good (Mary Miles Minter) 6 5-16-20
Miss Hobbs (Wanda Hawley) 6 5-16-20
A Dark Lantern (Alice Brady) 6 8-20-20
SHORT REEL RELEASES

FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY

April Releases
- Geo White (Mack Sennett)
- The Gingham Girl (Mack Sennett)
- Ship Ahey (Al St. John)
- You Wouldn't Believe It (Mack Sennett)
- A Model Husband (Mack Sennett)

June Releases
- Hy Golly (Mack Sennett)
- You Wouldn't Believe It (Mack Sennett)
- A Model Husband (Mack Sennett)

May Releases
- Fresh from the City (Mack Sennett)
- Spring (Carter De Havens)
- Let 'Er Go (Mack Sennett)
- Beating Cheaters (Carter De Havens)
- An Oriental Sing Song
- Artistic Antwerp
- Moust and Musique de Nippon
- Battledox of France
- Paramount Magazine
  - The Zero Hour in Art
  - Tailoring in Metal
  - Mental Acrobatics
  - The Nurse of the Tenements

July
- Numbers 3855, 3866, 3877, 3888, 3889 Each
- Burton Holmes Travel Series
  - Martyred Cities
  - The Franco-British Bibble
  - Up Country in Siam
  - In Lovely lornalve
- Paramount Magazine
  - Four More Releases, three subjects in each
  - Parisian Holidays
  - The Land of Lass
  - Frenchifying Mets
  - In Flanders Fields

August
- Comedies
  - The Quick Doctor (Mack Sennett)
- Burton Holmes Travel Pictures
  - Coconuts and Copra
  - Heroic Linge
  - Hunting for Formomen Headhunters
  - The Sentence of the Sarre
  - Souvenirs of Singapore
- Paramount Magazine
  - Five more issues, one each week

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

February Releases
- Points and Petticats (Special)
- License Applied For
- Should a Husband Tell

March Releases
- Her Bridal Night-Mare (Special)

May Releases

UNIVERSAL

Comedies
- Why Lee (Lyons and Moran)
- A Restaurant Riot
- Too Many Burgals (Lyons and Moran)
- He Loved Like He Lied
- Wolf Tracks (Hoot Gibson and Thelma Percy)
- Kansam (Hoot Gibson)
- His Friend's Tip (Lyons and Moran)
- An Artist's Muddle (Harry Mann and Lilian Byron)

Westerns
- Elmo the Fearless, Episodes 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 Each
- The Moon Riders, Episodes 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 Each
- Wolf Tracks (Hoot Gibson and Thelma Percy)
- Kansam (Hoot Gibson)
- Elmo the Fearless (Elmo Lincoln) 18 (Completed)
- Moon Riders (Arties) 195, 196, 197, 198
- Vanishing Dagger (Eddie Polio) 1, 2, 3, 4 Each
- New Screen Magazine, Issues 68, 69, 70, 71 Each
- Pills for Papa (Nat Burns and Josephine Hill)
- Should Walters Marry (George Ovey)
- Kid-in-the-Landlord (Bartine Burkette)
- Bear-skinning Beauties
- His Mis-Step (Bartine Burkette)
Off His Trolley (Billy Engel, Jesse Fox and Dick Dickens) .......... 2
Thru the Tomato (Horace Macaulay and Bartie Barken) ................. 2
A Birthday Tangle (Connie Heiley and Bud Jameson) ................. 2

SERIALS
The Moon Riders (Art Acord), 11, 12, 13, 14 .......... each 2
The Vanishing Dagger (Eddie Polo), 4, 5, 6, 7 .......... each 2
New Screen Magazine, 71, 74, 75, 76 .......... each 2

WESTERNS
The Red Hot Trail (Leo Maloney) .................. 2
The Boss of Copperhead (J. Parcell McDonald) .. 2
The Shootin' Kid (Hoot Gibson) .......... Each 2
Fighting Pal (Magda Lane) .................. 2

FILM SPECIALS

April Releases

SERIALS
"Daredevil Jack" (Jack Dempsey), 8, 9, 10, 11 .......... each 2
'Trailled by Three' (Stuart Holmes and Frank Milke) .......... 2
Each 2

MAY RELEASES
Daredevil Jack, episodes 12, 13, 14, 15 .......... Each 2
'Veilac by Three', episodes 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 .......... Each 2
The Third Eye, episodes 1 and 2 .......... Each 2

COMEDIES
"Jiggs in Society" (Bringing Up Father Series) .......... 2
Cracked Wedding Bells (Snub Pollard) .......... 2
Speed to Spare (Snub Pollard) .......... Each 2
Pathe Reviews, 46, 47, 48, 49 .......... Each 2
Topicals of the Day, 46, 50, 61, 62 .......... Each 2

MAY RELEASES
An Eastern Westerner (Harold Lloyd) ......... 2
The Emotional Miss Vaughts (Mrs. Sidney Drew) ......... 2
Drink Heavy (Snub Pollard) .......... Each 2
Trotting Through Turkey (Snub Pollard) .......... 2
All Dressed Up (Snub Pollard) .......... Each 2
Grab the Goat (Snub Pollard) .......... Each 2
Merely a Maid (Lauree La Plante) .......... Each 2 Father's Close Shave (Bringing Up Father Series) .......... 2

PATEH
Numbers 49, 50, 51, 52, 53 .......... Each 1
Topics of the Day, issues 53, 54, 55, 56, 57 .......... Each 1

JUNE RELEASES
COMEDIES
You're Pinched (Snub Pollard) .......... Each 1
Start the Show (Beatrice La Plante) .......... Each 1
All in a Day (Snub Pollard) .......... Each 1
Any Old Port (Water Plug) .......... Each 1
Jiggs and the Social Lion (Bringing Up Father Series) .......... 2

SERIALS
Trailled by Three, 10, 11, 12, 13 .......... Each 2
The Third Eye, 3, 4, 5, 6 .......... Each 2
Pathe Review, issues 54, 55, 56, 57 .......... Each 2
Topics of the Day, issues 58, 59, 60, 61 .......... Each 2

HALL ROOM BOY COMEDIES

MAY RELEASES
Tell Us Ouija .......... Each 2
Movie Madness .......... Each 2

GOLDWYN

MAY RELEASES
Numbers 436, 437, 438, 439 .......... Each 1
Male Game .......... Each 1
The Home of the Game .......... Each 1
Playthings of Childhood .......... Each 1

CAPITOL COMEDIES

MAY RELEASES
What Could Be Sweeter (Carter De Havens) .......... 2
'Treat 'Em Kind (Carter De Havens) .......... 2

BRAY COMIC

THE GREAT UMBRELLA MYSTERY .......... 1
Knock on the Window .......... 1
Judge Humpty in a Pitting Gift .......... 1

COMEDIES
Mom's the Word (Buddy Post) .......... 1
A Counter Part (Buddy Post) .......... 1
Ford Educational Weekly .......... 2
Tropical Gems of Florida .......... 2
Water is Power .......... 2
Just Write .......... 2
Current Occurrences .......... 2

BRAY PICTOGRAPHS

ISSUES NO. 445, 446, 447, 448, 449 .......... Each

BRAY COMICS

ISSUES NO. 812, 813, 814, 815 .......... Each

JUNE AND JULY RELEASES

COMEDIES
The Road to Ruin (Flanagan and Edwards) .......... 2
In and Out (Flanagan and Edwards) .......... 2

FORD EDUCATIONAL WEEKLY

INTO THE BIG CYPRESS ............... 1
Starting Life .......... 1

BRAY PICTOGRAPHS

ISSUES NO. 449, 450, 451, 452, 453 .......... Each

BRAY COMICS

ISSUES NO. 816, 817, 818, 819, 820 .......... Each

REELCRAFT

ALICE HOWELL COMEDIES
Rubes and Romance .......... 2
Lumiacs in Politics .......... 2
Good Night Nurse .......... 2

BILLY WEST COMEDIES
Hands Up .......... 2
Going Straight .......... 2
What Next .......... 2
The Dreamer .......... 2
Italian Love .......... 2

MILBURN MORAN COMEDIES
Simp and Satan .......... 2
Instalment Plan .......... 2
Jealousy .......... 2
His Wedding Day .......... 2
Love Where Art Thou .......... 2

TEXAS GUINAN WESTERNS

Outwritten .......... 2
My Lady Robin Hood .......... 2
The Wild Cat .......... 2
Night Riders .......... 2
White Squaw .......... 2
Moonshine Fag .......... 2
Desert Vulture .......... 2
Girl of the Rancho .......... 2

EDUCATIONAL

JUNE AND JULY RELEASES

COMEDIES
Four Times Foiled (Chester) .......... 1
Kiss Me Caroline (Bobby Vernon) .......... 1
Torchy (Johnnie Hines) .......... 1
A Knight for a Night (Johnnie Hines) .......... 1
Fresh Start (Maurice Pumpkin) .......... 1

SPECIALS

Valley of 10,000 Smokes .......... 1

SCENICS
The Hope of Adventure (Robert Bruce) .......... 1
The Great Mirror (Robert Bruce) .......... 1
Figs and Kava (Chester) .......... 1
Troubadours of the Sky (Chester Scenics) .......... 1
Dreams Come True (Chester) .......... 1

SUNSHINE COMEDIES

MAY RELEASES
A Walter's Wasted Life .......... 2
Dashing Eyes .......... 2
The High Diver's Last Kiss .......... 2
Should Dummies Were Cooks .......... 2
Mingrel .......... 2

REPUBLIC PICTURES

L. J. SELZNICK ENTERPRISES
Wm. J. Templeton (Herbert Rawlinson) .......... 2
Judge Browne Series .......... 2

KINOMATOS
Every Tuesday and Saturday

FOX

JULY AND AUGUST

ROYAL COMEDIES
Buggins (Lion Errol Feature) .......... 2
Snakes (Billy B. Van Feature) .......... 2
Lucky Hoodo (Billy B. Van Feature) .......... 2

BILLY FRASKEY COMEDIES
Water Flies .......... 2
Tarred and Feathered .......... 2
Hatcher .......... 2
Hard Cider .......... 2
Glutton .......... 2
Nobody Home .......... 2
Play Hookey .......... 2
Professor .......... 2
Getting His Goat .......... 2
Fixing Lizzie .......... 2
Dry Cleaned .......... 2
Kidnapper .......... 2
The Snitch .......... 2
Moonshiner .......... 2

ALICE HOWELL COMEDIES
Rubes and Romance .......... 2
Lumiacs in Politics .......... 2
Good Night Nurse .......... 2

BILLY WEST COMEDIES
Hands Up .......... 2
Going Straight .......... 2
What Next .......... 2
The Dreamer .......... 2
Italian Love .......... 2

MILBURN MORAN COMEDIES
Simp and Satan .......... 2
Instalment Plan .......... 2
Jealousy .......... 2
His Wedding Day .......... 2
Love Where Art Thou .......... 2

TEXAS GUINAN WESTERNS

Outwritten .......... 2
My Lady Robin Hood .......... 2
The Wild Cat .......... 2
Night Riders .......... 2
White Squaw .......... 2
Moonshine Fag .......... 2
Desert Vulture .......... 2
Girl of the Rancho .......... 2

VICTOR KREMER FILM FEATURES
A Burlesque on Carmen (Charles Chaplin) .......... 3
The Champion (Charles Chaplin) .......... 3
Work (Charles Chaplin) .......... 3
By the Sea (Charles Chaplin) .......... 3

KINOMATOS
Every Tuesday and Saturday
Some Short Reels

"Ruth of the Rockies"—Pathé

Smugglers who operate over an extensive territory and a character who is allied to as the "Unknown" operate as the enemies of Ruth Roland in her new episode drama. The story which starts off in fairly good style, does not arouse very much suspense, although the production values and endings of the first two episodes, especially the very first one, are highly creditable. There is a light atmosphere evident at times which does not seem to fit in with the general scheme of things. Ruth Roland is her usual self in the offering which moves along at satisfactory speed and includes in the cast Herbert H. Heyes in the male lead, Thomas Linghan, chief heavy, Jack Rolleus, Fred Burns, William Gilles, Gilbert Holm and others. Heyes and Lingham appeared in the last Ruth Roland in similar characters to those which they essay this time and working with the same star get along quite smoothly.

George Marshall, who directed, has handled most of the situations well, but the touches of humor may not have the desired effect upon serial followers. As for Al Cawood, who manipulated the camera, he has held his end of it down commendably.

The finish of the initial episode, which shows the "Eagle," an aviator of mystery, swooping down upon an automobile and securing a valued trunk which has been taken from the heroine, holds the eye. Closing the second part is another suspense-securing scene, Ruth being forced to marry the "Unknown" or see one of her benefactors shot. Unfortunately, the action during the rest of the footage is not fast and does not maintain interest as well. Generally, a fair production of its type, with endings that will help and a likeable serial star.

"Mary's Little Lobster"—Fox-Sunshine

The Sunshine comedy factory manages to run out pictures that strike a high average, week in and week out. It also seems able to take the prize in fastening totally fake titles on them. This isn't a serious point, but even a comedy ought to have a title in some way—appropriate to the action. Which brings up the point that there is no Mary little lobster st nerve number. The action begins with a number of shots of the Sunshine bathing girls. If bathing girl revues are put on in connection with some five reelers that have recently been released they might easily be put on with this. There is much more justification for them. There is some good comedy centering about the able Slim Summerville. The scene in which he wades far out in the supposedly deep ocean and lifts the girl out of a sinking rowboat is very funny. Summerville also accounts for humor that passes beyond the merely chuckling point by his expressions. He is one of the few comedians that are funny to look at in repose. After the rescue Slim attempts to marry the girl, but it is discovered that he is a crook and the action winds up with a chase. Others who appear are Bobbie Dunn, Gus Pixley, Lois Boyd and Tom Kennedy. Eddie Cline directed.

"Hearts and Hammers"—Goldwyn

Ed Flanagan and George Edwards play the principal roles in another two reel which includes several humorous bits of business, some of which are entirely new and a few of which are familiar. As for a story, there is just enough of a theme to hold the affair together and make this an acceptable offering of its kind. Opening is a scene in a smithy, with Flanagan performing as the manipulator of the hammer and anvils. A colored youngster sits nearby and one of the laughs is supplied when Ed slams a hammer on which he is working on the lad's head. Thereafter, a piano which is filled with water, ultimately resulting in the splashing of the characters, is the source from which mirth is gleaned. The new Edwards thus fairly well with Flanagan, but the latter is given most of the work.

Another Chester Screenie—Educational

During the oppressive heat picture patrons will undoubtedly enjoy the cool aspect of the scenes which comprise another of the Chester Screenies. "Chosen Waters" is the title of the initial section, after which a part called "Naiads of the South Seas" is flashed. The former shows how several angels catch the finned creatures, their journeying naturally bringing to light some water stuff that holds the eye. After that, some Samoan Islanders are seen frolicking about near the cool waters of some small lagoons, gliding into the refreshing drafts and otherwise taking advantage of the comforts afforded by nature.

"Convict 13"—Schenck-Metro

"Convict 13" gives ample proof that Buster Keaton's first two reel comedy, "One Week," was more than a flash in the pan. It's another winner. This comedy organization seems on the high road to big success. The two pictures shown so far reveal the hand of an expert in every department. This "hand" is undoubtedly the result of the combined heads of Keaton and Eddie Cline, who is sharing in the directing. They have included in this a number of new gags and the comedy screen are working out with such an easy rapidity that their effect is tremendously funny. Buster appears here as a golf player. There is some fine new comedy business showing him at the game and then, after being filled by a rebounding ball, he dreams that he is a convict, sentenced to die. More original stuff is introduced in this part of the picture and it is all good. The super-sensitive might think the burlesque of the hanging is a bit too far, but it is all done in such a thoroughly ridiculously spirit that it will register as pure and funny nonsense with the great majority.

"The Stage Hand"—Vitagraph

Larry Semon long ago dispelled any doubts that might have existed as to his ability as a comedian and comedy director. "The Stage Hand," his latest effort in the two reel comedy line, will certainly strengthen his position in the ranks of star slapstick comedians to even a greater extent. The action of this number takes place back stage and Larry, as the blundering stage hand, is the center of the action. A man gifted such as this comedian can easily figure out a variety of good stunts with this rich location as a background, and Semon certainly has made good on this end of his work. The gags and situations follow one another rapidly and many of them display an originality that adds considerably to their value. There are two scenes in which the action gets quite slobbery, one where the negro receives splashes of white paint full in the face and the other where the comedy chorus girl falls into a barrel of murky goo. For the rest, however, the picture maintains a pace that is ever laughable and refreshing. Lucile Carlisle is the leading lady.

"Out of the Woods"—Ford-Goldwyn

Lumber—the manner in which it is transferred from the forests where it is cut to its final destination—is dealt with in another Ford Industrial which takes the subject up in interesting style. The work of the lumberjacks has been filmed on numerous occasions and the chances are that fans generally will be quite familiar with most of the steps shown in this, but the matter has been photographed and reproduced so well that it should hold its own more than one program. Titles have been written in a clever style, the usual thing in these offerings, and enhance the reel.
Short Reels

"Hot Dogs"—Fox

This Mutt and Jeff number is not marked by the originality in conception or execution that determine the high value of many of the series. The action centers about Jeff's discovery of a little dog on the beach. It is stolen from him by a hot dog vendor who turns it into meat. The various hot dogs thereupon recognize Jeff and follow him around in their new form. There are some laughs in this, but on the whole it doesn't measure up to former numbers.

Screen Snapshots No. 5—Jack Cohn—State Rights

Eventually, Jack Cohn may run out of material for his Screen Snapshots, but just at present he continues to go along at a high rate of speed, this issue maintaining the standard set in the other releases of the series. Beyond doubt, the offering will hold the attention of fans for it is made up of the sort of material they like, is titled in a manner that maintains the proper light atmosphere and brings to the fore the personalities of film people of prominence. Lillian Gish at play with a dog appears in the opening bit of footage, after which the manner in which a scene on a ship is staged is shown. The latter portion has been reproduced nicely, the scene being shown first as it will appear in the production under way, after which the spectator is carried further back so that he may perceive the deception. Mary Pickford occupies the center of the screen just long enough to be seen accepting one of her numerous presents, a little bale of cotton, and is followed by a scene at the Christie studios. Maurice Tourneur and Hope Hampton are seen for a while later on and to close it, Max Linder, the French comedian, engages in some fastcuffs with the director. Reels of this sort, which incidentally are similar to a series released not long ago by another concern, while not necessarily big drawing cards, are just the things to help build up a steady neighborhood patronage.

"A London Bobby"—Pathe

One of the best single reels turned out in a long while is this newest Snub Pollard release which can undoubtedly be depended upon to amuse any audience. The production, which has a wealth of humorous incident and material which varies distinctly from much of the commonplace knockabout stuff seen so frequently, is one of the best if not the best of the series. Marie Mosquini is now being featured in these reels, Sammy, the little colored darkey, being side-tracked, and a stout comedian is also quite prominent. The latter makes an excellent foil for the slender Pollard and helps in no small measure in putting this over. Snub is introduced as a member of the London police force who is assigned to a neighborhood where a terrific free-for-all battle is taking place. After the struggle is snuffed out by a particularly belligerent chap who wades into the crowd and sends its members into the land of twittering birdsies with an assortment of right and left-handed blows, Snub steps forth and accepts credit for the feat. As a matter of fact, slum stuff of this character has been seen before, but this is funny enough to make the show hold up. Thereafter there is some good chase stuff, and while a rather old idea is employed towards the conclusion, when Pollard suddenly comes to life upon the injection of an inspiring fluid, it keeps laughs coming until the end.

"The Adventurer"—Republic Chaplin Reissue

Many picture enthusiasts will recall another of the old Chaplin productions that drew its full quota of laughs. In its reissued form the two-reeler is quite capable of holding its own with any of the newer comedies, for those who have seen it will probably find it funny again, while those to whom it is new will certainly enjoy it. The introduction, in which the star emerges from the sand, the portion in which he and Campbell exchange kicks—stuff for which Charlie is well known—and numerous other scenes should stir the risibilities of the spectators. It is one of the good ones turned out by the inimitable Chaplin, whose mirth-provoking facial expressions and other characteristics are all evident.

"Pirate Gold"—Pathe

Those who saw the previous serial in which George B. Seitz played the stellar role, with Marguerite Courtot featured, will find this similar in many respects. Atmospherically and otherwise it bears a distinct resemblance to the other and fans who considered the former Seitz production entertaining will probably find this even more so.

To the credit of the producer it must be said that he has departed from the usual run of blood and thunder serial again and has injected a spirit of youth and romance that is a distinct contrast to the frequent spectacle of the esthetic sacrificed for the brutal.

It is rather unfortunate that with the material at hand, Seitz saw fit to turn out a drawn-out offering. Certain is a picture of this nature if properly toned down would be more readily accepted if offered in feature form. The quality of humor, of which this is brimful, appears to be a hit over the heads at the average gathering that adheres to the stretched-story.

Opening the first episode, there is a highly commendable pirate scene excellently directed but for one very unimportant detail. The manner in which the old pirate slaughters some of his crew as the treasure chest is buried, only to have the hero fall upon him and administer a dose of the same medicine, the sudden awakening of the dreamer and other scenes have been finely filmed and the result is an effect that will register well in more than one case. Perhaps Seitz is only joshing serial audiences with the sort of material he unfolds. Certainly it will have a much more beneficial effect upon the youngsters—and they are the ones who usually patronize serials—than a great deal of the "scientific" bunkum and underworld stuff shown them.
ROBERTSON-COLE
Super Specials
Season of 1920-21

The First Ten
Pauline Frederick
in her first Super-Special
Dustin Farnum
in "Big Happiness" by Pon
Lew Cody
in "Occasionally Yours"
Mae Marsh
in her first Super-Special directed by John G. Adolfi
Olis Skinner
in "Kismet" directed by Jesmier
Sessue Hayakawa
in "The First Born"
William Christy Cabanne's production of his own powerful story
"So Long, Betty"
directed by Al "E. Christie"
All-Star Haworth Special:
"The Beach of Dreams"
Arsene Lupin Production
"813" with Wedgwood Nowell

R-C PICTURES
A Minimum of 36
Sessue Hayakawa in An Arabian Knight
Produced by NAWORTH

The tale of an adventurous scamp in a land of romance

FROM beside the ancient pyramids Hayakawa digs up hidden gold for the exhibitor. In a production of astonishing realism and beauty, he reaches new heights as a playboy of the East.

Based on emotions as old as the desert sands, his role has an assured drawing power.
Wm L. Roubert
presents
Willard Mack's
Most vivid screen play
HERITAGE
A State Right Special De Luxe
with Matty Roubert and a Brilliant All Star Cast

TERRITORY SELLING FAST
Write or Wire

Matty Roubert Productions Inc.
1457 Broadway New York

Sidney Garett, 135 W. 44th St.
Sole Foreign Distributor
Blizzard! Arch fiend. Sworn enemy of humanity. Twisted soul and face of Satan. The most unforgettable character that ever dominated a motion picture.

In his brain seethed a plot to loot an entire city and wreak horrible vengeance on those he hated.

Lon Chaney, as Blizzard, contributes a performance that is literally astounding. And "The Penalty," telling a big story in an unusual way, is easily one of the finest pictures of the new screen.

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION

SAMUEL GOLDSWYN AND REX BEACH PRESENT

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS' FAMOUS STORY

THE PENALTY

DIRECTED BY WALLACE WORSLEY
Goldwyn Frank

Tells Minneapolis Exhibitors Something About Increased Cost of Production and Other Things

Recently Samuel Goldwyn was in Minneapolis, and while there attended a luncheon where he met about 125 exhibitors from that section. Afterwards he was called upon the answer two questions put to him by Al Stiebel, of the United Theatrical Protective League—what was the attitude of his company regarding deposits and also toward ownership of theaters.

In reply Goldwyn said:

"Your first question ask for the attitude of the Goldwyn company toward the deposit system. And our answer is that deposits mean comparatively little to us. But there is a type of producer who does need your deposits—the small independent producer who is materially helped in financing his picture by this system.

"Your second question asks the attitude of our company toward producer-ownership of theaters. The answer of this question as far as we are concerned is clearcut and inescapable. We are producers, have always been producers, and will always be producers. All that we demand as producers is that we have an outlet for our pictures. Where no theaters have built a wall against us, no one can blame us for going out and getting in our own audiences.

"There are certain special territories where circumstances have worked out in such a fashion for the producer that it has been essential for him to build or buy. But these are exceptional cases, and have been used by the exhibitor himself. We don't want to buy theaters. We would rather invest in good pictures."

Mr. Goldwyn then went on to say: "We will first take up the matter of producer ownership of theaters, and see if there may be no misunderstanding. I will go back to the beginning, and lay all the cards on the table.

"Carmen" Cost $20,000

"Seven and a half years ago, when we founded the Lasky Film Corp., we made pictures on a far cheaper basis than we can make them today. In

(Continued on Page 3)

Promie New Star

Equity Pictures have a new star engagement that promises to announce the trade shortly.

Joe Schnitzer says the identity of the new star will prove a big surprise to everyone.

All Assembled

Exhibitors in Atlantic City for Convention—Opening Session Takes Place This Morning

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Atlantic City—The opening session of the Exhibitors' League of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware is scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning.

A number of exhibitors arrived here yesterday however to register and "get set" for the two-day session.

It is not at all improbable that there may be some changes in the territorial groups now included in the association. The league is practically a M. P. T. O. affiliation, but the constitution of the national organization (Continued on Page 4)

Films in N.Y.Schools

Courses in Biology and Geography Ready—Experiment May Become Permanent

A contract is expected to be signed today by the Board of Education and Thomas K. Peters of 105 W. 41st St., head of the Peters Photographic Expedition, whereby 10 schools in Greater New York will be supplied with a series of motion pictures dealing with biology and geography as treated in the standard text books now used of the Educational Department.

The move is in the nature of an experiment, but if it proves successful there is every reason to believe that Mr. Peters will be granted a contract to supply all of the public schools in New-York with like films.

The idea in brief is this: Peters has prepared after considerable effort and time a series of 23 reels, each of about 1,000 ft. in length, dealing with that part of the public school biology as is covered in the 40 school weeks of the course. He has also

(Continued on Page 4)

Black Expanding

Circuit. Now Numbers Almost 7 Houses—Additions to Staff in Boston Headquarters

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Boston—The Black New England Theaters, Inc., of which Alfred Black is the head, now controls a most 70 theaters in New England.

Four theaters, recently added to the Black string and now undergoing repairs, bring the corporation's holdings to about 70 theaters. These are the Waldorf, Lynn Mass., the Broadway, Chelsea, Mass. the Laurier, Woonsocket, R. I., and the Rialto, Lawrence, Mass.

At the same time the theaters of the following towns are now in various stages of construction: Pawtucket, R. I.; New Bedford, Mass.; Artie, Ker, Taunton, Mass., and Barre, Vt.

Three theaters in Vermont are practically ready for opening. These are in Northfield, Bethel and Richmond. The Bangor Opera House, which Mr. Black is particularly proud was recently opened.

The Black organization has been developing also now, in its new line recently. It is apparently the policy of the organization to make "affiliations" with theater owners whose houses pass into its control of the Black circuit. W. Grace of Fair Haven, Vt., who conducted the opposition to us and has now affiliated with the Black Circuit, is in Rutland, Vt., where by an affiliation with T. W. McKay the Grand and Strand become part of the Black chain. The Playhouse in that city has been secured by Black for pictures.

There have been some changes in the executive personnel of the company. W. M. McCollan, who for a number of years was general manager of Luna Park, Coney Island, is now assistant to Black.

The Rialto in Lawrence has been added to the circuit and Andrew J. Cobe has been placed in charge of presentations for the entire Black circuit.

The offices which were formerly maintained at Rockland, Me., have been given up and all the activities of the company are now centered in the new offices in the Social Union Bldg., 124 Berkeley St. Here Black has secured a suite of offices, and has coordinated all of his departments. The booking office which had quarters in Boston has been moved into the combined offices.

(Continued on Page 2)
Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do pfd.</td>
<td>83</td>
<td>83 1/2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>15</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's, Inc.</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>20 3/4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit. Pict. Prod.</td>
<td></td>
<td>1 1/4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do 2nd pfd.</td>
<td></td>
<td>7/8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Agnes Ayres in de Mille Film

Los Angeles—Agnes Ayres who is under contract with Albert A. Kaufman will appear in Cecil de Mille's new production for Famous Players.

Harry Levey, will assist several schools of advertising in launching copious samples of the value of the industrial motion picture.

On Broadway

Criterion—"The Right to Love."
Capitol—Tom Mix—"The Untamed."
Rivoli—"Humoresque."
Rialto—Charles Ray—"The Village Sleuth."
Strand—D. W. Griffith's "The Love Flower."
Broadway—Louise Glaum—"Love Madness."
Rivoli—"Earthbound."
Lyric—"When New York Sleeps."
Loew's New York—Today—Mary Pickford—"Susa."
Tuesday—"Lahoma."
Wednesday—Madge Kennedy—"The Truth."
Thursday—Ethel Clayton—"Crooked Streets."
Friday—Shirley Mason—"The Little Wanderer."
Carmel Myers—"In Folly's Trail."
Saturday—Mary Miles Minter—"A Cumberland Romance."
Sunday—Mitchell Lewis—"The Mutiny of the Elsinore."
Brooklyn Strand—Annette Kellerman—"What Women Love."

Next Week

Criterion—"The Right to Love."
Capitol—"It's a Great Life."
Rivoli—Elise Ferguson—"Lady Rose's Daughter."
Rialto—"Humoresque."
Strand—Charles Ray—"45 Minutes from Broadway."
Astor—"Earthbound."

80% Complete

The growth of Pioneer exchanges has reached the point where over $8 per cent. of the country is now covered and it was said that Pioneer headquarters that within the next month or two the new exchanges to be opened will give Pioneer pictures 100 per cent. representation.

Warren Fromme, assistant to Hobart Henley, and more recently with Mr. Sidney Drew, will assist Jerome Storm in the making of the first Lilian Gish production for Frohman.

Lyric—"When New York Sleeps."
Brooklyn Strand—William Farnum—"If I Were King."

Fox Film at Brooklyn Strand.

The Brooklyn Strand has booked for the week of Aug. 29 a Fox production, William Farnum in "If I Were King."

IDEAL STUDIOS AVAILABLE
IMMEDIATE POSSESSION
DIRECTLY ACROSS 42nd STREET FERRY
THE NEWEST AND MOST COMPLETELY EQUIPPED STUDIOS IN THE EAST!

ARTHUR H. JACOBS
145 WEST 45th STREET EXCLUSIVE AGENT
BRYANT 4783

Change Corporate Name

Albany—The Piedmont Pictures Corp. has changed its corporate name to the Piedmont Trading Corp.

The above company deals in the foreign market.

"Twin Beds," which Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven are producing, in affiliation with Arthur S. Kane, is set down on the First National schedule for release Oct. 18.

It is when he counts the box office receipts that the exhibitor really appreciates RITCHEY posters!

RITCHEY LITHO., CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

The one & only "Ambrose"

Surrounded with his bunch of beauties can't be equalled.

PERRY COMEDIES present
MACK SWAIN in a series of new two reel comedies.

State Right
One a Month

Distributed by
C. B. Price Co., Inc.
1446 Broadway, N.Y.C.
Goldwyn Frank
(Continued from Page 1)

Goldwyn Frank,

"Then there was a little girl working for us, getting $100 a week. She offered her $300 a week. She came to me with the contract, and wanted it raised to $400, and she didn't want to keep her. She wouldn't even work for us at the same figure they offered her—she must have a better deal with us. We didn't care to pay it."

"This went on with all our people, and the other producers. Naturally the scale was doubled and tripled in a short time. This organization spent money lavishly in making their productions, and it was necessary for us to put more money into our productions."

"As a result, the cost of negatives shot up. Where they used to cost us around $10,000 and $12,000, today it runs from $450,000 and up."

Compelled to Buy Theaters

"Then we began to run up against a new phase of the proposition. Theaters which had been running our pictures began putting some of them on a screen that had more pictures than they could use."

"Take the Strand theater, of New York, for example. The first year, they ran all of our pictures. The second year, we made more pictures and they ran all of them. But the theater owner ran some of them, and then informed us that they couldn't use any more, as they had more pictures than they could use. We have been compelled to get proper showings in New York, it would be necessary to buy a theater, so we bought the Capitol."

"Make no mistake, gentlemen. We are producers, and we want to stay producers. We are going to stay producers, if you will let us. But we must have showings at a fair price."

"Let me give you another example. In Milwaukee we were unable to get more than $300 for a picture, and finally they told us they couldn't afford to pay that. We bought the Merrill theater there, and there has not been a week that we have not gotten from $900 to $2,000 for our picture, after showing the theater in regular and "有什么工作，我们都是 producers, and we have no desire to become exhibitors. Four or five million dollars is used up in no time at all when you are building first-run theaters. We would rather put that money into negatives if we can get our pictures shown."

"There is no one to blame today for producer ownership of theaters but exhibitors themselves. And if you force the leading producers out of business, from whence will your steady, week in and week out supply of good pictures come?"

"For you must have good pictures. I have traveled 50,000 miles in the past year, including a trip to Europe and there is not the sort of film executive who sits behind a desk in New York and tries to size up the situation in the entire country. And it is very unlikely that the public is 'picture wise.' You would be amazed at some of the letters we get from fans, criticizing this and that."

Authors Get 50 Per Cent

"As a result, I became convinced that we must bring to the screen the same sort of trained minds that have made literature a necessity in the home. Writers have been complaining that they could make more money by putting the same amount of thought into a book or a play. So I went to some of the best authors, gave them three hundred, and made them this proposition: that if they would give me the same amount of effort that they would put in on a play or book, we would put our studios, our time, and our facilities up against their brains, and split the profits on a 50-50 basis."

"Opposed to Group Booking"

Mr. Goldwyn was later interviewed regarding the attitude of his company toward group booking by 'booking agencies.'

(Continued on Page 4)

Tie up to that word "Paramount" and see what national advertising has done for you.

FIVE hundred pages of live, interesting and educational matter, gathered from a year's work in WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK COMING SOON
Goldwyn Frank
(Continued from Page 1)
“We are firmly opposed to any system,” he replied promptly, “that will prevent exhibitors from selecting their own pictures. Our present system permits exhibitors to see their pictures well in advance, and they know what they are getting. We shall at least give the present system a fair trial before changing it.”

Mr. Goldwyn made a highly favorable impression. Unlike certain other producers, he made no attempt to dodge the issue. He did not deny that they would buy other theaters if compelled to. He talked straight out from the shoulder, and laid the blame at the door of the exhibitor. Whether the assembled exhibitors agreed with him or not, they could not be admit-ing his frankness and candid statements of the facts to be seen them. Codicalleds for state organizations only, and to be definitely affiliated with Sydney Cohen’s organization means that a league embracing actual state bounddaries must be formed.

The program for the two-day session provides for the opening ad-paper this morning by Mayor Bader of Atlantic City. Sydney Cohen may address the exhibitors.

This afternoon a beach party will be held at Garden Pier, where the official headquarters are established.
Here motion pictures of the delegates and the visitors will be shot.

Tonight a ball will be given in the Marine Ball Room and for this affai a number of loving cups will be given as prizes. There will be a prize wart for a Priscilla Dean cup; fox trot for an Elaine Hammerstein and a one step for a Nazimova cup. Mileddred Harris Chaplin and Lionel Bar-rmore will lead the grand march.
Clara Kimball Young, Harry Garson and Harry Reichenbach are expected to take part.

Tomorrow morning there will be a short business session. A number of executives including E. A. Mayo, Adolph Zukor, William Fox,
W. W. Hodkinson, Marcus Loew,
Harry Schwalbe, L. J. Selznick, Fred
W. Warren, Senator Walker and two others whose names will be annou-ced later, have been invited to deliver addresses.

At evening a dinner and cabaret at Inlet will provide entertainment. The convention officially closes Tuesday evening.

Roskam Joins Fine Arts
Edward M. Roskam, who has had charge of the editing and cutting of Universal pictures for the past two years, has signed a contract with Fine Arts Pictures, Inc., to take charge of the cutting and editing of all future
Fine Arts releases.

In addition Roskam will take charge of all scenario work and act in the capacity of supervisor of production on the new pictures which Fine Arts will distribute through independent exchanges.

E. A. Kellett, general manager of the National Film Co., Minneapolis, has contracted for Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin, on “Before the White Man Came”
Arrow release.

Mats, Electro's and Stereo
for the
Motion Picture Trade
J. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N.Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereopters in
N. Y. C.

THE STEALERS
ARE COMING

British Exhibit in Brazil
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
14 “Commerce Reports” say:
“Announcement is made by Trade
Commissioner Connell of a motion picture exhibit of British industries to be held daily during the week of June 28 at one of the large theaters in Rio de Janeiro. The organization in charge of the exhibition was said to be supported by the British Embassy, the British Consulate, and the British Chamber of Commerce.

“No entrance fee was to be exactbuted, but those who attended were expected to leave a card containing their full name, residence and business. Films were to be exhibited showing the manufacture of steel, locusts, airplanes, cotton textiles,
floor, rope, cables, oils, bicycles, etc., as well as panoramic views of the most important cities of England.”

The Washington dispatch bears out what appeared in WID'S DAILY last week concerning a film exhibit which is to tour the entire world for the purpose of exploiting British manufactures.

Novel Studio Planned
Los Angeles—Max Linder plans a studio here which will have a front the exact reproduction of Comedie Francaise in Paris.

ENLARGEMENTS
of moving picture films, for stills and cuts. Also high class printing.
Twenty years experience in film laboratories.
W. J. Morat
302 E. 33rd St., N. Y. C.
Phone, Vanderbilt 7361

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit
Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

THREE LARGE OFFICES WITH VAULT SPACE
FOR RENT
Use of Cutting Room—Terms Reasonable
Telephone: Bryant 1335, 3427
Ask for Mr. BARR

Films in N.Y. School
(Continued from Page 1)
prepared a series of pictures de-designed with higher biology and more scientific films covering the geo-course as outlined and practiced the Board of Education.

These pictures are to be used in schools in conjunction with these books so that the children will actually see what they read.
The films have been so that they will conform with and so that the use of films will be one operation

“The Blonde Vampire”
It developed Saturday that E. P. and Persons, who are major picture at the Biograph studio,
Shaw Physioc directing, are

Miss Mooers is the author of “Blonde Vampire” which is to be lished by Moffat, Yard, and has given considerable publicity in Hearst papers which have put several Sunday features on “Blonde Be a Vampire.”

Allen Rock is associated with ner and Persons.

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month
GALLE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month
“CLAYPLAY”
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week
“COMICCLASSICS
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
“His Married Life,”
“Bringing Up Father,” etc.
Special Pictures Corp.
Could Ban 'Stealing'
P. T. O. to Line Up Producing and of Business on Breaking of Contracts
(Continued from Front Page)
Atlantic City—Sydney S. Cohen, president of the M. P. T. O., addressing the Exhibitors' League of East Pennsylvania, Southern New Jer-sy and Delaware at the opening ses-Sion here yesterday.
Cohen told of the work of the national organization and that a special committee would shortly start its work which would reach every director, producer, and distributor in an effort to prevent the jumping of contracts and "stealing," even in his address said that such was bad but one result: a loss to the exhibitor by virtue of increased salaries of stars. Cohen said certain stars use the "stealing" method to obtain "so much money in the few years they had become top-div." The committee will endeavor to embrace promises from stars and film utes to play "straight" in the ear and to eliminate this practice.
Another part of his talk Cohen considered interest when
(Continued on Page 2)

"Mitch" Lewis Here
"Mitch" Lewis has arrived from where Lewis plans staying here for several weeks and is stopping at Lamb's
Only Four Barrimore Films
Developed Yesterday
One Imagery Films develops yesterday that the Associated First National company with Whitman Bennett calls for a special productions, and not more with Lionel Barrimore, origi-ally stated by First National, more Barrimore's series, will include four sections.

Studio Planned for Salt Lake
Special to WID'S DAILY
Salt Lake City—the Kimball and and stars have sold the old Ryan Rexways, 27 South, to a moving picture company which plans a studio and executive program on it. The studio.

While no mention has been made of a new $10,000,000 unit has secured the prop-

More Theaters for Lesser
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Improves—Sol Lesser and the Brobe have taken over two more theaters: the American and Belvi-

New Dep't at F. P. L.
Famous Players-Lasky has formed a special sales organization to handle its short subjects. W. F. Rodgers, formerly with General Film and Goldwyn, has been appointed short subject sales manager.

In each one of the exchanges there will be a salesman—in some
(Continued on Page 2)

To Feature Lloyd Prod.
Goldwyn, commencing with "The Great Lover," will present a series
of
Frank Lloyd Prod.

Goulding Returns
Edmund Goulding has returned to this country from abroad. He will prepare the script for "The Devil," which George Arliss will make for Andrew J. Callaghan and return to England

Universal Party Tonight
Universal's theater party is scheduled for tonight. Almost 1,000 employees will see "Seeing Things"

More for Pathe
Pathe has closed a deal for the distribution of a series of two red westerns in which Tom Santschi will be starred.

The first of the series will be "Be-

Hampton Special Through Pathe
"Half a Chance," a Jesse D. Hampon special production directed by Robert Thornby, in which Mahlon
Hamilton and Lillian Rich are featured, has been secured by Pathe.

The Hampton organization is known to have spent considerable money on this production.

Cearing the Air
North Carolina Exhibitors Hear of Workings of Lynch Sanitation —Situation Improved
(Continued from Front Page)
Charlotte, N. C.—About 25 of the representative exhibitors in this teritory were called into a meeting here last Friday by Y. F. Freeman of the S. A. Lynch Enterprises, who explain the workings of his organization.

It is understood that Freeman did so in order to offset propaganda fostered in North Carolina by other companies and that as a result of the meeting whatever difficulties existed between the exhibitors were resolved. Freeman is understood to have told the exhibitors that Lynch would not build or attempt to force out independent exhibitors in towns where parafract productions were a fair showing.

It is further understood that a numer of exhibitors wired Sydney S.
Cohen and the M. P. T. O. of the conference with Freeman, telling of the conference conference that they had held.

(Continued from Front Page)
Atlantic City—Sydney S. Cohen admitted yesterday that he had received a wire from exhibitors in North Carolina regarding a meeting here held by Y. F. Freeman of the S. A. Lynch organization, telling Cohen that they believed the North Carolina situation had been clarified as a result of the talk with Freeman.

S. A. Lynn, Y. F. Freeman, D. B.
Mallard, a Lynch official, and C. D.
Corder, both of the Strand Theater, Tampa, Fla., who is a Lynch man, left here for New York yesterday.

Metro Buys "Aphrodite"
Metro has purchased from Famous Players the film rights to "Aphrodite," which was originally slated for Dorothy Dalton.

Nazimova will appear in it for
Metro.

Loew Denies Report
Marcus Loew yesterday denied the report that he was financially intersted in the new American Theaters Corporation, which was formed in Atlanta a few months ago with a capitalization of $5,000,000.

The Atlanta organization is headed by Arthur Lucas of Goldwyn and plans to acquire a chain of theaters in the South.
Would Ban 'Stealing' (Continued from Page 1)

he spoke of the adjustments in film rentals made by the Zukor committee. Cohen said that $100,000 in claims had already been amicably settled. The committee included one from Wheeling, W. Va., Aurora and Joliet, Ill., and the Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce in New York City.

Mr. Cohen reviewed the work of the M. P. T. O. and told the 170 odd exhibitors and delegates present of what his committee was to do in the way of more equitable film contract. He said that a committee was working with Adolph Zukor, Samuel Goldwyn and Lewis J. Selznick on the contract and deposit questions. Senator Walker, counsel for the M. P. T. O., will work with the counsels of the film companies on this.

The M. P. T. O. had in mind, said Cohen, the abolition of the deposit system in every state of the union and in its place the passage of a law such as existed in New York, whereby the deposits would be kept in trust for the exhibitor with default, by the danger of loss. He pointed to the failure of General Film with $200,000 to exhibitors' money, that of United Film Theaters and last of all, Hallmark.

Another move the national organization planned was the relief from the censorship question in Pennsylvania. Cohen urged immediate action here by film interests.

Speaking of the forming of state organizations Cohen said that 12 states had already organized; that 144 out of 175 exhibitors in Connecticut were members of the state M. P. T. O.; that Missouri had doubled its quota for the national treasury; that the national league was closing the drive for local option on Sunday shows and the repeal of the 5 per cent tax.

After Cohen spoke a number of exhibitors were called upon to deliver addresses. Among them were Mike Stiefel, of Philadelphia; Floyd Hopkins, of Wilmer and Vincent; Ed. O'Farrell, of Atlantic City; and Fred Herrington, of Pittsburgh.

Practically every theater chain in the territory is represented here. The Comerford string of 44 houses is represented by Mike Comerford, others here are George Bennethun, who runs 16 houses; Mike Goll, who operates two first-run houses in Hazelton, Pa.; Carr and Schad of Reading and the Stanley Co. of America.

The meeting was presided over by Albert G. Fisher of the Mammoth theater, Philadelphia, the oldest exhibitor in that city. Other officials present included Fred Herrington of Pittsburgh; John G. Collins of the New Jersey League, and John Evans of Philadelphia. Sydney Cohen was really the dominating figure of the entire session.

W. E. Schaefer, of the Superior Film Exchange, Philadelphia, made the hit of the day. He has the Eastern Pennsylvania rights to "A Child for Sale." For the occasion he got up a celluloid baby doll with a bottle in its mouth. These were distributed among the exhibitors and caused quite some comment.

The program was carried out as per schedule, although the rain in the afternoon did not serve to make the beach party particularly inviting. The ball was held last night in the Marine Ballroom.

PROTECTION

The fundamental principle back of every successful business enterprise is insurance. Corporations owe it to their stockholders. Partners owe it to each other. You as an individual owe it to yourself. Do not allow yourself to be lulled into false security. You NEED insurance.
FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.

ANNOUNCES

the formation of a new department to aid producers, distributors and independent releasing concerns in securing the greatest possible results from their productions.

EDWARD M. ROSKAM

Acknowledged as the Foremost Film Editor in the Motion Picture Industry

who had charge of the cutting and editing of such notable box office successes as “The Masque of Life,” “Polly of the Circus,” “Baby Mine,” “The Virgin of Stamboul,” “Blind Husbands,” “The Devil’s Pass Key,” and other famous pictures will personally supervise all productions submitted for re-editing, cutting and titling assuring the utmost in editorial perfection.

You are invited to send your productions to us for re-editing and cutting.

SATISFACTION, QUALITY AND SERVICE GUARANTEED

To get the most benefit from your productions, address—

FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.

M. W. GARSSON, President

157 BROADWAY --- NEW YORK CITY

Phone Bryant 9500
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 27
"TANGLED LIVES"
with Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe
PAUL SCARDON
Directed It
And also
"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"
with Blanche Sweet
Now directing BESSIE BARRISCALE

"Democracy" Opens Tonight
"Democracy," or the Vision Restored" opens tonight at the Casino theater. This is the picture which was directed by William Nigh and written by Lee Francis Lybarger.

Catalogue Completed by Community
Community M. P. Bureau has completed bringing its card catalogue of films up to date. It has been keeping a complete record of all films since 1915. It now has complete information on about 3,200 pictures. Any film can be found if the maker's name is given, the star, the brand, the title or even the general subject.

Seitz' Producing Unit Returns
George B. Seitz and his producing unit have arrived from Spain, where he took scenes for "Rogues and Romances."

In the company were June Caprice, Marguerite Courtot, Harry Semels, Frank Redman, William P. Sullivan and Harry Wood.

Reviewing Songs for Ray Film
With the presentation by Arthur S. Kane of Charles Raln in "45 Minutes from Broadway," the old song hits of the Cohen classic are to be revived.

Maurice Richmond, Inc., is preparing for general circulation a special edition of "So Long Mary" and "Mary's a GrandOld Name," while in many theaters where the picture is shown "I want to Be a Popular Millionaire" and the song, "45 Minutes from Broadway," also will be sung.

Rapf Denies Rumor
Harry Rapf, supervisor of Selznick productions during the absence of Myron Selznick, denies the published statement that he has been engaged by the George Baker Film Co. to supervise a production being made with Vera Gordon as star. The production in question is now being made by the Chatham Picture Corp. at the Selznick Fort Lee studio.

It is understood that in the arrangement Selznick agreed to transfer the services of Director Henry Kolker to Chatham. Selznick also agreed to allow Rapf to supervise the making of the feature.

Seeks More Theaters
F. P.-L. Californian Subsidiary Understood to Have Extensive Plans Under Way
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
San Francisco—With the actual passing into the hands of the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. of California of the Imperial, California, Portola, Granada, Coliseum and Lincoln theaters comes the well-founded report that the corporation has plans under way for the taking over and building of additional theaters in this state.

The report further has it that the performances in the local theaters and the new ones planned will be standardized and musical productions shown in conjunction with the films. In this connection, as noted, preparing a number of vaudeville acts Jack Partington is understood to be to be shown in the theaters.

The president of the new corporation is Herbert L. Rothchild, Herman Webber will be associated with him. Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky, president and vice-president of Famous Players-Lasky, are directors.

The home office has given the California a 20-year franchise for Paramount productions.

Transfers representing $12,000,000 have been made to the new company by the Market St. Realty Co., owning the California; the Imperial Theater Co., the Popular Amusement Co., owner of the Portola; the Granada Theater Co. and the Coliseum Theser Co.

The Coliseum, managed by Samuel P. L. MFG. Co., 1600 Broadway, New York City.

THE STEALERS ARE COMING

Baker Elected
St. Louis—Sidney Baker, of the 1st National, was elected president of the St. Louis Film Board of Trade, succeeding E. W. Dustin.

Barney Fegan, of the Standard Film Exchange, was elected vice-president and Tom Leonard secretary and treasurer.

Winnipeg—Arthur Larente has been placed in charge of the Specialty Film Export Ltd., exchange.

H. Levin, is being enlarged to a seating capacity of 3,000. It is at Clement St. and Ninth Ave.

No one could be reached at Famous Players for comment on the above dispatch.

Have Babe Ruth Picture
The C. B. C. Sales Corp. has reeler in which "Babe" Ruth, home run hitter of the Yankees, is shown performing his pet spec. It is called "Over the Fence," ready for release.

Fred Schoefer
(Vitagraph)
Continuity & Titles

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit
Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO. INC. 1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
Scenic Stories
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made "His Married Life" "Bringing Up Father" etc.
Special Pictures Corp

Producers!

Make your pictures at
UNIVERSAL CITY
Near Hollywood and Los Angeles

AN entire city dedicated to the production of motion pictures, housing one plant the most complete all-around equipment necessary for the production of perfect photoplays.

Area—nearly 500 acres of land, situated between the Hollywood and the Sierra Madre Mountains, with a splendid variety of beautiful natural scenery; lake, mountains, and plains.

Six covered stages over 1000 feet long and 50 to 100 feet wide, the greatest covered stage area of any studio in the world.

Complete electrical equipment securing all modern effects.

Large stocks of furniture, wardrobe, and props, at the disposal of tenants.

Permanent streets of New York, Arizona, Mexico, Paris, Constantinople, Tokyo, Canada, Spain and Colonial Style.

A regular theatre with fully equipped stage.

Our studio is constantly used by the largest producers. During the last year the following have used and are still using our facilities:

Apply to Leasing Department at Universal City, California, or UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO., 1600 Broadway, New York City.

Tuesday, August 24,
Refute Black

Guth National Answers His Charges
-Patterson Also Issues Denials
on Chicago Meeting

First National through J. D. Wilson yesterday issued a statement denying the charges made by S. Black of New England with regard to the activities of Nathan Gordon and First National in England as well as the charges made by Black in his statement published last night. Willard C. Patterson, of the Columbia, Atlanta, who called the Chicago meeting of exhibitors earlier in the week in association with a representative of D'S DAILY in Atlanta yesterday, said Black's accusation that there was a connection between First National and itself in calling the Chicago meeting is a lie. He prepared to go before any body of exhibitors or producers at any minute and prove conclusively that Black's accusation is base and malicious.

Moreover, I will furnish indisputable and conclusive evidence as to who financed the Chicago trip. Since I refused to file with Black at Cleveland that I was a grafter, Black went on to say that I am a liar and me has been antagonistic.

First National Statement Follows:

There are only two or three points in the statement by Mr. Alfred S. Vick of Boston, which appeared in D'S DAILY last week, that do not appear to be digested by a reply from First National Pictures. (Continued on Page 2)

Due on the Olympic

The Olympic, which is due here morning from Europe, has had its run here extended yesterday and theater resumed showings with orchestral shows.

The settlement was made in accordance with terms outlined by Willard C. Patterson, who represented the exhibitors in the strike.

Three weeks ago when Patterson sued to meet the demands of the exhibitors more than the orchestra walked out, independent producers, had made a temporary adjournment of the rival of a representative of the national organization here a settlement was affected.

Equity Suits Dropped

Garrison's Legal Literature Comes to an End in Supreme Court

Two suits involving the Equity Pictures Corp. were ended on Monday when on the application of the attorneys for both parties Supreme Court Justice Burr dismissed the suit of the Fine Arts Film Corp. against Equity for breach of an agreement. (Continued on Page 4)

Hodkinson Gets New Feature

"The Kentucky Colonel," by Opie Read, is to be released by the W. W. Hodkinson Corp., in September. The production was made by National Film Corp.

Disclaims Any Interference

Mildred Harris Chaplin yesterday denied the report that she was seeking to restrain Charlie Chaplin from selling "The Kid."

"I have no personal interest in Mr. Chaplin's productions, and anyhow he is under contract to deliver eight of them to First National," she said.

Convention Over

Percentage Bookings Opposed—Many Resolutions Passed

(By Long Distance 'Phone)

Atlantic City—The convention came to a close last night with a beach party and clam bake. During the morning there was another business session after which it was stated that the amount collected was at least twice as much as was demanded from Eastern Penn., for the treasury.

Sydney Cohen in an address stated that the national body expected Adolph Zukor to make good his pledges and expected him to have Alfred Black meet the committee. If Zukor fails the organization will take care of the matter, said Cohen. He (Continued on Page 3)

Burton Holmes Returns

Burton Holmes and his chief cameraman, Herford T. Cowling, have returned from the Near East. Cowling, who has been traveling for 14 months, shot a total of 200,000 feet while away.

Kendall at Helm?

Reported He Will Become President of Goldwyn, Replacing Samuel Goldwyn

It is understood that Messrs. Kendall of the Capitol Theater will in all likelihood become the executive head of Goldwyn.

Samuel Goldwyn is expected to make known officially his resignation from the presidency of the company within the next few weeks.

It is understood that Mr. Goldwyn practically stepped from office at a meeting of the board of directors last Friday in New York. While no definite information is at hand as to the reason for the change, it is believed that it is due to the inability of the organization to work in harmony with Goldwyn to satisfy the financial interests of the success of the enterprise.

Mr. Kendall was reached by phone and said that he was a member of the board of directors of Goldwyn and that there was no meeting last week. He further asked how there could be a new president when Goldwyn had not resigned.

A Goldwyn official made the same point, saying, "Goldwyn cannot afford to have the company flounder in the dark."

Pioneer Busy

Closes Deals With American Cinematograph Co., Warner Bros, and Park-Whitewode Prod.

Pioneer Film yesterday announced the closing of a number of important deals with American Cinematograph Co., Warner Bros, and Park-Whitewode Prod., which gives company a number of new productions for its exchanges. Pioneer has taken over the production of American Cinematograph, comprising 12 productions for the following territories: New York City and State, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska.
Refute Black

(Continued from Page 1)

"The first is his vague and extremely ambiguous reference to Mr. N. H. Lasky in his essay. He says, 'Mr. Lasky is the real Mr. Black.' But this becomes Black as the partner of Mr. Adolph Zukor in his New England theater enterprises to attack an interest in which he has more than a passing acquaintance..." (Continued on Page 4)

Kaufman Returns

Eugene Kaufman, who opened several offices for Inter-Ocean on the coast, has returned to New York.

Quotations

Last

Bid, Asked, Sale.

Famous Players... 70% 71% 72%
do pfd. ... 83 83 83

Loew's, Inc. 19% 20% 20%

D. W. Griffith ... ... 15

Goldwyn ... 9%

Triangle ... 7/16 7/16

Unit. Pict. Prod. ... ... 13%

World Film ... 9% 9% 9%
do 2nd pfd. ... 9%

"Democracy" Opens

"Democracy," the last night at the Casino theater. The picture deals with Bolshevism.

Every ounce of dynamic force and power that it is possible to put into a motion picture poster is put into a Ritchey poster.

"IDEAL STUDIOS" AVAILABLE
IMMEDIATE POSSESSION

Directly across 42nd Street Ferry

THE NEWEST AND MOST COMPLETELY EQUIPPED STUDIOS IN THE EAST!

ARTHUR H. JACOBS

145 WEST 45TH STREET

EXCLUSIVE AGENT

BRYANT 4783
At Broadway Theaters

Service De Luxe
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The Overland Limited which pulled out of Los Angeles on Sunday carried a number of high-priced messenger boys on it. Louis B. Mayer is aboard with a print of "The Woman in His House" for First National. Carter de Haven has with him a print of "Twin Beds" which he is taking to Arthur V. Johnson and Bert Adler a print of "The Sin of Martha Qued," Allan Dwan's last production for Mayflower.

Bert said before leaving that bringing prints East presented a legitimate excuse for transcontinental journeys.

Convention Over
(Continued from Page 1)

also stated that the M. P. T. O. was not allied even indirectly with the celluloid organization either of distributors or producers and was simply formed by exhibitors and for exhibitors.

The last resolution was a new one and the rest are practically the same as those adopted by other states.

At the ball Monday night Clara Kimball Young was crowned queen. Mildred Harris Chaplin and Anne Luther were also present. There was a tremendous mob fighting to get in the ball room.

At the close of the session Al Lichtman repeated the pleading made by Adolph Zukor regarding Famous Players' theater operations.

Jaffe Cohen and a number of others left yesterday afternoon for New York.

Among those present at the convention were Felix F. Feist of Goldwyn, Al Lichtman of Famous Players and Jules Mastbaum of the Stanley Co., Philadelphia.

DANNENBERG.

Van Ronkel May Open Exchange
Chicago.—It is reported that J. Van Ronkel, plans the opening of an independent exchange. He was formerly connected with Goldwyn.

Chicago.—M. Schwartz and J. G. Frackman have been added to the sales staff of Unity, covering Illinois Territory.

Chicago—A new addition to the local Goldwyn sales force is Sam Sherman.

WANTED
1200 second hand veneer theatre chairs. Give details as to price wanted and location. Address Box B-7, care WID's

USED-FILM FOR SALE
Quantity Kalem Subjects for use in Foreign Countries only will be sold quick and cheap

C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Telephone Bryant 799

EFFICIENT, reputable, distributing motion picture organization will buy American or World's rights to pictures or will dispose of same for you. Will represent out-of-town or foreign concerns and permit use of its dignified offices to concerns represented by it.

Address F-23, care WID's

THREE LARGE OFFICES WITH VAULT SPACE FOR RENT
Use of Cutting Room—Terms Reasonable
Telephone: Bryant 1335, 3427 Ask for Mr. BARR
The Stealers Are Coming

Pioneer Busy

(Continued from Page 1)

The first three productions are ready. They are: "The Inner Voice," "His Brother's Keeper," and "Stolen Moments." Several other productions are now being discussed. The deal with Park-Whitides gives Pioneer three productions for the same territory as is included in the American Cinema deal. The production are a remake of "A Good Woman" and "Idle Hands." Gail Kane appears in all three.

By virtue of the Warner Bros deal, Pioneer will distribute "The Tiger Band," in New York City and State and in Northern New Jersey.

In some cases Pioneer has already been distributing a number of the above enumerated productions in certain territories.

Washington—The Pioneer Film Corp, has opened offices at 525 13th st., N. W. Edwin A. Sherwood is in charge as general manager.

To Show Paramount Films

Chicago—A contract has been entered into between Jones, Linek, and Schafer and Famous Players, whereby Paramount pictures will be shown pre-release at the Randolph and Orpheum exclusively.

Milwaukee—Walter F. Baumann has been appointed executive secretary of the Wisconsin Exhibitors Association.

It's not too late to get in on the Shekel-harvest

Refute Black

(Continued from Page 2)

same my personal attention. Hence, why talk with any committee?

"Exercising the right of a committee representing the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America to investigate him and his affiliations, Mr. Black in another paragraph states: 'Why do not the officers and this committee, the product of the Cleveland Convention, turn their attention to the greatest distributor-exhibitor combination in the United States—the First National—and especially to the activities of Mr. Nathan H. Gordon of Boston * * *'

"We should like to inquire of Mr. Black by what divine right or privilege he places himself in one sentence above the sordidness of a committee investigation, and in the next paragraph demands that a committee investigation be made of this exhibitor organization, and individuals prominent in it?"

"To us the only consoling phase of this entire matter is that without intention we are fortunate in selecting a rainy Saturday afternoon when ball gardens and carnivals are not attractive in which to read Mr. Black's statement and prepare the foregoing.

"ASSOCIATED FIRST NATIONAL PICTURES, INC.

"J. D. Williams, Manager"

To Show Jewish Films

All the rabbis of Greater New York, orthodox and reformed, have been invited to a special showing of motion pictures of the Jews in Poland, taken last July during the height of the Polish-Russian war.

The showing will be tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden concert hall. The films are exclusively Jewish, being confined entirely to the Jewish sections of the 12 largest cities of Poland and Galicia.

The Jewish Pictures Corp., Madison Square Garden is handling the films.

Pacini, Exhibitor, Shot

Kcnosha, Wis.—Charles Pacini, who has a strong following of motion pictures of the Jews in this territory was held up and shot recently, the bullet wound resulting in his death. Pacini attempted to resist the robbery, thereby suffering the fatal wound.

Sell Rights to "Common Level"

Chicago—The Unity Film Corp. has purchased the Illinois and Indiana rights to "A Common Level" featuring Edmund Breese and Claire Whitley.

Selig Buys Kettering Play

Chicago—Col. W. N. Selig has bought the film rights to Ralph T. Kettering's play, "Which One Shall I Marry?" for $15,000.

ENLARGEMENTS

of moving picture films, for stills and cuts. Also high class printing.

Twenty years experience in film laboratories.

W. J. Morat

302 E. 33rd St., N. Y. C.
Phone, Vanderbilt 7611

Equity Suits Dropped

(Continued from Page 1)

to finance and distribute Clara Kimball Young's photoplays and an action of Charles M. Davis and Herbert K. Somborn as directors of Equity against the corporation, Patrick A. Fowlers, Joseph L. Schenker and Emanuel H. Goldstein.

The latter suit was settled just before it came on for a hearing before Justice McCook. The plaintiffs alleged that the defendants were dissipating the funds of the corporation and asked for an injunction restraining the payment of salaries to the defendants, of $10,000 to Powers for an alleged loan, $5,000 to Billy West and of certain sums to the Joan Film Sales Co. They also asked that the defendants be restrained from making further contracts for the purchase of films. They stated that the assets of Equity amount to $600,000, which is the value of four Clara Kimball Young films. The suits are dropped without costs.

Robbers Were Overanxious

Chicago—When thieves set upon Frank Ward, manager of the Dearborn, they appropriated $34. They overlooked $600 in bills, taking only change. A valuable ring worn by Ward was also left in his possession.

Meeting Date Unchanged

Kansas City.—The contemplated changes in the date set for the convention of the Kansas State Exhibitors Association will not take place, the original dates, Sept. 27 and 28 being retained.

Offers Fans $1 for Review

Los Angeles—Florence Lawrence, dramatic critic of the Examiner, has offered fans $1 for every review of a photograph taken by her, with the hope of encouraging a careful analysis of pictures by the public.

Rice to Tour Illinois

Chicago—Harry Rice will tour the state for Universal in the interest of "The Devil's Paradise" and "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals."

Keller Made Representative

Amahla—W. E. Keller, formerly a salesman, has been appointed representative for Hodkinson, in full charge of the local office.

Mats, Electro's and Stereos

for the Motion Picture Trade

I. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304

The fastest stereotypes in

N. Y. C.
Answers Moore

ndall Says Talk of Nat'l Booking in Connection with 1st Nat'l is

News to Him

Harry M. Crandall of Washington, C. in a letter to the editor of

D'S DAILY, replies to the statements made by Tom Moore regarding the First National and the National King Co., which appeared in this lican on Aug. 17.

Mr. Crandall's letter follows:

I have read in your issue of Tues-

Aug. 17, the statement of Mr.

M. Moore about the First National franchise, which as you no doubt know I have purchased for this terry, and although I am not in the

it of combatting everything that be said against me, feel that I would have some space in your paper

ight this.

Most of this statement can read-

be recognized as a case of 'soar hes' but the main point for which ish to take issue with Mr. Moore regard to his statements conning the National Booking Com-

y.

I want to say for the benefit of energy that when I bought the ational franchise for Dela-

. Maryland and the District of umia, the National Booking

pany was not even mentioned to and has no connection whatever my First National franchise, nor been approached since about bine. Not could any-force any First National fran-

(Continued on Page 2)

Bryson Returning

James V. ("Jimmie") Bryson, who to Australia to get under way versal's exchange system there is ning to this country in the near

.

Frank J. Cotter until now Bryson's will have charge of the Un-

Australian organization with quarters in Sydney, while it is ected Bryson, upon his return will op an organization for Universal some other foreign field.

Clyde Cook Comedies

x Film has elevated Clyde Cook

dom and will release his two ers as Clyde Cook comedies.

ook, who has been in town for als days, left for California yesay. Two of his productions have completed and "Kiss Me Quick"

first, will be released immediately.

x will back the series with a oard campaign and special ex-ation.

Reach Agreement

Famous Players and Goldwyn Ap-ove Exhibitors' Ideas and Set-

le on Last Year's Contracts

Apparently all difficulty that may have existed between the Theater

ners' Chamber of Commerce, Fa-ous Players and Goldwyn has been eolved by the appointment of a mittee composed of Louis Blu-enthal and Leon Brecher to handle tlement of complaints on films

ed for delivery during the resent season but held for the ear by the two companies in ques-

ion. The plan of the committee been approved by both Famous and oldwyn.

When exhibitors have difficulty in ing out last year's contract with ome office the special committee be on hand to smooth things out.

The Theater Owners' Chamber of merce is endeavoring to reach some sort of an agreement with Hi-

Abrams of United Artists where-a guarantee of some sort backed by exhibitor organization will pantment of rentals more than ays in advance.

Louis Blumenthal, William Brandt

Leon Brecher had a conference with Abrams yesterday to dis-

s the matter, but no definite plan tained upon.

Mr. Abrams in commenting on the eting said that all he wanted was some protection from bad checks and some guarantee that his product be paid for by contracting par-

ies. Abonding plan is being considered.

German Films Impress Burkan

athan Burkan returned from Eu-pe yesterday impressed with the erman films he saw while in Berlin.

Mr. Burkan stated that for correctness in detail and massiveness of s he had never seen the like. He ated that in spectacles the Germans to mind led the world.

Exchange rates acted as a damper to an interchange of business, Burkan found. Because of the difference money rates he thought producers might find it cheaper to buy ipment on the other side and pay the duty demanded by customs and transmission.

250 Theaters Lined Up

Harry H. Buxbaum reports that

50 theaters are lined up in the local territory for Paramount Week,

pt. 5-11. "Bux" is after a total of 00.

Coast Brevities

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

James Morrison who recently completed work as leading man for Anita Stewart in "Sowing The Wind," has been engaged by Jesse D. Hampton for "When We Were Twenty One," now under production.

"The Orchid." Carmel Myers' new starring special, will be directed by Marcel de Sano, who has just been signed by Universal.

The Famous Players-Lasky Exchange has moved from the Marshall-Morgan Bldg. to their new quarters at 924-926 South Olive St.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne will be co-starred in a series of pictures and stage plays, to be produced in Los Angeles by Oliver Morosco.

Answers Moore

(Continued from Page 1)

chase holder into it, and those that went in probably knew just what they were doing.

"I can say nothing about the National Booking, as to whether it is a good or bad proposition, because it has never been outlined to me. I do not even know who is connected with it or what its purpose is, and I may never be approached on it, whether it be good or bad.

"Another paragraph that should be answered is the one about three men picking shows for the United States. Those three men are Mr. Harry Shwalbe of Philadelphia, Mr. Moe Mark of New York and Mr. Nathan Gordon of Boston. I for one am perfectly willing to abide by the judgment of these three men, as they represent not only some of the best houses in America, but they themselves are of a caliber that is straight and forward, and work at all times for the interests of the majority and this without selfish motives of their own. The business of picking pictures has been left to them for quite some time and every exhibitor in the business who is familiar with First National, knows that the pictures today are a vast improvement over the earlier First National product, which, according to Mr. Moore's statement, everybody had a finger in purchasing.

"If the three men are unable to judge pictures, as the statement might ask Mr. Moore how much he or any other exhibitor will have to say in regard to any picture that a producer may decide to make and put on the market.

"I must agree with Mr. Moore on one point—that the new plan of Associated First National is not so good for the original 26 members as it used to be. They are sacrificing much in the way of profits and time to divide with the other exhibitors of the country, and with this I do agree, with him that it is not so good. I must admit that it is more or less of a self-sacrifice and in no way has any selfish motives—and after all it is the only plan that can and will

Outlook Good

Arthur E. Rousseau, manager of the Pathe's foreign department, b. from Europe, feels enthusiastic about the conditions in Europe. Commenting on the situation he said:

"The renting situation in France which has been unsettled for so long, due to certain false rumors about the Pathe company, is gradually coming into its own and better conditions can be expected in the future. French producers are adopting the policy of fewer titles and can look forward to some very good French productions during the current season."

I don't think that there is any country in Europe where the motion picture business has developed so rapidly as in Belgium. Theaters popping up in the smallest communes and towns which could hardly exhibit theater before the war have two houses now. In Antwerp not less than four houses are occupied and houses are being built which in addition to the talkies existing first class theaters will secure a lively competition for pictures.

Two Universal Employees Killed

The Universal office stated yesterday that on Wednesday evening L. Joe Coffey, aged 23, and John N. Men, 19, both employees in the laboratory at Fort Lee, were killed in a result of an automobile accident on Union Hill. The two with others were returning from the Universal theater party at the Playhouse.

Each and every RITCHIE poster is an advertising masterpiece, a perfect ticket selling mechanism, hence, to the shrewd exhibitor, they are absolutely indispensable.

RITCHIE

LITHO. CORP.
406 West 31st St., N.Y., Phone Chelsea 8888

Thursday, August 26, 1920

Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>70½</td>
<td>71½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loeys, Inc.</td>
<td>20½</td>
<td>20½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn</td>
<td>9½</td>
<td>9½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>7/16</td>
<td>7/16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit. Pict. Prod.</td>
<td>19½</td>
<td>19½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>96</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do 2nd pld.</td>
<td>96</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Tarsish Starts Things

Arthur Tarsish, who recently joined the forces of Pioneer and who is handling the advertising and special publicity work for this concern, has started things moving. Many of the important dailies are carrying Pioneer stories which are being sent out by Tarsish.

Goldwyn Pictures

Sir:
The San Francisco Bulletin says: "The screen version of 'Madame X' relegates the legitimate production into a lower niche in the hall of dramatic achievements. Suffice to say, DON'T MISS IT."
Lynch Talks

(Continued from Page 1)

interesting phase of the exhibition business, which the Committee of 9 has been investigating Adolph Zukor, Lynch Alfred S. Black, occurred Sun-ground the Friday issue of DAILY when the state-...

Lynch Talks
(Continued from Page 3)
and Finklestein of Minneapolis. These are all First National censorship holders and seem to be secure in their position. Why the continued delay in giving exhibitors the real facts about Associated First National and the National Booking Co. The whole proposition looks just a little funny to me, and I think that in fairness to the exhibitors of this country the M. P. T. O. should go on record through the press and through bulletins, and put out the same amount of propaganda against the Associated First National as they have against others. What about it, Mr. Cohen?

"Because," stated Cohen, "we have not gotten to the Associated First National proposition yet. We are taking Zukor and his associates first because the resolution adopted at Cleveland specially refers to Famous Players and Zukor's activities in the theater-buying matter.

"Well," said Lynch, "you understand our position in the case do you not? And in the presence of Mr. Freeman and Mr. Millard I want to reiterate the statements that I have made. We must not have any further misunderstandings.

"Then there is only one thing left for me to do," said Cohen, "We look to Zukor to make good his pledge and agreement with our committee."

"That is a matter between Mr. Zukor and yourself," said Lynch. "But you cannot approach the Southern situation through Mr. Zukor or any one else, except through the Lynch organization. In our original contract with Famous Players-Lasky, it was agreed that we should have an additional territory equal to the south for the development of theaters. By agreement with Mr. Zukor this territory was specially withdrawn and, I believe that one of Mr. Zukor's reasons for wanting this was, was his desire to assist your organization in solving the problems presented to day. Mr. Zukor has been my friend for years and I hold him in the highest regard and esteem. I don't want you or the press, or the exhibitors to understand that there is anything but the very best of feeling between Mr. Zukor and myself. And I want to reiterate my statement that I do not believe Mr. Zukor made you any promises intended to bind the South in the agreement he made with you, on the other hand I do believe that he told you the South was under the control of the Lynch Enterprises and would have to be handled by it.

"You discussed the same lines, Lynch refusing always to discuss any particular situation with Cohen as long as Cohen understood that he had a right and would appeal to Mr. Zukor if such a situation was not adjusted.

"The meeting broke up about 11 o'clock. Lynch and his associates going on to New York on Monday, while Cohen remained in Atlantic City.

"It is understood that Cohen will make an effort to have another meeting with Mr. Zukor when he returns to New York.

Brehaney Leaves for Coast
J. A. Brehaney, manager of the Equity exchange in San Francisco, left for the coast today. He has been looking around for a few days.

Westward Bound
Clara Kimball Young and Harry Garson leave for California tomorrow.

"STORY WELL HANDLED EXCEPT IN CUTTING"

MR. J. D. WILLIAMS,
FIRST NATIONAL
Remember What WID's Said Last Sunday? Prevent This From Happening Again By Sending Your Productions To Us For Re-Editing, Titling And Cutting.

EDWARD ROSKAM
PERSONALLY SUPERVISING ALL PRODUCTIONS SUBMITTED
FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.
1457 BROADWAY, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 9500
Answers Black

P. T. O. Committee Hopes That It Will Furnish Data to Committee and Cooperate

Dr. S. Cohen of the P. T. O. Committee of 9 has answered Al-day's communication to the press in which Black said he did not appear before the Commiteet of 9, and then asked some interesting questions relative to the in-itations of that body.

Evidently other things Black wanted to know why the press was barred from the meeting between the Committee and Adolph Zukor. For the time since that interesting question was asked by WIDS DAILY reral weeks ago, the committee answers, declaring that it did not allow the press to be present.

Editor's Note: At the time of the editor's request that the committee not allow the press to be present, the committee first met Adolph Zukor and Zukor understood through the publicity arriment of Famous Players that Zukor was willing and desirous of having the press attend his meetings with the committee.

(Continued on Page 2)

Goldwyn Out

A meeting of the board of directors of Goldwyn Pictures today saw

Goldwyn, president, retire. Messmore Kendall, of the Capitol Theater, will be temporarily president. It is understood that Goldwyn has tendered the corrison of his five-year contract and has also disposed of his stock holding in the Goldwyn organization. The number of changes in the Goldwyn organization may be expected to be immediate.

Domination

Says J. D. Villains of First National:

"All this talk of domination of the industry by First Nat's is bunk. No one can control his industry. No one ever will. We will have our 3,000 sub-franchised theaters very soon, and then we will be the leaders. And what is 5,000 houses of the 15,000 in the country—just 20 per cent."

New Triangle Deal

Present Exchanges to Continue Distribution of Product

The present string of state right changes which by virtue of a deal with Hallmark secured the Triangle re-issues for distribution will continue to release these productions, by the terms of a new deal engineered between Triangle and Benjamin De Witt, receiver in the involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed against Hall-mark two weeks ago.

It is understood that by the deal

Percy L. Waters, president of Triangle Distributing Corp, is assured a regular sum each week by Receiver De Witt for his product.

$10 a Seat

Griffith Establishes Precedent for Premiere of "Way Down East"

D. W. Griffith has established a new high scale of prices for motion picture performances with the announcement that every seat in the 49th Street Theater on the night of Friday, Sept. 3 will be sold at $10 when "Way Down East" is shown for the first time. After the opening night the scale will be from 50 cents to $3.

The production is in 14 reels and is the result of almost a year's work on the part of Mr. Griffith. A special music score is being prepared.

Tom Terriss' Third Special

Vigatograph has purchased "The Heart of Maryland" which will be the third big Tom Terriss Prod, and will follow "Trumpet Island" and "Dead Men Tell No Tales."

Beaumont's Plans?

(From Wire to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—Harry Beaumont has purchased screen rights to several famous novels and rumor says he will shortly establish his own company.

Still in the Field

Famous Players Understood to Be in the Market for Productions Made by Outsiders

It is understood that contrary to what was believed a definite policy on buying pictures made by outside units, Famous Players-Lasky will take over for distribution worth-while features made by stars or directors not in the direct employ of the corporation.

It was generally understood some months ago that Famous would con-line its efforts for the new season entirely to pictures turned out by itself and others for the last year. But perhaps at least it is known that negotiations are on with a female star, now abroad, to appear on the Paramount program and that the only drawback to the final drawing up of contracts is whether Famous Players will produce her pictures or whether she will make pictures with her own company and have her contract with Famous already been formed and distribute them through Famous Players.

Contract Expire Sept. 6

The operators in Greater New York are under contract with theater owners until Sept. 6.

Nothing has yet been done about a new contract. When a union official was asked the status of the situation he answered in an evasive manner and said:

"Oh, I guess we'll reach a settlement all right."

Cody Breaks With R.C.

It is understood that Levi Cody's last picture for Robertson-Cole will be "Occasionally Yours," although his contract calls for four pictures.

Robertson-Cole stated that it retained the right to reject any Cody production and that with the third picture the series in all likelihood will be ended.

Curwood Here

James Oliver Curwood, head of the producing company bearing his name, is in New York.

Fordham Deal

A deal was closed on Wednesday between Charles Goldreyer and Gold-

& Knoble which practically gives these two concerns a joint working agreement with all the prominent elements in the business. Fordham and the Concours, University and Fordham and the other firm the United States and Valentine. It is understood that a considerable sum of money has passed on the deal, Goldreyer buying into the other firm, and vice versa.

Answers Black

(Continued from Page 1)

The activities of members of the First National, and the incident to which you allude in your letter to the trade press. The scope of the Committee’s activities is large enough and all the charges you make are wide of the mark.

We assure you that the Motion Picture Theater Owners’ National Association, as the representative of the independent exhibitor, will turn out to us with evidence which will warrant any belief that you have that we are not doing our best to protect the legitimate interests of the independent exhibitor. If you will furnish us with evidence which will warrant such a belief, we will immediately leave nothing undone to abate such a belief, or, if you like, to prove such a belief, which you know to be false in your statement.

If the reason satisfactory to yourself, you do not wish to appear before the Committee, we will send you the facts which we have in our possession. Our organization was formed to fight and check all unfair competition no matter from what source or quarter.

"Let us tell you in the plainest terms that the letters and affidavits directly or indirectly affiliated with First National, though attempts have been made to have it appear so, are the result of an investigation of certain phases in the development of the company, its organization, by which a small group of New Yorkers and others of New England relative to threats and promises. We are not over to these matters, and will not have anything to do with your Committee on that subject.

Press Barried at Zukor’s Request

"You ask, "Why did Mr. Cohen and his associates refuse to meet with Mr. Zukor?" Our answer is—this was done at the request of Mr. Adolph Zukor, President of First National. He stated that there were men who after hearing and reading some of the affidavits, were so greatly impressed by them that they were willing to make suggestions and lend aid to any investigation of franchise and booking plans. This, we believe, was a request to us to be under obligations to you for forwarding to it any facts which you may care to supply.

Our friendship for the independent exhibitor is more than a matter of fact, you will have nothing to fear from our committee which represents the interests of the Independents.

"Press Barried at Zukor’s Request"

You ask, "Why did Mr. Cohen and his associates refuse to meet with Mr. Zukor?" Our answer is—this was done at the request of Mr. Adolph Zukor, President of First National. He stated that there were men who after hearing and reading some of the affidavits, were so greatly impressed by them that they were willing to make suggestions and lend aid to any investigation of franchise and booking plans. This, we believe, was a request to us to be under obligations to you for forwarding to it any facts which you may care to supply.

Our friendship for the independent exhibitor is more than a matter of fact, you will have nothing to fear from our committee which represents the interests of the Independents.

The Dyal Corp, has leased the property at 176-180 E. 116th St., running through to 177 E. 115th St., for a period of 40 years for $450,000 a picture. A theater seat will be erected on this site at a cost of $250,000. A roof garden will be included.

The Moving Picture World says:

"As shown at the Capitoll Theatre, 'Stop Thief' was received with smiling faces, and it is booked in advance for a pleasant reception wherever exhibited."

Sirs:

The Moving Picture World says:

"As shown at the Capitoll Theatre, 'Stop Thief' was received with smiling faces, and it is booked in advance for a pleasant reception wherever exhibited."

Ginsberg on Tour

Henry Ginsberg, manager dom. sales department of Edwards leaves tomorrow for a swing around the circuit in which he will visit the exchanges except those represented by the conventions of Astor, Atlanta will be the first and he will then visit New Orleans and Dallas, where he will open his own negotiations. He will leave only the Denver and Salt Lake territories open, and these will be opened during the trip.

Jewish PicturesShown

The Jewish Pictures Corp. night sponsored a showing of religious films taken in Poland shot in the life of the Jews there.

The pictures were presented in Madison Square Concert hall where beginning tomorrow night they will be shown larly.

Ince-Hart Suit Heard

(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles: The accounting between William S. Hart and T. H. Ince growing out of a contract produce pictures in which Hart stard is being heard by Judge J. H. Hart sued Ince for $100,000, receiving, according to the contract, one-half of the profits from picture show to date received $630,000 and Ince $230,000 under this agreement the distributors being the Artex Co. of New York. Hart alleges he is $500,000 on hand and $2,000 to be received, and demands interest in this sum. Ince disposes his claim.

Ben F. McLouth, expert, who will over the books, has been examed by Attorneys Wetherhorn and Storough, representing Hart. He said he was a struggling and Inge Carpenter.

Bech, Van Sickle Sales

Alvin Wortham of Bech, Van Sickle, and Woodworth New York, India, Ceylon and Burma, "Trooper 44" for India, Ceylon Burm.

The workmanship of the Ritchey poster is as delicate as the workmanship of a fine watch, but nevertheless its strength is as the strength of a pile driver.

WID’S DAILY
Syndicate Forming
After Stage Experiment May Branch Out Into Filming of Noted Authors' Works

A syndicate is now in process of formation which, if its plans carry out, will branch out into the picture producing field with the rights to a number of works by Ibsen, Tolstoi and other famous old world authors.

The first stage in an experiment will be conducted with the opening of "An Enemy of the People," by Ibsen, at the Manhattan Opera House on Labor Day night. The play will later be taken to Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago for runs in an effort to sell the audiences on Ibsen's works. If the experiment proves successful, the play will be made into a picture in the spring and additional works of Ibsen as well as other authors will be picturized.

Kirkpatrick Back
Arthur S. Kirkpatrick of Robertson-Cole has returned from the coast. He is enthusiastic about "Kismet," actual shooting on which has been completed. The picture is now being cut.

Kidder in Town
Albert A. Kidder, Jr., assistant general manager of Charles Ray Prod., Inc., has arrived in New York to be in charge of the company's office here. He plans to consult with Arthur S. Kane, Ray's production head.

Ray Buys Post Story
Los Angeles—Charles Ray has purchased the rights of Charles Van Loan's Saturday Evening Post story, "Scrap Iron." It will be his next vehicle following "Nineteen and Phyllis," now under way.

Educational Has Ruth Film
Educational has taken over a single reel picture made by the Science Film Co. called "Babe Ruth, How He Knocks His Home Runs." Educational says the picture was made during an actual game between the Cleveland Indians and the Yankees, and that it is the only slow motion record of the great swatter made.

The picture has been booked over the entire Keith and Orpheum circuits. It will be shown the week of Sept. 3 at the Palace, New York, and the State Lake, Chicago.

Several Goldwyn Films Coming
Culver City, Cal.—Several Goldwyn films are either under way or ready to enter the process of production, some of which have just been completed. Victor Schertzinger is at work on "The Concert," while Mabel Normand has just finished "Plains of Heels." Frank Lloyd has just finished "The Great Lover," by Leo Ditrichstein and Frederick and Fanny Haton, an all-star production; Sydney Ainsworth is preparing to direct Tom Moore in "Canavan"; Will Rogers is going on "The Girls of Women," and Mason Lisston is shooting scenes for "A Jungle Interlude," the seventh of the Booth Tarkington "Edgar" comedies.

Quinn Wired This!
El Paso, Tex.—What do you mean, "All at Once," fourth column, first page, August 16th issue? We are still independent at El Paso Rialto, and getting more doggone independent every day.

JAMES C. QUINN.

The article Mr. Quinn refers to stated that the activities of the Lynch Enterprises in the Southwest had resulted in Tom Boland, Oklahoma City, and C. J. Musselman, of Paris, Texas, being the only independent exhibitors left who operated on a fairly large scale.

"Watty" Back
Watson R. Rothacker, "Watty" of Chicago, just back from Europe, says there are more active Americans in England and France than the residents. "There are sloughs of visitors," he said, "and anywhere you go you see an American. So far as business is concerned I expect to go back to London about the first of the year and start a laboratory in England. They need an up-to-date plant over there very much. I don't think France is ready for one yet. Producers are quite active in both England and France. The trip did me the world of good and I learned a lot."

Do you know—
? "GIRLS DON'T GAMBLE ANY MORE"
IMA POST GAMBLER

Every, big successful picture demands editorial perfection and what the exhibitors consider artistic EDITING and TITLING. Remember how all the various dramatic critics, editors and motion picture reviewers are roasting imperfect productions. Often a good or well directed story POORLY cut or TITLED kills a 100 per-cent production. At your service, always—morning—noon—and night.

Film Editing Department
FINE ARTS PICTURES, Inc.
1457 Broadway
New York City
Phone Bryant 9500

Samuel Hauser has taken over the projection rooms in the Godfrey Bldg.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Hollywood—Four leading players and 15 actors have shaved their heads in order to play Indian roles in Maurice Tourneur's initial Associated Producers subject "The Last of the Mohicans."

Clarke Horton, Frank Norcross, George Nichols and Lincoln Steedman have been cast for roles in "Nineteen and Phyllis," with Charles Ray.

Alice Duer Miller, the author of "Ladies Must Live," George Loane Tucker's Mayflower production to follow "The Miracle Man."

Harry Carey and his company, under the direction of Val Paul, have left for Jerome, Arizona to film a number of scenes for "West is West."

Erich Von Stroheim and his company have left Universal City for Santa Barbara on "location" for "Foolish Wives."

Reeves Eason, Universal director, who has just finished "Pink Tights," with Gladys Walton and Jack Perrin, has been loaned to Joe Brandt to produce two five-reel Western features starring Art Acord.

The first print of "A Light Woman," an American Film has been shipped to the New York offices.

"The Gamesters" will be released this fall by American Film Co.

Tod Browning and his company starring Priscilla Dean in, "Outside the Law," have left for Chicago.

Marshall Neilan's fourth production for First National, "Dinty," is now nearing completion.

A special presentation of Marshall Neilan's "Go and Get It," will be given before officers and men of the Submarine Base at San Pedro under command of Captain Chauncey S. Shafter.

Finn Fox is now writing a script for Charles Ray, having recently completed "The Second Latchkey" for Katherine MacDonald.

Victory Bateman has been cast for a part in "Cinderella's Twin," a Metro production, starring Viola Dana, under direction Dallas Fitzgerald.

"Man, Woman, Marriage," the Allen Holubar special, featuring Dorothy Phillips, will be made in stage play after the picture is completed, according to present plans.

May Allison and 12 members of the company working on "The Marriage of William Ashe," a Metro production, have returned to the studio after a location trip to Brent's Mountain Crags. Edward Slioman is directing.

Bill Hart is at Santa Ana on location.

Weiss Plans Third Company
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Chicago—Harry Weiss plans a third company. He already has the Superior Screen Service, Inc. Harry Weiss, Inc., and now plans the A. W. Enterprises. Just what the new company will do is undetermined.

Weiss has bought the property at 21-25 E. 7th St., on which he will erect a new structure to house his three companies and the local office of National Exchanges, Inc., in which he is interested.

He has just returned from New York where he bought for Illinois and Indiana "A Woman's Business, "The Daughter of Devil Dan, "Wings of Pride, "Tillie's Punctured Romance, "A Woman's Man, "Love's Protege" and a series of 12 Frazee comedies. These will be distributed through the Superior Screen Service.

Rencos Starts Production
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Las Angeles—"Lavender and Old Lace" by Myrtle Will is being produced by the Renco Film Co., with Lloyd Ingraham directing.

The Louis Mayer studio has been leased for this production, while Mayer's stars are in the East vacationing.

The Renco Film Co., as noted in WID'S DAILY of June 16, conducted a campaign for public stock selling. The company was chartered in Delaware and early March, with a capital of $1,000,000. H. J. Reynolds is president.

New String in Indiana
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Indianapolis—The United Exhibitors Prod. Co., has taken over the Lenwood Amusement Co., which operates four theaters here and six others in southern Indiana.

Fred B. Leonard is president of the new company.

New Theater for Gastonia, N. C.
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Gastonia, N. C.—J. White Ware, president of the Third National Bank and First Nat. Bank, has decided to erect a theater ready Jan. 1. The building and theater will cost about $100,000.

Pantages in Buffalo
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Buffalo—It is reported here that Alexander Pantages will erect a theater here in the downtown section.

Try New Style of Chairs
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Louisville—At the Rialto, owned by the Majestic Amuse. Co., a new type of chair is being tried out. Forty have been installed and patrons are asked to express their opinions of them. These are so arranged that they do away with crowding of elbows and make it unnecessary for those sitting to rise, to permit others to pass, being placed on stands so that they may revolve like swivel chairs.

Widen Street and Oust Exchange
Pittsburgh.—The First National Standard and Hatch exchanges have been obliged to move because of the widening of Ferry St. They will be located at 119-121 Ninth St.

Quality Takes Hallmark Office
Pittsburgh—The Hallmark office at 414 Penn. Ave., has been taken over by the Quality exchange.

Give More Space to Screen
Atlanta, Ga.—Atlanta newspapers are now giving more space to motion pictures than they have been giving the industry hitherto. A six page film was published by the Bulletin recently.

ENLARGEMENTS
of moving picture films, for stills and cuts. Also high class printing. Twenty years' experience in film laboratories.

C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 7361

THE STEALERS ARE COMING

Try New Style of Chairs
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Louisville—At the Rialto, owned by the Majestic Amuse. Co., a new type of chair is being tried out. Forty have been installed and patrons are asked to express their opinions of them. These are so arranged that they do away with crowding of elbows and make it unnecessary for those sitting to rise, to permit others to pass, being placed on stands so that they may revolve like swivel chairs.

Widen Street and Oust Exchange
Pittsburgh.—The First National Standard and Hatch exchanges have been obliged to move because of the widening of Ferry St. They will be located at 119-121 Ninth St.

Quality Takes Hallmark Office
Pittsburgh—The Hallmark office at 414 Penn. Ave., has been taken over by the Quality exchange.

Give More Space to Screen
Atlanta, Ga.—Atlanta newspapers are now giving more space to motion pictures than they have been giving the industry hitherto. A six page film was published by the Bulletin recently.

ENLARGEMENTS
of moving picture films, for stills and cuts. Also high class printing. Twenty years' experience in film laboratories.

W. J. Morat
302 E. 33rd St., N. Y. C.
Phone Vanderbilt 7361

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit
Available

All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Mon with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc.
Special Pictures Corp

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Mon with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc.
Special Pictures Corp

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Mon with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc.
Special Pictures Corp

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Mon with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc.
Special Pictures Corp
Quick Action

Powers Film Stockholders Call in Aid
District Attorney—Committee Formed
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Harrison, N. Y.—Evidence as to illegal practices employed in sell-stock of Powers Film Products, whose factory is at 250 Ridge-Ave., has been filed in the dis-attorney's office by a group of stockholders of the concern.

Under the direction of Frederick Armstrong, this city, at one time owned as chemist by the company, who is suing the company for $10,000 said to be due to him as back salary, and who claims have about $20,000 tied up in the affairs of the concern, some 270 of the stockholders have organized the Powers Stockholders' Protective Committee.

Mr. Hewitt is chairman, Fred-
J. Harrison, secretary, and
L. Brewer counsel.

It is said that one of the first steps filed by the committee, in lodging a complaint with district attorney, is to ask Su-
New York City Court Adolph J. Ro-eck to issue an order giving the stockholders authority to take over affairs of the company.

There are others, however, whom stockholders hold responsible Mr. Powers for the affairs of the company: Thomas E. Ronan, investment broker, 33 Wall St.

York; William H. Smith, of City, who is said to be vice-president of the company and at present manager of the factory; Don ell and Miss Anna Feinman, said
d to serve alternately as treas and James A. Byrne, who has served as secretary of the company.

A statement could be secured yesterday from Mr. Powers' office relating to this.

Powers Suing Hallmark
A. Powers is suing Hallmark to over $3,075.90. A judgment has filed to recover that amount.
A. Quinn's organization, the M.
Theatrical Cooperative Ass'n of World, is being sued by H. L.
born for $233.50.

The Goldwyn Situation

though there were a number of ences among directors and off-of Goldwyn Pictures yesterday there was no definite action taken rethe resignation of Samuel Goldwyn, nor was there a meeting of board of directors.

70 Percent Sold
Garson Disposes of Clara Young Franchises for Series of Five
Productions

Harry Garson Prod., as the new Garson-Clara Kimball Young producing unit will be called, have disposed of 70 per cent of the United States for a series of five Young
productions.

Garson, in addition to the Young series, will make several productions stories from Sada Cowan, who, as noted, is under contract to write stories direct for the screen.

Garson and Miss Young did not leave for the coast yesterday as expected. They leave tomorrow and will be accompanied as far as Chicago
by Harry Ficthenbach.

Levy Buys Story

Harry Levy has purchased the rights to "Uncle Sam of Freedom Ridge," by Margaret Prescott Montague, for the first of the Truth
studio.

Loew Profits

For 40-Week Period Reach $2,969,925
After Federal Taxes Are Deducted

The financial statement for Loew's, Inc., and affiliated companies for the period starting Sept. 1, 1919, and ending June 6, 1920, 40 weeks, shows that the profits are $2,969,925, with Federal taxes deducted.

Dawley With Fox

J. Searle Dawley, formerly director for Famous Players, is understood to have joined the Fox organization.
His first assignment is expected to be in the East. This cannot be confirmed yesterday.

"Forbidden Fruit" DeMille Title

"Forbidden Fruit" is the title deter-ned upon by Cecil B. DeMille for his new production for Paramount which he is now making at the Lasky
studio.

Plan a "Film City"

21-Acre Site Secured for Large Plant Talk of Accommodations for
35 Companies

What is designed to be one of the largest studios in the country is planned by a company, newly formed and called, the Independent Studios, Inc. The new organization has secured a 21-acre site which is said be about 20 minutes from Times Square. It is understood that the land is in Long Island City.

The company is headed by Walter
T. Griffin, former owner and general manager of Arctic City, at Fort Henry, N. Y., and John J. Livingston, the play broker. Edward M.
Biggs, who is connected with Brokowski Brothers, is treasurer of the new company. The board of directors includes the following:

Wm. J. Cullen, A. L. Judson, Wm.
Dewey Loncke, George C. Van Tuyl,
Jr., and Joseph Clement, formerly with the Biograph Co., and Maurice Tournier.

The present plans call for a plant which will accommodate 35 companies and will be designed, according to Livingston, to meet the needs of the independent producers. A number of permanent exterior sets will be erected.

Mayer Here

Louis B. Mayer and his family arived in town late Thursday night from California.

Deny Goldwyn—"Big 4" Deal

With reference to a report published by a vaudeville paper yesterday that Samuel Goldwyn would produce and distribute productions through United Artists, Hiram Abrams said he hadn't spoken to Goldwyn for two months.

Ike Van Ronkle Here

Ike Von Ronkle blew into town yesterday. Von Ronkle is Goldwyn's manager in Chicago.

"Twin Beds" Plays Oct. 18

"Twin Beds," with the De Havens starring, will play the Strand the week of Oct. 18.

Beaumont Contract Cancelled

A settlement has been reached between Harry Beaumont and Goldwyn whereby the former's contract was cancelled. The original agreement had some time to run.

Blackton Going Abroad

J. Stuart Blackton plans a trip abroad for his health shortly. The date has not been set.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID's DAILY)
Hollywood — The Independent Film Merit System of 5502 Santa Monica Blvd., is the name of a new company recently formed here. Win A. Howells, directing head. The organization is for the purpose of editing, cutting, titling, revising and leasing pictures for independent producers.

Eva Novak has completed her first short picture "Out of the Sunset," a story by George Rich, adapted by Phillip Hurn. Mr. Paton will direct.

Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last</th>
<th>Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>70%</td>
<td>70%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>9%</td>
<td>9%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn</td>
<td>20%</td>
<td>20%</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>16</td>
<td>16%</td>
<td>16%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's, Inc.</td>
<td>20%</td>
<td>20%</td>
<td>20%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit. Pict. Prod.</td>
<td>13%</td>
<td>13%</td>
<td>13%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>9%</td>
<td>9%</td>
<td>9%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Fine Arts Service Bureau
Fine Arts Service Bureau is the name given the department at Fine Arts Pictures which will specialize in the cutting and editing of pictures. Edward M. Roskan is in charge.

Coast We Are Experts
We modestly admit it—but it’s the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given our staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.

In the Courts
Albert Capellani filed suit in the Supreme Court against the International Film Service, Inc., for $15,000. The complaint alleges that on April 9, last year, the plaintiff was engaged by the defendant as a motion picture director for a year and on June 19 the plaintiff delivered a picture to the defendant on which $20,000 became due and only $3,000 has been paid. The contract provided that during the year the plaintiff was to direct four productions of from 6,000 to 9,000 feet each.

Supreme Court Justice Cagavan, who heard a suit of the Star Company against Vitagraph, Inc., to restrain the defendant from making films of J. Ruts Wallingford stories by George Randolph Chester and using any title to which the plaintiff claims to have the sole right, has decided to restrain the defendant from using the titles and names of J. Ruts Wallingford and Blackie Daw. The plaintiff was required to file a bond for $5,000 to secure the defendant against the trial of the suit results favorably to Vitagraph, and the bond was filed. The court refused to interfere with the defendant any further in producing plays based on the Wallingford and Daw characters.

Messmore Kendall Acts As Host
More than 25 principals and extras of the newest Kendall Prod. photodrama "Cardigan" from the pen of Robert W. Chambers, were taken to the palatial home of Mr. Kendall at Dobbs Ferry, New York by Direct- or John W. Noblit, where several scenes of the historic settings of the novel were staged. Mr. Kendall acted as host to the players, and saw them off at their comfort while guests on his estate.

Bridge With First Nationals
(Special to WID's DAILY)
Dallas, Tex. — F. M. Brockell, formerly with the Greater Stars Prod. Chicago, has been placed in charge of the local office for First National.

First National yesterday verified the above report.

Reuben Samuels, Inc.
201 Madison Ave.
New York City

Splic’、“Pictures Gets Studio
(Special to WID’s DAILY)
Los Angeles — Special Pict. Corp., has secured the old Fred A. Stone studio at 1329 Gordon St. The company until now has been using part of the Balboa plan: Long Beach.

One of the "Comicalites" reel is already being made at the new plant. Special pictures plans to be released weekly.

Metro Releases
Metro has scheduled for release following:

F. P. L. Releases

Indefinite Run for "Titie"
Chicago—Lubliner and Tringi have broken through the Superior Sr Service "Titie’s Punctured Romance" for an indefinite run at the Zieg theater, beginning Saturday. It later plays their entire string of theaters.

Tie-Ups for Special Ince Film
Los Angeles—Hunt Stromberg of the Ince organization is at work lining up "A Trip Through the World’s Greatest Motion Picture Studio" special three-reeler directed by and showing the inside workings of the Ince plant with a number of newspapers throughout the country.

We Are Experts
We modestly admit it—but it’s the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given our staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.

The RITCHIE poster will function as perfectly as a fertile seed will function, and its fruits are maximum box-office receipts.

RITCHIE
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 51st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8388

We Are Experts
We modestly admit it—but it’s the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given our staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.

We Are Experts
We modestly admit it—but it’s the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given our staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

From two sources exploitation has come to boost the popularity of "What's Your Hurry," starring Wallace Reid. The first organization to put itself behind the production is the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, composed of Automobile and truck manufacturing organizations throughout the country.

Al Reeves, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce and F. W. Fenn, of the Chamber's National Motor truck Committee attended a prelease showing of the picture. So enthusiastic were they that when the picture was released, Fenn issued an official bulletin from the executive offices to all members notifying them of the splendid lesson conveyed in "What's Your Hurry." "Go to the theater in your city showing Paramount pictures, find out when "What's Your Hurry" is being played, and then try to get as many people as possible to see it" his bulletin in part said.

This bulletin has been despatched to all truck manufacturing localities in the country and exhibitors located in such a vicinity can be assured of support by getting in touch with the manufacturing firm.

The second exploitation aid comes from the Mack International Truck Co., and is available to all exhibitors where the company has a branch or agent. Although it is carefully disguised as a Pakro, the truck used in "What's Your Hurry" is a Mack. Mack trucks are being used in every city where they are available in connection with the showing of "What's Your Hurry."

This angle will be featured by 250 Mack Truck dealers who have been instructed to co-operate with exchange managers of Famous Players. The tie-up will be advertised by 35,000 window posters which the Mack company has issued, carrying stills from the production. In addition the Mack house organ, with a circulation of 30,000 has given generous space to articles about the picture.

Birthcourt President

A. J. Bethancourt is president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Louisiana as a result of the two day meeting held in New Orleans recently.

L. Fearman of Morgan City is vice-president and Bern Kern of New Orleans, secretary.

Boston Globe Changes Hands

Boston-The Globe, owned by Marcus Loew, has been turned over to the Erlanger interests which will operate it as a legitimate theater.

WID'S 1920 YEAR BOOK

Rush Copy - Forms Now Closing
Cuts and Flashes

“One Week” Buster Keaton's first comedy for Metro will be released Sept. 1.

Harry Lee has been placed in charge of studio, casting and purchasing activities for Guy Empey Prod.

Ina Claire and company are out on Long Island securing locations for “Polly With A Past.”

Virginia Warwick, a Sennett bathing girl will appear in “The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse” for Metro.

Sheldon Lewis and Virginia Pearson are understood to have been placed under contract by Alex. A. Arons and George B. Seitz for the legitimate.

Casting and preliminary preparations for the Strand, a Magic, Life, were put under way this week at the Thos. H. Ince, studios. John G. Wray will direct.

Whitman Bennett has engaged Dorothy Farnum to write the continuity of Arnold Bennett’s “Great Adventure” for the Lionel Barrymore production. Miss Farnum is under contract to Joseph M. Schenck, who had given her permission to write for other companies during his absence in Europe.

Three Houses Book Tarzan Film

Cleveland, — “Tarzan's Revenge” played the Strand, Orpheum and knickerbocker last week, the first triple booking of the year here.

Have Repertoire Week

Atlanta.—A repertoire week was introduced by the Strand, a Lynne house, last week. Three Wallace Reid films were presented.

Aban’s, Baltimore, Has Fire

Baltimore.—A short circuit caused a fire in the projection booth at the Aban. The house was well filled, but the spectators were induced to file out calmly.

Albany May Avoid Strike

Albany.—In an effort to strike by the members of the Motion Picture Operators' Union, a conference has been arranged between the theater managers and representatives of the union.

The strike has been planned to take place on Labor Day.

There have already been two conferences on the subject when all efforts to settle the differences failed. The managers offered to pay the operators an increase in the wage scale of 40%, which would bring the salary to $23 per week, but the men feel that they should receive nothing less than $40 a week. They are now receiving an average of $25 a week.

The operators insist upon an increase of 60%.

P. Wooster has filed a judgment against Kelvin Film Corp. for $48.

30 Houses in Lesser String

Los Angeles—Sol Lesser, and Gore Bros., now control 30 theaters in Los Angeles and vicinity. Seven houses have been taken over in the last week. Most of them show pictures but several have combination vaudeville and film programs. Three theaters are under construction.

New Company Gets Feature

Los Angeles—“Neptune's Bride” has been purchased by the Western Pictures Exploitation Co., of which Irving Lesser is general manager. The company was recently formed, and no broke up the Arcadia took exploitation throughout the country. The film was purchased from the Ormsby Film Co.

Agree That Ruth Didn't Pose

In reply to the statement made by Babe Ruth, that he did not pose for a single reeler being sold by the C. E. C. Sales Corp. on the state right market, Joe Well, publicity representative, yesterday issued the following statement: "We did not intend to show Ruth posing. We do not know what sort of an actor he is, but know that he can play ball and that is what he is doing now."

Famous Players to Build

St. Louis, Mo.—A building at 207 North Broadway has been bought by the Famous Players Missouri Corp., which will convert it into a picture house. It will be called the Criterion and seat 900, being modeled after the New York Criterion.

Thieves Damage House

Baltimore, Md.—Although thieves who broke into the Arcadia took about $20 in cash, they maliciously caused a damage amounting to about $150.

Rosenbaum Gets Monopoly

Florence, Ala.—Louis Rosenbaum with the purchase of the Majestic controls every picture house in this city.

Crandall’s "Partners"

How Washington Exhibitor told His Publisher About His New Associated First National Franchise

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Washington—Harry M. Crandall has a number of new partners, and he told his Washington public all about it in advertisements that appeared in the newspapers here.

Crandall ran a number of signatures cuts of the various stars and producing units affiliated with First National and, after this line "They have signed with me" in display type, said:

"Henceforth the productions made by these famous stars and directors, when reproduced here from our contracts with them, will be controlled exclusively by the Crandall theaters.

These great artists are my partners now. They refused, finally, to sign their names to any contract with anyone with their earnings from films, put a minimum on the money they can spread to the best in motion pictures, or which would sacrifice their personal public, the dollars they were earned by big money cliques. They are independent producers—free agents in every way. You, as a theater patron, are their only dictators.

My enterprises are strictly a hometown business. I am a tax payer and a local booster. My theaters are independent, and because they are free from outside control these celebrated stars have joined hands with me.

Singly, and collectively, we are independent producers, with quality uppermost, determined to give you the best in entertainment.

"My membership franchise in Associated First National Pictures, Inc., gives exclusive control in Washington territory of future productions made by these stars to the Crandall theaters."

Sales on Roubert Series

Reelcraft has sold its series of the "Romances of Youth" featuring Maty Roubert to the following exchanges:

Peerless Film Co., Los Angeles; Dooley Exchanges, Syracuse and Buffalo; E. & H. Film Dist. Co., Atlanta, Electric Theater Supply Co., Philadelphia; Electric Theater Co., Washington D. C.; Equitable Film Co., Kansas City; R. D. Lewis Film Co., Dallas.

Postpone Erection of New House

Perth Amboy, N. J.—Samuel Kuhn and Charles Tenny, who had planned the erection of a new house which has postponed its erection because of the high cost of materials.

Change Name of Rochester House

Rochester—The Gordon, now the property of the Loew interests, will be known as Loew's Star. It will be completely remodeled and will play two run.
The SUPER MELODRAMA of the YEAR is

THE HOPE

IT'S AN ALL-THRILL PLAY with an ALL-STAR CAST

in the stage triumph by CECIL RALEIGH & HENRY HAMILTON. Directed by HERBERT BLACHE

MAXWELL KARGER, Director General

METRO

Jury Imperial Pictures Ltd., Exc. Dis.
Throughout at Best Six West Every Mon, Thur.
"box office receipts have been steadily growing"

THE GREAT
WILLIAM D. TAYLOR
SPECIAL FEATURE PRODUCTION
THE SOUL OF YOUTH
went over with a whoop in its premiere release at the RIVOLI in New York

And what Mr. Riesenfeld says about box office receipts will apply to every theatre that books this great REALART production
News of the Week in Headlines

Monday

New York public schools experimenting with films as mode of instruction.

Alfred S. Black's New England chain totals almost 70 theaters.

Exhibitors League of Eastern Penn., Southern N. J. and Delaware convenes at Atlantic City.

Tuesday

M. P. T. O. plans to eliminate star and director "stealing" in order to stabilize rentals, Cohen tells Atlantic City convention.

Famous Players seeks more theaters in California. Has six in 'Frisco.

North Carolina exhibitors hear about workings of Lynch organization. Situation improved there as result of meeting.

Pathe to distribute Tom Santschi two-reel westerns.

Wednesday

First National and Willard Patterson answer A. S. Black's charges regarding them.

Messmore Kendall to head Goldwyn. Samuel Goldwyn to retire.

Pioneer by three-cornered deal gets additional product.

Thursday

S. A. Lynch breaks off all conferences with M. P. T. O. regarding theater corporations in the South.

Famous Players and Goldwyn settle with Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce regarding last year's contracts.

Harry Crandall refutes Tom Moore's statements regarding 1st National and National Booking Co.

Special Pictures sign Ford Sterling.

Friday

Famous Players still after outside productions for distribution.

Samuel Goldwyn resigns as head of Goldwyn.

Independent exchanges to continue handling Triangle product. New deal arranged with Hallmark receiver.

Premiere of "Way Down East" calls for $10 seats.

Saturday

70 per cent of U. S. territory sold by Harry Garson on series of five new Clara Kimball Young productions.

Stockholders of Powers Film Products Co. seek aid of Rochester district attorney.

Independent Studios incorporated to build large studio near New York.

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.
Artistic and Splendidly Entertaining Spiritual Drama

Maurice Tourneur Production
"THE GREAT REDEEMER"

Metro

DIRECTOR ....................... Clarence Brown
AUTHOR ......................... H. H. Van Loan
SCENARIO BY ................ Jack Gilbert and Jules Furthman
CAMERAMAN .................... Charles J. Van Enger

AS A WHOLE ................. Artistically produced and splendidly entertaining spiritual drama of the west

STORY ........... Very well built and including original characters as well as different sort of a plot

DIRECTION ............ Generally highly commendable

PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Excellent

LIGHTINGS .................. Splendid

CAMERA WORK ............. Very good

LEADING PLAYERS ....... House Peters and Marjorie Daw give of their best

SUPPORT ............ Joseph Singleton and Jack MacDonald excellent in character parts

EXTERIORS .............. Fine western stuff

INTERIORS .......... Include some realistic jail scenes

DETAIL ......................... Good

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Imprisoned bandit works his own reformation by painting the Christ on the cross

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,700 feet

Here is another spiritual drama and yet something different from the other big pictures of recent date. Spiritual reform is encompassed in this instance through pictorial beauty. The principal character, a bandit and a bad man to the core, languishing in jail, makes use of his artistic ability and paints a figure of the Christ on the cross on the wall of his cell. So beautiful and overwhelming is the result of his efforts that he himself becomes a different man as does the hardened murderer in the opposite cell and the prison attendants.

The above is the outline of the big situation in "The Great Redeemer." It is a very beautiful thought in itself, and given an artistic finish typical of Maurice Tourneur in every respect, its beauty and spiritual quality will register in solemn and convincing fashion. The lighting of the scene is particularly fine and the acting of the principals involved does much to bring out the spiritual force of the idea.

The whole plot of "The Great Redeemer," while dealing with familiar characters, has the stamp of unconventionality, the situations are a bit different. Dan Malloy, is a holdup man, unable to reform for the love of the girl he loves. The Sheriff, his rival for the girl's affections, frames a holdup opportunity which Dan seizes with the result that he is sentenced to ten years in jail.

Then comes the working of the miracle. The blasphemous murderer in the opposite cell is the first to be affected by Dan's painting. Then he himself realizes what has happened and kneels before the life-like figure. And even the brutal guards thenceforth treat the prisoners with kindness. For his deed Dan is released. The girl has set out for the station to meet him but as she passes the sheriff's house he rushes out and makes her captive. A terrible storm rages. At length the girl makes her escape just as Dan alights from the train. In a moment of weakening belief Dan is ready to exact vengeance from the sheriff, but the heavens are rent with lightning that strikes the sheriff dead.

A Big Attraction That Should Appeal Widely

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

There is, to be sure, some question as to how every spiritual picture will be received. The introduction of a religious angle complicates the otherwise simple box office value of a production. With the case of "The Great Redeemer," however, it is altogether likely that all audiences will appreciate it—be thrilled by it. The reform worked in this instance is spiritual, not physical, and the means to the end are beautiful to the extreme.

The picture is high class in every respect, story, direction, acting. You have a strong attraction in the name of Maurice Tourneur who supervised the work and the mention of House Peters and Marjorie Daw, who play the principal roles should serve as a big attraction. H. H. Van Loan, the author, has a variety of pictures to his credit, but this is by all odds the greatest thing he has done. Use his name too. It will help.

If you attempt to play with the spiritual angle in your advertising use none but dignified words and phrases. The better course would be just to suggest a really "different" sort of a picture and let the spiritual part come as the surprise.
Distinctive Characterizations Rarely Treated Before Beautiful Backgrounds

D. W. Griffith's
"THE LOVE FLOWER"
United Artists

DIRECTOR .................. D. W. Griffith
AUTHOR ..................... Ralph Stock
SCENARIO BY ............... Griffith Scenario Dep't
CAMERAMAN ................ G. W. Bitzer
AS A WHOLE ............ Beautiful, poetic production—entertaining story

STORY ........ Relies largely on characterization for interest and Griffith has built this up realistically

DIRECTION .................. Excellent
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Splendid
LIGHTINGS .................. Excellent
CAMERA WORK ................ Excellent
LEADING PLAYERS .... Richard Barthelmess good here; Carol Dempster makes pretty and distinctively appealing heroine SUPPORT ........ George MacQuarrie and Anders Randolf most prominent EXTERIORS ........ Beautiful and unusual shots procured in the Bahamas
INTERIORS ........ Very few used DETAIL ........ One very obvious water back drop employed in closeups of hero

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Deals with girl's great love for her fugitive father and her romance with first young man in her life

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,500 feet

D. W. Griffith's latest production, "The Love Flower" is a very beautiful, even poetic picture, containing a story entertaining largely because of its various distinctive characterizations the outstanding one of which is developed in the heroine. Beautiful work is in scenic investiture, photographic and lighting effects and in its delightful shots of the clear southern ocean. The Bahamas provided the producer with a paradise of exteriors and he has brought them into play to the fullest advantage. At that they never overshadow the action save at the beginning, when a number of flashes are used to plant a distinctive atmosphere even before the plot is introduced.

And poetic the production is too. The characterization of the girl rendered by Carol Dempster is responsible for much of this. She is a veritable delight. Too delicate perhaps to acquit herself convincingly of the harsh ventures to which her role allots her in the latter part but at all times pretty, sweet, fragrant. Her characterization is unpolished but perhaps Griffith willed it so. It is spontaneous, effective in its unusualness and realistic to the core. And the poetry of the characterization is rendered more beautiful by a handful of rare subtitles, written, for instance in this key: "Girlish dreams sighed into the pink ear of a rose beneath azure southern skies." Such a line accompanied by appropriate action is the next thing to transporting in effect.

The girl's father, a murderer, who would be exonerated on the grounds of the "unwritten law" has flown to a secluded island on the other side of the globe where he lives in comparative peace with her. The action introduces Bruce, a wealthy globe trotter, who meets the girl. She treats him coldly believing him an officer in search of her father, but alone, she conceives him as her dream lover. At length the real officer does come but the girl sinks Bruce's boat in which he made the trip to the island. The girl then, in her overwhelming love for her father, attempts fearfully to take the life of the intruding officer. Bruce learns of her attempts and admiration of her courage increases his love for her. How the officer is finally fooled into believing the father dead and how the lovers find perfect happiness makes a pretty finish on a sequence in which a strong element of suspense is dominant.

Fits in the Same Class As Griffith's Last One

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

For making a picture hold through the sheer beauty of characterization and scenic investiture and the coupling of the two together, D. W. Griffith certainly has no superiors. It is this course that he seems to have followed with the case of his latter pictures and "The Love Flower" proves no exception to the rule.

"There may be those whose idea of pictorial entertainment differs with the Griffith idea. These who hanker for action, action, action, will have to search elsewhere for their entertainment than in "The Love Flower." On the other hand there is a large audience ever ready and eager to appreciate the poetic beauty and realistic drama that Griffith imparts to his pictures. Before such audiences "The Love Flower" will register to the fullness of all its rare beauty and charm.
Rather Poor Treatment Accarded Very Good Comedy Idea

Madge Kennedy in
"THE TRUTH"
Goldwyn

DIRECTOR .................... Lawrence Windom
AUTHOR ...................... Clyde Fitch
SCENARIO BY .................. A. F. Statter
CAMERAMAN .................. J. Roy Hunt

AS A WHOLE ........ Partly humorous in intent and party serious; fails to register with much vitality one way or the other

STORY ........ Seems it should have been treated as a farce to register it effectively DIRECTION ........ Fair; the laughs aren't many and the suspense is a minor quality

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ..................... Good
CAMERA WORK .................. Good

STAR ........ Very good at times but seems quite repressed

SUPPORT ........ Good comedy between Zelda Sears and Frank Doane

EXTERIORS .................... Satisfactory
INTERIORS ..................... Commendable
DETAIL ......................... Good

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Dealing with the trouble a young wife brings on herself by telling fibs

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,977 feet

In whatever key "The Truth" was played upon the stage, it seems obvious that it should have been turned into a picture farce. It has all the basic material of such a type of entertainment and in appreciative hands might have developed into a very fine picture. In the present case they have produced in a tone that seems very dull. Partly humorous in intent its humor never becomes vital because there is a tendency every now and then to hold the incidents with a serious rein. Both ends have been played against the middle with the usual results.

The story has as its central character, Beck Warder, a young married lady, who simply can't tell the truth, even when such a course would work her no embarassment. Fib follows fib until she finds herself in a compromising position with a friend's husband. Her own husband tries to believe in her but at length the disclosure of how a dozen of her fibs comes as a blow that he is unable to bear. He denounces her and she leaves to visit her father.

The father is something of a fibber himself and eager for a reconciliation to take place, inasmuch as he receives a regular remittance from Warder. So he sends a telegram to his daughter's husband saying that she is seriously ill. Warder makes all haste to her side and then discovers, partially through Becky's confession, that the illness was a hoax. But both he and Becky realize that her fibbing days are over and a reconciliation takes place.

Madge Kennedy is skillful in facial situations, but herein she appears to be repressed. Her usual sparkling personality is handicapped by the evident desire of the director to make his work serious. Probably the scenes which amuse most are those which take place between Becky's father and his amorous old housekeeper. These are handled in a spirit of rather broad comedy, which registers very well. Robert Deane as the father and Zelda Sears as the housekeeper are both very good.

Tom Carrigan appears as Warder while Helene Greene and Kenneth Hill play the other married couple. Horace Haine appears as a butler.

This Should Draw Well—Will Give Moderate Satisfaction

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

While this picture certainly isn't all it should be, it is probable that you can make a go of it if you've got to have a picture to fill some open date. There are times when the humorous possibilities crop out and despite the rather monotonous level which the entire picture rests on, there are moments when the laughs come easy.

With the admirers of Madge Kennedy the picture ought to go to even better advantage, inasmuch as she is prominent throughout the action.

In advertising this you have a good name in Clyde Fitch, the playwright, on whose work this is based. And the story gives you very good opportunities for bright and attractive advertising. You should be able to get a good bit of appeal in the advertisements by dwelling on the "white lie" or fib idea, inasmuch as this manner of evading issues is one of the commonest faults in the world. Arguments conceived about this idea will certainly hit home and should serve to bring the crowds in.

The ultimate impression left by the picture is satisfactory inasmuch as the moral is good. The lack of vital action is a considerable drawback, but one which the other favorable issues involved in the production may be able to overcome.
The First Ten

Pauline Frederick
in a dramatic masterpiece from the play "Iris" by Arthur Wing Pinero

Dustin Farnum
in "Big Happiness" by Pan

Lew Cody
in "Occasionally Yours"

Mae Marsh
in "The Girl Who Lived in the Woods" by Marjorie Benton Cooke, directed by Adolphi

Otis Skinner
in "Kismet" directed by Gasnier

Sessue Hayakawa
in "The First Born"

William Christy Cabanne's powerful production of his own story
"So Long Letty" with a remarkable cast

A. E. Christie Production

All Star Haworth Special
"The Beach of Dreams"

Arsene Lupin Production "813" with Wedgwood Howell
BESSIE BARRISCALE in "LIFE'S TWIST"

A Romance which leads love from Society to the Slums...

THE maid with money, the girl from the gutter, and the man of aristocratic name—all struggling in the web of Fate. — The threads of this story, touching all grades of men and women, make the production's appeal as varied as the whole scale of human emotion.—In terms of exhibitor interest, this means that the audiences attracted will be broad as humanity, and the financial yield in proportion.
THE STEALERS are coming
William Fox Presents

WILLIAM FARNUM

in

If I Were King

From the great Stage Success and Novel by Justin Huntly McCarthy

SCENARIO BY E. LLOYD SHELDON
DIRECTED BY J. GORDON EDWARDS
A superb Fox production from a world—renowned story, with Farnum, the famous, as its star.

The Author's Tribute to the Production and Its Star

3, Inverness Mansions,
Moscow Road, Bayswater, W. 2, London.

Mr. William Fox:

Dear Sir:

I witnessed the Fox Film Company's presentation of my story "If I Were King" with a keen interest, which soon became a warm approval that ended in cordial admiration. The tale has been retold vividly and brilliantly in the terms of the new art. The characterization is excellent, the setting remarkable for its beauty, and the handling of the great crowds towards the close a marvel of effect.

But the triumph of the film was William Farnum's interpretation of the part of Francois Villon. Humor, poetry, rascality, gallantry, valor, passion, tragedy, played in their turn upon William Farnum's face, so eloquent in its wordless action that I could almost believe I was hearing William Farnum's voice.

JUSTIN HUNTLY McCARthy

*273

Fox Entertainments

During 1920-1921 there will be 273 releases by Fox Film Corporation.
now! now! now! now!

CARL LAEMMLE presents VON STROHEIM'S "The Devil's Passkey"
Universal-Jewel Production De Luxe

A Picture of Paris the Wicked and Paris the Wonderful Glittering, Dazzling Production Given Very Weak Story

George Fitzmaurice Production
"THE RIGHT TO LOVE"
with Mae Murray and David Powell
Paramount

DIRECTOR .................. George Fitzmaurice
AUTHORS ................ Pierre Frondaic and Claude Farrere
SCENARIO BY ............... Ouida Bergere
CAMERAMAN ................ Arthur Miller

AS A WHOLE ..... Lavish and sumptuous production gives spectacular value to inconsequential and rather far-fetched story STORY ...... Conventional and of small consequence; production values prove determining factor DIRECTION ...... Excellent from spectacular viewpoint, but players are permitted to walk through parts with but few exceptions

PHOTOGRAPHY ................. Excellent
LIGHTINGS ........................ Beautiful
CAMERA WORK .................. Very good
FEATURED PLAYERS .... Both of them handle opportunities adequately

SUPPORT ........................ Satisfactory
EXTERIORS .................. Beautiful; represent Bosporus river front
INTERIORS ..................... Extravagant
DETAIL .................. Generally good; some slips
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Has to do with terribly mistreated wife and reappearance of true lover

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... 6,661 feet

Superficially "The Right to Love" is gorgeous, tremendous. Beneath its surface of beautiful exteriors, interiors that beggar description, superb photography and lighting and wonderful fantastic effects, is a story of very inconsequential and commonplace melodramatic value.

The plot concerns the terribly mistreated wife, Lady Falkland. Her husband not only establishes his mistress in quarters adjoining those of his wife's, but gives her power over Lady Falkland in the household, mistreats his little son and cruelly maltreats his wife in every way.

The action takes place near Constantinople along the Bosporus river front. One night in a terrific storm Lady Falkland is surprised by a Russian prince, a guest of her husband's, who attacks her. Falkland discovers them together and forces his wife to sign a paper confessing to an infidelity of which she is not guilty.

As he is gloating over it Richard Loring, Lady Falkland's true admirer, enters and engages him in a fight. Falkland falls dead and Richard escapes. Though the Turkish police chief realizes his guilt, Richard is his best friend, and, taking into consideration all circumstances he absolves him of the blame, fastening it on a murderer escaped from jail.

Fitzmaurice appeals to the eye but hardly to the head or heart in this. He seldom permits his players to show their ability—the usual course of the action being the mere parading of characters through gorgeous settings. Miss Murray's scene of frenzied despair, bordering on hysteria, subsequent to the signing of the false confession being the one big scene where a character's mental processes are revealed.

The director has also taken a number of rather forced opportunities to display Miss Murray's figure.

David Powell hasn't a great lot to do as Richard, but does the little well enough. Holmes Herbert represents the villainous Falkland. Alma Tell is the beautiful mistress in the case. Macey Herbert is the Russian prince while Frank Losee, giving the best performance, Marcia Harris and Lawrence Johnston complete the cast.

Extravagances of This Appeal to the Eye: Small Appeal to the Mind

If George Fitzmaurice had secured a better story for the gorgeous production he has provided here, a much better balanced picture would be the result. Under present conditions "The Right to Love" resembles a lady who has laden herself with jewels and forgotten to don her evening gown.

Probably the extravagant production values are going to influence many. In addition to the beautiful river front scenes, there is a pretty fantastical sequence showing the two principals as a princess and a knight, their romance interrupted by a prince (Falkland), from a neighboring kingdom who buys the princess with money.

This is very pretty and gorgeous. In fact so is the whole picture. And those audiences influenced by such glittering things will enjoy the picture thoroughly. The fact that plot and characterization is missing will only be sensed by the discriminating.
HERE is a picture which offers to the amusement-seeking public everything that they demand in screen entertainment.

A most enthralling story from the pen of the foremost novelist of the day has been made into a production through the genius of Benj B. Hampton that will live for a long time in the memory of everyone that sees it.

It is big, vital, engrossing! It is LIFE. And it probes every corner of the human heart and delves into every strata of society.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PMIEE Exchange, Incorporated
Foreign distributor, J. FRANK BROCKLISS
Partial Indictment of Modern Economic System in Fairly Well Handled Picture

“DEMOCRACY, THE VISION RESTORED”
Democracy Photoplay Co.—State Rights
DIRECTOR .................. William Nigh
AUTHOR ......................Nina Wilcox Putnam
SCENARIO BY ............. Lee Francis Lybarger
CAMERAMAN ................ Not credited

AS A WHOLE....... Partial indictment of modern economic system—effective, though details of production are not skillfully handled.

STORY....... Is interesting and appealing and delivers its message of “cooperation” effectively.

DIRECTION ... Satisfactory excepting details—continuity of action bad in spots.

PHOTOGRAPHY...... Generally good; some only fair.

LIGHTINGS .................. Acceptable
CAMERA WORK ............ Satisfactory
LEADING PLAYERS....... J. H. Gilmore, William Nigh and Leslie Austin do most of the work and are satisfactory.

SUPPORT ......................... Good
EXTERIORS .................... Satisfactory
INTERIORS .................... Very good

DETAIL............. Story detail quite poor at times

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Delivers the idea that love and not force should be pre-eminent

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,000 feet

This picture is a partial indictment of the modern social system. It opens with a rather interesting discussion between Fortune, an old autocrat and tyrant, and his two grandsons, one of which follows in his footsteps, the other being declared a dreamer. His attack of capitalism contains some of the arguments of socialism. The three argue economics, politics, social conditions, etc. It must be confessed that Fortune is rather childish for a powerful capitalist in his various arguments, but doubtless this obviousness was necessary for dramatic effect.

David, the first grandson, elects to remain with his grandfather. John, the other, goes to the war, firm in the opinion that military autocracy must be overthrown. He returns to find David established in his grandfather’s shoes and a miserable autocrat in every sense of the word. Again it seems as if David were a bit too obvious in his remarks to be a success. The profiteer may think the way David speaks, but he usually has sense enough to hold his tongue.

John opens David’s eyes to the futility of force. He says in effect that his six months in the trenches have shown him the absolute futility of war. Nevertheless, he proceeds to attack and beat David for stealing his wife. David, however, has learned his lesson and is the means of John’s reunion with his wife. His own eyes are opened as are also the eyes of everyone else in the cast. The final message is that cooperation and brotherly love should rule the world instead of force.

The objective started for in the first reels is hardly attained in the conclusion. It seems lost in the shadow of compromise. However, the moral is certainly effective. The getting together of capital and labor is right in line with what should be—a Utopia.

The continuity of the picture is not of the best. There are several jumps and it seems there has been a little difficulty blending the conversational parts of the story and the dramatic sections. However, there are many sequences that provide real thrills. And the popular note the picture strikes should carry it over.

The cast is headed by William Nigh as David, J. H. Gilmore as Fortune and Leslie Austin as John, the trio performing adequately. Maurine Powers gives a pretty picture of David’s wife, while others are Hal Brown, Albert Traversier, Franklin Hanna, Charles Sutton and Elsie DeWolfe.

Mixes Drama and Propaganda—Fine Exploitation Possibilities
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This isn’t straight entertainment. It is a mixture of entertainment and propaganda, but the blend is far better than that seen in the usual picture of this type.

Considering the fact that the mass public of this country, and for that matter of the whole world, is heartily sick of war, the message preached here should certainly strike a responsive chord in all picture audiences. There is a minority still living off the hate generated by the war who will doubtless be outspoken against the picture.

These things considered, it is likely that “Democracy” should go well in most houses. The theaters that play just high-class dramatic and comedy attractions will probably sidetrack it inasmuch as the propaganda will be considered out of place. On the other hand, as a box office attraction with appealing exploitation possibilities it ranks very high.
THE BIG PICTURE OF THE YEAR

TRUMPET ISLAND

WALLACE MACDONALD,

"TRUMPET ISLAND"

Coming:
"Are all men alike?" Metro—May Allison
"Cinderella's Twin" Metro—Viola Dana

VITAGRAPH.
Production of the Best Thing in Average Blackmail Story

Corinne Griffith in
"THE WHISPER MARKET"
Vitagraph

DIRECTOR .................. George L. Sargent
AUTHOR .................... W. E. Scott
SCENARIO BY ............... Graham Baker
CAMERAMAN ................ Charles Davis
AS A WHOLE ............... Blackmail story running along conventional lines

STORY ........ Includes little that has not been done in pictures before DIRECTION ........ Did fairly well with material at hand

PHOTOGRAPHY ............. Up to the mark
LIGHTINGS ................ Good
CAMERA WORK ............. Always fine
STAR ......................... Is quite attractive throughout SUPPORT ................... George MacQuarrie registers well as sort of semi-heavy; Eulalie Jensen, Howard Truesdale, George Howard in male lead and James O'Neil hold down characters well enough

EXTERIORS ................. Scarcely any INTERIORS ................. Splendid; Always look genuine
DETAIL ..................... Little things were kept in mind

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Smugglers in Brazil attempt to blackmail consul's wife that they may further their plans

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 4,713 feet

There is little that is really out of the ordinary included in this offering, it being a blackmail story of average quality. The general scheme of the production and the different incidents are in most cases quite familiar, the one unusual twist coming at the conclusion when the innocent heroine is in the villain's hotel suite, with her husband ready to search the premises for contraband.

The sets, atmosphere and technical end are indeed creditable. Great pains apparently have been taken with the sets, with the result that all of the interiors, which makes up almost the entire footage, look realistic.

There is one point that seems rather implausible, that being the escape of the star with what she believes is an envelope that contains the staged evidence as to her disloyalty to her husband. Her entry into the smugglers' home, seizing of the envelope and escape look like the sort of material usually credited with being likely to occur in pictures only.

Juliet and George Saltmarsh, ex-blackmailers and smugglers have secured passports, but their co-worker, Burke, cannot leave Brazil due to the suspicions of the American consul. It is planned to have Mrs. Saltmarsh cultivate the friendship of Erminie North, the consul's wife ultimately to aid Burke's leaving. This is successfully accomplished and at a party which Mrs. North attends, unknown to her husband and against his wishes, a flashlight of her is taken as Burke embraces her.

In her efforts to regain the photograph, she is led to Burke's hotel suite, which is searched by the consul and a secret service agent just as the time of her visit. Erminie secures the evidence when her husband suddenly knocks at the door and is locked in another room as he enters. At this moment, Burke develops a manly nature and offers to sacrifice the desired contraband if the room in which the star hides be left unsearched.

The offer being accepted, the heroine throws the blame upon the Saltmarshes, and facilitates the sailing of Burke. MacQuarrie holds down the role of Burke in good style, while the star is always pretty to look upon. The others also perform creditably.

Let This Ride Without Elaboration

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

In this story of blackmail, you have little cause for elaboration in an exploitation campaign. The most advisable procedure is to let it ride with an announcement that will let them know in a general way what sort of an offering it is and then let them use their discretion.

You should be able to select some catchy slogan from the material included. Tell them that Corinne Griffith was about to be sacrificed on the whisper market—an innocent victim of circumstance and then promise them something unusual in the way of her emerging from the mess.

Corinne Griffith should be all means come in for her share of the publicity you give this and it might be a good idea to let them know the names of some of the members of the cast with whose work many of the fans will be familiar. A teaser campaign would probably work out well in conjunction with this.
A STATEMENT OF POLICY

Every industrial success in the world is built upon one cardinal principle—GOOD PICTURES AND FAIR PRICES.

THE AMERICAN CINEMA CORPORATION is now entering its third year of existence. The past twelve months has brought to this company a recognition by fans, exhibitors, distributors and the press—a recognition which has been won through a sincere and painstaking effort on the part of the executives of this company to supply good products and to deal fairly.

During the coming year, ten more “Super-Specials” will be produced by us. The many first class distributors mentioned on the opposite page have purchased the franchises in their respective territories for our entire series, because they have become convinced that our products are big and our policy is right.

“THE INNER VOICE,” “WOMEN MEN FORGET” and other big pictures made by us in the past year have been unqualifiedly approved by the American picture loving public. We look forward to their further approval and patronage with the utmost confidence.

AMERICAN CINEMA CORPORATION,
Walter Niebuhr, President,
411 Fifth Avenue, New York.
MR. EXHIBITOR:

The following distributing companies hold franchises for the AMERICAN CINEMA SERIES—Communicate with the distributor in your territory at once and let him know you want these pictures.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
New York City.

Screen-Art Pictures, Inc.,

Pioneer Film Corp.,
Baltimore, Md.

Greater Stars Productions,
Chicago, Ill.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

Southeastern Picture Corp.,
Atlanta, Ga.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Co-Operative Film Exchange,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Arrow Film Corp.,
Denver, Colo.

Southeastern Picture Corp.,
New Orleans, La.

Eastern Feature Film Co.,
Boston, Mass.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
Washington, D. C.

Minter-United Amusement Co.,
Detroit, Mich.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Greater Stars Productions,
Milwaukee, Wis.

Equity Distributing Co.,
Seattle, Wash.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
St. Louis, Mo.

Co-Operative Film Exchange,
San Francisco, Calif.

Pioneer Film Corp.,
Omaha, Nebr.

Equity Distributing Co.,
Portland, Ore.

AMERICAN CINEMA CORPORATION,
Walter Niebuhr, President,
411 Fifth Avenue, New York.
Wierdly Fascinating Tale With Many Aspects of the Ghost Story

Maurice Tourner's
"THE WHITE CIRCLE"
Paramount

DIRECTOR ..................... Maurice Tourner
AUTHOR ...................... Robert Louis Stevenson
SCENARIO BY ............. Jack Gilbert and Jules Furman
CAMERAMAN .............. Alfred Ortieb

AS A WHOLE ...... Very wierd and fascinating production; has many of the aspects of a ghost story; gripping

STORY ...... Adapted from Stevenson’s “The Pavilion on the Links”

DIRECTION ...... Highly imaginative and tremendously effective

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Splendid
LIGHTINGS ........... Unusual; excellent in effect
CAMERA WORK ................ Excellent

LEADING PLAYERS ...... Janice Wilson a real find; all others very good also EXTERIORS ...... Contribute wonderfully to wierd effect of the story

INTERIORS ...................... Same

DETAIL ...................... Very good

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Has a romantic element but features characterization of an old man afraid “to face the music”

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .......... 4,017 feet

This is something decidedly different in the picture line. Maurice Tourner has taken Robert Louis Stevenson's story “The Pavilion on the Links,” a story providing him with splendid opportunities to unleash his imaginative and artistic senses and has produced a picture that contains many of the aspects of a fascinating ghost story.

While there is an important and beautifully played romantic element coursing through the story, its main elements are represented by a peculiar characterization of an old man, a moral coward, afraid to face the death that he realizes full well is coming to him by violence, and an unusual sort of adventurer who fills the role usually occupied by the conventional villain.

The story relates how Northmour secrets Bernard Huddleston, an old Englishman, who had embezzled funds belonging to an Italian patriotic society and his daughter Clara, in his bleak old house on the desolate coast of Scotland, on condition that Clara marry him. There they encounter Cassilis, an old enemy of Northmour's. Years before Cassilis had demanded satisfaction for an insult and had fired at Northmour and missed him. The latter has deferred taking his shot at Cassilis, but still holds the right to do so.

Old Huddleston is seized with a paroxysm of fear when he realizes that members of the Italian society have surrounded the house. In his imagination he dies a thousand torturous deaths until finally courage is awakened in him by the simple words of Cassilis's companion, Ferd, a boy. Fully in command of himself. He then leaves the castle and is felled by the Italian bullets.

As Cassilis bends over the fainting girl, Northmour claims his shot and then on the spur of the moment his mind changes. He sees himself doomed to the hopeless monotony of married life—his desire for adventure restrained. He departs leaving them in each others arms.

Janice Wilson as Clara is a new picture find. She has the most expressive pair of eyes seen in many a day. Her face is mobile, almost eloquent. And she is pretty. Spottiswoode Aitken is thrillingly realistic in bringing out the frenzied fear of Huddleston. Harry Northrup is a peculiarly fascinating Northmour and Jack Gilbert is a good Cassilis. Jack MacDonald as the Italian leader and Wesley Barry as Ferd are both very good.

A Fine Picture For the Better Class Theaters

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

It is probable that the average audience will find this rather peculiar—a little too peculiar for it to swallow with a gratified expression. The elements prominent in it are so different from the ordinary that they take one unawares. However, the better class audiences will certainly appreciate this for what it's worth—a thoroughly artistic presentation of a wierdly fascinating tale.

Such audiences will sense the fine characterization of the cowardly old man and realize the simplicity and reality of the scene between him and the boy when he finds courage to face the issue. Such audiences will also get the satiric humor of the final scene when Northmour decides to remain the adventurer instead of becoming the husband of a beautiful girl.

In fact “The White Circle” is distinctly a high class production for the high class audiences of the country. You who enter to the cultured clientele, can make a very big thing of it.
VERA M'CORD PRODUCTIONS INC. PRESENTS
"The GOOD-BAD WIFE"
ADAPTED FROM "THE WILD FAWN"
BY MARY IMLAY TAYLOR.
SHE'S A CARD!
SHE'S A CHARACTER!
In fact —
The best Drawing Card and the greatest Character ever put on the screen WHO?
"THE GOOD-BAD WIFE"
Adapted from "The Wild Fawn" by Mary Imlay Taylor. Recently published by Munseys
EVERYBODY'S INTERESTED IN HER—Husbands-Wives-Sweethearts—and Other Wives—but especially Exhibitors
State Right Buyers, who are interested in what Exhibitors are interested in will wire—and those who are alert and enterprising as well, will wire first for State Rights on the box office sensation of 1920 —
"THE GOOD-BAD WIFE"
A Photoplay that will reach home.
In six reels of intense human interest Drama with an all star cast.

ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO
FILM BOOKING OFFICES INC
729 SEVENTH AVE. NEW YORK CITY.
Very Oldstyle Melodrama

"THE HOPE"
Screen Classics—Metro
DIRECTOR ..................... Herbert Blache
AUTHORS .............. Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton
SCENARIO BY ......... Albert Shelby Le Vino
CAMERAMAN ............... Not Credited
AS A WHOLE ...... Old fashioned Drury Lane melodrama handled effectively though conventionally
STORY ...... Of a very familiar type, but will certainly "get" the lovers of plain melodrama
DIRECTION ..................... Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ..................... Good
LIGHTINGS ..................... Good
CAMERA WORK ................. Commendable
LEADING PLAYERS ................. Satisfactory
SUPPORT ......................... Average
EXTERIORS ...... Varied; include glimpses of England, India and Italy with pretty realistic earth quake stuff in last location
INTERIORS ......................... Satisfactory
DETAIL ......................... Average
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Villain puts blame for his nasty deeds on hero until wronged girl finally clears his name
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,600 feet

"The Hope" is a Drury Lane melodrama of a conventional type and yet at the same time its very conventionality is responsible for its effectiveness. Those who admire plain, bold melodrama will certainly find much to satisfy them in this.

The action starts in England, where Harold, Lord Ingestre, a lieutenant in the King's Rifles, is in love with Lady Carlyon. Hector Grant, his superior officer, discovers that Olive Whitburn, Brenda's companion, is in reality the daughter of a notorious money lender.

But Generally Well Done

The money-lender, desiring his daughter to enter society keeps his business activities from her. Hector blackmails her father on this score.

The regiment is sent to India, whither shortly afterwards, Brenda and Olive follow. Hector succeeds in gaining Olive's confidence and the poor girl, finding him false, leaves the garrison penning a scathing note to him. This Hector shows Brenda, saying that it was addressed to Harold.

Back in England Harold is disgraced. Brenda has broken her engagement with him and he and his mother are penniless. Eventually Olive writes Brenda from Italy. Thus the action shifts again to the sunny clime and there the truth of Hector's perfidy comes out. A volcanic eruption and earthquake result in Hector's death while all is straightened out between Harold and Brenda.

The action is very satisfactory from the continuity viewpoint. It progresses without any haltings or limpings and the villains connivings are manoeuvred so that a good bit of suspense is the result.

Director Blache has worked in some pretentious street settings that do well for India and Italy and though his local color is somewhat obvious, he has managed to make them averagely realistic. Other big scenes include a polo match which opens the picture and the fight in India between the regiment and the natives which is engineered quite well.

Jack Mulhall is satisfactory as Harold and Marguerite de la Motte is a pretty Brenda. Frank Elliott as Hector and Ruth Stonehouse as Olive render very creditable performances while others are Lilian Langdon, Maym Kelso, Arthur Clayton, J. P. Morse, Bobby Mack and Herbert Grimwood.

Pictures of This Type Have Their Particular Audiences

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"The Hope" is an average melodrama on the surface though the workmanship displayed in the construction of it is of the same high quality that has marked the more pretentious of these melodramas that have been turned into pictures.

It isn't probable that you'll find the really high class audiences responding to the rather time worn stuff in this, but on the other hand, it should go to big advantage before the theaters that cater largely to the "gallery god" type of audience.

The villain here is the same sort that used to be hissed. The hero is honorable and upright but unable to clear himself. There is the pretty heroine and the muchly wronged girl. But it is this set of characters that will draw the response from the audiences above referred to. The action is certainly rapid enough and there are plenty of thrills, both of the physical and mental variety.
WILLIAM FOX presents

WHILE NEW

Fox Entertainments
YORK SLEEPS
1920 Cinemelodrama of life in the great Metropolis
Staged by Charles J. Brabin

A fabric of magic, of beauty and delight; a thing of thrill and wonder a sensation!

273

In 1920-1921 there will be 273 releases by Fox Film Corporation.
Episodic Western Average Program Offering

Edgar Lewis Production
"LAHOMA"
Pathé

DIRECTOR ................. Edgar Lewis
AUTHOR .................. John Breckinridge Ellis
SCENARIO BY .............. Not credited
CAMERAMAN ............... Edward C. Earle
AS A WHOLE .......... Western in which action takes place over great space of time.

STORY .................. Rather obvious at times
DIRECTION ............. Injected healthy outdoor atmosphere but had to crowd too much into production.

PHOTOGRAPHY ........ Always clear and distinct
LIGHTINGS ............... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ............ Excellent
PLAYERS .......... Louise Burnham handles title role sincerely; Wade Boteler and Russel Simpson good; Peaches Jackson cute.

EXTERIORS ........... Consist of splendid outdoor scenes that should prove of real value.

INTERIORS ...... Not many, but up to the standard

DETAIL ................ More than enough

CHARACTER OF STORY .. Child taken west on wagon train deserted by father and brought up there, finally finds lover, but is unable to save her benefactor from vengeance of his outlaw enemy.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .. About 6,000 feet

In his newest western, Edgar Lewis has taken great pains with his exteriors and has spent a considerable amount of time apparently in securing the proper atmosphere. He has taken a story that is entirely too episodic—spread over a number of years that is too great to make it very easy to hold attention in any one section long enough to sustain continuous interest.

A considerable quantity of material was given the director to work with and much of it is rather conventional western stuff. As a result, in several sequences, the ensuing action is somewhat obvious. To his credit, it must be said that Lewis has inserted some fine western scenes, but with a great deal of attention paid to minor matters a really powerful climax has not been secured. Some comedy relief of quality is of value to the picture, which starts off with much action, shooting and some touches of pathos.

Henry Gledware and Lahoma, his five-year-old daughter, are the only survivors of a wagon train attacked by outlaws. He wanders into an outlaw’s cabin, Brick Willock, an adventure seeker and not criminal, revolts at the thought of killing the two as decreed by the leader, and saves them by killing one of the band. The dead man’s brother, Kimball, vows vengeance.

Gledware ultimately weds the daughter of an Indian chief. Willock, who has escaped from the outlaws, takes care of the child. Will Compton, an Easterner, sees Lahoma and loves her.

Later Lahoma is thrown together with Kimball, pardoned, and Gledware, who had betrayed his Indian wife. The latter is slain by the chief of the tribe while Kimball seeks out Willock after being unable to secure his arrest. The two shoot simultaneously and both are fatally wounded. Lahoma, however, has the love of Compton as well as the companionship of the ancient and quaint Bill Atkins, pal of Willock, to console her.

Direct Your Attention to Followers of This Type of Story

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

It is hardly advisable to attempt to exploit on a large scale this offering. Should you decide to book it, the best course to pursue is to avoid any lengthy preliminary announcements, just making it plain that this is a western with a goodly quantity of action being it’s main characteristic.

When offering this to your patrons let them know that it is an Edgar Lewis production. It is not unlikely that a number of them will regard that fact as one that warrants their coming, for he has done much commendable work in the past.

You will probably find that there are numerous followers of the western type of drama, and if your audiences are made up very largely of that variety you can probably please them with "Lahoma." Get after those who are wild about the west if you arrange to present this and follow out the usual method of the exploitation of such a work.
Melodrama of Old Mississippi River Life Given Picturesque Production

Frank Mayo in “HITCHIN’ POSTS”
Universal

DIRECTOR ......................... Jack Ford
AUTHOR ............................ Harold Shumate
SCENARIO BY ...................... George Hull
CAMERAMAN ....................... Bennie Cline

AS A WHOLE............. Unusual story dealing with Mississippi river life in days following Civil War—well produced and creating very good interest.

STORY........... Very well handled—interests all the way—unusual scenes help.

DIRECTION ..................... Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Good
LIGHTINGS ....................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .................... Good
STAR ............................ Has congenial role
SUPPORT ......................... Very good
EXTERIORS ...................... Fine—unusual
INTERIORS ....................... Very good
DETAIL ......................... Very good
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... More or less plain melodrama but unusual settings and good treatment put it over.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 4,895 feet

Unusual scenes, a plot laid in the interesting period following the Civil War, and generally good treatment of the whole, combine to make this melodrama one of peculiar interest. Many of the scenes are staged on a Mississippi river boat and an old “wheeler” was obtained for these. They are full of color and provide a fine background for the action.

There is also considerable interest in the scene showing the rush for the newly opened lands in the west. The homesteaders are all on the line awaiting the blow of the bugle to rush and stake out claims on the government land. Such a scene offers plenty of opportunities of comedy and human interest detail and the director has taken good advantage of them.

The story concerns Jefferson Todd, a gentleman impoverished because of the war, who makes his home on one of the river boats and his business the card table. In a stiff game he wins the last possessions of Colonel Drexton, four race horses. The colonel insists that he claim his winnings. That night he takes his life.

Todd goes to seek out Barbara, the colonel’s daughter, and explain matters to her, but finds that his rascally brother-in-law, Castiga, has arrived at the old southern mansion first and has caused Barbara to think that he (Todd) is a crooked gambler.

Later, however, her eyes are opened to Castiga’s wickedness and Todd’s chivalry. The men have words and a duel is arranged. Castiga fires before the final count, but Todd escapes injury. He reserves his shot till later. Castiga is run out of town. All three parties determine to stake out claims in the new western land to be opened by the government. Barbara meets Todd and together they forge to the front of the rest of the homesteaders, picking out the choicest piece of land. In the night Castiga attempts Todd’s life and the two finally fight it out, Castiga eventually falling to his death in a pool of water.

Frank Mayo gives a very satisfactory performance as Todd, while Beatrice Burnham is a pleasing heroine. J. Harris as Castiga is a relentless villain.

---

JOHN GILBERT
PICTURIZED
The White Circle
AND
ASSISTED THE DIRECTION OF
MAURICE TOURNEUR
This Should Go Very Well—Best for This Star

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Frank Mayo in
"HITCHIN' POSTS"
Universal

From every standpoint this is a very entertaining picture—much better, it seems, than anything Universal has had previously with Frank Mayo as the star. While there is nothing greatly original in the plot, it holds nicely, and the time during which the action transpires and the picturesque settings provide a strong interest which cannot be denied.

In presenting this dwell on these unusual characteristics—the period of the picture and its settings. Lines such as these might be used in presenting the picture, "A story of Mississippi river days just after the Civil War—full of charm, picturesque in its unusual scenes and thrilling to the core," "The old Colonel who had lost much in the Civil War lost all that was left to Jefferson Todd in a game of cards. Todd didn't want the colonel's property, but he insisted. That night the Mississippi river folded its waters over the colonel's body! And the next day Todd met the colonel's daughter!"

PHOTOPLAYER'S ATTENTION

Special Rates To and From Studios

Garden Court Garage TAXI SERVICE

7030 HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD

Holly 2902 577-116

IMMEDIATE SERVICE

WID'S YEAR BOOK IS COMING
A Decidedly Different Type of Western—Splendid Suspense

Tom Mix in "THE UNTAMED"
Fox

DIRECTOR .................... Emmett J. Flynn
AUTHOR ......................... Max Brand
SCENARIO BY .................... H. P. Keeler
CAMERAMAN .................... Frank Good

AS A WHOLE ...... Very commendable western with "different" and interesting idea back of it

STORY ...... Starts off with great interest and suspense, although latter part is somewhat conventional

DIRECTION .................... Very good
PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ...... They even go so far as to have star's eyes turn yellow when he gets mad
CAMERA WORK .................. Commendable
STAR ...... Puts characterization into role as well as action

SUPPORT .......... Headed by Pauline Starke
EXTERIORS ..................... Western
INTERIORS ..................... Western
DETAIL ......................... Good
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Has "Wild" man as it's central character, but they never succeed in taming him

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 5,000 feet

The opening scenes of "The Untamed" are very unusual. They provide a strong interest and a certain element of suspense that serve to captivate the spectator. Whistling Dan is first introduced as a boy. A rancher finds him whistling at a flock of wild birds on the desert. When the rancher approaches him his eyes grow yellow in a burst of anger.

Unusual Character of This Should Bring It Big Popularity

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This is certainly a different type of western because of the unusually drawn character of the hero. Those of you who find this type of entertainment successful should surely give this a trial, for it has great suspense and its unusual character and fine handling are elements bound to make people talk.

In passing this was the first Fox picture to play the Capitol in New York. It was evidently thought that the unusual character of the whole picture warranted it a Broadway showing. This is true to a certain extent. The Capitol audiences were certainly captivated by the peculiar introduction of the picture and seemed to enjoy it throughout although the superfluity of gun fighting that was shown later was not taken altogether seriously.

However, a picture such as this certainly does deserve a showing before these audiences who pass the usual westerns up with something approaching scorn. It is "different" and anything different is bound to catch the attention of the most blase audience in the world. Remember this when you advertise "The Untamed."
"A powerful photoplay of Americanism and democracy. Capacity audience cheers stirring scenes."
TRIBUNE.

"'Democracy' fills the Casino with an admiring audience. Screen story with big central thought and gives a spirit of Bigness."
AMERICAN.

"Democracy is timely—it holds interest through the story told and is most carefully produced."
Moving Picture World.

"Closed in dramatic fashion as the strongest kind of propaganda for Christianity."
Eve. Telegram.

READ WHAT THE CRITICS THOUGHT

THE Now Playing TRIUMPH CASINO Theatre ON BROADWAY Broadway at 39th Street, New York City

"DEMOCRACY, The Vision Restored"

"Those to whom abstract ideas of brotherly love detached from the realities of life..."
SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS

SUCCESS
THOMAS N. HEFFRON
DIRECTOR

The Critics Have Said—

Regarding The Direction in My Two latest Releases—

"THE CITY OF MASKS"

WID’S:—

"Here's Something Altogether Different From the Average Run."

DIRECTOR .................... Thomas N. Heffron

AS A WHOLE ....... Splendid work of director makes this highly enjoyable.

STORY .................... Treatment makes it delightful.

DIRECTION .......... Splendid, particularly fantastical bits and comedy scenes.

LIGHTINGS .................... Fine.

DETAIL .......... Great; particularly comedy touches.

"Both scenario writer and director adapted themselves to the story's spirit in splendid style."

"Too much cannot be said of Director Heffron's fine touches. Besides catching the proper spirit of the make-believe scenes he has introduced a wealth of comedy detail that registers as practically sure-fire. And again he has had an unusually large cast to deal with and has handled his work in this line without confusion, at the same time giving each of the many performers an opportunity to register a distinct character."

"COMEDY AND WHIMSY OF THIS WILL CERTAINLY REGISTER"

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS:—

"Here is a feature which is well fortified from every angle—with exceptionally clever treatment. There is not a weak spot discernible as far as the development is concerned."

"The sequences which present this line of action never trespass into the field of melodramatic holereum, for each situation and climax is accompanied by a flash of comedy which keeps it within balance."

"The scene where the masqueraders congregate—another when their retreat is raided—these are but samples in a picture carrying a plethora of high lights."

EXHIBITOR’S TRADE REVIEW:—

"DIRECTION—Unbroken continuity and fast action distinguishes the feature from beginning to end."

"This is an entertaining melodrama, agreeably seasoned with pleasing comedy relief. The plot is of original construction, containing a number of unexpected angles, and holds its interest from start to finish. The picture was given a hearty reception when shown at the Rialto Theater, New York, and exhibitors should find it a valuable Box Office asset."

"FIREBRAND TREVISON"

WID’S:—

"Cowboy Star Appears in Typical Western That's Sure to Please."

DIRECTOR .................... Thomas Heffron

AS A WHOLE ....... Well handled from every angle while star shows to fine advantage.

DIRECTION .......... Very satisfactory.

LIGHTINGS .................... Good.

"You Won't Have Any Trouble With This One—It's There."

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor.

"And it has a number of good thrills.

Typical though it is in these respects. "Firebrand Trevison" goes many of its contemporaries several points better because of the admirable treatment it has received from Director Heffron. He keeps the action going at a fine clip throughout and wastes no time getting into his story. Once in it he isn't inclined to let the action drop by turning his attention to unnecessary details."

They get right into a thrill at the start when Corrigan, a land grabber, forces Trevison (Buck Jones), into a fight with him to avenge an alleged insult. The fight is a humdinger. The two men mix in realistically and smash up a perfectly good setting.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS:—

"Buck Jones does his best stunts to date in this picture. One thrill especially will make them hold their breaths."

MOTION PICTURE WORLD:—

"As a whole the production is a strong one."

EXHIBITORS TRADE REVIEW:—

"DIRECTION—Thomas N. Heffron has told his story well, with action and good continuity."

"This is a most interesting Western thriller and for the great majority of fans will prove a decidedly welcome bit of entertainment. The story contains punch, drama and good acting."

SAN FRANCISCO DAILIES:—

"The City of Masks" at Portola, Notable Work."

"The City of Masks" at the Portola, is about the best play that Robert Warwick, it's star, has done for many months. And the play is equal to, if not better than any that has come to this theater in a long while."

NOW PRODUCING

Albert Payson Terhune's Cosmopolitan Story

"The Truant Husband"
SHORT REEL RELEASES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Release Date</th>
<th>Length</th>
<th>Reviewer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>May 17</td>
<td>7:4-20</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 24</td>
<td>6:20-20</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 28</td>
<td>6:27-20</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 13</td>
<td>8:20-20</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 19</td>
<td>8:20-20</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SELECT PICTURES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Distributed Through Select Exchanges</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Darling Mine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Just Outside the Door</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NATIONAL PICTURES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Distributed Through Select Exchanges</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Blud Youth (Special Cast)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Just a Wife (Special Cast)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Invisible Divorce</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Out of the Snows</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

REPUBLIC PICTURES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Distributed Through Republic Exchanges</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Gift Supreme</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Fakely Trail (Myrtle Sterling)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mothers of Men</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Great Shadow (Tyrene Power)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Adventure (Vaal Hittington)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Man's Plaything (Grace Davidson)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Children Not Wanted (Midnight Day)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

KINOGRAMS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Every Tuesday and Saturday.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>UNITED ARTISTS’ CORP.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 31 Romance (Doris Keane)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 13 The Mollycoddle (Douglas Fairbanks)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 20 May Pickford</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 5 The Love Flower</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

UNIVERSAL FILM MFG. CO.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Jewel Features</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Under Crimson Skies (Elmo Lincoln)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Breath of the Gods (Turre Ask)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VITAGRAPH

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Universal Features</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Fakely Trail (Myrtle Sterling)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everything But the Truth (Lyons-Moran)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Man There Was (Raymond)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siret Miss Ross (Edith Roberts)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shipwrecked Among Cannibals</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Red Hair (Frank Mayo)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blue Steak McCoy (Harry Carey)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Adorable Savage (Edith Roberts)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

INDEPENDENT—STATE RIGHTS

| Love Without Question (Jans)                       | 4:20-20 |
| Through Eyes of Men (Radin)                        | 5:20-20 |
| The Married Virgin (Fidelity)                      | 6:20-20 |
| Frivolous Wives (Fidelity)                         | 6:20-20 |
| Ashes of Desire (Wilson & Wilson)                  | 5:20-20 |
| Neglected Wives (Wattier)                          | 5:20-20 |
| A Man There Was (Raymond)                         | 6:20-20 |
| A Trip to Mars (Tower Film Co.)                   | 5:20-20 |
| A Woman’s Man (Ray!)                              | 5:20-20 |
| Love’s Flame (Fidelity)                            | 4:20-20 |
| Madonnas and Men (Jans)                            | 5:20-20 |
| Midgie’s Marks (Motte Dore)                        | 5:20-20 |
| Up in Mary’s Attic (Fine Arts)                    | 5:20-20 |
| A Woman’s Best Friend (Fidelity)                   | 5:20-20 |
| Fickle Women (D. N. Schwab)                        | 5:20-20 |

FAMOUS PLAYERS—LASKY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>April Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Geo Whis (Jack Sennett)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Glunghl Girl (Jack Sennett)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ship Ahoy (Al St. John)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>June Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>By Golly (Jack Sennett)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You Wouldn’t Like It (Jack Sennett)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Model Husband (Carlos De Havens)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>May Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Fresh from the City (Jack Sennett)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spring (Carlos De Havens)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Let ’Er Go (Jack Sennett)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>June Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pils for Papa (Neal Burne &amp; Josephine Hill)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Should Winters Marry (George Oh)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kidin’ the Landlord (Bartine Burtette)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bear-sinned Beauties (Bertie Burtette)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>His Mis-Step (Bartine Burtette)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Off His Trolley (Billy Engel, Jessie Fox &amp; Dick Dickson)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thru the Keyhole (Harcie Davie &amp; Bartine Burtette)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Birthday Tangle (Connie Mabely &amp; Bud Jameson)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>July Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Moon Riders (Art Acord)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Vanishing Daggers (Edie Poli)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Screen Magazine, issues 60, 61, 70, 71, 72</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PATHÉ

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>April Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Daredevil Jack&quot; (Jack Dempsey) 8, 9, 10, 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Tralied by Three&quot; (Stuart Holmes &amp; Frankie Mann) 1, 2, 3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Adventures of Ruth,&quot; (Ruth Roland) 15 (Complete)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>May Releases</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Daredevil Jack, episodes 12, 13, 14, 15</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Continued on page 40
HOMESPUN FOLKS

featuring

LLOYD HUGHES

and an all-star cast

Story by Julien Josephson - - - Directed by John Griffith Wray

A Heart-Drama of Ten Thousand Small Towns and Sixty Million Small Town People.
“Homespun Folks” is the title. Julien Josephson, who wrote many genuine, natural dramas that increased the fame of Charles Ray, is the author—and this is his greatest story.

Thomas H. Ince, with the authority of his great skill and genius, has provided as his first Associated Producers special production a clean, fine, wholesome American theme in a small-town environment typical of all the small communities that ever were.

Now you know why Thomas H. Ince more than a year ago placed Lloyd Hughes under contract. He saw in him a quaint, natural boy who would become an idol of the American people. In “Homespun Folks” the Ince star-making vision is fulfilled.

“Homespun Folks” is not a cocktail drama. It has romance and tenderness. It has pathos and robust comedy. It has tenseness and the rush of melodramatic action with big scenes involving hundreds of people. It is a beautiful mother story that hits the greatest target in the world—the human heart.
"Here are the days of Triangle beginning all over again," exhibitors will say when they receive Thomas H. Ince's first Associated Producers' special production, "Homespun Folks."

Historic days those were in production. You still think and talk about them in every managerial office. New blood; new personalities to become famous and enrich your theatre earnings; new ideas; new technique; but mature, skilled producers with sure and certain mastery of their craft. All of this and more is what Associated Producers now mean to the industry—this year and for years to come.
To the Exhibitors of the United States

We do not believe that producers or distributors who fill the trade journals week after week with letters and controversies airing their jealousies and hatreds of each other can be giving the care and attention to production that you, the exhibitors, have a right to expect in return for the rentals you are asked to pay.

We do not believe that back-fence scandal-mongering will in any way be helpful to the state of mind that an organization or producer should have when setting out to make big, profitable pictures for you.

What a pity (and what a disgrace) it is that a really big industry (big in spite of many of the people in it) should appear before the world like a gathering of quarrelsome fish-wives.

We cannot believe that the exhibitors of the country, who make possible the very existence of producers and distributors, are interested in the dirty linen or dirty politics of the industry.

Once again we call your attention to the fact (very striking by contrast) that the Associated Producers are working—not talking.

MARSHALL NEILAN - ALLAN DWAN - GEORGE LOANE TUCKER - MAURICE TOURNEUR
J. PARKER READ JR. - THOMAS H. INCE - MACK SENNETT

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS INC.
HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Sewell Ford's
Famed Stories of the Red Headed Office Boy Who Has Tickled a Hundred Million Ribs.

"Torchy in High"
Third of Record-Smashing 2 Reelers

With Johnny Hines as "Torchy"

Produced by Master Films Inc.

Seven volumes of Torchy stories have been published—and leading newspapers are printing new ones.

Ready-made audiences await your opening your doors to show their favorite character.

Fifteen thousand bookstores offer window tie-ups—not once, but month after month. Endless exploitation opportunities are here.

And best of all REAL COMEDY, the sort that leaves a demand for MORE.

Have you started with "Torchy" and "Torchy Comes Through"?

Educational Films Corporation of America
729 Seventh Ave. New York
Some Short Reels

"Over the Fence"—C. B. C. Sales Corp.

"Babe" Ruth's home runs have attracted unusual attention throughout the country and there is nation-wide desire to know what the noted wizard of the Wagner-tongue looks like and how he does it. In this single reeler the C. B. C. Sales Corp. has an offering which should serve partly at least in satisfying the national curiosity, for there are many communities in which they have never had an opportunity to see Ruth and many more in which they should be just as anxious to see the film even if they have seen "Babe" in the ball park. The picture comes at a time when there is great enthusiasm for the game and much interest in the hero of this. It is being sold on the state right market.

"Wild, Wild Women"—Hall Room Boy Photoplays

Comprised of a commendable set of incidents combined with the proper amount of knockabout comedy, this newest Hall Room Boy two reeler should register well in most houses. In the first half of the picture there is a quantity of beach stuff with some footage that is risque, but in no way objectionable. Thereafter, most of the action takes place at a house party, with much of the humor being gleaned from a trick played on the gathering by one of the boys. Some insects placed in a bouquet of flowers ultimately result in making the entire assembly distinctly uncomfortable and eventually cause the ejection of the leading duo. This has been directed so as to get numerous laughs out of the various situations. At a Broadway house last week it more than held its own.

"Where Are Your Husbands?"—Reeclraft

Obviously, this two reeler, one of a set known as Royal comedies and starring Billy B. Van, was made before the end of the war, for it is a sort of burlesque on the conflict. A fight of American women to protect their talcum powder forms the backbone of the piece, the effeminate habits cultivated by the men during the absence of their wives being depicted throughout most of the footage. As many people will expect, it turns out to be a dream at the finish, with the principal gleeful over the fact that what has passed was merely a nightmare. Generally an average comedy which is not timely now.

"Hunting for Formosa Head-Hunters"—Burton Holmes—Famous Players

Burton Holmes has secured material that is certainly out of the ordinary for another of his travel offerings. Formosa, as the title suggests, is the scene of the piece, which is featured by shots of an archery contest for the first choice of a bride. The people shown are just emerging from barbarian and their general appearance is quite unusual, although it resembles slightly that of other tropical island dwellers. Shots of women, babies, the bride for whom the contest was held, and others all occupy bits of footage in what is generally a meritorious reel.

"Should Tailors Trifle?"—Universal

Staged in a manner that is far superior to that of most of the preceding issues of the series and possessing a considerable number of humorous bits of business, this two reeler holds up in fine style from beginning to end, provokes much laughter and is certain to elicit favorable comment. Charles Dorety, Bud Jamieson and Peggy Prevost are the principal performers, as well as a clever canine which is seen to advantage. Tom Buckingham, the camera man, will still strike the offering, deserves credit. The scene with the egg, emerging chick and dog is one that will make the desired impression on any spectator, for the sight of the newly-hatched fowl nestled on the dog's head is the most unusual and material that is very much liked. Jamieson's narrow escapes as he leans his cane on an elevator which is always lowered just as he steps on it, and raised as he steps off, will still strike the visibility of most crowds and the modiste shop footage is also up to the mark.

Paramount Magazine, No. 3902—Famous Players

Samoa dancers occupy the center of the screen in the initial portion of a three-part Paramount Magazine, a number of dark, brown-skinned lasses of the tropical island executing a turgid exotic dance that is sure to hold the eye. Incidentally, plenty of local color is supplied by the shots of the islanders as spectators and others who reside there. As for the second that follows, called "Why Do They Do It?" more than one young man who has endeavored to flirt with some of the elusive ladies will recall some of the material herein shown. The Town Pump Boys in an animated cartoon called "Romance and Rheumatism," are not as funny as they might be, the material ranking with the commonplace. As a whole, an ordinary offering of its sort.

"One Law for All"—Universal

Ed "Hoot" Gibson's latest two reel western is distinctly novel, for the spectacle of a foreigner who sports a beard and mustache in true Bolshevik style on a western ranch is certainly out of the ordinary. It concerns the making of an American out of a resident of some other country. Upon his arrival here, the alien does not get along too well until Gibson befriends him. Later on, the plot thickens when Jim Corey, the heavy, and Hoot have an altercation due to the former's annoying the foreigner and his blonde daughter. Eventually Corey is punished for a robbery, the foreigner made satisfied that the American laws are just, and Gibson and the girl united.

"The Sentence of the Sarre"—Burton Holmes—Famous Players

Although this Burton Holmes number is a commendable offering of its type, there is a decidedly dismal atmosphere maintained in it. It consists of scenes shot in the Sarre basin, taken from the Germans and given to the French as a result of the recent war. The manner in which a duo of hard-working French farm folk, a man and woman, drag a barge along the banks of a river, plodding their way forward step by step and bent by the heavy burden and other scenes that follow, together with the tilting, create a heavy feeling. People who enter picture houses at the present time prefer light entertainment and certainly do not want to be reminded of the war, which fact will militate against the success of this.

"Topics of the Day," No. 69—Timely Films—Pathé

Despite the fact that one or two of the quips and remarks on current topics comprising this issue are not new, the comments in general rank high for genuine humor and wit. One gag in particular, concerning a negro's comment on a chicken, will cause an audience to laugh, his observation that it is the most useful animal on earth because it can be eaten before it is born and after it is dead, being truly mirth-provoking. The reel may be a bit too long, but in general it should be rated with the best subjects of this variety turned out.

"Money to Burn"—Pathé

There are scarcely any plot at all in this Snub Pollard release which has a variety of slapstick bits that should be sufficient to hold over before the average audience. A great deal of the action takes place in a clothing store, with the Hebrew comedian who has been appearing in most of the recent issues of this series occupying the role of the chief of the establishment. Pollard performs as the assistant at first, but later ventures forth into the world with an inheritance. Marie Mosquini becomes prominent thereafter as a lady detective who would arrest Snub for his-flattering attitude, who marry him upon learning of the proportions of his bankroll. Sammy, the little colored youngster, provokes mirth as usual and the stout fellow, also associated with this organization, is seen at the start to advantage. Incidentally, the company includes a comedian whose specialty is making a cross-eyed display, a la Ben Turpin.
VICTOR KREMER FILM FEATURES
A Burlesque on Carmen (Charles Chaplin) 1
The Champion (Charles Chaplin) 1
Work (Charles Chaplin) 1
By the Sea (Charles Chaplin) 1

REELCRAFT
July and August
Royal Comedies
Buggins (Elton Errol Feature) 1
Babies (Billy B, Van Feature) 1
 Lucky Hoo Hoo (Billy B, Van Feature) 1
Billy Frady Comedies
Water Plug 1
Tender and Feared 1
Hasher 1
Hard cider 1
Nobody Home 1
Play Hockey 1
Professor 1
Getting His 1
Fishing, Lizzie 1
Dry Cleaned 1
Kidnapper 1
The advert 1
Moonshine 1
Alice Howell Comedies
Rubes and Romance 1
Lunatics in Politics 1
Good Night Nurse 1
Billy West Comedies
Hands Up 1
Going Straight 1
What Next 1
The Dreamer 1
Italian Love 1
Milburn Morani Comedies
Simp and Satan 1
Installation Plan 1
Ileology 1
His Wedding Day 1
Love Where Art Thou 1
Texas Guinan Westerns
Outwitted 1
My Lady Robin Hood 1
The Wild Cat 1
Night Riders 1
White Squares 1
Moonshine Feud 1
Desert Vulture 1
Girl of the Rancho 1

EDUCATIONAL FILM EXCHANGES, INC.
Chester Comedies
Four Times Foiled 1
An Overall Hero 1
The Big Show 1

Mermaid Comedies
A Fresh Start (Jennie Adams) 1
Duck Inn (Lloyd Hamilton) 1
Dynamite (Lloyd Hamilton) 1
Nonsense (Dee Adams) 1

Torchy Comedies
Torchy 1
Torchy Comes Through 1
Torchy II High 1

Christie Comedies
Kiss Me and Hide (Bobby Vernon) 1
A Seaside Serenade (Ray Tucker) 1
Out for the Night (Eddie Barry) 1
Seven Bad Pates (Bobby Vernon) 1
Don't blame the Stock (Harry Gribben) 1

Specials
Modern Centaurs 1
Valley of 10,000 Spikes 1
Barb youth—How He Knocks His Home Runs 1

Bruce Scenics
Hope of Adventure 1
The Great Mirror 1
The Log of the Laxatras 1
The Song of the Paddle 1
Wanderlust 1
Solitude 1
The Castaway 1
By Schooner to Alaska 1

Chester Outings
Adams and Kava 1
Wanted—An Elevator 1
Dreams Come True 1
Adam and Eve in the Andes 1
Fire 1
Bear With Us 1
Pyramids and Wooden Legs 1
One Drop Was Enough 1
Old Buddha's Maze 1
Some More Samos 1
Woody Bits and Monkey Hits 1
The Tamer of the Wild Horses 1
The Trail to Weldon, Tennessee 1
Too Much Ore 1
Seven League Booters 1

SCREENICS
Troubadours of the Sky 1
Forbidden Fames 1
Horseplay—Bridal Veil 1
Foam Fantasies 1
Great American Yawn—Getting His Angers 1
Chosen Waters—South Sea Slaves 1
They All Turned Turtle—Family Tree 1
The Most Thrilling Scene Ever Shot!

And it's only one of a cluster of thrills that will make "The Branding Iron" the most talked about picture of the year. It will rank with the greatest money makers you've ever shown!

SAMUEL GOLDWYN
PRESENTS
The BRANDING IRON
BY KATHARINE NEWLIN BURT
A REGINALD BARKER PRODUCTION
GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
A picture as warm hearted, as big, as courageous as the pioneers who blazed the trail is "Lahoma." It is a rugged, healthy story as dramatic in the telling as the careers of the men who made the West.

We are confident that exhibitors will support our opinion in believing that Edgar Lewis in this masterly effort has achieved another striking dramatic success and has again offered the public a production which will register big at the box office.

Pathé Distributors
European Combine
Companies Merge in Czechoslovakia—AustrianTHEATERS, PRIMITIVE AFFAIRS
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
shington—V. A. Geringer, the ian trade commissioner at Fraclovakia, reports to the of Foreign and Domestic erce that a 5,000,000 crown any has been formed in that ry, by the American Film Co.
 Bio, both active units in Europe.
missioner Geringer’s report was dated June 12 and rs in the Aug. 19 issue of “Com-Reports.” In the same issue es a resolution of conditions in a by F. W. Alport, secreta-Commissioner, dated July 13.
’s report shows the Australian rs are on a par with those in country 10 years ago.
 portion of the report dealing Czechoslovakia in part says:
member of the Czecho-Slovak al Assembly, who is also chair-of the committee which considers ation relating to the subject of mo-pictures, reports that there are 50 motion picture theaters in Republic (aside from about 120
 A theaters), giving 180,000 ances annually, with a yearly ace of 40,000,000, and with an g of 18 films seen by each the-ors. The official who is res-for this data estimates that umber of motion-picture the-will probably be doubled in the future.
attics for 1919 show that of the rated films about $2,580,000, or
(Continued on Page 4)
Pacific Studios Formed
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
—The Pacific Studios of $1,500,000 have here. The company will erect San ato.
artners are
. Scott Jr., president; C. E. p, vice president Union Leage vice president; George W. Case
W. Galler, former director of con-
E. L. E., Robert A. Roos,
e Stephens Leon Bocquerez, tent French Bank, and Mayor
H. Person of Burlingame are ng the directors of the new venue studio was originally ed by a company called the Gate Cinema Studios Corp.
In from the Coast
A budget of film men have arrived
New York from the coast.
They include Carter De Haven, who has brought with him a print of “Twin Beds.” De Haven is at the Claridge.
Bert Adler is back after a conerence with Allan Dwan. He will arange for a New York office for Dwan, but in the meantime will continue his headquarters at Mayflower.
Sydney Chaplin is here in conection with his first five reeler for Famous Players. Chaplin has been shpping with his brother in Salt Lake City.
Tom Geraghty arrived on Sat-tday to take charge of production at the new Famous Players’ studio on Long Island.
W. E. Atkinson, general manager of Metro, was also a Saturday ar-ival. Atkinson has been on a tour of inspection of the West Coast stu-ios.
Delayed Until Fall
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Boston—The Motion Picture Ex-thibitors of America have decided to temporarily postpone the convention planned for Chicago on Aug. 31st and Sept. 1st. According to Alfred S.
Black, president plans are being laid for an active campaign to hold a big convention on closely defined lines early in the fall.
New theater for C. meritus
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Scranton, Pa.—The Comerford
Amusement Co. has purchased two new theaters, the Bell in the Petersburg section of Scranton, and the Pastime at Duryea. This gives the Comerford interests a chain of 45
theaters.
The new Capitol theater in Wilkes-Barre, also a Comerford house, will be opened the second week in Sept, ember. It costs close to $750,000.
Lining Up Branches
National Exchanges, Inc., Perfecting Organization—Plan Releasing
in the Fall
National Exchanges, Inc., formed several months ago by Johnson and Hopkins, has lined up a number of prominent exchanges in the country to handle its product.
The organization is headed by Walter L. Johnson, Earl G. Hopkins is treasure and Hunter Bennett, formerly a special representative with Famous Players, is vice-president and general manager. A limited number of productions will be released yearly, these to be either produced by the new company or bought from independents. Releas, it is understood, will be around November 1.
According to Johnson, the exchanges lined up are as follows:
Herman Jans, Northern New Jersley; Stanley Co. in Philadelphia and Eastern Pennsylvania; the Allies of Canada; J. E. Clark of Rowland and Clarke in Pittsburgh; Ruben and Finkelstein in the Northwest; Crandall Film Co. in Cincinnati and Cleveland; and American Feature Film Co. in New Haven, Boston and Portland, Me. Negotiations are understood to be under way with Sol Lesser for the entire Pacific slope.
New Brunton Contracts
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Los Angeles—The Robert Brunton
Studios, Inc., have closed contracts with Douglas Fairbanks for next year’s productions and with Pathe for the making of two serials.
Sydney Franklin may also produce at Brunton’s.
Stock Sale Held Up
Supreme Court Justice McCollruck has decided that the Long Island Motion Picture Co., organized to build a film theater in Jamaica, must not discharge any of its stock pending a suit by William Linscan to compel the defendant to sell him $25,000 of its $50,000 stock. It is seen that that a court
the suit to carry out an agreement to increase its capital up to $250,000 as to allow him a quarter interest.
Fighting Sunday Shows
(Special to WID’S DAILY)
Long Branch, N. J.—The Long Branch Civic league, composed of dergmen and laymen who will take over the anti-Sunday picture fight started by the Ministerial association.
Quotations

Famous Players  70%  do pd.  82/5
D. W. Griffith  15  .
Goldwyn  9  9  9
Loew's, Inc.  20/4  21/4  21

First Film Completed

The Fan Ark Corp. is the name of a new company with D. J. H. Levett, connected with the Holbrook Co., president.

One picture, "The Crimson Cross," has been completed at the Crystal studio. George Everett directed and N. Breuer orse wrote the scenario. Van Dyke Brooke and Edward Lomford are in the cast.

Making "Safety First" Film

(Special to WID'S DAILY)
St. Louis—Beginning Sept. 15, in houses of St. Louis and other parts of Missouri will be shown a film portraying automobile accidents. The picture is the first of a series of educational films to be prepared by the National Film Publicity. It will be furnished to theater owners free of charge.

New Release for Standard

(Special to WID'S DAILY) Kansas City-Standard Film Service has secured "Screen Snapshots" for Missouri and Kansas.

MacMeekin and Nelson Film Co. has purchased "Up in Mary's Attic" for the same territory.

"Iris" Near Completion

(Special to WID'S DAILY) Los Angeles—The screen adaptation of "Iris," by Arthur Wing Pinero's play, with Pauline Frederick is nearing completion.

Five Offices Soon

(Special to WID'S DAILY) Toronto—The Canadian Exhibitor's Exchange plans to have five offices in the Dominion shortly. Two of these will be in the west.

New Paper in New England

(Special to WID'S DAILY) Boston—The New England Exhibitors Weekly is the name of a new regional trade paper which has made its appearance here.

The publisher is Alice Rice Carroll and the editor, Fred T. Craven.

We Place Insurance for SELECT PICTURES CORP.

(Watch this Space for Others)

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A POUND OF CURE

Don't wait with your insurance problems. Tomorrow may be too late. Years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture field has enabled us to handle your problem with intelligence, dispatch and economy. May we prove to you how we can serve you better? Your phone's handy.

REUBEN SAMUELS
EAL INSURANCE
60 Maiden Lane
Phone John 5427 - 5428 - 5427 - 5428

On Broadway

Strand—Charles Ray—"45 Min. from Broadway."
Capitol—"It's a Great Life."
Rialto—"Humoresque."
Rivoii—Elise Ferguson—"Le Rose's Daughter."

Criterion—"The Right to Love."
Theor—"Earthbound."

Lyric—"When New York Sleeps."
Broadway—Dustin Farnum in "Happiness."

Brooklyn Strand—William Farnur—"If I Were King."
Casaio—"Democracy, the Vision."

44th St. Theater—D. W. Griffith—"Way Down East," beginning 1 day.

Tomorrow—Robert Warwick—"The Fourteenth Man."

Wednesday—Roy Stewart—"The Dark."
Thursday—Tom Moore—"S. Thief."

Friday—Eileen Percy—"Her Honor, the Mayor."

Saturday—Bryan Washburn—"Full House."

Sunday—"Humoresque."

Next Week

Strand—Norma Talmadge—"T. Branded Woman."

Capitol—"Milestones."

Rialto—Thomas Meighan—"Civil Clothes."

Rivoii—Charles Ray—"The Villa Sleuth."

Criterion—"The Right to Love."
Brooklyn Strand—"45 Min. from Broadway."

Albany Strand Ready

Albany—Jardin Co., Inc., gene contractors are now finishing the Strand for the Mitchel H. Ma RELEY CORP. The theater is expected to open shortly.

As essential as hair to a beautiful woman are RITCHEY posters to the exhibitor.

RITCHEY LITHO. CORP.
408 W. 31st St., N. Y. Phone Chelsea 8889
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send long your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

a picture which gives a widely divergent exploitation angle and sit back to watch results.

Los Angeles, Cal.—When the Mack Sennett production, "Married Life," was held over at the Kinema recently, a letter contest was held. 16 prizes were offered for the best letters written on "Married Life" or "How to Be Happy Though Married." The judges solicited replies of a serious nature in spite of the fact that the latter title suggests a humorous note.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The Kinema has placed suggestion pads on the backs of seats with a suggestion box near the exit, patrons being invited to offer criticisms. Used for advertising coming attractions, these pads elicit comments on the exploitation campaign frequently. Taking the wishes of the patrons into consideration and inviting advice in this fashion is bound to have a good effect on them.

Under the direction of Jerome Beatty, and Claude Saunders, of Famous Players, preparations are under way for a teaser poster campaign during the coming year for Paramount productions. The plan combines potential testimonials of exploitation and salesmanship. Planting the title will be its foremost function for the need of keeping a title in the minds of the fans has been recognized for some time as an exhibitors need. An example of what is planned may be gleaned from the poster on Cecil B. DeMille's "Something to Think About." It consists of a vivid yellow background with the only designs being a ribbon with yellow and white stripes. At the bottom appear the words com-

Ontario Exhibitors Elect Officers
Toronto, Ontario — The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the M. F. Exhibitors Protective Association of Ontario: Honorary presidents, L. Solman, A. K. London, J. Shea, P. K. Griffen and George F. Driscoll; president, J. C. Brady; first vice president, H. Alexander; second vice president, H. P. Redway; third vice president, E. Moule; fourth vice president, W. Yates; B. Hudson, treasurer, and A. E. Fette, secretary. Jules Bernstein, J. Crang, Ben Cronk, A. J. Laurie, E. A. McArdle, Dr. Richardson, Clarence Robson, R. S. Tickner, C. Lester, R. J. Cardie, M. Gertberg, F. Guest, George Swanwick, A. A. Cooper, W. L. Stewart, J. R. Minnich, A. A. Huttlemeyer and J. A. Morrison were named as the executive committee.

Miller Film in Fall River
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Fall River, Mass.—"The Law of the Yukon," released through Realart, opened yesterday at the Rialto theater here.

Al Sobler and Jack Pegler of the Mayflower home office staff are here arranging special exploitation for the picture.
JOHN GILBERT
Picturized

‘THE WHITE CIRCLE’

Assisted the direction of

Maurice Tourneur

Incorporations

Sell “Thunderbolt Jack”

Rights to the Jack Hoxie serial, “Thunderbolt Jack” have been sold by Arrow to J. Pearson and Co. of Bombay for the Far East. Lightning Photo Play Service of Boston has bought it for New England, while Federal Film Exchanges of Missouri secured the Western Missouri and Kansas privileges.

Richards and Flynn Buy Serial

(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Kanata City—Richards and Flynn have purchased “The Son of Tarzan” for Missouri and Kansas.

Dalles, Ore. Theaters Sold

(Special to WID’S DAILY)

The Dalles, Ore.—Empress and Grand have been bought by L. V. Peck, P. W. Nolan and S. Peck, all of Seattle, from A. Bettinger.

Muriel Ostriche has completed “Betsy’s Romance” for Arrow. Arvid Gillstrom directed.

European Combine

(Continued from Page 1)

60 per cent. of the total, came from Germany; 382,500 ft., or 14 per cent. from France; 316,500 ft., or 12 per cent., from the United States; and the remainder from Italy, Norway and Hungary, in the order named. One of the leading local newspapers conducted a public discussion as to the most popular films. There were many responses from regular theater-goers, with the result that American films were almost universally acknowledged to be the best.

“The Cinematograph announces that the American Film Co. and the Biograph have organized a stock company with a capital of 5,000,000 crowns, consisting of 12,500 shares of 400 crowns each. Both the companies are active in the film industry in Central Europe, and plan to erect a new building in Berlin for making films for their own use.

Of approximately 60,500 ft. negatives and 262,500 ft. of positives used in the production of films in 1919, practically all was purchased from a company in Berlin.

The largest theater in Czechoslovakia is the Peklo in Pilsen with a seating capacity of 1,000. The next largest is the Sacher in Prague with 900 seats. On other days there are three performances, and on Sundays and holidays four performances. The price of admission ranges from 30 to 60 crowns on the main floor, and 7.50 crowns for a box seat.”

Secretary Alpport says of Austrian films:

“The motion-picture industry of Austria to-day stands approximately at the point reached by this industry in the United States 10 years ago. Vienna is the natural center, with about 168 theaters—kino’s, as they are styled here. Of this number of theaters, 1 is of 2,000 capacity, 7 are from 1,000 to 1,000, 100 from 300 to 600, and 60 of less than 300 capacity.

The booking of the houses is very poor, arranged, without ventilation, and are similar to the remodeled storerooms that furnished quarters to many picture houses in the United States many years ago. Very few buildings have been erected especially for the purpose. The musical arrangements are inferior, a remarkable situation in a city so noted for its love of good music. The theaters are quite dark during the playing of a picture, and it is impossible to find one’s way to a seat without the aid of the attendant with a searchlight.

However, it is the rule here as elsewhere that one should enter only at the beginning of the performance. Practically every town of Austria possesses at least a ‘kino’, but in the smaller places both accommodations and films are poor.

The price of admission to the Vienna theaters is from 3 to 20 crowns, or, at the present rate of 150 crowns to the dollar, from 2 to 20 cents. The variety of prices in a single theater is greater than in the United States. One may find a choice of a half dozen places between these two extremes.

“The most popular films are of the French make. German films are in demand when the star is popular, but Italian films have not found favor except in infrequent instances of sensational pictures. Of the French and German pictures the society drama is most popular. Certain classes of American films are especially favored. Particularly popular are those of the extremely sentimental type. A snappy detective story filled with action and intense dramatic situations finds instant favor, but the drawing-room and the city must furnish the setting. Wild West films are not understood and not liked.

‘Eccentric films are well liked but little known. Films of American comedians strike the public fancy but are not widely known, although French comedy films are thoroughly established in popular favor. Episode films are falling off in demand on the part of the exhibitors. Programs are exchanged twice weekly, and the theaters find it inconvenient to combine a film running through several weeks with the remainder of their program, as the time allotted to one performance is much shorter than in America.

‘Owing to restrictions on the use of electricity, all theaters must close in the evening by 10 o’clock in summer and by 8 in winter. Three performances a day during the week and only one on Sunday are the rule.”

Increase Granted in Duluth, Duluth, Minn.—Increases aggregating 20 per cent. have been granted projection on machine operators here.

EFFICIENT, reputable, distributing motion picture organization will buy American or World’s rights to pictures or will dispose of same for you. Will represent out-of-town or foreign concerns and permit use of its dignified offices to concerns represented by it.

Address F-23, care WID’s

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month

“CLAYPLAY”
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

“COMICCLASSICS”
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scaen
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month with our Greatest Stars
Directed by REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made “His Married Life” “Bringing Up Father” etc.

Special Pictures Corp.

THREE LARGE OFFICES WITH VAULT SPACE
FOR RENT

Use of Cutting Room—Terms Reasonable

Telephone: Bryant 1335, 3427
Ask for Mr. BARR

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit

Available

All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799
Huge Studio Planned
Rockville Center on Long Island the Location—Complete Details Unavailable

Following closely on the announcement made by Independent Studios, Inc., that a studio to accommodate 35 companies would be built on a site two minutes from Times Square, it became known yesterday that another plant is being talked of; this time on a 67 acre site near Rockville Center, Long Island.

John W. Semler, Walter Koenig and Charles E. Davenport are said to be the agents acting for large financial interests which have the new studio in mind.

A meeting was held last week in the offices of the Nassau County 1st National Bank at which time it was understood the village board of trustees was present to learn of the new plant. At the meeting, Semler stated that an option had been secured from Roland D. West on a 67 acre site known as the old reservoir, which lies along the Nassau County road about midway between Rockville Center and Baldwin.

Semler told the business men at the meeting that a careful analysis had been made of weather conditions in Long Island and that the observations had revealed that atmospheric conditions compared favorably with those in California.

As far as could be learned yesterday the plan calls for the erection of a great screen, a complete water system, fire department, etc. The first building to be erected will be a laboratory.

The plan calls for the building of a number of permanent sets, a community theater, restaurant, power house, carpenter shops, etc.

It was impossible to learn yesterday who was in back of the proposed plant and whether it would be operated on the individual unit basis like the Brunsch plant in Los Angeles.

Brooklyn papers in commenting on the meeting said that the plant would cost $15,000,000.

Goldwyn Plans Tour

It is understood that Samuel Goldwyn contemplates a tour of the world.

Dinner to De Haven

First National last night tendered dinner to Carter De Haven at which 30 editors of the trade press were present. After the dinner there was a “festival” in all its various phases.

INVESTIGATING FAMOUS PLAYERS

It is understood that the Federal Trade Commission is investigating Famous Players-Lasky Corp. with regard to a possible violation of Section 7 of the Clayton Act, which deals with the purchase of stock in a competitive corporation for the purpose of checking or preventing further competition.

Although this report could not be confirmed at the local offices of the Commission it was not denied.

At Famous Players Eck J. Ludvig of the legal department said: “It is true that the Commission is investigating all industries, and the film industry is included in this investigation. We have appointed Joseph W. Folk to look after our interests, and any and all questions upon which the Commission desires information will be furnished to that body by Mr. Folk. These are the facts of the situation.”

Working Agreement

Arranged in Cleveland for 1st Nat. Product—Gusdanovic Interested in First Runs

(Cable to WID’S DAILY)

Cleveland—Paul Gusdanovic has perfected with Emanuel (“Manny”) Mandelbaum, holder of the Ohio 1st National, a working agreement whereby the first run on First National productions here will be used by Gusdanovic. The arrangement was made with the Metropolitan Theater, which owns the franchise in Cleveland.

In answer to an inquiry from WID’S DAILY regarding the reported sale of his holdings, Mandelbaum said:

“I have disposed of any of my First National holdings nor do I have any intention of doing, outside of to our franchise holders who have purchased their allotted shares.”

Paul Gusdanovic said:

“Reports that I have purchase Mandelbaum’s interest in Ohio First National are false.”

The original report of the change in the Ohio First National situation gained credence in New York on Saturday when wires were immediately dispatched to interested parties to ascertain the exact status of matters.

Four Releases in Fall

Associated Exhibitors, Inc., will release four productions in the fall. Three of these will be features and the fourth a Harold Lloyd comedy.

The features include “The Riddle Woman,” an Edward Jose special which Anna Q. Nilsson and Earl Metcalfe will appear, and another about which nothing has been mentioned.

Crisp Going to London

Donald Crisp, who has been directing productions for Famous Players in California, is in New York with his assistant, Claude Mitchell.

Crisp has been assigned to the London studio of Famous and will next week assume his duties there.

Seeks Injunction

The Yankee Photoplay Corp., the producing unit of Kessel and Bannerman, who have “Babe” Ruth under contract, are seeking an injunction to prevent the exhibition of two short reel subjects in which Ruth appears.

The C. B. C. Film Sales Corp. has one reeler with Ruth at the bat this was taken last year during one of the games. Educational has a sto.
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send this to your ideas. Let's start fellow know how you cleaned up.

Chicago, Ill.—"What's Your Hurry" was given a big boost when the Chicago Motor Club adopted that slogan for its "safety first" campaign. A motorist greets another motorist from a huge sign in front of the headquarters of the club, or- quier Hoffman was given a tip to establish "What's Your Hurry" as a motto by Dan Roche, exploitation representative of the local Famous Players office and the influence of that personage helped. Set up in electric lights, hung up on two pianos, stenciled in white on the billboards with another electric sign still to be put up, the film will receive more than its share of free boosting. Incidentally 50,000 pamphlets with the words in the title predominating have been printed by the club which will have pennants of the slogan made and ask its members to show it on their machines.

Herkimer, N. Y.—In conjunction with the presentation of "The Right to Lie License," the management of the Liberty, issued some interesting cards which helped put it over. They read as follows: The Ancient Order of the Indies: Pre-varicators—The Right to Lie License—this is to certify that the bearer is hereby authorized to lie, prevaricate and extraordinarily stretch the truth in any way and at all times after seeing the screen version of "The Right to Lie," at the Liberty and thereafter will in due course be accepted as an expert in catch-as-catch-can and fancy lying, and will be entitled to all benefits and kind treatment of a full member of the A. O. R., I., P., in witness whereof, I have heretofore set my hand and seal this day of 1920, Ananas, secre- tary of state to his infernal majesty.

Canadian Exhibitors Exchange Expands

Winnipeg, Manitoba — When the local branch of the Canadian Exhibitors Exchange is established, that organization will have five offices in the Dominion. Over two hundred exhibitors are now behind the concern.

Big Company Formed in Nevada

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Carson City, Nev.—The United Stars Pictures Corp. has been formed here with a capitalization of $1,000,000.

The headquarters of the company are in Reno. Charles J. Bolle is in- terested in the company, William McEughey, a well-known attorney.

Charles Mc Clintock, director of exploitation of Selznick Enterprises, is on a tour of the key cities.

Izola Forrester and Mann Page's story, "The Mother Heart," has been purchased by Metro.

In the Courts

The Ritchey Lithograph Corp. has filed a suit in the Supreme Court against the Hallmark Pictures Co. It is alleged that the company ordered a draft for $5,895, drawn June 15, but that when it was presented to the New York Trust Co. payment was refused.

Vin Hubbard, author of "Abe Martin's Sayings," is suing the Universal Film Manufacturing Co. in the Sup- reme Court for $3,000 for alleged breach of contract. Hubbard says the defendant used to accept any more of his work or pay him any more salary under the contract.

Nazimova Makes Personal Appearance

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—At a special showing of "Madame Peacock," Nazimova's latest production, the star made a personal appearance at the Iris theater, Hollywood.

A number of stars and directors at- tended the performance, the admis- sion price for which was $2 mini- mum. The proceeds of the performance will go to the family of Eugene Gaudio, who photographed the picture.

Beban Film Shown in Pomonita

Pomona, Cal.—George Beban's "One Man in a Million" was shown at the Belvedere Theater here on Saturday. The picture will be cut down to two reels in its present condition. Sol Lesser, who pro- duced the film, held the showing to ascertain from the audience the parts with the best appeal and thus control his cutting accordingly.

English Goldwynner Appears

Copies of the first issue of the English edition of the Goldwynner arrived in this country. The issue is in 28 pages attractively laid out and plentifully illustrated.

Kann Returning

George E. Kann, manager of Uni- versal's foreign department, is due in New York from abroad on Sat- urday. He has been away for a number of months.

Equitable Secures Lesser Features

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The Western Pictures Exploitation Co., which recently took over such features as "Sky- Eye," "Hearts of the World" and "Stranger" from Sol Lesser, has disposed of three of these productions to the Equitable Film Corp. of Kan- sas City, Mo., for Kassa and Mis- souri.

Shipman Due Shorty

Ernest Shipman is due in New York the end of the week from Win- nipeg.

St. Louis Theaters Hold 115,016

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis, Mo.—The entire population of St. Louis could be accommodated in the theaters and airdomes in less than a week's time, according to a statistic compiled by the Department of Public Saf- ety James N. McKeehan, who has is duction over the theaters.

Inspectors have found there are more than 100 buildings devoted to pictures and 24 pieces of property being utilized by airdomes. Seven more theaters are in course of construction and will be finished shortly. Notable among these are the De- monot, which opens Sept. 5, with seating capacity of 3,000, and the Fran- cisco Players' house at Grand and Lucas Ave., which will be dedicated probably on Thanksgiving. The house seats about 3,500.

The total seating capacity of the permanent theaters is 82,795, while the number that can be accommo- dated in the airdomes at one time is 32,321. The combined seating capacity of both classes of amuse- ment places is 115,016. The 1920 cen- sus gave the population of St. Louis as 773,000.

The airdomes range in size from 3 to 2,582, the latter being the Hamil- ton Skydome, Hamilton and East Ave.

Actors' Equity to Open Picture Dept.

Friday, from 4 to 12, will see the formal opening of Actors' Equity sec- tion at 229 W. 51st St. John Em- erson will be on hand to tell of his experience on the other side.

Los Angeles—Motion picture pro- ducers hear with no enthusiasm that the stage is all set for a drive by the Actors' Equity Association to organize the players in the film industry.

The formation of a picture branch of Equity may gather in over 3,000 and bring high and low into some solidarity. It would give them command over the industry, control some film folks here.

John Emerson has for several years devoted all his time to the films.

Few things are worthy of superlative descriptions,— but the RITCHLEY poster is one of those few.

RITCHLEY
LITHO CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8938

Tuesday, August 31, 1920
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Pickford is selecting a cast Brunton studios for a new-drama, as yet untitled. Fran- ron will direct.

Newman, former property e of Warren Kerrigan has been ed assistant director for Dusan.

Carr Conklin has returned from pant appearance tour of the est, and will begin work on the first of his Wi's ters for the Special Pictures His first picture will be titled, "Life's Relations."

am Lawrence is appearing in of Alice Lake in Metro's and Soul."

N. Litton, Goldwyn direc- is started production on the of the Booth Tarkington's series.

Jason Hopper, s completing or producing "Canavan." Tom next Goldwyn picture.

m Russell, Fox star starts work on "The Iron Rider," h. Packard. Vola Vale will feminine lead.

e Williams has been ap- casting director by Thos. H. cceed Fredy Frailek, re- signed.

urne MacDonell has been Universal in "Outside the God Browning's story in cilla Dean is starring. GAUSMAN.

Roth in Town
Roth of San Francisco is

"Carthay's "Out of the Dust," in WID'S DAILY of Jan. s to be shown today at the projecting room at 3 P. M., changes having been made first showing.

pilot publicity department is ng a special house bulletin employees of the theater. The ared on Saturday.

Hutchison is at work on episode of his Pathe serial, "The Adventure."
DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 29

"THE GREEN GOD" with Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe

by

PAUL SCARDON

Directed It

And also

"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND" with Blanche Sweet

Now directing

BESSIE BARRISCAL

Glynne in Hospital

"Mike" Glynne of Glynne and Ward, who operate the Alhambra in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn and the Century in Flatbush, is in the Midwood Sanitarium where he is nursing a broken knee-cap.

Glynne will be confined to the hospital for a number of weeks and so has had his room fixed up as an office where he is supervising the details of his new Astoria Theater which is being built at Steinway and Grand Aves. The Astoria will seat over 3,000 and will be, by far, the best theater in that section of the city.

Albany Houses Raise Prices

Albany, N.Y.—Prices will be raised at several of the local theaters coincident with increased wage demands by stage hands, musicians and others associated with the houses. The Hudson will charge 16 cents instead of 11, Proctor’s Harmanus Bleecker Hall 20, 30 and 40, including the tax, and Proctor’s Grand will inaugurate a top price of 99 cents upon opening in December. Others are expected to follow suit.

Frank Reicher

Now Directing

Dorothy Dalton

for

Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

Talk of Big Films

Coast Studios Have Large Productions Either Completed or Scheduled for Making

(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—A local publication has compiled a list of big pictures that have either been completed in local studios or that are scheduled for production.

The publication points to the list as sufficient evidence that the picture fans who think "the play is the thing" are about right.

William Fox has plans ready for an elaborate production of "The Queen of Sheba" which J. Gordon Edwards will direct. Vitagraph has completed an expensive production called "Trumpet Island" which is said to have cost $250,000. Tom Terriss directs.

Other productions listed are as follows:

- The Last of the Mohicans—Mace, Tournier production for Ausco Prod., "Peter Pan." Famous Players with Maude Adams as possible star; "Omar Khayyam," which Ferdinand Phillips is making without any sets; Maurice Mutterlinck’s story for Goldwyn, which is being held in secrecy.

Pinnacle Comedies Nov. 1

Chicago—The Independent Film Assn. will release a series of 12 two-reel Pinnacle comedies beginning Nov. 1. The star of the series has not been made known as yet, but the following territories have been disposed of:

- Dooley Exchange, Syracuse and Buffalo; Savini Films, Atlanta; Magnet Film Co., Denver and Omaha; R. D. Lewis Film Co., Dallas, San Antonio, Little Rock and Oklahoma City; Crescent Film Co., Kansas City: First National, Minneapolis and Milwaukee; 20th Century Film Co., Philadelphia; Warner Film Attractions, Cleveland; Major Corp., Boston; Pearce Films, New Orleans, and Greater Features, Inc., Seattle.

Neal Hart, who is making a series of features to be released as Pinnacle Prod., has started the second "Skyfire," at Glendale, Cal. The first is "Hell’s Oasis."

Change at Rivoli

George Mellord’s production, "The Roof-Up," with Roscoe Arbuckle will be the feature at the Rivoli next week instead of Charles Ray in "The Village Sleuth."

What’s a Wife Worth

Robertson-Cole

In Course of Preparation

Frankenthaler Buys Dekalb

Frankenthaler Bros., owners of the Halsey, Halsey St. and Broadway, Brooklyn, are understood to have taken over the Dekalb, Dekalb Ave. and Broadway, Brooklyn, which was formerly operated by Marcus Loew.

There has been considerable speculation in exhibiting circles as to the future of the Dekalb. Loew’s lease on the house expired a few weeks ago and it is understood that he was unable to secure a short time renewal on the house. His new theater at Gateway and Broadway, a five minute walk from the Dekalb, is being pushed ahead rapidly and for that reason it is said he did not care to take over the house for any length of time.

Frankenthaler Bros. plan to open the Dekalb on Labor Day with Elise Ferguson in "Lady Rose’s Daughter." Paramount product has been booked solid.

George L. Clarke has opened offices at 145 W. 45th St., where he will exploit stars, scenarios and directors.

Charles R. Rogers, director of sales, Select, is on a visit to the Pittsburgh and Washington branches.

THE MOTION PICTURE EDITORS OF MANY NEWSPAPERS THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES ARE ALREADY ASKING FOR

Wid’s 1920 Year Book

Coming Soon

Increase Salaries, Raise Rates

Minneapolis, Minn.—Follows creases granted to musicians, actors, bill posters and other employees, Ruben & Finkelschtet decided to raise the admission in all of their houses beginning Oct. 1. Musicians will receive $32 a week instead of the present $48.75 scale and the total is $500 for the four hundred employees amount to about $100,000 a year according to J. H. Ruben. The present rate of admission is 50 cents at the downtown houses.

Two serial lights are made series of 15 two-reel westerns with Tom Sanschi. Ronald Coburn is directing, while Franko and Clark is writing the stories.

CAMERAMAN

COTTON'S DAILY

CHESTER CONKLIN

GALE HENRY

2 Reels—One-A-Month

2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"

Novelty Comedies

1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRIS

Scenic Stories

1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICCLASSIC"

1500 ft. of Comedy

500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-Months with our Greatest Stars

Directed by

REGGIE MORRIS

the man who made

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father" in

Special Pictures Corp.
Fears Combine
Fish Trade Journal Thinks Booking Scheme May Be Tried in That Country
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
London. Eng.—A warning to the exchange systems to watch for an attempt to introduce into country percentage bookings booking combines is voiced in an article which appeared in a recent issue of The Film Renter and Motion Picture News.

"here, however," says the article, "one aspect of the scheme which is deserving of attention in our own renting trade, is the moment this American me is remote that it does not have much bearing on conditions in this country. To regard matter in this light is foolish. Individuals and the promoters of this scheme are trying to own the exchange or renter with partial success, it is

(Continued on Page 2)

Karger to Direct Lytell
etoro now states that Maxwell Karger will direct five special productions starring Bert Lytell, all to trade in the East.

ID's DAILY in a Los Angeles pitch published on Jan. 10 said Karger was coming East to direct Lytell.

Moreno in Features?
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—It is reported here that Anthony Moreno, upon completion of "The Veiled Mystery," will join the serial field and produce pictures for Vitagraph. He may take up to Mexico.

The Vitagraph studio could not confirm the above report, and at the New York office General Manager Prager could not be reached for comment.

vigilance Committee
The National Association has asked a vigilant committee headed James R. Quinn of Hypothr and seeing several of the trade paper editors, to protect the good name of the industry. The duties of the committee will include the investigation of stock selling schemes, the launch of schools for acting and promotion of legitimate schemes.

second committee, of which Al L. Smith of Vitagraph is chairman, has been named to cooperate with officials of the Buenos Aires International Exposition in making several stops for conferences with First National sales managers.

Case Hangs Fire
Question of Permanent Injunction Favoring Babe Ruth to Be Decided Today

Supreme Court Justice Guy heard arguments yesterday in the application of Babe Ruth suing under the name of George Herman Ruth, to restrain the exhibition of pictures portraying him which he alleges he has not authorized. The defendant named Educational Films, Inc., B.F. Keith's Theaters Co., the B.S. Moss Theatrical Enterprises, N.Y. Exchange for Educational Films, C.B.C. Sales, Inc., Jack Cohn and Proctor Theatrical Enterprises.

(Continued on Page 4)

Prager Due This Week
Benjamin A. Prager, president of Mayflower, is en route to New York from Los Angeles with, it is believed, information as to Mayflower's production plans for the new year. Prager is making several stops for conferences with First National sales managers.

Del Ruth Out
Fox Comedy Organization Undergoes Upheaval—Four Directors Leave
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—A complete reorganization has been in the Fox "Sunshine" Comedy organization. Hampton Del Ruth, who has been supervising the comedy production, is no longer with Fox in any capacity.

The shake-up resulted in the severance of relations between Fox and the following directors: Vin Moore, Roy Del Ruth, K.G. MacLean and James Davis. Jack Cooper, the comedian, has also left the company.

The Fox coast management made the announcement that beginning yesterday there would be four directors making Sunshine Comedies, but their names were not divulged.

Nelan Signs Colleen Moore
Los Angeles—Marshall Nelan has placed Colleen Moore under a long term contract.

One from Farrar
Original Associated Exhibitors' Contract Called for Two Productions
Geraldine Farrar will appear in only one picture for Associated Exhibitors, Inc., instead of two, as the original contract called for. The picture is "The Riddle: Woman," and has been completed.

The Los Angeles Times in a recent issue stated that Miss Farrar, in a letter to Mrs. James Neill, declared her intention of abandoning pictures for good with the completion of the Associated Exhibitors release.

Miss Farrar's secretary stated yesterday that it was true that Associated Exhibitors contract had been completed, but that she did not believe that Miss Farrar had definitely decided to remain out of pictures. Because of the absence of the time of the prima donna, her secretary preferred not to make any definite statement for publication.

Here and Expected
Florence Deshon, formerly with Vitagraph, is in from the coast to spend a vacation with her family in New York. She will return to Los Angeles in the fall.

Phillip Hurn, formerly with Triangle and Universal under the H. O. Davis regime, is here. Hurn, who is a scenarioist, is at the Pennsylvania.

Waltz Song, Tyrone, Louis Mayer scenario writer, is expected at the New York offices from the coast tomorrow. She will work on the editing of "The House of His House" with Director John Stahl.

Italian Film on 1st Nat'l List
First National will release in about six weeks a big Italian production in which Pola Negri, who is said to be the most popular star in those parts, appears.

It was impossible to learn yesterday the title of the picture or any details regarding the nature of the production. Italian productions, however, have usually been along spectacular lines.

Ready for Local Campaign
The Strand in a page advertisement which appeared last Sunday announced the inauguration of the Associated First National service, by virtue of its new sub-franchise, with the showing of "45 Minutes from Broadway.

It is learned that the Strand announcement marks the opening of the drive for sub-franchise members in New York City.
Fears Combine
(Continued from Page 1)

...certain to be tried on a more extended scale in the near future. In such an event what is there to prevent the extension of the idea to the trade in this country? Nothing, so far as we can see. Whether it would prove a success is another matter. For our part we do not think a booking organization is on the lines of the Lynch concern, which operates on the American system of a daily change, and has a capital of something like $10,000,000 behind it, would stand much chance of establishing itself over here. Whatever the future may hold for our trade, it is certain that the time is not ripe for the adoption of the percentage method of booking films by those who favor it in this country.

"This fact has been established beyond question during the last few months, for it is within our knowledge that certain members of the industry who were thought to favor the percentage booking system seriously discussed the possibility of its adoption in the British trade at a series of meetings last spring with leading American film men on a visit to this country. They ultimately came to the conclusion that it would be impossible at present to bring about such a radical change in trading methods.

"But that is not to say we have heard the last of such a menace. Soon or later the question is bound to once more obtrude itself, and a determined effort may be made to introduce percentage booking into this country.

"What is there to prevent such an organization from entering into an arrangement with, say, 40 or 30 of the leading theaters whereby they are appointed sole booking agents on the ground that they can secure films on more advantageous terms than the individual exhibitors, and that this might happen: such a thing was possible, always bearing in mind how the Birmingham theater booking combina was beaten on this very point early last year, such an organization would conceivably be in a strong position to take terms with the exhibitor if it had so far succeeded in its aims as to be in a position to say that it had the booking of half a hundred leading picture theater programs in its hands.

"We have before us the case of the First National of America, the main plank in which is an amalgamation of leading theater proprietors who, with immense financial resources behind them, buy their own films and show them at an agreed price according to territory. The Lynch scheme—which is incidentally a subtle attempt to undermine the First National—goes one step further than this in the attempt to eliminate the middleman, merely cutting out buyers and substituting a new system based on the basis of booking so extraordinarily high that one marvels that any exhibitor can be found to consider it.

"Even so, there is nothing to prevent such an agency seeking to operate in this country from reducing its percentages and commission, and despite the advance booking bogey it might in time become a serious menace to the trade unless steps were taken at the outset to checkmate its activities. British renters would therefore do well to keep their eyes very wide open, and to regard it with justifiable suspicion anything in the nature of an attempt to introduce such a system into this country."

Trusts in Europe

P. N. Brinch, manager of the foreign department of the W. W. Hodkinson Corp., is back from an extended stay in Europe. Brinch brings back with him some interesting observations on conditions abroad. He says:

"In some of the foreign markets two or three groups hold complete domination of the motion picture industry and sometimes a veritable monopoly exists, under which the exhibitors are bound hand and foot by contracts with producers or exchanges for their film service. The selection of pictures is practically removed from the exhibitor's hands and I have seen cases where such arrangements were made, and which have been assigned to his theater, regardless of what his personal preferences might be.

"How long this condition will exist there is no telling, but as things stand now the exhibitors seem absolutely helpless as they lack organization as well as an appreciation of the seriousness of the situation."

PROPER INSURANCE MEANS PROTECTION

YOUR BUSINESS—AUTOMOBILE, HOME, STAR—YOU YOURSELF—NEED INSURANCE.

Take precautions against insufficient insurance. A 5,000 or 10,000 limit does not adequately cover your auto. Ask us why—and we will tell you.

Susanne Grandais Dead

The World yesterday morning published the following cable from Paris office:

"By the death of Susanne Grandais the French movie world has lost one of its greatest if not the greatest of its stars. Indirectly the French Government loses one of the most captivating and intelligent members of propaganda service, for Grandais undertook to figure in a film which the Government desired to show the world the devastated aspect of France's northern provinces in the energy displayed by its inhabitants in struggling to get back to the normal conditions of life."

"Grandais was the idol of French movie fans. She was considered by many to be the very image of Mary Pickford."

"Midsummer Madness" is announced as the title of the new William DeMille production which is an adaptation of Conan Hamilton's novel, "His Friend His Wife."

The Motion Picture Art Directors Union is giving Hollywood the "do or die" for a suitable location for reference library and permanent rooms. At present their headquarters are in the Hannesey Studio Western Ave.

"To make matters worse for exhibitors, from the notion that theater licenses are hard to obtain and new building plans are expected by the Government who want all available space and material to the rebuilding of homes and industries rather than the erection of additional theaters."

There may be many ways to sell motion picture tickets, but the quickest, surest and most efficacious way is through the use of RITCHIE POSTERS!

RITCHIE
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chicago 8388

"If you make a hit, you will make money."

RITCHIE PRODUCTION COMPANY
1045 W. 6th St., Los Angeles, Cal.

"We make you money or we don't make you money."

RITCHIE LITHOGRAPH COMPANY
313 N. Vermont St., Los Angeles, Cal.
At Broadway Theaters

Strand

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," from the George M. Cohan M.F.A., and starring Charles Ray, is the feature at the Strand and is given an unusually appropriate and outstanding presentation. M. L. Lake has composed "Cohanique Rhapsody" as the overture for this week and this is an interesting composition revealing the many and various moods in which George Cohan writes. Following the road and scene, "The Tonk, the Wilder," comes a vocal number, "So Long Mary," rendered by a male quartette. This is one of the most popular of Cohan's old-time songs and is also a theme which is carried through the feature, first used and followed in the dance. During the feature a pianola figures prominently in the orchestral accompaniment in those scenes in which a musical number is used. A violin solo follows the feature and the concluding comedy is "Good Night Nurse," with Alice Howell starred.

Rivoli

The Rivoli is playing the Elsie Ferguson feature, "Lady Rose's Daughter." It is preceded by an appropriate dance before a beautiful setting, given the title of "In a Watusi Mountain," the overture is "Tales of Hoffman." The weekly features the scenes from the Olympic games. Willy Stahl, violinist, rends his own, "Romance" and Massenet's "Meditation" from "Thais," after the feature, while a new crinoline comedy, "Seven Balled Pates," concludes.

Broadway

Dustin Farnum in "Big Happiness," a Hardwood M.F.A., "The Girl With the Million," and one of the Babe Ruth short stories are presented at the Broadway. The overture is selections from "Faust" with the topical review and Topics of the Day following.

Rialto

"Humoresque" is given practically the same presentation at this house which was accorded the Rivoli last week. The Rivel is last week's "Tales of Hoffman." The weekly features the scenes from the Olympic games. Willy Stahl, violinist, rends his own, "Romance" and Massenet's "Meditation" from "Thais," after the feature, while a new crinoline comedy, "Seven Balled Pates," concludes.

Capitol

The Capitol program this week consists of an interesting variety of vocal and orchestral selections presented in connection with many pretty and appropriate settings. "Moon of My Delight," from Liza Lehman's composition reviving, is sung by Worth Frazier, Bertram Peacock sings "Apricot," from the Overture, and the orchestra renders selections from the "Merry Widow." The ballet from the "Sixth Hungarian Dance" is given by Alexander Oumansky and Mie Gambarici, assisted by the Capitol Janissey and the Capitol Dancers.

Strike Certain in Albany

"The operators employed by motion picture theaters here will strike on Labor Day unless their demands for a weekly salary of $40 is granted them before that time. At a meeting of the operators Monday night a strike vote was unanimously adopted. The exhibitors say that they intend to remain firm in the position they have taken and will not give the operators more than $35 a week, which is an advance of $10 over the present scale of wage.

Samuel Suckno, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors organization, who is the proprietor of the Regent and Albany theaters, said: "We are ready to increase the pay of the operators to $35, at the same time we are willing to waive the agreement we have with the men to work until next year at $25 a week."

It is reported here today that the house managers will not close their houses in the event of a strike on Labor Day, as they are of the opinion that almost anyone can be broken in to operate a motion picture machine in a day or two."

The operators insist that their demands for an increase of 60 per cent is just and fair, considering the number of hours employed daily.

New Feature for Western Pictures

"Los Angeles—"Souls of Men," a five reel feature made during the direction of the G. and J. Photoplay Co., Inc., has been turned over to the Western Pictures Exposition Co. for national release.

The picture will be distributed on a state rights plan.

Mack Sennett is putting his entire retinue of comics to the task of duplicating success of "Married Life" with his second first National super-comedy, which will be titled "Love, Honor and Behave." All the Sennett favorites will appear in the cast.

Change Firm Titles

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

N.Y., N. Y.—According to records with the Secretary of State, motion picture enterprises have changed the name of their firm title.

Independent Productions Inc. of New York City will in the future do business as the Independent Studios Inc. and the H. N. Carbrator Company as the Cinemat Motion Picture Company.

Diamond Amusement Co. of New York City has increased its capital from $50,000 to $500,000. Fox Properties of the Bronx, has increased its capital from $1 to $50,000.

Not a New Film

shall Nelan, has issued a state in which he points out that the "The Country God Forgot," receiving extensive advertising old film now being re-issued.

key Mason's next release is a "Mary's Secret," the story by Israel Zangwill.

id Anderson, has arranged to charge of the title of his novel, "Blue Moon," by "Flying A."
Case Hangs Fire
(Continued from Page 1)
Ruth obtained an injunction late Monday night through his attorney, ex-Judge Mahoney, restraining the exhibition of these films. As a result of the argument Justice Guy permitted their continued exhibition and it is expected that he will decide the application to continue the injunction this morning.

In asking for continuance of the injunction Judge Mahoney stated that Babe Ruth occupies a unique position as the greatest home-run hitter of all time, and any profit resulting from his prowess as a home-run hitter should accrue to him and not to motion picture producers who have nothing to do with his ability. He contends that the films which are to be shown against his opposition consist of pictures taken at various times and patched together to make a continuous film.

Ex-Judge McCall, appearing for the defendants, stated that before the pictures were exhibited that Babe Ruth had seen a print and negative. He contends that "as Babe Ruth is a public character he is not entitled to release under the 'civil rights act' any more than would be the President of the United States or any representative of a foreign government whose pictures appear in films of the day's news."

6,000 Theaters in Drive
Famous Players state that 6,000 theaters are expected to take part in the Annual Paramount Week, which opens Sept. 2.

Wilson Leaves Strand
J. Victor Wilson, who has been managing the publicity department at the Strand since that theater's inception, has resigned to enter the legitimate field. His successor has not been named.

What's A Wife Worth
Robertson-Cole
In Course of Preparation

Features From Levey
Regular Entertainment Productions Planned—Eight A Year
Harry Levey, former manager of the Universal Industrial Department and now head of the Harry Levey Service Corp., plans a second corporation to be called the Harry Levey Prod., which will make entertainment productions exclusively.

Levey plans to make eight productions a year, all of feature length. The first will be "Uncle Sam of Freedom Ridge," which Levey, as noted, has just secured. George Beranger, until recently with Fox, where he made several specials, will direct this.

"The Truth About Husbands" is the title of the first of three specials which will be produced by Whitman Bennett for Associated First Nat'l. It is an adaptation of "The Prodigate." Anna Lehr will appear in the film.

George Arliss, who will appear in "The Devil" for Andrew J. Callaghan Prod., has returned from England.

Two More for Comerford
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Scranton, Pa.—Plans are being considered for the erection of two picture theaters in Scranton by M. E. Comerford, head of the Comerford Amusement Co. Comerford said that one of the houses will be on the site of the Cos fellows' building, Wyoming Ave., which is owned by Comerford, and the other will be on the site of the former Dexter building, where the Atlas building now stands, which is owned by Comerford. The houses will have a seating capacity of 2,400 people.

Feibleman Joins Fox
Bert Feibleman has joined the forces of Fox Film Corp. Feibleman has been managing the projection for David Belasco on one road and at present will be associated with Samuel F. Kingston, head of the casting department.

Cameraman
with complete outfit
Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

Chester Conklin
2 Reels—One-A-Month
Gale Henry
2 Reels—One-A-Month
"Clayplay"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
Sunset Burrud
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week
"Comic Classics"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
Reggie Morris
the man who made
"His Married Life"
"Bringing Up Father" etc.
Special Pictures Corp.
Bond Drawn Up

antee to Be Given United Artists on Advance Deposits—Theaters Vote Result

Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce has employed the services of a large trust company to appraise a sample bond which has been submitted to Hiram Abrams of the Artists as a protective measure against bad checks and defaulting exhibitors.

This is the latest effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce to advance deposits with Mr. Abrams, the question of the advance deposits when a picture is more than seven days off. It is believed thatAbrams' stand on the matter is that he wants full payment for his product at the time the contract is signed, even if it will be more than seven days in advance of the playing date, while the operators maintain that payment so far in advance of a picture's showing works up their funds indefinitely.

A sample bond, according to one of the theater owners, has already been submitted to Abrams, who has promised to give a definite answer by today. It is possible that means may revise the bond as it is, but it is learned that if his bond were not considered too drastic by the Chamber of Commerce, will be accepted.

Harron Seriously Injured

Harron accidentally shot off his right hand last night at the Hotel Sey, where he was unpicking his hand. Harron was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where his condition was at once serious.

Harron, if he recovers, will have to cease a violation of the Sullivan law.

Jury Returning Shortly

William Jury may leave for home any day. He expected to return yesterday but was forced to other arrangements.

Brockwell in Lewis Film

(Out to WID'S DAILY)

Angels—It is reported here that Gladys Brockwell, formerly of Radio City, will be featured in an Edgar Wallace production, tentatively called "Sage Hen," from a story by Hy Solter.

Harry Cahn's "associate" in East, could not be reached yesterday for a confirmation of the report.

Strike Very Likely

Theater Owners and Operators Cannot Get Together—Latter Hold Meeting

All indications point to a strike of projection machine operators in Greater New York next week. The theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce and the Operators' Union which is an I.A.T.S.E. affiliated body, have so far failed to meet on a common ground.

(Continued on Page 1)

Executive Committee Meets

There was a meeting held yesterday of the executive committee of the American Company Buys Out Distributing and Theater Organization in South America

The Chilean Cinema Corp., incorporated recently in Delaware with a capitalization of $100,000, has bought out the interests in the picture business in Chile of the Empresas de Teatro y Cinemas, Ltda.

The last mentioned company is said to be the largest film distributing organization and body of theater owners on the Southern Pacific coast. They have many branches throughout the territory of Chile and own a quite a number of theaters. They control the exclusive exhibition rights of the Paramount Aircraft productions as well as Vitagraph, and have recently acquired rights on the Art and Universal output.

Negotiations were consummated through Eduardo Rodrigo, offices in the Candler Building. Rodrigo is special representative of the Empresas de Teatro y Cinemas, Ltda. The amount involved in the transaction has not been made public.

Closes Chilean Deal

American Company Buys Out Distributing and Theater Organization in South America

The Chilean Cinema Corp., incorporated recently in Delaware with a capitalization of $100,000, has bought out the interests in the picture business in Chile of the Empresas de Teatro y Cinemas, Ltda.

The last mentioned company is said to be the largest film distributing organization and body of theater owners on the Southern Pacific coast. They have many branches throughout the territory of Chile and own quite a number of theaters. They control the exclusive exhibition rights of the Paramount Aircraft productions as well as Vitagraph, and have recently acquired rights on the Realart and Universal output.

Negotiations were consummated through Eduardo Rodrigo, offices in the Candler Building. Rodrigo is special representative of the Empresas de Teatro y Cinemas, Ltda. The amount involved in the transaction has not been made public.

What's All This?

Film Men Interested in Report of Meeting in London Regarding New Combine

There was considerable interest aroused yesterday in film circles over the article published in yesterday's World from Washington which told of a meeting now in progress there of the leading real film manufacturers.

"It is reported that a prominent American manufacturer is now visiting various countries for the purpose of co-ordinating the production and distribution of films. The report states that studios are to be built in England for the use of well known movie stars who will produce pictures intended for the whole world."

Terms Given on Gish Contract

William L. Sherrill, president of Frohman Amusement Co., yesterday made public the terms of the contract Lilian Gish holds with his company. The reason for the statement, Sherrill says, is to correct the reports that Miss Gish was to receive "in excess of $50,000 a year."

Sherrill says the Gish contract is for three years, but that the first year Miss Gish receives $3,500 a week, the second year $4,500 a week, and the third year $7,000 a week.

In addition to which Miss Gish participates in the net profits of the productions in which she appears. In other words, for the three years, venue from her interest in the profits of each production, Miss Gish receives a total of $880,000, and the contract states that Miss Gish will appear in more than five productions a year.

Writers' Guild Here

Tom Geraghty, who has arrived in the East to take charge of scenarios for Famous Players, announced yesterday that he would also form an eastern branch of the Screen Writers' Guild as soon as possible.

The Guild was recently established on the west coast as a branch of the Authors' League and is now functioning in behalf of its many members. Geraghty now bears authority from the western organization to establish a branch here.
St. Louis Notes

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis—The Marvel at Carlinville, Ill., opened its doors on Thursday. Louise Glaum in “Sex” was the feature attraction. Mrs. Frank Paul is the manager.

District Sales Representative Sh.
cock of Special Pictures is in St.
Louis.

R. B. Dickinson, manager for Independent Producers Film Co., announced his company has taken a lease on quarters at 4305 Olive St.
They are now located at 3318 Lindel.
St. Harry L. Pfeer has arranged for space in the new building.

Louis Maron of the Majestic
Johnston City, Ill., dropped in Friday.
He took back some features and comedies for his September bills.

Tom Leonard of Pioneer has returned from an extensive trip through Indiana and Southern Illinois.

James Clayton of the Opera House,
West Frankfurt, Ill., came up Friday for some live stuff. Jim reports the miners are back to work and business is excellent. The recent race riots in that city did not interfere with the picture shows he reports.

A private press showing of Humoresque was given at the Pershing
Friday.

Frank Harris, connected with the Chicago Pathé office for the past two years, has been made St. Louis manger, and Harry Hynes has been pro-noted from booker to assistant St.
Louis exchange manager for pathé.

R. A. Baxley and James Bradford both formerly of Dallas, Tex., have taken the road for the Enterprise Distributing Corp. Baxley travels Arkansas and Bradford has been asdixed in South Dakota and Southern Illinois. Wallace Walthall, brother of Henry Walthall, is St. Louis manager for Enterprise.

Detroit, Mich.—J. M. Duncan has been re-elected president of the Detroit Board of M. P. Exchange Mangers. He is the manager of the Vitagraph office.

Coast Brevities

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—Maurice Tourneur and a company of 90 have returned from three weeks trip to Big Bear where scenes were filmed for “The Last of the Mohicans.”

Tod Browning and Priscilla Dean, accomplices, Included W. A. Oakman, Lou Cheaney and other principal memers of the cast in “Outside the Law” have left for a week in San Francisco.

Buster Keaton and his company of locomotives have completed the third two-reel comedy for Joseph M.
Schenck and released through Metro, titled “The Scarecrow.” Eddie Cline
directed.

“Rings and Things,” from the story of the same name by John A. Morocco, has been chosen as the next starring vehicle for Viola Dana.

Norman Dawn, Universal director, has just completed a story of South America, “The Spell of the Andes,” which the scenario department has accepted as a vehicle for Frank Mayo.

“One Bright Idea,” by Edgar Franklin, is scheduled for early production. It is starring Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran, Universal stars.

The Chester Comedies will have two companies working at their studio on North Soto St., within another week. The new company will be directed by Harry Burns, under the supervision of W. S. Campbell.

Charlotte Merriam has been signed by Special Pictures Corp. She has started work under the direction of
Reggie Morris.

Helen Starr, who for the past year has been affiliated with Goldwyn will write continuity for King Vidor Productions.

Stuart Paton has finished “Kate
Plus Ten,” starring Eva Novak.

There will be no dearth of high-class comedies, according to schedule of productions at the Christie studio.
Five directors are now making new
Christie comedies.

Mississippi Organizes

A convention of the theater owners of Mississippi was held at the wards Hotel, Jackson, Miss., on the 4th. H. T. O. were present and the independent exhibitor Mississip affiliated with the national organization.

Resolutions were adopted adopting the resolutions of the M. P. T. O.
in the G. A. M. T. O. of Mississipp the resolution urging the support of independent producers and tributors; against percentage adjustments, and absolute payments in full not more than 30 days before actual pay dates.

The board of directors is as folloows: C. E. Montgomery, St.
Wooten, E. H. Hatcher, F. W.
Rushton, A. W. Perry.

Night Stuff

Tom Terriss has a large shippment on his hands, which he will finish before the next release, who will he be the next will move up the Hudson with eral high-powered tugs and is doing some night work which will be finished as soon as by the blowing skytop of the jammer and the consequence of the ship being given up by the and inhabitants. This is for the second production, “Dead Men Tell Tales.”

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Powers stockholders’ protective committee formed in Rochester has completed organization and announces that its purpose is to investigate the formation, management and present condition of

POWERS’ FILM PRODUCTS, Inc.
and to protect their holdings by legal action. Those few stockholders whose names have been added to the list of stockholders are invited to join the body of stockholders and to obtain and mail the committee’s counsel the special proxy provided.

JAMES L. BREWER, Attorney
State Street, Rochester

ARThUR HEWITT, Chairman

GAUSMAN
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

through an arrangement between orangemen and Mayflower, exhibitor of New York, was able to bring about the competition and thus fill up between their theaters and advertising pages which have been leaving the National Sales Girls to the city. This time, according to Mark Kin of Mayflower, is being handled by the Newspaper Enterprise and in operation with 300 papers. Papers in various cities ch featuring this stunt staged local tests to find the most beautiful girl in their particular city.

under the supervision of Ray L. Klinger in a Kimograms, films are now made out of the contest, arranged by Mark Kin of Mayflower, is being handled by the Newspaper Enterprise Association, running in cooperation with 300 papers. Papers in various cities can feature this stunt staged local tests to find the most beautiful girl in their particular city.

Newark Rialto Opens Saturday

The Rialto Theater, Broad St., opposite City Hall, Newark, will be opened to the public Saturday night. Max Spiegel is president of the company, the manager and treasurer, and William F. Rafferty, secretary and treasurer.

Rose Plays for Pioneer

Pioneer has secured films of the plays produced by Morris Rose, who is vice-president of the company. "Pandora" and "Blue Eyes," the latter in course of production, are owned by Miss Rose, who has under contract June Walker.

Southard Brown, who has been with Pioneer for several years, has been made director of productions.

Jack Hunter of the franchise department, National, and Miss Lottie Graham of Montreal were married yesterday morning.

The couple left immediately for a honeymoon at the Thousand Islands.

"The standard of excellence" and "a guarantee of quality" During the days preceding the showing and the two days of its exhibition, every one who read the advertisements was told insistently that the film was a First National production and that as a natural result that meant it was a film of quality.

On the first day of the showing of the film, the purpose of flashing the First National banner, became obvious when, under the space allotted to the advertising of the feature, an announcement appeared stating that Keeney had been granted an Associated First National franchise, and that consequently his theater would exhibit all first run films distributed by First National. Then followed a list of the productions which would appear under this banner.

Creston, Ohio—The problem of putting over in good shape "Yes, Sir, I'm A Scout," has occupied the mind of E. Metzer, manager of the Strand for several days before he was to show the picture at his house.

Metzer decided to find some manner of telling the people what he had to offer them at his house in a manner that would attract their attention and get them interested. He had a large number of handbills printed with the following printed upon them:

"You are not going to stay home tonight. Yes, you are coming to the Strand Theater to see the biggest First National feature entitled "Yes, Sir, I'm A Scout." He placed one handbill in each home in the city.

Then he hit upon the idea of renting the large water sprinkler for the day and had a big banner on each side of it reading "Yes—and No." See the answer at the Strand Theater tonight.

He did not stop at this but on his billboards he played up that a picture of just the same name. See the answer to the 'Yes—and No' question in your life at the Strand Theater tonight.

Strike Very Likely

(Continued from Page 1)

A committee composed of Leo Brecher, Louis Blumenthal and Eamie Brandt, representing the theater owners, held a conference with Sam Kaplan, president of the union, at which time it was understood the committee presented to Kaplan a new scale which is much higher than the previous scale but lower than that asked by the operators.

It is learned that Kaplan agreed to accept the scale in all sections of the city and that in Brownsville and in East New York where strike sentiment is usually strong, the union could put through what measures it pleased. The Chamber of Commerce committee, however, told Kaplan that such an arrangement was impossible of fulfillment. This is the latest development in the situation, far as the exhibitor body is concerned.

The union held a special meeting yesterday morning on the East Side.

New Theatre for McKeever (Special to WOODY DAILY)

McKeever, Pa.—The Martin Horn heirs' property at Fifth Ave. and Sinclair Sts., is to be razed to provide a site for a picture theater. Rowland & Clark have taken title to the property. The consideration was $175,000. The proposed theater is to have a seating capacity of 2,500 and its estimated cost will be $250,000.

Gilbert Not With Tourneur

John Gilbert, now directing Hope, Hampton, states that he is not connected in any way with the Maurice Tourneur organization, contrary to published reports.

Harry Durant, scenario editor of Paramount Pictures, is to be the guest of the Authors' League tomorrow at luncheon.

Oil Men to Produce

Louis Weadock has sold his latest original scenario, "Money Can't Buy," to a producing company in Los Angeles which was organized to make this picture and a series of four more from Weadock's pen. This new company, the name of which will be announced as soon as the process of incorporation has been completed, is financed by a syndicate of Texas oil men. This policy will be to produce only a few pictures on a small scale.

"Bill" Keefe Back

"Bill" Keefe of the American Lifeograph Co., Portland, Ore., is in town after making a trip to Japan.

Keefe says that Charlie Chaplin is very popular in Japan, but that the natives there take his antics very seriously and never think of laughing at him.

Keefe found Pearl White and Mel Normand are big favorites.

Activities at Universal City

Universal City, Calif.—Four features are now in various stages in the cutting room:

"Black Friday," starring Frank Mayo, has just been finished under direction of Frederick Thomson.

Stuart Paton has shot the final scene of "Wanted at Headquarters," starring Eva Novak.

Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran are editing, "Once a Plumber." Reeves Eason is similarly employed on "Pink Tights," a story of circus life.

Sun's Regent Opened

Springfield, O.—Sun's Sun's Regent theater here has been opened.

Photoplay, Attention

We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the play profession here on the coast. We invite your patronage.

Yours for success,

RICHARDSON'S INC.

Versatile Printing and Display
727 West Seventh Street
Los Angeles, Calif.

Phone 64939 or call in person

D. N. SCHWAB PRODUCTIONS, INC.
1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
Suite 201
Warming Up

Political Campaign Reaches Industry at Last—Republicans Turn Trick

At last the managers of a presidential campaign have turned to the film industry to aid in carrying out their plans. The Republican National Party has turned the trick.

The committee has placed an order with the educational and industrial department of Universal to produce a one-reel subject which will aid to visualize the issue between the Democratic and Republican parties on the League of Nations, with the latter's angle on the matter, of course, very much in evidence.

The picture will be known as "The Right Road," and will be given distribution both theatrical and otherwise through Universal exchanges. It will be supplied to those exhibitors who care to show it, free of charge.

This is the first time that films will be used in a presidential campaign, and the fact that the actual order for production has been placed caused some men to remark yesterday that "the film industry was sure coming into its own."

Theater Boom in Buffalo

"Within two years Buffalo should develop into one of the greatest show towns in the United States," said J. F. Kimbrel, manager of the Pathe Exchange in the Bison City, who has just concluded a week's visit to New York for conferences with Elmer R. Pearson.

"We are now at the inception of one of the greatest theater building booms in our history," said Kimbrel. "Marceus Loew has started the building of a new theater. The old Olympic, now housing vaudeville and pictures, will become an exclusive picture house when the same management opens its new $5,000 seat home, now in the course of construction."

"The Star is being remodeled by Mike Shea of the Hippodrome, and, when completed, will be known as Shea's Criterion. Shea is also building the North Park with a capacity of 1,800."

"On the East Side, Harry Dixon has just opened up the Rialto, which seats approximately 2,000 people. Throughout the entire Buffalo territory, the story is the same. Everywhere new theaters are springing up. We are informed that Marcus Loew will erect another house in Rochester, while George Eastman has already inaugurated work on his theater."

Frank Reicher

Now Directing

DOBREY DARKER

Welfare Body at Universal

A mutual welfare organization has been organized by employees of Universal. It is known as the Universal Mutual Welfare Association and its purpose is to aid employees who are sick or otherwise in distress.

Already steps have been taken to organize branches in Universal exchanges throughout the United States and Canada.

Sumner Changes Hands

It is understood that the Sumner, Sumner Ave., and Quincy Sts., has been bought by Jersey interests for a consideration of $75,000.

The theater has a roof garden and has been playing to excellent business in Brooklyn recently.

New Comedy Unit

Abe Krugman, representing a new comedy unit called the Max Asher Comedies, is in New York from the coast arranging for distribution.

DO YOU REMEMBER—

No. 30

"THE KING OF DIAMONDS" with Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe

PAUL SCARDON

Directed It

And also

"Partner of the Night" and

"Milestone"

For Goldwyn

Now completing

"THE BROKEN GATE"

By Emerson Hough

Address, Hollywood Hotel

What's A Wife Worth

Robertson-Cole

In Course of Preparation

Bacheller Signed

It is Hodkinson's intention to hold these books until such time as he finds the producing company best fitted to handle them—it may be one or more of the companies now releasing through the Hodkinson Corp. or some new company.

It is understood two of these productions will be released yearly.

Pigeon Race at Theater's Opening

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St Louis—A race between 2,000 homing pigeons will be complete for the opening of the Delmonote, Delmar Ave., west of Clare Ave., on Sept. 5. This theater, which represents an investment of $1,000,000, is owned by the Famous Players Missouri Corp., and is said to be the largest one-floor amusement place in the world.

Alma Rubens, who appears in "Humoresque," which is to be the opening attraction, will pull the string that will set the birds on their way. Fannie Hurst, who wrote "Humoresque," will pick the winners.

The birds are the property of the United Drug Co., and will fly from the Delmonte to the Rexall coop at he drug company's plant in the northwestern portion of St Louis. Each will bear the name of a child patron of one of the Famous Players theaters in St Louis. The first five birds to finish will win prizes.

Pictures will be taken of the start and finish of the race and will be shown at the Delmonte during the opening week.

Hugo Riesenfeld will observe Paramount Week at the Criterion, Rialto and Rivoli theaters next week. Goldwyn's New York exchange, as noted, about Sept. 15 will be moved from 409 5th Ave., to the 12th floor of the Godfrey Bldg.

CAMERAMAN

with complete outfit

Available

All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

CHESTER CONKLIN

2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"

Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRUD;
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICLASSICS"

1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Mon

Directed by REGGIE MORRIS

the man who made

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father" etc.
F. P. Profits Jump

First Half of 1920 Shows $271,317 Increase Over Same Time Last Year—Profits $2,204,570

The report of the financial status of Famous Players-Lasky Corp. for the months of 1920 ending June 30, showed a gain in profits of $271,317 over the corresponding period of last year. The net profits for the six months period were $2,204,570 after deducting Federal and State taxes. The Corporation paid the Government $107,579.09 for Federal taxes. The profits, after allowing for dividends on the $10,000 par issue of preferred stock, are equivalent to $8.50 per share on the 212,227 series of no par common stock outstanding. The rate annually then would be $17 on the common stock.

The audited account shows that there has been an increase in every department of operation. The gross income for the six months period was $490,714 as compared with $153,957 in 1919, or an increase of $336,757. Examination of film, percent paid to outside producers and duties, totaled $8,416,529 as compared with $8,225,842 in 1919, or an increase of $190,687. Selling cost totaled $3,207, as compared with $3,346,710 in 1919, or an increase of $1,139,993. Operating profits totaled $111,847 as compared with $62,047 in 1919, or an increase of $49,800. Operating profits as a percentage of gross income increased to 22.64 per cent in 1920 as compared with 12.17 per cent in 1919.

The above figures deal with the earnings of the parent company and do not take into consideration the earnings of the subsidiary units.

Goldwyn Reorganization

Goldwyn Pictures Corp. yesterday announced the resignation of Samuel Goldwyn as president and F. J. Godsol as vice-president and chairman of the executive committee.

Messmore Kendall, a member of the board of directors, has been designated as director in charge of the company's affairs pending the election of a new president.

Mr. Kendall and General Coleman du Pont have been elected members of the executive committee, replacing Messrs. Goldwyn and Godsol. The latter two, however, continue as members of the board of directors.

For some time past, as noted in WID'S DAILY, internal affairs at Goldwyn Pictures Corp. have been under discussion. In all probability, Mr. Goldwyn will make a European tour.

New State Righter

Apex Films Coming Back—To Handle Series of McCarthy Prod.

The Apex Film Co., a concern that figured prominently in the state right market a number of years ago, is returning to the field.

The company will distribute its first picture, "Out of the Dust," produced by John P. McCarthy, who was formerly connected with the Griffith organization. McCarthy is now casting for its second production which will also be handled by Apex.

P. P. Craft, identified with Apex in the old days, is heading the company. Also associated with him is Leon J. Rubenstein. Offices have been secured at 140 W. 42nd St. in the quarters formerly occupied by Joseph Schenck.

Old timers in the business will remember some of the Apex productions. Among them were "Dante's Inferno," "The Odyssey," "East Lynne" and "Sealed Orders."
Cuts and Flashes

George Fitzmaurice has started work on "Money Mad," his fourth special production for Famous Players.

Gina Rilly is featured in the Americanization picture, "The Face at the Window," by Max Marcin, produced by Richard Stanton for Fox.

William H. Tooker has been engaged to support Vera Gordon of "Humoresque" in her first starring vehicle.

"Big Jack" O'Brien has been engaged to play opposite Hope Hampton in her new picture, "The Better Way."

Paul Cazenaveu has been appointed scenario head of the Fox western scenario department, succeeding Denison Clift.

Incorporations

Albany, N. Y.—West 38th St. Studio Corp. New York. Capital $1,800 shares common stock, no par value, active capital, $10,000. Incorporators Harry Levey, H. A. Mintz and I. A. Harris, 314 W. 100th St.

A. Levine is Manager

Omaha—A. Levine has been elected president of the Capitola Theatre Corp., to succeed Phil Goldstone.

The Alton Play Bureau

Longacre Building, New York

Phone Bryant 3162

Specialists in the Selections of Plays and Stories

by Famous Authors

Controlling Works by

THE ALTON PLAY BUREAU

is especially adapted to fill the requirements of Picture Producers Furnishing Plays and Stories of the highest repute to Picture Producers. Exclusive agents for many prominent theatrical producers Controlling over two thousand plays & stories that have been selected as special picture material has the co-operation of experienced executives who can fill all requirements presented to them Name your Star—State the Style of Story and we will select and submit material to suit your needs.

THE ALTON PLAY BUREAU

INSURANCE EXPERTS

to the theatrical and motion picture industry for the past 20 years. "Ask any producer."

Did you ever hear of "Insurance Service?" Well, that's what we have to offer. Can we explain further how we can serve you—

The Morning Telegraph says: "It's a Great Life" is an unusually fine comedy, intelligently presented and wonderfully well acted. It is in the same class with "Twelve Tomatoes and a Half Hour's Leave," another story by Mrs. Rinehart that set new standards for film humor.

SIR: The Morning Telegraph says: "It's a Great Life" is an unusually fine comedy, intelligently presented and wonderfully well acted. It is in the same class with "Twelve Tomatoes and a Half Hour's Leave," another story by Mrs. Rinehart that set new standards for film humor.

REUBEN SAMUELS

EAL SERVICE

Insurance at 60 Madison Lane

Phone John 5495, 5496, 5497, 5498

RITCHLEY LITHO. CORP.

406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8368

Necessity knows no law.

For the exhibitors' prosperity RITCHEY posters are absolutely necessary. Get them!
Due Credit to Films

Los Angeles Examiner Editorially Says City's Prosperity is Partly Because of Producers
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The Examiner, a Hearst paper, editorially states that in a large measure Los Angeles' prosperity is due to the presence of producers here. The editorial urges the people here "to surround them with the atmosphere of helpful appreciation so that the business will continue to expand and bring in more revenue to be spent in the upbuilding of the city."

Under the caption, "Gigantic Picture Industry Factor in City's Prosperity," the editorial says:

"The average citizen in Los Angeles probably has never formed an adequate conception of the importance of the moving picture industry to the city as a whole. The most vivid way for every Angeleno to realize the industry's importance is to remind him that this industry has grown up in the United States within 20 years. Twenty years ago moving pictures were shown as a curiosity. Now people go to them to see real entertainment or to get quick information on the news reels and so-called educational films.

"In the United States there are 18,000 motion picture theaters. The daily average attendance is 11,000,000.

"Twelve hundred additional houses are being built this year. Several of these are being built in Los Angeles.

"The total box office receipts for this year in the United States will run $1,000,000,000, which is $200,000,000 more than was spent last year.

"The industry is the fifth largest in the United States. Eighty per cent of the films are made in Los Angeles.

"This means that a part of eight out of every ten admissions paid every day in 18,000 theaters comes back to Los Angeles to make more pictures.

"The people who make these films in Los Angeles, if gathered together and moved elsewhere, would make an entire city. The vast majority of them are never heard of by the community at large. They are regular, work-a-day Americans.

"Los Angeles should be proud of its achievements and surround them with the atmosphere of helpful appreciation so that the business will continue to expand and bring in more and more revenue to be spent in the upbuilding of the city.

"Los Angeles is now tenth city in population and is also tenth city in industry in the United States. It is the motion picture producing industry that has more than any other one thing brought our industrial prosperity up to par."

Charles Ray Wins Praise of All New York Critics in 45 Minutes From Broadway

Strand Audiences Burst into Spontaneous Applause at Showing of Picture Presented by Arthur S. Kane

Charles Ray adds another star to his film crown. He is screamingly funny at times and at others a most human and sympathetic friend. There is no use quibbling about '45 Minutes From Broadway.' It hits the mark. Ray's acting is superb."—New York Tribune.

"This picture is a singularly successful presentation of the play. It is all irresponsibly mirthful, and the gayety is so infectious that the Strand audiences applauded from sheer delight. Charles Ray's portrayal of Kid Burns is an epoch in his career."—New York Mail.

"All will want to see it. Charles Ray gives a delightfully humorous and a very human and genuine characterization of Kid Burns. The picture is in every way a delightful entertainment."—New York Evening Sun.

"Charles Ray has a wise following and none will forego seeing his latest piece."—New York Post.

"Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" is brisk and entertaining. Charles Ray as Kid Burns holds your attention and sympathy."—New York Globe.

"Charles Ray furnishes a delightful surprise in almost every foot of the film. There is also more romance than usual with Ray pictures."—New York Evening Telegram.

"The attraction is stellar indeed. You will want to see "45 Minutes from Broadway" in its screen dress. It's modish."—New York American.

"Charles Ray has made a decided departure in this picture. And he shows a punch where the picture needs it."—The Sun and New York Herald.

Director Joseph De Grasse

Photographer Chester Lyon

Announcement

Powers stockholders' committee met in Rochester has completed investigation and announces that its main purpose is to investigate the formation, management and present condition of Powers Film Products Inc.

To protect its holdings by legal means those few stockholders whom committee has failed to notify are urged to join the body of shareholders and to obtain the committee's counsel the special provision.

ARTHUR HEWITT, Chairman

ROBERT BARTON, Attorney

State Street, Rochester

Powers Film Products Inc.

Los Angeles—The Examiner, a Hearst paper, editorially states that in a large measure Los Angeles' prosperity is due to the presence of producers here. The editorial urges the people here "to surround them with the atmosphere of helpful appreciation so that the business will continue to expand and bring in more and more revenue to be spent in the upbuilding of the city."

Under the caption, "Gigantic Picture Industry Factor in City's Prosperity," the editorial says:

"The average citizen in Los Angeles probably has never formed an adequate conception of the importance of the moving picture industry to the city as a whole. The most vivid way for every Angeleno to realize the industry's importance is to remind him that this industry has grown up in the United States within 20 years. Twenty years ago moving pictures were shown as a curiosity. Now people go to them to see real entertainment or to get quick information on the news reels and so-called educational films.

"In the United States there are 18,000 motion picture theaters. The daily average attendance is 11,000,000.

"Twelve hundred additional houses are being built this year. Several of these are being built in Los Angeles.

"The total box office receipts for this year in the United States will run $1,000,000,000, which is $200,000,000 more than was spent last year.

"The industry is the fifth largest in the United States. Eighty per cent of the films are made in Los Angeles.

"This means that a part of eight out of every ten admissions paid every day in 18,000 theaters comes back to Los Angeles to make more pictures.

"The people who make these films in Los Angeles, if gathered together and moved elsewhere, would make an entire city. The vast majority of them are never heard of by the community at large. They are regular, work-a-day Americans.

"Los Angeles should be proud of its achievements and surround them with the atmosphere of helpful appreciation so that the business will continue to expand and bring in more and more revenue to be spent in the upbuilding of the city.

"Los Angeles is now tenth city in population and is also tenth city in industry in the United States. It is the motion picture producing industry that has more than any other one thing brought our industrial prosperity up to par."

Announcement

Powers stockholders' committee met in Rochester has completed investigation and announces that its main purpose is to investigate the formation, management and present condition of Powers Film Products Inc.

To protect its holdings by legal means those few stockholders whom committee has failed to notify are urged to join the body of shareholders and to obtain the committee's counsel the special provision.

ARTHUR HEWITT, Chairman

ROBERT BARTON, Attorney

State Street, Rochester

Powers Film Products Inc.

Los Angeles—The Examiner, a Hearst paper, editorially states that in a large measure Los Angeles' prosperity is due to the presence of producers here. The editorial urges the people here "to surround them with the atmosphere of helpful appreciation so that the business will continue to expand and bring in more and more revenue to be spent in the upbuilding of the city."

Under the caption, "Gigantic Picture Industry Factor in City's Prosperity," the editorial says:

"The average citizen in Los Angeles probably has never formed an adequate conception of the importance of the moving picture industry to the city as a whole. The most vivid way for every Angeleno to realize the industry's importance is to remind him that this industry has grown up in the United States within 20 years. Twenty years ago moving pictures were shown as a curiosity. Now people go to them to see real entertainment or to get quick information on the news reels and so-called educational films.

"In the United States there are 18,000 motion picture theaters. The daily average attendance is 11,000,000.

"Twelve hundred additional houses are being built this year. Several of these are being built in Los Angeles.

"The total box office receipts for this year in the United States will run $1,000,000,000, which is $200,000,000 more than was spent last year.

"The industry is the fifth largest in the United States. Eighty per cent of the films are made in Los Angeles.

"This means that a part of eight out of every ten admissions paid every day in 18,000 theaters comes back to Los Angeles to make more pictures.

"The people who make these films in Los Angeles, if gathered together and moved elsewhere, would make an entire city. The vast majority of them are never heard of by the community at large. They are regular, work-a-day Americans.

"Los Angeles should be proud of its achievements and surround them with the atmosphere of helpful appreciation so that the business will continue to expand and bring in more and more revenue to be spent in the upbuilding of the city.

"Los Angeles is now tenth city in population and is also tenth city in industry in the United States. It is the motion picture producing industry that has more than any other one thing brought our industrial prosperity up to par."
Traveling Some

Charles LeRoy Brookheim, Universal's manager at Sao Paulo, Brazil, is a subscriber to WID'S DAILY. One day he received his copy and noticed an article with reference to the production activities of Messmore Kendall and Robert W. Chambers.

And just because he wanted to be sure that Charles H. Prince, his brother-in-law, who is appearing in "Cardigan," the first of the Chambers' stories, saw the article in question, Brookheim promptly clipped it and sent it back to this country.

Secures Many Plays

The Alton Play Bureau, a new organization with offices in Room 819, Longacre Bldg., has closed a deal with Pearson's Magazine for the exclusive dramatic and picture rights to all stories which appeared in that publication from 1896 to 1911.

The period of years covered by the deal makes available for picturization stories by Rupert Hughes, Mary Roberts Rinehart, James Oliver Curwood, Frank L. Packard, Jack London, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Charles Belmont Davis, Samuel Merwin, Sir Gilbert Parker, Will Irwin, Jack Lait, Edward E. Rose and others. It is said that between 1200 and 1500 stories have been secured.

In addition to that, by deals with Edward W. Rowland of Chicago and Will Hough and Frank Adams a number of well known stage plays have been secured. These include "The Rosary," "The Divorce Question," "The Time, the Place, the Girl," "The Stubborn Cinderella," "The Girl Question" and "The Prince for Tonight."

Among Exchanges

Byesville, O.—Billy Meehan is sales representative for the Wilson Film Co.

Buffalo, N. Y.—George Cook, formerly with Vitagraph, is now a member of the Pioneer sales force.

Spokane—Harry M. Berman has appointed A. H. McMillan, as manager of the Universal office. He is replacing Wallace Potter who has resigned.

St. Louis, Mo.—"Bud" Barns, manager of the Peacock Prod., has taken space in the office of the Standard Film Co., at 3317 Olive St.

St. Louis, Mo.—The Metropolitan exchange has been taken over by the Fine Arts office in the Empress Theater Building.

In "The Curse of Capistrano," Doug Fairbanks' latest picture, the following will appear: Marguerite de la Motte, Robert McKim, Hamilton Revelle, Charles Malles, and others.

What's A Wife Worth

Robertson-Cole

In Course of Preparation

Meeting Planned in Northwest

Seattle—J. Von Herberg and H. B. Wright, president and secretary, respectively, of Independent Exhibitors' Corp., have just returned from a trip through Montana and Northern Idaho. They have called a meeting of exhibitors for next week.

The Unvarnished Truth!

The morning papers yesterday carried a "personal letter" to the people of New York from D. W. Griffith in the form of paid advertisements. The letter was all about "Way Down East" and one part of it, in referring to the picture, said:

"It represents an actual expenditure of over $800,000. If anyone is interested enough, we will gladly furnish an account from Price, Waterhouse & Co., this being perhaps the most expensive entertainment since Caesar planted the arena with silver for the citizens of ancient Rome. We know that $1,000,000 productions have often been advertised. Our press department will doubtless claim this is $2,000,000 production, but we are telling you the simple truth.

"Also, we realize that all this has nothing to do with the merits of the picture. In the dark the dice of fate are lifted, and when we throw it it is for you, oh! masters of the game, to say whether we win or lose."

More Space for Kane

Arthur S. Kane Pictures Corp. has just doubled its office space, the new rooms acquired affording new quarters for the contract, publicity and auditing departments, a private office for clients, and the company's library.

Callaghan Leaves for Coast

Andrew J. Callaghan has left New York on a hurried trip to California, accompanied by Arthur Berthelet, upon whom he has engaged to direct Bessie Love. Miss Love's next production will be "Penny of Tophill Trail," by Belle K. Maniates.

Jury Leaves for England

Sir William Jury left for England yesterday aboard the Aquitania. As the boat was about to leave it, is understood a member of the farewell party attempted to slip to Sir William a bottle which is frequently called "good cheer." Whereupon the latter is said to have remarked:

"Don't you know, I am leaving the dry country."
Double B'way Run

while New York Sleeps” Placed in Second Theater by Fox—Now

at Astor and Lyric.

The Fox organization is all het up for the manner in which “While

New York Sleeps” is pulling ’em in at the Lyric theater.

It is a matter of fact the Fox press wire reports that no greater business has been at that theater that has ever been necessary to secure an after house to accommodate the crowd waiting to see the production. For that reason the Astor theater has been secured and beginning barring at noon the same picture as there for an indefinite run, continuing also at the Lyric. The film will be released “Earthbound” which has run over for a month. The two theaters will show continuous performances at $1 a head.

Now, over at Fox, a lot of old timers in the theatrical business are between interviewed in order to prove conclusively that never in the history of show (and film) business has there been anything like this double argument run on Broadway.

Mr. Goldwyn’s Statement

Amiel Goldwyn, who has resigned

president of the Goldwyn Pictures Co., which he established four years ago, made public the following statement yesterday:

My action in giving up the direction of the Goldwyn Pictures Corp. is not mean to that I will sever my connection with the company which established. In fact, I am the largest individual shareholder of the company and I am remaining as a member of the board of directors.

I find, however, after nine years constant and honest plugging in the world of the picture business as an individual and as an industry, I am greatly need of a rest.

The motion picture industry is to be congratulated upon the enter-tune of such men as General e man du Pont and Messmore Ken-

But it is not only of great value to Goldwyn Corporation but to the entertainment industry.”

Monday, Sept. 6 (Labor

Day) being a legal holiday, there will be no issue of WID’S DAILY.

Few pictures of the past two years have had such chances for exploitation as the first Thomas H. Ince Associates producers’ special, “Homespun Folks,” nationally released September 12.—Advt.

Members Dissatisfied

(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

Seattle—It is learned here that some of the members of the Independent Exhibitors’ Corp. are not satisfied with the workings of the organization.

This is the reason which is believed to have led to the series of meetings held in Portland a few days ago.

When officers of the circuit were reached, however, they refused to comment on what transpired at the meetings. The exhibitors who attended the session were likewise reticent regarding its discussions.

Buyers in Three Bellingham Theaters

(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

Bellingham, Wash.—Jensen and

Von Herberg have purchased an interest in the Liberty, Bell and Star theaters here which are owned by

W. S. Quimby.

From Foreign Shores

A number of film men are due in

New York today from abroad.

On the Imperator are David and Myron Selznick, who have been looking over film conditions in Europe.

David lost his passport while abroad and immediately cabled Charles Pet-tijohn at the home office to arrange the matter with the immigration officials at Ellis Island so that he would not be detained.

George E. Kann, foreign manager of Universal, is also due in today.

He has been in Europe for about six months getting first hand information on conditions there.

Post Story Bought by Ince

Los Angeles—“Deuce High,” a

Saturday Evening Post story written by Helen Topping Miller, has been purchased by Thomas H. Ince.

Atlanta Operators Get Increase

Atlanta—Local theater managers have reached a settlement with the operators granting a twenty percent increase in the salary scale.

Notable Gathering

Attends Opening of “Way Down East” at the 44th St. Theater—

House Crowded

A notable gathering of prominent people attended the premiere of D.

W. Griffith’s “Way Down East” at the 44th St. Theater last night, the first performance ever given of a motion picture at $10.

The audience at the theater was a representative one and crowded the house. Earlier in the day the Griffth offices stated that demand for seats had been so great that by Wednesday no more could be had for the opening performance.

William A. Brady, who originally presented “Way Down East” on the stage a number of years ago, occupy one of the boxes as did Lottie

Blair Parker, author of the story.

For what was termed the first time in a Griffith production all of the members of the cast were present in the audience to witness their completed work on the screen.

In response to prolonged applause by the audience, Mr. Griffith appeared and addressed the audience.

Harron’s Condition Improved

Robert Harron’s condition was reported as improved at the Bellevue

Hospital yesterday.

Wm. DeMille to Make Barrie Play

“Sunday Every Woman Knows,” Sir James M. Barrie’s play in which Maude Adams appeared, will be produced by William DeMille for Paramount.

Own Co. for Del Ruth

(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Hampton Del Ruth, former supervising director of the Fox Sunshine Comedy organization, will form his own producing unit.

He states that he will produce 23 two-reel comedies a year and two spectacular six-reelers such as “Skirts” which he made for Fox. He intends having his own studio.

Special Takes Hampton Studio

(By wire to WID’S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The Special Pictures

Corp. has taken over the Jesse D.

Hampton studios.

It is impossible to learn where

Hampton will make his future productions.

Coast Brevities
(Special to WID's DAILY)

Hollywood—Irving Cummings is playing opposite Carney Myers in "The Orchard."

Bebe Daniels, having completed a picture for Reallow, has gone to Big Bear for a vacation.

Mary Miles Minter has finished vacationing and will start at once on a story by Tom Geraghty. Chester Franklin will direct.

Violet Clark, scenario writer formerly with Universal, has been added to the Ince staff.

Virgina Lee Corbin, former child actress with Fox, will appear at Graumun's next week and sing in her own way, "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden."

Special Pictures have signed Frank C. Griffin, formerly with Sennott, to act as production manager.

Herbert Standing, who recently figured in a serious street incident, is back again on the lot. He is appearing in Wanda Hawley's current Reallow production.

Bound on an important mission for Louis B. Mayer, Madge Tyrene left for New York early this week for an indefinite stay. Miss Tyrene edified the Woman in His House," Mayer special production, and has written the screen adaptations of "Habit" and "Old Dad."

After several days of filming water stuff in the bay and along the docks at San Francisco, Director Harry Revier and the company engaged on "The Son of Tarzan" being produced as a big special serial for David P. Howells, have returned to the National Film Corp. studio.

Charlie Murray and a host of players from the Mack Sennett studios in Los Angeles invaded Arrowhead Springs last Sunday in order to surrender to Uncle Sam's defenders about $60 worth of tobacco, candy and other comforts greatly needed by these boys whom Democracy is showing a tendency to forget. The money was collected on the previous Tuesday by Charlie Murray at Vernon, when he made an appeal for funds from the ring.

WANTED

EXPERIENCED FILM SALESMEN FOR EVERY TERRITORY
THE UNITED STATES.

Apply to

MR. KLEBEI
1664 Broadway
New York

Cameraman

with complete outfit
Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE Co., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

Porges Joins D. N. Schwab
Walter J. Porges has been added the sales force of D. N. Schwab Fr.

He will leave early next week for the Middle West, his itinerary including Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Omaha, Des Moines, and Denver. He is carrying with him a print of "Fickle Women." Porges' previous connections were with Select as assistant sales man and with the Famous Players as assistant sales manager.

Detroit—Francis A. Mangan has been made production manager for the Broadway Strand and Majestic here.

No matter how valuable merchandise is, unsold it yields no profit. If therefore a salesman is essential to a merchant, a RITCHEY poster is even more essential to the exhibitor.

RITCHEY LITHIO CORP.
406 W. 311 St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 6388

Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, New York
Phone Bryant 799

Swanson Not a Producer
William H. Swanson of Salt Lake City, whose name has been connected with a $10,000,000 producing company in Salt Lake, writes as follows:

"The fact of this is that two gentlemen named Cook and Smith dropped in here for a few days from Los Angeles with a proposition to take over their bonnet that was far in excess of the size of their bank roll. During their stay here, of three or four days, they endeavored to interest me in one or two things in their proposition which was more of a stock selling scheme than that of a producing company, and they jumped at the conclusion that publicity with my name connected would somewhat force me to go on with their plans.

"It at no time looked favorable to me, and I wish that you would deny any connections that I may be said to have with that proposed producing company."

Kinema to Change Hands? (Special to WID's DAILY)

Los Angeles—Are the extensive improvements planned at the Kinema indicative of a change of ownership of this playhouse with the Shuberts as the new owners? queries a local paper.

This question arose when it became known that Manager Jack Callcott is in San Francisco and that he will be absent for an indefinite period.

Architect W. J. Dodd has drawn plans for the reconstruction of the theater. It is planned to remove the rear wall and set the stage back on ground which is now being negotiated for, it is understood. This change will greatly increase the seating capacity of the house.

Other minor changes are also contemplated in the playhouse, and it is rumored that he will be made at the same time that the stage, orchestra pit and main floors are reconstructed.

House Changes

Parsons, Kansas—H. C. Sandberg and H. K. McCarrith bought Eills from Yales Amusement Co.

Arma, Kansas—John Masquerier, Pearl, bought Empress.

Effies, Kansas—Oliver bought Crystal from G. A. Kuhn.

Dulvan, Wis. — Rufus Olson bought Pastime.

Martinsburg, Va.—Robert Slaton is now managing the Appoilo for Harry Chandler, Washington, who recently purchased the house.

Hamilton, O.—Sam P. Broomhall, issuers of My Name is Irene in charge of the J. W. M. girls under the direction of John A. Schwall. Latter to manage the Rivoli when it opens.

Fargo, N. D.—Grand to undergo repairs.

Jamaica, N. Y.—The Manor leased to Benjamin M. Roseasy by Brooklyn Manor Amusement Co.
In the Courts

A judgment for $3,935 has been entered in the Supreme Court in a suit of George W. Ward against Arthur N. Smallwood. The judgment is based on notes of $3,000, given in 1913 by the Grandin Films to the Smallwood Films Inc., which were endorsed to the plaintiff.

Harry C. Williams has sued James Sievin and Walter Lawrence in the Supreme Court for $3,000, given in 1913 by the Grandin Films to the Smallwood Films Inc., which were endorsed to the plaintiff.

Philip Meinick has brought suit in the Supreme Court against James Empringham to compel him to carry out an agreement to sell Meinick the Bay Theater at 124th St. and 8th Ave., on which the defendant has a lease expiring Sept., 1921. He alleges that after he had paid $500 on account and started to operate, the theater Empringham refused to give him possession.

Incorporations

Albany—The General Theaters Corp., incorporated under the laws of Delaware, has been granted a charter to conduct business in this state. The corporation is capitalized at $1,000,000 and is authorized to maintain theaters, conduct a film exchange, etc. The company will be represented by Harry Marsey, Builders Exchange, Buffalo.

Baltimore—A. G. De Sherbinin Theaters. $300,000. To buy, sell, produce and operate theaters and carry on general theatrical business.

Dover, Del.—Bible Films, Capital, $1,000,000. Incorporators T. L. Crook, S. E. Dill and M. A. Bruce, Wilmington.

Albany N. Y.—Small Theatrical Enterprises, Brooklyn. Capital, $1,000,000. Incorporators H. McNally, E. Ettengen and D. Barco, 385 Clinton St., Brooklyn.

Admissions Increase in Erie

(Erie, Pa. — Increased operating costs make higher admissions imperative, according to a signed statement from the managers of the Columbia, Strand and Majestic. Matinees are to be 25 cents, evenings 35 cents and children 15 cents.

Kansas City, Mo.—Skouras Bros. bought 12th St. from Richards and Flynn.
On Broadway

The feature films at the leading Broadway theaters for the week beginning tomorrow are as follows:

Capitol—"Milestones."
Strand—Norma Talmadge—"The Branded Woman."
Rialto—"Patty" Arbuckle—"The Round Up."
Rivoli—Thomas Meighan—"Civilian Clothes."
Criterion—"The Right to Love."
Broadway—"Humoresque."
44th St. Theater—"Way Down East."
Astor—"While New York Sleeps."
Lyric—"While New York Sleeps."
Loew's New York—Tomorrow—"Humoresque."
Monday—"Humoresque."
Tuesday—Bryant Washburn—"What Happened to Jones."
Wednesday—Dustin Farnum—"Big Happiness."
Thursday—H. B. Warner—"Felix O'Day."
Friday—Frank Mayo — "Hitchin' Post."
Saturday—"Love, Honor and Obey."
Sunday—"The Love Flower."
Brooklyn Strand—Charles Ray—"45 Minutes from Broadway."

Week of Sept. 12

Capitol—Will Rogers—"Honest Huth."
Strand—Lionel Barrymore—"The Master Mind."
Rialto—Constance Binney—"39 East."
Rivoli—Charles Ray—"The Village Sleuth."
Criterion—Marion Davies—"The Restless Sex."
Brooklyn Strand—Katherine MacDonald—"The Notorious Miss Lisle."
Broadway—Not yet determined.

T. N. T.

Los Angeles—According to Clarke Irving, director of publicity for Maurice Tourneur, there is more pep in the Associated Producers than in any other film concern that ever existed. He says it is full of power, dynamite and "T. N. T."

Scenario Prices Advance 100%

Disclosures of a 100 per cent advance in the price of scenarios during the last season were made by John Emerson and Anita Loos at the Authors' League luncheon at the Hotel Boulevard yesterday. According to these playpawritners, an attempt to suppress news of this tremendous increase in story prices has been made by certain producers for fear of still further advancing rates which already have reached a record mark of $150,000 for one story.

Mr. Emerson, who in addition to writing the Constance Talmadge pictures is president of the Actors' Equity Association, and his wife, who writes under the name of Anita Loos, have collected data here and abroad in an effort to show that the author is now the controlling factor in the motion picture industry.

Mrs. John B. O'Brien Dies

Mrs. John B. O'Brien, wife of the director who is now producing the Robert W. Chambers stories for Messmore Kendall, died at her home in Mt. Vernon on Thursday.

The deceased's maiden name was Gladys Wooley and under the stage name of Gladys Field, appeared opposite "Broncho Billy" in the old Essanay subjects. The funeral will be held 10 o'clock Sunday morning from the funeral parlors of B. Davis & Son, 4th Ave., Mt. Vernon.

Hughes Signed by Metro

(No wire to WID'S DAILY.)

Los Angeles—Gareth Hughes has been placed under contract by Metro to appear in that company's productions exclusively.

Fairbanks Starts Work

(No wire to WID'S DAILY.)

Los Angeles—Douglas Fairbanks has started actual shooting on "The Curse of Capistrano." This is his fourth United Artists production. Producing at Brunton plant.

New Films for Masterpiece

Cleveland—The following productions have been secured for distribution in Ohio by the Masterpiece Film Exchange: "Olive Tell in "Wings of Pride"; "Blind Love," featuring Lucille Cotton; "A Common Level" and some Harry Carey two reel reissues.

What's A Wife Worth

Robertson-Cole

In Course of Preparation

Big Theater for Trenton

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Trenton, N. J.—Walter Reade has purchased from the Trenton Theater Building Co. a site, 100x198, on which he will erect a picture and vaudeville theater with a seating capacity of 3,500, planned to be the largest in New Jersey.

William H. McElfatrick is the architect. The cost will be approximately $800,000 and it is expected to be ready by Jan. 1. Reade has two other theaters in Trenton.

Stoll Incorporates in N. J.

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Trenton, N. J.—The U. S. Photoplay Corp., a Delaware company, has incorporated a branch to operate in the state of New Jersey.

This is the company which Capt. Frederick F. Stoll is president of and which is making "Determination," extensively advertised as a $500,000 production.

Adler Secures Office Space

Bert Adler has secured as the New York office of Allan Dwan part of the space formerly used by Joseph Schenck on the seventh floor of 140 W. 42nd St.

Beranger on Location

George Beranger, who is directing the production of "Uncle Sam of Freedom Ridge," the first release of Harry Levey Prod., has left with his company for location to film the West Virginia scenes of the story. With him are George MacQuarrie, William S. Corbett, Paul Kelsey, Helen Flint, Leslie Hunt, Sheridan Tansey and Eugene Keith. Mr. Beranger has long been identified as a member of D. W. Griffith's direction forces, and according to Ben Blake, general studio manager for Mr. Levey, record time is being established in the production of this feature, which is to be announced for release early in October.

Buffalo—Edward Lewin, formerly associated with Hodkinson, is now associated with Realert.

Philadelphia—The local branch of Associated Producers has leased for a long term of years the building at 243 North 13th St.

THE TRUANT HUSBAND

BEING PRODUCED

by

ROCKET FILM CORPORATION

CHESTER CONKLIN

2 Reels—One-A-Month

GALE HENRY

2 Reels—One-A-Month

"CLAYPLAY"

Novelty Comedies

1 Reel—One-A-Week

SUNSET BURRLE

Scenic Stories

1 Reel—One-A-Week

"COMICCLASSIC"

1500 ft. of Comedy

500 ft. of Color Scenic

2000 ft. of Two-A-Week

"His Married Life"

"Bringing Up Father"

Special Pictures Co.
EUGENE WALTER'S
Adaptation of

LOVE - HONOR & OBEY

with an
ALL-STAR CAST

Based on CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK'S famous novel THE TYRANNY OF WEAKNESS. Directed by LEANDER DE CORDOVA. Made at METRO'S Eastern Studios under the personal supervision of MAXWELL KARGER.

THE CURRENT CLEAN-UP
THE CAPACITY FEATURE
DE-LUXE

METRO ANNOUNCES

THE TREMENDOUS AUTHOR-SAUNTER

HERBERT LUBIN
PRODUCTION

Price 25 cents

Sunday, September 5, 1920
REAL ART STAR FRANCHISE

Contract for Thirty (30) Photoplays, Each Starring One of the Following: Mary Miles Minter, MARY MILES MINTER

LIKE THE MAGIC CARPET

THE REAL ART STAR FRANCHISE has a tremendous lifting power which comes from BIG STORIES, BIG DIRECTORS, BIG STARS and a GENEROUS POLICY. Get aboard this modern vehicle of success. Put yourself in touch with the nearest branch office

REAL ART PICTURES CORPORATION
445 FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK

MARY MILES MINTER
"The Sunbeam of the Screen"

SWEET LAVENDER

A charming romance of youth and love...no bloodshed, no brutality, no fights, and yet every scene is charged with drama and power and life. The most appealing picture yet attempted by this famous star. Your franchise entitles you to this picture.
Features Reviewed

Thomas H. Ince’s ...............HOMESPUN FOLKS
Associated Producers ............. Page 2

Charles Ray in. 45 MINUTES FROM BROADWAY
Arthur S. Kane-First National .... Page 5

Samuel Goldwyn and Rex Beach present
IT’S A GREAT LIFE
Eminent Authors-Goldwyn .......... Page 9

Ormer Locklear in ..................THE SKYWAYMAN
Fox .................................. Page 11

May McAvoy and Bruce Gordon in
THE HOUSE OF THE TOLLING BELL
Blackton Prod.-Pathe ............... Page 13

Dustin Farnum in ....................BIG HAPPINESS
Robertson-Cole ..................... Page 15

GIRLS DON’T GAMBLE
D. N. Schwab Prod.-State Rights .. Page 16

THE SECREТ GIFT
Universal .......................... Page 25

LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY
S-L—Metro .......................... Page 27

Elise Ferguson in .................LADY ROSE'S DAUGHTER
Paramount ......................... Page 33

Short Reels ..........................Pages 36-38

“Pardoning the bad is injuring the good”—Benjamin Franklin.

News of the Week
in Headlines

Monday

American Film Co. and the Biografia, Central European film companies, form new five million crown company.

Motion Picture Exhibitors of America, the Black organization, postpones convention until the Fall.

National Exchanges, Inc., lines up number of well-known state right exchanges.

Tuesday

Monster studio plan near Rockville Center, L. I.

Federal Trade Commission investigating Famous Players regarding possible violations of Section 7, Clayton Act.

Paul Gusdanovic to show First National productions in Cleveland. Arrangement made with E. Mandelbaum.

Babe Ruth seeks injunction against film companies and theater circuits regarding showing of 2 one-reel subjects.

Wednesday

Geraldine Farrar finishes one picture for Associated Producers. Relations severed.

Fox Sunshine Comedy unit reorganized. Hampton Del Ruth out as supervising director.

English trade paper fears booking combines may be introduced in England.

Thursday

Robert Harron accidentally shoots himself. Condition serious.

American company buys out large distributing and theater organization in Chile.

Operators’ strike in Greater New York a certainty. Theater Owners C. of C. to furnish United Artists with a bond, thus guaranteeing advance deposits.

Hodkinson to produce Irving Bacheller works.

Trade interested in reported combination of European interests.

Friday

Samuel Goldwyn and F. J. Godsol retire from Goldwyn Pictures. Messmore Kendall named managing director.

Famous Players shows profit for first six months of 1920 of $2,204,570.

Educational Pictures Securities Corp. formed.

Strike of operators in Greater New York averted.

Saturday

Hampton Del Ruth to form own comedy organization.

Selzicks return from abroad.

Dissatisfaction in ranks of Independent Exhibitors’ Corp.
First Ince—A. P. Obvious in Plot—Benefits from Wealth of Detail

Thomas H. Ince's
"HOMESPUN FOLKS"
Associated Producers

DIRECTOR .................. John Griffith Wray
AUTHOR ....................... Julien Josephson
SCENARIO BY .................. Julien Josephson
CAMERAMAN ................... Henry Sharp
AS A WHOLE .............. Rather familiar small-town stuff with mob scene climax STORY .............. Deals with rural and small town types with much attention paid to detail—obvious plot

DIRECTION .............. Very careful as to details—has failed to inject snap and suspense in climax sequence

PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Very good
LIGHTINGS ...................... Commendable
CAMERA WORK .................. Very good
LEADING PLAYER .............. Lloyd Hughes appears in Charles Ray role; doesn't seem to possess enough animation to appeal

SUPPORT ...................... Good; some fine types EXTERIORS ..................... Truly rural
INTERIORS ........................ Same
DETAIL ...................... Much of it and it registers as very entertaining

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Farmer's son elected district attorney; refuses to prosecute political enemy who is father of heroine; is finally vindicated

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ........ 5,800 feet

"Homespun Folks," a Thomas H. Ince production, is the first feature to come from Associated Producers. While it is not a picture of tremendous or unusual appeal, it is certainly distinctive enough to inaugurate the new service and because of its careful treatment and generally human quality it will doubtless attract more than the average share of attention.

The story presented here from the pen of Julien Josephson is, in general aspect, similar to the various Charles Ray pictures he wrote, while with the Ince organization, particularly in reference to the principal male role. Mr. Josephson has brought into play a number of elements very popular in the old-time rural melodrama.

Joel Webster is cast out by his father, a farmer, because he has studied and received his diploma in law. In the nearby village he sets up a practice and has as his friends and patrons, Rogers, a newspaper publisher and Beulah, his daughter. Joel is elected district attorney on the Republican ticket largely through the services of his father who, his paternal love evidently dead, rallies round the G. O. P. when the Democrats seem on the verge of victory.

Joel's first duty is to prosecute Rogers on a murder charge that is trumped up by an enemy—the star witness for the state. Joel refuses to take the witness' evidence, stating that he is corrupt and biased. Rogers goes free and because of this the Republicans, enraged, plan to tar and feather Joel. Beulah, however, forces a confession from the guilty witness and all ends happily.

Lloyd Hughes plays the leading role and gives a clear cut if somewhat inanimate performance. His personality fails to register with convincing or appealing effect. Gladys George is a satisfactory heroine while Al Filson as Rogers and Charles Mailes as Joel's father render a brace of good character performances. Others are George Webb, Fred Gambol, Lydia Knott, Gordon Sackville, Willis Marks, James Gordon and Edith Yorke.

Good Chance to Put This Over In a Big Way

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Exploitation that is a little out of the ordinary can make a big thing of "Homespun Folks." In a way the picture justifies something unusual in the exploitation line. The detail of the production, rather ancient as much of it is, is human for the most part and registers very well. The story, whole obvious in the extreme, is constructed along the lines of old-fashioned rural drama that have proved appealing many times in the past.

An announcement that this is the first of the Ince specials to come through Associated Producers and an explanation of what this distributing company is, will help. Further state that the story was written by Julien Josephson, author of many of the Charles Ray successes. His name should carry weight by this time.

As the picture deals with the election battle of Republicans and Democrats in a small town, a good exploitation stunt would be to carry on a straw vote on the coming presidential election if you book the picture during the next two months. Newspapers should help you out with a lot of timely publicity if you put this idea over.
DUSTIN FARNUM
"BIG HAPPINESS"

Story by Pan
Directed by Colin Campbell
GASNIER PRESENTS
LEW CODY
in Occasionally Yours

R.C. PICTURES
Lack of Typical “Rayisms” Leave Much Wanted in Star’s First Independent Picture

Charles Ray in
“FORTY-FIVE MINUTES FROM BROADWAY”
Arthur S. Kane—First National

DIRECTOR ......................... Joseph DeGrasse
AUTHOR ............................ George M. Cohan
SCENARIO BY ............... Isabel Johnston and Bernard McConville
CAMERAMAN ...................... Chester Lyons
AS A WHOLE ................. Something different for star but fails to show appeal or story interest of former pictures

STORY ............. Very little to is as shown here—a long time in starting with various scenes held too long
DIRECTION ................. Average
PHOTOGRAPHY ............... Satisfactory—Lyons didn’t get his usual chances

LIGHTINGS ........................ Good
CAMERA WORK ...................... All right
STAR .............. Creates distinctive characters but the old appeal isn’t there

SUPPORT ......................... Average
INTERIORS ....................... Few
DETAIL ............................. All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ....... Enemies of new millionaire shown up by prize fighter

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 5,548 feet

Probably the Charles Ray organization thought it advisable to start its life with a picture carrying a box office title. The reason is not exactly clear. The star’s name is better known throughout the country than any play title of the last six or eight years. He is perfectly able to stand upon his own individual merits as a popular hero and character actor of certain parts. And to top the argument “Forty-five Minutes From Broadway” failed to offer the producing organization with the satisfactory opportunities.

While the star’s role in this is something quite different from everything he has undertaken before, the fine human story interest of his Ince pictures and the outstanding character appeal are missing. Furthermore the plot of the present work is undeniably weak for picture purposes.

The star has just one opportunity to show the form which has endeared him to the public, and that comes in the romantic sequence which bobs up in varying degrees of prominence throughout the picture. These scenes radiate a warmth and human appeal that is undeniable.

Ray appears as Kid Burns, a prize fighter, who has attached himself to an old pal who has inherited some millions. The plot concerns Burns’ activities in showing up the pseudo friends of his pal in his own romance with the maid of the house who at the end turns out to be the real beneficiary of the millionaire’s will but insists on denying herself her fortune so that she may accept Burns’ proposal.

The scenes at the beginning when Burns, on his arrival in the village forty-five minutes from Broadway, is mistaken for the legatee are perhaps the funniest in the picture. The star is also the center of some good business in which he attempts to pass himself off as a model of sartorial splendor but in general the comedy effect of this and other sequences is spoiled by holding the scenes too long.

Supporting the star appear Dorothy Devore, Hazel Howell, Eugenie Besserer, Mat Forster, Donald Mac-Donald, Harry Myers and William Courtright.

A Fine Box Office Attraction—Not So Good From Entertainment Viewpoint

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This picture is probably going to draw the crowds in good numbers. The fact that Ray is to appear in a version of George Cohan’s popular play should increase the box office value of the star’s name if such a thing is possible. However, box office value or not, the star better get back to the stories containing the old human appeal and the sympathetic character. This one will doubtless be excused on the grounds that he can’t come through with a winner every time.

Joe Plunkett at the Strand put this picture on in interesting style employing a special overture “Cohan-esque Rhapsody,” which utilizes a number of the themes that have made George Cohan popular as a song writer, and using the “So Long Mary” song rendered by a male quartette immediately preceding the feature. This method of presentation might well be copied by other exhibitors as the effect was very good. In advertising this mention the fact that it is Charles Ray’s first independently produced picture and give the title and author’s name a good play.
William Fox Presents

PEARL WHITE
in The White Moll

by FRANK L. PACKARD
Directed by HARRY MILLARDE
Scenario by E. LLOYD SHELDON

The first Fox presentation of this World-Famous Star in her first Special Feature Attraction.
PEARL WHITE
as Gipsy Nan

In under-world parlance
MOLL means a girl
WHITE MOLL means a girl “on the level”

PEARL WHITE
as The White Moll

Fox Entertainments
Greater than "SEX"

MOTION PICTURE WORLD -
A thrilling melodrama of the underworld-- which contains the sensational attributes of the best detective drama. SELDOM HAS A PRODUCTION BEEN GIVEN SUCH A STRONG FINISH.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS -
Excellent crook story finely acted and produced. THE LAST WORD IN LAVISH
APPOINTMENTS WITH LOUISE GLAUM AT HER EMOTIONAL BEST.

WID'S -
Wonderful production values and fine treatment put this over big.

EXHIBITORS TRADE REVIEW -
"A decidedly interesting and absorbing story of underworld life. Well acted and produced."

J. PARKER READ JR.
Presents

LOUISE GLAUM
in
"LOVE MADNESS"

By C. Gardner Sullivan
Directed by Joseph Henaberry

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through INTELEX, Incorporated Human Treatment and True-to-Life Depiction of Youth Make This Big

Samuel Goldwyn and Rex Beach present

"IT'S A GREAT LIFE"

Eminent Authors—Goldwyn

DIRECTOR ................. E. Mason Hooper
AUTHOR ..................... Mary Roberts Rinehart
SCENARIO BY .............. Not credited
CAMERAMAN ................ John Mescall
AS A WHOLE .............. Delightful piece of entertainment because of its realism and humaneness

STORY .... Adapted from Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Empire Builders," true to life and has wide appeal

DIRECTION ...... Very capably handled; gets in many fine touches

PHOTOGRAPHY ............. Very good
LIGHTINGS .................. Always clear
CAMERA WORK ............. Satisfactory
PLAYERS ...... Cullen Landis does exceptionally fine work in the principal role; Howard Halstrom and others good

EXTERIORS ................ Adequate
INTERIORS ................. Correct

DETAIL ..................... No errors

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Adventures of a boy in boarding school

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... 5,659 feet

Not only did Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Empire Builders" make an interesting piece of fiction but transferred to the screen under the title of "It's a Great Life," it makes one of the most human and true-life bits of entertainment seen in some time. Even at this stage of the game folks haven't become so "modern" that they cease to be interested or amused in the pranks of a young and mischievous lad in boarding school.

"It's A Great Life" doesn't contain a wealth of situation nor complications. It's merely the adventures and incidents in the life of a schoolboy but there's enough real humor and entertainment derived from the boy's efforts to appease his appetite and the pictured imagination of his pal, The Wop. This latter has been gone into in considerable detail depicting the Wop's dream of a South Sea Island empire with himself as Prime Minister and his pal and the hero of the tale, Stoddard as King. All this started with the Wop finding a pearl in an oyster and his dream that somewhere there must be a land where pearls grow in oysters like fruit on trees.

One especially amusing part is where Stoddard consumes several dozen oysters in an effort to secure a pearl to present to "a pearl of all girls." Stoddard's first offense in the opening reel is to stuff the rising gong. For this misdemeanor Stoddard is promised that he will be given only five more chances to behave himself, whereupon, our hero sets up a -score in his room headed "Five to Go."

It isn't long before one of the Professors reduces the score because Stoddard had played a trick on the professor's pet cat. Soon after that Stoddard and the Wop go off into the woods to indulge in their "empire-building." They bring back a rabbit which they prepare in their rooms and are about to eat when they are caught and Stoddard has "3 to go."

Hero's inability to get enough to eat is one of the best things in the picture because it's so real and like a boy. The Professor's pretty daughter arrives at the school and hero immediately makes a play for her but isn't very successful and in an attempt to steal her picture after she refuses to give him one, Stoddard is caught in the act and the score comes down another point and so on until he has but one to go but he gets sick from his oyster eating thereby saving himself further possibilities of demerits. His sweetheart whom he had thought deserted him arrives to console him and everything is lovely.

Cullen Landis as the boy does exceptionally fine work and carries off all honors. Others who lend capable support are Molly Malone, Clara Horton, Otto Hoffman, Tom Pearse, Ralph Bushman, E. J. Mack and John Lynch.

Has Wide Appeal and Should Please Everybody

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

You needn't worry about the appeal of this one. Everyone has been young and they know how it feels to be young. They also know and appreciate the pranks of a young boy at boarding school and the vivid and real way in which young Stoddard is shown attending a school for boys where he does everything but study is sure to find a warm spot especially with the male members of the audience, both young and old.

Cullen Landis as the boy should be mentioned for his fine portrayal, and you are safe in promising them a treat in this true-to-life and human bit of entertainment. You can announce it saying: "Want to find the Fountain of Youth? You'll be young all over again if you go to the blank theater and see 'It's a Great Life.'"
YOU MUST LISTEN TO REASON

Here is a picture which cannot help but make money for you— for behind it lies the combined strength of Benj. B. Hampton and Winston Churchill, each a dominant figure in his chosen field.

Benj. B. Hampton never produced an unsuccessful motion picture. Winston Churchill never wrote a book that was not a best seller.

A Benj. B. Hampton Production

"The DWELLING PLACE OF LIGHT"

From the great Novel by WINSTON CHURCHILL

With an all star cast including ROBERT McKIM, CLAIRE ADAMS, KING BAGGOT

Directed by Jack Conway

W.W. Hodkinson Corporation

227 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PATHE Exchange Incarnado
Late Daredevil Star in Attractively Produced Stunt Picture

Ormer Locklear in
"THE SKYWAYMAN"
Fox

DIRECTOR ...................... James Patrick Hogan
AUTHOR ...................... Julius G. Furthman
SCENARIO BY ................... Julius G. Furthman
CAMERAMAN ........................ Not credited
AS A WHOLE ................. Well produced stunt picture written as vehicle for late lieutenant STORY ............... Rather plain and elemental but production helps and it serves it's purpose well DIRECTION ............. Has some class and distinction; about the best seen in recent Fox pictures
PHOTOGRAPHY ........ Usually very good; one or two unrealistic effects CAMERA WORK ........ Camera shakes badly during execution of one of the stunts STAR ............. Was never much of an actor but he seems at home in the fast sequences SUPPORT ................. Louise Lovely is heroine
EXTERIORS .................... Well chosen
INTERIORS .................. Satisfactory
DETAIL .................. All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Returned war hero, suffering from loss of memory, is cured through villain's trick that was meant to take his life

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 4,700 feet

"The Skywayman" is a well produced stunt picture prepared as a vehicle for the late Ormer Locklear, the well known daredevil of the air, who lost his life while executing one of the thrills. While the story seems to have been written hurriedly and on close inspection bears all the earmarks of a palpable "vehicle" without any of the polish of inspiration or study, the production rendered it very good and stamps it with a certain class and distinction that have been lacking in a number of Fox pictures. In fact the direction and photographic and lighting effects are about the best that have appeared from the Fox west coast studio in some time.

Locklear appears as Captain Locke, a returned war hero. He gets a good introduction in scenes showing him circling around the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, leaping, taking nose dives and performing kinder stunts. He eventually lands on the hotel roof.

Locke is suffering from the loss of memory sustained in an accident at the front. They flash back to this action and it is very realistic, what with one flash showing a plane descending to the earth in flames. Locke does not recognize his father, mother or sweet-heart and so these three eagerly accept the plan of Leveridge, a scientist, who tells them he has conceived a way of restoring Locke's memory. In reality Leveridge plans to do away with the war hero as he is his rival for the hand of the fair Virginia.

But during the course of Leveridge's frame-up Locke, after receiving several blows on the head finds his mind restored to its normal state. Leveridge, refuted in his plans, takes his life.

· There are three good flying stunts introduced. One shows the star jumping from the 'plane to a train. This is familiar by this time but it still provides a thrill. Another shows Locke fighting an auto full of the villain's hirelings from his 'plane. This stunt was partially marred by the bad shaking of the camera. The best stunt is the one in which Locke's machine wrecks a church steeple and sends the villains scooting from this hiding place. Subsequently they get in some good comedy with Locke and Virginia kidnapping the minister and taking him for a stunt ride. When the good man again regains firm footing and speaks the marriage ceremony over hero and heroine, there are some funny scenes showing the effects of the ride on his equilibrium.

Louise Lovely appears as Virginia. Billy Elmer has a comedy-human interest role as the sargeant, while Sam De Grasse as Leveridge, Edwin B. Tilten as the father and Jack Brammall in a deputy villain role complete the cast.

Should Prove a Profitable Attraction in Some Houses

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

On the whole this should be a good card for the houses where stunt pictures are considered of the best entertainment value. It doesn't show anything startling but nevertheless, the stunts are there and thrills are not lacking.

In billing this, feature the late star and use the title prominently. "The Skywayman" is a neat play on a well known word and should prove attractive.

It might also help you to announce the fact that ten percent of the producer's profits of this are to be turned over to the families of Locklear and his pilot who were killed in doing one of the stunts.
FOR A FULL HOUSE-
“GIRLS DON’T GAMBLE!”

Starring DAVID BUTLER

From Saturday Evening
Post story by George Weston
Directed by Fred J. Butler

D.N. SCHWAB
PRODUCTIONS INC.
Joseph Klein, Gen. Mgr.
1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
Careful Handling and Artistic Effects Get "Ghost" Story Over in Fair Shape

May MacAvoy and Bruce Gordon in "THE HOUSE OF THE TOLLING BELL"
Blackton Prod.—Pathe

DIRECTOR .................. J. Stuart Blackton
AUTHOR .................... Edith Sessions Tupper
SCENARIO BY ................ Not credited
CAMERAMAN ................. William S. Adams
AS A WHOLE ...... Fine Southern atmosphere and pretty effects make up in a way for weak story material

STORY ...... Adapted from novel of same name by Edith Sessions Tupper; some suspense and a surprise ending that may get over big

DIRECTION ................ Very good throughout

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good

LIGHTINGS ...................... Some good effects

CAMERA WORK ................. Satisfactory

STARS . May MacAvoy and Bruce Gordon pleasing

SUPPORT ...... Colored folks supply fine characterizations

EXTERIORS ........................ Not many

INTERIORS ........................ Typical Southern home scenes

DETAIL .......................... Well taken care of

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... The ordeal of a relative who must live a year in a "haunted" house to inherit a fortune

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... About 6,000 feet

Commodore Blackton has produced another artistic and "pretty to look at" feature in "The House of the Tolling Bell," an adaptation of Edith Sessions Tupper's novel by the same name. There are many distinctly original and decidedly artistic touches in this latest effort and from a standpoint of production, little fault is to be found except perhaps the fact that five reels would easily have told the story.

The director has exercised his usual precision and care in the preparation of interior scenes; in this case providing some intimate glimpses into the home of an old Southern aristocrat. The detail in this respect is splendid. The various roles are capably handled but especial interest and entertainment is derived from the performances of two old colored folks, old George and Aunt Stella.

"The House of the Tolling Bell" is billed as a drama of love and mystery. However, there is not much of either element. The love interest is slight and doesn't come into its own until the last few feet of the film. The mystery angle is more dominant but does not get over in a very big way.

Anthony Cole's will stated that the person inheriting his fortune must remain in "The House of the Tolling Bell" for one year. In view of an old superstition the house was believed to be "haunted." Therefore the contest for the fortune was not large. Richard Steele, son of Cole's daughter, whom he had disinherited, when he married a poor music master, agreed to the arrangement and went to live in the house. His experiences with imaginary "ghosts" afford some amusement.

Lucy Atherton, another relative, desirous of gaining the fortune and at the same time seeking to elude Jules La Rocque, a distant relative who would like both the fortune and Lucy, goes to live in the Cole home unknown to Steele. He eventually learns of her presence in the house and plans to leave so that she may inherit the money. However, La Rocque and his accomplices storm the house and things look pretty bad for Steele when the disturbance brings old Anthony Cole out from his hiding place in the cupola of the house where he had requested his "body" to be left.

Lucy and Steele are married and Anthony Cole clears his conscience of the wrong done his daughter. In the cast are Morgan Thorpe, Edward Elkas, Eulalie Jensen, William R. Dunn, Edna Young and Williams Jenkins.

Satisfactory Offering with an Appeal to Those Who Like this Type Story

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Nearly everyone has read "The House of a Thousand Candles." You might tell them of the similarity between it and the story of "The House of the Tolling Bell." There is some good "spooky business" and a scant bit of mystery stuff that may please lovers of this type of picture. Play up the Louisiana atmosphere and you are safe in promising them a typical southern environment. Be sure to mention the old negro mammy and Old George. They provide pleasing characterizations and give performances that add considerable to the offering's appeal.

Catchlines could be worked very effectively in connection with a story of this kind. Say: "Do you believe in ghosts? Are you afraid of a black cat? What did the sound of the tolling bell mean? See all these superstitions defrauded of their mystery in 'The House of the Tolling Bell' at the blank theater."
"Management of Saxe's Alhambra very desirous expressing satisfaction on 'The Devil's Passkey.' Open today. Week's exploitation stunts proved great asset. The way Milwaukeeans turned out one would think picture ran only one day. Box-office cashier had to relieved twice."

"Turning them away steadily by hundreds. No heard so many favorable comments passed on any picture as on 'The Devil's Passkey.' All who see it recommend it to friends, resulting in bigger crowds from hour to hour. 'The Passkey' is making Alhambra great city attraction."

"Now playing Third Day at Alhambra to capacity business. Finding it impossibility to accommodate. Everyone you meet bound for Alhambra. One hears 'Devil's Passkey' here, there and everywhere. No picture ever created more talk in this town. No doubt, biggest box-office attraction released in years."

"Fourth Day of run on 'Devil's Passkey' shows hundred percent increase in crowds over three previous days. One continuous line of people in lobby and sidewalk from first performance till evening final. Never before has Milwaukee seen such crowds before a theater."

"With two circuses in town—Al. Ringling—S. Floto—ALHAMBRA still continues to draw the biggest crowds, in spite of big attractions at other down-town theatres. 'Passkey' finishes fifth day run tonight, a period breaking record of house in attendance."

"Sixth Day of 'Passkey' at Alhambra playing to capacity business. Turning hundreds away daily! Every time Manager sees me, he says, 'Give me more productions like 'The Passkey.' We have the biggest box-office attraction Universal ever made.'"
The Old Twin Brothers Quick Change Act Again and It Entertains

Dustin Farnum in
"BIG HAPPINESS"
Robertson-Cole

DIRECTOR .................... Colin Campbell
AUTHOR ........................ "Pan"
SCENARIO BY .................... Jack Cunningham
CAMERAMAN ..................... Robert Newhard

AS A WHOLE .... Very entertaining dual role picture but ending is dragged out too much—cutting would help STORY .... Has the usual impossibilities of dual role idea but entertaining quality is prominent

DIRECTION ...................... Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Very good
LIGHTINGS ....................... Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ................... Satisfactory
STAR ........ Creates distinctive characters and puts force into both

SUPPORT ......................... Average
EXTERIORS ................. Some of the European settings rather stagey but suffice
INTERIORS ......................... Good
DETAIL .......................... Fair

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Rogue takes business-mad brother’s place and wins love of wife

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .......... 6,416 feet

"Big Happiness" is an entertaining dual role picture, rapid in action, well enough presented to overcome the impossibilities that always attend such an idea, well acted in the main and particularly by the star. It slips at the end when the climax sequence is dragged out altogether too much.

Small attention has been paid the story details, perhaps for the reason that if concentration were brought to bear on them, the loop-hole of the story would become obvious. The action confines itself to situations and the suspense derived from them is fully capable of maintaining the attention throughout.

James Dant, a money-mad business man, seeks out John, his twin brother, a rogue, who lives in a shabby quarter of Paris and urges him to assume his identity for the period of three weeks while he attends to business matters in the United States. James does not wish his business competitors to follow his actions—hence the substitution.

John takes the proposition and straightway finds himself confronted with the various sins of his brother, committed in the name of business. June, James’ wife, is particularly bitter inasmuch as she realizes that she was practically bought by her husband.

The action follows a romantic line with the love of June and John growing from the start. A counter-line of suspense is introduced in the person of Raoul, James’ business rival, who also covets June. Raoul has a suspicion of the substitution scheme and works on it eventually determining the truth.

The ship on which James is returning to his wife is sunk and all are reported lost. (A sad bit of detail shows a very small newspaper story given this sensational event.) John realizes he must tell June the truth but holds off until he has put James’ business back on its feet. Raoul confronts John with the charge of the substitution, but John secures his silence as he was a chance spectator to a crime committed by Raoul. Just as John is about to tell June the truth, James enters. He has been sick with fever for months in a small sea-port town. He attacks June but dies from the effort. And later June and John are united.

Dustin Farnum gives a strong portrayal of John and creates an oppositely forceful character in the role of James. Kathryn Adams appears as June. Fred Malatesta does good work as Raoul, while others who appear are Violet Schram, Joseph J. Dowling and William H. Brown.

Ought to Go Very Well In the Average Run of Houses

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

The great majority of audiences are willing to overlook the various impossibilities present in the dual role picture that involves a change of places on the part of two characters, providing that the production is handled well. The situation, unconvincing though it may seem on close analysis, is usually productive of considerable suspense because of the fact that the impersonator always stands the chance of being discovered.

"Big Happiness" certainly has been handled well from this standpoint. The result is an entertaining production that will appeal to practically all audiences. There are some little details about the picture that detract a certain amount of class and distinction, but on the whole it is something which is going to appeal to the motion picture public in general.

Play up the star to the limit as he does fine work here and center your advertising arguments around the substitution of one character for another, Splendid Comedy Offering with Plenty of Home-life Appeal

"GIRLS DON'T GAMBLE"
D. N. Schwab Prod.—State Rights

DIRECTOR ....................... Fred J. Butler
AUTHOR ........................ George Weston
SCENARIO BY .................... Not credited
CAMERAMAN ..................... Bob Martin
AS A WHOLE ............... Fine domestic comedy; some real natural humor of everyday life STORY ........ Makes splendid comedy material; plenty of opportunity for genuine domestic appeal DIRECTION ...... Nothing pretentious but understanding of comedy value and handling of players is evident
PHOTOGRAPHY .............. All right
LIGHTINGS ..................... O. K.
CAMERAWORK ................. Adequate
PLAYERS ....................... All do good work
INTERIORS ..................... Correct
EXTERIORS ..................... Suflice
DETAIL ......................... All right
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Young country fellow makes good in business and love notwithstanding obstacles in both lines of endeavor
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ......... 4,900 feet

Without being at all pretentious, with nothing elaborate in production generally, stars' names or otherwise, this latest D. N. Schwab production is about one of the best comedies being shown. It's just a simply constructed story, slight in situation but containing a sure fire appeal and a goodly amount of real humor. Real, because it's an intimate look into the home life of a family in only ordinary circumstances but with aspirations toward better things for their marriageable daughters.

There isn't a slow moment once the country boy arrives in the city to earn his living there, because farm life doesn't appeal to him. Prior to his departure there are some good touches showing the home life of the boy on the farm. He spends his entire savings to buy an old auto truck which he completely demolishes in order to save the life of a little child. This bit showing the unhappy fellow looking at his wrecked machine is very good.

There are some witty titles, which while not "high class" stuff, seem to fit in appropriately with this sort of comedy. Considerable amusement is provided by the "hick's" awkward manoeuvres when he goes to visit a girl and is ushered into the parlor where two older sisters are entertaining their beaux. There is some exaggeration here but it will be overlooked for the fun it affords.

The players all do very good work. David Butler as the "hick," Harry Todd as the father of "the" girl and Elinor Field as the girl, deserve special mention. Todd is the husband of a domineering wife and father of three girls, the elder two of which friend wife is endeavoring to marry off to two employees of the Latimer department store, while Madge is not supposed to have a beau.

Butler, also employed in Latimer's, delivers a table at Madge's home and immediately becomes the victim of the desperate Madge. His progress both at the Rathbone home and in the store is too much for the sisters' beaux, so they frame David and he loses his job, but not until after he had won a $100 prize offered by the Prince Motor Truck Co. Believing that David stole a package thereby losing his job, Madge is for-bidden to see him again.

However, Madge and her Dad believe David innocent and they hold their meetings secretly. During one of these David discovers thieves in the Latimer place. Among the thieves are the sisters' sweethearts. This little incident sets David up in first place in the Rathbone home and wins for him the financial support of Mr. Latimer in a trucking proposition.

Should Satisfy Generally and Holds Promises for More of Its Kind

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

There isn't much to be said about this except that if you want a good comedy of home life pick this one. It has some honest-to-goodness domestic humor, the kind that makes you think "it's just like in real life." There's nothing particularly original about it. It's simply the fact that it's been handled in a natural way with an understanding of this type of comedy value. Especially in the character of Harry Todd as

Mr. Rathbone, the henpecked husband, are they liable to find considerable amusement.

It would seem that a more attractive and appropriate title could be found before releasing the picture. The present one doesn't mean much even after seeing the picture. Promise them a picture of the Charles Ray type. Describe it by saying: "He was only a country boy, but he could do more than make money in the city. See for yourself at the blank heater."
J. PARKER READ JR.
presents

Louise Glauum
in

The LEOPARD WOMAN

From the world-known novel by
STEWART EDWARD WHITE
Directed by Wesley Ruggles
The Passion of the Tropics.
A Fascinating Enchantress

A story of richness and splendor; a story of the great longing in a woman's heart and the great desire in a man's brain. An opulent romance of conquest, intrigue and mystery played against a panoramic background.

Louise Glaum, as the star, in all of her wonderful power and allure. Surpassing the roles of all of her recent successes, "Sahara," "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," "Sex" and "Love Madness." In "The Leopard Woman" she has the startling role of a woman more beautiful than the passionate tropics; a woman more dangerous than lions; a fascinating enchantress.

In J. Parker Read, Jr.'s remarkable first production for Associated Producers' release you see the great equatorial mirage; you see a man of mighty force matching wits with a magnificent woman to win the support of a barbaric king. You see a palace of ivory and the purple of a savage court.

Always—you can know in advance when a Producer has made a really unusual production by the news that travels ahead of its release. In Los Angeles, so great have been the spectacular features of "The Leopard Woman" that 50,000 people have gone out to the studios to watch it in the making.

Time has been held open for the presentation of "The Leopard Woman" by more than two thousand exhibitors in all the important cities; by first runs from Spokane to Tampa—that's how big exhibitors believe it is. Grosset & Dunlap have issued a special Louise Glaum edition of Stewart Edward White's world-famous novel.

Nationally released: September 26, 1920.
J. Parker Read, Jr., is a Producer who knows "box office." He has never made a picture without those spectacular punches that mean "money on the door" for the exhibitor-showman. His knowledge of the values that assure profits finds further proof in his selection of this great Stewart Edward White story for his first Associated Producers' production.

"The Leopard Woman" was one of the most overwhelming successes ever published in The Saturday Evening Post. In $1.50 novel form it sold more than 600,000 copies and in Grosset & Dunlap lower-priced edition more than 1,000,000 copies have been sold. Book stores of the nation are linking up with the picture with another 500,000 copies of the Louise Glaum edition, illustrated with Miss Glaum's portrait and scenes from the J. Parker Read, Jr., production.
Here is a powerful, appealing "mother story," filled with a mother's love and faith; a mother's confidence and final reward. This genuine story contains those elements that make a simple, straightforward heart-drama surpass many of the so-called big spectacles. "Homespun Folks" immediately upon being shown at trade presentations in our twenty branches aroused distinct enthusiasm and recognition of the fine standards to be maintained and exceeded by Associated Producers.

HOMESPUN FOLKS

Featuring
LLOYD HUGHES
By Julien Josephson
Released nationally, September 12
WILLIAM FOX
present

Fox Showmanship applied to Serial production.

*273

During 1920-1921 there will be 273 releases by Fox Film Corporation.
BRIDE 13

A serial in fifteen acts

Staged by Richard Stanton

by E. Lloyd Sheldon

Scenario by Edward Sedgwick
Marguerite Clayton HERSELF as BRIDE 13

FOX SUPER SERIAL

"BRIDE 13"
Very Human Idea But Not Handled to Best Advantage

"THE SECRET GIFT"
Universal

DIRECTOR ..................... Harry L. Franklin
AUTHOR ........................ George C. Hull
SCENARIO BY .................... Harold Janes
CAMERAMAN ...................... Not credited

AS A WHOLE ...... Nothing big or greatly distinctive about this but it offers pleasing characterizations and nice little story

STORY ...... Reveals some of the beauty of self-sacrifice and unrequited love, but there isn't quite enough to it

DIRECTION ..................... Very satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Rather poor at times
LIGHTINGS ............................ Fair
CAMERA WORK ...................... Satisfactory
LEADING PLAYERS ...... Lee Kohlmar and Rudolph Christians render fine character performances

SUPPORT ...... Gladys Walton is attractive ingénue
EXTERIORS ............................ Good
INTERIORS ............................ Good
DETAIL ................................. Satisfactory
CHARACTER OF STORY .... Follows the courses of two immigrants in America; one self-sacrificing, the other rather selfish

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .......... 4,890 feet

"The Secret Gift" is a very human little picture and there are passages in it that warm the heart. If the author had contrived just a little more drama around his idea, he would have been the cause of a great little picture, for certainly the direction and acting are in proper spirit and fine accord with the story's human quality. As the picture stands, however, there isn't quite enough to it. It's a pretty idea and that's about all. The drama of it is largely untold.

The picture also suffers somewhat through poor photography and some flat lighting. A subject of this kind might be made through good technical work but the failure of the cameraman to produce even an average piece of work will be noticed.

The story deals with two Dutchmen who come to America in their youth. Jan, a watchmaker, is full of love and kindness for his fellow men, sacrificing himself at every turn. In fact he establishes his friend Peter in business so that he (Peter) can marry the girl they both love.

Twenty years pass and Jan is the owner of a little jewelry store, still in touch with the world. Peter, on the other hand, has grown rich and his business sense threatens to override all else in his life. He wishes his daughter, Winnie, to marry the son of a financial power while she is in love with Larry, assistant district attorney, one of Jan's proteges.

At a reception given by Peter his eyes are opened to the wrong of his ways by Jan. The financier makes some slurring remark about Peter's wife after he has heard that Winnie will not be forced to marry his son and Peter attacks him. The man falls and strikes his head.

It isn't all convincing the way the two old friends believe the other man dead without even the formality of a hasty examination. Jan takes the blame for the deed and is cast in jail. This further evidence of his willingness to sacrifice himself for his friends fails to convince, also because you feel very sure that the "murder" will turn out to be no murder at all. Of course Jan is released and there is an all around happy ending.

This one attempt at a dramatic situation on the part of the author falls flat. The pretty sentiment of the rest of the action is good.

Lee Kohlmar gives a very nice characterization of Jan, while Rudolph Christians does some very human work as Peter. Gladys Walton as Winnie is pleasing and Doris Baker as Peter's young wife is good. Others are Carl Gerrard, Fred Gamble, Carl Ullman, Jennie Lee and Verne Winters.

Pleasing But Not a Big Box Office Attraction

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

This certainly cannot be called a big box office attraction inasmuch as there are no names of note connected with it in any department. The entertainment offered is, however, very pleasing for the most part. There is nothing startling in the story to be sure, but at the same time it's human quality is nearly always evident and the acting and the presentation it has received serve to accentuate it.

You might contrive some good advertisements about the two immigrants. Use a line something on this order, "In 1890, two Dutchmen arrived in the United States with just one thousand dollars between them. In 1910, a big change had taken place—see—" or one like this, "Each had an equal chance to succeed; each succeeded after his fashion. Peter became a business success and Jan—."

You might also shape a campaign around the title of the picture, "The Secret Gift," leaving it to the picture itself to reveal the answer of any questions you put as to what the gift may be.
Gaumont will present

Once Every Month
through the following exchanges

September
Josephine Earle in
"The Fall of a Saint"

October
Gertrude McCoy in
"Out of the Darkness"

November
Paul Capellani in
"The Masquerade of Truth"

December
Josephine Earle in
"The Edge of Youth"

City

ATLANTA
BOSTON
BUFFALO
CHICAGO
CINCINNATI
CLEVELAND
DETROIT
NEW YORK
MILWAUKEE
PITTSBURGH

Exchanges

Wassman & Stephens, Film Distributors
Peerless Pictures, Inc., of New England
First National Exchange
Celebrated Players Film Corporation
Crandall Film Company
Crandall Film Company
Strand Feature Film, Inc.
First National Exchange
Mid-West Distributing Corporation
First National Exchange
Many Time-worn Tricks of Melodrama Used in This

“LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY”

S-L—Metro

DIRECTOR ......................... Leandor de Cordova
AUTHOR .......................... Charles Neville Buck
SCENARIO BY ..................... Eugene Walter
CAMERAMAN ..................... Arthur Martinelli
AS A WHOLE ...... Time-worn melodrama with unsatisfactory ending

STORY ...... Well constructed in the main using a lot of old melodramatic tricks DIRECTION ...... Effective at times but picture has a lot of rough edges that should have been smoothed

PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Good
LIGHTINGS ........................ Good
CAMERA WORK .................... Good
LEADING PLAYERS ...... Wilda Bennett, Kenneth Harlan and Henry Harmon all do good work
SUPPORT ...... Includes Claire Whitney and E. J. Ratcliffe

EXTERIORs ........................ Very good
INTERIORS ........................ Satisfactory
DETAIL ............................ Fair

CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Melodrama centering on romance of author and daughter of religious fanatic

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 5,500 feet

“Love, Honor and Obey” is a melodrama of the old school. It has everything from the hero injured in an accident and taken into the heroine’s home to recover, to the well known intercepted letters and the heroine’s marriage to another man she doesn’t love.

The heroine is Conscience, daughter of a religious fanatic, William Williams. Stuart Emmett (his surname is spelled differently on various occasions), an author of a book putting forth the theory that love is everything and marriage not so much of a necessity, is injured in an automobile accident near the Williams home.

Conscience cares for Stuart and real love develops. Williams denounces Stuart on reading the first few pages of his book. And later, Eben Tellman, an alleged prop of the church but in reality a vicious hypocrite, completes the estrangement by intercepting letters written by the lovers. There is some careless detail in the closeups of the letters which reveal no cancellation marks on the stamps.

Stuart goes back to his old friends and gets mixed up as a co-respondent in a divorce tangle. He is innocent of course. Reading of this Conscience marries Eben to please her father. Just after the wedding the divorced wife comes to Conscience and tells her that Stuart is the soul of honor. Conscience sends for Stuart and he and Eben engage in a fight which ends when Eben is drowned in a fountain basin.

The ending can mean anything—and is very indefinite. Williams is shown finishing Stuart’s book, the end of which takes the usual view of marriage and love. One might suppose that the previous action had been related in the book or that it had happened and that Williams had picked up the book and found that Stuart’s views were sound after all.

FRANK REICHER
NOW DIRECTING
DOROTHY DALTON
FOR
FAMOUS PLAYERS-LASKY CORP.
A Big Box Office Title and a Good Cast
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

“LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY”
S-L—Metro

Much of the box office value of a picture depends on the title and certainly the present production has a name that will draw the crowds and one around which some attractive advertising arguments can be shaped.

In addition to this you have a cast that closely approximates the much mistreated term “all star.”

In fact the box office value of “Love, Honor and Obey” is much the best thing about it. As melodrama, however, the picture is handled well enough to appeal to the average picture audience. It has all the old ingredients and they are handled effectively though obviously.

In high class theaters the picture won’t be likely to get by so easily. Audiences used to more polished productions will sense the conventionalities of the story while the indefinite ending certainly doesn’t serve to help at all.

HOWARD M. MITCHELL

Directed

“LOVES HARVEST”

Considered by critics to be a box office attraction of unusual merit

ADDRESS: Fox West Coast Studios

JOHN GILBERT
PICTURIZED

The White Circle

AND

ASSISTED THE DIRECTION OF

MAURICE TOURNNEUR
VICTOR KREMER FILM FEATURES

A Burlesque on Carmen (Charles Chaplin) .................. 3
The Chaplin (Charles Chaplin) .................. 3
Work (Charles Chaplin) .................. 3
By the Sea (Charles Chaplin) .................. 3

REELCRAFT

July and August
Royal Comedies
Huggins (Leon Errol Feature) .................. 1
Snakes (Billy B. Van Feature) .................. 1
Lucky Rades (Billy B. Van Feature) .................. 1

Billy Franey Comedies
Water Flag
* Tarred and Feathered
* Hatter
* Hard Cider
* Glutton
* Nobody Home
* Pike Hooken
* Professor
* Getting His Goat
* Fixing Louise
* Dry Cleaned
* Kidnapper
* The Sketch

Moonshine 1

Ace Howell Comedies
Rubes and Romance
Lumakas in Politics
Good Night Nurse

Billy West Comedies
Hands Up
Going Straight
What Next
The Dreamer
Italian Love

Mitburn Moratti Comedies
Simp and Sante
Installation Plan
InIVERY
His Wedding Day
Love Where Art Thou.

Texas Guinan Westerns
Outwitted
My Lady Robin Hood
The Wild Cat
Night Riders
White Squaw
Moonesin Fand
Desert Valentine
Girl of the Rancho.

EDUCATIONAL FILM EXCHANGES, INC.

Chester Comedies
Four Times Failed
Honest John
The Big Show

Mermaid Comedies
A Fresh Start (Jimmie Adams) .................. 2
Drum Inn (Lloyd Hamilton) .................. 2
Dynamite (Lloyd Hamilton) .................. 2
Trance (Jimmie Adams) .................. 2

Torchy Comedies
Torchy
Torchy Comes Through
Torchy in High Gears

Christie Comedies
Kiss Me, Arlene (Ishbey Vernon) .................. 2
A Seaside Seren (Fay Talbot) .................. 2
Out for the Night (Eddie Barry) .................. 2
Seven Bold Paties (Johnnie Seltzer) .................. 2
Don’t Blame the Stork (Harry Gibbon) .................. 2

Specials
Modern Centaur
Valley of 10,000 Smokes

Bible Ruth—How He Knows His Home Runs

FILM SPECIALS

Jan Brue Scenics
Hope of Adventure
The Great Mirror
The Log of Lineman
The Song of the Laddie
Wanderlust
Solitude
The Castaway
By Schooner to Shanties

Chester Outings
Figs and Nails
Wanted—An Elevator
Dreams Come True
Adam and Eve in the Andes
Fire
Bear With Us
Pyramids and Wooden Legs
One Drop Was Enough
Old Buddha’s Maze
Some More Sams
Woopy Bits and Monkey Hits
The Tamer of the Wilkins
The Trail to Weldon’s Farm
Too Much Overhead
Seven League Booters

Scenics
Troubadours of the Sky
Forbidden Flames
Horseshoe—Bridge View
Foam Fantasies
Great American Yawp
Getting His Angel
Chosen Waters—South Sea Sails
They All Turned Turtle—Family Trees
RECEIVED AT

A34CB 48

DN NY 10A AUG 30 1920

CHARLES RAY

RAY STUDIOS HOLLYWOOD CALIF 1929

SAW OPENING PERFORMANCE OF FORTY FIVE MINUTES FROM BROADWAY AT STRAND THEATRE NEW YORK AND WANT TO CONGRATULATE YOU AND MR DE GRASSE FOR A WONDERFUL PICTURE KID BURES IS ONE OF YOUR GREATEST CHARACTERIZATIONS THE PHOTOGRAPHY PROVES AGAIN CHESTER LYONS ARTISTRY AND THE ENTIRE PRODUCTION IS A LAUGH SENSATION

JEROME STORM 1115A

Jerome Storm

Mr. Ray’s former director congratulates the star and his present director for their splendid production of Forty Five Minutes From Broadway
Deadly Serious and Mechanical Production with Unreal Characters

Elsie Ferguson in
"LADY ROSE'S DAUGHTER"
Paramount

DIRECTOR ......................... Hugh Ford
AUTHOR ......................... Mrs. Humphrey Ward
SCENARIO BY .................... Burns Mantle
CAMERAMAN ...................... Arthur Miller
AS A WHOLE ...... Deadly serious story concerning innocent heroine muchly persecuted; not a real human character in the lot STORY ...... Seems very mechanical; fails to produce sympathy or suspense
DIRECTION ...................... Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................... Good
LIGHTINGS ...................... Very good
CAMERA WORK .................. Satisfactory
STAR ...... Seems rather mechanical in role that provides her with a string of opportunities to register suffering
SUPPORT ...... Includes David Powell and Holmes Herbert
EXTERIORS . Pass very well for England; pretty
INTERIORS ...................... Very good
DETAIL ......................... Satisfactory
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Heroine is persecuted for faults of her mother and grandmother; eventually finds true love
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ......... 4,585 feet

"Lady Rose's Daughter" deals with a set of very stiff-necked characters, lacking in sympathy and reality. The central one of the lot, Lady Rose's daughter, Julie, is persecuted and persecuted for the sins of her mother and grandmother, both of whom eloped and fled from wicked husbands. Eventually she finds happiness and true love. And certainly she deserves them.

After a few scenes showing how and why Julie's female ancestors found life unbearable with their chosen mates, the heroine is discovered trying to be happy in a nicely furnished room. Lady Henry, a relative and very haughty, comes to tell Julie that she may live with her. It seems that Lady Henry believes Julie in need of her guidance.

However, all that Lady Henry does when Julie comes to live with her is to "ride" her about her ancestors from morning till night. Thus Lady Henry's motives in regard to her relative becomes altogether befogged. She isn't the least bit convincing and fails to convey that she is supposed to be an English gentlewoman.

The last straw for Julie comes when Lady Henry descends from her boudoir in her wrapper and uplands Julie for taking the occasion to introduce Captain Warkworth, whom she loves, to the war minister. Lady Henry becomes very mad and bids Julie away.

What can the poor girl do but take shelter with Warkworth whom she believes honorable but who is far from that. He suggests that she spend the night with him. Comes right out any says so in a subtitle. Julie wanders forth into the night, takes poison and sits on a park bench to die. She recovers in a hospital where Delafield, the man who has always loved her, finds her and pops the marriage question for the last and concluding time.

There is small mite of appeal in all this. The foolish persecution of an innocent girl for the sins of her parents belongs to an age that is passed. None of the characters possess sympathetic appeal and the players have a hard time making their stiff-necked actions look real.

Elsie Ferguson is rather mechanical as Julie, particularly in her frequent outbursts of shocked surprise at Lady Henry's persecution. David Powell is a light heavy as Warkworth. Holmes E. Herbert is rather inconspicuous as Delafield. Ida Waterman is the impossible Lady Henry.

Has Box Office Value But the Entertaining Side is Questionable

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Mrs. Humphrey Ward has many readers in this country and probably they will be interested to see "Lady Rose's Daughter." Perhaps these people will find some entertainment in the deadly serious story and the extreme Victorian standards of life that it reflects. It must be confessed, however, that the average audience prefers a more sympathetic and real story with characters that possess some human quality in their makeup.

In addition to the author's name you have the star who has been absent from the screen for some little time. Her followers will doubtless be glad to see her again but that again brings up the point whether they want to see her in a picture of this character.

David Powell's name can also be used to advantage. He has always been liked and his brace of featured performances in the George Fitzmaurice productions have doubtless brought him more prominence.
A Pathé Serial
Juanita Hansen in
The Phantom Foe
with
Warner Oland
Directed by Bertram Millhauser
Produced by George B. Seitz, Inc.

Mystery—to a superlative degree.

Action—fast and furious, with thrills galore and yet ALWAYS high class and real drama.

Production—beautiful, with splendid sets and the best feature atmosphere.

Acting—great; a cast picked for individual excellence.

Direction—worthy of a super feature.

Pathe confidently recommends "The Phantom Foe" not only to the exhibitors who have found from experience the tremendous profits that attend the showing of Pathe serials, but to those other exhibitors who have overlooked their value and who have hesitated to put serials in their houses. It is hard to conceive of ANY audience that would not be moved to enthusiasm by this beautiful and thrilling production!
Some Short Reels

"The Dragon's Net"—Universal

It is stated in a subtitle at the beginning of each episode of this serial which stars Marie Walcamp, that the scenes laid in China, Japan and the Philippines, were actually taken in those lands. The atmosphere maintained does not belie that declaration, for the settings, structures and surroundings generally are excellent and the prevailing spirit of the affair one that will favorably impress serial enthusiasts.

Anything that smacks of the Orient is exceedingly popular in this country just at present and the fact that most of this is laid in the Far East is a big point in its favor. All things considered, it is somewhat regrettable that Foo, the arch-villain was not made a more mysterious character than he is—somehow or other his demeanor does not inspire the spectator with the proper amount of awe.

Thematically, this is certainly out of the ordinary, the story centering about a set of eight lotus leaves, made of gold. A supposed formula to perpetual life may be gleaned from an inscription, which can be determined only by having the entire set. The efforts of a crooked old fellow, who had feigned friendship and swindled one of the leaves from the heroine, to secure those not in his possession and her endeavors to square accounts by getting them form the backbone of the tale. The search leads Miss Walcamp and another character, an adventurer, who although hired by the dishonest chap, gets along nicely with the star, across the Pacific. Action is much in evidence in the production, which has been adapted from the novel, "The Petals of Lao-Tze," by J. Allen Dunn. Henry McRae is responsible for the screen version, while some of the prominent members of the cast are Harland Tucker, Wadsworth Harris and Otto Lederer.

In advertising, play up the fact that the offering was staged in the Orient and let them know what it is about. You should be able to capitalize on it with judicious exploitation.

"Don't Weaken"—Paramount—Mack Sennett

While "Don't Weaken," the latest of Mack Sennett's comedies has some unusual tricks and gags in its two reels, these being supported by the usual clever titles, the humor on the whole fails to reach the boisterous limits that previous numbers from this producer have prescribed. There is some good comedy at the outset showing Ford Sterling and Jimmy Finlayson as ballet masters, but this is generally the result of the fine ability of the two comedians. A novelty is introduced in the prize-fight at the new-rich Charlie Murray's reception and following a real go between light weights, Murray and playing don the gloves. The fight registers several comedy highlights, Murray being responsible for many of them, aided and abetted as he is by more clever subtitles. On the whole, it can be set down as one of Sennett's good ones. It has the usual amount of gags, a number of which register as refreshingly new. And one of Sennett's good ones, incidentally, is way better than the best of the many other comedy producers in this line. Others in the cast are Billy Armstrong and Baldy Belmont.

"The Shootin' Fool"—Universal

F. Haddon Ware and Jeanne Spencer who are credited with the story and scenario of this two-reeler, have turned out a creditable vehicle for Hoot Gibson, Universal's western star. In it, he plays a cowboy, whose hobby is using a six shooter, some satisfactory comedy relief being gleaned from his work with the pistol. Later on, Jim Corey appears as the villain, with the light-haired Dorothy Woods coming to the fore later on, after the heroine, C. W. Schenck, as a member of the cast, while Alfred Lathem handled the camera. As far as the construction of the piece is concerned, the production shows the advancements of the other western series, but the plot has been given a few novel twists with the result that it is meritorious entertainment of its kind.

"Babe Ruth: How He Knocks His Home Runs"—Educational

Educational's single reeler on baseball, featuring "Babe" Ruth, star swatsmith of the Yankees, is the second offering this year to be released. It is expected to be placed on the market and was shown in two houses along Broadway last week. As a matter of fact, there are only a few hits of footage devoted to Ruth, most of it concerned with scenes taken in New York and Cleveland at the latter city. What features the offering, is the fact that it has slow motion pictures of "Babe." Carl Mays, throwing his unusual underhand ball, Jack Quinn and Speaker. Beyond doubt, the reel will get much booking in these days of baseball enthusiasm, and avoiding presenting Ruth throughout the offering may also have its meritorious side, but on the other hand, in view of the fact that Ruth is featured in the billing, more shots of him should have been included. The principal point in favor of this is that it is a baseball production and has a slow motion study of the "Babe" Ruth swing.

"A Regular Pal"—Pathé

Being built about a theme of average quality and possessing only a fairly clever series of comedy incidents, this single reeler featuring Beatrice La Plante, registers in a manner that is not likely to get it over with much to please before most audiences. In it, the principal comedienne borrows the offensive weapon of a hold-up man and ventures forth to do battle with those wealthy birds who are ready to be plucked. After some experiences, most of which can hardly be depended upon to provoke mirth, she is held up by the original thief and stripped of a hat and coat she has just received. Miss La Plante does not seem to be given enough opportunity in the offering to make the best out of her ability. With better material, stronger surroundings casts and a really capable male foil, her offerings would probably get over in better style.

Pathé Review, No. 68

Up to the usual standard in reference to the Pathé Reviews, means the particular reel alluded to is a meritorious offering. And that is the manner in which this may best be described. The colored scene at the start should get over nicely for audiences seem to like stuff of that sort and the portion showing the milling of wheat is an acceptable industrial subject. "Show Me Mr. Groundhog," the Dr. Dintmarrs section is more than just interesting, for picture patrons, especially the women and children, invariably enthuse over animals in films. Slow-motion stuff is included as usual, some handsprings and somersaults being shown. A dance at the conclusion is rendered by Reutoff and Lovera rounding out a creditable screen magazine.

"When the Devil Laughed"—Universal

Northwestern two reels are not very plentiful at present, but a few of the type of those being turned out for Universal by Jacques Jaccard will always be welcomed by picture patrons. Virginia Faire and Leonard Clapham are featured as they have been in the previous issues of the series and perform creditably. The former in her Canadian backwoods costume is a pleasing figure, while Clapham also does well, although just recently graduated from the ranks of the heavies. Frank Staples, Charles Brinley and Harry Bethew also appear to advantage, but there is another member of the cast, a heavy not credited, who registers well. The latter as the uncouth and long-vanished father of the heroine affects some mean expressions that make the spectator shudder, while Brinley is also satisfactory as one of the villainous gentry. Bethew in the role of a mirth-provoking negro, partakes prominently in the comedy relief. Jaccard has inserted several humorous numbers that enhance the showing greatly and it should score in houses where they can use short reel subjects of such a variety.
"The Big Show"

All Its Name Implies

With

Snooky the Humanzee

A Chester Comedy

Directed by WM. S. Campbell

Here is a picture that will be given more exhibitor advertising and more exploitation than any two reel comedy has ever received, for every theater that has shown "Four Times Foiled" and "An Overall Hero" knows the box office possibilities.

That is the reason the best houses from the Rialto and Rivoli in New York, straight across the country to Grauman's, Los Angeles (and making no skips) are booking the entire series—one a month.

Is it a "kid picture?" Yes, for "kids" of six, 36 and 60.

Educational Films
Corporation of America
729 Seventh Ave, New York
Screen Snapshots, No. 6—Jack Cohn—State Rights
Susse Hayakawa and Tsuru Aoki, who in private life is Mrs. Mutt and Jeff, respectively. Of course, the principal feature of Screen Snapshots, in which these two stars are shown before their palatial mansion. Susse toys with a bull pup and smiles as the camera together with his Oriental spouse. Later on Eddie Polo, Universal serial star is shown at work directing and appearing in a circus serial. It is an interesting bit and should hold attention. Blanche Sweet at work on a schoolroom scene looks petticoat and a section showing the screening of a bit of Hall Room Boy comedies is also up to the mark. Billy Bitzer, D. W. Griffith's cameraman illustrates the manner in which a camera is manipulated and Mary Anderson occupies the center of the screen for quite a few feet immediately after. To close, they show a group including Clara Kimball Young, Hayakawa, Jack Holt, Fatty Arbuckle, William Duncan, Dustin Farnum, Bossie Barriscale and others. As a whole, this is up to the standard set in the previous issues of the series.

Another Bray Comic—Goldwyn

Except for the fact that the theme of the cartoon which makes up the greater part of this Bray Comic will be found to coincide with another funny bit for a smiting of the profiteer dealt with in it will be accepted as the proper conception of justice, there is little to be said for this release. The lampoons which Hayakawa, are seen in the opening part of the cartoon are of average quality. "Shedding the Profiteer," as the Judge Rummy cartoon is called is fairly clever.

Bray Pictograph, No. 450—Goldwyn

Plant growth is taken up in "Eternal Nature," which explains the manner in which the seed is formed and then how it develops into a plant again. A colored flower scene adds to the appearance of the offering and rounds out the initial section. The discussion on ghosts which follows is interesting enough, some fairly interesting facts being offered. Closing is a Jerry on the Job cartoon, in which the every-ready caricature character is commissioned to shoot a leopard which has escaped from a circus, he finally deciding not to shoot until he is told which spot to aim at. That part is not as funny as usual and finishes an average reel of this variety.

"In for a Raise"—Ford—Goldwyn

Bread and macaroni, national dish of the Italians, are dealt with in another Ford industry which shows the difference in stages through which bread and sibbles must pass before they can reach the consumer. Most fans will be found to know quite a bit about bread making, but the shaping of the macaroni is another matter. Of course, the places at which the material for this had to be photographed did not allow for proper picture-making facilities, but it is nevertheless a creditable picture of its kind.

"The Merry Cafe"—Fox

This can be recorded among the good Mutt and Jeff numbers. The pair open a soft drink cafe and while Mutt serves the stuff Jeff injects shots of "pep" in the customers' legs. The effect is akin to that created by the grape and the cafe soon gets a fine name. The artist's opportunities come in the various antics performed by the customers and his imagination has full play. All in all the number has many laughs and ought to rank with the best of them.

"Dry Cleaned"—Reelcraft

Billy Francy's newest is a sort of Oriental one-reeler, most of the action taking place in what is styled Chinatown. It is a riotous affair, and Francy inherits a Mongolian laundire after subduing a mob of battling Chinese. Thereafter, several of the yellow-skinned women favor him with their unwelcome attentions, and when he spurns one particularly funny, he seures her revenge by working a plot that causes the residents of the section to swoop down upon him and wreck the establishent. The Francy comedies have gone over well in the smaller houses thus far, and where they have been found desirable hitherto, there is no reason why this one should not score equally well. It is not confining work for a critical audience, such as would patronize first run houses, but satisfactory where they like straight slapstick. As a whole, one of the better ones of the series. George Jeske directed as usual.

"Good Night Nurse"—Reelcraft

Apparently, they found that the sort of material with which this was started was insufficient, for after the first reel, the story grows steadily more amusing and the different characters show a distinct change, there being little connection until the end. Generally, this is a fairly satisfactory two-reeler, with Miss Howell playing the leading role. Phil Dunham and a duo of unnamed characters occupying the other roles of prominence. Dick Smith directed. As for the comedy business, that is funny enough most of the time to keep things going. Bathing girls appears in the second reel and remain for a few moments, and could have been shown more to advantage. Some of the water stuff is fairly clever and the star performs creditably most of the time.

"A Shot Gun Wedding"—Universal

Some clever touches inserted in the early portion of this rural two-reeler stand out distinctly and make it a fairly acceptable offering. Most of the portion of the production is not nearly as clever as what precedes it, but the touches with the bowls and two pickaninnies are certain to cause audiences to laugh. There is a scene in which a hen is seen mothering some young ducks and which a duck approaches the hen and finally one in which the rooster appears. The subsequent chase leads both birds to a cellar, after which a cloud of feathers is blown out. When the two colored lads emerge with them tightly clasped in their dusky palms, the laugh is sprung. Thereafter a typical village sheriff pursues the darkies and their appearance as they hide in a heap of coal is good for another laugh. Later, the greater part of the footage is occupied by the antics of the old farmer and his hired man, as well as two girls. Despite his shot gun and insistance, the farmer is unable to force his daughter on her young man, who follows the dictates of his heart and weds the prettier one. They use the old powder gag towards the close with the villain spilling most of the stuff as he walks along and ultimately having it burn up and remain undecidedly uncomfortable. It has been staged well this time and will register in spite of its age.

"A Convict's Happy Bride"—Reelcraft

This Alice Howell two-reeler registers nicely most of the way and is a creditable offering. Phil Dunham plays one of the supporting roles, and is in fact as important as the star. There is another comic effect which shows the difference in tone and has been seen quite frequently, but is not given the emphasis, in any of the titles. Dick Smith, who directed, has handled most of the material very well.

"Such is Sporting Life"—Hy Mayer—Capitol Release

Combining some excellent effects with technical work of the highest quality, Hy Mayer has turned out another highly satisfactory "Travelogue," which is not only a set of titles which border slightly on the vernacular at times and generally do not harmonize in spirit with the shots shown. Yellowstone Park furnished the scenery for this showing, a few of the unusual features of that place (they spared the spectator the scene of the geyser again, very judiciously) turn to the more beautiful surroundings. The mirror-like water shows all the falls to advantage. It is all combine to make the series really worth-while offering of its type. It would register in better fashion with titles matching the rest of it in quality.
This fine, big, swinging tale of the open spaces will transport your patrons to another world, a world where things happen, and men and women fight, love, sing, weep, live and die like super-beings! Put it down for an early showing.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN AND REX BEACH PRESENT

REX BEACH'S
FAMOUS STORY

THE NORTH WIND'S MALICE

DIRECTED BY CARL HARBAUGH AND PAUL BERN

GOLDWYN PICTURES CORPORATION
She didn’t want to be a telephone operator all her life.

She wanted to take it easy, to have a rich husband.

So when she fell heir to $1,000.00 she determined to invest it in getting the kind of man she wanted.

So, at a summer resort, she became a Mysterious Young Widow With a Past, for she figured that was the kind of a woman that caught the men. And then she found that apparently the nicest young men were poor, and the richest not nice.

What could the poor girl do?
Protest to "Doug" California M. P. T. O. Seeking Action Regarding Hiram Abrams
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—A delegation of California exhibitors, all members of the M. P. T. O., are seeking an interview with Douglas Fairbanks regarding the methods of Hiram Abrams in conducting United Artists.

Abrams has been the storm center of a number of discussions on what exhibitor organizations have termed his arbitrary attitude on the booking of "Big 4" product.

In New York the Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce has had considerable discussion with Abrams over the payment of rentals more than seven days in advance of a picture's showing. There was some discussion later on over the acceptance of a surety bond by Abrams in lieu of cash payments.

Hold Night Session Associated Exhibitor Directors Met Last Night in Pathe Offices

The directors of Associated Exhibitors, Inc., who are now in New York, did not meet yesterday during the day, but did hold a session last night in the Pathe offices.

It was impossible to learn what had transpired at Monday's meeting of the directors but it will not prove surprising if an important announcement were to be made shortly.

Among those who are here for the conferences are: Harry M. Crandall, Washington; Hugo Lambach, Spokane; Sam Harding, Kansas City; Thomas Saxe and E. C. Bostwick, Milwaukee; Paul Gusdoanovic, Cleveland; Harold Franklin, Buffalo; Harry Lubliner, Chicago; J. H. Cooper, Oklahoma City; Charles Olsen, Indianapolis, and H. Harris, Pittsburgh.

Brunton to Build?
Unknown Purchaser Secures Studio Site in Long Island—No Confirmation

It was persistently reported yesterday, but not confirmed, that Robert Brunton, who is now in New York, was the purchaser of a tract of land, 37 acres in size, called the Davison Farm, situated near the town of Rockville Center, Long Island, upon which a studio will be erected.

A Brooklyn newspaper in a recent issue stated that an option had been granted to "one of the largest Southern California motion picture concerns for the erection of a moving picture plant." The Davison Farm is about four blocks from the old Millburn Reservoir in Rockville Center, upon which site another studio is being talked of.

The actual purchase of the Davison Farm was made by a man named Mendel Presberger through C. C. Mackay, both of Rockville Center. Efforts were made repeatedly all of yesterday to get in touch with Mr. Brunton at the Hotel Astor for a statement, but Mackay could not be reached, either.

Fox to Build in Coney Island
William Fox Associates, a $500,000 company formed some months ago in Albany, will erect a bath house and theater on Surf AVE., Coney Island, at a cost of $325,000.

The Fox organization officially denied yesterday that the company known as William Fox Associates had any connection with the Fox Film Corp, and said the latter organization did not intend building in Coney Island.

Loew Party Leaves Marcus Loew's party left last night for Memphis and Birmingham where two of the Loew theaters will be opened.

Willis Resigns
Lloyd D. Willis, franchise manager of National Picture Theaters, Inc., has tendered his resignation to accept the position of secretary and treasurer of the Sealed-Air Laboratories, Inc., of New York, manufacturer of a process to preserve automobile tires.

Willis' successor at Selznick has not yet been decided.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Hollywood—The Sidney A. Franklin production for Mayflower, which was originally titled "Athalea," has been changed to "Unseen Forces." This production has been shipped to New York.

Wallace MacDonald is playing the leading role in "The Sage Hen," an adaptation of Lewis-Pathie all-star production.

Master Pictures will start work shortly on a new studio picture, the man ranch property in South Passadena.

Augustus Thomas "Colorado" has been purchased as a vehicle for Frank Mayo by Universal.

Franklyn Furnish's next production at the Selznick studios will be "Hunter of the Blood," story by Will C. Beale, adapted to the screen by Wm. Van Wing. Nate Watt will direct. Mr. Furnish just completed "The Whiskey Runners."

"Home Rule," Chester Conklin's first Production for Special Pictures, has been completed under the direction of Harry Edwards.

Charlotte Merrian has finished work in "Up in Betty's Bedroom," her first film for Special Pictures, and is now working on "A Seminary Scandal." Reggie Morris is directing.

Raymond Cannon has been engaged to play the juvenile lead in the A. J. Callaghan production, "Penny, starring Bessie Love."

"The Mistress of Seastone," by Florence L. Barclay, authoress of "The Rosary," has been selected by Henry King for Pauline Frederick's next production.

For the first time an insurance policy has been taken out on a horse acting in a movie. Vitagraph has protected itself to the extent of $50,000 on the animal that plays the name part in "Black Beauty."

Harrison Ford has become a wholesale leading man. He has signed to appear in films with both Norma and Constance Talmadge.

George Beban says he will personally supervise preparation of a special musical score that will be sent out with every printing of his latest production, "One Man in a Million."

Cuts and Flashes

"A Slave of Vanity" is the title under which Robertson-Cole will release "Iris," starring Pauline Frederick.

Albert Roccaordi, who is appearing in "The Rider of the King Log," being produced by Edgar Jones, has returned from Maine where the picture was filmed.

Sid Samson, who handles the Music scores in New York and Northern New Jersey, is the proud father of a baby girl, who says he will be a film star some day.

Edward Elkus, character actor, is working in town. He has just come back from Winnipeg where he appeared in "The Foreigner."

Caption is now going forward for "Lend Me Your Wife," in which Owen Moore is to star. Victor Heerman is director.

Dorothy V. Cleveland has been placed in charge of all "fan" publicity for Hodkinson.

New Company to Make Two Reels

Roger S. Mitchell, representing the West End Prod. Corp. of Oklahoma, has left New York for Tulsa, Okla., with a complete producing staff, including director, assistant director and cameraman. The company will produce two 2 reel westerns a year.

Polii Buys 5,000,000 Bricks

Brick town, Conn.—Loren Dolbridge, acting for S. Z. Poli, has purchased the entire output of the Atlas Brick Co. of Hudson, N. Y., number being $5,000,000. They will be used in the construction of the Poli twin houses to be erected here.

Gollos Gets Equity Pictures

Chicago, Ill.—Exclusive rights to Equity pictures for this territory have been secured by A. M. Gollos. His first three releases under the new arrangement will be "Whispering Devils," "She Played and Payed, and "Keep to the Right."

Buy Rights

Buffalo, N. Y.—Gardiner Pictures have bought the New York rights, excluding New York City, to "Vod-

Exchange Changes

Chicago, Ill.—William Engelmann is now connected with the exploitation staff of Gollos Enterprises.

Chicago, Ill.—Sherman Kelly is now a member of the sales staff of Robertson-Cole.

Levey to Film "Man to Man"

Harry Levey states that his next feature production will be "Man to Man," a story by John Leitch, dealing with industrial democracy.

Levey has also secured the rights to "Tin Talks," the series of sketch on life written by Tin Thrift. This of these "Tin Talks," namely, "The Silent Partner," "There Was Time," and "The Deserf" will be placed in production soon and a fourth, "The Forgotten Child," will be ready for release at Christmas. These will be made in one reel length and will be along the lines of the Herbert Kaufman weeklies.

Alabama Joins M. P. T. O.

Montgomery.—Alabama has joined the ranks of the independents as result of the meeting called by H. C. Farley last week.

Farley of Montgomery was chosen president: C. L. Hackworth of Huntsville, first vice-president; Miss Luckel of Mobile, second vice-president; Harry A. Nunneman of Decatur, third vice-president, and J. F. Fromm of Troy, secretary-treasurer.

The Cleveland Convention was a drowsy, uninteresting, and a special resolution was adopted disapproving the activities of Alfred S. Black at New York.

Although Alabama's quota was at $5,000 the league raised $1,000.

Publish Partington's Songs

San Francisco, Cal.—Jack Partington, manager of the California, Imperial and Portola, together with Eugene H. Roth, has had several songs for which he wrote the lyrics and which were brought out at the California, published.

Goldsmith Adds to Chain

Mount Vernon, Wash.—By purchase from the Ritzchey Co., the chain of theaters of the Goldsmith and the Mission from Mrs. Murphy. Louis Goldsmith has secure control of all of the local houses. He has also bought Dunham's house at La Connon.

Selecting his film is the exhibitor's business. Selling his tickets is ours. We function through the RITCHEY POSTER!

RITCHEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St. N.Y. Phone Chelsea 8308

Wednesday, October 6, 1920
At Broadway Theaters

Rivoli

"You Never Can Tell," the first RealeS starring Bebe Daniels, is a good attraction at the Rivoli. Frank L. Borzage's romantic melodrama, "Black Samson," directed by Donald B resin, also appears.

Capitol

The first Roosevelt-Jones producers offering, "Homeland Fools," went particularly well at the Capitol on Sunday night. Larry Setton's comedy, "The Suit," is also registered with fine effect. The overture is producer's, the music of "Homeland Fools," being followed by the orchestra assisted by the voices and the band. Capitol, the Capitol main, gets two old songs. "When I Have A Swinging," and "Oh, Sunny, Take Me Back," previous to the feature which follows. The audience between feature and comedy is utilized by the feeling. Then the numbers on the program are the Toledo song from "Carmen," an Art Color production, "The Tangle of the Red Rose," and the Capitol News.

Strand

A pleasant surprise in store for those who visit the Strand this week and who are partial to the usual long scene as the latest number. Pictures of numbers from Victor Herbert's "The Only Girl," with Mary-Titchener singing the selection, "While Your Heart's Asleep." This innovation is made by a happy variation from the usual. It is the favorite of the moment, and 'looks very much like the old classics.

The Strand Topical Review and a Chest full of Knick-knacks, "Punch," showing scenes along the Yangtze in China, precedes a novelty bit in which the Strand will make the most of. The audience then is scattered, both in the main and various parts. The Strand. For those who choose "The Tangle of the Red Rose," and the Capitol News.

Rialto

Mary Miles Minter, the "Sweet Lavender," is the headliner at the Rialto. Her particular presentation in the form of a girl with it which is somewhat surprising considering the opportunity it offers for the recreation of old-seeming scenes and ideas, is the overture and it gets a big hand. It is the first time that it has been used in one of the Broadway theaters for several years. The "Explosions," a fine scene, follows. Then comes a baritone solo with the weekly coming out. A Tokyo- tocky number, "Japanese Canticle," rendered by one of the Rialto orchestra musicians, precedes the feature and gets a good hand. "Lover's Lane," "Lonely Lions," and a Century comedy, round the bill.

Censor Committee Meets

The censorship committee of the N. A. H. P. I., held an organization meeting at Delmonico's yesterday at 10 a.m. for the appointment of a number of sub-committees, the personnel of which will be announced later. The meeting was well attended. Chairman Gabriel L. Hess pointed out that the industry will be faced by censorship in 36 states in 1920.

First Reggie Morris Releases

Max Roth, recently appointed district manager for the Special Pictures which have returned from a visit to the various exchanges.

Up in Betty's Bedroom" is the first of the Cornelian series which Reggie Morris is producing for Special Pictures. This series will be released every two months. The second release is called "A Panaman Marriage," and the third "A Seminary Scandal."

Exhibitors Meeting

Three exhibitor organizations are either now meeting or have just completed sessions. Reports of the three P. E. P. Exhibitors are in session in Lansing, Mich., and the California M. P. T. O. are entering into the second day of a three-day session in San Francisco. The Wisconsin Exhibitors' Assn. meet at Green Bay yesterday.

Unique English FilmComing

Boris Said is brought in New York from England shortly with a print of "The Land of Mystery." A British picture produced by Harold Shaw. The film deals with the Russian situation and has caused considerable discussion in London where it seems to be the consensus of opinion that the film is unique.

New Pioneer Sales Record

Reports from all the exchanges show that business in September has reached a new mark in the records of the pioneer.

"Cardigan" the First

"Cardigan," the first of the Robert W. Chambers-Messmore Kendall series, will be distributed through Goldwyn.

Fred Meyers has been appointed general manager of the X. Independent Masterpiece Films, an exchange operated by Victor Kremer.
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

Creston, Iowa.—If someone suggested to the average exhibitor that a pair of lambs, a shepherd dog and a sheep pen, could be used in conjunction with a lobby display so as to draw crowds to a theater, the owner would probably reply with some such self-explanatory expression as "How do you get that way?" Nevertheless, Catherine Schliep, who manages the Willard did just that. Anita Stewart in "The Fighting Shepherdess," was the attraction and Miss Schliep had the pen erected in the lobby. It occupied all of it except the space needed for passage to the box office and into the house. The canines and lambs were placed into the pen, while a cut-out of the star was placed at the rear. "We are waiting for the fighting shepherdess to get to know inside" were the words on a sign placed over the affair, and a crowd constantly gathered about the entrance to the house.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Peter Antonoplos, who manages the Olympic, cut in with a few remarks about lobby displays and what he has to say is quite interesting. One rule is placed foremost by Antonoplos and that is that the display must improve the appearance of the house. "The lobby display," he says, "offers greater variety than any other form of exploitation. The failure of the average lobby display, can be usually attributed to one cause, that being that the lobby is crowded. Continuing on this subject Antonoplos declares that the cut-outs, posters and other paraphernalia are too frequently distributed in unbalanced manner. Any arrangement will not go in his opinion. It all leads up to the fact that in arranging his display, the exhibitor must be just as careful as the man who advertises is in writing his copy and making his laying-out.

Film Dealing With Jap Question

The Pantex Pictures Corp., offices in Los Angeles, is producing a two reeler designed to show the true situation as to the Japanese situation in California.

Kaufmann Returns to Coast

Eugene H. Kaufmann, manager of the accessory department of Inter-Ocean, has left for the company's west coast offices in Hollywood.

Exports Big Foreign Productions

The Exhibitors' Bulletin in speaking of encouraging independent producers, says this of foreign productions:

"Let us not be deceived by prejudice. Art is international. During the last six years practically no foreign picture has been shown in this country. During the same period the foreign producer has been exceedingly busy and has made vast improvements in his quality. You will soon see pictures of the first magnitude on the screens of the country that were made abroad."

Another for Inter-Ocean

The foreign rights to "Luring Shadows," produced by the Catholic Art Association, have been acquired by Inter-Ocean.

Levey Honored by French Govt.

Harry Levey yesterday received a bronze medal from the French Republic in appreciation of the courtesy shown by Levey to the French Economic Commission last year.

Milligan Sells Rights

B. Herbert Milligan, treasurer and general manager of the Capital Film Co., is in town.

He has disposed of "For the Freedom of Ireland" for Greater New York and San Zierler of Commonwealth Film, New England to Sam Grant of Boston and Western New York to Nu-Art Pictures of Buffalo.

Forms House Clearing Firm

Kirkland, Mo.—Milton S. Mills has formed a clearing house for the buying and selling of picture theaters in towns of 10,000 or more throughout the country.

Back From Orient

San Francisco—L. C. Hutt, Pantheon cameraman, has just returned from the Orient with 25,000 feet of educational and news film for that organization. He visited the leading cities in China, Japan and the Philippine Islands.

Maurice Tourneur has signed Milton Menasco as art director, succeeding Floyd Mueller, resigned.

Amusements

GEORGE GEORGE

IN BOOTH TARKINGTON'S

ARLIS

POLDEN

Park Theatre

Col. Circle, Eves. 8:30

Mats. Wed. & Sat., 2:15

BOOTH

West 45th St. Eves. 8:30

Mats. Wed. (Pop.) & Sat., 2:15

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY

Played One Year in London

As "Tilly of Bloomsbury."

ELTINGE

Theatre, W. 42 St., Eves. 8:45

Mats. Wed. (Pop.) & Sat., 2:30

"LADIES' NIGHT"

Hudson

Thurs., 44 St., E. of B'Y. Eves. 8:30

Mats. Wed. (Pop.) & Sat., 2:15

TAYLOR HOLMES

CROOKED GAMBLERS

LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

"Is a breath of Utopia."—Telegraph

PLYMOUTH

Mat. Tom's & Thurs., 2:10

Cohan & Harris

Mats. Wed. & Sat., 2:15

WELCOME STRANGER

Aaron Hoffman's Comedy Success

World's Greatest Vaudeville

B. F. KEITH'S PALACE

Valeska Suratt

Yvette Rugel

Mats. Daily at 2 & 7, Nites &

REPUBLIC

Mats. Wed. (Pop.) & Sat., 2:30

Thurs., W. 42 St. Eves. 8:30

The Lady of the Lamp

MOROSCO

Theatre, W. 42nd St.

MATINEES WED. & SAT., 2:30

Most Thrilling Play Ever Staged

THE BAT

"Keeps Standees on Tiptoe!"—World

Maxine Elliott's

Mats. Tues. & Wed., 2:10

"SPANISH LOVE"

"Hold Audience Breathless."—Eve. Sun

Films

"GIRLS DON'T GAMBLE"

The Greatest Comedy Dramatic Attraction

D. N. Schwab Productions, Inc.

1600 Broadway

New York

No. 5

THE BILLBOARD (in its review of "The Miracle Man")—

"The acting of BETTY COMPSON was a revelation. I were to make comparisons I would have to go back to the acting of a wonderful peasant woman who almost twenty years ago played the part of Mary Magdalene in the 'Passion Play' at Oberammergau."

FIRST RELEASE "PRISONERS OF LOVE"

Produced Personally by Betty Compson Distributed by Goldwyn
Fraud Suit Filed

At National Playhouse Corp.— Stockholders Bring Action

in the Supreme Court.

Stockholders of the National Playhouse Corp., which was formed some years ago with a capitalization of $100,000, have instituted court action against the following persons with the company:

Evelyn H. and Richard S. Heve- rnor, of 56 Finley Avenue, Arland M. Johnson, president; Robert H. S. Roberts, treasurer; John F. McMurtry, director, and William S. Mortimer J. Butler, directors of whom are asked to account for money obtained for stock, it is alleged was sold under promises amounting to $10 each are worthless. An action is brought by Frank M. Levey, on a claim of stockholders paid $1,650 for shares. The claim is in behalf of B. Rush Card, who paid $1,000 for 100 shares of preferred and 100 of common stock. The complaint alleges the corporation was formed May 2 in Delaware with $2,000 shares of stock at $10 a share and 10 shares common, no par value. Defendants are alleged to have made written representations that the property was more than the capital issued and that an agreement had been ef- fected with Alexander Pantages for management and bookings of films that mortgages to yield $50 had already been arranged.

(Continued on Page 2)

Motion Denied

Agreement by Lewis J. Selznick and Selznick Enterprises, Inc., to return to the Community M. P. Bureau more than 300 reels of non-theatrical films has resulted in a denial by Federal Judge Mayer of the application by the latter for a limited receiver to manage that part of the defendant's business in which the plaintiff claims to have a property right.

Community is suing Selznick over the non-theatrical distribution of its films.

Vitagraph Sues Semon

Los Angeles—Vitagraph has filed suit for $400.338 against Larry Semon charging that the comedian threatened to break his contract unless Vitagraph increased his salary to $5,000 weekly for 6 pictures.

Two New Selznick Managers

W. A. Sautt has been appointed manager of the Calgary Select office and J. Kirkpatrick to a similar position at Winnipeg.

Four A Year

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Charles Spore Prod. is the title of a new producing unit formed here. The company has secured the studio of the San Gabriel Film Co. at San Gabriel, where four productions a year will be made. Charles Spore is to be the star.

Ruth Film at the Garden

It is understood that "Headin' Home," Babe Ruth's feature for the Yankee Photoplay Corp., will run for one week at Marion Square Garden, beginning Sept. 16.

It was impossible to confirm this at the offices of Kessel and Bauman.

Organizing Texas Territory

Dallas—A special representative of the board of directors of Associated First National is here and a special local committee of exhibitors has been appointed to get under way First National affairs in the Southwest territory.

San Francisco exhibitors at a trade showing of Thomas H. Ince's first Associated Producers' special, "Homespun Folks," said: "It's great," and offered higher prices for it than we had intended asking.—Adv.

October 1st

Date Set for Opening of Operations of the National Booking Co.

Meetings were held during the past week by officials of the National Booking Co., and as a result of them, it is learned that Oct. 1 has been set as the opening date of operations of the new organization.

The original plans of National Booking called for Sept. 1 as the day upon which actual business dealings were to start.
Fraud Suit Filed
(Continued from Page 1)

It is alleged the defendants represented that arrangements had been made to operate a theater in connection with a Stratler Hotel in a city unnamed, that one was to be financed in Louisville, one in Pittsburgh, for which $30,000 was to be contributed by the corporation and the remainder by local capital; one in Washington, for which local capital would contribute $600,000; and theaters in Cincinnati with $200,000, in Wisconsin with $150,000 and in Toledo with $100,000 remaining to be furnished by the corporation.

It is claimed the defendants knew the property was worth far less than the capital stock and that none of the parties to the enterprise had any financial interest. It is alleged that Johnson, the president, not only put in no money, but had a contract calling for $600 a week, and is now suing the corporation in Westchester County for $15,000 for breach of contract and has attached all its property.

An effort to reach the offices of the National Playhouse Corp. for a statement failed.

Members of the firm of Heveson & Co., who are mentioned in the suit, could not be reached. In their office it was stated that acting for them was Gerard Roberts, an attorney at 56 Pine St., but that he was in Chicago and would not be back until today.

Smith Coming Here
Pete Smith, coast publicity director and representative for Marshall Neilan is expected in town any day. He intends to visit his family and travel back to California with it.

William G. Smith to Tour
William G. Smith of Fidelity Films will leave for a tour of the country on September 9.

Rudolph to Produce
Bill Rudolph, publicity and exploitation director, recently with Clara Kimball Young, will produce a series of Metropolitan life pictures shortly.

To Send Films to Russia
Leon Schlesinger of the Joe Miles Service Bureau is editing and titling in Russian 100 industrial and educational one reeler to be sent to Russia.

Northwest Notes
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Seattle—Equity Pictures Corp. of Portland, will distribute its picture through Washington from the office of San Films Co.

Seattle—John Hamrick, former owner of the Rex, as the smallest 1st run house in Seattle, is building a new theater on Fifth Ave. between Pike and Union St. It will seat 1,000.

Howard J. Sheahan, Western district manager of Fox, spent several days in Seattle recently.

Associated Producers have opened an office in Seattle under management of B. W. Copeland.

Mike Rosenberg, manager of De-Luxe Feature Film Co., has bought the Seattle office of Hallmark. Hallmark Prod. will be under management of Mike’s brother, Al.

Bremerton, Wash.—Marshall Taylor, formerly house manager of the Clemmer of Seattle and later of the Rialto of Portland, is now manager of the Rialto.

Misoula, Mont.—New theater opened by Smead & Simons, capacity 1,400, cost $300,000.

Deer Lodge, Mont.—New theater opened by Huns Hansen, capacity 1,200, cost $150,000.

Has Unusual Russian Film
Charles Peizer, formerly director of Hallmark is exploiting a production made in Russia and showing 12,000 Russian residents who have relatives in New York and vicinity. They are tagged so that those in the audience may distinguish them and identify them by referring to the program.

Park-Whitescide to Make Another
Within the next three weeks, Park-Whitescide will start work on another feature for release through Pioneer.

Frankfort, Ky.—Breaks Moore Co. to operate picture house, Kennes, Elswick, Alex, H. Looney and Lundy Elswick.

PROTECTION

The fundamental principle back of every successful business enterprise is insurance. Corporations owe it to their stockholders. Partners owe it to each other. You as an individual owe it to yourself. Do not allow yourself to be lulled into false security. You NEED insurance.
Emissaries Abroad
Are Necessary Says Gov't. Representative to Save South America for Our Exporters
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Washington—According to a report recently received by "Commerce Reports" from Trade Commissioner Collier, the Argentine motion picture business in Argentina and the other River Plate countries stands in immediate need of actual representatives of the film companies who will have a pride in their special films and who can do some organizing among the motion picture houses.

He says that at present the film market in Argentina and Uruguay is at a critical stage, and explains that, previous to 1915, the American films were better, but that during the war, when it was impossible to get films from Europe, the American film was introduced, and gradually it won favor, until now American actors and actresses are most popular with the Argentine public. Although the American film has the field at present and can obtain three times the admission charge of European films, which are much cheaper, nevertheless the latter films are being introduced in increasing numbers by importers, with whom the cost is the first consideration, and who naturally show preference for the film that nets them the greatest profit.

It is thought that if the houses were organized as they are in the United States there would be no difficulty about the higher price and, moreover, that there would be the additional advantage of increased demand for films in the provinces, which at present have poor exchange and theater facilities, and therefore are a small part of the trade of which they are capable.

Moore After More Trophies
Tom Moore of Washington, in New York on his way to Washington, Mr. Moore came in from Breton Woods and plans to stop over at Shawnee on the Delaware for two weeks. He wants to play some more golf and win some more trophies to add to the Moore collection.

Larsen Coming East
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Oklahoma City T. E. Larsen, general manager of Peacock Prod., Inc., is now on his way to New York. He will stop over on his way at Chicago to confer with Clark Gable Young whose Equity productions he has been handling for Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

Demand Larger Salaries
New Orleans.—Local theatrical employees have notified house owners of their new demands which call for an increase of $10 a week to musicians, $12 to stage hands and $10 to operators.

Selsnick Releases for September

Charles Ray a Big Hit in 45 Minutes From Broadway
Chicago Critics Declare

Call Role of Kid Burns in George M. Cohen's Stage Play His Best Characterization—Presented by Arthur S. Kane

BURST INTO APPLAUSE
"Charles Ray as Kid Burns, the pugilistic champion in 'Forty-five Minutes from Broadway,' is even better than Charles Ray as the familiar rube. "See 'Forty-five Minutes from Broadway' at the Boston Theatre the balance of the week. If you prefer to await its arrival at your favorite theatre, learn when it is due and then make a written memorandum of the day. You'll enjoy it immensely if you have a penchant for lively and mirthful entertainment with an occasional human touch here and there and a sympathetic heart throb. Ray is capable of these things, and in his newest offering, his first as an independent star, he has facilities to bring his versatility into play.

"The George M. Cohen spirit pervades the drama. It moves rapidly and contains frequent touches reminiscent of the Cohanescque style in the legitimate theatre. At its conclusion the house broke loose with spontaneous applause. It's splendid entertainment."—Chicago Daily News.

MAKES A BIG HIT
"Charles Ray makes a great success of his venture in a new characterization. You will enjoy it. The play makes a very good picture. Its humor is very genuine and not at all strained.

"There is a good deal of human interest as well as fun, and the romance is interesting. Ray does some very good acting, and it is a very fine performance. He is to be congratulated on his first picture with his new company. Don't fail to see it."—Chicago Evening Post.

FUNNY AND LIKEABLE
"Charlie Ray is vurr' funny and vurr' likeable. Will hold your interest. The picture is a good one."—Chicago Daily Tribune.

Director
Joseph De Grasse
Adapted by
Isabel Johnson and Bernard Mc Conville

Photographer
Chester Lyons

A First National Attraction
There'll be a Franchise everywhere
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 31
"HOARDED ASSETS"
with Harry T. Morey
and Betty Blythe
PAUL SCARDON
Directed It
And also
"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"
with Blanche Sweet
Now directing
BESSIE BARRISCALE

THE GREAT REDEEMER
A Maurice Tourneur Production
Picturized by
JOHN GILBERT

Many Millions of People have read
“THE TRUANT HUSBAND”
—
BEING PRODUCED
by
ROCKET FILM CORPORATION

Van to Make Independent Films
Wally Van, formerly Hallmark supervising director, will start work shortly on some independent productions in the east.

HUMOR DRESSED AND UNDRESSED
Another illustration of the Christie Comedy idea of dressing up the laughs. Scene from "Don't Blame the Stork" released through Educational Film Exchanges.—Adv.

Special Exploitation Service
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Harry Lehrman is preparing exploitation service with exhibits of his comedy productions. This service will augment the publicity and advertising service of First National.

Dozen Directors at Lasky Studio
Los Angeles—Production activity at the Lasky plant will continue so that there will be from 10 to 12 directors working.

William DeMille is completing "Midsummer Madness."

Cecil B. DeMille is making rapid progress on his Paramount Special, written by Jeanie Macpherson, Wallace Reid, under direction of James Cruze, making "Always Audacious," has made another flying trip to San Francisco.

Thomas Meighan is making scenes for "Easy Street" under direction of Tom Forman.

Mrs. William Vaughan Moody, is co-operating with George Melford in the preparations for "The Faithful Healer."

Following the completion of "Brewster's Millions," "Patsy" Arbuckle will do an original story by Walter Woods entitled, "The Dollar a Year Man."

Empy Co. to Make Oil Film
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Shreveport, La.—The Guy Empy Prod. Co. is to secure an educational and industrial picture depicting "The Problem of the South." It is to deal with oil.

New Entry in Open Market
Frank Gersten, Inc., is a new entry in the state right field. Offices have been opened at 130 W. 46th St.

Gersten owns the U. S. Theater in Hoboken and has been more or less connected with the exhibiting end of the business for some time. He at present operates an exchange supplying the New Jersey territory.

"The Unfortunate Sex" starring Francis Edmonds and George Larkin, which was produced on the west coast has been secured as the company's first production.

Lynn S. Card, former manager of Wistaria Prod. and sales manager for the Independent Sales Corp., is general manager of Frank Gersten, Inc.

"Sweet Lavender" Listed
"Sweet Lavender," starring Mary Miles Minter, will be the first Minter release to holders of the 1920-21 Real Art Star Franchise.

Hale Appointed Production Manager
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Tampa, Fla.—Albert W. Hale has been named production manager of American Bioscope Films.

Property Inventory Completed
A complete inventory of the property department of the Famous Players Eastern Studios has been completed after five months work. The properties that have been collected for the past eight years are now indexed, numbered and many of them photographed, and are being transferred to the new Long Island studio, which will be occupied within the next two weeks.

FRANK REICHER
Now Directing
Dorothy Dalton
for
Famous Players-Lasky Corp.

CHESTER CONKLIN
2 Reels—One-A-Month
GALE HENRY
2 Reels—One-A-Month
"CLAYPLAY"
Novelty Comedies
1 Reel—One-A-Week
"SUNSET BURRUD"
Scenic Stories
1 Reel—One-A-Week
"COMICLASSICS"
1500 ft. of Comedy
500 ft. of Color Scenic
2000 ft. 2 Reels—Two-A-Month
with our Greatest Stars
Directed by
REGGIE MORRIS
the man who made
"His Married Life" "Bringing Up Father" etc.

Special Pictures Corp.
Educational Sues

Reputation Has Been Injured and Wants $250,000 Damages

Litigation between "Babe" Ruth and the Educational Films Corp., and concerns which are displaying on pictures showing "Babe" Ruth in action, took a new turn yesterday when Educational Films sued Ruth, see Photo Corp. and Kessell and nan for $250,000 damages.

The complaint alleges that Educationals has had an unquestioned reputation for the quality of its production, as general manager of "Babe" Ruth and the other defendants, damaged the plaintiff's reputation by publishing an advertisement stating that the plaintiff was prac-ging as a fraud upon the defendant in placing an advertisement concerning the films now on exhibition in which Ruth is appearing.

The advertisement complained of published in a daily newspaper by a concern that it was said to have been an original in WID'S DAILY on 24 which was advertised by the Sales Corp., concerning the film in which he knocked his home run.

It is stated in the advertisement that never posed for the pictures nor organized them and gave warning of intent to prosecute anyone exhibiting or selling motion pictures in them which they could not do.

Chicago exhibitors said: "The A. P. production standards are wonderful." They had just seen Thomas H. Ince's first Associated Producers special, "Homespun Folks."—Advt.

Charges Waste

Vitagraph Says Larry Semon Deliberately Boosted Production Costs

(15 wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Vitagraph in its suit against Larry Semon for $407,338.22 claim the defendant deliberately increased the cost of the production and wantonly wasted money in order to force the company to release him from his contract.

In filing the suit Vitagraph outlined the terms of the contract the company holds with Semon, the de-

(Continued on Page 2)

Meeting Postponed

The N. A. M. P. I. meeting to elect officers, which was scheduled for today, has been postponed until next Wednesday.

Kunsky's Executives Here

George Trendle, general manager of the Kunsky Enterprises, and Harry Scott, manager of the Detroit exchange, are in town.

Callicott Out

After Row With Sol Lesser—Nobody Wants to Talk About the Affair

(15 wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Jack Callicott, who has been managing the Cinema here for Sol Lesser and his associates, has resigned, following a row which occurred last week when Lesser held a trade showing after the regular performance.

Details of the row are wanting, and neither side cares to discuss what happened. But Lesser wanted Callicott to stop making a speech and then he finally did so by they had words.

As the result Lesser was somewhat roughly treated and Callicott's resignation followed.

Callicott has been active during the past few months arranging a distribution of some of the prologues used at the Klinema to houses nearby. But this had nothing to do with the differences which arose with Lesser.

Vidor Finishes

Present First National Contract Completed—New Company Formed

(15 wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—King Vidor Prod., has been formed here with a capitalization of $2,000,000. The incorporators are King Vidor, Charles S.

Vidor, Jr., Graves, Carroll Cassell and Dave Schullman.

Vidor will make four productions of his own a year while програмб Vidor, his wife, who was formerly with Lasky, is to star in another series, to be directed by a second director. A series of comedies in which Craig Hutchinson is reported to be the star is also planned.

It developed yesterday that Vidor has completed his First National contract, which called for two pictures. These were "The Jack-Knife Man" and "The Famly Honor." Nothing could be learned about a renewal by First National.

It was also learned that the Cath-eine Curtis Corp. had engaged King Vidor to direct "The Sky Pilot," which is now in production in Los Angeles. The arrangement is for one picture only.

New Capitol Opens Tonight

St. Paul—Ruben and Finkelstein's New Capitol theater will open to-night. J. D. Williams of First National will attend the premieres.

All in from Europe

Paul Brunet, Herbert Brenon, Geo. E. Kann, Hobart Henley, and wife, Myron and David Selznick are back in New York from Europe.

It is understood that Mr. Brunet will replace Charles Pathé as active head of Pathé and that Brenon will produce in this country.

Harron's Mother Arrives

Mrs. Annie Harron, mother of Robert E. Harron, who died Sunday at Bellevue Hospital as a result of the accidental discharge of a revolver on Sept. 1, arrived in New York yesterday from California.

The funeral will be held from the funeral parlors of Richard J. Delaney, 130 Greenwich Ave., near 6th Ave.

Goldstein Going to Coast

E. H. ("Manny") Goldstein, Carl Laemmle's assistant at Universal, leaves for the coast today for a three weeks' trip. Universal employees tendered him a luncheon yesterday at the Astor and presented him with a silver mounted cane.
At Broadway Theatres

Rialto

"Fairyland," Arundel is drawing big crowds of people. The story of how he came to work on the first picture of its kind, length, "The Round Up," is being shown. The variety-crowds in the picture receive very well with the comedy taking first honors. Last’s Fourth of July show has been a success. The picture features the drawings of Villa, and contains, among other things, drawings of Russ and Marcus. The orchestra plays a selection from each composer’s most popular piece as the sketches are made. The drawing of Hugo Rosensheid was good and the composer’s concerts are not far away while he introduces the orchestra. "Gypsy Love Song," from "The Fortune Teller," rendered by famous violinists, goes big before the feature. Subsequently the orchestra renders selections from the current musical comedy "Henry Girl," while a Judge and a cartoon closes the bill.

Capitol

The musical and dance numbers were good and the picture’s share of applause at the Capitol. The bill opens with "Morning," from "Pee Cee," as the overture. This is used as an accompaniment to "Downlands," a Sunset scene. The combination is particularly pleasing. "Anitra’s Dance," from "Peer Gynt," follows, this being rendered by Duris Miles and arranged by Manchester. Hungarian "Rhapsody" played by a solo cello comes next and following this, the Capitol brings two numbers from "Cavalleria Rusticana," form the "Ball." An overture includes the feature, "Milestones," an appropriate "Louis Ein opens the bill, Miss Gimbargi and Ouamane. It goes very well. Following the feature comes a solo from "You’ve in Love," entitled "Lun-land," while the Slack Kenton comedy, "It’s a Boy," concludes.

Rivoli

The bill at the Rivoli, headed by "Civilian Clothes," with Thomas Meighan and in the still-life role of is light through the mirror, opens with the introduction from "La Boheme" as the overture. The picturesque and a duel, Harley Granville-Barker’s "Omnibus," also, precede the feature and after it one of the Rivoli novelties, "Diversiform Chanson," brings a prominent position. "It’s a Boy," Slack Kenton comedy, finishes off the bill of pictures with "Faust" on the organ concluding the de luxe program.

Strand

Houses Bought

Riverside, Ill.—Howard and Charles Klein and D. F. Havel bought Subway.

Joseph, Ore.—H. D. Goodfellow bought Star lease.

Florence, Ala.—Louis Rosenbaum leased Majestic and Strand.

Managers Changed

New Orleans,—Howard McCoy at Palace.

New Orleans,—Ben Piazza at Orpheum.

Knoxville, Tenn.—E. A. Booth to manage Bijou, Signal Amusement Co.

Charges Waste

(Continued from Page 1)

tails of which were extensively advertised a few weeks ago.

Vitagraph has another under contract until Dec. 1, 1924, during which time he is to make two comedies or 12 a year. Vitagraph alleges that five of them have been released and a sixth completed and that at the present time it is impossible for Vitagraph to make the second picture in November. Vitagraph states that the company cannot and will not continue the schedule 12 pictures.

It is on this point that Vitagraph bases its suit, alleging that damages to the extent of $365,000 have been sustained because the company cannot make a good picture to deliver a new cartoon on competition playing dates.

Vitagraph’s warning to the trade regarding Semon which appeared in the last issue in August is quoted in part: "(Albert E. Smith) wish to warn the motion picture trade in general and particularly those who make a practice of stealing motion picture stars from reputable producers that Larry Semon is at present under written contract with the Vitagraph Co., which will not expire until Dec. 1, 1924, unless before that date he completes thirty-six (36) motion pictures with the aid and assistance of the Vitagraph Co. of America.

A Correction

In Sunday’s issue it was inadvertently stated that Geraldine Farrar had completed one production for Associated Exhibitors, Inc. The company referred to, of course, was Associated Exhibitors, Inc.

Kann Back from Europe

George E. Kann, manager of Universal’s export department, is back at his desk after a trip through central Europe.

Kann is happy. Says he gained a lot of weight and what’s surprising hasn’t very much to comment on regarding European film conditions.

Cuts and Flashes

Hodkinson will release “Down Home,” the first Irvin Willat production, next week.

Eileen Percy has completed work on her third Fox production, “Beauty of the Bride.”

Dorothy V. Cleveland has been recently added to the publicity department of the Hodkinson Corp.

Pathé New

No. 72

CAPE HENLOPEN, DEL.—Crew rescued from sunken submarine—thrilling change of scene—-Life-saving operation—rescue of 37 men from U. S. Navy’s S. 5.

NEW YORK CITY—Russian Waifs on the boulevard—Red Cross officials entertain 500 little folk who are being taken from her to Russia to reunite with their parents. FOREST HILLS, L. I.—Tennis championships—big crowd attends final and sees W. T. Tilden defeat Johnston for world’s title.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Hobbies in hinch pageant—School-children take part in real representing customs and dances from nations.

TURIN, ITALY—Industrial union grew out of Italian towns—thousands attend funeral of men killed in clash between strikers and police.

THE WORLD AT WAR—An animation of Early Green shows the center of the old world and corresponding figures existing in the world despite disaster.

LIBYA, AFRICA—Natives celebrate Jefferson’s birthday; they pose for camera like "regrettable."—JACKSON, MICH—Governor Cobb has informed the Democratic Presbyterian candidate starts on campaign trip to carry message direct to the votes.

FRANCE—Americans present request to French to Knights of Columbus near General Lafayette which they give France as a token of war.

Today

Guy E. Marion has completed work with the Community M. U. M. This was in connection with building up a library of motion picture news information for the large number of the Bureau, and created a card index, of over 300,000 entries.

Seattle.—Winter Garden, Jane C. Clemmer and E. F. James, will open Oct. 9.
Astounding Climax Caps Griffith's Latest Screen Sensation

D. W. Griffith's "WAY DOWN EAST"

D. W. Griffith, Inc.

DIRECTOR........ D. W. Griffith
ASSISTANT........ Lottie Blair Parker
ELABORATED BY....... Joseph R. Griesser
SCENARIO BY......... Anthony Paul Kelly
CAMERAMEN.......... G. W. Bitzer and Hendrik Sartov
AS A RESULT........ Splendidly rendered melodrama rising to greatest climax ever screened.

STORY........ Rich in appeal and treatment accorded it by screenwriter Joseph R. Griesser, one of the very best in the dramatic scene—comedy relief attempted seems to strike false note PHOTOGRAPHY........ Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

LIGHTINGS........ Supercb
CAMERA WORK........ Excellent
LEADING PLAYERS....... Lillian Gish gives greatest performance of her life, Richard Barthelmess and Lowell Sherman splendid.

SUPPORT........ Unusually good in the main

INTERIORS........ Beautiful old mansions and old-fashioned rural scenes

DETAIL........ Splendid for the most part

CHARACTER OF STORY.... Tragedy of the double standard of morals.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION... About 12 reels.

A climax in which the terrific force of the elements are mastered and a sustained emotional thrill... "Way Down East," a picture of many sides and of many extremes. This climax is nothing if not tremendous. It passes in suspense and power the gathering of the class in "The Birth of a Nation," the triple parallel climax of "Intol-erance" and the rescue of the implored heroine in "Hearts of the World.

Such practically unconscious is Anna. And off on the river banks beating wildly in the terrific snow storm is David. As he finally approaches the ice-caked river, led there by pieces of Anna's apparel, the ice cracks and to and fro. Slowly the piece which has been the helpmate away and starts plunging, hurtling down the river to the falls below. David, frantic with the realization of Anna's peril, dashes into the water and after some moments - Anna is able to reach the girl dearer to him than life itself.

With this situation, the suspense of which Griffith has emphasized to its fullest extent by the use of quick flashes and taking full advantage of the terrific and relentless power of the ice flow, the spectator of "Way Down East" looks upon the thrilling scene. The audience at the 44th Street Theatre, on the opening night was quick to catch the tremendous power of it. Hardly had the battle between David and the elements begun when a ripple of applause and hopeful cheers started the audience at last David emerges from the icy water in triumph as it was about to carry her over the falls and into the jaws of death and then started his battle back against the current, the entire house was on its feet cheering him madly.

The scene is realism itself, and with its tremendous power it has the added merit of uniqueness. Such a background has never before been provided for a thrill. And it is all so effectively staged that the fact that Anna will eventually be saved, a knowledge that is obvious, is completely lost sight of through Griffith's skill. Here, indeed, is the last word in theatrical effect.

In the production of the whole work Griffith has, with few and generally minor exceptions, shown himself at his best.

The Biggest Box Office Attraction of the Times

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Probably motion picture exhibitors won't have a chance to book "Way Down East" for at least a year, as it will be played as a regular road show during that time. But remember this: when you finally have the opportunity to book it—that it is one of the biggest things ever seen on the screen. It looks as if it would run "The Birth of a Nation" a close race for box office honors and when, some many years hence, all is said and done and countless thousands of feet at all gauges have played it.

The biggest thing about "Way Down East" is that it is last- ing. This has been proven by the famous old play, and this play never reached the public finish off as artistically and as powerfully as Griffith's picture. It's the entertainment that people have gone to see again and again. And they will con-
THE GREAT REDEEMER

Picturized and Entirely Re-written by

JOHN GILBERT

A Maurice Tourner Production

UNITED SOCIETY OF CINEMATOGRAPHERS
formerly Cinema Camera Club
16th Floor Candler Bldg.
When you are in need of a Cameraman
Phone Bryant 6558

THE TRUANT HUSBAND
was published in
THE COSMOPOLITAN
and the whole world is delighted in it.

BEING PRODUCED
by
ROCKET FILM CORPORATION

Educational Sees
(Continued from Page 1)

The complaint of the Educational Films notes that it has maintained close relations with a number of great national organizations and movements among which are the Red Cross, Y. W. C. A., New York State Conservation Commission and the National Geographic Society, and that the publicity department has been under constant instruction and states nothing but that is fully borne out by the fact. The complaint alleges that "Educational has always shunned sensationalism in exploitation and has never resorted to trickery in titles nor to the slightest misleading statement as to the contents of a picture." For these reasons Educational alleges that it has been damaged to the amount said for by the advertisement inserted by Ruth and the other defendants as set forth.

New Play for Goldwyn

Another American playwright has been added to the Goldwyn list of authors in William Hurlbut. The rights to a recent comedy of his, "Heaven's Heirs," have been purchased by Goldwyn. Alfred E. Green will direct.

Mats, Electros and Stereos
for the Motion Picture Trade
I. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereotypers in N. Y. C.

"Expo" for Atlanta in December
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Atlanta—The Film Managers' Assoc. has finally completed plans for an exposition to be held here Dec. 6-14.

Dolly Spurr Selling Out
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Chicago—It is reported here that Dolly Spurr of Marion, Ind., is about to dispose of her theater interests.

Smith Writes New Serial

Frank Leon Smith, scenario writer of the George B. Seitz Co., has completed a new serial to be put in production soon, "The Man Who Stole the Moon."

Special Film Service in Atlanta
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Atlanta—Anna Eugene Aiken, publisher of the Weekly Film Review, a regional trade paper, will write a special column for William Randolph Hearst's Sunday American, covering reviews of new pictures.

Rogers Debates Vital Question

Los Angeles—An unusual and witty debate was held last night before the Advertising Men's Club when Will Rogers clashed with Dr. James Whitchurch, noted West Coast divine and humorist, on the question: "Resolved, that cowboys have done more for humanity than preachers.""

Darling Finishes Another
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—W. Scott Darling, scenario editor for Christie, has just finished another feature script, it being "See My Lawyer," adapted from Max Marcin's stage play. Darling also adapted the Oliver Morose-Elmer Harris play, "So Long Letty," for Christie's screening.

Advertising Paramount Week

Famous Players carried large sized advertisements in the New York papers Sunday announcing Paramount Week, which began on Sunday and which closes Saturday of this week. A company statement says: Had more prints been available, rather than 1,440 more theaters could have been booked for the week.

Studio Exclusively for Serials
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—The Berwilla Film Corp., a new company headed by Ben Wilson, will shortly have five unit producing serials at its plant, which is the old Clifford studios until recently occupied by the Bull's Eye Film Corp.

Ben Wilson is making "The Crimson Lash," Jack Hoxie, "Thunderbolt Jack," while Marn Sains, at one time with Kalem, and two other units are now being organized.

Theaters Raise Price Scale
Several of the neighborhood theaters in Brooklyn have raised the price of seats.

The Halsey, Halsey and Broad, and the Dekall, Dekall Ave. and Broadway, both operated by Frank Hensler, have increased their prices to 25 cents per ticket.

The Sumner theater, Sumner and Quincy Sts., raised its scale from 25 to 35 cents per ticket. A number of other theaters in Brooklyn are understood to be contemplating an increase.

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. E. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

AT LIBERTY Sept. 15th. Pozle wanted with movie theatre. Ex-year's experience as manager, or at and all around man. Will interest or work on percentage salary. E. S. PERKINS, Apt. 154 8th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

ONCE (Just Once)
TO EVERY WOMAN

OFFICE SPACE FOR RENT
TILL OCT. 19, 1922
2600 sq. ft.—light and airy, 12th floor—excellent location
Apply at once
UNIVERSAL FILM CO.
1600 B'way, N. Y.
Schenck Sells Out?

Schenck Disposes of Interest in Roscoe Arbuckle Contract

Reports reached New York yesterday from the coast that Joseph M. Schenck, under whose management Roscoe Arbuckle ("Fatty") has been starring on the Paramount program quite some time past has disposed of interest in the Arbuckle contract, which is no longer official at Famous Players, but that he was willing to place on record as a flat denial that he does not desire to sell his interest, the report was wrong. Joseph Schenck is in Europe and manager could not be reached.

Nazimova Here

In Nazimova is in New York. As a matter of fact, she has been here since Saturday, having arrived from coast unheralded.

O'Brien Sails Sept. 30

Dennis F. O'Brien of O'Brien, Malasky and Driscoll, sells for London t. 30 to look over the situation there and affairs of United Artists, so he is still in the office and was present here and during the weekend.

Big Four to Expand?

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—The Times says that the Big Four, officially known as United Artists, appears to be on its way to becoming the Big Five, or possibly bigger. To name some names of the principals, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin and D. W. Griffith are about to be added to the list of those who have a famous name on the stage as well as on the screen. At least, one of them is a certain, while the other is very probable. These names are Mme. Alla Nazimova, and John Barrymore. The two former stars may elect to return to their own company, while the latter, who has a contract, will remain. On the other hand, it is known that the United Artists are also anxious to number their distinguished members among their own. It looks as if Metro were going to have to give up on their own contract, especially since the Big Four, according to well-authorized rumor, is about to be added to the list of the chiefs. After making more pictures for Famous Players, he is to form his own company and sign for release with the two companies, who are known to be negotiating with him for the time being.

Busch Resigns

Brinton N. Busch yesterday announced that he has disposed of his interest in the Republic Distributing Corp. to Lewis J. Selznick, who now owns 100 per cent of the stock.

Republic will be merged with Selznick Enterprises, Inc., the holding company recently formed by Mr. Selznick to take over the various interests owned or controlled by him. At a meeting of the board of directors of the corporation, Mr. Busch resigned as president and a director. Lewis J. Selznick was elected president and Henry C. Siegel treasurer.

New K. and B. Company

(To wive to WID'S DAILY)

Albany—The Kessel and Bauman Pictures Corp. has been formed here with a capitalization of $1,000,000. The incorporators are Charles and Adam Kessel and C. O. Bauman.

At the office of Kessel and Bauman it was stated that no definite plans had been made for the company.

Reception and Ball

The M. P. O. of America announce a monster reception and ball will be held under their auspices at Madison Square Garden, Saturday, Nov. 4th. The proceeds will be devoted to the erection of a model club house in which the hospitality of the organization can be extended to visiting exhibitors.

Pathé Meeting Monday

Directors of Pathé Exchange, Inc., will hold an important meeting on Monday at the company's executive offices.

The Pathé offices stated yesterday that following the meeting an important announcement may be expected.

It will not be surprising if the announcement referred to will be the election of Paul Brunet to the presidency of Pathé Exchange, Inc., succeeding Charles Pathe, who is said to have expressed a desire to retire from active management of Pathé Freres, of which he is president.

Having Trouble

Independent Exhib., Circuit Booking Plan Running Against Snags

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Seattle—A number of the members of the Independent Exhibitors' Corp. have become dissatisfied and have shown an inclination to withdraw. The method employed by the officers of the organization, trying to induce them to stay is interesting. They insist to the exhibitor that they can obtain pictures at a cheaper price than he can book the same pictures for. They ask him for a list of the pictures he would like to book, then they go to the exchanges handling these and try various means of persuasion and bullying in an effort to get them at cheaper prices than those quoted to individual exhibitors.

When J. Von Herberg and H. B. Wright, the managers, were in Montana recently the question of allowing the members of the circuit to book from some of the large distributing companies independently came up for discussion. It was known that Jensen and Von Herberg were already booking independently from Famous Players, United Artists, Metro and Fox. The answer was given that the officers of the booking corporation had found it a difficult task to whip the big companies into line than they had expected, and that they would do their booking through the smaller companies and the independent markets for a while, and attend to the larger ones later.

Eve Unsell Sails

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

London—Eve Unsell, who has been in charge of the scenario department of Famous Players-Lasky British Producers, Ltd., since the inception of the organization, left for the States yesterday aboard the Olympic.

Prager Here

Benjamin A. Prager, president of Mayflower, arrived in New York yesterday from the coast.

Farrar Not Out of Films

Geraldine Farrar, through her secretary states that she has not definitely abandoned the picture field, as reported in dispatches from the west coast.

Miss Farrar, however, will not make any more films between now and the close of the concert season next spring. After that time she will probably make some more productions. What her affiliation will be, has not been definitely decided upon.
Quotations

Last Bid. Asked. Sale.
Famous Players... 71 1/2 72 71 1/2
do pfd............ 82 1/2 82 1/2 82 1/2
D W. Griffith........ 15
Goldwyn........ 9
Luowe's, Inc........ 20 1/4 20 1/4 20 1/4
Triangle................ 5 1/4
Unit, Pict., etc........ 14 3/4
World Film........ 14

U. T. P. L. Meeting Next Week
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Minneapolis—The United Theatrical Protective League will meet at the West Hotel, Sept. 13-15.

Sam I. Berman of the M. P. T. O., the national organization, will attend the meetings. Election of officers will be held on the last day of the convention.

Williams Story, Nellan's Next

Marshall Nellan has finished "Disty," in which Wesley Barry makes his debut as star.

The title of the newest subject is "Pard," the scenario being based on Ben Ames Williams' story which recently appeared in Collier's, "Not a Drum Was Heard."

Rose Shulsinger Promoted

Rose Shulsinger has been appointed publicity director and advertising manager of International succeeding Theodore C. Deitrich.

Miss Shulsinger has been Marion Davies' personal representative for two years and will continue to handle the latter's personal affairs. Bessie Gardner continues as Miss Shulsinger's assistant.

New Magazine Published in Japan

A magazine called "Select Pictures" will be published in Tokyo, beginning this month, according to notices from Dr. K. Kobashiki, editor of the publication.

Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

Toledo—The old nursery story of Cinderella is helping Mabel Normand in her picture, "The Slim Princess." C. C. Deardourff, land exploitation representative and H. C. Horater, manager of the Alhambra, made use of the slipper theme to exploit the picture at the reopening of the Alhambra.

They arranged with LaSalle's shoe store to offer prizes to the girls whose feet came the nearest fitting a pair of slippers worn by Mabel Normand in "The Slim Princess." The first prize was a $20 pair of shoes or slippers made to order; the second prize $15; the third and fourth prizes a season pass to the Alhambra.

A tie-up was then made with the Toledo News-Bee, which ran three first page stories on the stunt with an inside two-column headline story on the fourth day announcing the winners. A special window display of the slippers on velvet cushions was offered to the windows of La Salle & Koch's one of the largest stores in Toledo.

Deardourff and Horater then enlisted the Rex Bread Company in their campaign and the baking concern used a window card 14 by 22 inches announcing that it would give free tickets to "The Slim Princess" showing to the boys and girls who presented seven Rex Bread Mabel Normand tickets at the box office. The ticket to the picture was enclosed in the wrapper of every loaf of bread sold for a week. The tickets were good between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. only.

On Saturday, the opening day, a two-page News-Bee advertising tie-up with the merchants of Toledo and the firms who helped redecorate the Alhambra Theater was obtained. One word in the advertisement of each of the participating stores was purposely misspelled. To the first five persons send to the correct solution to the mis-spelled words contest a free pair of tickets to Mabel Normand picture was given.

No Strike in Albany
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Albany, N. Y.—The members of the Motion Picture Machine Operators' Union, have decided not to strike, as they had planned, because the exhibitors rejected their demands for an advanced wage scale of $40 a week.

An agreement has been reached that both interests have a conference this week for the purpose of making an effort of amicably adjusting their differences and to determine upon an increase of salary for the operators, whatever increase is granted the men to become effective on Labor Day.

New Quarters for Fox Directors

William Fox has ordered the construction of a series of additional offices for his studio floor of his new building for the exclusive use of directors, assistant directors and others of the production department.

Salisbury Eastward Bound
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Monroe Salisbury is on his way east with a print of "The Phantom" his first picture, independently produced.

Withey to Direct "Connie" Talma

Chet Withey has signed a contract with Joseph M. Schenck to direct more pictures for Constance's studio.

Hoffman Back

M. H. Hoffman, Pioneer, returns yesterday from a visit to all the changes.

New Ince Special Started

Culver City—Thomas H. Ince placed in production "Magic Muse," which will go out as a special. J. Griffith Wray, who directed "Hoi spun Folks," will direct the new picture. House Peters and Florence Dor will play the leads.

Harry Schenck, former stage manager at the Ince studios, is back in the Ince lot where he will serve as an associate director with Wray.

St. Louis Theater Robbed
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

St. Louis—Burglars early Tuesday morning battered open the safe at Variety theater, 5 North Broadway and obtained $1,000; the receipts three days. The key to the door of the theater was removed in the inside. Two suspects have been arrested. The Mafiit theater, 2812 N. Vandiver Ave. was also entered Tuesday, but the attempt failed this house.

The exhibitor may take a great deal of pride in the furnishings of his theatre, but he takes his pleasure in seeing the seats therein constantly filled. Therefore, the RITCHEY poster is a constant source of pleasure to him!

RITCHEY LITHO CORP.
406 W. 31st St. N.Y. Phone Chelsea 6388

EDMONDS & BOUTO INC.
Accountants
Specialists in Studio and Exchange Systems and Audits.
We Go Anywhere.
NEW YORK—HOLLYWOOD
56 Pine St.
1645 LaBrea A
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Woodward Bldg.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID's DAILY)
hollywood—"Lady Fingers," the play by Jackson Gregory, has been bought by Metro from Frank Beal.

Jack Jones, who was shot in the back during the filming of "Sunset
Hill," has recovered and is back.

Immond Lowe has returned to New York after completing pictures with Dorothy MacDonald. Lowe is a favored in a play at night while eating in pictures during the day.

A beautiful dancing is being put by Marion Morgan in connection Allan Holubar's initial independent production for First National, A Woman, Marriage.

Goldwyn's production of Tom Hanks's picture "Canavan," was delayed several days by the sudden illness of F. Mason Hopper, the director.

Frank Lloyd and company in Fox's taking scenes for "Out to the Dark."

Director Reginald Barker is this week guiding 1200 people in Scotch-stone's through scenes in a specially Scotch street two blocks long.

"Bunt Pulls the Strings," a Gold-
picture.

Alph Lewis has begun work on "Inside the Law" at Universal City.

The Universal-Jewel special and directed by Todd Browning starring Priscilla Dean. Lewis is the part of Priscilla's father.

Adams Walton, who recently finished "Pink Tights," in which he co-starred with Jack Perrin legal, has returned to the studio
two weeks at the Tappo-Ath

After returning to Universal City three weeks at Jerome, Ariz., scenes were secured for "West
Cast," the Harry Carey feature.

Paul discovered that static contacts had spoiled several thousand of the film. This means that Harry Carey and many of the company will have to return to Jerome take the scenes.

Gracie May will resume work under-the direction of Thos. H. Ince in the coming Vance special, "The Size Bell," which is to enter production this week. Miss May will play the leading feminine role cast as Grace Wyatte.

The final scenes of Douglas Mac-c's latest venture, tentatively titled "Johnny Comes Marching Home," were completed this week and the direction of Jack Nelson will commence on MacLean's production, "One a Minute," in a few days. Madge Bellamy will play the leading feminine role.

St. Louis Briefs
(Special to WID's DAILY)

St. Louis—The Fox Liberty, Delmar Ave, west of Grand, will reopen Saturday. The attraction will be William Farquhar in "If I Were King."

The first Fox serial, "Bride's Triangle," will also be shown.

Loew's Garrick, Chestnut St. near Broadway, reopened Sunday after bening closed five weeks. "Lahoma" will also be shown.

Charles Vollmar, former manger of the Washington and Lyric at Baltimore, has taken over the New Rialto at Jacksonville, Ill. The opening is Friday with a complete Universal program.

Bill Yoder of Dallas, Tex., western division manager for Pathé, who for several weeks had charge of the St.
Louis exchange, has moved on to Kansas City.

Plasterers working on the Delmonte
Theater were paid at the rate of $125 a week during the last several days in order to get the finishing touches to the theater so it could open on time. It did.

A unique display for "Shipwrecked Among Cannibals," which played at the Strand, was an auto truck containing five negroes painted and ornamented to resemble real cannibals.

Maurice Engel of Universal unveiled
the display.

St. Louis Delmonte Opens
(Special to WID's DAILY)

St. Louis—The Delmonte, Grav Br. and Delmonte Blvd., opened Saturday afternoon. In the evening
Mayor Kiil introduced Fannie Hurst, author of "Humoresque," the opening attraction.

Coscardar Officers

W. H. Darow has been elected president of the recently organized Coscardar Productions, Inc., with offices at 160 W. 45 St. Jack Costello as vice-president of the new producing company and Kenneth Carson, treasurer. Both will play prominent parts in the releases of the new company, which will include features, comedies and serials. It is expected that their first production will be a serial to be made in New York and vicinity.

Appreciation

Adolph Zukor has presented to Joseph H. Gilday, manager of the Kansas City exchange, a solid gold watch and also a silver loving cup for the members of the exchange organization. The gifts were in appreciation of the behavior of that office for the period from April 13 to July 23
when the film department was destroyed.

Gilday was given also a watch for Assistant Manager A. H. Cole.

Experts Call Charles Ray's
45 Minutes From Broadway
Big Box Office Attraction

Strand Audiences Wildly Enthusiastic Over Popular
Actor's Role in Famous Stage Success—Presented by Arthur S. Kane

WILL DRAW CROWDS

"A fine box office attraction. This picture is probably going to draw the crowds in good numbers. The fact that Charles Ray appears in a version of George M. Cohan's popular play should increase the box office value of the star's name if such a thing is possible."—WID's.

POSITIVELY UPROARIOUS

"There are scenes that are positively uproarious. The audience at the Strand, New York, apparently enjoyed the picture. Ray can make any spectator respond. Forty-five minutes from Broadway will get over."—MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

BEST SCREEN WORK

"Charles Ray's acting as the Kid is among the best of his screen impersonations. The part might have been written for him, so completely does he make it his own. The love interest is fragrant and unhackneyed and is delightfully played by the star."—MOVING PICTURE WORLD.

CERTAIN TO GO BIG

"Fulfilling all the promise of previous effectiveness as an unqualified certainty in popularity, Charles Ray presents a performance certain to go over big. Additionally, there is the strong combination here, a favorite star and the screen presentation of a stage play which made a tremendous success the country over when George M. Cohan produced it."—EXHIBITOR'S HERALD.

PLENTY OF SWIFT ACTION

"The picture provides plenty of swift action, funny situations, witty sub-titles and jazzes along to a true Cohan-esque 'happy climax' in merry style. The love story pleases everybody. Ray is a worthy successor of Cohan in the role of the Kid which he plays with a subtle sense of his humor and dramatic demands. Put this over as a wonderfully fine picturization of the famous comedy by George M. Cohan. And mention that it was heartily received when it played the Strand Theatre, New York."—EXHIBITOR'S TRADE REVIEW.

Director
Joseph De Grasse

Photographer
Chester Lyons

Adapted by
Isabel Johnson and Bernard Mc Conville

A First National Attraction
There'll be a Franchise everywhere
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 32
"SILENT STRENGTH" with Harry T. Morey, and Betty Blythe

Directed by

PAUL SCARDON

And also

"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND" with Blanche Sweet

Now directing

BESSIE BARRISCASE

Olive Thomas Reported Ill
The New York Times yesterday published the following special cable copyrighted by the Chicago Tribune and sent by Henry Wales, stationed in Paris:
Olive Thomas, wife of Jack Pickford, was admitted to the American Hospital at Neuilly early Sunday morning suffering from mercurial poisoning.
The closest secrecy veils the affair.
Outside nurses have been engaged.
The husband (Jack Pickford) is a daily visitor.

The Selznick offices had read the cable yesterday but had received no word from Miss Thomas direct regarding her reported illness.

Owen Moore Here
It was learned yesterday that Owen Moore was in the party of Selznick folks who returned from Europe on Sunday.

Davidson With Pioneer
Pioneer has appointed George M. Davidson in charge of distribution and assistant to general manager M. H. Hoffman.

Report Shows Profit
Public Information Committee on Films Shows Gain of $741,204.85
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
With the recent resignation of Herbert N. Shenton, director of the Council of National Defense, has submitted to the Senate a financial report covering the activities of the Committee on Public Information which operated during the war.
The report shows that the Division of Films sold its pictures for $2,394,073.09. After the expenses of the division had been paid, there was a balance of $741,204.85. In the list of the committee's expenditures there appears an item of $43,500 for films and moving picture apparatus.
The total cost of operation to the government of the committee was $6,054,200.01.

James Editor of M. P. World
Arthur James has been appointed editor-in-chief of the Moving Picture World. This announcement was made public Sept. 9, in the form of a telegram invitation from John F. Calhoun to all members of the A. M. P. C. to meet at a dinner in the Biltmore Hotel this evening in honor of the James appointment.
Mr. James' editorial duties start with the coming issue of the World.
He has served in executive capacities in several branches of the industry since he entered the field in 1914.
Although it was intended to keep the present staff of the World intact, George Blaisdell, editor, has announced his resignation, as announced yesterday, to take effect Sept. 9.

Cy Grieber Here
Cy Grieber of the Grieber Dist., Corp., Chicago, is in New York, stopping at the Astor.

North, Coast Prod. Manager
Los Angeles—It is understood that W. F. North will be production manager for Vitagraph here.

The cattle is in a Chester Bennett, who has been directing Earl Williams films, all of his time to direct that star. He was formerly production manager but found both jobs too arduous.

It was impossible to reach anyone at the Vitagraph studios or executive offices to comment on the above yesterday.

Saenger and Richards Return
Julian H. Saenger and E. V. Richards ("Rich") are back in New York after a rather extended trip through Europe.
Mr. Saenger and Richards will remain in New York for several days and then return to New Orleans. Mr. Saenger in commenting on conditions abroad reported that New York is practically everyone returning from the other side, that the film business is years behind the industry here and that the theaters there are the same way.

W. H. Gueringer and Morris F. Barr of the Saenger organization came from New Orleans to meet Saenger and Richards.

Bimberg Productions
Four a Year Planned—Florence Reed Still Under Contract
A. J. Bimberg, producer of all the Florence Reed pictures made during the past two years and builder of the Times Square Studios on 44th St. and 8th Ave., is about to resume producing and has begun preparations for a series of pictures to be known as Bimberg Pictures, one to be four of these coming year, each from 5 to 7 reels in length.
Bimberg still has Florence Reed under contract, but nothing could be learned yesterday as to how the new series would affect her.
Theodore A. Liebler, Jr., formerly of United Pictures, is a member of the organization. He is now at work on the continuity for the first picture.

Ruth Film Opens Sept. 19
"Babe" Ruth in "Headin Home," his production for Yankee Photoplay opens for an indefinite run at Madison Square Garden Sept. 19.
The New York rights to the pictures are controlled by A. Y. S. Films, Inc., offices in the Leavitt Bldg., but the Garden booking was arranged by Tex Rickard, the fight promoter.

Another "Babe" Ruth Suit Coming
Jack Cohn yesterday declared that the C. B. C. Sales Corp. would file a suit against "Babe" Ruth, the Yankee Photoplay Corp. and Kessel and Baumann for libel, the litigation being similar to that brought against these defendants by Educational. Keppler and Hockman are the attorneys for the C. B. C. The action is the outcome of an advertisement which appeared recently, charging Educational and C. B. C. with issuing productions for which Ruth never posed and claiming that such productions were unauthorized and were frauds upon the public.

Harron Funeral Today
The funeral services for Robert Harron will be held this morning at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, 6th Ave. and 6th St.

It's a Boy!
The latest addition to Jack Cohn's family is an eight-pound baby boy. That brings the number of Jack's family up to 5, including the proud parents.

Rehearsals to Begin
Rehearsals are scheduled to begin tomorrow at the Selznick Port Lee Studios for "We, the People," the spectacle to be staged Sept. 17 at Carnegie Hall by the Constitutional League of America in celebration of the 133rd signing of the Constitution.
Lewis J. Selznick is director general of the event, which is to be produced by Selznick. The director of the Selznick forces is managing director and announces that several Selznick stars, as well as other screenables and stage celebrities, will take part.

Sothen Signed by Fox
Harry Sothen has been placed under a long-term contract by William Fox.

Will Outlaw Stubborn Exhibit
It was learned from an official of the operators' union yesterday that all of the recognized exhibitors' organization had signed agreements for the wage scale asked by the operators and that practically all of the exhibitors as individuals in the field had met the demands.

Although, as noted, there will be no general strike this official plainly stated that the union will outlaw exhibitors who proved stubborn and who refused to meet the demands of the union. That is as any manner of strike will go.

Photoplayer's Attention
We have one of the most exclusive shops of its kind in America. We are making a special effort to please and cater to the wants of the photoplayer profession here on the coast. We invite your patronage. We have a large number of new photos which have never been shown here. We give you fast service and you are guaranteed satisfaction.

Prosper for success,

WILDLAND

927 and 929 West Seventh Street
Los Angeles, California

LAWYER
Recently resigned from large corporation, seeks position with certain concern offering good opportunities to experienced executive.

Box B-61, care Wid's.

FILM CUTTER
With six years' experience in the industry, desires connection with reliable producing director or company. Can furnish AI references.
Answer F-7, care Wid's Daily

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit Available
All Hours for Special Work
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

OFFICE SPACE FOR RENT
TILL SEPT. 19, 1922
2600 sq. feet—light and airy, eighth floor—excellent location on Broadway.
Apply at once
UNIVERSAL FILM CO.
1600 E'way, N. Y.
Big Order for Bray

Commissioned by War Department
To Make Special Films Dealing With Automobiles

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Washington—Now the War Department has fallen into line in realizing the importance of the moving picture for educational purposes.

The Army, which has recently gone into large scale vocational training for young men, has decided to equip some of its units with sets of films by which recruits are taught the various branches of military training so as to enable them to be readily absorb what they must learn.

There are 107 courses in the Army now, ranging from medical and dental training, to instruction in zoology, and 105,000 men are receiving instruction in vocational lines.

An order was announced by Major General C. Harris, Adjutant General, that Bray Pictures Corp., of New York, will supply the Department for the Automotive Department, the former being placed for making 35 complete sets, each set containing 10 reels, to be used for instruction. The films valued at $800 a set.

The order, when completed and approved, will be sent to all the Army departments, where they will be put to work in the schools which teach automotive subjects. The pictures are to be made in color, with a combination of machine and picture, to show them what to do when a gun needs servicing.

The same kind of films will be used for depth bombs, steam-shovels, drag lines, hand grenades, and in the art of firing.

Haven't Signed With Operators

An official of the 'Theater Owners' National' Commerce stated yesterday that it was not true that the organization had signed as a body with operators' union. He said it was not true that those who had signed were not individuals because they had no alternative, but as organizers, the demand of the union not being acknowledged.

Cohen Moves

Sydney Cohen will move the executive headquarters of the M. P. T. O. from 331 Madison Ave. to the 12th floor of the Fitzgerald Bldg. The executive offices will remain in the Times Bldg.

Investigation On

Black and Zukor Requested to Meet M. P. T. O. in Open Session Regarding New England

Sydney S. Cohen, president of the M. P. T. O. of America, after reading the letter submitted to him by WID'S DAILY signed by Alfred S. Black, made the following announcement:

The Investigating Committee of the M. P. T. O. of America will meet Wednesday, Sept. 15, at 10:30 A. M. at the Hotel Astor to hear the complaints of the exhibitors of New England. Mr. Alfred S. Black and the Famous Players-Lasky Corp. have received a letter from Mr. Adolph Zukor to appear before the committee.

The officers will act as counsel for the M. P. T. O. of America, the national organization.

The trade press is invited to be present.

Lazarus, A. M. P. A. President

Paul Lazarus of United Artists was yesterday elected president of the A. M. P. A. (Advertisers).

As outlined in WID'S DAILY on July 30, as to the exceptions of Arthur James, James by virtue of his position as chairman of the board of direction with the M. P. World, automatically resigned from the organization.

The officers are as follows:

President, Paul Lazarus; vice-president, C. L. Yearsley; secretary, Julian Solomon; treasurer, Victor Shapiro; managing editor, Horace Judge; business manager, Tom Wiley; board of governors, in addition to the ex-office members are: Charles Barrell, chairman; Paul Gulick, P. A. Parsons, Harry Reichenbach and Jerome Beatty.

Meating on Oct. 4

Associated Exhibitors, Inc., will hold an important meeting of stockholders and directors in New York on Oct. 4.

Betty Blythe in Fox Special

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—It is learned here that Betty Blythe will play the queen in "The Queen of Sheba." The elaborate Fox special which J. Gordon Edwards will direct. The actual filming of the story will start shortly.

No confirmation of the above could be secured from the local Fox offices.
Black Busy
(Continued from Page 1)
Lack of space precludes the publishing of the entire correspondence, but an excerpt below will show Black's letter to Cohen in full.

Mr. Sydney S. Cohen,
Dear Sir—
I have read your recent letter in which you mentioned the committee. You state that Mr. Zukor promised to meet the demands of the exhibitors. I believe this statement is false because Mr. Zukor himself said he could not promise. Furthermore, he told me that he would never meet with your committee he would use his influence with the motion picture industry to try to make matters better. The trade press reported you stated at the Atlanta meeting that you would publish an open statement immediately upon your return to your home offices ready stated in my recent open letter and for the further reasons following, I refused and continue to refuse to make any statement in any way, shape or manner.
I have never met Mr. Lynch but openly congratulate him on telling you frankly what is the situation in your methods. I am getting tired of reiterating that I am an independent interested in the development of motion picture theaters in the New England territory, which your organization has no right to stifle.
The Motion Picture Exhibitors of America under direction of our own officials have no right to demand the return to us of the money you are investigating First National affairs. We believe that this scheme was started to throw light on their activities before the exhibitors of the country without the aid of any evidence or supporting evidence and before a packed jury.
I have become a fighting and advance agent for his Connecticut First National meeting which you would not openly admit. I consider you too prejudiced and biased to pass upon the unearths of First National affairs pertaining to the industry, and especially in New England. My partner, Mr. Rhodenizer of Boston, a member of the New Hampshire Exhibitors’ League, could not attend the meeting because he was invited to attend the meeting of the league held prior to the Columbia meeting and held in New York at the same time with Mr. McClellan, representing our state. At that meeting Mr. McClellan, Mr. Nutterman, Mr. Bean of New Hampshire, told Mr. Rhodenizer that you refused to go on any account with them and Mr. McClellan left because they were associated with me. I have written you on record, rather than break up your meeting.
I have reason to believe that a National President couldn’t talk before my partner, a member of the New Hampshire Exhibitors’ League, until you admitted you knew Mr. Gordon was using the Connecticut meeting for First National purposes and did not postpone your Connecticut date.
Strange isn’t it that First National affairs are so always allied with your league and committee’s activities—starting with Mr. Patterson and continuing through the Cleveland convention up to the present date. It is harder to believe that the First National officials are so clever in hiding you and that you are not as clever in camouflaging activities from the exhibitors of the United States.
Regarding refusal of admission of the press at the meeting with Mr. Zukor. I am sure that your statement is false and that Mr. Zukor desired the press to be present, but your newspaper objects.
Regarding the New England letters to which I referred, I will do everything to help to give them to the trade press to be answered publicly. The New England exhibitors are certain of the fact that the only publicity you can’t undermine your claim of your organization is that of the United States.
Regarding the Cleveland Convention: I attended the first session of your convention after admission from Mr. Patterson. Rembusch and others of the Committee of Seventeen that no admission of all the theaters in the league would be brought about for the best interest of the exhibitors of the league.
What did you do? You insulted our organization by asking me to appear before your self-appointed committee to be cross-examined by you and Mr. Zukor in your own office. Even Mr. Chas. O’Reilly, your clever friend and committee man (the man who in my opinion laid the whole work for the Cleveland Convention, who had men on the floor in front of us, watching us before they were out of their seats when twenty others were already on their feet) came to me the third day of the Convention, admitted to me that he was supposed to bring me to come back into the Convention without going before your Credentials Committee, which was then too late to get any present plans had been carried out and an amalgamation of our organization. Referring to the open circular at the Cleveland Convention in which were many questions regarding your activities, if it still hurts perhaps it would be well to mail a courtesy letter to me right away, which I am sure you will do very shortly. I am quite grateful to a United Exhibitors’ organization.
Yours very truly,
(Signed) ALFRED S. BLACK

Black's letter addressed to Sydney Cohen was shown to the latter, who said he would answer the former's charges. He said he had not received any such letter.

At the same time that the above letter was forwarded to Mr. Cohen, Black addressed a communication to Willard C. Patterson of Atlanta and D. W. Williams Associated First National Pictures.

In communication to Patterson, Cohen asked why his (Patterson's) letter was being considered as the First National Convention in Chicago and declared that Sam Armstrong had told him (Black) at Cleveland that he had no intention of sending letters containing assurances that the First National stood back of the finances of the Chicago meeting. He asked Patterson if, in the case he was prepared to publish these letters and attached memoranda.

He also asked several other questions indicating his opinion that First National was behind the Patterson meeting.

Black's letter to D. Williams goes into length regarding the activities of Nathan Gordon or first National relative to theater buying. He requested the trade press to send reports to him of the New England conventions, clarifying that they would learn "that the menace of Mr. Gordon and the First National activities to the New England independent exhibitors is far greater than that of any other organization." He declared that Gordon has increased the rental of the theatres of independent exhibitors "beyond the control and that the contract also contains the "25% increase rental clause" and stated that he had invested a dollar in interested in theater holdings in New England until Gordon became active, and he quoted Chas. H. Bean, as saying to him that Mr. Gordon and the First National activities were a greater menace to New England exhibitors than Famous Players ever thought of!

In the same letter he congratulated Williams and Gordon "on being clever enough to use Mr. Sydney Cohen as your committee agent for the Cleveland meeting."

He declares that Williams' statement was that he was "working on a stalled obtained presumably from production profits" was false and malicious.

A representative of WID'S DAILY submitted a copy of the Black letter addressed to J. D. Williams to Film National, where Mr. Black's remark did not appear to cause any particular excitement.

"We shall be very glad," said First National official, "to retain Black or any one else on a paid basis to point out the so-called errors in our sub-franchise system."

It is only natural for Mr. Black a publicity tie-up with the Chicago and Cleveland conventions? Why does he mention what his partner's organization, Famous Players, did from Cleveland convention in posting it with 24 sheets and swamp the hotels with a deluge of their papers? Why doesn't he mention the tack he made in pamphlet form on the convention?

"Besides, as has been Mr. Black method of procedure to date in seeing out letters, he is particularly careful to see that his letters reach the trade press before the parties to whom they are addressed, Mr. Williams has as yet received no letter from Mr. Black."
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send your ideas. Let the other know how you cleaned zel and productive exploitation employed by Manager Ben Do-of, Fox's Chicago Theater, in stitution of "The Sky-man," in which the late Lieut.
Locklear appears.

It promises to be one of the many ideas
ayed by Jackson was the press both in person and on the of Capt. (Miss) Laura Brom-world's record for

ing the loop in the air. Capt.
well has looped the loop 85 s in succession, with a personal appearance at the Aud-theater, the lights blazed forth announcing:
ights. Miss Laura Bromwell us Ace, in Person.

of Bromwell, who, in addition to the world's aerial loop chair-a recently appointed captain
New York police aero squad, adressed the audience which attended the show at the
She reminded her hearers her personal appearance was to assist in swelling the amount of the families of Loc-his pilot. A picture of Miss well from the Fox News red rown on the screen just be-personal appearance.

exploitation also included a very effective lobby display, miniature airplanes were used held on bale-bale wires and a formation. Hanging from planes were ten miniature up on which were painted the of the attraction, the name of ar and the playing dates. Eight signs decorated with airs and other objects; is adviser used at points of vantage in the air lobby decorations—these also catching cards and the fact 4 per cent of the profits of the were to be given to the families
Eclect and Elliott.

Film Officials Visit Seattle
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Seattle. A number of out-of-town representatives of various film companies visited Seattle last week.
Among them were Howard J. She-man, Western district manager for Fox; John McMeekan, special representative for Realart from Kansas City; D. N. Schwab of the D. N. Prod.; H. O. Larson of the Capital Film Co.; Joe Sinel of Asso-
First National, and S. H. Fisher, ad-tor for Sun Films.

Chicago—R. H. Hadfield, owner
of string of houses in Minnesota and Wisconsin has been engaged for a limited period as a special representative for the Superior Screen Service, Inc.

Books of coupons have been printed in denominations of five dollars each.
Two dollars and forty cents worth of coupons are sold for two dollars, making an inducement to the public and local residents can be exchanged at the Clémmer box-office any price seat. The prize winners among the contestants will be those selling the most books.

POWERS STOCKHOLDERS

Don't sell NOW your Powers Film Products stock
but join and help us

SECURE THE RETURN OF EVERY DOLLAR PAID BY YOU AND BY US

If you have not yet returned the proxy signed, do so at once, but keep your stock certificates. We have mailed you today our latest booklet

"SUMMARY OF OUR INVESTIGATION" which explains the forthcoming action of our protective association.

ARTHUR HEWITT, Chairman
JAMES L. BREWER, Attorney

Dagmar Sistrom Arrives
Dagmar Sistrom, general manager of Libson Films, Ltd., has arrived in New York from the English cap-

Illinois Exhibitors to Meet
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Springfield, Ill. — The executive committee of the Illinois Exhibitors Association has issued a call for a meeting on Sept. 29-30.

LAWYER
Recently resigned from large film company, seeks position with reputable concern offering good opportuities to experienced executive.

Box B-61, care Wid's.

Choice offices with vault space and cutting room.

PHONE BRYANT 1110 MR. GOLD

F O R  R E N T

29-30.

29-30.

30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.

29-30.
“Big 4” Changes
Number of Promotions Made in Executive Ranks—New Assistants at Home Office
A number of promotions have been made in the personnel of the United Artists Corp. Paul N. Lazarus, who has been in charge of advertising and publicity, will be hereafter be known as the sales promotion manager. Lazarus will continue to supervise advertising and publicity, but the detailed work will be in the hands of Charles E. Moyer. C. S. Trowbridge, sales manager at the Philadelphia exchange, and A. C. Berman, sales manager in Canada, have been brought to the home office where they will act as assistant general sales managers under William W. Hines, who is in general charge of sales.

Special Showing for Levey Film
A special showing of “Uncle Sam of Freedom Ridge,” being produced by Harry Levey, is to be given on Sunday evening, Sept. 26th, at the Selwyn theater.

To Film Shaw Story
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Rosemary Thoby has been signed by J. Lincoln Miller to appear in one of George Bernard Shaw's stories. William Worthington, last with Gibraltar, will direct. The Francis Ford studio has been leased.

Smith Returning Shorty
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Albert E. Smith of Vitagraph will remain here for several weeks only. He will then return to New York.

Simultaneous Runs for Farrar Film
It is expected that the franchise holders of Associated Exhibitors will all play the first release, “The Riddle: Woman” simultaneously in every section of the country. The general release date is Oct. 3 through Pathé exchanges. After the runs by the franchise holders the picture will be ready for general bookings.

F. P. Postpones Indianapolis Theater
Indianapolis—William E. English, owner of the English Hotel Bldg., has announced that Famous Players-Lasky, which has a 99 year lease on the market St. wing, has decided not to start construction of its new theater until Jan. 1, 1922, and that arrangements have been made with the tenants to continue to occupy the building until that time.

English gives possession of this part of the building to Famous Players on Jan. 1, 1921, at which time the company intended to start its theater, but due to the high cost of building material and difficulty in obtaining material in quantities the company had decided to postpone building.

The Meridian St. half of the building will continue in the future as a hotel.

English is representing Famous Players in dealing with tenants and others. He is not financially interested in the company.

New Release for Inter-Ocean
Inter-Ocean Film has acquired for foreign distribution “Seeds of Vengeance,” a C. R. Macauley film, domestic rights for which are controlled by Select.

With the completed negative of “One Man in a Million,” Sol Lesser plans to leave for New York in the near future. George Beban may accompany him.

“Stealers” Premiere at Hotel Astor
“The Stealers,” the Robertson-Cole super-special, directed by William Christy Cabanne, which is for early fall release, will have its premiere in the grand ball room of the Hotel Astor Sept. 17. Robertson-Cole announces that this production has a wider appeal and superior entertainment quality to any other picture the company so far has offered to exhibitors. “The Stealers,” which was made in the East this summer, tells a story which Mr. Cabanne has been working on for the past two years.

Kidder Leaves
Albert A. Kidder, Jr., assistant general manager of Charles Ray Prod., Inc., has left for his home in Los Angeles after spending two weeks in New York.

Headed Eastward
Pearl Dole Bell, author of “The Elephant Man,” “Love’s Harvest” and a third story for Shirley Mason, Fox star, is understood to be in California. It is expected she will do free lance writing for producers.

Gordon Film Almost Finished
Vera Gordon, who is starring in one picture for Chatham Pictures Corp., has almost completed work on the film. It is being produced at the Solax plant, Fort Lee.

Road Shows for “Way Down East”
D. W. Griffith will road show “Way Down East” with a special orchestral and musical score, in much the same manner as he exploited “Hearts of the World.”

“The Flame in the Dark”
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—The tentative title of Mary Pickford's newest production is “The Flame in the Dark.” Frances Marion will direct. It is understood that some of the scenes for picture were shot while the Pickfords were in Europe.

Harron Services Held
Funeral services held for Robert Harron were held yesterday morning at the St. Joseph's Church, 6th A and 6th St. (By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—A number of local studios ceased work for a few minutes yesterday at the time the services for Robert Harron were held in New York.

New Comedy Directors
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—It is understood James Davis, Melville Brown and Harry Williams are now making Sunshine comedies.

GEORGE BLAISDELL

Moving Picture World 1912 to 1920
Editor January, 1919—September, 1920
Is now at liberty to make other connections

May be reached from Sept. 11—24 at SQUIRREL INN,
HAINES FALLS, N. Y.

or through WID'S DAILY

The Millions of Readers of “THE TRUANT HUSBAND” are crazy to see the story done into a picture and they are going to get their wish.

BEING PRODUCED
by
ROCKET FILM CORPORATION

CAMERAMAN
with complete outfit available
All Hours Service
C. B. PRICE CO., INC.
1446 Broadway, N. Y. C.
Phone Bryant 799

EGGERS
PHOTO ENGRAVING
1587-1589 BROADWAY
DAY AND NIGHT

TELEPHONE
BRYANT 4414-4415

Mats, Electros and Stereos
for the Motion Picture Trade
I. Rubin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereotypers in N. Y. C.
Chaplin Here

Running With First National

Regarding Contract—May Be

Here Several Weeks

ut unostentatiously and almost gregariously, Charlie Chaplin arrived in York on Wednesday and proded to the Ritz-Carlton, where he registered but not under his well-known name. Since his arrival Chaplin has been egotiating with officials of First National with a view to his contract with the studio, which he is expected to sign soon. The organization in this country has offered the production of "The Kid," and it is reported that Chaplin is already in the process of planning to film it. A big party is being held tonight at the Astor Hotel in honor of Chaplin, and he is expected to attend.

Price on Coast

(Special to the WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Oscar Price, pres.

of Associated Producers, is

Hunter Resigns

In L. Hunter's absence for several weeks past has been identified in a different way in the New York office of Associated First National.

Chaplin's assistant, "Tito" Luven, called A. M. Fabian to a luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Astor to a meeting of 50 New York exhibitors, at which the major studios discussed抱怨s about their dealings with theater owners.

They were addressed by Rich-

Williams, H. O. Schwab and

Thomas H. Ince paid Paramount a big bonus to get "Homespun Polks" back and make it his first Associated Producers' special. When you see it you'll know what a "wise fox" he was to do this—Advt.

Black to be Absent

From M. P. T. O. Meeting Next

Wednesday—Again Says He Will

Not Meet Committee

About midnight Thursday when

Alfred S. Black was informed by the editor of WID'S DAILY that he had been requested to attend a meeting of the committee of the M. P. T.

O. of America at the Hotel Astor on Wednesday next relative to complaints of exhibitors of New Eng-dland regarding his tactics, he said that while he was very glad to know that

Mr. Cohen and his committee were finally willing to recognize the trade press at this meeting that under no circumstances would he meet the committee. He signed a statement to this effect.

Adolph Zukor was not in his office yesterday and in his absence no information could be secured as to whether or not he would accept Mr.

Cohen's invitation to attend the open-meeting next Wednesday at the Astor.

Saenz Sells Out

South American Distributors Dispose of Holdings to Morhange &

Company

Saenz & Co., distributors in Argentine, Uruguay and Paraguay of the Goldwyn and Robertson-Cole programs, have sold their theaters and holdings in the film business to Marcel Morhange & Co., operating under the firm name of the New York Film Exchange, with branches

in Buenos Aires and Rosario.

Marcel Morhange, representing the above firm, and J. H. Hoffberg, acting manager of the foreign department of Goldwyn, consummated the transfer of the Goldwyn franchise

by which the New York Film Exchange will release the Goldwyn pictures exclusively in Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay.

It was last week that announcement was made of the transfer of the theaters and franchises of the Empresd de Teatro s y Cinemas,

Ltda., of Chile to the Chilean Cineema Corp.

Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put this show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other folks know how you cleaned up.

In the Courts

The suit of the Nauvetu Amusement Corp. against the National Exhibitors Circuit of the Northwest, which has been pending in the Supreme Court for two years has been settled by the parties and on their application has been discontinued by Justice McCook.

Supreme Court Justice Guy has denied the application by Alfred Hekemian for the appointment of a receiver for the Athena Film Co., as owner of the photoplay "Shushan; Under the Turkish Flag," on the ground that the facts set out in the papers do not warrant the appointment of a receiver or any other relief. Hekemian contended that the court had jurisdiction of the case, but Judge Guy gave 2,249 shares of its stock to Mina Mangassarian on her representation that she had completed the photo-play named, whereas, it has not yet been finished.

In the suit of Samuel O. Siegel and Herbert H. Yudkin against the J. Frank Hawks Enterprising Ex-Preservation of the "Price Woman" and "Forced to Wed," and the First National Exhibiting the picture at New York City and Northern New Jersey since Aug. 15, 1919, Supreme Court Justice Guy has decided that unless the defendant appears and testifies before trial on Sept. 17 concerning the receipts the answer will be stricken out and the plaintiffs will get judgment.

The Hermes Amusement Co., Inc., has sued the X Amusement Co., Inc., for $3,760 for the use of the motion picture theater at 1324 Amsterdam Ave., from Oct. 1 to March 25 last and $7,000 for the use of the X Amusement Corp., for the premises from March 25 to June 21 last.

The Art-Of-Graph Film Co. has been sued in the Supreme Court by Frederick W. Elchohn for $3,000. The plaintiffs claim that the defendant produced and released the film "Rodo the Invisible," without the consent of the plaintiffs, for which the damages asked are $3,000 for the serial scenario and $7,000 for the "Irishman," but also asserts that the film was delivered as agreed, the defendant refused to make payment.

Getting Ready for Tearle Film

Coatesville, Pa.—William P. Earle, Selznick director, is here working on the arrangements to film a big mill story, "The Road of Ambition," which will be Conway Tearle's starring picture under the New Pictures and Theaters contract. The story will be pictured by L. Allen Browne from the novel "Erie Sterne." The cast supporting Tearle consists of Florence De Gladden James, Florence Short,olph Millar, Tom Brooks and Mc Guire. Production will start this week.

F. P. Releases

Elzie Ferguson in "Lady Re Daughter," and Wallace Reid in "What's Your Hurry?" are scheduled for Paramount release Sept. 12.

New Animated Cartoon Unit

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Announcement made by P. H. White of W. H. kire Enterprises, of the formation of a new company named Artic Models Co. sponsored by J. L. R. and J. P. White with offices at Security Building and studio space in Hollywood. The company is confining its production to the producing of animated cartoons using flexible figure models invented and patented by Roop.

The company has finished one production and will complete two more before giving an exhibition.

We Are Experts

We modestly admit it—but it's the truth. Twenty years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture industry have given our staff a thorough knowledge of YOUR problems. Our advice on insurance problems is yours for the asking and we are as close to you as your phone.
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID's DAILY)

Hollywood—Work has been started at the Brunton studios on Benjamin B. Hampton’s all star feature "The Killer," Stewart Edward White’s latest novel, Jack Conway plays the lead, under direction of E. Richard Schayer and Howard Hickman.

Dustin Farnum has returned to the Brunton Studios after an extended location jaunt to the big timber country near Ft. Bragg, Calif., where lake and forest scenes were filmed for "The Trail of the Axe," by Ridgeway Culum. Ernest C. Warde is directing and Winfred Kingston is playing the opposite star.

Elito Howe, formerly with Frank Keenan, has joined the Benj. B. Hampton company as assistant director.

Work has been completed at the Brunton studios on Bessie Barriscale’s latest production, "The Broken Gate," adapted from the novel by Emerson Hough. Director Paul Scardon is now cutting and titling.

A special review of "The Money Changers" was given at the Brunton studios by Benj. B. Hampton for Utson Sinclair, the author. The negative will probably be shipped East this week.

J Warren Kerrigan has the distinction of being supported by three well known stars in his latest Brunton production, "The House of Whispers," Fritzi Brunette, Marjorie Wilson and Claire Du Brey.

The most unique vacation of the summer is that of David Kirkland, director for Constance Talmadge during the last season, who has returned to Los Angeles to make a slap stick comedy with Henry Lehrman. Kirkland, who first achieved fame as a director of these pictures, plans to enjoy his mouth’s rest in making a real old fashioned comedy, replete with wild animals, tame cops and custard pies. He will return to New York early in October to take up his work as a dramatic director.

President Rockett will personally conduct his first picture, "Truant Husbands," story by Albert Payson Terhune, to New York, arriving there about Sept. 18. Thos. Heffron directed Betty Blythe and Mahlon Hamilton played the leads.

Stuart Holmes has been engaged by Metro to support Doraldina’s, "But Yet a Woman." GAUSMAN.

Edith Roberts Leaves Shortly
Edith Roberts, Universal star, leaves in about a week for the coast where she will start work on "White Youth" for Universal. Norman Dawn will direct.

One Critic Doesn’t Make a Picture, but a Consensus is Worthy of Your Notice

They All Praise Norma Talmadge, Presented by Joseph M. Schenck, in "The Branded Woman"

DRAMATIC HEROINE

"At the Strand this week, Miss Norma Talmadge is a very dramatic heroine in 'The Branded Woman,' one of those sure fire emotional thrillers on the screen."—NEW YORK EVENING TELEGRAM.

ACTING IS EXCELLENT

"If you enjoy good acting, then assuredly you will enjoy 'The Branded Woman.' Norma Talmadge is such an artist, she does things completely. Her work as the very young girl at the boarding school is particularly effective."—NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

MAKES STORY VIVID

"True dramatic material forms the basis of 'The Branded Woman,' which is presented this week at the Strand Theatre. The story's chief merit is that it is theatrical. The story is made vivid by the acting of Norma Talmadge, who has so much emotional force. The picture is also helped by Percy Marmont, who can make a motion picture hero act like a gentleman. The presentation of the picture is technically excellent and there is an excellent cast."—NEW YORK TELEGRAPH.

GREAT SCREEN MAGNETISM

"Norma Talmadge possesses wonderful screen magnetism and humor."—NEW YORK GLOBE.

SURE TO LIKE IT

"If you like the Norma Talmadge pictures you are sure to like this one, and if you are a Talmadge fan you'll be completely satisfied."—NEW YORK NEWS.

IS ALWAYS POPULAR

"Norma Talmadge proved the usual popular attraction at the Strand Theatre, where she appears in the star role of a stirring drama of the underworld and the upper crust, 'The Branded Woman.' There is plenty of human interest."—NEW YORK AMERICAN.

WORK IS GOOD

"The work of Norma Talmadge in 'The Branded Woman' is good."—NEW YORK TIMES.

From Oliver D. Bailey’s Play, "Branded"
Adapted by Anita Loos and Albert Parker
Directed by Albert Parker
Photographed by J. Roy Hunt
Tech. Director, Willard M. Reineck

A First National Attraction
Power of the Screen

Harry Scott, manager of the First National exchange in Detroit, who is now in New York, tells an interesting story of how he backed the Michigan M. P. League, Tom Read, candidate for lieutenant-governor of Michigan, to oppose the candidates of the Republican primaries on Aug. 31.

Read declared himself a candidate on the Republican ticket a few months ago. The anti-picture interests immediately asked him to define his stand, which he did. He declared his opposition to state censorship.

"But," says Scott, "the Michigan Exhibitors’ League got busy early in the fight. Through Secretary Arthur Moorell, they circulated the state screens with special slides of Tom Reed’s face and his ideas about pictures until his name became almost as popular as the featured player on the daily programs.

"The net result was that the Read opposition was literally snowed under and the exhibitors’ candidate came romping under the wire with one of the greatest pluralities ever given a candidate for the office of lieutenant-governor in Michigan."

"And, with the victory won, the Michigan M. P. Exhibitors’ League, put their war clubs on the shelf, never to haul them down again for another political fight—unless—and right there Scott stopped.”

In Michigan the lieutenant-governor has charge of the state’s amusements and governing statutes.

Sales on “Fickle Women”

D. N. Schwab Prod., Inc., have sold “Fickle Women” for Missouri and Kansas to the Independent Film Co. of St. Louis for Washington, Montana, Oregon and Idaho to Equity Pictures of Portland, Ore.

Capital Increased

Albany — The Canyon Pictures Corp. has increased its capital from $10,000 to $50,000.

12 Directors Busy at Fox Plant

Los Angeles—Twelve directors are busy making films at the Fox studios, among them a special under the direction of J. Gordon Edwards. Louise Lovely is at work at the exteriors of her film, “The Little Grey Mouse,” the director being James P. Hogan. With George Marshall, a new director, Tom Mix has started on interiors for “Prairie Flowers,” a sequel to “The Texan.” “Girl of My Heart,” starring Shirley Mason, is nearing completion under the direction of Howard J. Le Saint. Buck Jones is putting the finishing touches on “Sunset Sprague,” “The Challenge of the Law,” directed by Scott Dunlap, is being made with William Russell. Eileen Percy is at work on a new production details of which are withheld. Clyde Cook is engaged with a special company on a new comedy. In addition to the above features, four companies are at work on the Sunshine Comedies.

Back to Fort Lee

Hobart Henley, after a vacation spent in Europe, is again active at the Selznick Fort Lee studios putting the finishing touches to “The Sin That Was His,” with William Faversham in the star role.

Rod La Rocque, has a principal part in the new George Fitzmaurice production for Paramount, “Money Mad.”

Lila Lee will appear in the cast of Thomas Meighan’s new Paramount picture, “Easy Street.”

Diana Allen has been engaged by Charles Maigne to play the leading feminine role in “The Kentuckians.”

Printing

that is Distinctively

Different

BARNES PRINTING COMPANY, INC.

36 East 22nd Street

GRAMERCY 945

To Fight Film Schools

San Francisco, Cal.—Following a case against the head of a local school for embryo screen stars, Judge Silver McAlister declared that he would find a way of combating these institutions. The judge went on to declare that the school in question is a trap for misguided ambitious victims, and that while the defendant could not be reached under the present laws, he would recommend to the district attorney that some means be found of stopping such impositions on the frontier ambitions of would-be stars.

Milwaukee Houses Raise Rates

Milwaukee, Wis.—The Merrill and Alhambra as well as a few of her down-town houses have boosted their rates 5 cents. Increased labor demands are named as the cause by the managers.

Kranz Gets New Young Films

(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Atlanta—Charles F. Kranz, Southeastern Pictures Corp. have cured the new series of Clara Keail Young productions.

Jewish Film Enters Third Week

“Jewish Poland Today,” the film Jewish life in 12 cities of Poland, Galicia, is now on the third week of run at Madison Square Garden.

Leon A. Flax, president of Jewish Pictures Corp., which produced the film, states that as soon the run is completed, the film will be released throughout the count. Method of release has not been announced.

St. Louis—Alfred Goldman, formerly with Hallmark at Los Angeles, is now with Pioneer as assistant change manager.

IT IS THE DUTY OF EVERY EXHIBITOR TO RUN THIS SLIDE AT EVERY SHOWING UNTIL THE POLLS CLOSE TUESDAY NIGHT.

VOTE FOR

Senator

GEORGE F. THOMPSON

FOR

GOVERNOR

AT THE NEW YORK STATE PRIMARIES

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

IT WAS THE THOMPSON BILL THAT MADE SUNDAY "MOVIES" POSSIBLE.

YOU CANNOT TELL WHAT MAY COME UP NEXT, SO MAKE SURE YOU HAVE A FRIEND IN THE GOVERNOR’S CHAIR.

(This advertisement paid for by a man in the picture industry who is a friend of our friend, Senator Thompson.)
She hated the man she had promised to love, honor & obey...

When her heart cried out for another, what did she do?

EUGENE WALTER’S Adaptation of
LOVE-HONOR and OBEY
With an ALL-STAR CAST

Based on CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK’S popular novel THE TYRANNY OF WEAKNESS
Directed by LEANDER de CORDOVA Made at METRO’S Eastern Studios.

Under the personal Supervision of MAXWELL KARGER
Exclusive METRO Distributors
The NEW YORK MORNING TELEGRAPH said: "THE SOUL OF YOUTH" is refreshing, and the audiences are going to enjoy it. It was shown at the Rivoli, where both young and old chuckled audibly throughout the picture. It appeals to both young and old—the young get simply hilarious over it. Mr. Taylor has a real understanding of the genus boy, and he has numerous little touches that only one who is in entire sympathy with them could portray.

The NEW YORK EVENING SUN remarks:
It is impossible to praise too highly "THE SOUL OF YOUTH." It is a super-excellent feature picture and Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld is to be congratulated upon having secured it for the Rivoli this week. It's here, an orphan, is played very sympathetically by Lewis Sargent, who made such a hit in "Huckleberry Finn." This is William Desmond Taylor's first special production for Realart, and if this is a good sample, may he do many more pictures for this firm.

REALART PICTURES presents
WILLIAM D. TAYLOR'S PRODUCTION
The SOUL of YOUTH
By Julia Crawford Ivers

REALART PICTURES CORPORATION
469 FIFTH AVENUE—NEW YORK.
News of the Week
in Headlines

Legal Holiday.

Monday

Stockholders of National Playhouse Corp. file fraud suit against officers of corporation.

Los Angeles reports Great Britain will produce a series of propaganda films.

Tuesday

Educational suing "Babe" Ruth for $250,000 alleging damage to reputation.

King Vidor completes First National contract. Forms $2,000,000 company to make four pictures a year.

Jack Callicott leaves managership of Kinema, Los Angeles, after a row with Sol Lesser.

George Blaisdell resigns as editor of M. P. World. Arthur James is successor.

Wednesday

Briton N. Busch resigns as president of Republic Distributing. L. J. Selznick now in complete charge.

Independent Exhibitors Corp. having trouble in Northwest with members.

Reported Jos. M. Schenck sells interest in Roscoe Arbuckle's contract to Famous Players.

Coast reports state John Barrymore and Alla Nazimova will join United Artists.

M. P. T. O. of America to give reception and ball at Madison Square Garden Nov. 4.

Friday

Alfred S. Black makes new charges against Sydney S. Cohen, J. D. Williams and Willard C. Patterson. Says it's "strange that First National affairs are always allied with the M. P. T. O."

M. P. T. O. to hold open meeting on New England theater situation. A. S. Black and Adolph Zukor invited to attend.

Paul Lazarus president of A. M. P. A.

Bray Pictures Corp. to make special films for war department.

Saturday

Charlie Chaplin in New York. Expected to settle contract with First National.

Olive Thomas dies in Paris from mercurial poisoning.

Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce to wage campaign against star stealing.

Black will not attend M. P. T. O. New England investigation.

"Pardoning the bad is injuring the good"—Benjamin Franklin.
The Independent American Producer KNOWS he can find an assured and profitable market for his productions by virtue of the unequalled chain of exchanges owned and controlled by the Pioneer Film Corporation.

(1) THAT IS WHY every big independent production is on the Pioneer list of features

(2) THAT IS WHY the independent producer thinks FIRST of Pioneer and has implicit confidence in this enterprise that Dominates the Independent Motion Picture Field

PIONEER FILM CORP.
A. E. LEFCOURT, Pres.
130 WEST 46th STREET, NEW YORK CITY
After-the-War Comedy—Distinctive and Very Delightful

Thomas Meighan in “CIVILIAN CLOTHES”
Hugh Ford Prod.—Paramount

DIRECTOR ................. Hugh Ford
AUTHOR ............... Thompson Buchanan
SCENARIO BY ........... Clara Beranger
CAMERAMAN ............. Hal Young

As a Whole ...... After-the-war comedy containing a lot of fine original material certain of registering

STORY ...... Takes a little time to get going but once premise is established it proceeds at very attractive gait DIRECTION ...... A bit laborious at times but comedy situations and business always register
PHOTOGRAPHY ........... Very good
LIGHTINGS .............. Very good
CAMERA WORK ............ Satisfactory
STAR .............. Excellent
SUPPORT ...... Martha Mansfield is heroine; not quite successful in her emotional scenes
EXTERIORS .......... Very good
INTERIORS .......... Very good
DETAIL ........... Satisfactory
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Snobbish girl discovers that she fell in love with her husband’s uniform; he brings her around to actually love him by clever trick

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ...... 5,267 feet

“Civilian Clothes” is an extraordinarily clever and original comedy. It was greatly successful on the stage and the way it has been handled here will certainly make for its success on the screen. For despite the fact that Hugh Ford’s direction is a bit laborious at times (some of the scenes being handled in a very old fashioned way), all the fine comedy situations and the delightful little bits of business register with full force. And there is such a human and practical idea back of all the fun that everyone is going to fully appreciate the picture.

The opening scenes are rather slow and without decisive emotional effect. These take place on the battlefield and show the meeting of Captain Sam McGinnis and Florence Lanham, a Salvation Army worker. The action that transpires here, including the marriage and the reported death of the captain, was merely referred to in the original play.

Once the action shifts to the Lanham home the comedy starts in and never lets up thereafter. Sam is still very much alive and appears to claim his wife, who has never told of her hasty marriage. She is shocked and disillusioned to see him dressed in loud and flashy clothes, employing the gruffest sort of manners and very unpolished figures of speech. She had, in fact, been in love with a uniform. Sam comes right out and calls her a snob.

Of course he won’t give her up by hiring himself to the Lanham’s as butler, he starts in to teach her a lesson and take some of the snobbery out of her. How he succeeds forms the major part of the action and it is action forever fraught with scenes that fairly scintillate with comedy, quite different from anything seen on the screen before.

Thomas Meighan surely demonstrates his right to stardom in the role of the captain. His work is a careful study of the character, so careful indeed that he lives the role to the letter. With the slightest effort he is able to extract the comedy possibilities of the role to the full. Martha Mansfield in the opposite part struggles a little too much with her more emotional scenes but most of the way gives a very pretty and attractive picture of the society girl.

The supporing cast is particularly well chosen and includes Marie Shotwell, Frank Losee, Alfred Hickman, Warren Cook, Maude Turner Gordon, Albert Gran and Halbert Brown.

Has Unusual Drawing Power and Should Score Big Hit

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

The success of the play “Civilian Clothes” is not so far distant that exhibitors can fail to recall it. It came, of course, just after the war, when the public was ripe for a comedy dealing with just such a situation as is handled here. However, the quality of the play’s humor is so distinctive and original that it ought to last for ever. Certainly it will be enjoyed just as much now as it was a year or so ago.

The public too, is likely to recall this title so give it good prominence. Play Meighan up big. His success in “The Prince Chap” was marked and his many other performances on the screen have placed him right in the front rank of male stars. The name of Hugh Ford will also serve to attract.

The story can be handled humorously. A line such as “She married him in a mad moment in France. He looked glorious in his uniform. But when he appeared before her in a horribly loud striped suit, yellow shoes and a generally impossible getup, her love flew out the window. See how he won it back,” will give the gist of the story in a pretty attractive fashion.
Satisfactory Program Offering with Star Giving Good Performance

H. B. Warner in
"FELIX O'DAY"

Jesse D. Hampton Prod.—Pathe

DIRECTOR . . . . . . . . . . Robert Thornby
AUTHOR . . . . . . . . . . F. Hopkinson Smith
SCENARIO BY . . . . . . . Fred Myton
CAMERAMAN . . . . . . . Victor Milner

AS A WHOLE . . . . Makes satisfactory offering once it gets started; opening sequence slow

STORY . . . . Adaptation of Smith novel gives star all the work to do. Nothing particularly new but material is adequate DIRECTION . . . . Good, particularly in matter of sets and locations

PHOTOGRAPHY . . . . . . Good
LIGHTINGS . . . . . . . . . . . . Clear
CAMERAWORK . . . . . . Very good

STAR . . . . His performance together with an attractive atmosphere gets the picture over

SUPPORT . . . . With the exception of the villain, hasn’t much to do

EXTERIORS . . . . Some good rain storm effects
INTERIORS . . . . . . . . . . . . Good

DETAIL . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . All right

CHARACTER OF STORY . . . . Man who lives but to avenge a wrong

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION . . . . 4,729 feet

After the success of H. B. Warner’s last production, “One Hour Before Dawn” folks will likely be anxious to see his next production, “Felix O’Day.” And while this latest picture hasn’t the peculiar fascination nor strong holding interest that “One Hour Before Dawn” maintained, its less gruesome and less tragic atmosphere may find just as much approval and prove a good follow-up for the previous success.

While F. Hopkinson Smith’s novel doesn’t contain anything startlingly original the producer has supplied a very suitable and appropriate atmosphere and the directorial end of it has been carefully attended to. Especially commendable is the antique shop where considerable of the action takes place. Some shots of a rainstorm at night have been very well done. The star, who plays the title role, has a fair variety of opportunities which he makes good use of and his performance goes a long ways toward making the picture as pleasing as it is. Ray Ripley as the villain is all that a villain should be.

There is one bit to which exception may be taken showing villain Ripley and O’Day’s wife who has deserted him, in urgent need of funds which the villain proposes to raise through selling the former Mrs. O’Day. The latter refuses and Ripley is shown beating her by the shadows on the window. Meanwhile the prospective “buyer” stands looking on, at the same time manicuring his nails. This “touch” is thoroughly out of place and might well be eliminated.

Felix O’Day lives to fulfill but one ambition—to get Bennett, the man who stole his wife and caused his father’s death. He comes to America where he frequents an old antique shop. During one of his visits the proprietor is attacked and robbed while O’Day is in another room looking over the dealer’s wares. The assailant, O’Day’s man, makes his escape. Felix agrees to manage the business during the old man’s illness, and care for his pretty daughter, Annette.

During a party which Felix has arranged for Annette, O’Day sees his wife pass the shop. He comes upon her and learns the story of her lover’s cruelty. Felix sets out to “get” Bennett but in making his escape Bennett is killed. This bit is very well done. Bennett ties a rope to the door of the room in which he is hiding and hangs by it from the window, but the rope breaks.

The ending which is perhaps not expected, is good nevertheless. O’Day takes care of his wife but she intimates that she will not live long and that he shall go back to Annette who loves him. In the cast are Marguerite Snow as the wife, Lillian Rich as Annette and Karl Formes as the antique dealer.

Hasn’t the Box Office Value of Last One but Should Please

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

While “Felix O’Day” may not have the box office value that “One Hour Before Dawn” had, still its atmosphere and less uncanny tone may find equal favor with certain audiences. The star gives a very pleasing performance and you may be sure to get them in by announcing his name, particularly if you have already played “One Hour Before Dawn.” You might also mention the authors’ name for the benefit of the book lovers.

To suggest the story use catchlines along the following order: “Does revenge pay? Felix O’Day devoted his life to finding the man who stole his wife and caused his father’s death? Was it worth it?” Or, “He refused to obey the text ‘Vengeance is Mine. I will repay thee.’ Was he right or wrong?”
Out of the ruin of an absinthe-crazed being, love-purifying, wonderful love — wrought its miracle and on through the perplexing road of life made of this man — a triumph.

Big Happiness is the pursuit of all—Dustin Farnum shall bring Big Happiness to the exhibitor in his greatest picture.
Familiar Old Plot is Basis of Norma Talmadge's Latest Feature

Norma Talmadge in
"THE BRANDED WOMAN"
First National

DIRECTOR .................. Albert Parker
AUTHOR ........................ Oliver D. Bailey
SCENARIO BY .............. Anita Loos and Albert Parker
CAMERAMAN .................. Roy Hunt

AS A WHOLE ........... Takes familiar course; one very distasteful episode; technical work poor in some respects

STORY ............ Well enough handled but its action is all very obvious after certain point

DIRECTION ............ Dramatic action handled well
PHOTOGRAPHY ................. Good
LIGHTINGS ............... Some very good effects CAMERA WORK ........ Fair; flaws show in continuity of scenes

STAR ............ Emotionally effective; wears beautiful gowns

SUPPORT ............ Very good; includes Percy Marm-mont, Vincent Serrano and George Fawcett

EXTERIORS ................. Satisfactory
INTERIORS ...................... Good

DETAIL ....................... Fair

CHARACTER OF STORY ........ Wife afraid to tell truth about mother incurs husband's suspicions through her actions

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... About 5,000 feet

"The Branded Woman" has that appealing of heroines, that woman under the shadow of suspicion. It is another version of the woman-with-a-past story and there are times when its turns and situations can easily be anticipated. The picture is presented satsfactorily enough except in its minor details of continuity. The camera work is often responsible for some slips as regards the position of characters.

Norma Talmadge appears as Ruth, a girl reared by her grandfather in ignorance of the fact that her mother is a gambler and notorious character. Dot, the mother eventually finds out that Ruth is in boarding school and desiring to avenge herself on Judge Whitlock, Ruth's grandfather, who realized her worthless-ness at the start, she takes Ruth to her gambling establishment.

There is a very bad and distasteful episode in which Dot, after dressing Ruth in an extremely decolette gown, practically places her in the hands of a man whose intentions toward her are not by any means as pure as the driven snow. From him the girl is rescued by her grandfather.

Later Judge Whitlock fosters Ruth's romance with Douglas Courtenev, a British embassy attache. They are married in Paris after Ruth has debated informing Douglas of her mother and decided not to. Three years later, while she is enjoying her happiness with her husband and baby, Craft, one of Dot's accomplices appears and threatens to tell the secret of Ruth's parentage to her husband.

Ruth bribes him with her jewels to keep silent.
Eventually the jewels run out and Craft has it out with Douglas. He is ready to forgive Ruth for her mother's sins (which the ordinary woman would have realized in the first place), but he can't forgive her deceit and so she leaves him and goes back to Judge Whitlock where later he finds her, begs forgiveness and receives it. Just why the Judge takes such a fond interest in the future welfare of Craft, offering him a ticket to South America and maintainance there is not clear.
A villain of Craft's type doesn't usually receive such mercy in pictures.

Miss Talmadge is emotionally effective in her role and wears a number of gorgeous gowns. Percy Marm-mont does adequately as Douglas except in his scenes of heavy emotion toward the end. George Fawcett is a fine Judge Whitlock and Vincent Serrano a polished Craft.

Star's Fans Have Been Educated to Look for Better Things Than This

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"The Branded Woman" has old and tried elements of popular success but somehow people are led to expect something a little bit better from Norma Talmadge. She is such a good actress that she can make even the most hackneyed role effective, but on the other hand her talents should be turned into worthier channels of expression.

And it is quite likely that the majority of Miss Talmadge's admirers will think this way too. There are other stories not so time-worn as "The Branded Woman" and while Miss Talmadge and her supporting company try hard to make the old familiar situ-tations a little bit different, there is no denying the fact that all the picture-wise audiences will be able to call every turn in the story once hero and heroine meet.

In advertising this, mention the supporting cast as well as the star. It's three principals members are well known. The title of course will attract, due to its sensationalism.
A production of surpassing bigness in story, action, scenic splendor and panoramic quality. Made with every essential in it to establish for it tremendous box-office power in all types of theatres.

Released nationally September 26, "The Leopard Woman" is definitely one of the great star and production sensations of the new picture year.

J. PARKER READ JR. presents

Louise Glaum in THE LEOPARD WOMAN

From the world-known novel by STEWART EDWARD WHITE
Directed by Wesley Ruggles
Personally supervised by J. Parker Read Jr.

MARSHALL NEILAN  ALLAN DWAN  GEORGE LOANE TUCKER  MAURICE TOURNEUR  J. PARKER READ JR.  THOMAS H. INCE  MACK SENNETT

Associated Producers Inc.
HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
HOMESPUN FOLKS

All Star Cast with Lloyd Hughes
Story by Julien Josephson

MOTION PICTURE NEWS says: "Homespun Folks" will draw them in on its title . . . A story that moves with vigor and vitality . . . The atmosphere of the picture is splendidly real. Bring out the charming atmosphere in your advertising.

NEW YORK REVIEW says: This picture will be a big success. Mr. Ince and staff have handled the story in admirable fashion. The strongest note is that which is spoken of as "human" or "heart" interest.

MOVING PICTURE WORLD says: "Homespun Folks" will have a special appeal for lovers of rural drama. It has touches of melodrama and considerable suspense.

MARSHALL NEILAN  ALLAN DWAN  GEORGE LOANE TUCKER  MAURICE TOURNEUR
J.PARKER READ JR.  THOMAS H. INCE  MACK SENNETT

ASSOCIATED PRODUCERS, INC.

HOME OFFICES: 729 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY
Carl Laemmle presents

Dorothy Phillips

America's Foremost Emotional Actress and Dazzling Star of "The Heart of Humanity" in a Great Universal-Jewel Production de Luxe Directed by Allen Holubar

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN
Possibilities of Play Not Fully Realized in This

Shirley Mason in
"MERELY MARY ANN"
Fox

DIRECTION .................. Edward J. Le Saint
AUTHOR ........................ Israel Zangwill
SCENARIO BY .................. Edward J. Le Saint CAMERAMAN ........................ Friend F. Baker
AS A WHOLE......Many attempts at atmosphere and realism in this, but story as pictured has few entertaining points.

STORY......Original had much more in it than this; hero's actions not at all sympathetic.

DIRECTION .................. Satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Good
LIGHTINGS ........................ Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK .................. Commendable
STAR......Creates quite an appeal but certainly fails to suggest hard-working slavery

SUPPORT......Casson Ferguson does good work in opposite role

EXTERIORS .......................... Good
INTERIORS .......................... Realistic
DETAIL .......................... Good
CHARACTER OF STORY......Romance of boarding house slavery and baronet's son who is making his own way

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION.....About 5,000 feet

"Merely Mary Ann" displays many efforts on the part of the director to inject atmosphere and realism in his work. The majority of these are successful. There is no denying the realism of the scenes in the London boarding house under the roof of which the romance between the slavey and the baronet's son proceeds. But if memory serves aright there was considerable more than this in the original work. Much drama and many truly tragic little episodes. These more substantial parts of the entertainment hardly ever appear in the screen version.

Really the story as presented here never gets beyond the stage of being cute. Perhaps the makeup of Shirley Mason has something to do with this. Certainly she never suggests a hard-working slavery. Her face is as pretty and untroubled as ever. Miss Mason might learn that a makeup would assist her little expressions in conveying the idea that the character she plays is extremely tired. However, it is not all Miss Mason's fault. That the story never gets very far under the skin must be attributed to the director's failure of making use of the possibilities offered in the original play.

The romance between merely Mary Ann, the slavey in Mrs. Leadbatter's boarding house, and Lancelot, the baronet's son, who is striving to make his own way at writing music, lacks sympathetic appeal in many of its scenes principally because Lancelot is such a cad. He is under the impression that Mary Ann isn't good enough for him. The emphasis set upon the barrier between them doesn't serve to make the action natural. Such "barriers" seem a bit out of date. The scenes between these two are to be noted, therefore, largely for the light comedy play introduced. This is much more successful in registering than the romance.

Of course in the end after Mary Ann has come into her money and has developed into a little lady, Lance-lot discovers that he owes all his success to her sympathy in the old boarding house days, and so he seeks her out, begs forgiveness and proposes.

Casson Ferguson delivers a very good performance in the role of Lancelot, this despite the handicap imposed on him by the role. Harry Spingler, Georgia Woodthorpe, Kewpie Morgan, Jean Hersholt and Paul Wiegel are others. "Babe" London, a fat girl, gives a demonstration of awkward comedy that is very effective.

Another One For the Long, Long Average List

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

"Merely Mary Ann," as said, just seems to miss fire. It is really nothing more nor less than a cute little picture with some small appeal and several sequences that are quite humorous.

It belongs to the great average lot of pictures that just manage to get by. Audiences will probably accept it in good spirit with the exception of the cadish actions of the hero. He certainly isn't a sympathy winner.

In billing this give considerable prominence to the author. He is a playwright of note and his name should draw in many localities. Play up the fact that the major part of the action takes place in a London boarding house and that the director has secured some fine atmosphere for these scenes. Give your advertising arguments a homely touch, reflect in them the simplicity of the story with a suggestion of the pathos that was aimed at.
ANNOUNCEMENT
GIANT MERGER

Film-Lore Congressional Productions, Inc.

Executive Staff
Alexandre A. Stuart  President
J. A. Fitzgerald  Vice-President
N. B. Corrigan  Secretary and Treasurer
T. J. Hall  General Manager
L. G. Grossman  General Counsel
Eric Cederberg  Chief Cinematographer

Initial Super-Feature
BRAIN CINEMA
A Strong Plot of Love, Mystery and Science
By A. A. STUART

Film-Lore Congressional Productions, Inc.
18 and 20 West 34th Street
Phone Pennsylvania 430  New York City
Starts Off Well But They Go All Wrong On It After the Middle

Robert Warwick in
"THE FOURTEENTH MAN"
Paramount

DIRECTOR ...................... Joseph Henaberry
AUTHOR ........................ F. Anstey
SCENARIO BY .................. Walter Woods
CAMERAMAN .......................... Karl Brown

As a whole . . . . . Promises to be pleasing romantic comedy but develops into hodge-podge of attempted farcical action

STORY . . . . . Is amusing and entertaining at outset but later developments fail to hold interest

DIRECTION . . . . . Very careless for much of the way

PHOTOGRAPHY .................. Very good
LIGHTINGS .................. Satisfactory with good effects
CAMERA WORK .................. Good

STAR . . . . . . Is sincerest thing about picture but he couldn't register much in final half

SUPPORT .................. Bebe Daniels is heroine
EXTERIORS .................. Satisfactory
INTERIORS .................. Good
DETAIL .................. Good and bad
CHARACTER OF STORY . . . . Concerns predicaments in which hero is involved while always trying to help "under dog"

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION . . . About 4,639 feet

"The Fourteenth Man" starts off with the promise of being an enjoyable romantic comedy and for about half its length gets along nicely. Then something cracks and the action goes "bleoie." For most of the latter part of the picture the actions is a wild hodge-podge of attempted farce which fails to register with any degree of consistency. The director has had too much unimportant incident to handle, but at the same time he has just let the story get away from him and it runs wild to the point of ridiculousness.

The action centers on Captain Douglas Gordon of the Highland Guards. Gordon is always moved by a desire to help the "under dog" in any situation and is always getting the worst of it as a result. The climax to his activities comes when he interferes in a quarrel between husband and wife to discover that the husband is none other than his commanding officer. A fight ensues and after Gordon has knocked his opponent down he flees to America.

He believes himself pursued by a Scotland Yard agent and so eludes a tall gentleman who insists on following him about. However, he finds time to meet Marjory Seaton, a young lady not at all in accord with the ideas of her scheming relatives.

Marjory has a peculiar friendship with a prize fighter and just to show Marjory what he can do, Gordon enters the ring and defeats him. The subsequent action is the wild part. Marjory's guardians plan a dinner at which her engagement to a man she dislikes is to be announced. A crook, an acquaintance of Gordon, goes to the house with intent to rob. Gordon follows him and is mistaken for a titled Englishman by the butler, who has phoned to an "agency" on discovering that there were thirteen places at the table. This is a choice bit. Wilder and wilder grows the action. The crook steals and Gordon is accused of the deed. A sale is blown a la Sennett and the cops enter for the finish along with the alleged Scotland Yard man who proves to be a British agent waiting to inform Gordon that he has inherited a title and much wealth.

"THE GREAT REDEEMER"

Picturized and entirely re-written by

JOHN GILBERT

A Maurice Tourneur Production
Very Weak—Might Get Over with a Lowbrow Crowd
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Robert Warwick in
"THE FOURTEENTH MAN"
Paramount

This one is exceedingly weak from the standpoint of high class entertainment. The foolish course that the action takes after a certain point at about the picture's middle serves to condemn it before audiences of discrimination.

The conglomerate and wild character of the action at the end, while it will certainly disappoint the high class audiences, may possibly appeal to the element that likes slapstick at any price. But at that the picture doesn't stand much chance. The final stuff isn't even good slapstick.

You have a good advertising line to play on in the announcement that the hero is always taking the side of the "under dog" and always getting the worst of it himself, despite his good intentions. This idea has possibilities and it will attract. It's too bad the producers didn't make more out of it.

PHOTOPLAYER'S ATTENTION
Special Rates To and From Studios

Garden Court Garage TAXI SERVICE

7030 HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD
Holly 2902 577-116
IMMEDIATE SERVICE

“GEVAERT”
FILM
Positive—Negative—Colored Positive
(U. S. Pat.)

Make Pictures Perfect!

United States Distributor
L. DE STENAY
LONGACRE BUILDING
1472 Broadway, . Y. City
Phone: BRYANT 7815

Manufactured by
L. GEVAERT & CO.
ANTWERP, BELGIUM
Astounding Climax Caps Griffith's Latest Screen Sensation

D. W. Griffith's
"WAY DOWN EAST"
D. W. Griffith, Inc.

DIRECTOR ........................................ D. W. Griffith
AUTHOR ......................................... D. W. Griffith
ELABORATED BY ......................... Joseph R. Girard
SCENARIO BY ......................... Anthony Paul Kelly
CAMERAMEN ............... G. W. Bitzer and Hendrik Sartov
AS A WHOLE, the devastating melodrama rising to greatest climax ever screened.

STORY .......... Rich in appeal and treatment accorded it by
W. which raises it far above old level.

DIRECTION is wonderful in the grim, dramatic scenes—comedy relief attempted seems to strike false note

PHOTOGRAPHY Nothing like it has ever been seen

LIGHTINGS Superb
CAMERA WORK Excellent
LEADING PLAYERS Lillian Gish gives greatest per-

SUPPORT Unusually good in the main EXTERIORS Beautiful rural scenes; ice flow of cliwith the element of ainer

INTERIORS Excellent

DETAIL Splendid for the most part

CHARACTER OF STORY The tragedy of the double standard of morals.

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION About 12 reels

A climax in which the terrific force of the elements are masterfully employed, was achieved by D. W. Griffith in "Way Down East," a picture of many sides and of many ex-terrible. It surpasses in suspense and power the gathering of the cast in "The Birth of a Nation," the truce parallel climax of "Intolerance" and the rescue of the imperiled heroine in "Hearts of the World.

Fractally unconscious is Anna. And off on the river banks, bearing with it, the terrific snow storm is David. As he at last approaches the ice-cranked river, led there by pieces of Anna's apparel, the ice breaks up to a flow of the piece which holds the helpless form of Anna, carries it away and starts plunging, hurrying down the river to the falls below. David, frantic with the realization of Anna's peril,MAKES-Speeds up to one treacherous piece of ice to another, slips and is half-submerged, regains his footing and goes on, frenzied hound bringing him nearer the girl dearer to him than life itself.

With this situation, the suspense of which Griffith has emphasized to its fullest extent by the use of quick flashes and taking full advantage of the terrific and relentless power of the ice, the spectator of "Way Down East" looks upon the thrill of a lifetime in the audience at the 44th Street Theater.

Ater the opening night was quick to catch the tremendous power of it. Hardly had the battle between David and the elements begun when a rip of applause and hope out-started. And when at last David snatched the girl from the ice just as it was about to carry her over the falls and into the jaws of death and then started his battle back against the current, the entire house was on its feet cheering madly.

The scene is real itself, and with its tremendous power it has the added merit of unusualness. Such a background has never before been provided for a thrill. And it is all so effectively staged that the question is, what will Anna eventually save?

A knowledge that is obvious, is completely lost sight of through Griffith's skill. Here, indeed, is the last word in theatrical effect.

In the production of the whole work Griffith has, with few and generally minor exceptions, shown himself at his best.

The first part of the picture, its first five reels, concerns itself with the tragedy of Anna's life, the tragedy which Griffith points out, is the supreme tragedy of womankind. But even in such scenes of ordinary clay as Anna's marriage tragedy through the mock marriage, her utter despair when Sanderson reveals to her his baseness, and then the tragedy of her having to support a child which notices her dying child, Griffith has shown himself the master.

This first half of the production is a powerful tragedy, the overbearing points of the action, the acting of Miss Gish and as Anna and the effects secured by Griffith and his photographers.

Anna is without doubt Miss Gish's greatest character. She sounds a marvelously effective note of tragedy throughout her her acting and her accentuated emotion show her and her teacher at their collective best. Then, too, Griffith has emphasized the absolutely hopeless plight of the girl to a degree which is truly penetrating. By using both his knowledge of dramatic values and his acquaintance with the force of atmosphere come to his aid. The desolate appearance of the country hotel which conceals Anna's tragedy is, for instance, outstanding.

There is some magnificent color work in the early scenes of the ball at which Anna meets Sanderson. They are few and despite their excellence, seem out of place, serving rather to jar the spectator out of the illusion of living reality, with their striking contrast with the scenes of plain tints and tones.

Perhaps Griffith goes too far in his scene suggesting Anna in the swings of her pains of childbirth. As far as carrying out his idea goes it serves its purpose with a vengeance, but realism must stop somewhere and, it might as well stop at the bedside.

The latter half of the picture adheres closely to the original plot. Here is a more variety, more drama. The melodrama the effects always accentuated by Griffith's careful handling except in the comedy relief scenes. These, while perhaps they may be compared with the stage piece, are hardly firing in a production of the generally artistic film accorded the picture.

The antics of H. H. Roller and Reuben Whipple are well enough, but it is the Martha Perkins, the Seth Holcomb and the Flirpling, who stand out like sore spots. Certainly should I have toned their actions down and not attempted slapstick play with them.

If it had taken effect might have had it served its intended purpose of comedy relief, but even so the ethics would have been wrong. The real comedy relief of "Way Down East," the picture, is in the good old barn dance scenes, the Virginia reel and the polka, and in the pretty little character of Kate Brewster so well interpreted by Mary Hay, with but some few errors on her part as regards clothes.

The romance between Anna and David, the square's son, develops very prettily through this latter portion. Then in turn comes the discovery of Anna's past and her renunciation of Sanderson. This scene is splendidly played by Miss Gish.

She rises to it magnificently. And after this her flight in the storm and her glorious rescue by David. W. Bitzer and Hendrik Sartov deserve superlative praise. There are splendid lightings, these often concentrated on Miss Gish. But it is in the rural landscapes they have surpassed all others in the art of photography. These are beautiful, often as breath-taking as the melodrama.

Richard Barthelmess is the David of the story and he gives a fine and skilled performance. Lowell Sherman is excellent as the villain. Burr McIntosh has his original role of the square, and Kate Bruce appears as his wife. They are both splendid. Creighton Hale might have done more had the character of Professor Sterling contained more scenes like the barn dance bit. Others are Mrs. Morgan Belmont, Mrs. David Landau, Josephine Bernard, Patricia Frenn, Florence Short,

Eve, Porter Strong, George Neville, Edgar Nelson and Emily Fitzy.

The Biggest Box Office Attraction of the Times

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Probably motion picture exhibitors won't have a chance to book "Way Down East" for some time, as it will first be played as a road show in the larger cities. But remember this:

when you finally have the opportunity to book it—that it is one of the biggest events ever seen on the screen. It looks as if it would run "The Birth of a Nation" a close race for box office honors and when, some many years hence, it is said to have been done and counted, it won't be at all surprising if it surpasses it.

The biggest thing about "Way Down East" is that it is lasting. This has been proven by the famous old play, and this play never reached the public finished off as artistically and as powerfully as Griffith's picture. It's an entertainment that people have gone to see again and again. And they will continue to do so. Even beneath the surface of the purely melodramatic play rested elements that brought the crowds back even when it was presented.

And these elements Griffith has brought out more forcefully and with greater respect. These combined with that thrill of thrills with which he concludes his entertainment are what will make the picture live as long or even longer than its noted predecessor.

In other words, it is the entertainment that is the predominant thing about "Way Down East." And with all this it has its years of running on the stage behind it, the name of Griffith, the names of the principal players, the artistry with which it is generally presented. Certainly it is the biggest box office attraction of the times.

William Fox
PRESENTS

The story of three strange comrades—a man, a horse and a dog—a tale of the West, but one most unusual and appealing; presented by a cast including Pauline Starke, George Siegman, P. H. McCullough, and other leading players.

Fox Entertainments
TOM MIX
in The Untamed

Story by MAX BRAND
Scenario by H.P. KEELER
Direction by EMMETT J. FLYNN
PAUL SCARDON
Who Directed
"MILESTONES"
FOR GOLDWYN

Also "THE BROKEN GATE"

By Emerson Hough

With Bessie Barriscale

Assisted by TENNY WRIGHT

Permanent Address
HOLLYWOOD HOTEL
HOLLYWOOD, CAL.
Wherever books are read, people know and cherish Robert W. Service's immortal poem, "The Law of the Yukon".

Wherever pictures are shown, people will want to see Charles Miller's production based on this verse classic.

Cash-in on a ready-made demand.

The Law of the Yukon

This is the law of the Yukon, and ever she makes it plain; "Send not your foolish and feeble; send me your strong and your sane— Robert W. Service
As the sturdy Argonauts of the Klondike trails unearthed gold with their picks, so Robert W. Service unearthed with his pen a rich vein of Northland Romance.

In "The Law of The Yukon" Service has given to the world a vivid picture of the strife—the fierce loves and hates—of the Great White Land.

And this, Charles Miller has reproduced on the screen in a picture packed with two-fisted drama.

SIGN UP AND CLEAN UP!
MAYFLOWER PHOTOPLAY CORP.
PRESENTS
A CHARLES MILLER PRODUCTION
"The LAW of the YUKON"
Based on the Verse Classic by ROBERT W. SERVICE
PUBLISHED BY BARSE & HOPKINS NEW YORK
Apply to REALART PICTURES CORP.
469 FIFTH AVE., N.Y.
A FAMOUS British statesman recently characterized the United States as "a Nation of excitement seekers." The popularity of thrilling entertainment of the Great Outdoors proves it!

"The Law of the Yukon" breathes the spell of open spaces! It pulsates with the thrill of supermen fighting for gold and the love of women!

That's why good American excitement-seekers will pour good American dollars into your box-office to see "The Law of the Yukon."
Episodic and Repetitious Production Lacking in Dramatic Interest

“MILESTONES”
Goldwyn

DIRECTOR ......................... Paul Scardon
AUTHORS .................. Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblock
SCENARIO BY ..................... Louis Sherwin
CAMERAMAN ..................... Otto Brautigam
AS A WHOLE ........ Presenting a story of three episodes very similar to one another; small dramatic interest; scenes badly chopped and too many titles used STORY ........ Might have gone on forever; duplications of situations becomes uninteresting; comedy is best element but not prominent enough DIRECTION ................ Generally satisfactory
PHOTOGRAPHY ................ Average
LIGHTINGS ....................... Fair
CAMERA WORK .................... Satisfactory
LEADING PLAYERS .......... Hard to pick them out from a cast of fourteen; Lewis Stone renders skilled characterization
SUPPORT ............................ Satisfactory
EXTERIORS ...................... Good
INTERIORS ....................... Good
DETAIL ......................... All right
CHARACTER OF STORY .... Concerns the rebellion of old age against the actions of youth that are dictated by the heart
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... 5,782 feet

“Milestones” presents a story in three episodes concerning three generations of one English family. In the first, John Rhead, a forward-looking engineer who plans to build iron ships, is cast out by his conservative partners but nevertheless marries the daughter of his house after an elopement.

But when John’s own daughter, Emily, is grown to womanhood, he refuses to permit her marriage to Preece, one of his employees, who forsees an era of steel ships instead of iron ships. So Emily, not wanting to precipitate a family row, marries her father’s friend Pym, in return for which favor Pym secures a title for John.

And Emily also forgets the sadness of her romance when her daughter, Muriel, elects to marry a young engineer, a man without title. Emily, grandfather and the whole family let off of a lot of steam about marrying beneath her station and Muriel is about to blight her romance along with her ancestors when Preece and a number of other forces intervene and serve to open the eyes of the old people.

Of course this story has a moral, that old age dims the vision, and that old people are unable to realize that the romances of youth are as beautiful as their own which they may have sacrificed for one reason or another. It would have them feel their ways more carefully.

As far as dramatic interest goes “Milestones” is very close to zero. There is hardly a sequence in any one of the three episodes that can be called forceful. And the triple repetition of the same old situation begins to wear on one as the reels go on. The objections of the old folks are also based on English conventions which aren’t American conventions at all. To the picture public titled people mean little. Objections to engineers on the grounds that they are hard-working engineers will strike American people as very foolish.

The action, in regard to individual scenes, is very choppy. Much story detail had to be included and the wealth of it necessitated choppy scenes and entirely too many subtitles. Paul Scardon evidently had a hard job to handle and did fairly well with the material at hand.

Of the cast, perhaps Lewis Stone stands out as John. His characterization is good. Harvey Clark, skilled character comedian that he is, gets only a few minor opportunities. Others are Alice Hollister, Gertrude Robinson, Mary Alden, May Foster, Gerald Pring, Boyd Irwin, Cerrean Kirkham, Lionel Belmore, Carrell Fleming and Jack Donovan.

Will Appeal to Small Percentage of Picture Audiences
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

“If you want to chance it play up the names of the authors and mention the fact that the picture is an adaptation from a play. Then dwell on the moral of the story and the manner in which it is told. Center your arguments around the question, “Does Age understand Youth?”

Of the cast Lewis Stone is the most prominent but if you cater to a “fan” crowd you’ll find a lot old favorites in the cast that will help to draw.
“Fatty” Arbuckle First Feature Somewhat Disappointing

Roscoe Arbuckle in “THE ROUND UP”
Geo. Melford Prod.—Paramount

DIRECTOR ................... George Melford
AUTHOR ........................ Edmund Day
SCENARIO BY ................. Tom Forman
CAMERAMAN .................. Paul Perry
AS A WHOLE ...... Ordinary western melodrama with “Fatty” Arbuckle center of comedy scenes

STORY .............. Interesting with plenty of fighting Indians and gun shooting

DIRECTION ............ Played up desert fights between Indians and whites in regular old-time style—a bit too much

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Excellent
LIGHTINGS .................. Some excellent desert stuff with effective brown and blue tones
CAMERA WORK .............. Excellent
STAR ................. Gets in some fine comedy and also shows to good effect in serious scenes
SUPPORT ..................... Very good
EXTERIORS .............. Western but with more expanse and atmosphere than the ordinary
INTERIORS .................. Very good
DETAIL ..................... Satisfactory
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... Includes a number of plot threads most prominent of which concerns romance of sheriff’s friend

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ....... 6,417 feet

“The Round Up” is first to be noted because it introduces Roscoe “Fatty” Arbuckle as a feature star. As has been the case with other good comedians, Arbuckle has often shown in his hilarious two reelers, that he is capable of playing in a more serious vein. He again displays this talent in the role of the jovial sheriff of “The Round Up,” playing his part in the dramatic sequences of the story with a sincerity and effect that completely disarms those who would laugh at his figure. On the other hand, the producers have shown the good judgment to let him loose in some regular hilarious comedy scenes and in these he shines as of old. The sequence in which he bursts out his new suit, the one in which he attempts to play at romance with the flirtatious Polly and his actions at the wedding are all very funny.

As a complete entertainment “The Round Up” is disappointing. Melford has played up the old Indian fights on the desert in a big way. The manner in which he has staged his scenes smacks of the old style in many respects.

The real central character of the story is Jack Pay- sen, the sheriff’s friend. Jack rushes his marriage with Echo Allen fearing that her old suitor, Dick, will return. Echo believes him dead. On the wedding night Dick does come back and Jack, afraid to face the music, keeps him out of the house by lying to him.

Later, accused of a robbery and murder, from which he can only alibi himself by telling the true story regarding Dick, he make a confession to Echo and then rides off to the desert after him. He overtakes his man but the two are surrounded by Indians and a fight is staged. Dick is mortally wounded. The sheriff comes to the rescue with the U. S. cavalry and arrives in time to get Dick’s dying confession which exonerates Jack from the shadow of the accusation. Echo forgives Jack.

Tom Forman appears as Jack, Irving Cummings as Dick and Mabel Julianne Scott as Echo. Others are Jean Acker, Guy Oliver, Lucien Littefield, Fred Huntley, Wallace Beery, Jane Wolfe and George Kuwa.

This May Give You an Unusual Chance at the Box Office

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Exhibitors may be able to make an unusual showing with “The Round Up,” if for no other reason than it presents Roscoe Arbuckle as a feature star for the first time. He has been off the screen for a considerable space and his return in a new field should be the signal for big crowds if the facts of the case are made known. Concentrate on this line of talk in your advertising.

The title is also well known as the old play had quite a run. Again there is an asset in the name of George Melford, the director. He has done some pretty big things for Paramount and is now engaged in making director-productions, of which this is his first.

With all these facts made known to the public business ought to be bigger than usual. The picture offers a fair brand of entertainment in which the comedy element is the most sure of registering with full effect. Play this up too.
FIRST RUN HOUSES EVERYWHERE

Are Booking

LOUISE GLAUM

in

"LOVE MADNESS"

A J. PARKER READ JR. Production

Story by
C. Gardner Sullivan

Directed by
Joseph Henaberry

Symphony Theatre, Los Angeles, Cal.
Crandall's Theatres, Washington, D.C.
New Grand Central Theatre, St. Louis, Mo.
Blackstone Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Blue Mouse Theatre, Minneapolis, Minn.
Clinton Square Theatre, Albany, N.Y.
Liberty Theatre, Buffalo, N.Y.

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Distributed through M.G.M. Exchange, Incorporated NATIONAL PRODUCTIONS Presents

The KENTUCKY COLONEL

by

OPIE READ

Featuring

JOSEPH DOWLING

"The Miracle Man of the Screen"

Produced by

NATIONAL FILM CORP. OF AMERICA

Distributed by

W. W. HODKINSON CORPORATION

Thru: PATHE' Exchange Inc.
Thousands have read and loved Opie Read's great book— it has been printed in every language and published in every country in the world. That alone insures ready made audiences.

Thousands have seen and loved Joseph J. Dowling upon the screen—as the Patriarch in 'The Miracle Man,' he created for himself a never-to-be-forgotten place in the hearts of the picture-going public.

The KENTUCKY COLONEL IS THE GREATEST SOUTHERN DRAMA EVER PRODUCED—and with the combined appeal of Opie Read's fame and Joseph J. Dowling's popularity behind it, must prove a sure-fire moneymaker for you.

IT IS THE TYPE OF PICTURE that DELIGHTS AUDIENCES and EXHIBITORS ALIKE

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PATHE Exchange, Incorporated
2,500,000 READERS of Hearst's magazine Applauded it.
Repeat Printings Demanded of the Publishers and now, better than the book, the screen version

A Benj. B. Hampton
Production
"The DWELLING PLACE OF LIGHT"
From the Novel by Winston Churchill
Directed by Jack Conway

with an all star cast including CLAIRE ADAMS, ROBERT Mc KIM and KING BAGGOT Book this picture and you book ready-made audiences!

W.W. HODKINSON CORPORATION
527 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Distributing through PATHÉ Exchange, Incorporated
Foreign distributor, J. FRANK BROCKLISS
Business of “Muffing” Perfectly Good Farce Comedy

Bryant Washburn in “A FULL HOUSE”
Paramount

DIRECTOR .................. James Cruze
AUTHOR .................... Fred Jackson
SCENARIO BY ........... Alice Eyton
CAERAMAN ................ H. Kinley Martin
AS A WHOLE ........ Poor handling of good farce; laughs come moderately in last two reels but first three are very slow

They “muffed” it

They “muffed” it

PHOTOGRAPHY .............. Good
LIGHTINGS ................. Good
CAMERA WORK ............. Satisfactory

They “muffed” it

STAR ............ Gives average performance; doesn’t get the opportunities he should have received

SUPPORT ................. Good
EXTERIORS ............... Good
INTERIORS ............... Very good
DETAIL .................. All right

Character of Story ........ Farce idea that hinges on a burglar and a newly-wed husband

taking wrong suit cases

Length of Production ........ 4,200 feet

Fred Jackson’s farce, “A Full House” did yoeman service on the stage, both in its original form and later as a musical comedy. Unhappily it isn’t at all likely to render such service on the screen. The plain fact of the matter is that the majority of its humorous posssibilities were “muffed” when it was made ready and produced as a picture.

While the stage piece started right off with laughs galore and kept up the pace through to the finish, the picture hardly produces a laugh until the fourth reel.
This is strange too, inasmuch, as the director was dealing with the same material during the first reels that went so well on the stage. It appears that he just failed to get into the spirit of the farce. Certainly the action lacks sparkle and spontaneity and there is small play made for the laughs lurking just beneath the surface.

The story has to do with George Howell, a young husband, who is forced to leave his bride of two days and journey to San Francisco, there to secure foolish letters written by one of his clients to a lady of commercial instincts. Having secured the letters after two days on the job he boards the train for home and has the misfortune to alight at Los Angeles carrying the bag of a burglar who has just turned a trick, instead of his own.

Ottlie, his wife, is suspicious over his long stay from home and opens the bag, there to discover her worst fears realized. Her husband is a crook! The best part of the action comes when the police get on the trail, being notified of the missing gems by the Howell maid. The crook returns to claim his loot and is kept in the house along with all the rest. There ensues a mixup of humorous proportions, after which the truth comes out.

Much was made in the play of the Howell maid and one of the policeman. These two characters were the ones around which much of the comedy centered.
Why they were not so treated in the picture is hard to understand. Certainly much could have been de-erived from the two characters in the way of comedy.

Bryant Washburn hasn’t much to do until the final reels in his role of George. Lois Wilson is a pretty Ottlie. Others are Lettie Williams, John Wild, Guy
Milham, Hazel Howell, Z. Wall Covington, Vera
Lewis, Beverly Travers and Frank Jenassen.

They’ll Have to Wait Three Reels to Get the Laughs
Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

If you think your audiences won’t mind sitting through three rather dry and uninteresting reels in order to get the laughs from two pretty good ones then “A Full House” will answer the purpose. Certainly, however, it fails to match up very well with several very good farce comedies recently put out by Paramount.

Advertising could carry out the suggestion of a play on the poker term carried in the title. Catchlines could be written around the exchange of suitcases on which all the trouble rests. “He was home with his wife after a two day absence which he couldn’t explain. She opened his suit case and discovered a burg-lar’s layout. And jewels stolen from one of her friends. This is the riotous situation on which “A Full House” is based. See it at .” An advertising argument on that order ought to appeal.
Pleasing Western with Well Sustained Climax

Joe Moore and Eileen Sedgwick in “LOVE’S BATTLE”
Climax Film Corp.—State Rights

DIRECTOR ................................... Not credited AUTHOR ...................................... Not credited
SCENARIO BY ................................. Not credited
CAMERAMAN .................................. Not credited
AS A WHOLE ................................. Moderately entertaining western with good comedy introduction

STORY ................................. Preaches against conviction on circumstantial evidence; pretty good suspense in climax sequence

DIRECTION ................................. Has some rough edges but the action is treated with good effect

PHOTOGRAPHY ............................ Satisfactory
LIGHTINGS ................................. Satisfactory
CAMERA WORK ............................ Average
STARS .................................... Very likable
SUPPORT ..................................... Satisfactory
EXTERIORS .................................. Western
INTERIORS ................................. Good particularly in regard to jail scenes

DETAIL ................................. Fair
CHARACTER OF STORY .................... Heroine’s efforts to free hero after he has been convicted for murder on circumstantial evidence

LENGTH OF PRODUCTION ............. About 4,500 feet

Joe Moore and Eileen Sedgwick who recently made their bow as co-stars in “The White Rider,” another state rights production, again have the principal roles in “Love’s Battle,” a western picture that, while not high class in the pictorial sense of the term, contains many pleasing moments and works up to a climax in which the suspense is quite well sustained.

The opening scenes are in the nature of very good comedy. Moore is introduced as a young hobo, Smiling Joe Wiley and the first scene shows him reclining in a hammock beneath a speeding freight car. His business in this bit and the subtitles are good for laughs. Subsequently Joe gets thrown off and lands at the feet of another hobo. This bit also gets over as good comedy.

They show some more good light stuff when Joe, hungry, pulls a fake holdup in the western restaurant and wins the admiration of all the cowboys. Later he is revealed as a full fledged westerner and soon after there is the usual scene in which he rescues the heroine, Kate, from a runaway horse and then beats up the villain. Of course these episodes mark the beginning of the romance.

The melodrama enters when the villain robs the bank and kills the cashier, successfully fastening the blame on Joe. He is convicted on circumstantial evidence and sentenced to die. Kate goes to the governor and begs for a pardon and discourses on the unfairness of circumstantial evidence. When the governor remains abdurate to all her pleas she tears her clothing, throws her arms around his neck and calls for help. The governor’s wife arrives on the scene as well as two policemen and suspect the worst.

This situation convinces the governor that circumstantial evidence isn’t always right. Then the sheriff arrives with the villain’s dying confession of the crime and there is the mad automobile dash to get to the prison before Joe hangs. The suspense of the climax is inclined to drop a bit here inasmuch as the telephone could easily have been used to notify the jail, while the director hasn’t built up the familiar situation in top-notch style.

The stars do very pleasing work, Moore showing to better advantage in his moments of comedy. In future productions more of this element might be introduced as he seems to be thoroughly at home in light episodes. Miss Sedgwick is appealing in her emotional scene with the governor and does good work throughout. Others are G. A. Williams and W. C. Fellows.

Some Exhibitors Will Find This Very Satisfactory

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

“Love’s Battle,” is a generally pleasing picture. A little more polish on its rough edges and it would measure well with the average westerns of the times. As it is, it ought to please the audiences of the smaller theaters and those whose policy is a daily change or a double feature program.

There is no reason why Joe Moore shouldn’t come up in the ranks of stars. A little more careful treatment and he would win a good following. He seems to have the comedy sense and his light scenes at the outset of “Love’s Battle” hit the mark nicely.

In advertising this you might build your arguments around the circumstantial evidence idea. Lines such as, “Should a man be convicted for murder on circumstantial evidence?” and “Should a man in an incriminating position be assumed innocent or guilty when the evidence is purely circumstantial?” could be used in working up interest in the theme of the picture.
A Disappointment after Former Successes by this Producer

"THE DWELLING PLACE OF LIGHT"
B. B. Hampton Prod.—Hodkinson

DIRECTOR ......................... Jack Conway
AUTHOR ......................... Winston Churchill
SCENARIO BY .................... William H. Clifford
CAMERAMAN ...................... E. J. Vallejo

AS A WHOLE ...... Not entertainment; depends on sensationalism and sex relations for its appeal STORY ...... Troubles of peoples and individuals both personal and impersonal offered for amusement DIRECTION ...... Handles mob scenes very well; generally good throughout
PHOTOGRAPHY .................... Good
LIGHTINGS ....................... All right
CAMERA WORK ................... Very good
PLAYERS ......... All fulfill requirements satisfactorily
EXTERIORS ..................... Adequate
INTERIORS ...................... Correct
DETAIL ......................... Entirely too much
CHARACTER OF STORY ...... All sorts of complications encountered, due to domineering and selfish will of one man
LENGTH OF PRODUCTION .... About 6,000 feet

Winston Churchill’s novel “The Dwelling Place of Light” should have remained in book form and never been attempted as entertainment on the screen. The public who know and appreciate good pictures, do not care to be deprived of the entertainment and amusement which they seek in the picture theater by having such material as this handed to them.

And the whole fault with the production is the story material. Notwithstanding the fact that technically there is little to be found fault with and the fact that the players all do creditable work, labor problems, here presented in a strike sequence which consumes at least two reels and another angle dealing with the wronged girl, “The Dwelling Place of Light” fails to present much that will be approved by the screen-educated public.

Director Conway deserves credit for the manner in which he has handled the strike sequence. These scenes are all thoroughly realistic and considering the number of people used and the general tone of confusion, this bit gets over very well. There are a couple of slip-ups, nothing serious, however, which may go unnoticed.

Janet Butler is secretary to Claude Ditmar, manager of the mills, and secretly admired by Ditmar, who is also carrying on an affair with Elsie, Janet’s younger sister. Ditmar begins to annoy Janet with his attentions and when Elsie is given enough money to leave town for a while, Janet learns her employer’s true character. Ditmar’s overbearing and headstrong personality causes a strike in the mills despite the efforts of Brooks Insall, Ditmar’s partner, who makes every effort to prevent it.

Janet leaves the mill and together with Insall, with whom she is falling in love, works among the strikers. The girl’s father is killed and her mother driven insane after she has attempted to kill Ditmar. Janet is suspected of the attempted murder and imprisoned. Insall proves the hero by securing Janet’s release and by rescuing sister Elsie from her sordid surroundings in the city where Ditmar had sent her.

The sight of Elsie restores the mother’s mind, Janet and Insall face the future together, while villain Ditmar is removed from his position as manager and Insall installed in his place.

The cast includes Claire Adams as Janet, Lassie Young as the sister, King Baggot as Insall, Robert McKim as Ditmar. Others are Ogden Crane, Lydia Knott, George Berrell, Beulah Booker, William Mong, Aggie Herring, Nigel de Brullier and C. B. Murphy.

You Can Get Them in All Right but They’re Not Going to Like It

Box Office Analysis for the Exhibitor

Even allowing for the fact that the production end of “The Dwelling Place of Light” is quite satisfactory, this latest Benjamin B. Hampton production cannot compare with his previous successes such as “Desert Gold,” “The Sagebrusher,” “The Westerners,” or the most recent “Riders of the Dawn.”

In the cheaper class houses where the more sensational and the more risqué the picture, the better they like it, “The Dwelling Place of Light” will find an appreciating audience. But in the better class theater where folks seek pleasant entertainment, such things as strikes, an unfortunate girl, attempted murder, dispossession, and other trials attending a strike, will not find favor. The author’s name and that of the producer mentioned in connection with his former successful productions should get them in if you’re not particular what they say after.
“STRIKING MODELS
WITH FAY TINCHER
EDDIE BARRY and the FOLLIES GIRLS

BRIGHT and breezy, “Striking, Models” will put “pep” into any program. All but the hopelessly selfish will send others to your theatre. Fay Tincher is at her sparkling best—a laugh a minute, a smile all through and complete satisfaction at the end.
The women will gasp with delight—and the men—there’s something for them.

A CHRISTIE COMEDY

IT'S an exceptional comedy as comedies go—but not for Christies—they have kept up a quickening pace of excellence since the release of the FIRST of the new ones.

If you do not know the wonderful pulling power of them drop into your best first run theatre—it is sure to be there—and see “Striking Models.”

Five previous releases have proven the quality of the New Christies. They have earned the biggest two reel comedy contract ever signed by the Rialto and Rivoli in New York. They've cut a swath of success across the nation.

Will each of these stand for an opportunity lost to you?

“KISS ME CAROLINE”—with Bobby Vernon
“A SEASIDE SIREN”—with Fay Tincher
“OUT FOR THE NIGHT”—with Eddie Barry
“SEVEN BALD PATES”—with Harry Gibbon

EDUCATIONAL FILMS
CORPORATION OF AMERICA
729 Seventh Ave. New York
Some Short Reels

"Grinning Granger"—Universal

It is to be regretted that the incident which forms the principal link in the chain of situations making up this two reel western starring Hoot Gibson is so hackneyed. It shows the principal regarding a gun dropped by the fellow who has shot and severely wounded another character. Of course, the sheriff arrives and lodges Gibson in jail. Eventually, as may be expected, he proves his innocence and is enabled to claim the dehorned Dorothy Wood, but the sudden manner in which his "proof" is accepted without doubt and the quick leading of Jim Corey, heavy, to the pen, in a slip-up on the part of the director, Ford Beebe and Maloney who produced this have included a few incidents which register well.

Bray Pictograph, No. 51—Goldwyn

Max Fleischer who is responsible for the "Out of the Inkwell" cartoons, which are frequently appended to these offerings, is credited with getting up the idea for the opening portion of this, called "If You Could Think." It consists of some enlarged views of common objects, a few shots taken so as to give the spectator an idea of how things would look if he were very small and a number of fairly interesting titles. While the material presented is unique, it lacks the quality necessary to enable it to hold attention for a great length of time and is not an ideal subject for more than half of a magazine production. The "Jerry on the Job" cartoon which follows is ridiculous without being funny. Of course, most caricature drawings depend largely upon the fancy of their creators to get laughs, but this time the humor is not very much in evidence and as a result, this is considerably below the usual standard set in the series.

"The Road to Ruin"—Goldwyn

Although a few funny comedy gags are included in this two reeler, it fails to register in very good style most of the time. Generally, it moves along at a fair pace, but it lacks the needed outstanding bits of humor to lift above the class of the ordinary. Flanagan and Edwards are the leading characters in the piece which has a bevy of maids who appear in negligible scenes. It all concerns a traveling theatrical troupe which visits a small town, the hardships of the company being satirized. One clever incident is that concerning the posting of the ban on board, but aside from that and a good touch at the finish, this does not register very solidly.

"It's a Boy"—Paramount—Mack Sennett

This proves to be one of the most pleasing of recent Mack Sennett comedies, inasmuch as John Harry Jr., the Sennett baby and Teddy, the dog, are seen in some thoroughly amusing and startling sequences. The bit where Teddy builds a step of boxes for John Henry to descend from his perch on the high shelf, goes well and the following scenes showing the dog drilling the baby along in a small chariot and then effecting his rescue from the water are very good. The other principal comedians are Billy Bevan, Lafe_MANY and their work is good for many laughs. The gags are not in such great evidence as usual although what is attempted registers well enough.

"The Flaming Disc"—Universal

Elmo Lincoln's admirers—those who followed his previous serial, will in all likelihood find this just as satisfactory, for it presents him in a dual role. The fact that the powerful Elmo plays two characters is unique and a decidedly novel serial feature. In his last episode drama, a two-ply part was essayed by Louise Lorrain, who is again his leading lady, but this time, Lincoln himself does the double stuff.

The surroundings and general character of this are similar to the previous offering with this star, the cast consisting largely of the same performers. Some excellent work is done by the principal and the action is fast enough to satisfy the craving of the deepest dyed-in-the-wool serial fan. A new lens of remarkable power is the object of the big battle this time and they carefully see to it that the two parts fall into the hands of different people and it is quite likely, if not certain, that most of the rest of it will concern the efforts of everyone to get the two halves of the desired object.

They have inserted several physical battles with the hero facing tremendous odds and usually proving quite capable of the task of subduing his numerous opponents. The double exposure scenes are certainly up to the mark, there being one shot of fair length showing Elmo seated on the legs of the character who plays his brother in the story—that is, himself.

Robert T. Hill directed, Phillip Hubbard wrote the story and scenario together with A. H. Gooden and Jerry Ash cranked the camera.

Direct your campaign at the Lincoln followers—promise them a serial up to the standard of his previous one—let them know he plays a dual role and you should be able to make the deals come your way. It isn't the most artistic serial made recently but it has the punch.

Another Chester Screenie—Educational

Opening another issue of the Chester Screenies is a portion entitled "They All Turned Turtle." It was taken in Florida and shows the manner in which the large amphipods are captured while in the water and on land. Titled in fine style by Katherine Hilliker, it maintains interest throughout, the material being worth while and the lettered matter enhancing its value. "Family Trees" as the second section is called, deals with totem poles and can also be depended upon to hold attention. Both parts of the offering are up to the desired standard and the reel is one of the better ones of the series.

"Too Much Overhead"—Chester—Educational

Americans are inclined to do much work indoors, whereas, in China, labor of a similar kind is done in the open. Chester bears out this fact with another reel titled by Katherine Hilliker and photographed by Charles Hugo. Various trades as appraised by the Chinamen are shown, threshing wheat, making paper, baking, washing clothes and other occupations all being taken up. As a rule, travel reels have a tendency to become monotonous but this one can be depended upon to hold the eye of the onlooker. Undoubtedly, this is one of the best pictures of its type turned out in some time.

"The Piledriver"—Realcraft

Hitherto, Billy Franey's one reelers have consisted almost entirely of slapstick comedy bits, with scarcely any plots running through them. In this, however, there is a distinct theme—a reason for everything that is done, and with some really humorous material, the offering is fit to go into almost any house. Charles Haeli and Charles Post, who play the two most prominent roles in the support of Franey, hold down their ends in fine style and this is probably the best reel of the series. In the opening scene, where Franey endeavors to swing a mailot at a "strength-testing" machine, there is one hilarious bit which is certain to get a laugh anywhere. Franey hits the proprietor on the toe after paying for his shot, and retreats. The manner in which he executes it is very funny and what follows holds up excellently. Some fault may be found with the photography which is not always very clear, but it is worth booking.
Owing to Marshall Neilan’s contractual relations with another distributing organization, Associated Producers, Inc. will not contract for any of his productions for future delivery until after the completion of this contract.
CLIMAX FILM Corp.

offer

JOE MOORE and EILEEN SEDGWICK

in a powerful semi-Western comedy-drama

Climax Film Corp.
729 7th Avenue, N. Y. C.
"The Greatest Emotional Production Of The Last Ten Years"

When you show "Madame X", feature that line in your advertising and exploitation. It is the truth.

At first-run showings of "Madame X" in San Francisco, Milwaukee and Washington D.C., audiences made no attempt to hide their emotions, and greeted the final wonderful climax with the perfect tribute—absolute silence, then wild applause.

And when a picture gets that kind of a reception, you can be sure that the records in the box-office reflect it in dollars and cents.

SAMUEL GOLDWYN PRESENTS
PAULINE FREDERICK IN MADAME X
ADAPTED FROM THE FRENCH OF ALEXANDRE BISSON
BY ARRANGEMENT WITH HENRY W. SAVAGE
DIRECTED BY FRANK LLOYD
Complaint Filed
Schulberg-Abrams Suit—Former claims Credit for "Big 4" Idea

The complaint has been filed in the Supreme Court in the suit of Benjami-named "Big 4" by E. Schulberg against Abrams for an accounting of

for Famous Players as an between them. It was agreed between them that George exchange of $10,000 for

Fairbanks, Chaplin and as mutual partners. Sharp such agreement was between Schulberg to push through a successful program and divide the profits.

and that he got the money by

of Famous Players stock. It and that it was agreed between him was incorporated by him and Abrams, al-in the enterprise, as contract was to be in the name to avoid $10,000 to George in connection with "Hearts of

and that he got the money by the same plan as that of Famous Players stock. It is, and in which they were engaged, in which they were engaged,

In (Continued on Page 2)

London Letter

By W. A. Williamson

The organization of an association for purchase and rental of films is being

or The Exhibitors Co-

Great Britain and

and Ltd. The founders are:

and C. A. Clegg, Victor

as is also known as

and Cleveland.

in order that the plain-

be free to engage in other

(Continued on Page 3)

Zellner, Karger’s Assistant

Arthur Zellner has been appointed assistant in the

in addition to the fact that Eastman

in the East for Yesterdays (September 12) all over the nation in a hundred cities a hundred prints were working full weekonds (and some for runs) on Thomas

H. Ince’s first Associated Producers’ special, “Homespun Folks”—Advt.

DEALS PLANNED

Efforts Being Made in Various Financial Circles to Bring About

Combination—Some Difficulties Encountered

During the past two weeks there have been at least a dozen efforts made by representatives of financial interests and executives of certain picture corporations to bring about a combi-

which would include a number of the more important

Because of various conditions existing in each of the con-

involved, no progress has been definitely made and present indications are that nothing will be done.

Representatives of the Du Pont interests, which control

Goldwyn, have taken an active part in these conferences.

Legal Fight

Between Loew and First National in

in Cleveland Under Way

E. Bruce Johnson of Associated

First National left for Cleveland on Saturday to confer with attorneys there regarding the legal battle under in that city with Marcus Loew.

Loew originally planned to take a First National sub-franchise but later reconsidered. He did, however, contract for three series of First Nat’s pictures, the Talmadge series, both

Norma Dodgers, and the Charles Ray series. When he did not take up the sub-franchise, however, it is First Nat’s claim that the contract reverted to the original sub-franchise holder in Cleveland.

A hearing on the case has been set for Sept. 20.

Settlement Reached in Albany

Albany—A meeting held on Friday, which was attended by the rep-sentatives of the local exhibitors’ organization and the operators, an agreement was reached whereby the wage scale contract which does not expire until Labor Day, 1921, is amended so as to provide for an increase in the wages of the operators of $1 a week.

A clause was also incorporated in the contract calling for arbitration of disputes which may arise in the future.

Harry Wallace Dead

St. Louis—Harry Wallace, manager of the Grand Opera House and the Rialto, died of apoplexy Wednesday of apoplexy. He had been ill but a few days.

Ask Eastman Denial

That Powers Stockholders Committee is Connected With That

Organization

Rochester, N. Y.—The Powers

Stockholders Protective Committee

which is investigating the operations of the Powers Film Products, Inc., has written a letter to the Eastman

Kodak Co. asking them to help connect the stockholders of the Powers company that Eastman has no connection with any members of the protective committee.

The idea of this is to dispel any doubts, which the committee say exist, that the committee members are attempting to deprive the value of the Powers Film Products, Inc., and make sure it is bought and thus stop all control of the company.

On Broadway

44th St. Theater—"Way Down East."

Criterion—Marion Davies in "The Restless Sex."

Capitol—Will Rogers in "Honest Hetch."

Strand—Lionel Barrymore in "The Master Mind."

Rialto—Constance Binney in "39 East."

Rivoli—Charles Ray in "The Village Sleuth."

Brooklyn Strand—Katherine MacDon-ald in "The Notorious Miss Lisle."

Astor—"While New York Sleeps."

Lyric—"While New York Sleeps."

Loew's New York—Today—"The Love Flower."

Tuesday—Dorothy Dalton in "Guilty of Love."

Wednesday—"The Law of the Yuk-on."

Thursday—"The Fall of the Saint."

Friday—"The Light Woman" and "The Secret Gift."

Saturday—Charles Ray in "The Village Sleuth."

Sunday—"The Hope."

Next Week

44th St. Theater—"Way Down East."

Criterion—Marion Davies in "The Restless Sex."

Capitol—"Earthbound."

Strand—Constance Talmadge in "Good References."

Rialto—Dorothy Gish in "Little Miss Rebelion."

Gray With Universal

Paul Gray has been engaged by Harry Berman of Universal to exploit "Shipwrecked Among Canni-bals" for that firm. It is understood that Universal intends exploiting the "Cannibals" picture on a large scale. Gray was with Hunt Stromberg at Selznick for seven months as an exploitation man and has since been doing special exploitation work.

House Changes

Houses Bought

South Haven, Mich.—Burlow Tipp bought Princess.

North Tonawanda, N. Y.—F. W. Zimmerman bought Oliver.

Binghamton, N. Y.—George W. King, Lyric, bought Laurel.

Lewiston, Idaho—Rolla Duncan sold Theatorium to Al H. Hilton, owner of the Paramount.

Duluth, Minn.—P. F. Schrewe is now general manager of the Duluth Theater Co.

Gonzalez, Tex.—R. S. Dilworth, Sr., bought Crystal from Remschel Bros.

Libson, D.—DeFord Henry, Jr., and C. P. Adamson bought Opera House.

Kent, O.—Palé and Nagel bought Opera House from Mr. and Mrs. Hanley.

Newport, Ark.—Mrs. H. Clay Sanders bought Madaline and will call it Sanders.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Charles J. Volf-mer bought Rialto from John Hodes.

Clinton, Mass.—Beauregard and Beauregard bought Strand.

Minneapolis, Minn.—F. F. Fairbanks has been appointed general manager of the local office of the American Film Co.

Sunday Shows for Blue Earth

Blue Earth, Minn.—Mayor Keut cast the deciding vote on the matter of Sunday shows recently when the City Council was unable to agree.

Complaint Filed

(Continued from Page 1)

film enterprises for the benefit both. He says Abrams hasn't counted for his share and also $2,000 is due him from the for rights to Mack Sennett's "Ya Doodle in Berlin."

Schulberg alleges that Abrams encouraged him to accept an offer to Morris Greenhill to sell "Saras-keen stock for the benefit of both and each advanced $1,500 for an interest in the production, "Among the Giants" but Abrams hasn't accounted to He alleges also that an accounting from "The Challenge" is in progress.

The complaint alleges that Abrams and Schulberg were to have a percentage of the profits of United artists for originating the plan and an accounting of the sums receiv-ed by Abrams from the corporation, also $10,000. Incorporators: Charles A. Nagol and the benefit of both and has not been reim-bursed.

Dennis F. O'Brien, of O'Brien, Malevinsky & Driscoll, attorney for Mr. Abrams, had no comment to make on the above..

Burns Leaves Johnson and Hope

Sammy Burns, who has been se-ing comedies for Johnson and Hope, has severed relations with the company and will form his own producing organization.

Incorporations

It does not require a big field to grow a large ear of corn, but it does require the right kind of seed. By the same token satisfactory box-office receipts require not a vast auditorium, but RITCHES POSTERS!

We Place Insurance for PARAGON FILMS, Inc.

(Receive this Space for Others)

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION IS WORTH A POUND OF CURE

Don't wait with your insurance problems. Tomorrow may be too late. Years of experience in the theatrical and motion picture field has enabled us to handle your problem with intelligence, dispatch and economy. May we prove to you how we can serve you better? Your phone handy.

We Have Insurance

80 Maiden Lane
Phone John 5495-5800
5447-5888

REUBEN SAMUELS
EAL INSURANCE DEPT

RITCHES LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y. Phone Chelsea 839

Monday, September 13, 1920

We Have an Unbelievable

The busiest little animal on the whole desert is— the gopher. Take a tip from him any time you want something— and gopher it.

—Watch for "SUNDOWN SLIM"

Quotations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Last</th>
<th>Bid</th>
<th>Asked</th>
<th>Sale</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Famous Players</td>
<td>73</td>
<td>73</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do pd</td>
<td>82</td>
<td>82</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. W. Griffith</td>
<td>15</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goldwyn</td>
<td>9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loew's, Inc.</td>
<td>20½</td>
<td>20½</td>
<td>20½</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triangle</td>
<td>5/16</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unit. Pct. Prod.</td>
<td>13%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World Film</td>
<td>4%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do 2nd pd</td>
<td>4%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Bryson City, N. C.—K. E. Bennett and associates to build.
You don't have to be married to apprize that this scene alone is a comedy in itself. "Don't Blame the Sto rk," a new Christie two-reeler.--Adv.

CHRISTIE COMEDIES

Plan Extensive Changes
Newport, R. I.—Several changes are underway for the Bijou, Lafayette and Opera House by the syndicate which has secured control of them and of which L. M. Boas is general manager. From $300,000 to $400,000 will be spent on the work.

Omaha Musicians Walk Out
Omaha, Neb.—Upon being refused a wage increase, local musicians have ordered a walk-out. The scale in effect up to the time of the strike was $52.50 for an orchestra leader and $35 for a musician. The new scale increased is $56 for a musician and $48 for a leader.

Hillsboro, Ill.—The Williams Theatre has been purchased by Fellis of the Fellis Theatre.

Chicago—Harry Scholl has been made manager of the New Mable.

Each house. After a conference with Samuel Gompers, Secretary Fern good of the national board of the musicians' union recently issued orders against the minimum requirement.

"Union moving picture machine operators and stage hands are employed in all Swanson theaters, the former having been granted a wage increase effective Sept. 1, which will cost each theater $750 additional per year. The operators and stage hands are not in sympathy with the position taken by the musicians.

"Notwithstanding the fact that admission prices have remained unchanged, and there is no disposition to increase them, theater operating expenses have increased from 100 to 200 per cent, in the last three years. Film rentals have reached staggering heights. It is not uncommon for $1,000 or $1,500 to be asked for a program feature product, while a year ago $250 or $300 would have been considered a high price. Other expenses have increased proportionately.

"In the light of these facts we believe that the public will be entirely in sympathy with the position we have taken.

"Swanson Theater Circuit.

"By W. H. Swanson.

Samuel Bldg. Opens in Atlanta
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Atlanta—The new Samuel Bldg., which houses Associated Prod., Metro, Republic, Select and United Artists exchanges, has been opened.

The building also houses the offices of the Southeastern Pictures Corp., which is Adolph Samuel's own exchange organization.

Walthall Goes to Texas
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
St. Louis—Wallace Walthall, for the past several weeks local manager for the Enterprise Distributing Corp., has left for Dallas, where he will travel. P. E. ("Pat") Collins, in charge of the booking department for Enterprise here, has been made manager.

New Release for C. B. C.

"The Victim" is a feature announced for early release for the independent market by C. B. C.

B. O. A.

BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION
That's what every picture ought to be.

THE TRUANT HUSBAND
is a B. O. A.

Being Produced by POCKET FILM CORPORATION

LLOYD B. CARLETON
Producing Director
Lloyd Carleton Productions

Director General
Clermont Photoplay Corporation

Next Picture
"BEYOND THE CROSS ROADS"
by Bradley King

UNITED SOCIETY OF CINEMATOGRAPHERS
formedly Cinema Camera Club
16th Floor Candler Bldg.
When you are in need of a
Cam eraman
Phone Bryant 6558

United States Supreme Court in New York City held that any labor organization can compel a theatre to employ its members. In a suit brought by the union against the theatre which was operating under the management of the syndicate, it was held that the union had a right to compel the theatre to employ its members.

In this case, the union sought to compel the theatre to employ its members. The theatre, however, refused to employ the members. The union then brought suit against the theatre, alleging that the theatre had not employed its members as required by the union's contract.

The theatre, on the other hand, argued that the union had no right to compel the theatre to employ its members. The theatre claimed that the union's contract was not binding on the theatre, as the theatre was not a party to the contract.

The court, however, ruled in favor of the union. The court held that the union had a right to compel the theatre to employ its members, as the theatre was operating under the management of the syndicate, which was a party to the union's contract.

The court's decision was based on the principle that a theatre is considered a 'trade' and is subject to the jurisdiction of the union. The court held that the theatre was a 'trade' and was subject to the jurisdiction of the union, as the theatre was operating under the management of the syndicate, which was a party to the union's contract.

The court's decision was significant, as it established a precedent for the right of a union to compel a theatre to employ its members. The decision was also significant, as it established a precedent for the right of a union to compel a theatre to employ its members, even if the theatre was not a party to the union's contract.

The court's decision was widely criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners. The decision was also widely criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.

The decision was also criticized, as it was seen as a threat to the rights of theatre owners, as the decision would allow unions to compel theatre owners to employ their members, even if the theatre owners were not willing to do so.
In the Courts

The Universal Film has filed an answer in the Supreme Court to a suit by Kin Hubbard. The defendant admits that an agreement was entered into between the parties on Aug. 1, 1919, and that the plaintiff furnished various compositions which were paid for and that the defendant later refused to accept further compositions. It is alleged that the plaintiff has received $2,300.

Mrs. May Dougherty Stuart, mother of Stuart Robson, has filed an answer in the Supreme Court to an action she has brought against Winchell Smith, Victor Mapes, Samuel French, Marcus Loew, John L. Golden and the Metro Productions over the Bronson Howard play, "The Henrietta," which has been revised by Smith and Mapes and is to be produced by Metro as "The Saphire." Mrs. Stuart alleges that under the will of Mrs. Howard, who authorized the revision of the play by Smith and Mapes, she is entitled to any income from the play during her lifetime. She says that Smith claims he bought the rights to the play for ten years for $15,000 from French, and she alleges that French sold it without her authority. French has since offered her a small part of the sale price she says, but she demands the entire $15,000.

Estelle Taylor of the Fox organization is back in New York after a short vacation in Wilmington.

London Letter

Continued from Page 1

London on Sunday last, Staurer is visiting the various provincial centers where Famous-Lasky have offices and will then make a tour of France and Italy.

A print of Herbert Brenon's first U.C.I. Italian production has arrived here. The picture is called "The Maid of Mystery" and features Marie Doro. It is of the melodramatic variety and the scenes include a motor boat chase through the canals of Venice.

Films traded during the past week were: American 16, British 6, Italian 1 and Swedish 1. The Lehman comedy "A Twilight Baby" was well received.

John Galsworthy has been screen-shy for some time in spite of very tempting American offers, has sold the screen rights of his play "The Skin Game," now running in London, to Anglo-Hollandia. Galsworthy is writing the sub-titles for this production and has stipulated that he stage players shall be cast for their original roles in the film. The cast includes Edmund Gwenn, Mary Chase, Athole Stewart, Meggie Albanesi, and Helen Haye.

Bryant Washburn gave a dinner last night to about sixty pressmen (reporters). Bryant has made a host of friends since his arrival here, and he wishes to place on record the fact that he is obtaining hearty co-operation everywhere. Last night's gathering included representatives of "The Times," Daily Telegraph," "Daily Mail," Evening News" and the leading trade and "fan" papers, and Bryant is assured of complete press-co-operation. The star's director, camera-man and electrician are over here, and he is getting his own lighting outfit. He is still looking for an English leading lady, and expects to get busy making camera tests of the possibilities in the course of a few days.

Herbert Frank has just returned from Switzerland, where he had planned to start his own producing company. Nothing definite has developed however.

Captain Lambert, well known in the states, directed for the Stoll for two months.

London Letter

Continued from Page 1

London on Sunday last, Staurer is visiting the various provincial centers where Famous-Lasky have offices and will then make a tour of France and Italy.

A print of Herbert Brenon's first U.C.I. Italian production has arrived here. The picture is called "The Maid of Mystery" and features Marie Doro. It is of the melodramatic variety and the scenes include a motor boat chase through the canals of Venice.

Films traded during the past week were: American 16, British 6, Italian 1 and Swedish 1. The Lehman comedy "A Twilight Baby" was well received.

John Galsworthy has been screen-shy for some time in spite of very tempting American offers, has sold the screen rights of his play "The Skin Game," now running in London, to Anglo-Hollandia. Galsworthy is writing the sub-titles for this production and has stipulated that he stage players shall be cast for their original roles in the film. The cast includes Edmund Gwenn, Mary Chase, Athole Stewart, Meggie Albanesi, and Helen Haye.

Bryant Washburn gave a dinner last night to about sixty pressmen (reporters). Bryant has made a host of friends since his arrival here, and he wishes to place on record the fact that he is obtaining hearty co-operation everywhere. Last night's gathering included representatives of "The Times," Daily Telegraph," "Daily Mail," Evening News" and the leading trade and "fan" papers, and Bryant is assured of complete press-co-operation. The star's director, camera-man and electrician are over here, and he is getting his own lighting outfit. He is still looking for an English leading lady, and expects to get busy making camera tests of the possibilities in the course of a few days.

Herbert Frank has just returned from Switzerland, where he had planned to start his own producing company. Nothing definite has developed however.

Captain Lambert, well known in the states, directed for the Stoll for two months.

The Talmades and Joe Scheff are here. Also Jack Pickford.

Harley Knoles is having a pleasant time on this dear old island. He is under contract with All. He is under contract with All.

Pathé's October Releases
Pathé releases scheduled for October are as follows:

Oct. 3—Geraldine Farrar in "Riddle Woman.

Oct. 10—"Forbidden Valley.

Stuart Blackton production.

Oct. 24—"The Devil to Pay," Robert Brunton production.

IT IS THE DUTY OF EVERY EXHIBITOR TO RUN A SLIDE LIKE THIS IN HIS THEATRE AT EVERY SHOWING UNTIL THE POLLS CLOSE TUESDAY NIGHT.

VOTE FOR
Senator
GEORGE F. THOMPSON FOR GOVERNOR
AT THE NEW YORK STATE PRIMARIES TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14

IT WAS THE THOMPSON BILL THAT MADE SUNDAY "MOVIES" POSSIBLE.
YOU CANNOT TELL WHAT MAY COME UP NEXT, SO MAKE SURE YOU HAVE A FRIEND IN THE GOVERNOR'S CHAIR.

(Written and paid for by a man in the motion picture industry who is a friend of our friend, Senator Thompson.)
A. P. in Canada

A. L. Hunter General Manager of Canadian Distribution

formation of Associated Produce Ltd., of Canada, to market the juction of the Asso. Prod. in the nation, was announced yesterday by F. B. Warren. John L. Hunter be Canadian general manager of distribution.

This means that the A. P. will own and operate its own exchanges with offices in Toronto and branches in Montreal and other Canadian cities. M. Cooper has been named assistant to Mr. Hunter and is on a trip in the Canadian provinces.

Brunet Pathe Head

and Brunet was formerly in the New York office of First National, where he was the personal representative of D. Williams, and the past year manager of the franchise department at First National. In this latter work he made an analysis of every city and town in the United States and established the ratings of the First National franchise and sub-franchise offices. One of the most thorough analyses of the organization that ever undertaken the industry.

Louise Glauin in "The Leopard Woman" has a bigger picture than her last great success. "Sex." It is the first spectacular J. Parker Read, Jr., production for release September 26 by Associated Producers, Inc.—Advt.

May Come East

Jesse D. Hampton May Make New Arrangement Calling for Eastern Production

Los Angeles—Just back from a trip to New York it would not be surprising if Jesse D. Hampton did not return to New York to set up headquarters there and produce in New York. Hampton was in conference here with a number of capitalists interested in foreign as well as American productions, and the syndicate is interested in stage productions as well. If the deal is concluded, Hampton will move his entire staff, including directors and department heads, to the East. He will return in a few weeks to New York to further discuss plans. Meanwhile the European trip of his Eastern representatives, H. E. Morton, will be held up.

Premiere of "The Stealers"

Robertson-Cole announce the premiere of William Christy Cabanne's "The Stealers" at the Hotel Astor grand ballroom on Friday night at 8:30.

Beaverbook Coming

Expected in New York Shortly with Nathanson of Regal—May See Zukor

Lord Beaverbrook, one of the most prominent publishers of England, whose film activities of late have caused much comment both here and abroad, is expected in New York almost any day. He will in all probability meet L. N. Nathanson of Toronto, of Regal Films, with whom he has spent some time in Canada. Beaverbrook has a large financial interest in the Canadian Famous Players' organization, and is expected to see Adolph Zukor while here. When Zukor was abroad Beaverbrook personally wrote a lengthy article relative to the head of Famous Players and it appeared in one of his publications.
Cuts and Flashes

Jimmy Toms has been appointed general manager of the Keeney chain.

Jean Copeland, formerly of Photo-play is preparing a special script for Metro in the east.

Dustin Farnum's first picture for Robertson-Cole will be "Big Happiness."

Julia Swayne Gordon makes her debut with Famous in Dorothy Dalton's "In Meus Eyes.

Educational has shifted the names of "Dynamite" and "Nonsense," two Mermaid comedies, and has made the former the earlier release.

June Elvidge, former star for World film is appearing in "FenceRunners" now being produced in the Metro eastern studios.

Bertram Burleigh, playing leads for Famous Players and on his way to Hollywood, arrived here on the Caronia.

The first Edward Jospe special production to be made for the Asso. Exhib., Inc., will be a mystery story written by Charles A. Logue.

Sanford Jarrell, of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, has joined Realart to handle publicity in the trade journals.

New Wage Scale

Price List for Lab. Workers
The new wage scale of lab. workers was issued yesterday by the National Association effective as of today. The scale follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>$34.50</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tiner</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negative cutter</td>
<td>33.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wooders</td>
<td>28.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spinners</td>
<td>28.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perforators</td>
<td>29.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loaders</td>
<td>29.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washroom men</td>
<td>27.25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Projection inspector</td>
<td>28.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dry room men</td>
<td>24.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negative polishers</td>
<td>24.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Positive polishers</td>
<td>19.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negative joiners</td>
<td>9.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Printers</td>
<td>25.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joiners</td>
<td>21.25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assemblers</td>
<td>21.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Door check clerks</td>
<td>18.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negative timers</td>
<td>8.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Positive timers</td>
<td>5.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negative developers</td>
<td>62.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Insp. developing room</td>
<td>52.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negative developer</td>
<td>47.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title cameraman</td>
<td>35.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Based on a 48-hour week.

Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhib. put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

Seattle, George C. Branhman, new house manager of the Liberty has found a convenient way of informing the patrons regarding the schedule of performances or the names of the players. He has had cards made 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches. At the top of these is printed "Liberty Theater," and on the next line, "Schedule of Performances." Below are three columns of dotted lines, on which are typewritten the starting times of the entire performance, the comedy and special, and the feature, respectively.

Each usher is kept supplied with these cards, and when a patron asks a question that is answered by them as above.

Tampa, Fla.—When "Up in Mary's Attic" was presented at the Alcazar, the front was decorated so as to resemble a Chinese laundry by Manager Kane. A special display of baby clothes hung on a line in the lobby and other adjuncts of the display all attracted attention to the house, good business resulting.

Some Showing

Reports tabulated by "Jimmie" Grainger of the Marshall Nellan offices show that of the 141 towns in the New Jersey exchange section "River's End" has appeared in 110 of them, and that in the Indianapolis territory of 112 towns the feature has played in 99 to date. On the coast of 175 towns possible in the Los Angeles territory 83 have so far shown the feature.

Grainger's work in tabulating records on this line is something new.

"The Silent Barrier" Sold for Australia
"The Silent Barrier" has been sold by Inter-Ocean for Australia.

For Rent

OFFICE SPACE
TILL SEPT. 19, 1922
2600 sq. feet—light and airy, 8th floor— excellently located on Broadway.

Apply at once
UNIVERSAL FILM CO.
1600 B'way, N. Y.

Among Exchanges

Chicago—H. E. Schothmel, B. Bates and McGarry have added to the Goldwyn sales force.

Cleveland—H. A. Bundy, manager of the local branch of Asso. Prod. temporarily located at 318 St. Bldg., awaiting the opening of Cleveland Film Bldg.

Butte, Mont.—A. W. Skoog has been placed in charge of the local universal exchange.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Newton D. and C. H. MacMillan have been added to the local Goldwyn sales force.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Joe Dedo has purchased an interest in the Actor A. Baier Film Co.

Omaha—W. E. Keller, former salesman here for W. W. Hodkinson, has been placed in full charge of that branch.

Chicago—Ben Reingold is coming Wisconsin territory for Gold out of the local branch.

La Crosse, Wis.—Mrs. Ern Geno and son, William purchased the Scenic from Charles DeRosed Building.

Kansas City, Mo.—Sol Jacks and J. C. Springer have been added to the Pathe sales force.

It takes fuel to get speed out of an engine and it takes RITCHLEY posters to get profits out of a photo-play!

RITCHLEY LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31ST S. N.Y. Phone Chelsea 3885

EDMONDS & BOUT B. INC.
Accountants
Specialists in Studio and Exchange Systems and Audi We Go Anywhere.

NEW YORK—HOLLYW. 3D
56 Pine St.
1645 Lafayette
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Woodward Bldg.
Coming Release:
"Officer 666"

HARRY BEAUMONT
Director

"SKINNER'S DRESS SUIT"
"SKINNER'S BUBBLE"
"SKINNER'S BABY"
"ONE OF THE FINEST"
"LORD AND LADY ALGY"
"THIRTY A WEEK"

"BROWN OF HARVARD"
"TOBY'S BOW"
"THE CITY OF COMRADES"
"GOING SOME"
"THE GREAT ACCIDENT"

A letter from K. C. B., New York American—

HARRY BEAUMONT
MOTION PICTURE Director
MY DEAR Mr. Beaumont.
A FEW days ago.
I SAW a picture.
CALLED "THIRTY a Week."
WITH OUR friend Tom Moore.
AND YOU bring with him.
A SOCIETY girl.
AND DRESS suit men.
AND WHATEVER they do.
YOU LET them do.
IN A sane sort of way.
AND WHEN you're all through.
WE LOVE Tom Moore.

AND WE love the girl.
AND WE love her dad.
AND WE go on out.
AND TELL our wife.
IT WAS some swell show.
AND WE don't know why.
TILL WE figure it out.
AND MAKE up our minds.
THE DIRECTOR man.
WHO DOESN'T believe.
THAT FOLKS who pay.
HAVE ROLLS of bills.
WHERE THEIR brains should be.
I THANK you.

Recent Release:
"Stop Thief"

Address, c/o WID'S DAILY, Hollywood Office
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 33
"FIGHTING DESTINY" with Harry T. Morey and Betty Blythe
PAUL SCARDON
Directed It
And also
"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND" with Blanche Sweet
Now directing BESSIE BARRISCALE

Have Southern Farm Films
The Department of the Interior has about 15,000 feet of film which deal with successful farming in the South. They will be shown at the county and state fairs.

Install New Setting
San Francisco.—A New Moorish setting has been installed in the Tivoli.

Plan Large Kenosha House
Kenosha, Wis.—J. G. Rhode, owner of the Rhode Opera House, will build a house costing $300,000.

No Pictures at Colonial
Albany.—The Colonial will not hold its usual winter season of motion picture productions this year. The stock company which has been playing to capacity business all summer in the house will be held over.

Manley on Tour
Edward Manley is making a tour across country in behalf of "The Stranger" and "Sky-Eye" for the Western Picture Exploitation Co.

Daniel B. Frederick Whitcomb master of scenario-craft adapted Albert Payson Terhune's
big Cosmopolitan story
"THE TRUANT HUSBAND"
for the screen
THE ROCKET FILM CORPORATION is making it into a NEW IDEA picture

Coast Brevities
Hollywood—Correcting a mistake sent out concerning "The Killer," Benjamin B. Hampton states that the director is Howard Hickman, not E. Richard Schayer as previously stated. Jack Conway is cast in the title role. Schayer wrote the continuity, and is learning picture directing under Hickman's tutelage.

James Morrison who made the trip from New York to Los Angeles to appear in "Sowing the Wind" with Anita Stewart will remain here to appear in "When We Were Twenty-One" for Jesse Hampton.

Phillip Kirby has been added to the Metro scenario staff at the Hollywood studios.

House Changes
Buffalo, N. Y.—John Stevens at Marlowe.
Plainfield, N. J.—Samuel Schwartz will erect a $275,000 house.
Wilmouater, Wis.—Harry J. Bryan at Palace succeeding Jack Yeo.
Birmingham, Ala.—J. H. Ayres at Lyric.
St. Paul, Minn.—Arthur B. White at Orpheum.
Hamilton, O.—Sam P. Broomhall to manage Jewel.
Jacksonville, Ill.—Chas. J. Vellmar has taken over the Rialto here. He was formerly manager of the Washington, Belleville.
Los Angeles—Earl Tait at Victory succeeding Arthur Wenzel.
Murphysboro, Ill.—James Marlowe at Hippodrome.
Forest, O.—Carl Moore bought star.
Philadelphia—Company headed by Amsterdam, Korsen and Cohen bought American for sum said to be $240,000.
Harper, Kan.—The Gem has changed hands. Mr. Robinson is now owner.

Judgments Filed
E. A. Chatterton has filed a judgment for $1,259.18, against Carlyle Blackwell.
A judgment has been filed against the Waldorf Photo Plays, Ltd., by M. J. Wohl & Co., Inc., for $919.
E. J. Beaumont has filed a judgment against Cinemaplay, Inc., for $122.82.

Aywon's Next Release
Aywn's next release will be "The Evolution of Man," in which the manape Jack appears.
Coming releases include "The Woman of Mystery" and "Thirty Years Between."

HERE passed a grizzly on its trail through the wilds, seeking its "Kill."
And you will see a score of other untamed forest "folk," each having a unique part in another novel and unusual picture of the open spaces

"Nomads of the North" from the novel of the same title by the famous writer
James Oliver Curwood
author of "Back to God's Country"
presented by
James Oliver Curwood
Directed by David M. Hartford

A First National Picture
Claim Process Rights

Famous Players Say They Have

Bought Wyckoff-Henschelge Color Patent

(By wire to W.D.'s DAILY)

Los Angeles—Famous Players-Lasky on Saturday filed a suit in the U. S. District Court seeking a restraining order against Max Handschelge, Special Pictures Corp., and the Wyckoff-Henschelge Co., alleging for an accounting for use of a process for the manufacture of colored films which has been patented in the name of Alvin Wyckoff and Max Handschelge.

The bill of complaint charges the patent rights were bought by the Famous Players-Lasky Co., for a valuable consideration and upon the claim that they therefore own the process and that the result of the process have brought suit against the three defendants named above.

Fleming in New York

Victor Fleming has arrived in New York from the coast to direct a new Emerson-Loos comedy in which Constance Talmadge is to star. Miss Talmadge is expected in New York from Europe on the Imperator, due here Oct. 3.

Hank Mann Comedies Held Up

(Results to W.D.'s DAILY)

Los Angeles—There will be at least one month's delay in the future production of Hank Mann comedies because of the illness of Mann, who is now at Yosemite recovering from a nervous breakdown.

The comedy unit has therefore been disband until his recovery, incidentally Mann, who is still under contract to Arrow Film, denies that he will make five-reelers in the fall.

Cabanne Series for R.C.

It is understood that "The Stealers," a Mr. Christ Cabanne special, for Robertson-Cole, is the first in a series of four which that director will make for the latter organization.

Fazenda Free

(By wire to W.D.'s DAILY)

Los Angeles—Louise Fazenda has completed her contract with Mack Sennett and it is understood that there will be no renewal.

It is reported that she will shortly sign with Special Pictures Corp.

Miss Fazenda will make a trip to New York shortly, making any more pictures, however.

---

Nat'l Asso. Election

Percy L. Waters Likely to be Named President at Today's Meeting

Late yesterday afternoon it appeared as if the ground was rather well laid for the election of Percy L. Waters of Tri-State to become president of the N. A. M. P. I. (Nat' Asso.), succeeding W. G. Brady. Mr. Waters is at present chairman of the Distributors Division Committee, and for years has been identified with the industry in various capacities.

A number of well known film men have been talked of for the post including Richard A. Rowland of Mel- ro and Arthur Friend of Famous Players. There has also been some talk of Charles C. Pettijohn or some other Selznick representative, but yesterday it looked as if the sentiment for Waters had definitely crystallized. Because of Pettijohn's understanding of the censorship and Sunday closing questions it would not be surprising if he was selected chairman of the Censorship Committee of the Legislative Committee.

Ballin's First

"Honourable Gentleman" to Be Distributed Through Hodkinson

Hugo Ballin has closed a deal with the W. W. Hodkinson Corp. whereby the latter will distribute "The Honourable Gentleman," the first picture which Ballin has made since the formation of his own producing organization.

The story was written by Ahmed Abdullah. Ballin will start on his second picture in about a week.

Mr. Hodkinson said yesterday that negotiations for a series of Ballin productions were under way and further than that he did not care to make any comment.

R. and F. Book Famous Players

Al Lichtman of Famous Players returned yesterday from a trip through the Middle West and reported the closing of a deal with Ruben and Finkenstein for the Paramount product for September, October and November in their 25 theaters in Minneapolis and St. Paul.
Putting It Over

Here is how a brother exhibitor put his show over. Send along your ideas. Let the other fellow know how you cleaned up.

According to Allan Dwan, the best ways of getting a message to a picture clientele, are attractive, expressive, definite advertising in daily newspapers and a systematic, dignified house-to-house canvas in the case of neighborhood theaters. The public according to Dwan has long been tired of superlatives and extravagant exploitation. He says, is not usually effective in theatrical exploitation because it is readily confused with numerous other commercial advertisements.

Omaha—Getting a press book story on the front page of a metropolitan daily under a 36 point, three column head on two consecutive days sounds like something that might happen when the millennium follows around and pre-Raphaelites are running the newspapers. This occurred here last week. The coveted brown derby goes to Edward Holland, Manager of the Mutual exploitation representative who engineered the feat for the promotion of R. A. Wash's "The Deep Purple" which played at the Sun and Mute Theaters.

The press book story that annexed the world's most expensive white space was Detective William J. Badger, the manager of the Badger artists who wrote her after viewing "The Deep Purple" and which included a tribute to the Walsh picture as a medium for fighting this nefarious form of extracting kule from the adventure male. Under a three column head, the first story occupied 15 inches and the ink cost him $20 in the Omaha News. The story was concluded the following day in the same position occupying 15 inches of space under a thirty-six point head.

Another phase of Holland's campaign on "The Deep Purple" that registered at the Sun and Mute box office was a teaser drive conducted via the newspapers. Three days before the opening Omaha femininity was confronted with this puzzling question: "Girls! Why Do Men Bred in 'The Deep Purple' make the best husbands?" Call (Theater telephone number). The following day the men got something to think about when the ad appeared, "Employers! Did You Ever Stop to Consider that Men Bred in 'The Deep Purple' make the most trustworthy employees?" Call (Theater telephone number). Curiously enough, the face of the traditional feline and nearly had the same effect on the box-office girl who was worn to a frazzle answering the phone calls of the curious-habit people who responded to the ads.

Proper Insurance Means Protection

YOUR BUSINESS—AUTOMOBILE, HOME, STAR—YOU YOURSELF—NEED INSURANCE.

Take precautions against insufficient insurance. A $500 or 10,000 limit does not adequately cover your auto. Ask us why—and we will tell you.

Try Out Sunday Performances Crawfordville, Ind.—Sunday who were given a thorough trial at Joy and Strand, where all who wanted to attend were admitted free, were given an opportunity to make silver offering.

Have Automobile Danger Film Baltimore, Md.—Houses thrown out the state are showing the "Making for Every Business" thru Automobile Commissioner and showing the dangers of the methods employed by some drivers.

Form Social Film Organization Baltimore, Md.—The Screen Club of Baltimore, a social organization recently formed, is now boasting of 40 members. Members of all branches of the industry are eligible for membership. Arthur M. Price, manager the Aurora, Rialto and Blue Mo, and have been named temporary chairman and Jack Whittle as acting treasurer.

Ban "Wicked" Entertainment Franklinton, N. C.—A census board of three, two women and man, has been selected by the local folks to see that none of the doings and temptations of the outside world are unfurled before the eyes of the local residents. A vaudeville act of questionable nature and mottled pictures would be asked to be deleted from the entertainment.

Increase Price of Stock Alamosa, Cal.—At a recent meeting of the Floyd Fairyland Film Co. it was decided to increase the price of the shares from $1 to $2. Why it has been begun on a western first production of the concern.

Plan to Oppose Sunday Films Philadelphia, Pa.—Rev. Wiley B. Forney, who is one of the leaders of the anti-Sunday-night battle being waged, has declared that many labor and civic organizations would also oppose Sabbath performances in this state.

RITCHEY posters are great posters simply because great profits accrue from their use.

RITCHEY
LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St., N.Y., Phone Chelsea 8358
Coast Brevities
(Special to Wide's Daily)

Hollywood—Maurice Tourneur and his company of $50 have returned to Universal City after spending three weeks in the mountains filming scenes for his initial Associated Producers production, "The Adventure of the Maltesians," by James Fenimore Cooper.

Hollywood—The titles of several Universal features have been changed since being placed in production. "Black Friday," starring Frank Mayo, is now called "The Marriage Plot." "Kate Plus Ten," starring Ewa Novak will be known as "Wanted at Headquarters." "Out of the Sky," in which Gladys Walton and Jack Perrin are featured has finally been titled "Pink Tights."

"The Art of Diving," a slow motion picture just completed by Annette Kellerman, which was made by the new Chal Process, shows Miss Kellerman doing a series of swimming strokes and dives. The subject will be released by the Western Pictures Exploitation.

"The Leopard Woman," starring Louise Glauin, J. Parker Read, Jr., initial Associated Producers release, has been completed. The picture is an adaptation of Stewart Edward White Novel of the same name.

Sir James M. Barrie's novel, "What Every Woman Knows," is to be filmed by Famous Players-Lasky. Van Vechten is the director, and production is to begin with a few weeks.

Production of "The Fortieth Door" which was to be Charles Hutchison's second Pathe starring vehicle, has been started at the Brunton studios. It will be a 15 episode picturization of Mary Hastings Bradley's novel of the same name.

Erich von Stroheim has given him the role of a demon in human form in his third Universal feature, "Foolish Women."

Production of Madame Doralinda's first Metro starring picture again has been resumed at the company's West Coast studios after a delay of two weeks in completing the supporting company.

"Rings and Things," a human tale from the pen of John A. Morosco, soon will go under production as Viola Dana's next starring vehicle, according to a statement of Bayard Veiller, chief of Metro's West Coast story producing department. Dallas Fitzgerald will direct. GAUSMAN

Incorporations

Wilmington, Del.—Asso. Photoplays, Inc. $75,000. T. L. Croteau, S. E. Dill and A. M. Hooven of this city, incorporators.

Wilmington, Del.—Village Theater Co. Wm. A. Horn, Nettie F. Tappan and Albert F. Polk, incorporators. To conduct places of amusement.

Louisville—Big Feature Rights Corp. Capital, $5,000. Incorporators, Lee L. Goldberg, Sam J. Levy and George Starkey, Jr.

San Francisco, Cal.—The Western Theater Supply Co. Capital, $50,000. L. G. Dollier, G. C. Ringole and H. S. Smith, incorporators.

Albany, N. Y.—The Filmoil Corp., Manhattan. Capital $100,000. The shareholders are: L. Wyszatucki, S. Sweet and Vincent Carnivale, 136 East 17th St.

Sacramento, Cal.—Argonaut Film Co., of San Francisco. $500,000. R. C. Foerster, H. A. Judy, H. R. White, W. V. Gom and P. Langley.

Kaiser With National Picture National Picture Theater announces the appointment of W. A. Kaiser as special sales representative. He has been assigned to the Middle West territory.

Frisko Has All-Night Show
San Francisco—The Edison is open all night, shows being presented from 10:30 P. M. to 4 A. M.

Killed in Auto Mishap
San Francisco—Russel E. Smith, manager of the Miles Bros. cartoon department, and W. H. Vredenburg, a solicitor for the firm, were both killed when an auto in which they were traveling plunged from a road to a creek below.

McCann Returns to San Francisco
San Francisco—J. C. McCann, superintendent of theaters for Turner and Dahken, has returned from a seven week stay in Los Angeles.

Detroit Houses Open
Detroit—The La Salle Gardens and New Kramer, each seating about 2,000, opened. Bert Williams is managing director of the former, while the latter is being handled by M. S. Bailey.
Educator Joins Films

Dr. J. A. D. Scherer, President of the California Institute of Technology, With Famous Players

Dr. James A. D. Scherer, president of the California Institute of Technology, has resigned his position to sign a long-term contract with Famous Players. This is believed to be the first instance of a man of eminence in educational circles forsaking his profession and entering the film industry.

The contract with Dr. Scherer carries with it the acquisition of the film rights to all his published works and whatever original plays he may write. The published stories acquired include among others "The Light of the World," "The Drama of the April Dawn" and "Love at Sea."

Dr. Scherer is best known, however, as a college executive and writer on economic subjects. He is an authority on Japan.

Dinner to Mason Tonight

A dinner will be given tonight at the Claridge in honor of Lesley Mason, editor of the Exhibitors' Trade Review, who returned recently from Europe.

Paul H. Cromelin is chairman of the committee in charge and Bert Adler is associated with him. Among the speakers will be Arthur Brisbane, William H. ("Big Bill") Edwards, Byron Trott, and a number of well-known film men.

Tickets can be secured from Bert Adler, 140 W. 42d St.

Harvey Horater of the Pantheon, Toledo, is expected in town for the dinner.

Denig Promoted

Lynde Denig has been appointed assistant director of publicity at Goldwyn, next in line to Howard Dietz.

"Mitch" Lewis left for California yesterday after a short stay in town.

At Broadway Theaters

Criticism

"The Restless," a play by John Elton, at the Criterion.

The setting for this play, designed by Edward J. Sargent, is a pretentious, somewhat artificial one. The play is not overdrawn, but has much to do with the setting of the scene. The story is well told and the second number is entitled "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The music is composed of various popular, all set to a new tune.

A dreamSCAPE OF FLOWERS.

The Strand

The popular favorites from "The Firefly," have been arranged in overture form and are a pleasant variation of the usual operatic selections. Following the overture the locale in "Gambit M astrology. The Strand Topical Review is of unusual interest because it is the first to be produced in the Strand Theatre, with a new stage. The Strand has a number of well-known comic and dramatic artists, including the well-known "Dancing Man," who are now under contract to the Strand.

Rivoli

The high spots of this week's bill are the comedy, "Fiddlehead," by the late Ray Monn, picture "A Village Street," and the new musical "Detective." Both numbers register in fine form.

Capitol

The Capitol program is this week headed by the "Louis SOl and company, while running him a close second as comedy hon. is Harold Lloyd in "Get Out and Get Under." These two comedians have headed the Capitol bill before and after the contract, and are still as popular. However, the last fifteen minutes of the picture were not quite up to the mark. The other features of the bill are the "Kilroy" and the "Marauder." The latter is a fine melodrama, and the former is a musical comedy. The Capitol is the best of the three.
BLACK'S METHODS

Of Theater Activities Described by New England Exhibitors to Committee of 9—Federal Trade Commission Representative Present—Salisbury Promises “House Cleaning” in Behalf of Famous Players

That Adolph Zukor and Famous Players would not countenance the actions of Alfred S. Black, in whose theater concern they have a financial interest, was insisted upon yesterday by Henry L. Salisbury, who appeared at the open hearing of the Investigating Committee of 9 at the Hotel Astor yesterday morning.

Salisbury's statement came at the end of the hearing after a number of witnesses had described in detail the "coercive and threatening methods" pursued by Black and his representatives in securing theater properties in small towns through New Hampshire and Vermont.

Salisbury, who declared that Famous Players had spent $100,000 in the past six months in an effort to clean things out, admitted that they had a financial interest in the Black theater chain. He also declared that within the next three months they intended to use "carbolic acid as a disinfectant to further clean house."

The committee met in executive session later to determine when the next meeting will be held.

Noted in the room where the session was held was one of the representatives of the Federal Trade Commission.

Senator James L. Walker, who acted as attorney for the M. P. T. O., opened the session, saying the purpose in calling the investigating committee to session were the numerous complaints received against "one Alfred S. Black," complaints which Walker termed "practices amounting to coercion."

A promise was held out that when the committee meets again—and another meeting will be held to act on the testimony which was submitted yesterday—charges of "a more serious nature" will be submitted. "No mention was made as to who," Walker had "refer" to.

The meeting was presided over by C. F. Peters of Texas, whom the committee members had selected as chairman. The members of the committee were H. C. Varner, North Carolina; H. C. Brown, New Hamp...
Wants Film Control
Catholic Priest Thinks Pictures Are Dangerous to Minors
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Washington—Strict regulation of all kinds of public amusements are advocated by the Rev. J. W. R. Maguire of St. Vior College, Bourbonnais, Ill., who spoke before the National Conference of Catholic Charities. He stated that many pictures were considerably more dangerous to the young people than dime novels.

Teresa O'Rourke, president of the League of Catholic Women of New York City, also spoke along the same lines.

"The desire to become a stage heroine or movie star, to be put on the screen, perhaps, for the inhabitants of her own small town to see her," said Miss O'Donohue, "the wish to be admired and applauded, all act as the inducement which leads many girls to desert and abandon their homes."

Offering Christie Re-issues
The Film Publishers Corp. is the name of a new company with offices in the Candler Bldg. A series of 16 Christie Comedies with Betty Compson and Billie Rhodes are ready for release.

It is also planned to distribute independent productions. Charles Simone is general manager.

Big Film Junked
The Associated Press reports that the British Government has destroyed a special film which cost $117,000 to produce and which was made under the War Department Pathe and designed to show the English people what would happen to Britain if the Germans had succeeded in invading the island.

The picture was destroyed after the armistice because it was deemed advisable to exhibit it in peace times.

Sell More Right on Levey Film
"Uncle Sam of Freedom Ridge," produced by Harry Levey, has been sold to A. A. Millman, 1230 Vine St., Philadelphia, for Eastern Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey, to the Major Film Corp. for New England, and Empire Film Exchange, Chicago, for territory.

To Travel With Film
Bruce Gordon, who is featured in "The House of the Telling Bell" and "Forbidden Valley," two Blackton productions released through the Majors Film Corp., has been engaged to tour the country and make personal appearances in conjunction with the two pictures.

Garson Offices Ready
The office of Garson Prod., the new producing unit which will make a series of Clara Kimball Young productions, has been opened at 3 E. 44th St.

Experience is a great teacher,—and the more experienced an exhibitor is the more likely he will be to insist upon having..
BLACK'S METHODS

Weid's Daily

Wednesday, September 16, 1920

BLACK'S METHODS

Continued from Page 1

Fred Seegert, Wisconsin; W. A. Jordan, Illinois, and J. T. Colker, Jersey, were the first witnesses. He said that he had been making loans to the business there for two years and was asked by a man named Harwood in April, 1920, to ask them to send him $600 and he would send $200 out. Harwood said, claimed to represent a circuit. He gave no name at time but said the organization was from 70 to 90 houses and could not be put out of business if he didn't pay in putting in another house in the future. Harwood offered him $5,000 admission, $500 rent. When the circuit had been closed for six weeks, the price to raise the price to $300.

Bean informed him that he would not sell his town to think it over and a week later he asked if he had changed his mind. It was said that he represented the last town of two that had a $5,000 million dollars to put you out of business. He showed no credon't know what the house had sold cost him and what his film cost. He told Harwood that he was a "marked man" for Famous Players and that his name was written in red in the Boston office. His house, only 49 seats and the entire population is 2,200. Although a valuation of $5,000 on the town, Harwood offered him $500 a year rent. He added several weeks ago Harwood told him of a town that he was going to put Famous Players pictures in and sell them. He said that he originally had arranged with the selectmen of the town to show pictures in the town hall and that Harwood told them that he had bought out the entire population of the town. He produced a copy of the Messenger dated May 6, which contained an item under "Per-doing grassy through the untamed forests of the far north, on the trail of its prey.

The Tracks

One of the many

Wild Animals

to be shown in another thrilling picture of the open spaces

"Nomads of the North"

from the novel of the same title by the famous writer

James Oliver Curwood

author of "Back to God's Country"

presented by

James Oliver Curwood

Directed by David M. Hartog

A First National Attraction

(Continued on Page 4)
DO YOU REMEMBER—
No. 34

"BEATING THE ODDS"
with Harry T. Morey
and Betty Blythe

PAUL SCARDON
Directed It

And also

"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"
with Blanche Sweet

Now directing

BESSIE BARRISCAL

Larson Here

T. E. Larson, of the Peacock Prod. Oklahoma City is in New York, Stopping at the Claridge.

Sloan Pictures Dissolve
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Albany—The Sloan Pictures Corp. has filed notice of its dissolution.

Bebe Daniels Finishes Film
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Los Angeles—Bebe Daniels has completed "Oh, Lady, Lady" at the Restart studio, Major Maurice Campbell directed the film which is a screen version of the play by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse.

Theaters Forced to Close
(Special to WID'S DAILY)
Portland, Ore.—The Theatrical Federation has received word that two of the Jensen & Von Herberg theaters in Butte, Mont., and one each in Everett and Bremerton, Wash., have been closed, presumably because of lack of patronage from the strike.

Thomas N. Heffron,
dean of directors of the West Coast, and member M. P. D. A., staged

"THE TRUANT HUSBAND"
for the Rockeff Film Corporation and got the best picture of his honorable career

Gov't Offers Aid
Labor Dept, Seeking to Adjust Sit-uation Between the Building Trades Council and the P. T. O. Association
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Authorization for the intervention of Department of Labor conciliators to bring about an amicable renewal of wage agreements between employers and 5,000 employees in studios here which expired yesterday has been made by Senator Kerwin, chief of the bureau of conciliation, according to Washington dispatches received here.

The action has been taken, the dispatch states, after conciliation negotiations that expiration of the agreements affecting building trades council, theatrical employees, and the Motion Picture Producers' Association might bring about complete cessation of work in the studios unless an agreement was reached:

While the action of the conciliation bureau at Washington might have been taken as a precautionary step, the anticipation is that expiration of the existing wage agreement, local representatives of both employers and producers cannot understand the notification that any cessations of work or disagreement over new wage scales was imminent or even contemplated.

P. A. Wright, secretary of the local building trades council, said that most of the studios have already voluntarily agreed to conferences of 1 day over the present scale. The increase is to apply to practically every craft employed by the studios, including stagehands, gaffers, electrical workers, plasterers, etc.

"So far as we know," said Wright, "there is no disposition that might bring about any cessation of work in the studios."

"I know of no reason that might necessitate Federal intervention over the wage scales or in connection with the new wage scale which the studios have already voluntarily conceded," states W. J. Reynolds, secretary of the Motion Picture Producers' Association. "No demands have been presented by representatives of the various crafts and the apparently accepted increased scale will go into effect immediately on the expiration of the existing scale that has been in effect for the past year."

The local commissioners of conciliation for the Department of Labor, E. P. Marsh and Charles T. Connell, have taken steps, however, to prevent any conflict of representatives of the studios and their employees relative to the new wage scale. All other communications from these officials to the building trades council and the Motion Picture Producers' Association.

Black's Methods
(Continued from Page 3)

Los Angeles—Black by his brother, James Black of 100 Broadway, New York, but that in December last a ten million dollar corporation was formed in which Famous Players-Lasky Corporation holds an interest. October his understanding was that Black owned about 40 houses, all of which were playing Paramount pictures on a percentage basis. This concern, named Boland, who served as Black's architect, told him that Famous was interested in Black's activities but said he had not yet taken the step. Three of these were finally obtained by Black but that Black "killed" over the prices which he had arranged and which he considered fair for the purchase of the properties.

He said that Black had obtained the option on the Dodge property at Morrisville by claiming to have an option on a piece of property when as a matter of fact he didn't have it and he used this as a club to secure the option on the property used by Dodge. When he left Black's employ he said that the number of houses he had grown to 70.

One of the points which Black used to advantage according to Eames in dealing with exhibitors was representation that as president of the Exhibitors League he was dealing with them for their best interests and pointed out that exhibitors' business was increasing. Eames said that he couldn't use the figures because of the appearance of force that might result from the manipulation. Black made a common point, however, that he could purchase film at one-half the price of the small exhibitor.

Boland had told him that he had plans drawn for town every in England and at first Eames believed this, but later he came to know that Eames was informed of this for the effect that it would have upon his dealings with exhibitors.

He declared that while he was an exhibitor he had purchased a coal salesmen named Merchant, in the employ of Famous, of which he had on a piece of property in the town and that four days later, by peculiar coincidence, Black secured the property. It was his impression that all Famous Players salesmen were cooperating with Black as was Merchant. He declared that Boland had told him that Black would have houses in every community and that he intended to operate "another Woodworth."

At the conclusion of his testimony Senator Walker asked Eames as well as all other witnesses whether he would make an affidavit to their testimony, and all said they would.

Exhibitor Bean, recalled, also told of the architect's evidence to the effect of the important to the various theater properties in New England.

An affidavit was presented from Small Brothers, of the Westmore Theater, Peenecock, N. H., who said that when Black tried to buy his house that he threatened him with loss if he couldn't secure film service, etc.

Senator Walker, in concluding, informed the committee that the in-
Forging Wires

Last Phase of Fight Against Famous Players in West—Denial From Alleged Signer

The propaganda opposition to Famous Players has developed in Denver.

Someone out there has been sending forged telegrams concerning illegal activities of Famous in buying theaters. To thoroughly investigate this, Henry L. Filby of Famous will leave next

The situation developed about a week ago when, in an effort to close the estate of a former exhibitor of famous, George Graves, efforts were made to have Famousplayers in financing the theaters. Subsequently the following telegram was issued at Famous Players:

Denver, Colo., Sept. 8

Iph Schulberg to Famous Players-Lasky Corp., N.Y.

Mr. Sir: At a meeting of the Mountain Screen Club held last night and consisting of the exhibitors of these four states, Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah, I was directed to

(Continued on Page 4)

Federated Meeting Sunday

Dated Film Exchanges of the Exchanges will hold a meeting in connection on Sunday.

Denial from Black

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Boston—Regarding the testimony submitted to the Investigating Committee of 9 of the D. P. O. of the World's hearing in New York, Alfred Black says:

"All important statements are being distorted and untrue, I have never even heard Harwood and have never met Elliott Bean or Harold B. Beall.

I am preparing a full and accurate statement in refutation of all testimony submitted."

Advance proofs of the detail account of Wednesday's session at the Astor, as published in this paper, were forwarded to the P. O. by Black Wednesday night, viewing any comment that might care to make.

After "The Kid"

Number of Distributors Said to Be Dangling After Chaplin's Five Reeler

It was reported yesterday that a number of the larger and more important distributors were trying to make an arrangement with Charlie Chaplin to release his five reeler, "The Kid."

It is understood, however, from First National officials that under the terms of his contract that the First National have the right to solely distribute his productions until the contract is fulfilled.

Cohn Files Suit

Jack Cohen, who was one of the defendants in the unsuccessful suit of "Babe" Ruth for an injunction restraining the exhibition of "Over the Fence" and "How 'Babe' Ruth Hits His Home Runs," filed a suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against Ruth, the Yankee Photoplay Corp. and Kessell and Bauman for $100,000. He alleges the same grounds as those in the suit of Educational Films in which $250,000 was demanded.

Rubens Finishes

Alma Rubens has completed her contract as a featured player with Cosmopolitan Prod.

The contract ran for one year.

"The Power of God"

Maurice Masterlack's story for Goldwyn will go into production as soon as the continuity is completed. It is titled "The Power of God."

MacDonald Co. Reorganized

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—B. P. Fineman has been named vice-president and general manager of the reorganized Katherine MacDonald Pictures Corp. Fineman succeeds Sam Rork, who, as noted, has formed a producing organization with Eugene Roth.

B. P. Schullberg of the Attractions Distributing Corp., which handles the Katherine MacDonald pictures, verified the above yesterday.

Another Meeting

The Investigating Committee of 9 of the M. P. T. O. will meet again in about 10 days. The meeting will be held in New York.

Abrams Sailing

Hiram Abrams sails for Europe on the Aquitania on Tuesday for a trip of several months' duration.

It is understood that Abrams' trip is relative to the European distribution of the United Artists product which is in the hands of Morris Greenhill.

Dennis F. O'Brien, as noted, will also leave for Europe shortly.

Hiram Abrams, who was recently sued by Benjamin P. Schullberg for an accounting of an alleged partnership between them relating to United Artists and other enterprises, sued Schullberg in the Supreme Court yesterday for $5,000 on a note due Sept. 13.

Smallwood Coming East

(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Ray C. Smallwood has completed his contract with Metro and left for New York Wednesday.

It is understood that Smallwood will direct the next two pictures which Nazimova will make for Metro.

Headin' Eastward

Thomas Meighan and Director Tom Forman will leave Hollywood tomorrow for New York, where the former will work in a new picture, the title of which is as yet unannounced, under Forman's direction.

George Baker Prod.

George D. Baker, when he completes his present picture for Cosmopolitan Prod. in about six weeks, will branch out as an independent producer. The George Baker Prod. are now being incorporated. It is understood that a western theater owner is the financial backer of the new venture.

Baker will make four productions a year in the East. It is understood that he now works on a picture-to-picture contract basis with International Financial Co.

Romance, passion, intrigue, scenic splendor and panoramic lavishness. All are responsible for the success of Louise Glanum's first J. Parker Read, Jr.'s production, "The Leopard Woman." Released by Associated Producers, September 26.—Adv.

"The Power of God"

Maurice Masterlack's story for Goldwyn will go into production as soon as the continuity is completed. It is titled "The Power of God."
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID’S DAILY)

Hollywood—Two new comedy directors were added to the list of Universal producers this week; James Davis and Vin Moore.

Hollywood—As soon as Eva Novak finishes "Katie Pesk Tea," she will begin work on "Out of the Sunset," an island romance by George Rix, now being put in scenario form for Philip Hurst.

Milton Markwell, West Coast representative of Monroe Salisbury, while the star is in New York, has announced that, "Practise What You Preach," will be the name of the second production to be made by the Monroe Salisbury players. It is being adapted from the story, "Ethel of the Mountains," by Sarah Waters.

Marshall Neilan last week shot the final scenes of "Dainty," his newest production for First National release, in which little Wesley Barry makes his debut as a star.

Active work has been started by King Vidor Prod. on "The Sky Pilot," Ralph Connor's big novel of the Canadian Rockies. It is Vidor's third independent production and the first to be filmed at his recently completed Hollywood studio.

Upon the completion of "The Veiled Mystery," the first production in which he has served in the dual role of star and director Antonio Moreno plans to make a tour of Mexico, taking with him the new Vitaphone serial.

Director Lloyd Ingraham is right in the midst of the "shooting" of "Lavender and Old Lace," the first of Myrtle Reed's novels to be produced as a photoplay. This best loved story of the gifted novelist will be followed on the screen by "Paris in the Spring," with the company including Marguerite Snow, Seena Owen, James Cagney, Lillian Elliott, Victor Fruitel, Zella Ingraham and Louis Beminson.

For the first time a movie stunt man will go over the Yosemite Falls for the "Sage Hen," starring Gladys Brockwell. The drop is 128 feet.

Franklin Farum's next production for Selig will be "Hunger of the Blood." Will C. Beale wrote the story while William E. Wing furnished the scenario.

King Vidor announces the appointment of M. A. Vanderlyn as art director.

Maurice Tourneur predicts that within ten years nearly every school will be using films to teach many subjects.

Philip R. Do Leix, cameraman, has signed with Maurice Tourneur and is now making "The Last of the Mohicans.

Myrtie Stedman, who has just finished the lead opposite William Hart in "The Whistle," is now being featured in the Goldwyn all-star production, "The Concert."

Harry Revier, director of "The Son of Tarzan," has returned with his company from the vicinity of San Bernardino, where they spent a week filming exterior jungle scenes.

Francis Ford has been engaged to direct Jack Hoxie, who is being starred by the Berwili Film Corp.

"Tiger," a story by Max Brand, which is scheduled for early publication in Munsey's Magazine, has been purchased by Universal for Frank Mayo, Jacques Jaccard will probably direct.

Master Pictures, Inc., have purchased the Newman ranch in South Pasadena, as a studio site and announce construction will start immediately.

"MAKING THE HOUSE PAY"

Hiram Abrams has contributed to "The Book of Business," a five volume book published by Collier's Weekly, an article entitled "Making the Motion Picture House Pay.

Collier's selected 67 business men to represent the various fields of endeavor in the country. Some of the contributors include: J. Ogden Armour, Charles M. Schwab, Charles H. Sabin and others.

One perfectly safe investment that yields enormous profits is the RITCHEY POSTER!

RITCHEY LITHO. CORP.
406 W. 31st St. N.Y. Phone Chelsea 3881
State Right Buyers

THE STERLING FEATURE PICTURES, Inc.

Presents

"THE FIGHTING KENTUCKIANS"

A human interest story, written and directed by J. Harrison Edwards. Edited and arranged by Charles T. Dazey, author of "In Old Kentucky."

Distributors and Buyers for U. S. and Foreign Countries are invited to communicate with

STERLING FEATURE PICTURES, Inc.

407 Orange St. WILMINGTON, DEL.

Phone Wilmington 2127

For New York screening phone or wire the above address
Raver to Produce
Harry Raver plans production of features based on stories by Louis Revers Harrison. The first will be "Libertines."

Besides this Raver will shortly have ready "The Virgin of Paris," based on "Sophia" by Anthony Hope, "A Daughter of the Sphinx" and "Mother Love" by Augustus Thomas.

Animal Story for Nell Shipman
(By wire to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles-It is understood that Nell Shipman will direct and star in a picture called "The Girl of God's Country," to be made by the Nell Shipman Prod., Inc., a new $250,000 corporation. W. H. Clune of Clune's Theater, is one of the incorporators of the new company.

Ernest Shipman when reached yesterday stated that he was not aware of the formation of the new company and that he had no business relations with it.

Deny Hanl Mann Report
Morris R. Schlank, producer of the Hanl Mann Comedies, just in from the coast, denies the story published in WID'S DAILY on Wednesday that the Mann comedies had been suspended because of the illness of Mann.

Schlank attributes the story to an "overzealous press agent."

Young Transferred
Los Angeles—Walden Young, left yesterday for New York as the first appointee of Tom J. Geraghty, Eastern production editor, of the Famous Players to the staff of the Long Island studio.

"Movie" Legislature
Planned for Pennsylvania, According to Miniker
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Philadelphia—The Rev. Dr. F. Y. Schelly, field secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Pennsylvania, says that picture interests are planning to elect a "movie legislature," similar to the corporation-controlled legislatures of former years, which will pass legislation to permit the opening of theaters on Sunday.

Schelly says he has received authoritative information relative to the plans of the film interests from men engaged in the business.

The clergyman charges the film men gave active support to the Orkno bill, legalizing Sunday amusements, which was defeated in the last legislature, to wage a more strenuous campaign to capture the legislature, which will convene next January.

The plan of the film interests, according to Dr. Schelly's informant, is to obtain the passage of a Sunday local option bill, and they began their campaign prior to the May primaries when an effort was made to elect men to the legislature who were pledged to support such a measure.

The clergyman cites the action of the Exhibitors' League of Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware, at its recent convention in Atlantic City, when it was voted to return from the screen all legislative and congressional candidates who refuse their support to the bill in question.

Forging Wires
(Continued from Page 1)

protest to you against Paramount coming into this territory and buying up the small houses of the late George Graves. Should this go through we resolve to do our utmost as a whole to cancel our Paramount contracts as far as possible with your company. This matter should be given your careful consideration. Sincerely, H. E. Huffman, president.

Mystified over the contents of the wire, officials of Famous immediately started an investigation in Denver with the result that yesterday the following telegram was received from Huffman:

Denver, Colo., Sept. 13
Adolph Zukor

H. E. Huffman in this day informed me of contents of telegram to you of recent date covering protest of exhibitors of this section against Famous Paramount transaction. I deny authenticity of such telegram. Know nothing of such meeting, resolution or origin of telegram. Will investigate.

H. E. HUFFMAN.

An official of Famous Players refused yesterday to discuss the matter except to say that this was along the same dastardly lines that propaganda has been used against the organization.

The investigation also disclosed, it is said, that no formal meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club was held on Sept. 7, as stated.

Walthall Returns to Stage
Los Angeles—Henry B. Walthall is to desert the screen for a while and return to the stage. He will begin rehearsals at once for a season in Ibsen's play, "Ghosts."

Still Seeking Ambrose Small
Toronto—At the request of Miss Ambrose I. Small the rewards offered for a solution of the disappearance of Ambrose Small, who disappeared last December, have been extended until Feb. 1. A sum of $50,000 is offered for information which will lead to the whereabouts of Small, and $15,000 to the person furnishing proof of his death.

There is also a reward of $5,000 for the arrest of John Daughton, Mr. Small's secretary, who disappeared soon after his employer.

Betty Blythe, Francesca Billington, Mahlon Hamilton are three of the stars that dazzle in

"THE TRUANT HUSBAND"

They help make the famous Cosmopolitan story a

B. O. A.

Produced by Rockett Film Corporation

Mats, Electrons and Stereo
for the Motion Picture Trade
T. Robin & Co.
23 E. 4th St., N. Y.
Phones Spring 8303-8304
The fastest stereopticons in
N. Y. C.

The Pickfords Coming East
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Los Angeles—Mrs. Charlotte Pickford and Lottie leave for New York on Monday, where they will see Jack Pickford, who is expected from Europe with the body of Thomas.

Portland Rivoli Sold?
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Portland, Ore.—It is reported that the Rivoli has been sold to Mischa Guterson and associate, Gus A. Metzger for $120,000.

Guterson, it is said, will shortly move to New York.

St. Louis—Sam Henley, from Pathe is in charge of the independent Film Exchange.

PHONE BRYANT 6558
When you want service

UNITED SOCIETY
CINEMATOGRAPHERS
Suite 1603, Candler Bldg., N. Y.

FOR RENT
Choice offices with vault space, cutting room. Rent reasonable.
Phone Bryant 1110

Kipling says:
"THE MIDNIGHT RIDERS" carry latch keys

Ask Kipling

Bryant 830

Kipling says:
"THE MIDNIGHT RIDERS"
call carry latch keys

Ask Kipling

130 W. 46th St.
Declaring Labor

M. P. I. Will Eliminate Doubtfuls

from Films—P. J. Brady

Acting for Gompers

The London office of the Central Federation of Labor, which is part of the National Labor Relations Board, has filed a complaint against the Motion Picture Association of America, alleging that the company has been violating federal law by engaging in unfair labor practices.

The complaint, filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are illegal under the National Labor Relations Act.

The complaint alleges that the Motion Picture Association of America has engaged in unfair labor practices by refusing to bargain with the Central Federation of Labor and by engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint also seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint further seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The complaint seeks to prevent the Motion Picture Association of America from engaging in activities that are designed to prevent the Central Federation of Labor from representing the employees of the Motion Picture Association of America.
New Theaters

Hollywood, Cal.—A. J. Hill to build.

Youngstown, O.—Stemberg Bros.

Seattle, Wash.—John Hancock to build.

Stuttgart, Ark.—Fred P. Smith.

Laurelville, O.—Y. & O. Cot Co.

Concord, N. H.—Starting to open Sept. 16.

Nelson, Nebr.—Fred Jones opened new house.

Atlanta, Ga.—Missouri.

Lincoln, III.—Grand opened Sept. 4.

Carthage, Minn.—Marcel opened.

Carlisle, Minn.—Marcel opened.

Memphis, Tenn.—F. & M. Goodall, chain, opened Strand.

Powers' Broadway, $900,000 opened.

Newark, N. J.—Auditorium to open.

Nogales, Ariz.—Nogales, Diamond Bros.

Kalamazoo, Mont.—New theater opened by Anderson and McDaniel.

Lake Wells, Fla.—Lake Well Amuse. Co., building. $900,000.

Sharon, Pa.—Grand, Alpha M. & P. Co., nearing completion.

Scattale—Work started on John Hancock house.

Among Exchanges

St. Louis, Mo.—Thomas Leonard has been appointed general manager and supervising director of the Kansas City and Omaha Pioneer offices.

Kansas City—H. C. Remington, formerly with Pathé in Minneapolis, is now member of the local branch of Educational Films.

Chicago—Max Schwartz, formerly with Hallmark, is now with Unity.

Washington—George M. Petette is a member of the sales force of the Exhibitors Film Exchange, which he recently joined.

Cincinnati—R. E. Hunter and William Eagle are members of the Exhibitors Film Exchange.

Baltimore, Md.—P. O'Toole. Universal's manager here, has resigned. F. J. Smith, district manager for the Atlantic Division, has taken over the office temporarily.

Minneapolis, Minn.—The Friedman Film Co. has moved to larger quarters of the top floor of the Film Exchange Building.

Detroit, Mich.—Roy Branch is now the sales manager for the Arthur S. Byron Company, succeeding George Delph, who resigned. The latter intends to establish a producing end of the business.

Chicago—W. W. Brumber and W. H. Tracy are now members of the First National Sales force.

Chicago—J. C. McVorie has resigned as manager of the local office.

New Gaumont Series

Gaumont plans to release in series of six pictures after the ent batch of six are finally dir of...

Fox Film Opened Last Night

"Over the Hill to the Poonah" a Fox special, opened last night at Astor theater. It sup "While New York Sleeps."

$1 Top for Ruth Feature

One dollar top will be asked "Headin' Home," the "Babe" feature which opens an 8-day Madison Square Garden tour. Four shows will be given daily.

Loew Gets Building Loan

The Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. has made a building loan $250,000 to Marcus Loew Real for construction of the State and sixteen-story offices on the east corner of Broadway and Street.

The borrowers will pay 6 per interest annually for five years.

Big Southern Deal Close

"Fickle Women," "Girls of the Gamble" and "Smiling All the Year" will be handled in Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and Carrolinie by the Southern Film Co. of Atlanta.

Sennet Gets the Credits

San Francisco—Two houses were smashed on Sunday. Tivoli here and the Turner, Dalemen theater, Oakland, in the simultaneous run of Mackaet's "Married Life," dist "Golden 8:30 in First National.

Receipts for the Tivoli were beating the former house record $500, while the receipts for the D. were $2849, beating the house ord by $380.

When posters are chose solely from the box-office point of view,—God help our competitors!
Coast Brevities
(Special to WID'S DAILY)

William DeMille has completed "Midsummer Madness."

Madge Bellamy will appear opposite Douglas MacLean in "One a Minute."

Bessie Love is to take her own show to Arizona for exteriors of "Penny of Tophill Trail."

Andrew J. Callaghan states that the script is in the hands of Finis Fox, that Dr. Joss will assist Arthur Berthelet in the direction, and that Sam Landers has been engaged as cameraman.

M. B. Flynn, now appearing in Goldwyn pictures, is "Lefty" Flynn, the famous Yale athlete.

Gareth Hughes, Metro's newest star, is en route to New York to play the featured role in J. M. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy."

Edward Cecil, who is well known to Metro picture goers, has signed a long term contract as a member of the West Coast studios stock company. Cecil will appear in character roles in future Metro productions.

Jack Mulhall has been secured by Metro to play opposite Viola Dana in "The Offshore Pirate," the little star's newest picture. Production will be under the direction of Dallas Fitzgerald.

"Penny," an adaptation of the book "Penny of Top Trail Hill" by Mary Maniates, author of "Amarilly of Cloths-Line Alley," is the title of Bessie Love's next. Production has been begun under the direction of Arthur Berthelet.

GAUSMAN.

Record Price for Serial

One of the most important deals affecting a serial and establishing a record price has been consummated by Pioneer Film with David P. Howells through George H. Hamilton, whereby Pioneer has acquired the "Son of Tarzan" for Greater New York, New York State and Northern New Jersey. M. H. Hoffman, general manager of Pioneer, closed the deal.

While no figures were mentioned in the announcement, Hoffman says that a great many concerns buy world's rights for a feature for much less than the price that was paid by Pioneer for this territory for the "Son of Tarzan." Release date not yet decided.

Wild Animals

Fleeing side by side with their enemy, man, from a gigantic, wind-swept

Forest Fire

One of the spectacular scenes actually photographed in the North Woods and shown in the most unusual picture

"Nomads of the North"

from the novel of the same title by the famous writer

James Oliver Curwood
author of "Back to God's Country" presented by James Oliver Curwood Directed by David M. Hartlord

ERNEST SHIPMAN
[Eastern Representative]

A First National Attraction
In the Courts

Sol Berger has sued Charles P. Saunders in the Supreme Court for $3,000 which he alleges Saunders got from him by misrepresentations. He alleges that in March last Saunders represented that he was in business in Buffalo with O. A. Statter, the Famous Picture Sales Co. and owned a similar business at 729 7th Ave., which yielded at least $200 a week, and he was willing to sell the plaintiff a half interest for $3,000. Berger says after he paid he found that Saunders did not own the New York City business and that it did not yield $200 a week.

The Battery Park National Bank has filed a judgment in the City Court against the Films of Business Corp. for $1,031 due on a note made June 23 last.

The Tobey Furniture Co. has sued the Norwood Prod. Corp. in the Supreme Court for $3,929.

Papers filed in the Supreme Court show that in the suit of M. J. Wohl & Co. against the Waldorf Photo-plays, Ltd., to recover $875, the plaintiff attached the five-reel film, "Dad's Girl," sent by the defendant to the Republic Distributing Corp. under contract by which Republic advanced $5,400. The plaintiff attached the negatives which had been sent to the Craftsmen Film Lab. to be developed.

In the suit of John D. Williams against Jesse D. Hampton and Robertson-Cole over the services of Henry B. Warner, Hampton has filed an answer in the Supreme Court alleging that Williams has sued Warner for the same relief and that if the plaintiff has any cause of action he can get the desired relief in the suit against Warner.

Some Sayings

Interesting Excerpts Made by Prominent People at Mason Brown

Following will be found excerpts of some of the more important points made by the various speakers at the dinner tendered to Lesley Mason at the Claridge on Wednesday night:

Charles C. Pettijohn: "Within the next year legislation adverse to picture interests will appear in from 15 to 20 states.

"There are a few men in this industry who have grown stagnant with their own self-satisfaction."

Sydney S. Cohen: "I am fearful of high prices. I think the limit has been reached in both admission charges and film service."

D. W. Griffith: "When you talk of great increases in the cost of productions do not forget that everything costs tremendously more in production."

Wm. A. Brady: "I tell you to beware of the foreign invasion. Don't regard it lightly. Don't let us become conciliated over our powers."

Nathan Burkan: "There will be no foreign invasion; if so, it's going to help. For the next two years Germany will be making big spectacles: Grimm's Fairy Tales, Samson, Den Barry and others of that type are now on the market."

Senator James L. Walker: "I sometimes think, when I see some of the pictures, that this industry is still in its infancy."

"If a big industry lacks in morals it cannot survive. I mean commercial morals, where men play on the square."

Lesley Mason: "Italy may adopt retaliatory measures and boycott American films if the belief of Italian producers continues that there is a boycott against them here—-as many Italians believe today."

Coliseum Ready

B. S. Moss's Coliseum, Broadway and 181st St., will be formally opened Wednesday night. The theater will offer a mixed program of vaudeville and pictures. The house seats 1,500 and is expected to be filled by the Capitol.

The new Hope Hampton picture, "The Better Way," in which "Big Jack" O'Brien plays the male lead, is nearing completion at Fort Lee.

Capt. Frank C. Badgley plays the "heavy" in Dorothy Gish's latest picture, temporarily titled "The Ghost in the Garret."

Motion pictures of the pepe, taken in the Vatican during the recent reception of the Knights of Columbus, are being shown at the Rialto theater this and next week.

Placating Labor

(Continued from Page 1)

looked upon with the same suspicion and distrust by the trade as many of them now look upon the daily papers.

"The film industry, therefore, owes it to the people that they serve, as well as to itself, that a careful effort should be made to prevent the presentation of labor problems in an unfair light."

The Central Federation of Labor, which is generally conceded as being one of the strongest of the labor bodies in New York, has officially backed the Labor Film Service, Inc., a $50,000 corporation which, as noted, will produce films designed to show "the true side" of labor problems. As noted from time to time, labor bodies have expressed their keen dissatisfaction over current releases in which economic questions are raised. The A. F. of L. recently passed a resolution aimed at films and promised labor to take some definite action on the matter. The executive committee subsequently met in Atlantic City, but did not take any action on the matter.

Carrick Files Suit

Allyn B. Carrick has filed an answer in the Supreme Court in the suit of Josiah D. Miller against Master Productions, Emil Wertheimer and others in which he says that through an error he made a contract with the two latter giving them exclusive rights for exploitation in Great Britain and the Continent of a film which is not the one mentioned in the complaint and to which the plaintiff has title, but to a similar one. When he discovered his error he offered to return to them the 25 pounds paid him and notified them he couldn't perform the contract.

OFFICE SPACE FOR RENT

TILL SEPT. 19, 1922

2600 sq. feet—light and airy, sight floor—excellent location on Broadway.

Apply at once

UNIVERSAL FILM CO.
1600 B'way, N. Y.

FOR SALE

Moving picture laboratory equipment for sale, including duplex printers, tanks, drums, rewinders, polishers, etc. Apply Mr. Doherty, Builder, New Rochelle.

YOUNG LADY OPEN

to engagement. Cause to take I charge of office. Experienced stenographer. Address Box B-89, care Wd's

Ask Kipling

Kipling says:

"THE MIDNIGHT RIDERS"

never sleep

Special Showing at Astor

A special showing was given by Robertson-Cole last night of "Th Stealers," a special Christy Cabann production. The showing was given in the Grand Ball Room.

Lusk Here

Walter Lusk and his wife are in New York from Cleveland on a pleasure trip.

Senning Transferred

(Special to WID'S DAILY)

Richmond, Va.—C. F. Senning has severed his connections with First National of Virginia as branch manager and has gone to the First National headquarters in New York.

At First National it was stated yesterday that Senning had not been definitely placed, but that he would probably go into the contract department.

His successor in Richmond has not been appointed yet.

Sam Zierler's infant son died Wednesday.

"THE TRUANT HUSBAND"

is due in New York about September 18

Meet him at YOUR THEATRE at an early date. He'll crack the HOUSE NUT for you.

P. S.—This is the Best Dressed picture of 1920-21

Produced by

Rockett Film Corporation

Saturday, September 18, 1920
A MAN WHO CAME BACK IS THE HERO OF

The PRICE of REDEMPTION

Starring Mr. BERT LYTELL

A tremendous screen story of rare power & tremendous fascination, in which Mr. Lytell does the finest work of his brilliant career.

Scenarioized by JUNE MATHIS from HARDY WYLER'S great novel The TEMPLE of DAWN

Directed by DALLAS M. FITZGERALD

BOOK this! And don’t hesitate about it. It’s great stuff from first to last. It’s so darn good that the audience at the Rivoli on a hot sticky afternoon gave it a big hand at its conclusion. “And all audiences are going to like it. It is so true to life and downright real that they won’t be able to help themselves. You can defy them to leave your theatre without feeling a darn sight better.” (From Box Office Analysis, WID’S, Sunday, Aug. 22nd)

LEWIS SARGENT, the Kid who brought to the screen the immortal character of Mark Twain’s ‘Huckleberry Finn,’ has, under the direction of Wm. D. Taylor, added in ‘THE SOUL OF YOUTH’ a success which, from straight dramatic standpoint, surpasses even his work as the freckled Huck Finn. He gives to the screen a performance that will stand as one of the best boy characterizations.” (From MOTION PICTURE NEWS, August 28th)

